FDR REQUESTS CONSERVATION OF RESOURCES

Recommends Development of Nation's Main Watersheds

PLANNING LAWS ASKED THIS TERM

Second Communication to Congress asks Ban on Eliminations from Civil Service

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—Congress received from President Roosevelt today a recommendation for seven Federal "authorities" to conserve and develop resources of the nation's main watersheds.

The agencies, patterned after the TVA, would be chiefly planning commissions in the early years, but eventually could be called upon to administer the flood control, drought and dust storm, hydro-electric power and other projects built as a result of the planning.

Urging consideration of National Planning Legislation this session the President said "nature has given recurrent and poignant warnings through dust storms, floods and droughts that we must fight while there is yet time if we would preserve for ourselves and our posterity the national resources of a virile national life."

Senator Norris (Ind. Nrb.) proposes a bill to "take out" the purpose of the President's message.

In a second communication to Congress the President urged them to place under civil service all government employees except those in high administrative positions.

Writing to Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead he protested against exemption from civil service of various types of government jobs as proposed in more than 70 bills offered this session.

Meanwhile the joint Congressional labor committee, studying the administration's wage and hour bill, heard for the first time a statement of employer reaction to the proposal.

Robert Johnson, president of a surgical supply manufacturing company, endorsed the bill as compatible with enlightened self interest of employers.

The House Ways and Means Committee approved extension for two years of nuisance taxes expected by the administration to raise $500,000,000 in the next fiscal year, starting July 1.

James Landin of Massachusetts was retained chairman of the Securities Commission by President Roosevelt. He will return to Harvard university as dean of the law school next fall. His present term expires June 6.

Require Children Get Work Permits

Notification from A. L. Fletcher, Commissioner for Laboring and Printing, has been received at the Welfare Office that all minors under eighteen years of age working in public places will be required to hold certificates after July 1st.

He states that many employers have made inquiry about this matter and for their information and the general public he advises that blanks for use in obtaining certificates will be sent to the Superintendents of Public Welfare of the Counties in the State, together with instructions for issuing certificates on or before the first of July.

All children now working will be permitted to continue their employment without certificates until such certificates can be issued them.

ANOTHER VOTE SET ON LIQUOR

Cumberland to Hold Referendum; Wayne Declared Dry

Fayetteville, June 3.—(AP)—C. C. McAlister, chairman of the Cumberland county board of elections, announced today the board had called a referendum for July 20 on liquor control.

He said the board had been petitioned by more than the required 15 per cent of the voters who balloted in the last election for governor.

Observers said sentiment for and against legalization of liquor was divided in the county.

Goldboro, June 3.—(AP)—The Wayne county elections board announced today after canvassing Tuesday's liquor referendum ballots that the county had opposed establishment of stores by an 81-vote margin.

S. B. Berkeley, board chairman, announced the results of the referendum as: 2,959 for stores; 3,040 against.

The official count was the same as that claimed by dry forces yesterday, after they said an error in tabulation in a rural precinct had been corrected.

Pan American Airways, over whose route Miss Earhart is flying, reported the take-off of the aviatrix and Capt. Fred Noonan, her navigator, was without incident. Paramaribo is 750 miles south and east of Caripito and it was thought Miss Earhart would require only four or five hours to reach this goal.

Pan-American weather reports indicated the big twin-motored monoplane would have clear weather all the way.

She suggested: First, that safety zones for neutral ships be established in Spanish waters.

Second, that the Spanish government and the insurgent administration be asked to guarantee the protection of warships of the patrolling powers.

Third, that Britain, France, Italy and Germany consult immediately if a warship of any of them is attacked.

Germany gave no advance warning to the other powers when a ship shelled the Spanish government port of Almeria Monday in (Continued on Page Eight)

WARNS STRIKERS ON MOVIE LOTS

Ford Motor Company Challenges Jurisdiction of One-Man Investigating Jury

(By Associated Press) Sporadic outbreaks of violence in New Jersey and Ohio subsided quickly today as leaders on both sides of labor controversies conferred on new peace moves.

Steve Young, a picket, was wounded by buckshot in a short-lived skirmish at the strike-bound Republic Steel Corporation plant in Warren, Ohio.

George Browne of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employers, warned striking motion picture craftsmen in Hollywood to repudiate the strike leaders or face expulsion. The International union has approved a strike settlement, calling for a closed shop and a wage increase.

In Detroit, the Ford Motor company challenged the jurisdiction of a one-man grand jury investigating of recent disorders at the Ford plant.

Many Seeking To Secure Last Major Appointment

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, June 3.—The scramble for the appointment of state probation officer, almost the last juicy plum left on the appointment tree for Governor Clyde R. Hoey to pluck and bestow on some faithful follower, is getting more vigorous, especially since the members of the probation commission have already been appointed.

Indications are that Governor Hoey will call the commission to meet within the coming week to select the state probation officer, or director of probation, as he is officially designated in the act.

While the acts does not expressly say how many probation officers shall be appointed by the director of probation and the Commission—and the Governor—it is generally (Continued on Page Eight)

WALLY'S PATH HAS PRECEDENT

Duchess of Windsor Trails Another American

(By Associated Press) The Duchess of Windsor trails another American by more than a century on the matrimonial path that doesn't quite reach a queen's throne.

And it was another Baltimorean who showed her the way. Elizabeth Patterson, the beautiful daughter of a Baltimore merchant, married Jerome Bonaparte, brother of the little corporal, in December, 1803.

He took her to France in 1805 and became King of Westphalia, but his bride did not become queen. Napoleon was furious at the marriage, barred Jerome's bride from his states and finally annulled the marriage by imperial decree after the pope had refused to annul it.

Mrs. Warfield has had many American peers, predecessors, and a few Duchesses.

The ninth Duke of Marlborough married Consuelo Vanderbilt, in 1895 when she was a debutante of 17. After their divorce in 1920 the Duke took another American bride, Gladys Deacon of Boston.

Anna Gould, daughter of Jay Gould, married Count Boni de Castellane, also in 1895. After their divorce she became the Duchess de Talleryand.

In 1920, Mrs. William B. Leeds of Cleveland, O., widow of the tin-plate king, married Prince Christopher of Greece, brother of the then King Constantine.

Lady Cunard, who was Florence M'Pheters, another Baltimorean, is said to have been the new Duchess of Windsor's staunchest sponsor in London society.

Perhaps the most famous before the former Mrs. Warfield was the vivacious Virginia, Nancy Langhorne, who became Lady Astor.

Former Lovers Sentenced To Terms In State Prison

Gladys MacKnight and Donald Wightman Get Terms

Jersey City, June 3.—(AP)—Gladys MacKnight, 17, and her former choir-boy sweetheart, Donald Wightman, 19, were sentenced today to from 29 to 30 years each at hard labor in State's Prison for the murder of the girl's mother, Mrs. Helen MacKnight.

The sentences were imposed by Judge Thomas Menney who presided at the 10-day long trial which ended a week ago tonight in the conviction of the young couple of second degree murder.

The maximum penalty the judge could impose was 30 years.

