LOYAL DRIVES UNABLE SHAKE REBEL FORCES

Unsuccessful In Attacks on Insurgent Stronghold

BATTLES WAGED CLOSE TO MADRID

Artillery Bombardment is Renewed On Capital City, Leaving Many Dead.

Toledo, Spain, May 11.—(AP)—Eleven attacks against the insurgent stronghold 40 miles from Madrid were repulsed with more than 2,000 government casualties, an insurgent communiqué reported today.

The government field batteries sent shells screaming into the insurgent supply roads and camps behind the lines in a pre-dawn prelude to their big push yesterday.

The government militiamen leaped over their parapets and streamed across open fields of the wide front toward the trenches of the defending insurgents.

The insurgents met the attacks with heavy fire of rifles and machine guns and hand grenades.

Insurgent artillery men meanwhile pumped shells over the battlefields into reinforcements being concentrated behind the government lines.

At Madrid a night-long insurgent artillery bombardment left 40 persons dead and injured today and new rains in the heart of the capital.

The shelling revived the horrors of nearly three weeks ago of continuous cannonading last month.

Thousands of panic-stricken inhabitants were aroused from their sleep by the detonations.

Meanwhile, eleven insurgent air raids within less than five hours blasted the outskirts of Bilbao.

Public Observing Law In Regard To Plucking Flowers

Appeal by State Forester for Protection of Wild Flowers Evidently Carries Much Weight

Raleigh, May 11.—The annual appeals to motorists to preserve the wild flowers and plant life along North Carolina's highways seem to be having weight this spring. J. S. Holmes, State Forester, said today.

"Although there are still evidences of raids upon dogwood, redbud, and other trees and flowers at the spring season, the persons responsible appear satisfied with several branches or flowers, and seldom load their cars down as was the practice several years ago," Mr. Holmes declared.

"It is probable that several factors are responsible for this move toward conservation. During the past few years there has been a tremendous amount of publicity attached to many phases of conservation. There is hardly a community in the state that has not come into direct contact with some form of state or federal conservation work. Because of this publicity and work, it is reasonable to assume that some of the valuable lessons of conservation that have been made so evident have been learned by some of the people."

There is this fact, too, motorists who previously stripped the roadsides of all blooming plants without qualm, have possibly run a-foul of the State Highway Patrol, which is exercising a constant vigilance for roadside violators at this season, and who have authority to arrest anyone destroying any plant life within 100 yards of a highway.

"Finally, general public disapproval of the destruction of beautiful plant life along our highways has exercised a most satisfactory effect upon the would-be offender."

AUSTRIANS PROMISE PERSONAL LIBERTY

Vienna, May 11.—(AP)—Austria is determined to give its citizens more personal liberty, Chancellor Kurt von Schuschnigg is telling workmen at a success of patriotic rallies. But the chancellor does not hint in what directions personal liberty will be extended, or when.

Freedom of conduct and thought, he indicates, are refinements of organization society to be taken into account when fundamentals are established.

Chancellor Schuschnigg holds the interests of labor will be served by the new Christian Guild state better than they were ever served by Socialist theorists.

No Damage Caused Fire In City Monday

The first fire alarm of the month came in yesterday shortly after the noon hour, but no damage was caused by the blaze.

A truck belonging to Garris Evans lumber company caught but the fire was extinguished before firemen arrived and the vehicle drove off under its own power.

James Woolfolk Plans To Enroll At West Point

James Stanley Woolfolk, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Woolfolk of this city, was advised today he had passed entrance examinations to the United States Military Academy at West Point. He will enroll on July 1.

Young Woolfolk received the appointment last year and spent the past winter in preparatory school studying for the entrance examinations, which were given in March.

The honor is accentuated by the fact that the future army officer was the first principal from North Carolina in several years to pass the examination.

SLAYER TO DIE WEEK JUNE 21

Salvadore Ossido, 28, To Pay Penalty For Killing Girl

New York, May 11.—(AP)—Salvadore Ossido, 28, was sentenced today to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing some time during the week of June 21 for the murder of nine-year-old Elmer Sporrer.

A look of terror on his face, the Italian tugged at his manacles as Judge George Martin pronounced sentence in King's County court. He stared at the judge without answering when asked if he had anything to say.

Ossido was convicted by a jury of first degree murder, it having found him guilty of luring the little girl into his barber shop, mistreating her and hammering her to death.

The body was found in a sack on a doorstep March 20, the day after the girl disappeared. Ossido was arrested a few hours later.

In passing sentence, Judge Martin criticized what he called the failure of authorities "to establish laws and institutions where such as you might be kept until cured."

