MILL OFFICIAL REFUSES TALK TO UNION MEN

Three Organizers Arrive to Push Drive in Lumberton

MAYOR INTENDS KEEP UNION OUT

Situation Is Described As Tense as Organization Declares Charges Filed

Lumberton, May 19.—(AP)—Seth Brewer of Charlotte, organizer for the Textile Workers Organizers Committee, an offshoot of the C. I. O., said today H. B. Jennings, president of the Mansfield Cotton Mills company of East Lumberton, had refused to confer with him and other union officials about the alleged discharge of union members for organization activities.

Describing the situation as "tense," Brewer said his organization had filed charges of violation of the National Labor Relations act against the mills.

Brewer said Mayor V. E. Lamb of East Lumberton informed him today "we do not intend to have any union here." Last night, he said, the windows in a car of R. P. Strickland of Selma, TWOC organizer, were smashed and the home of C. H. Manning, chairman of the Lumberton organizing committee, was fired upon.

A brick thrown through the window of the home of Frank Sutton, vice chairman of the organizing committee, he said, struck one of Sutton's children.

Myles Horton, TWOC organizer, Strick and Brewer arrived last night to push union activities in the mills, which have an employment of 600.

Industries Begin To Take Measures Prevent Accidents

Both Management and Employees Have Become "Safety Conscious" In Opinion of Chairman

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, May 19.—Industry is at last "going places" in the prevention of accidents in mills and factories, with the result that industrial accidents are becoming almost a thing of the past in many plants, due to the fact that both the management and the employees have become "safety conscious," Chairman T. A. Wilson of the N. C. Industrial Commission pointed out today on the eve of the opening of the eighth annual safety conference in Winston-Salem tomorrow.

But many industries are finding that highway safety has not kept pace with industrial safety with the result that highway accidents are now costing them much more than shop and factory accidents, Wilson said. So the emphasis in this year's safety conference will be on ways and means to reduce the number of highway accidents.

"Take, for example, the experience of the Champion Fibre Company of Canton, N. C., during 1936," Chairman Wilson said. "During 1936 this company did not have a single employee killed while on the job in the plant itself, while for five months not a single employee was even injured in an industrial accident inside the plant. But during this year eight employees were killed in highway accidents. The company figures that it cost many thousands of dollars to train these men that their deaths were a heavy loss to the company. Out of the 88 workers killed last year while on duty, 29 were killed in highway accidents, while a total of 1,026 persons were killed in highway accidents in the state in 1936, representing a tremendous economic loss."

In the safety contest now under way in the textile plants in the 37,370 employees have worked 23,555,315 man-hours since January 1 without a lost-time accident, the records of the Industrial Commission show, while 63 mills have operated for 16 weeks without a single lost-time accident. The Tomlinson furniture factory in High Point has operated a lost-time accident, while the Balfour Mills, at Balfour, have operated for three years without a lost-time accident.

Fall Is Fatal To Plymouth Citizen

Plymouth, May 19.—(AP)—Robert Whitehurst, 19, married man who recently moved to Plymouth from Everett, Martin county, was fatally injured late yesterday afternoon when he fell 30 feet to the ground from a steel structure while at work on construction of a pulp mill.

His skull was fractured and he was rushed by ambulance, accompanied by Dr. T. L. Brav, to Park View Hospital, Rocky Mount.

He did not regain consciousness and died at 8:15 last night.

Fire Damages Historic Society Rendezvous

The Piedmont Driving club, gathering place of Atlanta's smart set for generations, was damaged badly by flames that swept the north wing of the historic structure. The loss was estimated at $75,000 to $100,000 by Superintendent Guido Negri. This picture was made just after a section of the roof caved in.

COURT BATTLE NOW ON FLOOR

Opposition Leaders Declare Reorganization Bill Dead

Washington, May 19.—(AP)—Victorious Senate foes of the Roosevelt court bill turned away from indications of administration compromise today in pursuit of a triumph on the Senate floor as decisive as the adverse vote in the Judiciary committee.

Opposition leaders said the measure was dead. They forecast a compromise advanced unsuccessfully in the Senate committee by Senator Logan (D. Ky.) would prove the new fighting ground.

Logan suggested one additional justice be appointed each year if any members of the Supreme court served past 75. The number would drop back to nine when the older justices retired.

The Roosevelt bill would permit an increase in membership up to 15 if justices over 70 did not withdraw. The court would remain permanent at the number to which it was raised.

No one qualified to speak for the administration had conceded the battle for the president's bill had been dropped, but Logan said his compromise was favored by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, who was mentioned to a possible successor to United States Supreme Court Justice Van Devanter, who gave notice of his resignation yesterday.

Railway Officers Forced To Battle

Henderson, May 19.—(AP)—One man was in a hospital here critically wounded, three others were in jail and officers sought one other following a battle between railway police and a group of men allegedly trying to rob freight cars at Norfolk today.

Purman Hobbs of Henderson, lay in the hospital with bullet wounds in his abdomen and back.

Sheriff W. J. Pinnix of Warren county announced C. P. Lowry, Jr., William Goggin, C. B. Modlin and Alvin Johnson, all of Henderson were held in different jails hereabouts and that he sought Julian Johnson also of Henderson, on charges of attempting to break in freight cars, assaulting with intent to kill railway officers and snatching a prisoner from officers.

Utilities To Co-operate In Beautifying Highway

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, May 19.—The various power companies, telephone and telegraph companies are going to co-operate with the North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority and the State Highway and Public Works Commission to preserve the natural beauty of the roadsides and to try to build their lines without having to destroy the trees and shrubbery in their path.

The decision on the part of the utility companies was reached at a meeting here Tuesday of the North Carolina Utilities Coordinating Committee, composed of representatives of the power, telegraph, telephone and municipal electric companies, of the NCREA, the State and National Forest Service and of the N. C. League of Municipalities. This committee was formed some time ago to work out and adjust problems arising from the extensive rural electrification program in the

Hughes Reported To Be Improved

New Bern, May 19.—(AP)—Slight improvement in the condition of George Hughes was reported today by Dr. H. B. Wadsworth, attending physician.

Hughes, 97-year-old Confederate veteran and father of two children under three, is suffering with a heart affliction and the doctor said the end may come unexpectedly and at any time.

