President To Recommend Labor Laws Monday

TWO BRANCHES TO GET BILLS

Legislation To Cover Wages, Hours And Child Labor

Washington, May 22. — (AP)—Chairman Connery (D. Mass.) of the House Labor Committee, said today President Roosevelt would send a message to Congress Monday recommending legislation covering minimum wages, maximum hours and limitations on child labor.

Connery made the statement after a conference with the President. He said he would introduce the recommended legislation in the House and Chairman Black (D. Ala.), of the Senate Labor Committee, would offer a similar bill in the Senate.

A few minutes earlier, John Lewis said the C. I. O. was "quite in support" of such legislation.

The bill, Connery said, would provide for a board of three to establish a flexible work week of from 35 to 40 hours, a basic minimum wage of $16 a week and a prohibition against movement in interstate commerce of products of children under 16.

He said the President preferred this to Ellenbogen bill, fixing labor standards for the textile industry, be shelved because the Black-Connery proposal would cover textiles along with other industries producing for inter-state commerce.

DUKE SELECTS WALLY'S RING

Band Similar To That Used By His Two Brothers

Monts. France, May 22.—(AP)—Wallis Warfield, it was learned today, will be married with the same traditional ring of British royalty she would have received had Edward of Windsor been able to make her his queen.

A source close to the Chateau de Cande household disclosed the Duke will slip a wedding ring of Welsh gold, similar to those worn by other wives of Britain's royalty, on Mrs. Warfield's third finger during the civil marriage ceremony June 3.

The former British monarch will follow the tradition of his young brothers, the Dukes of Gloucester, and Kent, who gave their brides rings fashioned of gold from Wales. After the arrival of Mrs. Warfield's "Aunt Bessie," Mrs. Buchanan Merriman of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bates, Americans described as "personal friends of the Duke," preparations were made to welcome a few other friends of the bridal couple.

Expect Resume Court In County Next Week

The quads—two boys and two girls—are shown here before one of the girls died. The babies received their first food through an eye-dropper.

FALL IS FATAL FOR WAKE MAN

Harvey R. Hayes Killed In Accident Near Here

Harvey R. Hayes, 61, of Knightdale, Wake county, bridge foreman for the Norfolk Southern railroad, was killed this morning about 7:50 o'clock when he fell from the Chiod creek bridge between here and Washington.

The foreman was working on the trestle where a hand car was being loaded with large timbers. As he pushed the car along the tracks one end of a timber struck a punch bar, knocking it from the car. The opposite end struck Mr. Hayes, knocking him off the trestle to the ground below, about 15 feet.

A coroner's inquest brought in a verdict he died of an unavoidable accident.

The bridge foreman's head struck a large rock, killing him instantly.

Mr. Hayes had been with the Norfolk Southern for 20 years. He was a Shriner, member of Sundan Temple, New Bern. He was a veteran of the Spanish War and a member of the Raleigh Chapter of the Woodmen of the World. He was a member of the Methodist church of Knightdale.

Funeral services will be held in Knightdale, probably tomorrow afternoon, followed by burial in Oakwood cemetery in Raleigh.

He is survived by his wife; two sons, Arthur Hayes of Raleigh and Elmer Hayes of Washington, D. C.; one daughter, Mrs. Wallace Atkinson of Washington, D. C.; three brothers, Ryal Hayes of Hot Springs, Ark., Joe Hayes of Oklahoma and John Hayes of Kentucky; and one sister, Mrs. M. Trammel of Shreveport, La.

Wreck Fatal To Gastonia Citizen

Groves was riding with his son, Kenneth, who survives unhurt and Allen, likewise, escaped injury.

Allen however, was confined to his home today.

Leaders Map Further Drives in Nation's Steel Industry

(By Associated Press)
Jubilant C. I. O. leaders mapped further drives in the steel industry today as the American Federation of Labor chiefs began marshalling forces to oppose the John Lewis revolt.

While the rival groups studied organizational problems, striking coal miners remained voluntarily entombed 360 feet underground near Wilsonville, Ill. A new strike began in a Michigan General Motors plant and a Detroit car lock factory discontinued operations.

The steel worker organizing committee, a C. I. O. group that won the first major government supervised collective bargaining election Thursday, secretly outlined strategy (Continued on page seven)

GIRL ACCUSES FORMER LOVER

Denies That She Wielded Hatchet That Killed Mother

Jersey City, N. J., May 22.—(AP)—Gladys MacKnight, 17, testified calmly at her murder trial today it was her co-defendant and ex-sweetheart, Donald Wightman, 18, alone who killed her mother with a hatchet.

The girl said she was grappling with her mother for possession of a knife when Mrs. MacKnight screamed and collapsed in her arms.

