U. S. EARNINGS PLACED ABROAD

Chairman Doughton
Authorized Request
$50,000 With Which
To Wage Probe

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—A Federal tax investigator named Charles Laughton, the actor, and others today as typical of those avoiding income taxes through foreign corporations.

Laughton reduced his federal tax bill by turning over his Hollywood earnings to a British company, Elmer Irey, head of the treasury's tax investigation unit, told a joint congressional committee investigating tax dodging.

Among a group of American business men Irey said had escaped the full weight of American taxes by forming foreign corporations was Jacob Schick, former army colonel and manufacturer of electric razors. Schick, Irey asserted, formed several Bahamian corporations before renouncing American citizenship to become a naturalized Canadian.

At the conclusion of today's hearing the committee authorized Chairman Doughton (D. N. C.) to ask the House Appropriations Committee for legislation for $50,000 for expenses.

In the senate post office committee's investigation of steel strike counter statements were made by representatives of operators and workers.

Louis Guarneri, attorney for the Republic Steel corporation, said postal officials at Warren and Niles, Ohio, had refused to accept four packages of food for delivery to the company on the grounds they were irregular mail.

Philip Murray, head of the SWOC, demanded heads of four steel companies involved in strikes be summoned by the committee for questioning.

President Roosevelt said figures before him indicated navy yards could build 100 ships for much less than the amounts submitted in bids by private shipbuilders. One of two to be built this year must be built in a navy yard. The other could be also.

Rep. Mary Norton (D. N. J.) announced she would accept the chairmanship of the House Labor Committee succeeding the late William Connery, Jr. She becomes the second woman to take over a high office in the government.

The Senate Military Affairs Committee approved the nomination of Louis Johnson of West Virginia to be Assistant Secretary of War.

State ABC Board Authorizes Store Within Princeton

Delegation Heard This Morning Requesting Store as Means of Controlling Illicit Whiskey

Raleigh, June 18.—(AP)—The State Alcoholic Control Board authorized the Johnston county liquor board today to set up a store at Princeton despite objections of residents there.

Chairman Cutlar Moore pointed out the township in which Princeton is located, Boone Hill, voted dry by only 14 votes. He was given a petition this morning signed by 150 or 200 residents of the township asking for the store.

W. H. Massey, C. F. Thompson and L. D. Grant headed a delegation asking for the store as a possible means of controlling alleged illicit liquor operations in the township. Yesterday a delegation opposed the store.

Meantime at Jackson, N. C. Mayor E. N. Riddle announced he had abandoned plans for circulating a petition calling for a Northampton county liquor election.

At Creswell Dr. J. M. Phelps, member of the Washington county ABC board, said a liquor store would be opened there within 10 days.

RESTRICTIONS TIGHTENED AGAINST TRANSIENTS

Washington, (AP)—A WPA survey of 12 representative cities show a revival of restrictions against transient workers, along with hobos, bums and tramps.

Troubles stacked against the transient—along with railway police and watchdogs—include difficulty in qualifying for WPA jobs, ineffectuality for social security benefits, and employer antagonism toward non-residents.

N. C. WINE LAW IS SUPPORTED

Federal Administration Serves Warning on Makers

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—The Federal Alcoholic Administration served warning today steps would be taken to stop shipments into North Carolina of alcoholic beverages held illegal by the State's Attorney General under North Carolina's new wine law.

Assistant General Counsel John O'Neill said Attorney General A. A. P. Sewell's ruling the state's new wine law did not legalize many beverages offered for sale in North Carolina on the ground they had a "wine base" empowered the alcoholic administration to stop shipments of such preparations into the state.

The wine law, enacted by the 1927 legislature, legalized fortified wines. Under its provisions wine dealers in spirits offered, prescribed for sale on the grounds they were "fortified wines."

Sewell ruled the new law did not permit fortification of wine drinks by gin or whiskey, but only by brandy, pure alcohol or other fortified wines.

In view of this ruling Sewell said the Federal administration would notify makers of such drinks that shipments to that state would be made on peril of forfeiture of license.

Jumping Farm Gives Him Jitters
Adamsville, N. Y. (AP)—George O. Benton is worried about his farm. For some reason, he says, it keeps "jumping." The "jumps" have been going on for about a year. Benton says it is the most recent instance, the concrete floor in his stable was pushed upward and broken. Benton had set up drilling equipment to test whether natural gas is the cause of the disturbances.

Study Of Prison System
Under Way By Committee

Raleigh, June 18.—Chairman Frank L. Dunlap of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, together with Commissioners T. Max Watson of Rutherford county and Robert Grady Johnson of Pender, who with the chairman comprise the special committee to study the prison set-up and to make recommendations to the full commission with regard to future plans for the prison division, have been carrying on their investigation and study for some time, it was learned here today.

Appointment of this committee was authorized by the commission several weeks ago, although the announcement of its appointment was not made until within the last few days.

It will probably be the middle of July before this committee completes its survey of the prison system and is ready to make a complete report to the full commission. Chairman Dunlap indicated. The committee started its inspection of the Central Prison and of the Camp Polk Prison Farm here early this week and yesterday visited, Caladonia Prison Farm in Halifax county.

Accompanied by Oscar Pitts, acting director of the prison division, it is understood that Pitts has accompanied the committee on most of its inspection trips so far.

One of the first duties of this committee will be to recommend a man to the full commission for director of the prison division. The prevailing opinion in most circles here is that Pitts will be selected for this post, in spite of strong opposition from some of those associated with the prison before it was consolidated with the state highway commission. But indications are that most of the new commissioners are highly pleased with the record Pitts has made and want him named director of the prison division. Some think the commission will take this action at its next meeting June 30.