The state had asked the death penalty for the pair, each of whom accused the other from the witness stand of striking the hatchet blows which killed Mrs. MacKnight in the kitchen of her Bayonne home the night of July 31, last.

Former North Carolina Convict to 'Walk Last Mile' in Texas

DWIGHT BEARD DIES TONIGHT

Former North Carolina Convict to 'Walk Last Mile' in Texas

Huntsville, Texas, June 3.—(AP)—Dwight Beard, whose life of crime began in North Carolina when he and several companions received a suspended sentence for stealing and barbecuing a pig, will "walk the last mile to the death chair" tonight.

Beard, 27 and a former football player, was convicted of killing a former Dallas policeman, an act which the State Board of Pardons and Paroles said in refusing to recommend clemency, was "a very cold blooded murder."

The North Carolinian tried to escape Tuesday by use of a soap block, but he was foiled by an alert guard who hid the key to the prison block.

"Well you can't blame a fellow for trying, can you?" was Beard's comment upon his failure to escape.

Beard also was convicted in his home state for murder, but his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. He later escaped.

He refused the attendance of chaplains yesterday, adding "I missed the chair before and I'll miss this one too."

Capital City Man Is Killed In Accident

BRIDE WEARS BLUE COSTUME

Radiant Duke of Windsor Gives American-Born Woman Diamond Diadem to Wear on Head Which Was Banned From Bearing Crown

By JOHN LLOYD (AP Staff Writer)

Chateau de Cande, Monts, France, June 3.—The radiant Duke of Windsor took Wallis Warfield as his bride and duchess today in two serene and dignified marriage ceremonies.

Just 25 weeks ago today he gave up the crown of England and empire because she could not be his queen.

"I will," the Duke, supreme, happy, answered in a firm, loud voice to the anglican poor man's person who gave him the unsanctioned blessing of the Church of England.

As far as I could see neither the Duke nor anyone else kissed the bride.

He raised his voice so high in his eagerness to take the "Woman I Love" as his wife he startled the 34 guests in the flower-banked musty room of this old chateau.

After him his blue eyed lady answered "I will." Her voice was just as firm as Edward's, but more husky.

The religious services started at 12:14 p. m. (9:14 a. m. EST) after the wedding party had come in from highballs and cocktails on the terrace.

This burst of gaiety followed Dr. Charles Mercier's civil service as mayor of this hamlet. The Anglican preached, who defied his bishop was the Rev. Anderson Jardine, "poor man's vicar" of Darlington, England.

The Duke gave his bride a beautiful diamond to wear on the brow no crown may adorn.

By rightfall the two will be en route to their "haunted" honeymoon castle of Wasserienburg, near Nottach, Austria, with 226 pieces of luggage.

The American-born Duchess of Windsor, a member now of the British Royal family, although by Royal decree she must not style herself "her royal highness," was clad in light "Wallis blue," her husband's favorite shade from head to foot.

Her blue costume was complemented by sparkling sapphire bracelets and earrings. From her small straw hat stemmed blue and pink feathers.

After the religious ceremony the Duke and Duchess led their guests back to the terrace. There a buffet wedding breakfast had been spread.

Edward made a short speech "thanking all of you people coming on this occasion, so important for us."

Attack Validity Of Slot Machine Law

Raleigh, June 3.—(AP)—A three-judge Federal court heard arguments here today in suits attacking the validity of two state laws, one to ban slot machines after July 1 and the other to place additional sales fees on used cars brought into the state for distribution.

The plaintiffs asked each law be declared unconstitutional on grounds it was discriminatory.

Circuit Judge John Parker of Charlotte and District Judges I. M. Meekins of Elizabeth City and John Hayes of Greensboro heard the arguments.

The case involving the use of car law was argued this morning and that on slot machines this afternoon.

Judge Parker asked the litigants to file briefs with the court within two weeks.

COLONIES AND TOURISTS

SPUR TRADE OF ITALY
Rome (AP)—Italy's foreign trade is lifting its head above the treacherous waters of the sanctions which tried to drown it, according to figures of the Central Institute of Statistics.

Among other good signs, imports from the colonies to the motherland jumped from $1,040,000 to $1,770,000 in the first two months of 1937, and exports to the colonies from $1,500,000 to $1,760,000.

Furthermore, the tourist trade is booming with steamships—especially those running to the United States—coming in filled to the gun-ghales.

CRIME DEPRESSION HITS TEXAS ELECTRIC CHAIR

Austin, Tex. (AP)—Officials believe a reduction in executions reflects a decrease in crime in Texas. In the first year of Governor James V. Alfred's administration 25 men were put to death in the state's electric chair. In the first four months of this year only one paid the extreme penalty.

Twin Colts Outlive Jinx

Palo Alto, Calif. (AP)—Twin colts named Mae West and Clara Bow have successfully rounded out a year of life at the stable of Mrs. Alma Spreckels Rockstrans. Horsemen say that twin colts rarely survive. The two animals are the offspring of racing stock.

Cream Puffs Go Up

San Francisco (AP)—When union bakers exacted a 10 per cent pay increase, baking firms decided prices would have to go up 100. Fearing housewives' wrath if the 8-cent price on bread was advanced, the master bakers applied the raise to cake and cream puffs.

GERMANS MAKE JEWS PAY FOR HOLIDAYS

Berlin (AP)—Jewish-owned shops closing on Jewish holidays must pay their employees in full, by a decision of the German labor front.

The labor front said the ruling had become necessary because of frequent complaints of employees of Jewish firms who were not paid when establishments were closed on Jewish holidays.

Jewish holidays are not legal holidays, the decision went on. If Jewish firms decided to close their shops on their holidays no pay deductions would be permissible.

FUNNIEST OF GOLDFISH COST ONLY $285 EACH

Tokyo (AP)—Do you collect goldfish? If so, you should have a Japanese "Ranchu," which costs about $285. The story sounds "fishy," but it's true.

"Ranchu" goldfish are a limited portion of 12,000,000 goldfish the city of Tokyo has raised in the last year. These aristocrats have bulging heads, trifurcated tails and no dorsal fins. They are funny looking; that's why they cost so much.

Island Residents Making Plans For Gala Celebration

Preparations Rushed on Roanoke Island For Affair to Be Held From July 4th Until September 6th

Raleigh, June 3.—Preparations are being rushed on Roanoke Island, where the county seat of Dare county is located and where Sir Walter Raleigh's famed "lost colony" landed 350 years ago, to take care of the large crowds expected to visit the island this summer, according to R. Bruce Etheridge, director of the Conservation department and whose home is on Roanoke Island.

From July 4 until September 6 a continuous celebration will be in progress on the island celebrating the 350th anniversary of the founding of the first colony in the new world and of the birth of the first white child, Virginia Dare. President Roosevelt will visit Roanoke Island and Old Fort Raleigh on August 18, the birthday of Virginia Dare and will make the principal address that day.