"I turned around and saw Donald standing there with the hatchet in his hand," she said. Wightman shook his head in denial.

"There was blood dripping from it x x x. He had struck my mother," she continued.

"I said 'what did you do that for? He said 'I thought she was trying to kill you.'"

The youth on trial with her for the slaying of Mrs. Helen MacKnight last July 31, buried his face in his hands and wept.

Gladys never glanced in his direction.

Looking alternately at the floor and ceiling and some times closing her eyes, she told how her mother advanced with a knife when she found Donald "with his arm around me, kissing me and hugging me and running his hands over me."

"I turned and saw my mother standing just inside the doorway," she related, "with a black handled knife in her hand."

"x x x I thought she was trying to stab Donald x x x. She took a step toward him.

"I immediately grappled with her and tried to take the knife away from her."

THIRTY DEAD; MANY INJURED

Three Hours of Cannonading Rips Private Dwellings

Madrid, May 22.—(AP)—Three hours of intense Insurgent cannonade killed at least 30 persons, wounded more than 100 and ripped private dwellings apart in Madrid today.

The shelling began at 7 a. m., and continued until 10 o'clock. It was one of the heaviest bombardments in many weeks.

Thousands of workers crept to their jobs under the deluge of steel, seeking whatever shelter they could find, keeping away from the open streets.

The shells, at least 200 of them, cut a wide pattern of destruction through the city, indicating the intention of the Insurgents was to demoralize the life of the entire capital. Some even crashed into the so-called neutral zone.

Elsewhere Hendaye, Franco-Spanish frontier reports said, lines of rain-soaked soldiers scarcely a mile apart watched licking flames crackle through the ancient houses of Munguia early in the day after Basque militiamen drove a salient into the Insurgent's advance position on the front nine miles north-east of besieged Bilbao.

Cerbere, Franco-Spanish frontier sources indicated, one of four Spanish Insurgent planes machine-gunned the streets of Cerbere during a raid on Spanish Portbort, just across the border, scattering panic townfolks and injuring a small boy.

Spanish border officials said the planes were "German."

MAP PROGRAM FOR CONGRESS

Labor, Farm and Planning Programs Now Await Action

Washington, May 22.—(AP)—Administration leaders in Congress set to work today on a three-fold economic program which had been shunted aside for three months by the court reorganization dispute.

Although the judiciary battle was far from settled, the President's lieutenants outlined these legislative proposals:

1. Establishment of a 40-hour-week and a 40-cents an hour minimum wage in inter-state industries.
2. Stabilization of farm production and prices, based on a bill offered by major farm organizations.
3. A regional planning program, dealing with flood control, power, navigation improvements, irrigation and soil erosion control.

These proposal, still in preliminary form, are virtually the only major subjects, aside from the court measure and government reorganization, which informed persons predicted will be considered at this session.

In Local Hospital

Elender Teberton of Bethel Route 3 underwent an appendix operation this morning in Pitt General hospital.

FORT WASHAKIE, Wyo. (AP)—Mrs. Nellie Scott Burns has convinced the Indians that woman's place is not always in the tepee.

As newly elected "chieftain" of the Arapahoes, she will fight for a higher standard of living for her tribesmen.

"I am keenly interested in educational programs, in obtaining better homes for our Indian families and in creating a community work program," says this middle-aged Indian woman who is the first of her sex to win a place in a Wyoming Indian tribal council.

Arapahoe braves who were her opponents in the election, turned their arguments toward soil conservation, improved roads and herd betterment. Mrs. Burns talked of comfortable log cabins to take the place of the lean-tos, shacks and wickiups.

It was an election in the white man's manner—secret ballots cast in designated polling places. And women of the tribe voted with the men. Thus it was a complete reversal of the traditional Indian method; a generation ago horsemanship and skill with weapons were chief qualifications for leaders. Elected to the council with Mrs. Burns were five men.

THE WINNER
Mrs. Nellie Scott Burns won her Indian council seat with a campaign for better homes.

The College orchestra delighted a student audience Friday morning at Chapel period with interpretations of music by Brahms, Schubert, and Tschalkowsky. The orchestra will also figure prominently in commencement music and preliminary events during the next two weeks. They will play at the Y. W. C. A. vesper services Sunday week at the lakeside, will furnish music for the Senior-Normal "Daisy Chain Exercises" in the late afternoon of the Saturday before commencement, and will play during the commencement programs on both Sunday and Monday mornings.