EDWARD SIGNS NUPTIAL PACT

Agreement Presumably to Insure Wally of Rights

Monis, France, May 19.—(AP)—The Duke of Windsor made known today he and Mrs. Wallis Warfield had signed a contract of marriage presumably for disposition of property in the event of death or separation after their June 3 wedding.

Herman Rogers, spokesman for the couple, said the contract was signed yesterday under British law, but its provisions would not be disclosed.

Rogers added his personal opinion that members of the royal family were absenting themselves from the Duke's marriage because "the king (George VI.) was advised not to send anyone."

Although details of the marriage contract were not known, it was disclosed last night it would be possible for the British royal family by contract to prevent Mrs. Warfield from getting any of the Duke's heritage in the event of separation.

State's Attorney Maurice Carcasone of Tours removed the last remaining obstacle to the marriage today. As representative of the French Ministry of Justice he granted the Duke's wedding application, including permission to dispense with posting banns and a special authorization for a civil ceremony at the Chateau de Candé.

Continue Probe In Dirigible Disaster

Lakehurst, N. J., May 19.—(AP)—The broken propeller theory of the Hindenburg's destruction was eliminated today when an expert testified it appeared "certain" none of the dirigible's four propellers had been broken in flight.

Frank Caldwell of Hartford, Conn., an expert on propellers, gave the evidence which dismissed as "improbable" the possibility a broken propeller blade had been flung across the hull and punctured a gas cell starting the disaster that took 36 lives May 6.

The witness said he spent several days examining all the wrecked dirigible's propellers, giving particular attention to the blades of the port's engines aft which was nearest the outbreak of the flame.

Noted Republican Declared Suicide

South Harwinton, Conn., May 19.—(AP)—Henry Boraback, chairman of the Republican State Committee was found shot to death outside his summer home here this afternoon.

Medical Examiner H. B. Hanchett of Torrington gave a verdict of suicide.

The 67-year-old Republican Chairman and National Committee member was found with a .32 calibre bullet in his head between the house and barn, scene of a Republican state rally last June.

The doctor said the shooting occurred shortly after 2 p. m.

PROGRAM HELD AT UNDERPASS OPENING HERE

Former Highway Chairman Special Guest at Affair

PRAISED HIGHLY BY ALL SPEAKERS

Structure on Edge of City Declared By Chief Engineer to Be One of Best in State

In brief but appropriate ceremonies, Greenville's new underpass at the cotton mill was officially opened this morning with Former Highway Commission Chairman Capus M. Waynick, Highway Engineer W. Vance Baise and District Commissioner J. C. Gardner on hand for the program.

Mayor M. K. Blount and other city officials were the first to drive through the new stretch. Following the official car, one bearing Mrs. M. L. Turnage and Mrs. Georgia James was the first private vehicle to pass under the overhead railroad bridge.

The underpass and its approaches were constructed at a cost in excess of $100,000. Engineer Baise expressed the belief privately and publicly that the project was one of the finest, if not the finest, as to workmanship and beauty in the state.

The project was one in an extensive improvement program undertaken for that section of the city. Dickinson avenue already has been widened and contract will be let soon for extension of Tenth street east to the Washington highway. The new program will prove of unestimable benefit to the traffic situation, especially in the tobacco season.

The ceremonies began on the city side of the underpass. Mayor Blount, whose efforts are credited with securing the project, made a brief talk in which he expressed the appreciation on the part of city officials and individuals to the highway commission for providing the city with such a project.

"It will serve as an everlasting monument to the city and to the highway commission," he declared in pointing out the value the underpass will be in preventing accidents, which in the past have claimed a heavy toll both in human life and personal property. Members of the State Highway Patrol acted as official escort.

The underpass, considered the most beautiful in the state, is enhanced in beauty by turfing on both sides of the structure. It presents visitors to the city coming in that way a good impression of the city.

Following the ceremonies at the bridge, the former highway chairman, engineer, district commissioner, city officials, Senator E. G. Flanagan and newspapermen went to Respass barbecue stand where the program was continued and a luncheon served.

Mayor Blount, acting as master of ceremonies, made a brief talk in which he again expressed the appreciation on the part of the city to the commission for erecting the structure. Senator Flanagan then paid high tribute to former Chairman Waynick, Engineer Baise and Commissioner Gardner.

Mr. Waynick made a heart-to-heart talk in which he declared that during the time he served as chairman of the Highway Commission he grew to look upon the State as a single community. He said he was proud to say that he believed he knew more people in North Carolina than any other person.

He declared that he had gone into every city, town and hamlet during Greenville was what he considered only just, adding that this was true of every section of the State. Saying that he was from the Piedmont section of the State, he said that he had the same feeling for the Eastern and Western sections as he did his own, when it came to considering highway projects. He made a plea for unity of the people throughout the State, saying this was the only way progress could be made.

The retired highway chairman declared that the State had the best democratic government to be found anywhere and said that the people themselves were directly responsible for this situation.

Commenting frankly on being "fired" from the highway post, he expressed great confidence in the present chairman and resorted to the phrase usually associated with the entertainment world that "the show must go on."

Mr. Waynick was invited here because of the fact that he was chairman of the highway commission when the project was started. Frank L. Dunlap, present chairman, also was invited, but was unable to come and delegated Mr. Waynick as his official representative.

All those present were called on for brief talks, all of whom paid tribute to Mr. Waynick and his associates in the highway department.

Measure Sought To Keep Farmers Off Relief Rolls

PRESIDENT BUSY WITH PERSONNEL

Senate Foreign Relations Committee In Postponement On Dodd Resolution

Washington, May 19.—(AP)—An American Farm Bureau Federation leader advocated today a system of "parity payment" crop insurance to "keep many farmers off relief rolls."

Appearing before the House Agriculture group in behalf of a proposed "AAA of 1937," Dr. O. O. Wolf, president of the Kansas Farm Bureau Federation, said the measure would guarantee cooperating farmers parity payments on their base production figures regardless of whether they raised a crop.

At the Executive mansion the President was not immediately intent on the farm question, but important personnel changes here.

He sent to the Senate the nominations of Sumner Welles of Maryland to be Undersecretary of State and Walton Moore of Virginia to be State Department Counselor.

Both men are now serving as assistant secretaries of state.

Meantime the Senate Foreign Relations Committee postponed indefinitely action on a resolution to ask Ambassador William Dodd to name the American millionaire Dodd said was ready to back an "American dictatorship."