A good many people have been wondering how Manteo and Roanoke Island would be able to take care of the thousands of people who are planning to visit the island this summer, but they would not wonder if they could see the activity on the island now. Etheridge said, "Thirty acres of land across the highway from Old Fort Raleigh have already been cleared off for parking space for automobiles, so that there will be no parking congestion. Comfort stations are also being built at regular intervals and drinking fountains installed outside the Old Fort Raleigh enclosure, in addition to the facilities already provided there. Bathing facilities will also be provided on the sandy beach that extends down to the sound adjacent to Old Fort Raleigh.

"Although Roanoke Island is not large, we have been accustomed to handling large crowds for years, so no one need have any worry about not finding adequate accommodations during the celebration," Etheridge said. "We are also going to see to it that visitors can get good meals at reasonable prices, since all eating places will be under rigid inspection both as to the quality of the food as well as prices."

Prepare Fence Guide For Nation's Farmers

Raleigh, June 3.—David S. Weaver, head of the State College department of agricultural engineering, is one of the authors who have prepared a 112-page "Fence Guide" for national distribution.

The bulletin was published by the Pittsburgh Steel Company, which secured the service of five of the country's leading agricultural engineers in preparing the material.

In a non-technical way, it describes the process of manufacturing iron, steel, and wire in fencing and the methods used in producing and galvanizing fence material.

Attention is also called to the proper selection of fence types for different uses, and the proper method of erecting and stretching fence wire. The bulletin also has other information useful on the farm, Weaver stated.

Free copies may be secured from the company or by writing David S. Weaver at State College, Raleigh.

In 1935 the farmer received 13 cents of the consumer's dollar spent for bread, according to a Federal Trade Commission report.

NOTICE OF ADVERTISEMENT OF SALE OF LAND FOR NON-PAYMENT OF TAXES.

North Carolina, Pitt County. Superior Court. Pitt County.

Wills-National Veneer Corporation, Continental Illinois Bank & Trust Co., Trustee; Leon L. Loehr, Industrial Trustee, and L. C. Hatch. By virtue and in pursuance of a decree of the Superior Court made in the above-entitled cause on May 24th, 1937 the undersigned, a commissioner appointed for the purposes therein named (it being a suit to foreclose the lien on the herein-after described land held by the county for the non-payment of taxes) will expose for sale to the highest bidder, at public auction for cash, on Monday, the 6th day of July, 1937, at the court house door in the City of Greenville, North Carolina, at 12 o'clock, M., the following lots of land situated in the County of Pitt, State of North Carolina, described as follows:

That certain tract or parcel of land lying and being situated in and near the Town of Ayden, N. C., and containing 12 acres, more or less, and known as the Mill site of the old National Veneer Company, and being all of those certain lots, tracts or parcels of land fully described by metes and bounds in that certain deed executed by National Veneer Corporation, of record in Book W-17 at page 374 in the office of the Registrar of Deeds of Pitt County, to which deed reference is hereby made for a fuller description of said property.

This 3rd day of June, 1937.

F. C. HARDING, Commissioner.

The evidence is reported by Dr. A. L. Lugin of the University of Nebraska department of geology. Because of what the dust storms buried, and the peculiar conditions of the dust formations of long ago in that area, Dr. Lugin finds that western Nebraska probably will be the richest spot in the United States for revealing convincing evidence of the antiquity of man in North America.

The Nebraska geologists have found three layers or "horizons" in the western Nebraska dust-made lands. The top is the soil known to present-day man. Below is a great depth showing no buried evidence of human habitation. Below that is a third layer containing man's stone tools. Still lower, it is predicted, one or two further "horizons" may be found.

Hoey Would Be Good Man for Chamber of Commerce

Raleigh, June 3.—Governor Clyde R. Hoey proved to be an excellent booster for North Carolina during his trip to Virginia last week where he made the commencement address at Southern Seminary, Buena Vista, with the result that those who have heard about it are convinced that Governor Hoey can get a good job as a Chamber of Commerce secretary when he gets through being Governor of North Carolina.

After hearing the Governor's address, three fathers of graduating daughters came up to talk with him and two of the three announced they were going to move to North Carolina while the third said he would like to come to North Carolina to live, Governor Hoey admitted today. Many of the other visiting guests and parents also talked to him and expressed much interest in North Carolina and admiration for it.

"One of the men who told me he was going to come to North Carolina to live, is a very famous artist who has been living in Connecticut and New York, whose daughter was in the graduating class," Governor Hoey said. "This man told me he had visited in North Carolina many times and had definitely decided to move to the state to live both because of its ideal climate and because he considered it the most progressive state in the south. He also intends to have his daughter continue her education in one of our large universities here."

"The second man who told me he was planning to come to North Carolina to make his home, was also from one of the northern states—New York, I believe—but wanted to locate in a milder climate. He had been very much impressed with his contacts with southern people and southern culture and had decided that North Carolina was the best state to settle in because it offered so many different things."

"The third man who wanted to come to North Carolina to live is at present the athletic director in a large eastern University."

N. C. State To Offer Preliminary Courses

Raleigh, June 3.—In an effort to prepare high school graduates to do first year college work, North Carolina will offer this summer courses in college preparatory mathematics and English, Col. John W. Harrelson, dean of administration, announced today.

According to Col. Harrelson, tests conducted at State College for several years show conclusively that students poorly prepared in English have difficulty with all their major college studies. The English course to be offered here this summer will attempt to help students overcome this difficulty by improving them in the three most important aspects of English: reading, writing, and speaking.

Plane geometry is required for freshmen for college entrance and since many of the small high schools in the State do not offer the subject, the college is offering it this summer that students may enter college next fall as freshmen without conditions.

Solid geometry and elementary algebra also will be offered. Solid geometry is required of all freshmen entering the engineering school and algebra is offered that students might secure a good foundation for all college mathematics.

April is the hatching time for pullets that are to be used for laying purposes during the good marketing period next fall.

Ruling Clarified On Summer Students

Chapel Hill, June 3.—Acting on reports that there is considerable confusion throughout the state as to a recent ruling by the Executive Committee of the University Trustees, President Frank P. Graham explained today that under the new regulation, all men and women eligible for college freshman class work or better may be admitted to all three units of the University of North Carolina for both Summer terms.

This ruling does not apply, however, to the regular nine-month sessions when no men are eligible for the Woman's College and when women have to be eligible for work in the junior class or higher to study at State and Carolina.

The new summer ruling, therefore, makes it possible for men and women whose credits are acceptable for freshman work or better to attend all three units of the University during the Summer Sessions. Last summer men were not admitted to Greensboro, and women had to be eligible for junior work to obtain admittance at Chapel Hill and Raleigh.

Reveal Nominations For State's Alumni

Raleigh, June 3.—George R. Bass, Sr., alumni secretary at North Carolina State College, announced yesterday that Edwin Pate of Laurel Hill and J. A. Higgs of Atlanta, Ga., had been nominated for the presidency of the General Alumni Association for 1937-38.

The Association will hold its annual business meeting and luncheon at the college on Monday, June 7.

The business session will be at 10:30 in the college Y. M. C. A., and a feature of the program will be the election of officers, Irvin B. Tucker of Whiteville, retiring president, will preside.