Changes In Prospect For State School Commission

Reflector Bureau

Raleigh, May 11.—A good many changes are expected to be made in the personnel of the State School Commission when Governor Clyde H. Hoey gets around to making the new appointments to be made there and some even think he may name a new executive secretary — or ask the commission to name a new one — although many friends of Lloyd Griffin of Edenton, who was appointed by Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus to succeed LeRoy Martin, feel that Griffin is safe and will be reappointed.

It is well known, of course, that the school forces, from State Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde A. Erwin on down, would like to see a clean sweep in the school commission and especially would like to get rid of Griffin. For while they are delighted when Martin resigned and decided to go into the banking business, they soon found that Griffin was just about as hard-bolled as Martin had been and just about as hard to fool or bamboozle.

One of the main reasons that Supt. Erwin, Jule B. Warren of the N. C.

Education and its legislative committee spent virtually all of their time and attention during the general assembly to get Erwin named chairman of the school commission in the law, was so they could get rid of Griffin and get control of the spending of the school appropriation of a most $25,000,000 a year.

But for the fact that Griffin happened to be a Sandy Graham supporter in the first primary, most observers believe he would be almost sure of reappointment as executive secretary of the commission. But so far, none of the Graham people have gotten within little more than smelling distance of the Hoey pie counter, much less any of the pie. So a good many already think Griffin is as good as gone.

Reports are to the effect that Supt. Erwin and the school forces are actively backing either Supt. Ben Smith of the Greensboro city schools and recently elected vice president of the N. C. Education Association, or Supt. J. H. Erigson, county superintendent of schools in Cleveland county. Gov. Hoey's home county, for Griffin's part, Smith came to Greensboro from Shelby.

Prime Ministers Greeted By King

Monarch Concludes Address to Public Servants on Eve of Coronation With Plea For Unity Throughout British Empire

London, May 11.—(AP)—"I stand on the threshold of a new life," King George VI. told the Prime Ministers of his dominions and the representatives of India and the colonies today on the eve of his coronation as King and Emperor.

His public servants had come through driving rain formally to pledge the allegiance of the half-billion British subjects they represented.

With his Scottish Queen Elizabeth by his side in great Buckingham Palace, the King received the loyal greetings and addresses of each representative and pledged himself to service of the empire.

Attired in morning dress, the King expressed hope in the coming year he and the Queen would be able to extend their personal visits to the empire.

At no time did he mention the brief dramatic reign of his brother, Edward, VIII.

He concluded the address with a plea for unity in the empire. "Today the world is harassed by perplexity and fear," he said. "In this family of nations, linked by ties alike flexible and firm, we have inherited from our fathers a great tradition of liberty and service. I am confident that whatever life may bring us we shall continue to work together. . . ."

Transportation problems beset the metropolis as a strike of 25,500 bus workers tying up 5,000 of London's familiar red omnibuses, threatened to spread to subways and street cars.

Electric transport workers called a special meeting to determine whether to call out trolleys to aid the striking bus drivers and conductors.

COUNTY COURT UNABLE PLACE OPENS SESSION CAUSE OF FIRE

Negro Shoplifter Barred From Stores For Two Years

Judge Dink James in County court this morning meted out a new form of justice as punishment for a Negro shoplifter, allowing the offender to remain off the roads, but as he praised the wisdom of collective bargaining and cooperative efforts in the buying, producing and selling aspects of the farmer's business.

John Wesson was convicted of stealing several pairs of women's hose from the Charles store. Judge James gave him an eight months road sentence, suspended upon condition that he does not enter a store or similar place of business for two years.

Jenkins Smith and Henry Nelson, Negroes, tendered pleas of guilty to larceny. Each was given a four months sentence, but was suspended as to Nelson upon condition he pay the court costs and reimburse the prosecuting witness $9 for stolen merchandise.

John B. Hardee was convicted of trespass, but prayer for judgment was continued.

Jesse Mills and Claude Mills were tried for destroying personal property, the latter being acquitted. Jesse Mills was given a six months sentence, suspended upon condition he pay $30 to Walter Cox and also pay the court costs. The defendant appealed and bond was set at $200.

Wesley Bailey and Claude Tripp were acquitted of injuring personal property.

Ardell Langley, Negro, also was found not guilty of larceny.

Ocey Moore, Negro, was convicted of possessing liquor for the purpose of sale and fined $50, costs to be deducted. She also was given a four months sentence suspended upon condition she pay the $50 and refrain of good behavior.

Oxford Orphanage Class Comes Here

The Oxford Orphanage singing class will present a concert at the high school auditorium here at eight o'clock tonight.

Always a popular event here and elsewhere throughout its itinerary, the concert is expected to draw a good crowd. While the Oxford Orphanage is maintained by Masonic fraternities, the children received at the home are not limited to children of Masons and the majority of children from this county are not sons and daughters of Masonic orders.