The orchestra is composed of 21 members, playing nine different instruments. There are ten violins, played by Sam Quineffly, Marion Wood, Vincent Romano, Misses Lois Gorrell and Lucy Nulton, Mildred Edwards, Wesley Bankston, Wilson Bialock and Jean Corey; two flutes, Miss Frances Fields and Lewis ReBarker; three trumpets, Harvey Deal, H. H. McDougle, and John Womble; two clarinets, Leo Burks, Jr. and Wm. Miller Burks; trombone, Harding Sugg; piano, Nola Walters; bass fiddle, Ralph Hutchinson; saxophone, Ruth Wood, and cello, Mary Shaw Robeson.

The orchestra was organized by Dean Tabor the first part of the winter term, and has made remarkable progress considering the time.

'WORKING TO EARN FARE' FOOLS BOOK SALESMAN

Washington (AP)—The secretary of a West Virginia representative has found an almost sure way to "turn down" magazine salesmen.

Each time a salesman enters her office she immediately takes over a routine job such as addressing envelopes in long-hand.

Then she tells the salesman: "I'm sorry but I couldn't take any magazines, I'm just working here to earn railroad fare to my home."

It works, she says, and once it worked too well. She spent a half hour explaining why she couldn't accept the offer of one salesman to ride to West Virginia with him—he was going there the next day.

Platinum was the first metal used in the wires of electric lamps.

WE HOPE YOU LIKE IT

We hope you like this issue of The Reflector. The growing popularity of the tabloid size pictorial and comic issues caused us some time ago to decide to change our Saturday issue to a week-end tabloid and when our new press was purchased facilities for printing this type of paper were included. The change is made in an effort to give our readers a more attractive and interesting paper than heretofore for the week-ends.

In these week-end tabloids you will receive not only the regular last minute news but added features, including wirephoto pictures of world events and four of the nation's most popular Sunday comic pages.

We regret that today's issue appears without the comic pages but the popularity of the four comics we desired for our readers made it difficult to purchase publication rights for same and definite arrangements were not concluded in time for the comics to reach us for this week-end issue. We are assured, however, that next week-end's release will reach us in ample time so you may look forward to our next week-end tabloid for the antics of your four favorite comics, "Popeye," "Blondie," "Henry" and the "Katzenjammer Kids."

As stated above the change in the form and content of our week-end issue is in keeping with our policy to endeavor at all times to give the people of this community the best to be had in a small city daily newspaper. We hope you like it. Your criticisms, suggestions and comments will be appreciated.

R. L. Doughton To Address State Merchants Meeting

Annual Convention Is Set for New Bern June 7 and 8

Raleigh, May 22.—"Merchants of the State have a treat in store for them for they are to have the pleasure of hearing Honorable Robert L. Doughton, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the National Congress, deliver an address at the thirty-fifth annual convention of the North Carolina Merchants Association which is to be held in New Bern on June 7-8 1937," said W. L. Dowell, executive secretary of the Association.

"Congressman Doughton, who for many years has formulated the taxing program for the nation and who is universally recognized as one of the greatest authorities on Federal taxation in the entire country, will speak on the subject of 'Taxation' at the convention session to be held on June 7. This is a question of vital importance to every merchant for it is claimed that one-tenth of all the taxes collected in the United States are paid directly or indirectly by retailers," continued Mr. Dowell.

Entering public life more than a third of a century ago, Mr. Doughton's first public office was as a member of the State Board of Agriculture. He was elected to the State Senate in 1908, Served as Director of the State Prison from 1909-1911 and in 1912 was elected to the Sixty-second Congress from the Ninth North Carolina District and has been re-elected to each succeeding Congress. At the expiration of his present term, therefore, he will have continuously and with conspicuous ability and fidelity served his State and Nation in the ha's of Congress for twenty-eight consecutive years.

Mr. Doughton is one of the busiest men in Washington. From the standpoint of power and importance it is generally conceded that the Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee is outranked only by the President of the United States. Appreciating this fact, the merchants of the State are deeply grateful to Mr. Doughton for accepting their invitation to address their convention and they are eagerly looking forward to hearing him in New Bern on June 7th.

Approximately 3,500,000 quarts of milk and cream and 2,000,000 dozen eggs are consumed annually in American dining cars.

LOCAL PASTOR CLUB SPEAKER

Rev. Thomas McM. Grant Addresses Kiwanians

Rev. Thomas McM. Grant, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, addressed the regular bi-weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club last night, at which time he spoke on the subject of "Attendance."

Rev. Mr. Grant declared that he was not speaking as an expert on the subject, adding that ministers had more trouble in keeping up a good attendance than any other class.

Backing up his statement he related a conversation which took place between two ministers. The two not having seen each other in some time began to talk of the various problems that faced each. One said that attendance was his greatest problem and the other replied that his entire membership was present for each meeting unless kept away on account of sickness.