This committee is also expected to make recommendations concerning the construction of a new prison plant for women prisoners, now housed in one of the Wake county prison camps and to decide on whether or not a new prison industries building will be constructed. Funds are already available for both of these projects.

Amelia Is Forced

Akyab, Burma, June 18.—(AP)—Amelia Earhart started another leg of her round-the-world flight today after arriving from Calcutta, but bad weather forced her to return to Akyab.

She first landed her twin motored monoplane at 12:34 p. m. (1:04 a. m. EST.) after a 400-mile flight across the Bay of Bengal and took off immediately in an effort to reach Bangkok, Siam.

She was back in Akyab within two hours.

Patrolman Moore Mortally Shot By Negroes In Wayne

One of Two Negro Men Found Dead Near Scene With .45 Calibre Pistol By His Side; Officers Closing In On Other Fugitive

Raleigh, June 18.—(AP)—Highway patrol headquarters here this afternoon received word from officers at Goldsboro that two Negroes who fatally wounded Patrolman I. T. Moore early today had been identified as Lester Cox and Frank Cox, brothers, and that Frank Cox was the man found dead three quarters of a mile from where Moore was shot.

Goldsboro, June 18.—(AP)—State Highway Patrolman I. T. Moore, 27, and an unidentified Negro were killed and another Negro was believed wounded near here early today after the officers stopped an automobile with one headlight.

Moore, witnesses said, stepped on to the running board of the Negro's car and shots followed. He died 10 minutes after reaching a hospital here. The Negroes ran and other officers opened fire on them. One was later found in a ditch about three-fourths of a mile from the scene. A .45 calibre army pistol was found beside the dead Negro.

Patrolman W. D. Kinsey, who was with Moore, said he heard an exchange of shots after the Negroes pulled their car into a highway truck weighing station.

A .45 calibre army pistol was found beside the dead Negro. Sheriff Paul Garrison, who heads searching parties, reported to his officers here they were closing in on the Negro who escaped and expected a capture shortly.

Captain Charles Farmer of Raleigh, head of the patrol, arrived on the scene early in the day and patrolmen came from all over this section.

ASSAULT CASE IS POSTPONED

Lumberton Trial Delayed Until Monday By Recorder

Lumberton, June 18.—(AP)—Trial of seven men charged with assaulting a non-union mill employee at a labor meeting was postponed until 2 p. m. Monday by Recorder Leslie Huntley today when counsel pleaded there had been no time to prepare a defense.

Osborne Lee, local attorney representing the seven men and a labor organizer charged with "aiding and abetting" in the attack, said he wanted time to question several hundred witnesses before the trial.

Myles Horton, the TWOC organizer, was under $100 bond and the other defendants, W. R. Lamb, George Lamb, Grady Pittman, Carl Stone, Gilbert Brock James Christie and Walter Tompkins, under $25 bond each.

H. B. Willoughby, non-union textile employee, swore out the warrants for the eight men after an alleged attack at a TWOC committee meeting Wednesday night.

Observers reported the picket line before the Mansfield mill today was the smallest number since the strike started there and 103 workers entered to resume their duties.

Better Fire Department Would Prove Big Saving

Improvements Would Be Sound Financial Investment

That a good fire department is a sound financial investment for any city was shown last night in a paper ready by Chief George Gardner of the local fire department and substantiated in remarks by State Fire Marshal Sherwood Brockwell.

The occasion was a dinner given by the firemen in honor of the city officials and a few invited tax payers, held at Respass dining room.

Chief Gardner reviewed the history of the Greenville fire department from the time the Hope Fire company petitioned the city's governing body to withhold the $1,200 given the members in pay and appropriate it to the purchase of equipment down to the present day.

He recounted how the fire insurance rates were lowered through the purchase of a truck by the firemen themselves and added that with improvements one or two more reductions had been made since.

The chief pointed out that the department now had equipment which cost $35,000 when new and operated on a budget of $12,000 annually, $4,800 of which goes for water supply and maintenance. He said that he felt sure the total insurance premiums paid in the city exceeded $125,000.

"Now say we will close our fire department and save the $12,000 a year expense, you will see your rates doubled, if not cancelled," he said. "In spending the $12,000 a year we save the citizens $125,000."

Chief Gardner called attention to the fact that every cent spent in additional fire fighting equipment would be more than returned in cheaper insurance rates.

Following Chief Gardner's address, Mayor M. K. Blount, who acted as toastmaster, called on Marshal Brockwell, who paid tribute to Chief Gardner as one of his pupils at the fire school. He said he got a good deal of satisfaction at seeing one of his pupils doing such a good job.

He spoke of the loss by fire as something that can not be counted in dollars and cents. He said deaths, injury, forced idleness when business is closed, are the real losses.

To Study Need Of Hospital In State

Washington, June 18.—General Frank Hines, Veterans' Administrator, informed Rep. Graham Barden, of New Bern, N. C., today that Rear Admiral T. S. Rossier, surgeon-general of the navy, had been named chairman of a committee to study the need of a veterans' hospital facilities in Eastern North Carolina.

Admiral Rossier succeeds Dr. Thomas Parran, Jr., surgeon-general of the United States, who said other duties prevented him from serving.

Barden said he is expected to call on Admiral Rossier either today or tomorrow to discuss the committee's procedure in reaching its decision.

Hoey Regarded As Expert In Making Appointments

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, June 18.—Now that Governor Clyde R. Hoey has shaken most of the more choice political plums from his personal plum tree—only the State School Commission plums now remaining on the almost barren branches—most observers here agree that the smiling, long-haired sage from Shelby is not only adept at selecting appointees who have real ability and fitness for their jobs, but in seeing that their political backgrounds are such as will help solidify the party.