In view of this fact, all persons are urged to give their support to the home by attending this concert.

Mothers Enjoy Theatre Party

One hundred and sixty-one mothers attended the annual theatre party given in their honor at the Pitt here yesterday, saw a good picture, were presented shoulderettes of paint-daisies and had a good time in general. Transportation was provided for those who wished this accommodation by White Chevrolet Company.

All mothers 55 years of age or older were invited to attend the party given by the Reflector and the Pitt Theatre. The shoulderettes presented the mothers were furnished by the Greenville Floral Company.

The doors were thrown open to the mothers between one and two o'clock. The picture was William Shakespeare's immortal "Romeo and Juliet," starring Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard.

The mothers evidently enjoyed the party thoroughly. Everything that could be wished for was at their command, a good show, a corgie and no worries about transportation if dad, son or daughter had the car, or even if there was no car in the family.

Registration cards did not require the mothers to state their ages, so it was impossible to tell the age of the oldest one present.

Threat Of Dictatorship Foreseen By Ambassador

William Dodd Pens Warning Letter to Senators

Berlin, May 11.—(AP)—United States Ambassador William Dodd disclosed today he had written to certain Democratic leaders in the United States that he had been told a man "who owns nearly a billion dollars" was ready to support "and of course, control," an American dictatorship.

He did not name the billionaire, but said his information was confidential from personal friends. His letter concluded:

"I have studied our history for forty years and cannot help feeling that all of us who believe in our system must do what we can to support our President even if we wish to amend some of his reform measures."

Dodd's letter was to Senator Robert Buckley (D-Ohio) with copies to Senator Carter Glass (D-Va.) and others.

It sought to warn these leaders against what the ambassador forewarned as the danger of a dictatorship "if the party breaks up" and bespoke Dodd's belief there was a tendency of certain individuals of great wealth "to promote the establishment of such a dictatorship."

Old Line Democrats May Decide On Harold Cooley

Reflector Bureau

Raleigh, May 11.—The "Old Guard" in the Democratic party, impressed with the large following Congressman Harold D. Cooley of Nash county already has and realizing that he is more likely to be the candidate of the "liberals" for Governor in 1940 than any one else now on the political horizon, are already "cultivating" Cooley with the thought that they may make Cooley their own candidate, according to talk going the rounds here.

For while the "crown prince" of the Gardner-Ehringhaus-Hoey dynasty is regarded as being J. M. Broughton of Raleigh, in that the "Old Guard" would rather see Broughton succeed Hoey in 1940 than any one else, indications are that a good many of the party leaders are already convinced that they cannot put Broughton over.

As a result of this doubt as to whether the old "machine" can ever again nominate an "old guard" candidate for Governor and of the desire to avoid a repetition of McDonald-Graham-Hoey primary campaigns of last spring and summer, there are definite indications that some of the conservative leaders are already cultivating Cooley and laying plans to "convert" him and wear him away far enough from the insurgent McDonald "liberals." They can then bring him out as a liberal "regular" candidate for Governor in 1940 if by that time it still appears that the "old guard" will have to have a more liberal type of candidate in order to win. For while there is no doubt the leaders among the conservative Democrats would much prefer Broughton, State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson or even Kenneth Royal to Cooley, a good many already think the thing to do is to center won over enough to be "safe."

For at the present time, Cooley is looming larger on the gubernatorial horizon of 1940 than any other one prospective candidate, most political observers here agree and as the candidate of the "liberal" Democrats who last spring backed the candidacy of either Dr. Ralph W. McDonald or of Sandy Graham. The "liberals" are already expecting Cooley to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for

URGES PARLEY OF POWERS ON MONEY SUPPLY

Rep. Dies Would Have Roosevelt Call Such a Conference

GORMAN FAVORS REGULATIONS

Declares Textile Industry Heading Toward Collapse If No Action is Taken

Washington, May 11.—(AP)—A proposal that an international monetary conference be called by President Roosevelt to seek an equitable distribution of the world's gold and silver supply was presented to Congress today.

The President is slated to return Friday from a fishing trip in southern waters.

Rep. Dies (D-Tex.), co-author of the administration's 1934 silver purchase act, introduced the resolution, directing the President to arrange the conference.

The conference would seek to stabilize currencies permanently on a bi-metallic base, to redistribute the world's gold and silver supply and to make available to the countries involved the raw materials they needed.

There was no authoritative indication of what the President's attitude toward such a conference might be.

Other Capitol Hill developments today included:

A charge by Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont.), of the Senate Railway Finance committee that the late Van Sweringen brothers defied the Interstate Commerce Commission when they set out to gain control of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway in January, 1930.