The Old Students Club, composed of alumni who have already celebrated their 50th Commencement, will initiate this year's 50-year class at a banquet Monday evening.

TURKISH ROMEO AND HIS JULIET LOST IN FLOOD

Istanbul, Turkey (AP)—A "Romeo and Juliet" romance ended with both lovers drowning at Ipsala, Turkish Thrace.

Idris, a 19-year-old farmer, and Nailie, 15-year-old daughter of a widow, met stubborn opposition to their wedding from the girl's mother.

At night Idris climbed to the girl's window and helped her to follow him to freedom. They drove away by hired automobile, with a bodyguard of two of Idris' friends. They did not know that floods had made the roads impassible. While the car was crossing a rickety bridge over the River Carguen, the structure collapsed.

After a desperate struggle in the swirling waters, Idris' friends and the driver reached the shore.

"Idris tried to save his sweetheart, who could not swim. He was last seen, clasping Nellie close, as the stream swept them to death."

When the work horse or mule becomes overheated, according to Dr. C. D. Grinnells of North Carolina State College, the animal evidently is suffering from a digestive disturbance.

450 GRADUATE AT UNIVERSITY

Commencement Exercises to Get Underway June 6th

Chapel Hill, June 3.—The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill will award diplomas to approximately 450 graduates at its 142nd Commencement exercises, which get under way Sunday, June 6, and continue through Tuesday.

The complete program was announced today for the first time. President Paul Dwight Moody of Middlebury College will preach the baccalaureate sermon at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, and there will be two musical programs that afternoon and one that night.

On Monday the program will be given over to parents of the graduates and class day exercises. Dr. Horace Williams, as has been the custom for years, will be speaker at senior prayers, and Dean Robert B. House will speak at a luncheon for seniors and their parents. The Alumni Ball and class reunion suppers will be among the features on the night program.

Tuesday will be graduation day proper. The alumni remembrance symposium will be held that morning, the alumni luncheon at 1 o'clock, and the final graduation exercises will be held in Kenan Stadium at 7 o'clock that evening. Herbert Agar, associate editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, Pulitzer prize winner of 1934, will deliver the address, and Governor Clyde R. Hoey will present the diplomas.

Trailer Used For X-Ray Treatments

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, June 3.—The State Board of Health's brand new x-ray trailer is out on the road for the first time for the examination of 200 to 300 industrial workers exposed to silicaceous dust, it was announced here today by Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, State Health Officer.

In the future it will not be necessary to transfer the x-ray apparatus used by the Division of Industrial Hygiene, of which Dr. H. F. Eason is the director, from truck to plant, but the examinations will be made inside the new trailer which will be driven to the various plants where the men are employed.

The itinerary of the initial trip, started the first of this week, will include Durham, Winston-Salem, Salisbury, Burlington and Sanford. The trailer will be out about three weeks, it was stated by those who accompanied it. They are, Dr. M. T. Plyler, Jr., assistant director of the Division of Industrial Hygiene; Dr. R. L. Robinson, assistant physician, and C. R. Matheson, x-ray technician.

Course In Forestry June 8 To August 14

Raleigh, June 3.—Dr. J. V. Hoffman, head of the forestry school at North Carolina State College, announced today that the school's regular summer instruction in forestry for sophomores would be held from June 8 to August 14.

The instruction will be divided into four periods, Dr. Hoffman said. The first session will be devoted to surveying and will begin June 8 and last through June 26. The other sessions will be:

Dendrology, June 28 through July 17; mensuration, July 19 through July 31; and silviculture, August 2 through August 14.

Corn now occupies more land than cotton in the South. In 1935 the South harvested 10 per cent more acres of corn than cotton.

GREAT DEMAND FOR PULPWOOD

Farmers Urged Exert Care in Harvesting Timber

Raleigh, June 3.—The growing demand for pulpwood is inducing some North Carolina farmers to destroy their woodlands, according to R. W. Graeber, State College extension forester.

In their desire to get extra money, he said, owners are often stripping their woodlands of all timber that can be used in pulp manufacturing.

Yet the sale of pulpwood can be a long-time source of cash income without damaging the forests if the timber is harvested right, Graeber pointed out.

The correct method, he added, is to secure pulpwood only from inferior, overcrowded trees that are taken out in approved timber-thinning practices.

Such timber makes good pulp, he explained, but the better trees should be left to grow into poles, pilings, saw logs, and other more valuable forms of timber.

When a field is stripped of timber, it requires a long period of years to grow another crop, Graeber stated. Moreover, the land is subject to heavy erosion before the next crop gets a good start.

But by selective cutting, a crop of timber can be kept growing on the field at all times, and periodic harvests can be made every year, every other year, or at such intervals as may be best for that particular woodland.

project in Bladen county, with a view to increasing the food supply, which in turn will increase the number of fish in these lakes, it was announced today by Lewis Dorsett of Elizabethtown, manager of the project.

The chemical and biological study of the lakes is being made by H. A. Bailey, aquatic biologist. His findings are expected to explain the shortage of vegetable matter and aquatic plants necessary for fish life and to be the means of developing more of this aquatic growth, Dorsett said.

A preliminary survey of these lakes indicates that shifting sands on the beds of the lakes, caused by wave action, have covered soil strata that otherwise would grow all of the plant life needed for the fish. Plans may be worked out for the planting of aquatic grasses and plants in portions of the lakes, while anchored securely to the bottom of the lake, will be placed over large portions of the lakes in order to provide shade and nesting places for the fish and to serve as havens of refuge for the smaller fish.

An intensive stocking program will also be carried in these lakes, Dorsett said, with the assistance of the inland fisheries division of the State Department of Conservation and Development. Species of game fish suitable for the lakes will be hatched and reared in a series of rearing ponds until they reach a size large enough to be released in the lakes proper. If the fish are not kept in the rearing ponds long enough or until they get large enough to defend themselves from their natural enemies, they become the prey of the larger fish in the lakes.

The completion of this program should make of the lakes a mecca for the fishermen of the state. Re-settlement officials say.

Colman reported last March, and for the next five months the picture was in production, on sound stages and on the huge Shangri-La location built in the nearby valley. When it was done, Capra took a month's vacation and on his return undertook to cut his work from 36,000 feet to the release version of approximately 14,000 feet but there was still more shooting ahead.

The key character, charged with expounding the ideals of Shangri-La, is the High Lama. Sam Jaffe played the role originally, but by the time they decided his make-up was not convincing Jaffe was back in New York and unavailable. Walter Connolly pinch-hit for him, but then Jaffe was again free and he returned and did the part again. Although Colman never did better work Jaffe's is the outstanding performance. H. B. Investigation Being Made in Bladen County Under Resettlement Administration Project

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, June 3.—The shortage of food for fish, especially of aquatic plants and growth on which fish feed, is being studied in Jones, Sinitary and Salter's lakes in the large Resettlement Administration

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, June 3.—North Carolina's birth rate dropped from 33.5 in 1915, when it stood at the top of the list, to 22.2 in 1936, the records of the vital statistics division of the State Board of Health show.

