BRITISH HOUSE BARELY AVOIDS FISTIC BATTLE

Dispute Arises Over German Intervention in War

UPROAR IN WAKE STINGING REBUKE

Member Declares Many Who Desire Intervention in Spain Were Inactive in '14

(By The Associated Press)
The British House of Commons almost came to blows today when Liberal and Conservative members clashed boisterously over German intervention in the Spanish civil war.

"Many of those who now desire intervention in Spain were not disposed to take any active part in behalf of Democracy in 1914," Sir Archibald Southby declared in the midst of a debate over the tense international situation.

Capt. Wedgwood Benn, a Liberal, leaped up shouting "that is a scandalous thing to say."

The House was in an uproar. Over the noise Sir Archibald, a commander in the Royal Navy, shouted back he intended no offense against the past of any member of the House.

Britain's prime minister, Neville Chamberlain, earlier had pronounced the House of Commons he would do everything in his power to keep the Spanish Civil war from bursting into a general conflict.

He urged Great Britain to "keep cool."

He advocated renewed efforts to withdraw all foreign fighters from Spain and filling-in of the gap in the neutrality patrol off Spanish shores that resulted from German and Italian withdrawal.

While Chamberlain opened a Commons' debate, German and Italian warships were strung along Britain's "empire lifeline" in the Mediterranean.

The sea power of Britain and France was well represented there, too.

France and Great Britain urged Germany and Italy to approve their proposal that Anglo-French warships take over the part of the international patrol that Germany and Italy abandoned.

Spanish insurgents within the Peninsula continued their advance on the Northern Spanish Civil war front.

Health Officials Co-operating With State Department

Recent Ruling by State Board of Health in Regard to Examinations For Domestic Servants

The Pitt County Board of Health today made known an official ruling by the State Board of Health in regard to an act by the 1937 General Assembly requiring examination of domestic servants.

The local health officer declared that his department is ready to give full cooperation "this important health matter."

The recent statement by the State Board of Health follows:

"At a recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the North Carolina State Board of Health, it was decided that the public health officer should examine, under this Act, only such servants as are referred to the health department by private physicians, or certified to the health department by the welfare department, as indigent. All those cases who are able to pay private physicians for this service should cooperate with the private physician in follow-up work on contacts and in making Wassermann tests on all patients referred to them. This was the recommendation of the Executive Committee of your State Board of Health."

London Naval Pact Ratified By France

Paris, June 25.—(AP)—France, ratifying the London Naval Treaty of 1936, expressed hope today the accord quickly would become effective as a slight check at least on the world's armament race.

Great Britain still must approve the pact, limiting the size but not the number of singletowers warships and providing foreign exchanges of information on naval building programs.

The United States, the only other adherent, already had approved the treaty.

Britain is negotiating separately with Germany and Italy for their adherence to the treaty before giving their own ratification.

The occasion will be the annual picnic-rally staged by the Pitt County Farm Bureau, first unit to be organized in the state. The Farm Bureau will provide the barbecue dinner for its members and guests.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace also has been invited to attend the event and has declared that he would be here if possible.

At least three thousand farmers and their friends are expected to be in the city for the rally, to be held in the Campus building at the college. Dr. L. R. Meadows, president of the institution, advised members of the committee in charge he would be glad to have the farmers gather at the college. The meeting is scheduled to get under way at 10 o'clock.

LEADERS MEET ROOSEVELT AT RESORT ON BAY

More Than 100 Democrats Start Series of Conferences

SEN. ROBINSON FIRST TO ARRIVE

Proponents and Opponents in Court Controversy Embark in Separate Groups

Annapolis, Md., June 25.—(AP)—More than 100 Democrats, including cabinet officers and congressmen, embarked here today in shouting holiday mood to start a series of conferences with President Roosevelt on Jefferson Island.

The President himself already was there. He had spent the night on Chesapeake Bay aboard the yacht Patomac. He went ashore on the island this morning in a small launch.

Senator Robinson, Senate floor leader and president of the Jefferson Island Democratic club, was one of the first to arrive at the Naval Academy dock. The sun was broiling hot.

"It's a bright day, fine company, fine outing and lots of conversation," he said, greeting a score of newspapermen.

Proponents and opponents of the controversial court bill arrived in separate groups.

One anti-court senate contention which checked in collectively included Senator Bailey (D. N. C. and Van Wyck, D. Ind.).

On their heels came a group of the house "liberal bloc" headed by hatless Rep. Merwick of Texas. Four of his cohorts were with him.