Testimony by Francis Gorman, of the United Textile Workers that the textile industry is heading toward a "complete collapse in three months unless Congress acts to regulate it."

Introduction of a compromise railway retirement act designed, sponsors said, to settle a prolonged pension controversy between the railroad operators and workers.

Meanwhile a House block supporting continuance of pending public works projects voted to earmark $300,000,000 of works relief appropriations for such projects when the relief bill reaches the floor.

The House appropriations group approved a $115,871,285 appropriation for the Interior department for the next fiscal year. This was a reduction of $5,073,997 under the department's appropriation for the current year.

The Senate Judiciary committee began its final week of deliberation on the Roosevelt court bill by studying a compromise proposed by Senator Andrews (D-Fla.)

Mrs. Bost Chosen To Retain Office As Welfare Head

Selected by Board of Charities and Public Welfare For Another Term As Commissioner

Raleigh, May 11.—(AP)—The State Board of Charities and Public Welfare reelected Mrs. W. T. Bost today for another term as State Welfare Commissioner.

Mrs. Bost had the recommendation of Governor Hoey and her election was by unanimous vote of the board members present.

J. H. Yelton of Hendersonville and Senator W. B. Rodman, Jr., of Washington were sworn in as new board members by Associate Justice Heriot Clarkson of the Supreme Court.

The ceremony was held in Governor Hoey's offices and Col. W. A. Blair of Winston-Salem, chairman of the board, and Mrs. Walter Crowell of Monroe took the oath of office again though their terms had not expired.

The board then met in the executive session to make plans for administration of the various special security program after July 1. The board selected 100 persons, one in each county, to serve on the county welfare group, but names were not released.

The issue of the Techo Echo for next week will have alumnae features and give details about commencement.

BRITON ENLARGES ALPHABET TO SAVE PRINTING SPACE

Wakefield, England, May 11—(AP)—Because he thinks English spelling requires too many letters, T. A. Braithwaite, a local printer, has invented a 32-letter alphabet.

He'd been worrying about it for eight years, then the solution came to him in the middle of the night. His alphabet would keep the present 26 letters, but would add six new ones for the sounds of:

Long "a" as in "bathe."

Long "e" as in "need."

Long "o" as in "code."

Ang "eng," "three" and "shee."

Braithwaite is using the new alphabet to print a book he has written on "slum clearance and town planning in the realm of letters," and predicts that it will be adopted generally one of these days.

CONNIE MACK LOCKLIN MEETS A NAMESAKE

Sonora, Texas, May 11.—(AP)—One of the few visitors permitted to see Connie Mack, Philadelphia Athletic manager, when he was hospitalized in San Antonio recently, was Connie Mack Locklin, 8-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Locklin, Sutton county ranch owners.

Last Christmas the Philadelphia Mack received a card from his Texas namesake. That was recalled—and young Connie met the veteran in the latter's hospital room.

PEACE ACTION

A MOTHER SPEAKS
(By Grace Noll Crowell)
All mothers have the certain right to say
If there should be war! We who have borne sons
In agony and rapture rise today
In fierce defense of these, our precious ones.
As tiger mothers guard their helpless young,
So shall we stand when threats of war arise.
No waving flag, no oratory flung,
Shall dim the steadfast purpose in our eyes.

All wars are useless—let there be no more!
We shall not have a part in this mad thing.
You can not take the fine sons that we bore
And offer them for bloody slaughtering.
Consult the mothers of the earth,
O men,
And there will never be a war again!

"If ever I prayed to God Almighty to give the gift of expression, I pray for it today," said Congressman Ludlow of Indiana in the House of Representatives on January 14, "because I want to make perfectly clear and understandable what the common people of America are thinking on the subject of war. They are thinking this: they are thinking that they love their country and that they would pour out the last drop of their blood, if necessary, to defend it from attack or invasion by a foreign foe, but they are bitterly denouncing and resenting the idea that if a world war comes, their sons shall be conscripted and sent away to die in foreign slaughter pens in the settlement of quarrels of other nations.

"Furthermore, . . . they are asking why they should not have something to say to say as to whether war shall be declared. They are asking why a question so tragic in its nature, so intimately interwoven with life and death, which involves the very existence as well as the welfare and happiness of the millions of our people, should not be submitted to the people for decision in a national referendum."
Congressman Ludlow was speaking in behalf of his Peace Amendment bill, which he had introduced on January 5th and which had promptly been referred to the Committee of the Judiciary. This is the committee which suppressed the same bill in the last Congress. (It is common practice for committees to kill in that way bills they do not like.)