Governor Hoey believes first of course in selecting men who are fitted by experience and temperament for the jobs to be filled and so far most observers agree that he has placed fitness and ability ahead of all other considerations. But Governor Hoey also believes that school of Democratic politics which believes that to the victors belong the spoils and that the best way to make the young colts be good and say within the shafts of the party is to give "regulars" the jumps of sugar and not to pass it out to those which kick the dashboard and bust home strings. He undoubtedly believes that one of the best ways to bring the younger and more obstreperous colts around so they will pull together with the older draft horses pulling the Democratic band wagon, is to reward these work horses after they have demonstrated they had the stuff and could deliver the goods. It is also evident that Governor Hoey believes it is good policy and good politics to bestow his plums, whenever possible, upon those who are popular and have large personal followings in their respective sections.

Take the appointment of Judge M. V. Barnhill of Rocky Mount to the state supreme court, for instance, and the appointment of Walter J. Bone of Nashville as Superior Court Judge to succeed Barnhill. In the first place, there is almost unanimous agreement that both Barnhill and Bone have outstanding ability for the posts, to which they were appointed, that among both the man in the street and among the legal profession Judge Barnhill has long been regarded as one of the outstanding superior court judges in the state. ## FALL EXPECTED AT ANY MOMENT

General Francisco Franco Asks for Recog- nized Blockade of Spanish Foes

With the Spanish Insurgents in the Suburbs of Bilbao, June 18.—(AP)—Bilbao, dotted with fires and scurrying government snipers, came under the very eyes today of thousands of leg-weary insurgent troops. They may enter the never-conquered citadel of the Basques in a matter of hours.

(By Associated Press)
Basque defenders of Bilbao, their government already gone from the city, returned today to rear guard positions to the west as the besieging Insurgents fought to close for good the only avenue of escape from the refugee-jammed capital.

In the full flush of his Bilbao successes, Insurgent General Francisco Franco asked Great Britain for the belligerent rights which would give him a standing under international law and allow him to recognize blockade of his government foes.

The government of the semi-autonomous Basque provinces, allied with the Central Madrid - Valencian regime against Franco's Insurgents, were said by their representatives at Bayonne, France, to have left for another point in Basque territory.

The ministers formed the cabinet administration over to a defense junta which included three cabinet members. One report said the government had been established at the village of Trucios, about 20 miles west of Bilbao.

Claim Bootlegger Offered Brand To Lenoir ABC Store

Story Being Told That Dealer in Dry Wayne County Offered to Replenish Lenoir Stock

Raleigh, June 18.—State employees, news men and others who are in and out of the offices of the State Alcoholic Beverages Control Board are getting a good laugh out of the story going the rounds about the big-hearted and cooperative bootlegger in Goldsboro who recently offered to lend the Lenoir county liquor store in Kingston five cases of a certain brand of liquor after he had heard that the store had sold out of this brand.

Wayne county, of which Goldsboro is the county seat, is one of the four counties which recently voted against liquor control and liquor stores and decided to stay "dry."

"I have not checked up on the report to verify it, but I have been informed that this story is true," said Cutlar Moore, chairman of the state liquor control board. "As told to me, the story said that the Kingston liquor store recently sold completely out of one of the more popular brands and that this bootlegger in Goldsboro heard about it and called up either the store manager or whoever was in charge and offered to lend the store five cases of this brand until it could get delivery on a new shipment."

It is understood that the offer was not accepted, however.

Chairman Moore declined to comment on the situation in Goldsboro and Wayne county, although he did say that he knows of some so-called "dry" counties in which liquor is sold more openly than in counties with legal liquor stores, that in many of these mixed drinks are being sold openly across the counter, such as Tom Collins gin cocktails, Dry Martinis, Manhattan and other similar and popular cocktails.

The sale of liquor by the drink or in mixed drinks is strictly prohibited in all the counties having legal control liquor stores. Moore pointed out.

Although it is sponsored by the Presbyterian Church, it is a non-denominational affair, its aim being to promote a better understanding between the races. The delegate is the wife of Pearl Moore, and a member of the Sycamore Hill Baptist church. She was recommended because she is an outstanding member of her race in this community and interest in the spiritual welfare of her people. Her report was given in an excellent manner, as she summarized the addresses she had heard, told of the day's routine, and showed the women the things which she had made in the handicraft class. She said everything imaginable was taught there—from domestic science to Bible study. She told how much the experience had meant to her and how she appreciated the privilege which had been given her.

Mrs. Norman Warren is chairman of the Christian Social Service committee in the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Henry Rivers in the Methodist group.—Reported.

Statesman as he was he served Flora McDonald College with wonderful interest and pride. Tribute was paid this great North Carolinian, who passed from this life in 1935, in the Washington, D. C., by his compatriot Hon. H. E. Stacy, outstanding member of the bar in his home town, Lumberton, in impressing presentation ceremony at the college, where the Governor's portrait will hang among a large collection of fine art, acquired by the college through the years of its interesting and fruitful life under the guidance of President Emeritus Dr. C. G. Vardell and President Dr. H. G. Bedinger.

Dr. Bedinger remarked that the ceremony marked that of the splendid portrait of Gov. McLean was painted by another native of Robeson county, Mrs. Georgia Pearsall Hearne, Greenville and Red Springs, an alumna of Flora McDonald College, who received the foundation for her art career at the College.

Edward Still King Some Tailors Suspect

STYLE LEADER?
With the traditional gray top of Derby day, King George wears a gayly striped tie and striped pocket handkerchief—a slight departure from custom.

By ROBT. S. STROTHER
London (AP)—The big question before gentlemen's tailors, gentlemen and gentlemen is whether Edward VIII also abdicated as king of Saville row.

Long before he became king of England, Edward assumed sovereignty over the men's fashion world, and the tailors are wondering if he isn't likely to keep that title.