Meantime on the tax front the President recommended that Congress appropriate $50,000 for expenses of the Senate House committee investigating tax evasions and avoidance.

The money would remain available until June 30, 1938 for salaries and other expenses of any persons the committee might employ.

Chairman Doughton (D. N. C.) of the joint committee said reservation of internal revenue agents to handle private tax cases was almost a scandal.

Commissioner Guy Heverling has agreed to give the investigators a list of employees who have left the international revenue bureau for that reason.

Girl Faces Trial On Murder Charge

Lonoke, Ark. June 25.—(AP)—Without mentioning the death penalty the state of Arkansas placed 18-year-old Bernice Felton on trial today for her part in the hitch-hiker killing of Victor A. Gates.

Her sweetheart, Lester Brockelhurst, 23 years old, former Galesburg, Ill., Sunday school teacher, was condemned to death in the electric chair late yesterday for the crime.

Shortly after a jury was completed to try Miss Felton, Deputy Prosecutor Jones Melton announced Brockelhurst would testify as a state witness.

Recovering from several fainting spells Brockelhurst sent word to George Hartje that he wanted "to tell the whole truth about killing of Mr. Gates."

Tobacco Farmers Warned Of Beetle

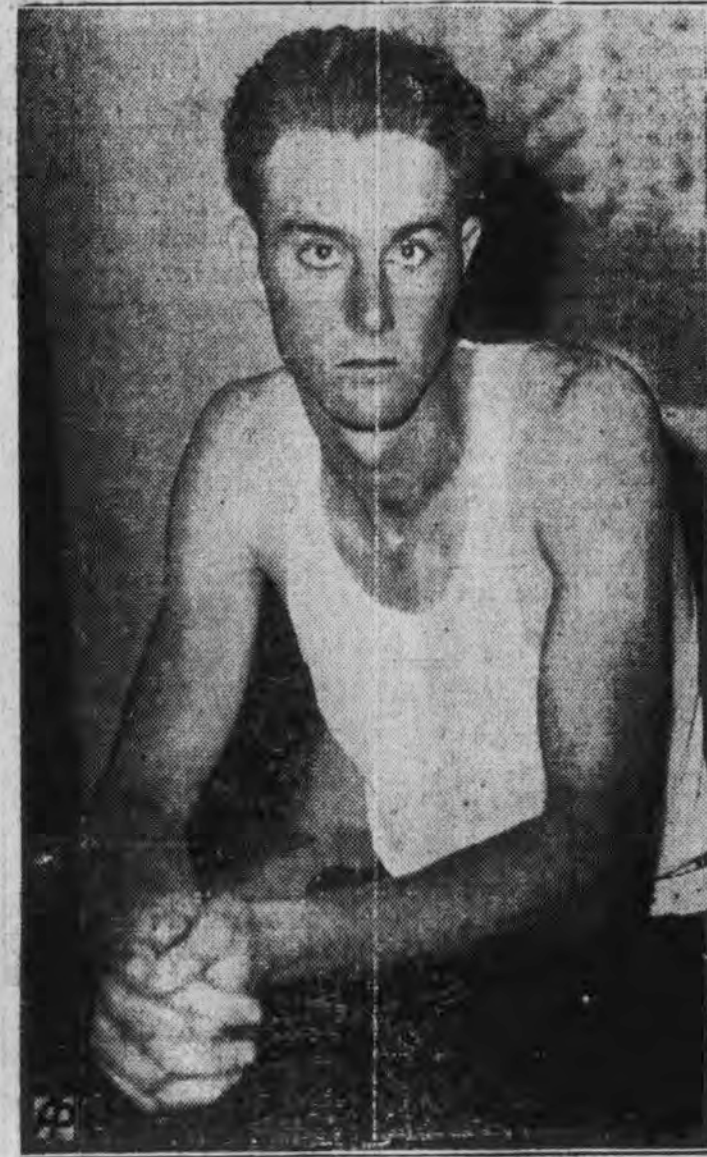

Raleigh, June 25.—(AP)—W. A. Shands, federal entomologist at the state agriculture department's tobacco test farm, warned northwestern tobacco farmers today to be prepared to fight another flea beetle generation scheduled to appear in the fields within the next few days.

His estimate was that the first brood of beetles reduced tobacco stands in Yadkin Stokes, Surry and nearby counties by half, while estimates in the middle belt were not available.