If you wish to be consulted on the question of going to a foreign war . . . ask your Congressman to support the Peace Amendment bill. He may not know it by that name, so tell him it is House Joint Resolution No. 1999. When writing to your Senator about this bill, refer to Senate Joint Resolution No. 10. These bills take from Congress and the President none of their power to provide for defense or to engage in defensive warfare; they merely refer a foreign war to a vote of the people.

GREENVILLE COUNCIL FOR PEACE ACTION.

Camp Charles Opens Near Wilson May 23

Rural Week for boys at Camp Charles, near Wilson, will open May 23. The idea behind Rural Week is to get rural boys, who are not scouts, to go to Camp Charles and learn there some of the first principles of scouting. The program will run for six days and the cost will be $6 for the week. If a boy does not have the money, he may take farm products with which to pay his board. He should also take blankets, bed linen, and towels. All Pitt county boys, who are interested in going to Camp Charles during the week of May 23 to 29, should communicate with John J. Sigwald of Wilson, North Carolina.

In the peak year, 1929, American tourists spent a total of more than $900,000,000 for travel abroad, approximately four times the average annual war debt receipts at their maximum.

OLDEST MOTHER FROWNS ON GAD-ABOUT PARENTS

BEST WISHES FROM F. D. R.
Mrs. Mary N. Rice, the nation's "oldest mother," got a letter of congratulations from President Roosevelt on her 105th birthday.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 8.—(AP)—The nation's "oldest mother" believes mothers should "stay at home and be mothers."
If they did, children would be children a lot longer, Mrs. Mary N. Rice maintains, and would not try to grownups before their time.

As a mother, Mrs. Rice has lived a sheltered life and at 105 recalls the "great deal of pleasure children give one." She has eight.
She received her "oldest mother" title after a nation-wide survey by the Golden Rule Foundation.

Likes To Ride Fast

When she was born March 15th, 1932, Andrew Jackson was President, railroads were but five years old and there were but 24 other states in addition to Florida, where she lived in Gadsden county.

And she never dreamed that a couple of contraptions called auto and radio would some day become her chief pastimes.

Now, although she characterizes herself as a "stay-at-home," she likes to get out in a car and ride fast.

And she stays up past 9 o'clock bedtime whenever President Roosevelt's on the air. (She's an ardent supporter of the President.)

Design For Living

Advanced age, however, has forced her to adopt this simple design for living:
8 a. m.—Up and to breakfast a half hour later.
After breakfast—morning devotionals by radio, then hand work, such as turning up hems of dresses and sewing handkerchiefs, for the rest of the morning.

1 p. m.—Dinner followed by an hour of reading from one of her daughters. Sometimes neighbors drop in for a chat.
5—Rest for an hour.
7—Dinner.
9—Bedtime.

She plans to observe mother's day quietly with the two daughters who live with her.

was awarded to the Hawk Patrol of Troop 30 with Virgil Clark, acting Patrol Leader, James Worsley, Jr., Wessie Johnson and John Wooten. A yellow ribbon was also won by the Patrol from Troop 33 with Percy Wells, acting Patrol leader, John Sauced, Troy Riddie, and M. C. Ward.

Out of the 420 Scout participating in the Camporee no Patrol reached the standard required for a Blue Ribbon, that was 450 points or over out of a possible 500. The rating was hard and the 500 was perfect as far as human judgment could detect so the Scouts there made a fine showing and were highly praised by the Major Winstead and Captain Snow, of the U. S. Army, that made the personal inspection on arrival, the tent inspection in the morning and the final inspection at the breaking of camp.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

After supper, prepared and eaten by Patrols, the mass campfire was attended by all, at which time the Mayor of Rocky Mount extended a cordial welcome to all the Scouts and Scouters. F. C. Harding of Greenville, president of the East Carolina Council made a reply of thanks after which the Scouts presented their stunts and ceremonies in true Scout fashion. The Scout Oath and the Scout Law made itself evident in the action and expression of every Scout present.

On Saturday morning after inspection the camp gave an exhibition of Scout demonstrations and projects with every Scout doing his part to prove efficiency in the various phases of camping. After dinner a parade through the city streets was one of concrete evidences to the public that there were some Boy Scouts in town. Final inspection and the presentation of ribbons was made at four o'clock.

The ribbons won by the Greenville Scouts were: A red ribbon for over 350 points, out of a possible 500, by the Buffalo Patrol of Troop 30, with Heber Adams, Patrol Leader, Leon Smith, H. R. Goodall, Paul Scott, Arthur L. Whitehurst, Loyd Hill, A. T. Denton, Ashley Hudson, Richard Duncan, Charles Hudson, and Jack White, Jr. A red ribbon by the Flying Eagle Patrol of Troop 36 with Richard Stokes, acting Patrol leader, Bill Lee, Edgar Denton, Howard Simpson, and Ed Rawls, also two Scouts from Troop 37 Raymond Lee Stokes, and Eugene Hill. A yellow ribbon awarded for 250 points or over, out of a possible 500.

perior and unlike the girl next door. Then came the candid camera. Some of the results made it apparent that movie stars far from being Olympians are just exactly like the girl next door.