From first place this state dropped to a tie for the fourth place with West Virginia, while three other states topped it in 1935, the last year for which complete comparative figures are available.

Mississippi formerly was North Carolina's chief rival for birth rate honors, but the state is now definitely out in front. At the last comparative count, New Mexico, bordering on Old Mexico, led the entire country with a birth rate of 21.3, Utah was second with 24.7, while Mississippi came third with 24.1.

The present noticeable drop in births started with the depression, there having been a gradual decline since 1929, the year the depression reached its most acute stage.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

Hollywood — Frank Capra, turning explorer in Hollywood, brings back from the sound stages a trophy from another world. The title is "Lost Horizon."

To remark that the film forsakes the beaten celluloid track is but to repeat the obvious to the thousands who read James Hilton's novel of the strange remote Utopia labeled Shangri-La, and of Robert Conway, who found it and clung to it.

Shangri-La, all but inaccessible lamasery in the highest snowswept peaks of Tibetan mountains, is a mystically warm, rich and kindly haven symbolic of all men's yearnings for peace and contentment. To create it, the studio exerted all its resources in set-building, in photography and in camera tricks. The result is optically splendid and philosophically appealing.

Strictly speaking, "Lost Horizon" was not "two years in the making" as claimed. Its preview came nearly two years after Columbia, where Capra is ace director, acquired the story for him, Capra and Robert Riskin, his writing associate, immediately prepared a first draft of a screen play, but Ronald Colman, selected for the starring role, was not immediately available. Nor was he for the next 12 months.

NEARLY READY LET CONTRACT
Award for Advertising State to Be Announced Soon
 Reflector Bureau.
 Raleigh, June 3.—Announcement of the ward of the state's advertising contract, amounting to $125,000 a year, is expected to be made any day now by the special committee of the State Board of Conservation and Development which has been meeting in executive sessions for the past two days in an effort to sift down the large number of advertising agencies seeking the contract.
 It is expected that the contract will be let to a single, nationally known advertising agency, which will advise with the officials of the conservation department in handling the national advertising campaign.
 During the past two days it is understood that the special committee, of which J. L. Horne, Jr., of Rocky Mount is chairman, has sifted the number of advertising agencies down to half a dozen or even less from the 40 or 50 which were actively seeking the contract. The proceedings of the committee have been guarded with the greatest secrecy and every one connected with the conservation department assumes an air of complete ignorance as to what has been done or is going to be done. But the prevailing opinion is that the committee will reach its decision within the very near future.
 While it is expected that the committee will select one of the larger, nationally known advertising agencies to handle the advertising program for the state, it is not believed that this agency will be given full power to proceed as it sees fit. Instead, it is expected that officials of the conservation department will retain full authority over the program and its general scope, and that the advertising agency will give them the benefit of its experience and advice and place the mechanical facilities and art departments at the disposal of the department.
 This will greatly reduce the cost of the program to the department, since it will not have to employ much additional personnel, since the personnel of the advertising agency will be at the disposal of the department, it is pointed out. The agency commission will be paid by the publications in which the advertising is placed, is that the services by the publications in which the advertising is placed, is that the state anything, it is pointed out.

today. These four are Representative Ernest Gardner of Shelby, Cleveland county, the Governor's home county; Alva Early of Winston, Hertford county, who worked in Gov. Hoey's headquarters during the two primaries a year ago; Fred Handy of Raleigh, former Federal investigator and Department of Justice man, and Judge Carl B. Hyatt, formerly juvenile court judge in Asheville but now with the Department of Justice in Washington.
 Of these, Gardner is regarded as making the strongest campaign for the post and as wanting it greatly. Some think Gardner has a good chance to get it, due to the fact that he is from Shelby and Cleveland county, though no relation to O. Max Gardner, brother-in-law of Governor Hoey. It is also recalled that during the 1937 general assembly, Gardner acted more or less as the official messenger boy between the house and the Governor's office and kept the Governor informed as to what was going on in the house. There are others, however, who maintain that Ernest Gardner has never belonged to the "regular" Gardner - Hoey - Mull Democratic "machine" in Cleveland county, that they did not make peace until after Gardner had won the nomination to the general assembly. Accordingly, it is being figured by some that Gardner is not going to get the appointment as probation director.
 The man more likely to get the appointment than any one else is Hyatt, some of those in close touch with what is going on maintain, despite the fact that Hyatt's name has not been mentioned in connection with the appointment outside of a few select circles. But indications are that the experience Hyatt has had in juvenile court and domestic relations work, together with the experience he has had with the U. S. Department of Justice along similar lines, give him just the qualifications Governor Hoey and the new commission have been seeking. It is also understood that Hyatt's political background is eminently satisfactory to the Governor, with the result that the new commission is expected to select him as probation director if the Governor gives the word.
 The members of the probation commission appointed last week by Governor Hoey are Judge Wilson Warwick of Newton, Attorney General A. A. F. Seawell, Commissioner of Prisons Edwin M. Gill, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde A. Erwin and Dr. John S. Bradley of the University of North Carolina law school.
 The probation director is expected to receive a salary of $4,500 a year.

Plans Conference At N. C. State For Farm Boys, Girls
 Reflector Bureau.
 Raleigh, June 3.—Helping to anchor an uncertain group of young farm people between the ages of 18 and 25 will form the main task of the Older Youth Conference which will be held at State College June 8-12.
 Hundreds of older farm boys and girls are expected to attend the meeting, declared L. R. Harrill, State 4-H Club leader. Information, training, and inspiration which will enable this floating group to select more intelligently the vocation in which they are best fitted to serve, are offered at the conference.
 Too old to take part in 4-H Club activities and too young to become members of adult farm clubs, this group presents a modern agricultural problem, Harrill said. Most of them have had high school education but were unable or not willing to pursue further study in college.
 Consequently, many of the group have found it hard to select a vocation. Large numbers flock to cities where some find employment, but where larger numbers are in a sadder plight than they were on the farm, the club agent pointed out.
 Showing the advantages and opportunities of life on the farm will be highlighted on the program, the first of its type to be held. Scientific methods added to ordinary farm practices should make successful farmers of most farm boys, and systematic home economics training will make better housewives of farm girls, Harrill said.
 Among the courses to be offered the boys at the conference are agricultural engineering, dairy cattle, farm work stock, hogs, plant pathology, and poultry. State College professors and Extension Service representatives will teach the delegates in these subjects.
 The girls will be taught practical courses in food preparation, sewing and home management. Home demonstration specialists of the Extension Service will instruct in these courses.
CHINESE DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO WITH THEIR HANDS
 Nanking, China (AP)—Should modern Chinese, on meeting, pump their own clasped hands or clasp and pump each other's? When is a blue gown blue? How long is a short jacket?
 These are only a few of the knotty questions for which the answers are being sought by Nanking's bureau of rites and ceremonies which has been commissioned to bring up to date regulations governing public and private etiquette and social customs.
 Chinese who have lived abroad object to the official blue long gown and black short jacket because it makes the wearer conspicuous. Those who are working to transform the Chinese from a nation of pagodas into one of men-fighters protest that the wearing of skirts encourages effeminacy.
 Blue is the official color of the Chinese Nationalist party, and the blue gown and black jacket the recognized formal habit, but recent gatherings of the party faithfuls have revealed so many different conceptions of the official color that the board of rites has been forced to decide exactly what is and what is not true blue.