Three Accused of Cremating Missing Kinsman

Although no corpus delicti has been found in the strange case of Paul Krochmalny, who mysteriously disappeared near his farm at St. Helena, N. C., Solicitor John J. Burney says he feels certain he can prove the former Detroit laborer is dead and has charged three of the missing man's kinsmen with cremating him. Pete Krochmalny (upper right), a brother, and Paul Krochmalny (lower right), Pete's son, were jailed without bond at Wilmington to await trial. Ervin Williams, a relative by marriage, is shown (left), in jail at Burgaw. He, too, was denied bail pending trial.

B.-L. MEN NAME NEW OFFICERS

Nick Mitchell of Winston-Salem Chosen President

Blowing Rock, June 25.—(AP)—Nick Mitchell of Winston-Salem was elected president of the North Carolina Building and Loan League here today at the annual convention, which is nearing its close.

John Craven, of Lexington, was named vice-president.

Mitchell, Craven, J. F. Stevens of Greensboro, Victor Stonebanks of Raleigh, and Frederick Willets of Wilmington, the retiring president, were elected to the executive committee.

Earlier committee reports and resolutions had been received.

Stonebanks, who is chairman of the district president group, had said some 7,000 persons, a new record, attended the 10 district meetings during the year and worked on the "seven objectives" adopted by the league officers as directed at the last convention.

One of the major points he listed was "reduction of ad valorem or property taxes" and another the disposal of all real estate owned by the various associations.

"We urge and recommend," Mr. Stonebanks told the convention, "that officers and directors of building and loan associations support in every possible way any legislation which would pace property held as investment by colleges, orphanages, churches and the like, on the tax books instead of allowing it to be exempted, as now."

Nine Bootleggers Raided in Capital

Raleigh, June 25.—(AP)—Raleigh police raided nine alleged bootleggers today after orders from Mayor George Leley to wipe out illicit liquor dealing after Wake voted Tuesday to control liquor by legal sales at county stores.

All of the places raided were in the heart of the city but liquor was found in only four places, and four men, two of them Negroes, were arrested. Individual seizures ranged from around a half gallon up to 12 and 14 pints.

Coroner T. R. Robinson said an inquest would be held tomorrow.

There are thirteen national parks in western Canada—nine scenic parks and four animal parks.

No Conflagration At Beach Hotel

Erroneous reports that the Atlantic Beach hotel was afire were frequent in Greenville this afternoon, but were without any foundation as a telephone call to the hotel brought the information that no fire had broken out on the beach within a month.

Origin of the reports could not be checked, but numerous persons called The Reflector inquiring about the reported conflagration.

DECLARES FDR NO CANDIDATE

Senator Wagner Says Executive Will Not Seek Third Term

New York, June 25.—(AP)—The New York Evening Journal said today it had been informed by Senator Robert Wagner that President Roosevelt would not seek a third term.

"The President told me so himself just after Gov. Earle of Pennsylvania made the third term suggestion," the Journal quoted Senator Wagner as saying.

The paper said it reached Wagner at the wedding of his niece, Miss Evelyn Wagner at the estate of former Mayor James Walker at Northport, Long Island.

Wagner said the President informed him in speaking of Earle's statement: "That is one precedent I won't break."

COOL BREEZES BRING RELIEF

Many Deaths Already Attributed to Heat, However

Chicago, June 25.—(AP)—Cooling winds that routed temperatures in the upper 90's and 100's afforded a measure of relief to the heat-stricken mid-continent today.

Lower temperatures were in store for most of the broad expanse of territory between the Gulf and the Great Lakes, which was enveloped yesterday by a heat wave.

At least 14 deaths were attributed directly to the scorching weather. There were scores of prostrations.

A forecast of cloudy skies and possibly rain in the North Central states promised to nullify the effects of an eastward movement of the mass of hot air.

Weather bureau records listed Concordia, Kans., as the nation's hottest spot yesterday. The official reading there was 108 degrees. Shenandoah, Iowa, reported an unofficial mark of 107. Creston, Iowa, 106. A dozen other Iowa cities sweltered in 100 degree weather.

Eight heat deaths were listed in Chicago. The nation's second city wilted under a temperature of 97, the highest reading for June 24, since 1903.

Raleigh Police To Drive On Capital Bootleggers

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, June 25.—The Raleigh police department is developing some plans which may make it very unattractive for the bootleggers which have been doing business here, it was intimated today by Chief of Police H. L. Pierce, despite the fact that the new loopholes put into the state enforcement laws by the 1937 general assembly have made it increasingly difficult to either arrest or convict bootleggers.