The Georgia Power Company appealed to the Supreme Court from a Fifth Circuit court of appeals decision which permitted the Tennessee Valley Authority to build new power lines and sell electricity in Georgia.

Judges May Impose Severe Sentences On Drunk Drivers

Fine Up to $1,000 or Jail Term For Year, or Both, May Be Levied, According to Ruling

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, May 19.—Under the new 1937 law enacted by the recent general assembly, the minimum fine for drunken driving was fixed at $50 and the minimum jail term at 30 days, while judges may increase the fine up to as much as $1,000 and impose a jail term for as much as a year or impose both a fine and jail term, it was pointed out here today by Assistant Attorney General S. Wade Bruton, counsel for the Department of Revenue.

He also pointed out that the new act permits a jail sentence of as much as two years and a fine of $1,000 or both for second offenses of drunken driving.

The impression had gotten around that the minimum fine of $50 was also the maximum, while some had the idea that the courts could not impose a jail sentence for drunken driving, Bruton said. But Sections 101 and 104 of the 1937 law make it mandatory for judges to impose either a fine of $50 or a sentence of 30 days in jail, on all drunken drivers and also gives them plenty of leeway in which to increase either the fine or the jail sentence. But on points, this 1937 law also repeals all previous laws and clauses of laws applying to drunken driving.

The same penalties for drunken driving also apply to persons arrested for driving while under the influence of narcotic drugs, or who are known to be habitual users of narcotic drugs.

The 1935 drivers' license law is still in effect, under which the driving license of every person convicted of drunken driving or of driving while under the effect of narcotic drugs is automatically revoked for one year.

This minimum penalty for anyone convicted of drunken driving is a fine of $30 or a sentence of 30 days in jail or both, and the revocation of his or her driver's license for one year.

The judges have plenty of authority and can "crack down" on drunken drivers if they want to, it is agreed here.

R. C. Deal to Address Powellville Students

R. C. Deal left this afternoon for Powellville where he makes the address tonight at the Powellville High School commencement exercises.

In 1842 it cost six cents postage to send a single sheet of paper a distance less than 30 miles—18 3/4 cents for 4 1/2 miles. The person receiving the letter paid the postage.

'Squeezer' Demands That Editor Stop Writing About Him

Amorebiesta, On the Bilbao Front, May 19.—(AP)—From 500 women and children left by retreating Basque and Asturian troops, insurgent officers today gleaned tales of terror that climaxed a stubborn defense of Amorebiesta against General Mola's insurgent forces.

The refugees, who fled to Mola's encircling lines in search of food and sanctuary, bubbled versions of the war madness that gripped the once-peaceful town of 5,000 as the Basque forces made their last stand.

The women and children said the retreating soldiers took all of the civilian men of the town with them in their retreat to Bilbao's last line of defense. Bilbao is only nine miles away.

The refugees said militiamen splashed gasoline on the better houses and set them afire with hand grenades.

"Some families were trapped in the burning houses," one woman said. "Many thus perished unless they managed to escape."

Hoey Grants Reprieve After Many Years

Raleigh, May 19.—(AP)—Governor Hoey today granted a 30-day reprieve to Robert Glenn Brow, Craven county Negro due to be executed Friday for murder, due to renovation work at Central Prison.

Last week the governor had announced he would not intervene on grounds of merits of the case.

Warden H. H. Honeypet said he would ask for a 30-day respite so as to avoid having to walk Brown 200 yards or so out of doors from temporary death row to the gas chamber.

Trio Men and Woman Face Robbery Counts

Reidsville, N. C., May 19.—(AP)—U. S. District Attorney Carlisle Higgins announced today three men and a woman had been indicted for the $21,000 robbery of the Bank of Reidsville last October and would be tried at the June term of the Federal court in Greensboro.

He listed the defendants as Nettie Jackson and Isaac Coltrane, in jail at Greensboro, Bill Barber in jail at Carthage and Guy Northcott in jail at Troy.

State Board Disregards Complaints By Counties

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, May 19.—The rules and regulations drawn up by the State Alcoholic Beverages Control Board will be put into effect in just about the same form as they were read to the chairmen and members of the county boards here last Friday, despite the fact that some of the county boards are objecting strenuously to a good many of them, Chairman Cutler Moore of the state liquor control board said today.

The only changes made in the rules and regulations are that some are being worded differently, they are being separated into two groups, one applying to the liquor stores and the personnel of the stores, the other group applying to the county boards.

All of these rules and regulations were drawn up after thorough and careful study by the board and are designed to correct specific abuses which we know have crept into the administration of some of the county stores," Moore said. "The law requires us to draw up and enforce uniform rules and regulations for all stores that will insure a maximum amount of control and service to the public. And while some of the county board chairmen and members are objecting to the rules and regulations, many of the other board members are strongly commending them."

The regulations prohibiting telephoning in liquor stores, prohibiting liquor salesmen from entering stores or talking to employees, except as bona fide purchasers of liquor and prohibiting board members or chairmen from having offices in the rear of liquor stores or connected with them in any manner, have aroused considerable opposition from some county board members. Moore admitted. But he said the board had no intention of changing any of these rules, adding that "a tight shoe always pinches."

The Round Table Meets
The Round Table held its last meeting of the club year Tuesday afternoon at Sheppard Memorial Library with Mrs. J. E. Winslow as hostess. A large number of cut flowers formed the decorations. The club was delighted to welcome Mrs. Winslow home, after an absence of several weeks from the city.

Officers reports were most satisfactory, especially that of Mrs. Paul Fitzgerald, the treasurer, which showed a good balance on hand after all expenses were paid. Committee reports were also pleasing and satisfactory. The library committee is always heard with interest. Mrs. Howard McGinnis presented two Navajo Indian dolls to be added to the present collection.

At the conclusion of business Mrs. Herbert ReBarker presented Mrs. Howard McGinnis, whose subject was "The Weather and Its Relation to Human Welfare." In closing the year's study of "Science in Every Day Life," Mrs. McGinnis paper was one of the best. Many interesting points were brought out, and we were made to feel better acquainted with white clouds and dark clouds, sleet, hail, frost and even the sparkling dew—which does not fall, as we so often say. So also was our respect enhanced for our own weather bureau. When we stop to consider the immense saving of fruit and truck growers by timely forecasts, and the enormous saving to shipping concerns and of human life by the storm warnings.

Mrs. J. W. Higgs gave the current event.