The first could not understand how he accomplished such a feat. Later on in the conversation the pastor who had trouble with his attendance asked his friend where he was pastor and was advised that he was chaplain at the state penitentiary.

Rev. Mr. Grant declared that a person should believe in any organization of which he is a part. He added that if one does not have the confidence and belief in the organization he should get out. He also said that a man should get his wife believing in the organization, adding that this showed that the member himself was enthusiastic because of the fact he had convinced his mate of the qualities of the organization.

"When a man believes in anything of which he is a part and has convinced his wife he has solved the problem of attendance," declared the minister.

He also advised that a person make a check-up on himself. He declared that by doing this we could find out exactly where we stood.

He declared that the fellowship gained by attending such meetings as that last night was of great importance to a person. "A man does not really live until he learns to share," he declared.

The program was in charge of the Attendance Committee, of which J. M. Taft is chairman. Rev. Mr. Grant said he decided to speak on the subject of attendance when he read this fact in the paper, and not because he believed he could speak as an expert.

Mr. Parkinson of Norfolk, Va., who was in the city on business, entertained the members with two vocal selections, "Home on the Range" and "Lonesome Road." He was accompanied by Mrs. Ray Tyson, club pianist.

Require Children To Get Certificates In Order To Work

Boys and Girls Under 18 Years Old Must Secure Special Permit From Welfare Office

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, May 22.—Effective July 1, all boys and girls under 18 years of age who are regularly employed must obtain certificates from the county welfare officers and the State Department of Labor and no employers will be permitted to employ any minors under 18 years of age unless they have obtained such certificates, it was pointed out here today by Commissioner of Labor A. L. Fletcher.

Under the present child labor law, certificates are required only of children working regularly who are under 16 years of age. But the 1937 general assembly changed the law so that beginning July 1, the age limit would be 18 years. Commissioner Fletcher pointed out. The enforcement of the new child labor law is placed under the supervision of the state labor department, where it has been in the past.

In order that boys and girls 16 and 17 years old who are now employed and who want to continue working, may obtain their certificates and continue at work without interruption, the necessary forms and blanks for getting the required certificates will be in the hands of all county superintendents of public welfare by June 15, Commissioner Fletcher announced, and can be obtained from them upon application. The certificates must be obtained or at least applications made for the certificates before July 1.

This new law also prohibits the employment of any children under 16 years of age in any full-time manufacturing jobs after July 1, although the old law permitted the employment of children between the ages of 14 and 16, if they were properly certified by the Department of Labor and the county superintendent of public welfare. The only jobs children under 16 years can hold under the new law effective July 1, are part-time jobs and work that comes after school hours, such as delivering newspapers, magazines or making deliveries for grocery stores.

Places Blame For Plane Crashes

REPORTS MADE ON N.C. WRECKS

Accidents At Louisville And Winston-Salem This Year

Washington, May 22.—(AP)—The Commerce Department reported today a structural failure was the probable cause of an airplane accident last February 7 near Louisville, N. C., in which the pilot and three passengers were killed.

Arthur Conn was the pilot and the passengers were Chester Betz, Akron, Ohio; David Green, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio; and Carolyn Dancy, Charleston, West Virginia.

The department said its investigation determined that while flying at a low altitude the airplane developed wing flutter becoming uncontrollable.

The department said further a prolonged left hand spin, making recovery "difficult if not impossible" was the probable cause of an air crash near Winston-Salem last April 6 in which pilot John Harmon was killed.

The purpose of this flight, the department said after an investigation, was to perform spinning tests preparatory to requesting a removal of the restrictions against acrobatic maneuvers.

Rhabe Out Hospital But Unable Play Yet

Dick Rhabe, hard hitting left fielder who was forced out of the Greenies' line-up recently because of an appendicitis operation, is out of the hospital, but it will be some time yet before he is able to take his place with the team.

When Rhabe was removed from the team he was one of the leading hitters on the team.

Plan Open City Pool On or About June 5th

Dr. M. B. Massey, chairman of the aldermanic committee on the swimming pool, said today it was planned to open the pool on or about June 5.

Dr. Massey called attention to the fact that the city school's complete their term at about that time and if the weather permits the pool probably will be opened on the first Saturday in June.

He added, however, that if the weather was unusually warm prior to that date the pool probably would be opened earlier and if it is cool the opening delayed.

Miss Mildred Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George N. Edwards of Winterville, and Hal Thomas Erwin, son of Mrs. S. W. Erwin of Farmville, were declared county winners in the county-wide 4-H health contest in competition with more than a score contestants here today.

Miss Edwards is a member of the Pierce club and Mr. Erwin of the Bell Arthur club. As a result of their victory today they will compete in a district contest, to be held probably at Washington in June. Winners in this contest will compete in the state-wide contest in Raleigh, the winners of the state titles going to Chicago for the national contest to be held in November or December.