Glamor (or call it by what name you will) is what the movies have to sell. Inevitably, the moguls view with alarm. But with movie alarm, apparently, they view the failure of their conventional portraiture to hit the public eye. A studio photographer tells me he expects soon to throw away his 8-10 camera, because everything has to be candid to get printed.

So, in studio restaurants and on sets, the shutters click. Occasionally a picture more interestingly human than flattering comes from studio sources. (I hear Joan Blondell was in, not long ago, to express her opinion of the fellow who let one of hers get by.)

If I were a studio photographer, I'm afraid I'd gloat a bit at the rise of candor in my trade—even though policy forbade my practicing it to any great extent. For these boys, making a living at a tough job, come in contact with stellar temperament at its best and worst.

And so you hear tales—tales, naturally, about "stars on the lot where I used to work." Like these: Kay Francis didn't want to sit for pictures but finally kept an appointment and refused to "emote." Results were sour but the studio used these pictures.

Miriam Hopkins got the vote of several as their "toughest customer." She would make appointments and fail to show, sometimes would walk away from a still camera set-up, would seldom cooperate. (She may have changed, one informant added charitably.)

Claudette Colbert, sensitive about certain camera angles, "killed" one photographer's entire sitting. ("Not temperament, just smart," said the lensman, who is one of the best.)

Marlene Dietrich tries to dictate lighting and other technical details, and insists on seeing every proof before anyone else. Photographers rate her as a generous "killer."

Ruth Chatterton, in her starring days, was headless of the still man's troubles. "You don't need stills," one quoter has saying, "All you need to sell this picture is my name on the marquee."

And when Nancy Carroll was a star, there was a time she slapped a cameraman's face because he snapped her unawares. Nancy, making a comeback, is not slapping photographers now, I wager.

Shades of Spring New York (AP)—Linen sportswear comes forth these warm days in combinations of pink and gray. Pink blouses are worn with gray skirts, shorts and slacks. The same shades are carried over into bathing suits.

"AS MAINE GOES—"

Maine is certainly pointing the way for traffic accident control, in at least one respect. That is, curtailing the activities of the drunken driver.

A survey recently completed by the Maine Highway Safety Campaign revealed that one-fifth of motor vehicle fatalities in Maine in 1936 had liquor associated with them. Even in 1936 Maine had effectively reduced traffic fatalities as compared with the preceding year. However, not satisfied with partial success, she is now setting out to better
her own record with special emphasis placed on drunken driving. The motor vehicle division urged better cooperation by the courts in handling cases involving drunkenness and held certain "legal loopholes" and technicalities to be inimical
to effective law enforcement.

Public officials, as well as the citizens of Maine, realize that the drunken driver is a criminal to be handled the same as any other criminal.
Both menace society. There is absolutely no excuse for driving while under the influence of liquor. Every person doing so is a potential murderer. In some respects the drunken driver is even worse than the average mur-derer because the murderer usually commits his crime in the heat of passion. The drunken driver blunders
along with callous indifference toward all who are unfortunate enough to be in his path of death.

Maine is to be congratulated, as are all other states that make a determined stand to "wipe out" the drunken driver.—(Industrial News Review).

Longer Life Span

The common saying that figures do not lie, but statisticians do, is a slander on the honorable statisticians of the able rule. Not statisticians, but those who attempt to interpret their findings, are most likely to go wrong, and even then the fault is seldom intentional.

The basic difficulty with statistical data lies in the fact that they usually deal with averages. And useful as "averages" are in the business affairs of life, Mr. and Mrs.
Average do not exist in fact.

Consider, for example, the average lengthening of the life span.
One large life insurance company
reports a gain of 13.62 years of life, expectation at birth (experienced between the years of 1911 and 1935)
among a certain group of its policy holders. Now precisely what does this mean? The answer, in full,
would be hard to give. However, it certainly does not mean that every individual in that group may expect to live 13.62 years longer than one of his age lived at 1911.

Dr. Louis I. Dublin has well summarized this matter:
"No life table or any other document can of course tell any particular individual at what age he will die. At that a life table can do is to tell him how many years are left to him know how many years are left to a man of his age, assuming that he is representative of the average."

But on what basis is one to assume that he is representative of the average? On this score, unfortunately, the oracle is dumb. True, every person has some elements of,
and is to some measure representative, of the average. But as yet, we have no means for measuring that "measure."