After a social time, the club adjourned for the summer months.—Reported.

Visit Roanoke Rapids
A large number of the members of the Science Club of the College left early this morning for an educational tour to Roanoke Rapids, where they are to visit mills in or near the city. They were accompanied by two of the Science teachers of the College, Misses Mack and Hunter.

This has been a busy week for the members of the Science Club, getting ready for their annual trip to make a scientific study of some of the industrial plants in the state, having its last program meeting, and some of them being entertained by the faculty members of the Science Department.

The seniors who have Science as their major were entertained on Monday afternoon with a weiner roast at Bay View by their teachers, Misses Mack, Hunter, Spangler, and Dr. R. J. Slay.

Science versus superstition from ancient times up to the present of every walk of life was the theme of the last meeting of the year, held last night and well presented by Miss Hattie Holland.

Superstitions written on slips of paper were given to members as they entered and these were read when their names were called.

Y. W. C. A. Speaker
Rev. John Barclay, pastor of the Christian church of Wilson, is spending a few days on the College campus as the Y. W. C. A. quarterly speaker. He will conduct conferences on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and will speak at the 6:30 vesper services on these nights, using the subjects, "Common Sense Religion" and "What Difference Is It?"

"Is True Happiness Attainable" was the subject of his inspiring message which he brought to the students last night. The general answer to this question, Dr. Barclay said, is that people are happy if they have what they desire; evidence indicates that happiness is attainable for the winners as it is for the losers.

People, he said, can attain happiness if they are willing to pay the price of: sincerity, slow down this fast tempo of life, re-evaluate our values, and live creature lives.

ALUMNAE HOUSE

The formal opening and dedication of the new Alumnae House at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina will feature the four-day program in connection with the 45th commencement of the College June 4-7. Women's Pay Law Aids all But Mother

Olympia, Wash. (AP)—Practically every working woman in Washington and mother will get a break from the seal of approval recently placed on the state's minimum wage law by the United States Supreme court.

Hotel and restaurant employees, mercantile and machinery workers already are protected and other occupations will be brought under the law as the workers apply. But ma hasn't heard anything about the 8-hour day, 6-day week with a $14.50 weekly minimum for hotel and restaurant employees and $13.20 for other specified businesses.

Those are the standards set up by the state welfare committee in 1921, eight years after the legislature passed the law for the protection of lives, health and morals of women and minors.

The law was little enforced, however, and brought virtually no change in the lives of the 125,000 to 150,000 women, state officials estimate it affects.

Now, the women paid less than the minimum could sue employers, just like the former Wenatchee hotel chambermaid who brought the test case, and collected a total of $100,000. Assistant Attorney General W. A. Toner estimates. Toner defended the law before the high court.

The staff welfare committee will meet shortly to map a course for strict enforcement of the law thru a field staff and for extending the provisions to unprotected occupations.

Alice Lord, instrumental in getting the law passed originally, and other Seattle central labor council leaders plan to cooperate in enforcement but can toward organization rather than statute as the best means of improving working conditions.

For example, they compare the union's minimum of $15 weekly plus meals for waitresses with the $14.50 minimum with meals provided by the state law. The state permits the employer to subtract 95 cents a day if the waitress chooses to eat at the restaurant, leaving her $8.80 for the week.

Ed Sorger, state safety supervisor, believes the state's scales should be changed now to meet modern conditions.

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

SYNOPSIS: The mysterious... death of attractive... Blinshop makes us all...

Chapter 29 The Sleeping Powders

AND the murderer was a person of... nerve. The murderer must have...

Gay ended my speculations... by rising from the table. "I'm going to beg one of those...

"I'm going to beg one of those... powders from the Skipper and lie...

Michael and I rose, too, I with sudden... misgivings.

"Don't do it!" I said sharply. Her eyebrows rose. "For Heaven's...

Feeling more foolish by the minute, I... stuck to my guns.

"It isn't safe in this house. Take... some more aspirin or something."

She stared at me blankly, and her... voice took on an acid tinge. "Why,...

Jimmie, you haven't poisoned the... sleeping powders, have you?"

Her words startled me more than they... annoyed me. My mind had been...

"I see!" I said heavily. To save myself... I couldn't think of a thing to say...

For a brief second, turned on my heel... and strode into the library. If they...

What would be the attitude of a... disinterested jury?

I went through a pretty bad five... minutes before Mike joined me. He...

I was loading a pipe and he strolled... to the window without even glancing...

I was tempted to do two things I... was tempted to knock his block off,...

I was tempted to stalk out of the... room without speaking to him. I did...

neither. I stayed right there, waiting... for him to speak.

"We were only kidding, Jim!" I... look plenty of time before I answered...

"Sorry, I can't pretend to be... amused."

Experiment in Laughter HE WORKED... at the pipe a while. Then, "I'm on an impossible...

spot counting out the servants. My... obliged to suspect my family, my girl...

or my best friend. It's not so easy." I... could see that but I still didn't...

care about being considered the worst... bet in the crowd. I was silent.

Finally he turned around. "A couple... of hours ago I was suspecting myself."

I couldn't restrain a sly grin. Applying... a match to his pipe, Mike grinned...

"No hard feelings?" "No hard feelings."

"That was too much for me. We were... suspecting each other of murder as... others might have been suspecting each... other of eating the rice pudding. The... sound of my own laughter fascinated... me. I experimented with it. Michael...

didn't join in. "Don't do that, for God's sake!"...

He was regarding me with a puzzled... frown.

"Sorry," I wheezed. "It's so damn... silly."

"Yes," his face was very grave. "Jim...-have you had anything to do with...

this?" I would have laughed again, but I... hadn't the energy.

"No," I said. "Word of honor, Mike. Not... a damned thing!"

He looked me straight in the eye. "Neither... have I—unless I'm out of my mind."

Until that weekend I would have... accepted his word as a supreme...

also. And they had all lied. The... thought was disconcerting. Mike...

"You see?" he said. I did see—all... too clearly.

"Mike," I said after a slight pause,..."did Gay tell you what the Skipper...

asked her to?" His eyes turned toward the fire...."About my father?"

"Yes." He nodded. "I saw him last night,..."Jim. When the Skipper fainted he... was standing in front of Jude's door. There... was so much fuss that no one...

noticed, and I didn't sing out because...-because I knew him. Funny isn't it?