Snake Henry's Tarboro Serpents left their "Squeezer" at home yesterday afternoon—came to Greenville—and suffered a 5-1 defeat in the hands of the locals at Third Street stadium here in a game lasting only one hour and twenty-three minutes. This was the shortest tilt played by any teams in the Coastal Plain League this season.

Tarboro's only tally came in the second frame when Cantrell hit for the circuit to center field. The visitors threatened in the first and fifth frames. In the first, Rimmer doubled, but failed to do any remaining damage.

In the fifth, Pizzolato singled to right field, Mooney singled to center, and Savage ditto to left—the trio were left stranded.

Greenville opened its big cannon in the third when Williams drew a free pass, Farley doubled to center, and Thoele singled to center, scoring both Williams and Farley.

The scoring attack for the locals continued in the fourth inning when Latham took a base on balls, Johnson was safe on an error by Myers, Rudisill sacrificed, sending Latham and Johnson up a sack. Hinton singled through short to score Latham.

Final tallies for the locals came about the eighth frame when Farley singled, Thoele sacrificed, Durwood Stowe hit to Mooney, who in turn made a wild throw to first, enabling Farley to score. The final run resulted in a single by Latham, a single by Johnson to right scoring Stowe.

Karl Williams pitched the entire route for the Greenies, being reached for nine scattered hits. Mooney tossed all the way for the Serpents, allowing seven hits.

Cantrell with homer and Rimmer with a double set the pace for the visitors. Rudisill and Farley, each with doubles, featured for the locals.

The Greenies are playing in Tarboro this afternoon, and whether or not they've got the answer to Snake bites, remains to be seen.

The Tarboro nine returns here tomorrow for the last of a four-game series with the Greenies. Starting time for the game is 3:00 P. M.

The softball teams of Coburn's shoe store and the Tadlock Mutual Insurance agency were forced to quit playing yesterday afternoon on account of darkness with the score deadlocked at 6 each.

The game will be played off Wednesday, open date.

Practically certain of victory when they took the field for Tadlock's seventh inning, the shoe men saw victory slipping as the insurance men scored five runs to add to their previous tally and tie the score. Coburn's outfit the insurance men 10 to 5.

The Carolina Sales team also made one inning count to score a victory over Flanagan Buggy company.

A big sixth inning was enough to down the fast stepping Flanagan team. Going into the sixth, trailing by a score of 9 to 2, the Carolina Sales boys scored 14 runs to sew up the ball game.

The big inning was featured with home runs by Ed Waldrop, Roebuck and Burnette. With the exception of the sixth frame, Dr. Clark of the losers, pitched effective ball. Campbell, the starting pitcher, was relieved at the end of the third stanza, due to an injured finger, and Burnette finished for the winners.

Both teams were supported by a large crowd in attendance.

Williamston Martins Lose To Ayden, 14-1

Williamston.—The Martins looked like anything but league-leaders in front of Nick Harrison's efforts to see how easily a ball could be served up to batters. Skipper Harrison and his Ayden Aces walked off with a 14-1 victory, and the outcome cut the Martins' hold on first place to a one-game margin over the deadlocked New Bern and Goldsboro entries.

Jefferson started on the mound for the locals, and he was chased in a hurry. He retired under a 7-hit barrage in the opening inning. Slim Gardner, his successor, fared little better—Slim was reached for a dozen hits over the rest of the game.

Goldsboro Hurler In Rare Form Yesterday

Kinston.—Pete Kunis, Goldsboro pitcher, practically won his own ball game here yesterday afternoon as the Bugs defeated Kinston, 5 to 5.

With the score tied at 5-5 in the ninth, Kunis opened with a single, advanced to second on Powell's sacrifice, and tallied on Jarvis' two-base hit down the first-base line.

Manager Krim Bess, pitching for the Eagles, was ejected from the game by Umpire Clos when the pilot protested too vigorously that Jarvis' drive was foul.

Combs with four for four, accounted for a third of the Bugs' seven safeties. Ballas, with three for four, was right behind.

Dirmann, with three for four, paced Kinston's nine-hit offense. Sessi, with two for four, came next.

CAROLINA NINE TO END SEASON

Meet Duke at Durham Monday to Complete 1937 Program

Chapel Hill, May 22.—Carolina and Duke baseball teams will clash Monday afternoon at Durham in the third and final of their annual three games. With this contest the University of North Carolina will close its spring athletic program.

Two other Tar Heel teams have already closed their schedules. The undefeated tennis team won both State and Southern Conference singles and doubles championships at the annual tournament in Richmond last week-end and compiled the best defensive record ever made by a Carolina team. A total of only six points in 16 dual matches were scored against it.