Ever since the results of the liquor control election of Tuesday, in which Raleigh and Wake counties voted for county liquor control and liquor stores, the report has been current that both the city police department and the sheriff's office were going to make a drive "crack down" on the bootleggers who have been doing business in the city and the county. When asked if this report was correct, Chief Pierce said:

"We are going to continue to keep after bootleggers and to arrest them and convict them whenever possible, just as we have been in the past. We are also going to cooperate 100 per cent with the new county liquor control program and the county ABC board and do everything we can to help eradicate bootlegging in Raleigh. We are working on some plans now which we hope will be effective, but which we, of course, cannot reveal.

"However, it is more difficult than ever either to make arrests for bootlegging or to secure convictions, as a result of several changes made in the enforcement laws by the 1937 general assembly.

"One of these is that it is now legal for any one to transport one gallon, two quarts or eight pints in a car, package or in any manner, thus making it almost impossible to arrest bootleggers for transporting liquor, since they are usually careful not to have more than the permitted amount with them or in their cars. Then there is absolutely no limit on the amount of liquor a person may have in his home, with the result that the police must prove it is possessed for the purpose of resale to get a conviction.

ASSURE SAFETY FOR LABORERS WISHING WORK

Gov. Davey Rules Plants May Resume Work Under Guard

MEDIATION BODY UNSUCCESSFUL

Spur Track of Railroad Leading Into Republic Plant At Canton Bombed

Youngstown, O., June 25.—(AP)—Dynamite blasts boomed an overture to a back-to-work chorus in the strike-locked steel mills of the Mahoning valley today as Governor Martin Davey, of Ohio, announced the plants could resume operations under national guard protection.

In Cleveland members of President Roosevelt's mediation board planned to leave for their homes tonight after an unsuccessful attempt to settle the strike, which has made 106,650 idle in seven states, with an appeal for a "man-to-man" conference.

Miners' pickets peacefully strode up and down an entrance to Bethlehem Steel's Cambria works in Johnstown, Pa.

A projected march of 30,000 miners to the city, however, said Captain William Clarke, police supervisor, apparently failed to materialize, although a strike leader said 6,000 miners reached the city.

Two bombings rocked the northeast section of Canton, Ohio. The first blast, said police, ripped out a section of a spur track of the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad leading into the plant of the Republic Steel corporation.

It was the third railroad bombing in the vicinity since the strike started.

William Webster, Republic employee, reported to police that a blast tore off a section of the front of his home and damaged furniture and windows in nearby homes.

Two explosions occurred at Warren, Ohio. One police reported, was near a Republic plant.

Crisp-Massey
Newport News, Va., June 25.—Of widespread interest in Virginia and the Carolinas was the wedding solemnized at 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, June twenty-fourth, in the First Presbyterian church of Newport News, Virginia, when Miss America Louise Massey, of Newport News, became the bride of Mr. Louis S. Crisp, of Gloucester Court House, Virginia. As the guests gathered a program of lovely wedding music was presented by Mrs. Russell Cofer, organist. Dr. E. T. Wellford, pastor of the Presbyterian church. The ushers were Messrs. Fred Baker, of Snow Hill, N. C., W. C. Ives, Charles Massey and Brent Wright, of Newport News. Attendants for the bride were Miss Lucy Cherry Crisp, of Falkland, N. C., as maid of honor; Mrs. Arthur Breedy, of Washington, D. C., as matron of honor; Mrs. Charles Massey, of Newport News, and Miss Julia Mason Rowe, of Fredericksburg, Va., bridesmaids.

Leveled in her wedding gown of white embroidered net, with picture hat, and carrying an arm bouquet of white roses and valley lilies, the attractive bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her away, and was met at the altar by the groom who had as his best man his brother, Dr. Sellers M. Crisp, of Greenville, N. C. The bride's attendants wore frocks of net and chiffon in harmonizing pastel shades of violet, aquamarine, corn-flower blue, and rose beige, with flower head bands and arm bouquets of mixed flowers. Mrs. L. W. Massey, mother of the bride, wore dark blue lace, with picture hat of blue and a corsage of pink roses.

Immediately following the wedding there was an informal reception and buffet supper for the bridal party and out-of-town guests at the bride's home on West Avenue, after which Mr. and Mrs. Crisp left by automobile for their honeymoon in the mountains of Virginia. For her going-away costume Mrs. Crisp wore an ensemble of navy blue and white crepe, with navy hat, shoes, and accessories.