"Twenty-odd years I've thought that... he was dead, but I knew him on the...

spot—even knew what was wrong with... him."

So that explained Michael's sudden... notion that he was insane. It also... explained how the maniac had gained... admission to Jude's locked room. He...

had been there, under Jude's coat. He... had been there, under Jude's coat. He...

had been there, under Jude's coat. He... had been there, under Jude's coat. He...

Pruning Shears Used to Develop Shrubbery

College Station, Raleigh, May 19.—A pair of pruning shears rightly used is a big help to nature in developing graceful, attractive shrubs.

But if the pruning is done carelessly, the shrub may be given a broom-like appearance or look like a ball of bristles, said Prof. Glenn O. Randall, of State College.

In cutting out the dead wood, it is best to keep the plants in their natural shape, if possible, he added. Cut some stems back farther than others to avoid that bristle-ball effect.

Shrubs that flower in the early spring should be pruned soon after flowering. Do not wait until the plants start producing buds for the next season.

COW BAGS FARMER WITH FIRST SHOT

Taloga, Okla. (AP) — Farmer Jonathan Koehn, 44, knows how it feels to be shot by a cow.

When Koehn went out to fence his wheat field recently he took his shotgun with him in case a rabbit should pop up. He laid down the gun and began stringing wire.

One of his cows came bounding along, stepped on the gun. It went off. Thirty-five feet in front was off. Thirty-five feet in front was off.

Koehn, he will recover. Among these are: Spiraea vanhouttei, spiraea prunifolia, spiraea thunbergii, and spiraea reevesiana.

A GREAT HAZARD REMOVED

The opening today of the new underpass at the junction of the Norfolk-Southern railroad and Dickinson avenue, no doubt was a most welcome event for the people of this community. The immediate benefit of the opening of this underpass is that traffic can now go straight through instead of having to travel the dusty detour that has been in use for several months while the underpass was under construction. The more lasting and greatest benefit, however, is that this underpass has removed a great highway hazard where in years past many persons have been killed or seriously injured in collisions with trains. Another benefit to this city is that the underpass, with its sidewalks and turfed and sodded parkways, furnishes a most pleasing approach to the city.

The thanks of this community go to the present city administration for its efforts in behalf of this project and to Chairman Waynick of the Highway Commission and his associates for their interest in getting this great highway improvement for Greenville.

"We are more than ever of the opinion that liquor salesmen have no business carrying samples or giving away samples, have no business talking to clerks or store managers, except as regular customers," Moore said. "We feel that these regulations will prevent salesmen from certain lines from trying to get store managers and employees from pushing certain lines ahead of other brands—something we will not permit. We are also going to insist that no advertising of any sort be displayed in stores. The only persons liquor salesmen can contact are board members or the purchasing agent for the board in counties where one man does the buying for the board. Nor will the distribution of samples to board members be permitted."

Most of the liquor salesmen here are in hearty accord with the new regulations, especially the one prohibiting the distribution of samples. "I am delighted with the ruling prohibiting the giving away of samples or even the carrying of samples," one liquor salesman told this correspondent today. "We have been bothered more with requests for samples than with anything else. I think it is a fine ruling, so do all the other salesmen I know."

The report is going the rounds here that in at least one county that now has liquor stores, two of the three members of the county liquor board have been asking and getting samples from salesmen and distillers all over the United States, have been selling what they could not use in the county stores and pocketing the proceeds. This and other similar instances is regarded as being back of the regulation barring the carrying and giving away of samples.

The regulation barring telephones from all liquor stores is also understood to have been inspired by the report that some county liquor stores have been accepting telephone orders and making deliveries to "select" patrons, some of these being bootleggers.

"We were appointed by Governor Clyde R. Hoey, under the 1937 law, and told to put control ahead of everything else," Chairman Moore said today. "And as long as I am chairman, I am going to carry out the law without fear or favor as the law requires. We are going to try to correct every abuse we know of and will correct others as soon as they come to light. We want to

Racing Cars Kill Three At Langhorne Track

Death struck three times during the opening day program at the Langhorne, Pa., automobile speedway. Two boys who attempted to cross the track, witnesses said, were killed by a racer driven by Bud Henderson of Akron, O. A moment later, Driver Frankie Bailey of New Brunswick, N. J., drove his car to avoid Henderson and crashed through a fence, killing another spectator. Bailey's wrecked racer is shown (left) just after the accident. At the right, track attendants are shown removing one of the victims.

George Gershwin did the music and Ira the lyrics. The support includes Jerome Cowan, Ketti Gillian and William Brisbane.

Mark Sandrich is a young director (30) from New York who has been in pictures since 1922. He wrote and directed features and comedies in comparative obscurity until one of his shorts—"So This Is Harris"—impressed RKO.

Since then he has done several of the Astaire-Rogers hits, all excellent but none so marked by individuality as his latest. Credit must be given for many laugh lines and situations to Allan Scott and Ernest Pagano, screen playwrights, but the touch of Sandrich is always present. Laugh situations they developed on the set include Blore's Susquehanna episode, so hilarious that many lines are lost in laughter; Astaire's weaving trickery to make Horton seasick; the surprise ending to the roller-skate dance; and Horton's reaction to the news picture brought in by Astaire.

Chapel Hill, May 19.—There are 1,300 alumni of the University of North Carolina now living in a 50-mile radius of New York City, according to a directory just published by New York alumni of the University.

TELLS HOW FARMERS CAN WHIP DUST STORMS

Manhattan, Kas. (AP)—Prof. R. I. Throckmorton of the Kansas State college agronomy department believes dust storms virtually would be eliminated if farmers in affected regions would follow several approved practices.

These, he says, include returning plant residue to the soil, using implements in cultivation that leave small clods on the soil surface, avoiding pulverization of soil by excessive cultivation, strip cropping to avoid a wide sweep of barren soil, and cultivating fields at cross-angle to prevailing winds.

Horse Takes Impromptu Ski Ride

Mt. Carroll, Ill. (AP)—H. P. Hostetter's horse went skiing—and did a pretty graceful job of it, too. The horse slipped on the ice, skidded down a slope, crashed through a fence and over a bluff, landing on an ice-covered stream.

He was led back to the barn with only minor cuts and bruises.

Coed Comes Home To Run The Farm

By PAUL K. LEE
Youngstown, Ohio. (AP)—Far removed from the sun-burned, calico-clad rural raid of the past, Elizabeth Arrel, who was the only girl in her class to get an agricultural degree, works her father's farm attired in whipcord breeches, riding boots and a sun helmet.