Since the coronation some of their number have been trying to build up George VI as the style leader. An expert writing in "Men's Wear" describes the new king's garb at the Chelsea flower show as a "triumph of selection and harmony."

"He wore a double-breasted suit of dark-gray worsted, with attractive herringbone pattern—a cloth of substance.

"Jacket buttoned two and fitted easily. A white double collar went with blue-striped shirt and gray tie of Greek key pattern. Border of handkerchief matched shirt. The trousers were medium width and turned up at the bottom."

Other writers agreed that the king's aim in dress "seems to be neatness allied with style."

But the tailors, recalling the scores of trends touched off by the Duke of Windsor, are waiting warily for him to emerge from seclusion. Unless he starts wearing overalls they can't be sure that the king isn't king any more.

take a small Balkan war on tour, if he can find one, has a roseate palace, on pontoons, hitched to the shores of Lake Erie, and in it is America's No. 1 water-baby, Eleanor Holm Jarrett, plus Johnny Weissmuller, the No. 1 Tarzan, and all the current diving and swimming champions who competed in the Olympics last fall. The result has been startling in the extreme.

For Rose, who likes to produce circuses in opera houses and whose stunts have enlightened state and world fairs, has now come through with a musical comedy that takes place in water.

It's like this. You're seated at a table, dining on pheasant or brook trout, in a blue, cool theater as large as a football stadium. Suddenly the stage backs out into Lake Erie, leaving twenty feet of water (in depth) between you and the stage. On each side towers rise to startling heights, each adorned by half a dozen diving boards. From these boards the diving champions go into an exhibition of fancy diving, all to music, that is just as good, if not better, than the judges.

The most breath-taking scene is when the mermaids, adorned with luminous bathing caps and gloves, dip into the waves and frisk like porpoises while exotic lights play upon them and cast an enchantment that lasts for hours after the show is over and the audience has left its seats to dance to the strains of Wayne King's romantic waltzes.

The occupants of the car escaped, leaving the car loaded with what was thought to be stolen meat. Moore was rushed to a hospital where he died.

Bloodhounds were taken to the scene about daybreak and trailed immediately to a field where a shot was heard. FLAME TRAIL

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD

SYNOPSIS: Kay Crandon of the Lazy Nine ranch surprises a desperate young man preparing to set a forest fire, and covers him with her gun. She thinks him the firebug the whole county is hunting. The man, Ted Gaynor, hoped to get a job fire fighting to buy food for his mother and sister. Kay believes him when he says it is his first attempt to set a fire. She asks him to join her outfit and he gratefully accepts. They are just starting off when Tom Runyon, the fire patrol, rides up and eyes Ted suspiciously. Spotting the brush pile, Runyon strides over to it.

Chapter Three Fooling The Fire Patrol

KAY turned swiftly to Ted Gaynor.

"Go now and get your horse, and make a get-away. Come over to the Lazy Nine this evening, or tomorrow morning."

"And leave you here alone to face the music?" Ted Gaynor stubbornly shook his head. "Not me. I'm standing by."

"You must do as I say! Don't you see you make it harder by staying? I can manage much better without you," Kay urged desperately. "Hurry! Go now, before he gets to the pile, and tells you to stay."

As Ted still hesitated, Kay resorted to pleading. "Please! You said I wouldn't be sorry for what I've done! And if you insist on staying, I will be sorry."

"If you put it that way, I've got to go."

Again Kay was surprised by his slow smile, and the way it lighted up his face, wiping out the dogged look of despair, and making it alive and eager.

"So long."

Before she could answer, he was running noiselessly through the woods, and she watched him disappear down the steep slope, just and grasped the saddle to mount. Swinging into the saddle before he had a chance to help her, she answered gravely, "I'm mighty glad we have such a dependable new fire patrol."

"You bet you have," Tom Runyon boomed in a gratified voice, "and you can depend on another thing, too. He isn't going to let any grass grow under his feet before he accepts that invitation to come over to the Lazy Nine."

"We'll be glad to see you any time," Kay answered. Waving her hand, she gave Flicker a touch of her heel and was off.

Her thoughts filled with the strange events of the afternoon as she absent-mindedly guided Flicker down the steep trail. She gave him free rein as they reached the range, and he broke into an easy canter.

There was time now to consider more calmly her impulsive action in shielding Ted Gaynor, and plan just how she was going to explain him to Seth Jordan, her foreman. Seth had been a member of the Lazy Nine outfit since before Kay was born, and she could always depend on his devotion and loyalty, but it was going to take some ingenuity to persuade him that they needed a new puncher right now.

(Copyright, 1937, Marie de Nervaud)

Waving her hand, Kay gave Flicker a touch of her heel and was off.

as a shout from Tom Runyon rang out from the opposite direction.

"What is it?" she called, in answer to a second imperative shout. "I'm coming."

Walking swiftly toward him, she summoned all her forces to meet the difficult situation ahead. Unless she kept her wits, she, too, would be involved in the ugly suspicion that that pile of brush was sure to raise.

Intuition As Guide

"LOOK at this!" Tom Runyon called grimly, as she came in sight. Then, seeing her alone, he added, "Where's that guy that was with you?"

"I sent him on ahead," Kay answered easily, surprised at the calmness of her tone, considering the way her heart was pounding.

"What have you found?"

"I've found plenty, and I want to ask that bird some questions." He raised his voice again in a prolonged shout, "Come back here!"

"He won't hear you," Kay broke in. "He's well on his way down the ridge by this time. You mean—" she gave a well feigned start of surprise at the pile of brush Runyon pointed out, "you mean, you think someone was setting a fire here?"

"I don't think I know," Tom Runyon began kicking the pile of brush to scatter it.