Mrs. Crisp is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Massey, of 3010 West Avenue, and a graduate of Westhampton College of the University of Richmond. For the past several years she has taught in the public schools of Montgomery County, Md., and Newport News.

Dressing For Fruits
Use orange juice in French dressings meant to be served with fruit salads. In recipes calling for half a cup of lemon juice or vinegar use two tablespoons of lemon juice and add enough orange juice to complete the measurement.

Garnish Should Flavor
A true garnish supplies flavor and appeals to the eye. Serve slices of lemon with fish, slices of lemon or orange with iced tea, chopped parsley as a topping for cooked potatoes, rice or macaroni and green pepper or pimiento strips on the top of potato salad.

Iced Tea Sweets
Soak cube sugar in orange or lemon juice to be served with iced tea.

TO ENTERTAIN N. C. VETERANS

Durham Making Gala Plans for Legion Convention

Durham, June 25.—(Special)—When the army of World War veterans from every section of North Carolina arrives here for the annual convention of the State Department of the American Legion the latter part of next month they will find much entertainment for their entertainment arranged for their enjoyment. For many weeks members of the Durham Post, under the direction of Dr. D. R. Perry, state department vice-commander and general convention chairman, have been working out plans for the convention, and no pains have been spared in the effort to make the program one that will set a new high standard for the state.

The Duke University football stadium has been secured for the drum and bugle corps drill and for other competitive events and arrangements are being completed for the electrical illumination of the vast field. Dances with a well-known orchestra providing the rhythm for dancing feet will be given in compliment to the visiting Legionnaires and members of the Legion Auxiliary. The Salvation Army, long remembered as friends of the soldiers overseas during the World War, will establish one or more douches from which points doughnuts and coffee will be distributed without charge to the veterans. Shows and other forms of entertainment are also being arranged.

Under the plan announced by Dr. Perry, only the veterans registering at one of the several booths to be operated for their convenience will be permitted to share in the festivities being arranged. But gifts and favors, equaling the cost of registration, will be given to all those registering, thereby assuring them of their full money's worth.

With an attendance of fully 5,000 men and women predicted by the state department officials, the housing committee is working at the task of assuring every visitor of a place to stay during his sojourn here. While all hotel rooms have been reserved, many homes are being offered by interested citizens in kind care of those who will be unable to find accommodations in the hotels. According to Dr. Perry, no veteran or member of the Auxiliary should stay away from the convention because of fear that they might be unable to find proper housing. The housing committee is headed by Frank Coleman, secretary of the Durham Chapter of Officers, through whom requests for reservations are being handled.

The business sessions of the Legion will be held in the new Armory-Auditorium and one of the dances will be held there. The women will hold their sessions in the First Baptist church.

Prof. H. E. Spence, an outstanding member of the Duke University School of Religion, has been secured as the speaker for the annual memorial service which will be held as the opening feature of the convention.

Convention headquarters for the white Legionnaires and the Auxiliary will be located in the Washington Duke Hotel. The convention headquarters for the Negro veterans will be in the Biltmore Hotel and the business sessions will be held in one of the Negro schools in Hayti, one of the Negro sections of the city.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons
Hollywood — The oldest show-must-go-on stuff is taking a beating in Hollywood and it seems to me it is about time.

Many an actor will tell you it is a vital tradition of the stage. So the stories multiply. An actor who merely broke a leg just at curtain-time wouldn't dream of asking any attention that might interfere with the show. An actress who suddenly ran an Alp-climbing temperature would go through three acts of feverish gaiety behind her burning makeup, and collapse dramatically in the wings at the final curtain. Come war, come flood, come storm, come death and famine and disease—the show must go on.

Reasons Why
Many an actor has told me dramatically and not without indignation at the question—that the show must go on. And given one reason. A trouper does not disappoint the audience. He cannot let down his manager. He cannot betray his fellow players. He cannot fail the backstage help. He is the keystone of the theatrical arch, and—the show must go on!

For one performance on the stage this sounds logical, even fine and noble. For completing a motion picture some of the same unselfish reasoning may be in order. But there ought to be a limit. Or a law.

Icebox Raids Do Things For Skin

RAIDS on the icebox may fill the inner man — they also can beautify the outer woman. It is surprising how many foods turn out to be skin nourishment. Here's what Cecelia Parker, motion picture actress, gets out of her refrigerator. Lillian Rossine, studio make-up expert, is attending her.