Miss Arrel went back to the 260-acre farm in suburban Poland, O., trees and shrubs that will not interfere with the power and telephone lines, also that the highway maintenance forces help the utilities companies to keep these trees trimmed so that they will not interfere with service.

"I feel that the appointment of this committee means some real progress is going to be made in the preservation of roadside beauty and that plans will be worked out for the construction of new power lines without injuring the trees along the highways," Chairman Bagley said.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

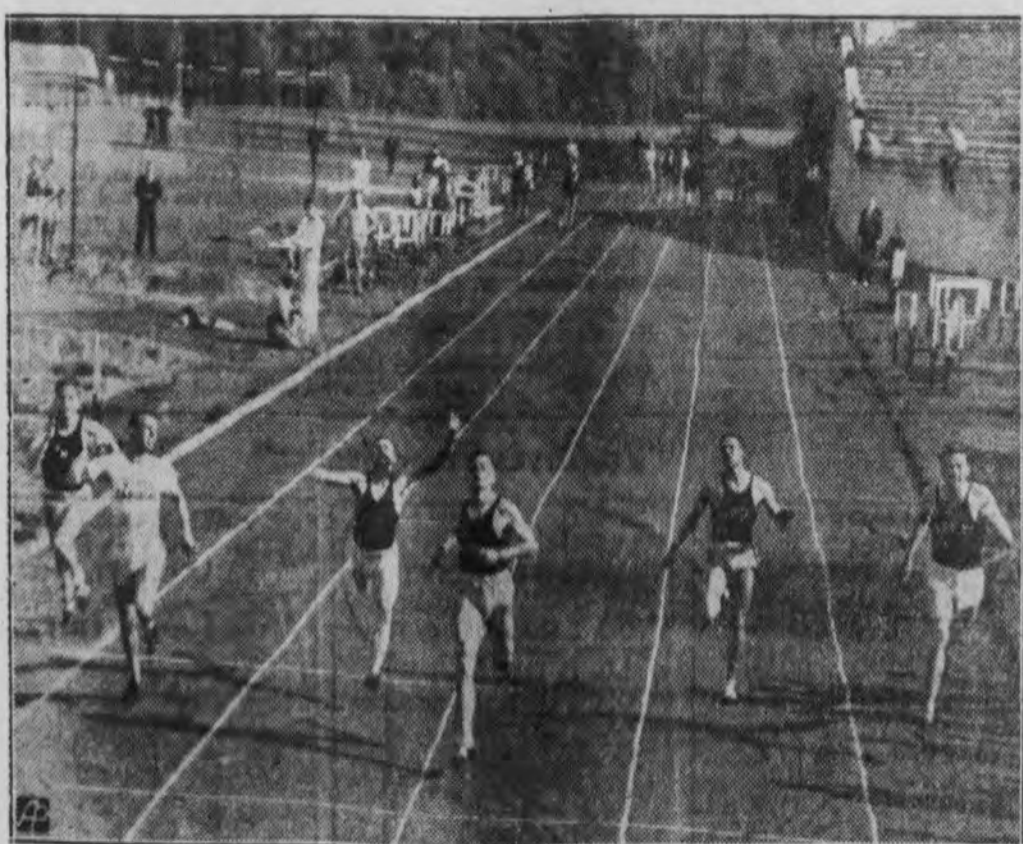

—By Robin Coons—

Hollywood—The names Astaire and Rogers over the boxoffice will mean more than ever after "Shall We Dance?" And the name of Mark Sandrich, who directed this most original of their offerings, should go up five or six runs higher on the ladder.

Not since "The Gay Divorcee" first co-starring vehicle of the dancing pair, has Hollywood seen their talents displayed so sparklingly. Astaire, playing a Pennsylvania boy masquerading as a Russian for professional reasons, falls in love with Ginger's photographs and decides to marry her. He pursues her from Paris to New York, where a gossip report of their marriage has preceded them. Ginger's efforts to untangle the situation and marry a dull playboy only enmesh them further, leading to a proposal of marriage from the pursued to the pursuer as the way out. But it doesn't end there, of course.

All of this permits the logical introduction of such high spots as Astaire's imitation of a temperamental Russian dancer for Ginger's benefit; his steam-room dance on a rickshaw; his dance on roller skates with Ginger; his ballet performance with Harriet Hector, who

ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING $15,000 EQUIPMENT BONDS

Be it Ordained by the Board of Aldermen of the Town of Greenville:

Section 1. That the Town of Greenville issue its Bonds pursuant to the Municipal Finance Act as amended in an amount not to exceed $15,000 for the purpose of purchasing equipment.

Section 2. That a tax sufficient to pay the principal and interest of said bonds shall be annually levied and collected.

Section 3. That a statement of the Debt of the Town of Greenville has been filed with the Clerk and is open for public inspection.

Section 4. That this Ordinance shall take effect thirty days after its first publication unless in the meantime a petition for its submission to the voters is filed under said Act and that in such event it shall take effect when approved by the voters of the Town at an election as provided in said Act.

Approved: M. K. BLOUNT, Mayor.

The foregoing Ordinance was passed on the 17th day of May, 1937, and was first published on the 19th day of May, 1937. Any action or proceeding questioning the validity of said Ordinance must be commenced thirty days after its first publication.

The Greenies, showing much more strength at bat than has heretofore been exhibited, marked up an 8-6 victory in Goldsboro yesterday and appeared to be headed out of the cellar position. The locals are only half a game behind the Kinston Eagles and one game behind Snow Hill.

Manager Bo Farley, whose hitting this year has not been anything to brag about, hit his stride yesterday and made three safeties in four times at bat. Latham, however, with four for four, topped both teams.

Thoele, who joined the Greenies after trying out with Goldsboro, went into the game with a determination to get revenge and came through with two doubles, one of which accounted for a run.

Manager Farley was spiked in the finger and retired before the game was over, but he was expected to be back in today's lineup.

Harvey Hinton of the college, joined the locals yesterday and came through with two safeties.

The Greenies outdid the Bugs, 15 to 12. Karl Williams went the route for Greenville; Edwards and Oughton shared the hurling job of the Goldbugs, with Edwards getting bumped hard before he was lined with none away in the second.