"Well, you don't think I or one of my punchers did it, do you?" Kay's voice held a perfect mixture

A GOOD INVESTMENT

At last night's meeting of city officials and the local fire department it was pointed out by State Fire Marshal Sherwood Brockwell that if the city of Greenville would add a few more paid men to its fire department and certain equipment to its fire fighting apparatus, the insurance rates here could be reduced ten to twenty per cent. In view of this statement it seems to us that it would be wise for our city to give careful study to the situation, and if this reduction can be gained, make the necessary expenditure for the equipment and added personnel. The annual fire insurance premiums paid in this city no doubt run far in excess of $100,000 and at a ten to twenty per cent reduction the taxpayers would soon save far more than the amount of money expended by the city for the improved fire department, and in addition the city would have the benefit of better protection at the hands of a larger and more adequately equipped department. The greater protection, within itself, would make the investment worth while, but the savings in insurance premiums would make the proposition even more attractive to our city.

SENSIBLE HOLIDAYS

Previously in this column we have discussed the system of observing holidays on Mondays, now in effect in England and some other European nations. Under the plan any holidays, with the exception of Christmas and New Year's Day, falling in the middle of the week, would be observed the following Monday. This would eliminate mid-week holidays that now break into the routine of business without any great benefit to the workers who attempt to crowd too much activity into the one day. Making all holidays fall on Monday would give everybody at least two days for rest and recreation together, and for those who now have all or part of Saturday as holidays it would give an even longer period.

Recently Rep. Frank Hancock, of Oxford, introduced a bill in Congress setting up this system of holidays for the District of Columbia and all federal employees throughout the nation. If this law is passed applying to federal employees, then the next step would be for the various states to adopt similar laws. The more one considers the plan the more sensible it appears to be and it is to be hoped that Congressman Hancock will be successful in getting his bill adopted by Congress. Once such a plan is put into effect in this country, we believe it will prove to be a great benefit to both business and the workers.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington — More than one good source on capitol hill will tell you the congress is about fed up with heavy duty business this session and will adjourn without action on the court or wage-hour legislation.

Fragments of additional farm legislation may seep through and some emergency corals will be whittled to stop the tax leaks. Not all of this can be verified and any public statement to that effect would be met by outright denials.

But if one rumor can be said to support another, the rumor of proposed scuttling of the court and wage-hour bills is supported by two others. One is that Senator Robinson, majority leader, has tentatively booked passage for Europe July 15. That is two weeks ahead of the time he has "guessed" congress would adjourn. The other is that Rep. Sam Rayburn, house majority leader, also has plans for an early departure from Washington.

These rumors persist in the face of insistence by the President that he wants the court issue brought to a vote this session. Nobody here believes that either the wage-hour or court bills could be brought to a vote even by August 1.

Some of the hill toppers have the idea that President Roosevelt wants to keep the court issue alive—for a purpose. A half dozen senators who are opposed to it now are up for election next year.

Actually much routine legislation already is out of the way, in spite of the disposition of the senate to meet only two days a week. All prospect for an anti-lynching bill is gone. It is highly doubtful if the farm bill drawn up by

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

TOWN OF GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

EQUIPMENT BONDS

Sealed bids will be received until 11 o'clock a. m., Eastern standard Time, June 25, 1937, by the undersigned at his office in the city of Raleigh, N. C., for $15,000 Equipment Bonds of the town of Greenville, N. C., dated June 1, 1937, maturing annually on June 1, $3,000 1938 to 1942, inclusive, without option of prior payment. There will be no auction. Denomination as to coupon bonds "registerable" as to both principal and interest; principal and interest (J and D) payable in lawful money at such place as purchaser may designate in his bid, otherwise, in the town of Greenville; general obligations; unlimited tax; delivery at place of purchaser's choice.

Bidders are requested to name the interest rate or rates not exceeding six per cent per annum in multiples of one-fourth of one per cent. Each bid may name one rate for part of the bonds (having the earliest maturity), and another rate for the balance, but no bid may name more than two rates, and each bidder must specify in his bid the amount of bonds of each rate. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder offering to purchase the bonds at the lowest interest cost to the Town, such cost to be determined by deducting the total amount of the premium bid from the aggregate amount of interest upon all of the bonds, until their respective maturities. No bid of less than par and accrued interest will be entertained.

Bids must be enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Proposal for Bonds," and accompanied by a certified check upon an incorporated bank or trust company, paying unconditionally to the order of the State Treasurer of North Carolina for $300. The right to reject all bids is reserved.

farm organizations will get any place this session and little hope is in sight for the crop insurance bill, in spite of Presidential approval of such an undertaking on an experimental basis.

Just by way of keeping you posted: The state department has begun for the 137th year an attempt to get a bill through congress. It was in 1801 that an agreement was reached with France that if she would forget how the United States failed to come to her aid in repayment for revolutionary war assistance, this country would forget several million dollars in claims growing out of raids by French privateers during the early Napoleonic wars.

But the U. S. citizens who had lost ships and cargoes to French raiders immediately came back on the United States for pay. The state department, several Presidents and the court of claims have asked to have the claims paid. Congress has paid $4,000,000, still owes $3,000,000. Most of the money is owed to ancient insurers, and congress isn't especially sympathetic.

HOEY REGARDED AS EXPERT IN MAKING APPOINTMENTS

But in addition to these facts, it is also known that Judge Barnhill was an open and enthusiastic Hoey supporter in a districts that during the primaries a year ago was heavily in favor of Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, and that Bone was also a Hoey supporter in a county that was strongly for McDonald.