STRAW 'WHISKERS' HELP FARMERS LICK EROSION
 LAND GROWS 'BEARD'
 "Whisker dams," made of straw like these, are the Oregon farmers' answer to soil erosion.
 By PAUL D. SHOEMAKER (AP Farm Editor)
 Athena, Oregon.—If a stranger were to drive through here he might suspect farmers of trying to grow new brooms from old by planting the handles deep in the soil and leaving a few inches of straw above the ground.
 That's what "whisker dams" look like. Actually, they are a newly devised means of controlling water run-off and erosion in gullies that are being seeded for permanent protection.
 The dams were born of difficulties encountered in getting the areas fenced down with grass. Frequently fast running water from a heavy rain would wash out the newly seeded grass. Farmers discovered the dams not only slowed down the run-off water but caused it to drop the silt it was carrying.
 Suggested by C. Edwin Hill, Oregon state coordinator of the soil conservation service, the dams are inexpensive and easy to build. A square-nosed spade and straw are all the farmer needs.
 A narrow "v" the depth of the blade is cut in the ground and the sides of the gully channel. Then the straw is pushed in and covered with earth, leaving its ends protruding. The dams ordinarily are placed two to four feet apart.

THE TELEPHONE FRANCHISE
 The matter of granting the telephone company another 30 years franchise to operate in Greenville will be discussed by the Board of Aldermen tonight.
 While it is essential that Greenville have telephone service and good telephone service, at that, it does seem to us that the town is giving away a lot when it grants a 30 years franchise to any utility practically free of charge.
 Heretofore, the telephone company has operated here on a franchise granted in return for three free telephones for city use. In its present negotiations the company is offering the city 15 telephones but we doubt the wisdom of the city granting a 30 years franchise on such a basis. It is not our idea to have the city take any unfair advantage of the telephone company, but on the other hand we feel that the city should not enter into any agreement that holds for such a long period.
 A utility franchise in the town of Greenville for the next thirty years is too valuable to be traded off for "a mess of pottage."
 We sincerely hope that the board members will consider the matter from all angles before taking definite action toward granting the franchise.

How's Your Health?
 Dental Decay
 Dental caries is without doubt the most widespread physical disability. In most communities, as many as 90 per cent of the school children suffer from dental decay. To remedy this condition by "dental repair" is practically hopeless. Not only is the cost great, but repair can hardly catch up with decay. Attention therefore has been focused upon the problem of preventing caries.
 To this problem the Mellanbys of England and a number of American workers have made valuable contributions. They have urged that "a dominant factor in determining the structure of the teeth and their resistance to decay is the nutritional condition of the body, and more particularly the supply of specific food elements provided to the teeth in early life."
 A great many of the data upon which these conclusions are based were derived from experiments with animals. While these experiments convinced numerous scientific workers, some dentists have criticized and even opposed the general hypothesis relative to the influence of diet on decay of children's teeth.
 The British Medical Research Council, however, reports that a study undertaken at Birmingham on children living in institutions yielded results which convincingly support the contention of the Mellanbys and others on the influence of diet on caries in children's teeth.
 It was found that dental decay, developed in children receiving adequate quantities of vitamin D in the form of cod-liver oil or other suitable fish oils, was definitely less than in a similar group of children not receiving the additional amount of this substance. It was also found that the structure of the teeth was influenced by the dietetic intake of the mother during her pregnancy and by the quality of the nutrition of the infant and child during its period of tooth formation.
 The teeth with imperfect enamel formations, as may be expected, are more likely to decay.
 The most promising method for improving the dental health of children, in the light of present knowledge, is to increase the consumption of milk and other dairy and market garden produce. This will favor the proper development of the teeth and increase their resistance to decay.

Local residents thronged the Third Street Stadium here yesterday afternoon when the Greenies intervened and stopped the winning streak of Peahawk Walker's Snow Hill Billies by a 15-9 score.

Prior to the game "Red" Orbit, local theatre manager and baseball enthusiast made a large horsehoe of cardboard and painted these words on it "This Is What Horse Left" and carried the luck to the park.

The visitors, anxious to cop another victory, started the first stanza by obtaining a pair of tallies on Alexander's single, Robinsons triple and Bistoffs' single.

Greenville doubled this scoring in its half of the first when Farley singled to center, Stowe walked, Thoele then singled to right scoring Farley. Andy Johnson connected for a triple, scoring Stowe and Thoele. While Latham was at bat, a fast one hit the willow and went out to the infield—Johnson scored as a result. This enabled the local team to grab a tally for each hit.

The locals came back again in the third inning for three more safeties. Thoele singled to left, Johnson walked. At this point Cecil Longest was sent to the showers and replaced by Wright. Rudisill hit to right scoring Thoele. Hinton then doubled to right and scored Johnson. Delaney singled to center, scoring Hinton.

Continuing their attack in the fourth, Stowe singled to right field, Thoele duplicated, and Stowe scored when Alexander, visiting short stop, made a wild throw to first.

Inning five, proved the biggest of all innings for the Greenies. Hinton walked, Delaney got out on a sacrifice, Kooztz was issued a free ticket, Stowe singled to left, scoring Hinton. Thoele then walked and Johnson singled to center, scoring Stowe and Kooztz. Latham walked and Rudisill hit a double to right field to score Thoele, Johnson and Latham. Hinton then singled to center, scoring Rudisill for the locals' seventh tally in that stanza.

The visitors scored a pair in the sixth when Lujack tripled to right and scored when Culler tripled. Culler scored on a single by Pitcher Wright. At this point, Culler was taken from left field and placed on the mound. Zak took over Culler's duties in the outfield.

Culler retired the Greenies in order in the sixth.

In the seventh, Wall walked, Robinson fanned and Bistoff hit a triple to right, scoring Wall. Bistoff then tallied on "Red's" error.

The Billies came back in the ninth for three more when Alexander tripled to center and scored on Wall's single. Robinson walked, Wall scored on Bistoffs' single. Lujack then singled to right, scoring Robinson. Delaney was then yanked and replaced by K Williams, who pitched hitless ball for the rest of the route.

SPORT SLANTS

T. O. M. Sopwith maintains he is not certain Endeavour II, with which he hopes to lift the America's cup, is any faster than the yacht with which he made his unsuccessful bid in 1934. Capt. George Henry Williams, master of Endeavour II, is more outspoken. Captain Williams opines the new craft is much speedier.

Captain Williams is a veteran. Having skipped Endeavour I three years ago, he is in a position to speak with authority. For one thing, Endeavour II is likely to be more capably manned than her predecessor.