Singles by Andy Johnson and Hinton batted in Greenville runs in the first. Farley's single and Thoele's double added one in the second. The victors counted four times in the third, on hits by Stowe, Latham, Hinton, Farley and Williams. Their last run, made in the sixth, came on Walter Latham's homer.

Hits by Powell, Brannan and Pinion brought the Bugs a tally in the first. Lujack's single and two errors added one in the second. Willie Powell's triple sent in two in the fourth. The last Bug tallying, in the eighth, produced a pair of runs on hits by Brannan and Balla plus a couple of errors.

The Bugs and Greenies are playing this afternoon at Third Street Stadium.

LAND GRANT SUIT HITS AGUA CALIENTE

San Diego, Calif. (AP)—One of those old Spanish land grants that affect titles so much in California and Mexican property has risen to plague Agua Caliente, Susanna Lucero de Regnier has fled, suit claiming to own the land on which Gene Normie is opening the trans-border track.

Similar suits had been filed previously against the hotel and casino, but the resort ran right ahead.

Wonder Pitcher!

FORTY-NINE strike-outs in 19 innings! That's the remarkable record of Leslie Mueller (above), high school pitcher of Belleville, Ill., in his last two games. Scouts for the St. Louis Browns have invited him for a work-out with the team.

Spot Slants

In the old days, when a catcher played "way back of home plate and took the pitches on the first bounce, it really didn't make much difference whether he was right or left-handed. But when the game tightened up and the catcher moved to immediately behind the plate, southpaw mittmen became almost as extinct as the dodo.

Now, Lou Haneles is captain of the College of the City of New York baseball team, and, what's more, he's a left-handed catcher. Most diamond fans would laugh at the idea. But it's all sane and simple when you are familiar with Lou Haneles' case.

Long came to C. C. N. Y. with the reputation of being a mighty fine all-around ball player. He liked to play the game. The position made no difference. By choice he was a first baseman or an outfielder—the only jobs outside of pitching normally open to a lefthander.

A couple of seasons ago his team had a fairly capable first-sacker and several dependable outfielders. But it had no catcher worthy of the name. So it was natural for Haneles to bid for the backstop role. At first, the idea seemed silly. But Haneles had arguments to defend his position.

In recent years, he pointed out, ball players have seen the advantages of batting from the left. It actually shortens the distance to first base by a full stride. So the number of lefthanded batters has increased.

The main reason lefthanded catchers were frowned on was because of the difficulty such a catcher had in making a quick throw to first or third when a righthander was at bat. With the ever increasing number of lefthandeders in the batter's box, that argument no longer holds water.

At any rate, Haneles made good. Proving that a real ball player can play just about any position on the diamond. He expects to sign with the Boston Bees.

GREENIES SEEK DOUBLE KILLING IN GOLF, TENNIS

New Orleans (AP)—Tulane is trying for a double-killing. The Green Wave has strong contenders for both the national collegiate golf and tennis tournaments.

Only two universities ever have completed the same double play. Harvard won both links and court crowns in 1908. Yale won both in 1910 and again in 1920.

Captain Ernie Butler of Tulane holds the national intercollegiate net crown. He's a favorite to repeat, supported by other top netters.

RABBITS FOOT AN AID TO THINCLAD

uscaloosa, Ala. (AP)—Charlie Holm, high-scorer on the Alabama track and field team, wears a rabbit foot around his neck on the days of foot races.

The extra weight does not seem to hurt Holm in the high jump, his favorite event. Nor does it handicap him in the broad jump or in the javelin.

Sixty leagues, including more than 400 teams, are operating. These are mainly in rural areas and are in addition to scores of city leagues and independent or semi-pro clubs.

The state circuits provide a natural feeder for the Northern league, which has sent several promising players to the majors, including Outfielder Morris Aronovitch. Phillies' young slugger.

Prize lure for the amateurs, in addition to dates with big league scouts, is the annual tournament at the St. Paul American association park to determine state champions.

COBURN'S WINS OVER LEADERS

Blount-Harvey	1	2	.333
Carolina Dairy	1	2	.333

In the fastest game played in the soft ball league here, Coburn's boys stole yesterday afternoon defeated the undefeated Carolina Sales team 4 to 3.

The game was fast throughout and was featured by heads-up playing by members of both teams. Pitching on both sides was better than usual and kept hits and runs at a minimum. But when the pitchers failed to clamp down they were given jam-up support from the fielders to make it one of the best games played this summer.

In the other game of the afternoon Flanagan Buggy company defeated the lawyers, 12 to 3.

Dr. George T. Clark, hurler for the winners, kept the lawyers under control most of the game. He received almost perfect support from his fielders. Fred Forbes showed up especially good in the field and C. W. Williams at bat.

Jack Spain and Preston Pierce were good in the field for the lawyers, while the pitching of Arthur Corey was much better than the score would indicate.

Martins Cash In On Miscues By New Bern

New Bern.—Williamston's Martins—pace-setters of the Coastal Plain league, cashed in on New Bern's miscues in the tenth inning to edge a 4-2 win over the Bears in an thrilling game here yesterday.

Stuart Flythe, former N. C. State hurler, worked for the Bruins and lost the verdict to Raymond Strunk, big southpaw. Strunk allowed four hits, fanned three, walked one. Flythe allowed six hits, fanned four, walked five.

An error by McAbee put Ace Villeplique on base to start the Martins in their scoring in the extra inning. Stanley sacrificed and then Villeplique raced home when Flythe threw into centerfield in an attempt to catch the Ace off second. Ledbetter popped up and Stevens walked. Deim then double to left, Stevens scoring. Lakotas fanned to end the inning.

The Bears were helpless in their half of the ninth.

Tarboro Scores Win To Take Third Place

Tarboro.—Tarboro's Serpents of the Coastal loop moved into third place in the standings by defeating Kinston 10-4. New Bern, erstwhile occupant of the third rung, lost to Williamston and dropped to fourth.

Manager Fred Henry's locals collected 13 hits against two Eagle hurlers, and the licks came up in the right spots to send the score soaring.

The Serpents began by tallying two runs in each the first and second frames. These uprisings—four singles, two extra-base hits, two stolen bases, and two walks—were the scoring fireworks used—chased Webb, Kinston's starting pitcher. Smelder, Webb's successor, proved right much of a cousin, too.

Bernard Mooney pitched the route for the locals and allowed only six hits.