It is generally agreed of course, that the McDonald supporters in Nash and the other counties in the second judicial district and especially Titmouse T. Valentine of Nashville, are not at all happy over Governor Hoey's selections and feel that he should have appointed Valentine rather than Bone as judge to succeed Barnhill, especially since Valentine had already announced he expected to oppose Barnhill for the nomination next year. They maintain that such a move would have won over many former McDonaldites and healed the rift in the party in these counties.

But Governor Hoey does not believe in rewarding those who fought tooth and nail in the primary or of favoring his opponents over those who worked and fought for him in the face of big odds. It is pointed out. In the long run it is believed that Governor Hoey will have made more friends and supporters and solidified the party more by naming Bone as Judge than if he had appointed Valentine. For while the appointment of Valentine might have won over some of the McDonald forces, it would also have discouraged many of those who stood by Hoey thru-out both primaries, it is maintained. In addition, it is believed that the appointment of Bone will help to win the friendship and good will of the Harold Cooley faction in this section, since Bone is Cooley's law partner, helped manage his campaign for Congress and is highly thought of by most of the Cooley supporters. So most observers believe that Governor Hoey used good politics as well as good judgment in making these appointments.

The appointment of J. Wallace Winborne to the supreme court from the west might also be analyzed in much the same way, likewise the appointment of Luther Hamilton of Morehead City as a special judge. Both Winborne and Hamilton have long been "regular" and have worked long and hard for the party and its candidates and both have built up strong personal followings in their respective sections. So the belief is general here that Governor Hoey has mixed some very good and effective politics with his appointments.

THEY STRIKE TOO: Women Back Their Men on Steel Front

By The AP Feature Service

ON the labor front, woman's work is never done. Grim-faced Amazons have marched to the steel strike's battle lines and fought in the bloody melees along with their men folk. (The picture at the left was snapped at Monroe, Mich.)

But, as always, woman's most important work is behind the lines, as shown in the pictures below. At Indiana Harbor, Ind., daughters of Inland Steel strikers formed a picket line of their own. In Warren, Ohio, and other steel towns, women prepared food and served it to men on the picket lines. At Campbell, Ohio, wives and sweethearts organized a street dance to cheer Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. strikers.

At Monroe, Mich., women gave first aid to strikers injured in a clash with special police at the Newton Steel plant and at Warren, a girl member of the strike committee helped organize the campaign.

HUNDREDS ATTENDING Institute At Duke

Durham, June 17 — Pertinent problems relating to many phases of modern life — world peace, the place and program of the church, and social conditions — are being analyzed by speakers and forum groups at the three Duke summer institutes in session this week and next at Duke university.

Distinguished leaders in a variety of fields are speaking several days to the 500 or more persons enrolled in the Duke Institute of International Relations, the 19th North Carolina Pastors' school, and the fourth rural church institute.

On Monday night Henry Goddard Leach, editor of The Forum, made the initial public address at a joint assembly of the three institutes; on Tuesday night Joseph H. Schain, widely known leader of organized peace movements, spoke; and last night Mrs. Grace Sloan Overton, of Harlan, Ind., discussed the part of youth in the education of modern social, religious, and international progress.

men B. Potter, of Geneva, Switzerland, former professor of political science, University of Wisconsin, will speak tonight at the public assembly. "Criteria at Reconstruction in Europe" will be Dr. Potter's subject.

Bishop Thomas C. Durr of the North Carolina diocese of the Episcopal Church, and Wilbur L. Harband will be the Friday night speakers. Mr. Harband, a lecturer, traveler, and photographer will give an illustrated lecture on "Satan—Where Human Values Count."

The Sunday worship services to be held in connection with the institutes, will have Dr. Basil Matthews of Andover-Newton Theological institute, as the preacher. Next week's institute programs will be equally as varied.

When Governors E. D. Rivers of Georgia, Hugh White of Mississippi and Richard W. Leche of Louisiana met in New Orleans to plan a fight for freight rate parity between the South and the rest of the country, they spent part of the time discussing sailing. White and Leche invited Rivers to compete with the minimum rate at New Orleans on Labor Day. They are shown examining a yacht model. Left to right: Rivers, White and Leche.

on a building will go a long way in keeping down property loss. "It makes a hit with the women, and when you have them on your side you are sitting pretty," he added. Senator E. G. Flanagan called attention to the accomplishments of Fire Marshal Brockwell and declared that he was recognized as an expert the country over. The Pitt senator then recalled the first bucket brigade fire department in Greenville. He explained how it worked, perhaps not as effectively as the present up, but with as much enthusiasm. He reminded that Captain Griffin was head of the department and added that he was one of the "youngsters" who volunteered and always was among the first to arrive at the scene of the fire. He recalled several incidents which occurred during those days which amused the present-day firemen and guests.

food crop in North Carolina and as a source of cash income, specialists of the Agricultural Experiment Station at State College are making constant efforts to improve varieties and production methods. Occupying a prominent place in the production of early potatoes, North Carolina's annual shipment to northern markets averages about 8,000 cars, according to M. E. Gardner, head of the horticulture department at State College. In addition to the early shipments from eastern Carolina, there is also quite an extensive late producing belt in the mountains. Large quantities of the potatoes produced in the mountain belt are sold for seed stock most of which is certified to points in Piedmont North Carolina and adjoining states. Irish Cobbler is the predominating variety at the present time. Gardner pointed out. While this variety has produced well, it is not so desirable from the standpoint of tuber characteristics, due to keep eyes and general roughness. Smooth potatoes are desirable for market, because they are more easily peeled by mechanical methods. Experiment Station horticulturists have carried on an extensive breeding program for the last six years to secure varieties which have de-