No part amateur crew will man the new yacht. With the exception of five hands, the crew of Endeavour II will be the same professional crew she had when racing in British waters last year. There is some likelihood of a repetition of the lunging which cost Endeavour I so dearly.

Endeavour II is an impressive blue craft, 132 feet overall. Her underbody is white; a white stripe outlines her deck. Her mast, likewise, is white.

Sopwith was keenly disappointed when his yacht failed in 1934. So disappointed there was doubt in his mind he would ever try again. But, with time to think over the reasons for failure, he could not resist another fling. He may not have the perseverance of the late Sir Thomas Lipton, who jod five quests, but the lure of seeking the America's cup, especially in the coronation year, was too much for Sopwith.

The early date of the races (they start July 31) may help Sopwith. The English crew will have one advantage. They have been drilling as a unit since last year. The American yacht will not be selected until trial races have sailed.

Tarboro Scores Win Over New Bern Bears

Tarboro — Danny York, 18-year-old Tarboro chunker, gave an exhibition of the meaning of the baseball label "wild enough to be effective."

Danny issued nine walks in a game with New Bern, but he allowed only four hits and went the route for a 7-4 victory.

Paced by George Rimmer, who hit three for four, the Serpents collected 10 hits to get the decision. Fred Henry's boys scored three in the third to open tallying for the afternoon and added two in the sixth to give York a 5-1 lead.

Joe Savage, local boy, offered the fielding feature of the day. With two Bears on bases in the eighth, Evans lined out what looked like a triple. Savage, running at full speed with his back to the ball, stuck up his glove hand and made the catch. His throw-in kept the runners where they were.

Tarboro's three runs in the third resulted from singles by Davis and Royce, a walk, and Rimmer's triple. Rimmer's homer with none on in the sixth proved to be the winning tally, but another was added in this verse via a double by Davis and a single by Carnahan.

Williamston Martins Defeat Kinston Team

Kinston. — Home runs played havoc with the Kinston Eagles here this afternoon and Williamston's Martins scored a 11-9 conquest.

In the first inning, Stevens hit a homer with three men on the paths, but Kinston came back and took the lead. Stevens socked another homer, in the third, and Relief Pitcher Rollins hit one in the fourth.

Kinston built up a 9-5 lead, but Williamston tied the score in the sixth and went on to win in the ninth when Rollins got his second homer.

Umpire Cottrell, who has been a storm-center in every game he has worked here, ejected McCay. Williamston outfielder, and Scott, Kinston infielder, after a fight between the two.

It was Cottrell's third straight appearance here in which he has run at least one man off the field.

STATE PRISON SHAKE-UP DUE

Indicated by Recent Developments On Capitol Hill

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, June 3.—A shake-up in the personnel of the Central Prison here is expected in the near future, regardless of whether Oscar T. Pitts, acting director of the prison division of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, is reappointed director of the prison division or possibly in the office of the director in the highway building.

Reports have been going the rounds for several weeks that Warden Haywood H. Honeycutt of the Central Prison, who has been connected with it in one capacity or another for more than 20 years, was slated for displacement as soon as the new State Highway and Public Works Commission got around to the prison division. This report was further borne out as a result of the death Sunday of former Sheriff C. L. Johnston of Nash county, since a news report of his death stated that last week he had offered the post as warden of the Central Prison. Investigations made here indicated that Johnston had been an active applicant for the warden's job, but that the job had not been actually offered to him. It is generally agreed in official circles here, however, that Sheriff Johnston was in line for a good position with the prison division. It was learned unofficially that there are several applicants for the job of warden, but none of the names of these applicants could be learned.

Another Central Prison official regarded as being on rather thin ice and slated for displacement is Dr. George S. Coleman, prison physician, while L. G. Whitley, assistant prison division director, is regarded by some as also being in danger of losing out. Those in a position to know maintain that Honeycutt, Coleman and Whitley were decidedly out of sympathy with the Wainwright-Pitts regime, are still opposed to Pitts and his policies. They are all hold-overs from the old State Prison regime.

Fatal Wrecks For Past Month Total 74 In This State

Winston-Salem, Raleigh and Durham Report Highest Number of Accidents During April

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, June 3.—Winston-Salem, Raleigh and Durham led all the rest of the state in the number of automobile accidents during April, according to figures just compiled and released by Captain Charles D. Farmer of the state highway patrol, although Winston-Salem and Raleigh had no fatal accidents during April and Durham had only one fatal accident.

During the month of April there were 519 accidents reported in which 74 persons were killed and 544 injured.

Mecklenburg county and Charlotte had the largest number of the fatal accidents, with a total of six-four in the county and two in the city—with five other non-fatal accidents in the county and 25 non-fatal accidents in the city of Charlotte. The second largest number of fatal accidents was in Beaufort county, with three fatal accidents in the county and one in the city of Washington.

Winston-Salem had 68 non-fatal accidents reported from within the city limits during April and four from Forsyth county during April, while 53 non-fatal accidents were reported from Raleigh and seven from Wake county. Durham had 51 non-fatal accidents and one fatal accident reported during April and one non-fatal accident in the county.

Greensboro had only 11 non-fatal accidents reported and no fatal accidents in April, although High Point had two fatal and 26 non-fatal accidents during the month while there were two fatal and nine non-fatal crashes in Guilford county outside of Greensboro and High Point for that month. The low accident record in Greensboro as compared with the accident record in Winston-Salem, Raleigh, Charlotte, Durham and High Point, is attributed here to the fact that Greensboro is regarded as having the best traffic law enforcement of any city in the state. Asheville had two fatal and 11 non-fatal accidents, Buncombe county, outside of Asheville, one fatal and seven non-fatal.

GERMAN FILMS FEEL NO U. S. COMPETITION

Berlin (AP)—German and American films really don't compete in the U. S. in the opinion of Guenther Schwarz, an executive of the Reich film chamber.

"The films produced in America and those produced here are so different," Schwarz told a group of foreign correspondents, "that they appeal to quite different types of people.

"You may be surprised to hear, for instance, that the American production, 'San Francisco,' which is having such a phenomenal run in the big cities of Germany, simply does not appeal particularly to small town folks."

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

SYNOPSIS: Jude Blinshop, my old flame, is mysteriously shot to death. That starts our stormy weekend at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's aunts. A series of strange attacks occurs. Then we find the body of Michael's mad father below the bluff. Aunt Martha is shot in the shoulder then nearly finished with sleeping powder. The Skipper, Mike's tall, tudeedy younger aunt, disappears and we search for her frantically. Cook, William, the chauffeur, and Annie, the maid, suspect Higgins, the old butler. William tells me why.

Chapter 42

We Lock Up Higgins

A SOUND from the stair railing grated on our ears, spinning us all about simultaneously. Higgins, fully dressed, stood on the landing, staring down at us. How long he had been there, we had no way of knowing. It is one thing to confront murderous fiends in tabloid headlines, but it is quite another to stand face to face with one in the form of an old family servant whom you have known for a good part of your life. My lips were dry as I slipped the key case into my pocket.

"Hello, Higgins," I said. "Come on down. We were just talking about you."