The golf team upset Duke's State and Southern Conference champions 10-8 in its final engagement. The victory over the Dukes was considered all the more impressive in view of the fact that the Blue Devils recently beat Louisiana State, national collegiate champions in 1936.

The varsity track team was to complete its season today in the senior competition of the Carolinas A. A. U. meet.

In the final baseball game Monday, Pitchers George Barley of Duke and Daffy Parker of Carolina are slated to match skill and speed for the second time this season. Barley was in rare form here last Wednesday. He allowed the Tar Heels only three hits and one run. His teammates had a field day at the expense of three pitchers as they scored 18 runs on 18 hits. Parker was nicked for four hits and four runs before he was retired with none out in the first.

Barley will be pitching his final game as a collegian. In four years at Duke, he has won 21 or 23 games. Parker, a sophomore, has eight victories and three defeats.

Chapel Hill, May 22.—Carolina's varsity and freshman track teams will close their seasons this afternoon in the Carolina A. A. U. meet which is being sponsored by the University.

ALL-STAR TEAM PLAYS SUNDAY

To Engage Erwin Red Birds in First Game of Season

The Erwin Red Birds will engage the baseball aggregation of Greenville All-Stars at Erwin Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Holland will do the mound work for the locals, while Mickey O'Quinn former Piedmont League tosser, slated as possible tosser for Red Birds.

The All-Star outfit has been recently organized and is composed entirely of players of East Carolina Teachers College. Francis Ferbee doing work behind the plate; J. Holland is tossing; Kelly Mar will perform in right field, and I. Ridenhour in left field; Floyd H. ton is holding down the first sack; Bill Shelton is playing short; C. Powell is third-sacker; Earle Sm will do work around second; a Hoot Gibson will see action in center field.

Bill Holland is managing the All-Star outfit and states, "while complete schedule has been arranged, I hope our team can do much action and win many games."

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

Synopsis: Our wild, stormy weekend at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's aunts, opens with the mysterious shooting to death of attractive Judge Blinshop. A series of strange attacks is apparently explained when we find below the bluff the body of Michael's mad father, supposedly long since dead. Then Aunt Martha is shot in the shoulder by an unseen hand, and the Skipper, Mike's tall and tweedy younger aunt, disappears. I leave Mike with Gay Palmer, his fiancée, and go with William, the chauffeur, to search the stable and garage for the Skipper.

Chapter 32

"Find Those Powders!" I had no flashlight to tell me that the room was empty—empty exactly as we had left it. I walked to the wardrobe door. William flung it open. The cap and buzzers still hung where we had found them. Picking up the former, William turned toward me, a puzzled expression on his face.

"What's this?" he said heavily, pointing to the bullet hole in its own.

Like a flash of lightning another in storm struck me. I had fired Higgins' gun in the garage yesterday morning. The Skipper had fired in the library yesterday afternoon. But only one bullet had been fired from the revolver which Higgins claimed to have found in the hall. Unless someone had cleaned the butler's gun at least twice, there must be another revolver on Farrington Bluff, and that revolver must be in the possession of the murderer!

My stare was making William uneasy. "That's a bullet hole," he said. "I'm sorry, William. I did that yesterday morning. Miss Barbara and I thought we heard someone in that closet and we weren't taking any chances. I'll get you another cap."

He didn't believe it. I wondered what sort of evidence he could be seeing together in his stubborn and around a bullet hole in a discarded cap. "Come along," I said briskly. "It's bright enough to take a quick look around outside, if we hurry." We hurried. Clumping down the stairs, we raced into the open air. This time it in no way revived me. It felt as if a tremendous weight suspended over my head was being lowered by a slow, inevitable pulley. It was much darker than it had been for our search the day before, but the clearness of the air made it possible to see farther with less difficulty.

It took but a fraction of a minute to ascertain that the rocks on which the buildings stood and the beach below them were deserted. I was already sure that there was nothing between the bluff and the house, for I had stood staring in that direction when I first stepped outdoors. I figured that by following the driveway we could get a pretty good view of the entire northern lawn.

Accordingly, down the drive we went, William watching to the right and I to the left. There was nothing unusual. Only numerous sticks and limbs blown down by the storm. In one place half of a huge elm had been snapped off and hung suspended on a few retentive fibers, waiting for a breath of wind to send it hurtling to the ground. At the foot of the drive, water still seeped through the narrow gut leading us from the mainland.