BETTER FIRE DEPARTMENT WOULD PROVE BIG SAVING

(Continued from page 6.) ness establishments were destroyed and other similar catastrophes were far greater than the financial loss. Pointing the way for lower insurance rates in Greenville, he said the Southeastern Underwriters association had set rules which governed the rate. He said the city could reduce its through compliance with three standards: 1. One paid fireman for every 1,000 population over 5,000; 2. Maintaining one foot of hose for every two persons; 3. Purchase of a 50-foot ladder truck. Mr. Brockwell declared that Greenville, through complying with these standards and making a few other changes, could reduce its insurance rates from 10 to 20 per cent. The city falls short on each of these requirements. The fire marshal, however, did state that the state as a whole had the lowest insurance rate of any state in the South and the lowest of any state in the nation with a like proportion of rural and urban population. Chief Frank W. Bennett of the Durham fire department was called on next by Mayor Blount. He made a few remarks, but confined most of his time to entering the firemen and guests with his "golden voice." Chief W. E. Holland of the Raleigh fire department briefly discussed the value of salvage work. He declared that an old piece of canvass thrown over furniture, pictures, etc., before water is turned strable tuber characteristics and which are more resistant to diseases, particularly the virus diseases such as mosaic, spindle tuber, and later blight. Over this period of a half dozen years, approximately 50,000 seedlings have been grown from true seed, Gardner said. From this large number, many promising selections have been made. In a yield test made in eastern North Carolina three years ago, ten of the new selections were placed in competition with the Irish Cobbler. A conclusion of the test, it was found that all ten were superior to the older variety from a standpoint of yield and smoothness. Some of these selections should displace the Cobbler variety entirely in the future, Gardner believes. Several late selections also show promise for the higher altitudes. One which seems to be outstanding was selected from a family using Green Mountain and Katahdin as parents. Geographically, North Carolina is ideally located for Irish potato breeding work, because crosses can be made and true seed produced at the higher elevations in the western part of the state. Tuber seed stock can also be produced and certified for use in the eastern or early belt.

Williamston, June 18.—Williamston bunted back in the winning column today as the Martins won from the Greenville Greenies, 5-0, with Ray Strunk taking honors for his pitching and batting.

The big southpaw held Bo Farley's Greenies to four hits, half of which came in the eighth inning. On offense, Strunk hit a single, a double, and a triple—he batted in two runs, and scored one.

A double play in the eighth-inning staved off a threat by the Greenies to score. The double play came after Farley had doubled and L. Johnson had singled.

Williamston's very first inning produced the run necessary to win behind Strunk's hot hurling. Earl singled, advanced on an infield out, and scored on Stanley's single.

In the second, Strunk's single scored McDay, who had walked and moved up on an infield out.

Strunk drove in another run in the fourth—he tripled after Sharkey had singled.

Stevens and Deim singled following a walk to Stanley, which produced another tally in the fifth. The fifth and last tally of the day came in the eighth when Strunk doubled, and Villepique singled.

Stanley, with two for four, batted next to Strunk in the local's ninth attack against the hurling of John Delaney. Delaney whipped Stanley four; Strunk struck out four and passed two.

The Martins and Greenies play this afternoon in Greenville at Third Street Stadium.

Kinston Eagles Win Over New Bern Bears

New Bern — Kinston's Eagles cut the charity stiff just in time Thursday afternoon, and took Doc Smith's Bruins by a 6-3 score.

With one away in New Bern's ninth, Muehlenbein walked Thornton and McAbee. Manager Krim Bess decided that was too much in the way of generosity, and he took over the pitching job. Bess issued a pass to Gadd, and the bases were filled. Stith forced Gadd at second, Thornton scoring on the play. Knowles popped up to end the game.

Berry pitched for the Bears, and the Eagles scored against him in four verses. They got off in front when Dirmann homered in the first—and they stayed in front.

Wright's homer, with one on in the fourth, jumped the score to 3-0.

The Bears scored singletons in the fourth and fifth. A walk to Moore started the fourth-inning run on the way; singles by Evans and McDay furnished the rest of the transportation. The sixth-inning run resulted from Stith's double, an infield out, and Mullinax's outfield fly.

The Eagles got "the winning run" wit two out in the sixth — Wright singled, stole second, and tallied on Pitcher Muehlenbein's single.

G. V. Knight's heavy hitting Chain Stores boys outslugged W. L. Allen's Gulf No-Noxers yesterday in a loose, but hard fought game at the West Greenville Diamond.

The game was a hit and run affair as they were scoring in every frame with the exception of the sixth inning. As the chain stores took their bat in the last half of the seventh they were trailing by two runs. With four hits Knight's boys scored three runs and won the game as the Gulf team had only one man out when the game ended.

Billy Brown with three hits lead the Gulf team at bat and a field, Brinson, Bostic and Viverette lead the Chain Stores team at bat while Deal, Nelms and Nickens were stars.

Blount-Harvey defeated Coburn Shoe Co. in one of the best and hardest fought softball games this season here yesterday, 2-0.

Matthews' fielding and hitting for the department store boys proved a big factor in the victory. It was Matthews who robbed Edmonds of a hit in the second inning with three men on base.

The Blount-Harvey players scored one run in the first and the other in the fifth. Although threatening several times the shoe store players were never able to push a tally across the plate.

Most of the way during the game it was three up and three down. Edmonds, who has shown up good for Coburn's lately, continued his streak and proved effective at bat and also at field, handling five chances without a miscue.

The lawyers - Person - Garrett game was postponed at the request of the tobaccoists.

Tarboro Again Gets Taste Bitter Defeat

Ayden — Tarboro's Serpents ran into another defeat Thursday — their eighth in a row — as Ayden's Aces racked up a 5-2 victory in the opener of a two-game series.

A pair of homers, by McCormick and Fary, accounted for three of Ayden's tallies.

The Aces won the game with three scores in the second. Manager Joyner tripled, and scored on Fary's single. Mione, Tarboro hurler, picked Fary off first. Mackie singled, and then John McCormick drove one out of the park.