With all these limitations in mind, it still remains pertinently
true that the last quarter century has witnessed a notable progress in longevity. Most of the gains in "life expectancy at birth" have been made in keeping the older men and women alive for longer periods.

At the age of 65, the expectation of life for white males in 1901 was 11.51 years; in 1930 it was 11.79 years, a gain of 28 of a year. In the same period, white females of the same age gained 60 of a year
in life expectation.

HELPS FOR HOUSEWIVES

Now's the time to store winter clothes and bedding. Clean and air them thoroughly in the sun. Next pack them securely in newspapers.
Then place them in boxes that are covered tightly. Label each box carefully and store those that may be needed in convenient places.
Caskets, especially, are often necessary during cool spells.

To keep sandwiches fresh for a day, wrap them in waxed paper and place in a cellophane lined with a damp cloth. Put on the lid and cover the box with a second damp cloth. The sandwiches may then be stored in a refrigerator.

Liquid left over from mustard sauce is excellent to mix with hopped meat or fish and use in sandwich fillings.

If coconut seems too dry, soak it in milk for five minutes. Then drain it for use in cookies, cakes, frostings or puddings.

To clean chintz drapes or furniture covers brush them with a clean, stiff brush that is dipped frequently in cold water. The work should be done quickly.

The cocktail hour calls for cheeses with a tang while those that have a milder flavor may be served during the tea hour.

Sugar, added in the proportion of a fourth of a teaspoon to two cups of vegetable, will improve the flavor of cooked peas, corn, lima beans or beets. The sugar should be added just before the vegetable is served.

Cheese sauce poured over buttered shrimps or tuna fish makes a tasty luncheon, supper or light dinner dish.

Wedding engagements may be announced by placing small bits of rice at each plate. Each bag should contain the names of the engaged couple.

Man About Manhattan

New York. — The gypsy problem was sad in New York, as usual, last winter, but they got out much earlier than hoped for this spring.
Gypsies seem to think there is no place like New York for hibernating
during the cold months, and much as they are unwanted, there isn't a thing the authorities can do about it.

Many of them stay in respectable neighborhoods, paying sumptuously for apartments. But not in the style you would suppose. And that's the annoyance. They have fences, or go-betweenes, unknown to the real estate agents.

For instance, a well-dressed fellow of good appearance will lease
an apartment for the winter, paying cash. To the real estate people's chagrin, however, he doesn't move in. Instead, perhaps 20 or 25 gypsies will move into a four-room apartment. They sleep four and five to a

GLASS FLAYS COURT REVISION

Speaking to the air in his first important radio broadcast since he urged President Roosevelt's election in 1932 Senator Carter Glass of Virginia denounced the Chief Executive's court reorganization plan as an "abominable" attempt to "replace representative government with an auto-crat." He is shown speaking into the microphone in Washington.

bed, doubling up on pallets on the floor, and living like pigs in an atmosphere originally created for gentility.

As soon as the neighbors become aware of the calamity there is always a howl and many angry storms
of protest, but there isn't anything anybody can do. If the real estate people attempt to evict a gypsy lawyer appears with a copy of the lease, or contract, duly signed before witnesses. Thus, legally protected, they stay till the nomadic urge returns.

Happily, this has been a mild winter, and the caravans — not the picturesque wagons of yore, but fast limosines — have hit the road at an early date, making for the southwest, where the hot climate and good distance between towns is more to their liking.

Gypsies are a dirty lot, however much one may admire them for the wealth of romantic lore they represent. As a rule they are regarded as thieves, and they almost never think of taking a bath or of changing clothes until their linen rots on their bodies. They have no respect for law, they conform to no regulations save those necessary to save their skins, and their livelihood often is gained through bartering and theft.

Literature is filled with romantic tales of fabulously beautiful and chaste gypsy maids.
If such damsels exist I would greatly admire seeing one. In the last five or six years I have seen some thousands of gypsies, but never one that could even remotely be called beautiful. But then, maybe that was because of the dirt. Beauty just cannot be seen when it is covered up—even on gypsies.

THIS IS WHAT HAPPENS IN WESTMINSTER TOMORROW

If you were to be lucky enough to have a place in the grandstand—the royal box—at Westminster abbey next Wednesday, this is the emined spectacle that you could expect to witness. In the AP feature service artist's conception of the coronation theater, George VI

(1) has just been crowned King of Great Britain by the Archbishop of Canterbury (2) and has moved from the St. Edward's chair (3) to his own throne. While the king, peers and peeresses (4), bishops and princes of the blood (foreground) all watch, Queen Elizabeth

(5) kneels at Canterbury's feet to receive her crown. Among her attendants is a mistress of the robes (6), four duchesses, each supporting a corner of the canopy (as No. 7 is doing), and a group of train bearers (like No. 8). Assisting Canterbury is the Dean of Westminster (9). Yes, folks, it's quite a show.