From this point, where the bridge usually stood, the driveway of the bluff sweeps off in a rough circle—one section going toward the garage, the other toward the house. We followed the latter, and at the house we branched off to the path which runs from the west terrace to the tennis courts and beyond them to the boathouse. Even less of the pier was standing now. A few piles still held their ground, but they were shaking prophetically in the boiling water. The boathouse was still completely inundated. Slowly, with difficulty we climbed the rocks, scene of Michael's downfall. No one and no trace of anyone.

I Look Over The Bluff

"Well, William," I said, "we may as well go back to the house." He made no reply. I puffed down the rocks, nursing my stiff fingers and treading gingerly on numb feet. The weather was getting colder by the minute and our raincoats were not exactly adequate. The storm, decidedly, was over.

William had nothing to say throughout the walk back to the house. I fancied him busy with his own thoughts, in which he was no doubt hanging me with the last bit of evidence. My own thoughts were dismal. I was thinking that the things happening during the Skipper's first disappearance weren't exactly calculated to cheer us up about this second one. Where the devil could she be? She had been left taking care of M. Farrington before lunch, and no one had seen her since our Higgins, when he received his orders for an early lunch. That was three or four hours ago.

Avoiding the game room door, we swerved along the rear terrace in the direction of the kitchen. As we did so, I was struck by an appalling thought. My eyes swept toward the bluff.

"We forgot one place, William!" He got what I meant—and showed it plainly.

We crossed that strip of lawn like two old men who have indulged in a skating spree and have difficulty with their underpinnings. I forced myself to look over the edge of the bluff. There was nothing but sand, water, and dead scrub grass. The tide was well out.

If there had been anything there a few hours ago, it had long since washed away, and the chances of its ever being found again on Farrington Bluff were slight. The sight of Norman Farrington's body there that morning had been pretty bad, but the mental picture of the Skipper floating for days in that churning, half-frozen water was worse. We turned dumbly back toward the house.

We let ourselves in at the main door. An unearthly silence seemed to settle down upon you in that house, enveloping you like a blanket. It was dark—much darker than it had been outside and more terrifying. I didn't want to face Michael just then, and the idea of my own company was insupportable. I followed William into the kitchen.

They were waiting for us at the kitchen table. Higgins with a dilapidated old pipe in his hand and Annie trying furtively to extinguish her cigarette. Cook's face was red, her eyes bleary, and her breath strongly alcoholic.

"Did you find her?" burst out Annie. Under drawn brows, Cook was regarding us oddly.

"No," I said. "Which one of you fed the dogs last?" There was dead silence. Then Cook rumbled, "They ain't been fed. I forgot 'em, and so did Miss Barbara. The meat's there in the ice box like always."

"Who fed them Friday?" I demanded. Cook's voice, if anything, was a little thicker. "Miss Barbara fed 'em of course. They ain't been fed since."

"Are you sure?" I snapped. "Sure I'm sure. I handle that ice box!"

"Feed them now, will you, William?" I said. Since Higgins had obviously told some of the story, there seemed little use in keeping them in the dark. The results might be disastrous when the police arrived. "We can't find Miss Barbara," I told them. "There seems to be some danger of her having fallen over the cliff. Did any of you see her this afternoon?"

There was no answer. They were all staring at me. I turned to Higgins.

"When did she give you the order for an early lunch?"

His reply was prompt. "At 11:30. When I heard the bell, glanced at the clock to be sure I had not failed to start things at the usual hour."

"Where did she ring from?"

"She rang me on the house phone and gave me her orders then."

"You mean that you didn't actually see her at 11:30?"

"No, sir."

More complications. "How many rooms are connected on the house phone?"

"All of them, Mr. James. You may overhear a conversation from any room in the house, but the buzzers are independent for each room. You push the one you want."

Then the Skipper might have called from any room in the house—or someone else might have called for her. Had the early lunch been part of the plan? For the life of men I couldn't see why I turned wearily to the door.

Ipecae!

I paused for a second outside of M. Farrington's door to get my

FOUR SOUTHERN SCHOOLS SHARE NATIONAL HONORS

New Orleans (AP) — Four southern universities have figured in the history of intercollegiate golf and tennis. Since the first national collegiate golf tourney in 1897, Tulane has won two individual links titles, Georgia Tech two, and the University of Texas one. Since the first national collegiate tennis meet in 1900, Tulane has won the net crown three times, while Texas and Rice Institute also have produced national champions.

NEW VEHICLES FOR OFFICERS

Contract Is Awarded For New Patrol Motorcycles

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, May 22.—Contract for 40 new motorcycles for the State Highway Patrol, to replace old equipment, was awarded to the Indian Motorcycle Company by the State Board of Awards Friday afternoon, it was announced by Director Capus M. Waynick of the Division of Purchase and Contract. Bids for 60 new patrol cars were rejected and new bids called for, because the board believed the specifications were too general and needed to be tightened up more.