Fary's homer came in the sixth. Ayden's other score was made in the fifth — Schuerholz tripled, Jirak singled.

Tarboro went scoreless against Russell Gurth's pitching until the sixth, and the Ayden hurler was lucky to get out of that inning with

Billies' Streak Broken By Goldsboro Bugs

Snow Hill — Lefty Baker, importation from Richmond of the Piedmont League, celebrated his debut with the Goldsboro Bugs by

Hurling a two-hit shutout against Snow Hill Thursday afternoon.

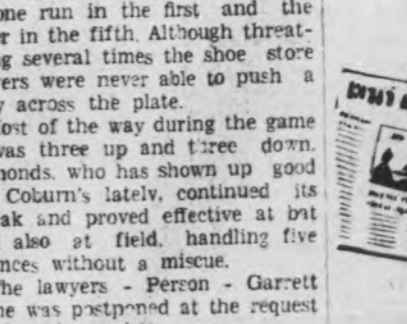

The only scoring of the day came in the ninth, when the Bugs pushed over a pair of tallies. The win was the fourth in a row for Clarence Roper's boys.

Peahead Walker's locals were shooting for their ninth straight win and a tie with the Bugs for the league lead, but Baker and his mates saw to it that the Billies missed both goals. Three double plays — each started by Willie Powell, former Carolina infielder — helped the Bug southpaw considerably. Ba'la and Ignastak were the other bugs figuring in the twin killings.

The result increased Goldsboro's lead over the Billies to two games. Williamston's third-place Martins won today and advanced to within a half-game of the runner-up Billies.

It had been found in code on the mother of one of them as she was leaving the prison after a visit.

New York, June 18.—(AP)—Intervention of the government in the steel strike inspired further selective recoveries in today's market. In much slower dealings, utilities spurred upwards with several oils, rails and specialties. Steels, motors and coppers inclined to hang back although they improved near the fourth hour. Bonds on the whole did better. Transfers approximated 700,000 shares.

By midday October had recovered from 12.04 to 12.08 with quotations generally one to two points net higher. Futures closed steady, two to nine higher. Spot steady, middling 12.58.

SIMPLE—IF YOU KNOW HOW

This sample of an elementary secret code used by Russian Nihilists in the early 1900's is "kindergarten stuff" to professional cryptographers today. (Note that the values of the letters in the secret key word—in this case, "bank"—are added to the values of the letters in the message being coded.) In de-coding, they are subtracted. Yet the procedure of solving even simple cryptograms like this when there is no key is so involved that the expert will not attempt to explain it for the layman.

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
(AP Feature Service Writer)

WASHINGTON—An art as old as the pyramids but still heavily veiled in mystery is destined to pay a vital part in the next great war.

It is cryptography—the preparing and solving of secret codes.

Battlefield operations during a war take place intermittently but the battle of wits between cryptographers goes on continuously, says the 45-year-old principal cryptanalyst, Lieut. Col. William F. Friedman.

Even in peace, the utmost secrecy is maintained. Visitors are barred from the just munitions building where the work is actually done. And the size of Friedman's staff is kept secret.

More Work Than Mystery
To Friedman, who has the meticulous mind of the scholar but is not pedantic, there is more derision than mystery in his job. Several have had to abandon the work, he says, because of their inability to get into it. Their minds and relax a few hours. He himself was on the verge of nervous exhaustion for four or five years and he has to be careful now. He plays golf for a let-down, does considerable outside reading, particularly of history. His special hobby is trying to decipher hieroglyphics of the ancient Mayan civilization.

Plant breeding seems a strange introduction to secret code work but that is how Friedman got into it. He set up a plant breeding laboratory of the estate of the late Col. George Fabyan, near Chicago, after graduating from Cornell in 1915.

Fabyan convinced that Francis Bacon had written the Shakespearean works, had assembled a staff to study the Shakespeare-Bacon cipher, believed by some to prove Bacon's authorship.

Friedman became interested. In 1916 he turned his attention to military and diplomatic codes at the suggestion of Fabyan, who anticipated we would be drawn into war.

Soon the government, which had no agencies prepared to do the work, began sending Friedman cryptograms for deciphering. Next thing he knew, he was a first lieutenant in military intelligence, translating German field codes on the western front.

Hindenburg's Success Secret
At the peak of its operations in France, the U. S. Signal Corps sent 47,500 telegrams, averaging sixty words each, in one day. Most of

Talks To Parents

By Doctor Peter Chubb

Preventing Diphtheria

Sam brought a note home from school asking his parents' permission to have him inoculated for diphtheria. Neither his father nor his mother had kept enough abreast of the times to know about the efficacy of toxin-antitoxin or toxoid. Instead of inquiring of a doctor about the value and advisability of such preventive treatment, they talked the matter over with friends as uninformed as themselves and decided against it. So Sam was deprived of the immunity which is available against one of the most devastating diseases of childhood. Few people doubt the efficacy of vaccination. Where it is the rule, the ravages of smallpox, which killed or disfigured such a large proportion of our ancestors, have almost ceased. Health and life insurance statistics inform us that where toxin-antitoxin and, more recently, toxoid have been used, the incidence of diphtheria, which used to decimate children between babyhood and the teens, has so markedly decreased as to be almost negligible. So far, however, parents in general have been slow in taking advantage of the opportunity to safeguard their children against diphtheria. Many parents who have had little experience with doctors have never even heard of the preventive measures which exist. When they do learn of these preventives, they too often follow the course of Sam's parents. Not only is diphtheria immediately fatal in many cases, but it may leave a child handicapped for life with a weakened heart or some other marked disability. The least a parent can do is to give the matter serious consideration and seek expert, not lay, advice.