The silence got under my skin. I waited for the man to answer, for Cook to explode, for Annie to scream. Nothing happened. For a space of fully 15 seconds we stood there while the old man studied our faces.

"Were you, sir? I can't seem to sleep and I thought I would make myself a pot of coffee."

He came down the stairs slowly, as deliberately as he had ever descended them in his life. Habit is certainly a powerful factor. I never had wanted to collar a man, Higgins was that man. And yet—I couldn't.

I said casually, "Sure. Make enough for the rest of us. I guess we can stand it."

No one spoke. We sat there and watched him measure out coffee, pour in water, and set the pot on the stove. He turned from the operation, smiling.

"I'm glad it's nearly over, Mr. Jimmie. There will be a bust here by morning, see if there isn't."

"Yes, I could do nothing but murmur. He was guilty. I was sure of it. But sitting there looking at him I couldn't see myself telling him so. I closed my throat."

"Higgins," I said, "you've lied to me on every single question I've asked you—haven't you?"

For one fraction of a second his eyes turned toward me, the sick, tired eyes of a very old man. In the next instant they were veiled and calculating.

"What gives you that impression, sir?"

I stood up. "You were seen out of your room on the night when Miss Blinshop was killed. You were seen going into your room fully dressed just before Mr. Michael called you and reappearing as if you had been asleep a moment later. You own the only gun in the house. You were seen coming down the stairs immediately before we discovered the injured cat, when you swore that you had been in the next room. You were on hand when Miss Farrington was wounded. You even tried to set my fingerprints on the revolver. William and I are going to lock you in your room. You will be kept there until the police arrive."

Those strange eyes never once left my face, not even after I had completed my distasteful task.

REPORT FILED PITT SURVEY

Agent Offers Suggestions on Fighting Chinch Bugs

Following a survey of the county as to chinch bugs, in which he was aided by J. O. Rowell, extension entomologist at N. C. State college, R. R. Bennett, county farm agent, today issued the following report along with recommendations:

Observations on the chinch bug this season reveal that a large percentage of the bugs survived the winter. A mild winter culminating in cold weather and now during early spring were especially favorable for the overwintering of a large number of the bugs. The cold weather during early March kept the bugs in their winter quarters longer than usual, and when they began migrating they concentrated on oats in numbers sufficient to cause severe injury in many instances.

Some of the bugs which were late to leave their winter quarters migrated to corn instead of oats, and we now find young of the first generation being produced in corn fields as well as in oat fields. For this reason, it seems hopeless to try to protect corn from chinch bug injury this year.

Within a week or two the first generation nymphs (young) will begin migrating from oats to corn. Ordinarily it would be advisable to employ barriers to keep the young bugs from entering corn fields. Such a method of control seems impractical this season as at the present time the young and old bugs are almost as numerous in corn as in oats.

Suggestions to Follow This Season:
1. Mow the oats if there is sufficient forage for hay and stack it out in the field away from the edges of corn fields.
2. Turn under the stubble immediately after mowing so as to destroy as many of the adult and young chinch bugs as possible.
3. The oat fields can, after breaking, be sown to soybeans or cowpeas or crimson clover—seeded from August 15 to October 15, or vetch may be seeded in September or October.

4. Keep ditch banks and field borders shrubbed out and burned where there is no danger of entering wooded areas. (Ditch banks should again be scrubbed and burned in the fall.)
5. Clean cultivation of all row crops and clean farming in general will eliminate many of the winter quarters for the hibernating chinch bug.
6. If young corn is so heavily infested as to justify plowing up to be followed by soybeans or peas, the plowing should be done in such a way as to cover up the chinch bugs.
7. Where corn is but slightly infested, it is advisable to make early application of side dressings of fertilizers with high nitrogen content to give the corn a vigorous growth to overcome chinch bug attack.
8. In areas where chinch bug infestation is heavy, omitting oats from the rotation may be found to be advisable.

Wild onions, bane of southern dairymen, are rankest during the spring.

Spanish Port Bombarded By German Warships

Led by the great German battleship, Admiral Scheer (above), a fleet of Adolf Hitler's war craft opened fire on the Spanish port of Almeria in retaliation for the bombing of the German cruiser Deutschland by Spanish government airplanes. The terrific bombardment of the city continued for hours. Heavy casualties were inflicted inside the city and the Berlin government claimed the fortified harbor was destroyed.

Bombs Dropped On German Warship Kill 23

The German "pocket battleship" Deutschland (above) limbed into Gibraltar with 23 of her crew dead, 83 injured after a shower of bombs was rained on the ship off Almeria, Spain. German officials attributed the bombing to Spanish government airplanes. A few hours later a fleet of German warships retaliated by bombarding Almeria with heavy casualties and great damage.

Lost: Pair Handcuffs By State Patrolman

J. L. Hunter, new recruit in the State Highway patrol who is located here for a few days during his training period, feels that he has started off with a little ill luck. While on duty patrolling the high-ways Patrolman Hunter lost a pair of handcuffs and is anxious to get them back, for otherwise he will have to buy himself a new pair out of his own pockets.

He thinks he lost them some place between here and Grimesland. Since no one but an officer would have any use for such equipment, the patrolman hopes that the finder will return them to the patrol division office in the Edward's building here.

NEED BIG SUM FOR SECURITY

Counties To Contri- bute Approximately $1,301,000

Raleigh, June 3.—The 100 counties of North Carolina will spend during the year beginning July 1 the sum of approximately $1,301,000 as their contribution to the Old Age Assistance and Aid to Dependent Children features of the State's Social Security program, according to estimates compiled by the statistical division of the North Carolina Board of Charities and Public Welfare, which will administer the new statute.

Of that large sum about $901,000 will be for assistance to the indi- gent aged and $500,000 for aid to dependent children. The State will allot $100,000 of its $1,000,000 appropriation for old age assistance to the counties as an equalization fund.

These figures indicate that the cost of the first year's Social Security program in North Carolina will be approximately $5,104,600, exclusive of the Aid to the Blind sec- tion, which is expected to add $340,000 to the total. This computation is based on the fact that the counties are expected to bear around one-fourth of the financial burden of Old-Age Assistance, and one- third of that for Aid to Dependent Children.

The tentative survey made by the statistical division shows that 24,587 persons 65 years of age or older, and 21,837 dependent children are entitled to share in the Social Security benefits in North Carolina.

The compilation discloses that the State-wide average in individual benefits per month will be as follows: Old Age Assistance, $12.20; Dependent Children, $5.95; Aid to Blind, $19.51. It was pointed out, however, by Mrs. W. T. Bost, Com- missioner of the State Welfare De-

One Man Arrested Result Of Wreck

One man was arrested on charges of driving drunk and in a reckless manner, but no one was seriously injured, as a result of a wreck in front of the Harvey dairy on the Ayden road about 8:00 o'clock last night.

Patrolmen J. L. Hunter and C. R. Williams, who investigated the wreck, declared that a warrant charging Rogers with driving while drunk and in a careless manner had been sworn out and that he had posted bond for his appearance in County court here.