In the specifications submitted for the bids on patrol cars, no definite specifications were given as to weight, wheel base, horsepower, etc. although bullet-proof windshields were specified, also body construction that would permit the carrying of stretchers in coupes, so that the patrol cars could be converted into emergency ambulances in cases of emergency. The bids submitted were by the makers of Fords, Hudsons, Buicks and Lincoln Zephyrs and ranged from $600 to about $1,100.

It is understood that the highway patrol is asking the Division of Purchase and Contract and the board of awards to buy heavier cars than the patrol is now using, due to the fact that the present patrol cars, all of them Ford roadsters, have been involved in some serious accidents because of their light weight. In some of these accidents patrolmen have been seriously injured.

"We believe it would be more economical and much safer in the long run to equip the patrol with heavier cars, since the light weight patrol cars are very hazardous at high speeds — and patrolmen must drive at high speeds in order to overtake speeders, reckless drivers and drunken drivers," Captain Charles D. Farmer said today. "Police departments almost everywhere have stopped using the lighter cars in favor of the heavier cars, because the latter hold the road better and are not so dangerous." Present plans call for coupes for patrolmen, coaches for patrol officers.

Modern Mail Box Fine Show Window

Raleigh, May 22.—"Have you ever seen a rural mail box that made you think of a strong young man or a bent old woman?" asks Miss Katharine Millsaps, Edgecombe County home agent of the State College extension service.

"For the past week I have been paying special attention to mail boxes as I drive along the roads, and I have taken a number of pictures that are very interesting. A few — a very few — remind me of husky athletes, head high and shoulders erect, looking the world in the face.

"More of them remind me of tired old men, crippled and bent, or of an old woman in a split bonnet as she plods along.

"Just before dusk the other evening I saw a colony of boxes at a road intersection. There I had a picture of men who stand around the court house on Saturday afternoon — some tall, some short, some old and bent, as they lean this way and that to squirt tobacco juice.

"Think how much we can do to improve the looks of the highways and of the 'show windows' of our farms by fixing up our mail boxes so they would look neat, substantial, and attractive.

"A mail box should be the right height for the carrier to reach into it from his automobile, and should be out of the way of traffic, yet not too far away for the carrier to drive up close without getting in the ditch. The box should be on the right side of the road for the carrier — he cannot be pulling over on the wrong side of the road.

"Boxes should be placed on strong posts firmly set in the ground. A little paint will make the post look better, and a vine entwined around it adds a picturesque touch.

SMALL CITY PLOT GIVES FARMER "SOUP TO NUTS"

Fort Worth, Texas (AP)—Seventy-nine-year-old T. R. Sandidge is a city man showing country folks how to live on a city farm.

On less than an acre, Sandidge raises enough produce to keep him and his wife supplied with food for a year, and in addition has a miniature plot of wheat which he says would yield 30 bushels to the acre — if he had an acre. He uses the wheat for chicken feed.

Sandidge's land produces up to 70 quarts of beans annually. From his one blackberry vine he harvests four gallons of berries every year. Last year he shelled 82 pounds of pop corn from another corner of his city farm in a residential district here.

He also raises peanuts, tomatoes, onions, potatoes, grapes, and alfalfa.

10 Years a Hero: Decade Since New York-Paris Flight Has Failed To Dim Colonel Lindbergh's Fame

1927

Lindbergh took off from New York May 20, 1927, and landed in Paris 33 hours and 29 minutes later. He is shown as he was greeted there by Myron T. Herrick, then U. S. ambassador to France.

1928

Home, he toured the country in his "Spirit of St. Louis" in a campaign to make America air conscious. He visited at least one city in every state.

Charles A. Lindbergh

1930

On May 27, 1929, Lindbergh married Anne Morrow, daughter of Dwight W. Morrow, U. S. ambassador to Mexico. The two men are shown together at a new York airport.

1931

Mrs. Lindbergh, who obtained a pilot's license after their marriage, became her husband's flying companion. They are shown testing their plane for a flight across Canada, Alaska and Siberia to the Orient.

1935

Tragedy struck the Lindberghs with the murder of their first child, Charles, Jr. The strain of those days shows on the flier's face in this picture made during the trial which convicted Bruno Hauptmann of the crime.

1936

Late in 1935, while Hauptmann awaited execution, the Lindberghs fled to England with their second son, Jon. There the one-time Lone Eagle is shown examining a new plane before flying to Copenhagen to demonstrate to a medical meeting the mechanical heart he helped to invent.

1937

This year the flying couple have continued their air tours with a leisurely flight from England to India. Touching North Africa, they stopped in Tripoli for a visit with Italo Balbo (left) who once led a squadron of Italian planes on a transatlantic flight to America.