Scout Court of Honor

Troop 31, of Greenville, colored Boy Scouts held the largest Troop Court of Honor, since their organization over two years ago. Monday morning at 8:45 in the colored High School auditorium. Seven Scouts advanced one rank and twenty-five Merit Badges were awarded. This is the largest Troop Court of Honor ever to be held in the East Carolina Council. At this time the annual Charter from the National office of the Boy Scouts of America was presented.

The first part of the program was the presentation of the Troop Charter by F. C. Harding president of the East Carolina Council. It was presented to Scoutmaster W. H. Davenport and the commission of the Troop Committee. C. M. Epps, Grant Bell, and W. E. Flanagan were presented to their chairman C. M. Epps, professor of the Fleming Street High school. After this the whole school sang two verses of "America."

The speakers were presented by the Asst. Scout Executive Ralph H. Mezo. In the absence of the Rev. T. M. Grant, chairman of the Greenville District Court of Honor, the Rev. Clarence Patrick, of the Immanuel Baptist Church acted as chairman and made the presentation of certificates of advancement to the Scouts.

The following awards were made: Second Class to Vernon Williams and Rayfield Bow. Star Scout rank to Charles Eaton and Melvin Williams. Life Scout, next to the highest rank in Scouting, was awarded to Robert Teale, Robert Shiver, and Willie Teale. Merit badges were awarded as follows: Robert Teale, Civics, Safety, Woodcarving, Public Health, and Physical Development. Safety, Handicraft and Painting. Melvin Williams, Handicraft, Bookbinding, First Aid, Woodwork and Carpentry.

Prof. Epps Speaker

Prof. C. M. Epps, of the Greenville school is receiving much praise for his ability as a speaker, especially at commencement being held throughout this section.

An article under the Colored News of the Washington paper had the following to say of the local man's address at Pantego:

"With good delivery he held his audience as he emphasized the importance of making friends as a part of one's education, which leads to success in one's life work. The speaker not only pointed out to them the importance of friendship, but told them how to make and hold friends. His richness in experience and life's service to and for the public, made his address very impressive and helpful."

PREPARE HOLD SCOUT COURSE

Plans Laid at Meeting Called by Local Executive

Monday night at eight o'clock a temporary pack committee was called to meet and make plans for a parents' and officers' training course for the local Cub Pack, by E. R. Conway, chairman of cubbing for the East Carolina Council. Those present were K. T. Futrell, Knott Proctor, E. L. Henderson, Worth Wicker and Ralph Mezo.

Mr. Conway has recently completed the national training course given by the Boy Scouts of America at the Mortimer L. Schiff Scout reservation, Mendham, N. J., and has successfully led cubbing training courses in other parts of the council since his return.

Knott Proctor was elected chairman of this temporary committee and plans were made to have the first meeting of the training course Monday, May 17, at 8 o'clock, in the Episcopal parish house. The parents of boys now cubs and those who have boys 9, 10 or 11 years old, that would like for them to have the opportunity to take part in this nationally recognized program of citizenship training and character building, are urged to be present at the hour hour meeting on Monday night.

Mr. Conway explained that it was recommended by the national office that it be required that parents have training before their son becomes a Cub. This is suggested because cubbing is so closely centered around the home and it is an every day program. The program is a tool that parents can use with their own son. He further explained that Cubbing aims to give your son: 1. Chances to do lots of interesting and satisfying things, games, handicraft, skills, collections, stunts, hobbies—in the home and backyard; 2. Chances to do these things with fine leaders and natural boy companions. 3. Chances to do things that other people which is a vital part of good citizenship. 4. Chances to bear responsibility and find encouragement therein. 5. Chances to thus find value and more joy in and around the home. Joy to the boy is like sunshine to a plant. 6. Chances to get the required annual health check-up. At 12 years of age the Cub graduates into Scouting. He has already completed the requirements for a Tenderfoot Scout when he becomes a Lion Cub.

Mr. Proctor and his committee would like to know as nearly as possible how many can be at the meeting Monday. If you can, call either K. T. Futrell, Knott Proctor, E. R. Conway, E. L. Henderson or Rev. Worth Wicker.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, May 11.—(AP)—A slow moving stock market today hitherto on rallying rails and reduced or canceled early losses of as much as two or more points.

Some traders decided to take a quick turn position on the buying side because of yesterday's sharp price relapse.

There was no bidding rush however and the ticker tape was frequently at a stand still.

United States government securities did fairly well, but other loans were uneven.

Transactions approximately 750,000 shares.