HAIRPIN HURLER TWIRLS NO-HITTER

Lincoln, Neb. (AP)—Pitcher Clyde (Dizzy) Dean of Lincoln high school's softball team flung a challenge to other athletes when he hurled a no-hit-no-run game.

Margaret Anderson, hurler on a girls' team, accepted and the following day duplicated Dean's performance.

Baseball Boom in Minnesota
 St. Paul (AP)—Minnesota's own system of organized baseball, comprising the state association of amateur leagues, is heading for a new high.

TEXAS STUDENT CLAIMS HE'S UGLIEST MAN

Fort Worth, Tex. (AP)—Joe Frederick, a ministerial student, claims the title of ugliest college man in Texas.

He has challenged all "Beau Uglies" in the state's colleges to compete in a contest to pick the homeliest student. Frederick has a head start. Last fall he was voted by fellow students the "ugliest man on the Texas Christian university campus" and thereby won a free football trip.

Frederick is not sure how babies will react at christening after he dons ministerial robes.

Seven Home Runs Hit In Ayden-Billies Tilt

Ayden.—Seven home runs, five of them by the winners, featured as Snow Hill's Billies defeated Ayden, 11-6, here yesterday.

The Billies started their homer deluge early. Horse Mewborn opened the game with a single, and then Connie Zusi homered over the right-field fence. Wall went out, but Joe Bistrot connected for a round-tripper. This ended the afternoon's activities of M.cklin starting Ayden hurler. Pittman Harward replaced him.

The Billies reached Harward for two runs in the second, as a result of Mewborn's homer with one on, and not two more in the next inning when Harry Stafas honored with one on.

After making two runs in the eighth without the aid of a round-tripper, the Billies concluded their tallying by counting twice in the ninth on Bistrot's second homer of the day.

To Prove Durability Special Brand Tires

Proof that a time will not blow out, causing the motorist to lose control of the car, even when driven across railroad spikes at a speed of 75 miles an hour will be demonstrated on Fifth street in front of the college tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The demonstration is being sponsored by the John Flanagan Buggy company, local dealers for the Goodyear Life Guard tube.

Bryce Sigmon will drive at 75 miles an hour across railroad spikes to show that the particular type of tube will not blow out, causing the driver to lose control and wreck his car.

PREVIEW OF THE SUN HELPS TOWN PLANNERS

SUN FORECASTER The heliodon shows the home builder how much sunshine he can expect in September.

By JOHN J. KELLY (Associated Press Feature Service Writer)

NEW YORK—Architects, town planners and the "man who wants to build a little place in the country" may now see where the sun will shine on their buildings before they're erected—by using the heliodon.

This instrument, built by Henry Wright Jr. and installed in the Town Planning studio of Columbia University's school of architecture, consists of two shafts eight feet apart.

The brightest at any time of the year, where windows will be most useful and where shade trees should be planted for summer comfort. Any architect could tell him this but the heliodon shows him.

Beats Figures

Community planners can decide how far apart houses should be to give each one sufficient sunshine, the best places for parks, the direction of streets and hundreds of other items important to group builders. Moreover they can discuss these problems with prospective tenants and buyers, intelligently and simply, before a foundation is poured or a brick is laid.

Because the heliodon has proved to be more accurate and less complex than a set of architect's reckonings on sun angles, Dean Leopold Arnaud and Sir Raymond Unwin, who are conducting experiments with it at the school of architecture, predict widespread use of the instrument.

BUILDING "SPACER" The heliodon also tells the town planner how far apart houses should be in a community.

MERCHANTS TO MEET IN JUNE

Social Security Act To Be Explained By High Official

Raleigh, May 19.—The Social Security Act, as it is seen through the eyes of an experienced business executive, will be described by G. R. Parker, Regional Director, Region IV, and Chief of the Field Service Division of the Social Security Board, in an address before the thirty-fifth annual convention of the North Carolina Merchants Association in New Bern on June 7, said W. L. Dowell, executive secretary of the Association.

"The Social Security Act from the standpoint of business man" will be the subject of Mr. Parker's address. That Mr. Parker is qualified to discuss the Social Security law is shown by the fact that he has filled several important executive posts in the Social Security Board. That he is qualified to discuss the Act from the viewpoint of the business man is shown by his business career, continued Mr. Powell.

Graduated from Union College in 1903 with a degree in engineering, Mr. Parker began his business career with the General Electric Company as a shop apprentice in Schenectady, New York. Succeeding promotions took him into construction and selling. He was assistant sales manager when he resigned to accept a partnership in a New York business concern. Subsequently he was president of an international trading house, was chosen president of the American Exporters and Importers Association, and saw varied service in responsible posts in Chambers of Commerce, including the United States Chamber of Commerce, and in trade associations.

Mr. Parker's broad business experience was called to the service of the Federal Government in the spring of 1935 when he was appointed Regional Director of the National Recovery Administration. It was his first government post. In May 1936, he was appointed Regional Director of Region IV of the Social Security Board, comprising the states of North Carolina and Virginia, the District of Columbia, Maryland and West Virginia. He still holds that position. In March 1937 he became Chief of the Field Service Division of the Bureau of Old-Age Benefits, which involves administration of the three hundred odd offices which have been or are to be established throughout the country to facilitate administration of the old-age insurance title of the Social Security Act.

Mr. Parker is an out-door enthusiast. His hobby is tennis, which he plays whenever he can find time away from his official duties. He has one son, who is a student at the University of North Carolina.

Talks To Parents

By Brooke Peters, Chief

Firearms

Far too often, comes news of a small boy who has been playing with a revolver or a rifle under the impression that it was not loaded, and has shot a brother or playmate. The child is blamed or punished for fatal carelessness, and may go through life with a load on his conscience.

It is not the child who is to blame, however, but the parents. In every case of this kind the parents were haled into court and publicly censured or punished for criminal negligence, there would be fewer accidental shootings.

There are two counts on which the parents may be held responsible.

The child who is gun-conscious from babyhood is not apt even to point a real weapon even in play. Furthermore, as soon as he is old enough he should be taught a healthy respect for firearms, and if possible how to handle and use them, for such knowledge is the greatest safeguard he can have.

Secondly, to leave a gun loaded, especially when there are children about, is little short of murderous. There is no need for loaded weapons ready for instant service. These are not the days of Indians raids and bandits. Thieves and kidnapers are no greater menace than a loaded gun in the home.