POTATO COMPRESS
This efficient compress contains nothing less than good old Irish potatoes, grated. Very restful for the eyes after several hours in the sun, says Cecelia. She'll keep the compress on for 15 minutes at a time.

MILK LOTION
The plain milk lotion in a new role as the skin lotion. Cecelia inclines her face for a simple treatment. She bases her many expensive creams on milk, so why not use the original?

EGG FACIAL
As a change from the milk treatment, Cecelia recommends the yolk of an egg, patted gently over the face. A little more difficult to apply, hence the toad. The egg should remain on the face five minutes.

ICE FINALE
The finishing touch—ice cubes applied to the face. Always after the egg treatment, says the actress, and preferably as a windup for any beauty treatment. Then you can have that enviable, cool complexion.

for a time at least. When a star is too ill to resume work after all the other scenes have been completed, the company has to halt production. This is expensive. It plays cherry hell with the production schedule. Lesser players who counted on checks from the picture must recount their chickens for a future hatching. It is very sad.

But not nearly so sad as a funeral. Not nearly so expensive as the permanent loss of a star. Not nearly so hard on the supporting cast and extras as the loss of all the days and weeks and months of future work that star's picture would provide.

It Cost Jean Harlow
Some of that show-must-go-on spirit doubtless contributed to the death of Jean Harlow, who didn't give up in time. And it has been the indirect cause of other deaths. Renee Adoree, on the verge of consumptive relapse, insisted on finishing her last picture. She did. Ironically, I can't remember off-hand what the picture was, or what it was about.

FLAME TRAIL

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD

SYNOPSIS: Saving a desperate young man (Ted Gaynor) from setting a forest fire to get a job, Kay Crandon gives him a place at the Lazy Nine; she knows he is decent. When her ranch house and barn burn down, Josh Hastings, owner of the Flying Six, who wants to buy the Lazy Nine and marry Kay, invites her there. She refuses, disarming him, but young sister Babs and Aunt Edie gladly accept. Banker Dan Steele dashes Kay's hopes of rebuilding—the insurance money has to go toward the mortgage. Ted, waiting outside the bank, hears two punsters slurring Kay and follows them.

Chapter Nine
Fighting It Out
PUSHING in the bright red door of Kelly's so-called "soft drink parlor," Ted entered a large square room that had all the earmarks of an old time bar room, from brass rail to sawdust on the floor.

Several groups of men were seated at the square pine tables, and at the far end of the bar leaned the two punsters Ted had followed. They were still chuckling at their joke and Mike Kelly grinned in sympathy as he stood behind the bar, polishing a glass and waiting for their mirth to subside enough for them to give an intelligible order.

His blood boiling at the certainty that Kay was the subject of their coarse banter, Ted stepped up to them and peremptorily tapped them about the ear of the man who had done the whispering.

"I'm giving you notice to cut out the mention of the young lady's name in this or any other public place," Ted's voice had a drawing intensity that made no effort to veil the threat beneath his words.

The man swung around, surprise and anger lighting up his mean gray eyes. They were set closely on either side of a thin nose that was disfigured by a badly set break in the bone.

"You don't say!" His eyes traveled significantly to Ted's belt, with its empty holster. "And just what's goin' to stop me?" He fingered his own gun and laughed disagreeably. "Reckon you need a lesson!"

"Cut that out, Scrap!" Mike Kelly's voice matched the bulldog expression that wiped out his genial grin, and proclaimed him a man who was master of his own domain.

"No pulling on an unarmed man in my joint," he declared. "You can get outside if there's going to be any of that kind of play."

Mike Sees To Fair Play
THE man addressed as Scrap took his hand away from his gun with another sneering laugh, as his eye measured Ted's emaciated figure and drawn face, which still held the lines of his recent privations and despairing defeat against overwhelming odds. Then he insolently turned his head away from Ted, and addressed his companion again:

"Looks like the little red-headed fella had picked herself up a kind of a scrawny new champion from somewhere."

No sooner were the words out than Ted's fist crashed under Scrap's jaw with a force that snapped his head back and made him stagger away from the bar.

The next instant he recovered himself and with a roar of rage reached for his gun. But Mike Kelly had been too quick for him. Forseeing the inevitable outcome, he had reached across the counter and snatched Scrap's gun from his holster in that moment of inaction when Scrap had staggered back from Ted's surprise blow.

"I'm keeping this for you," Mike Kelly announced. "Go ahead and fight it out man to man if you've got to."

"Are you ready to swear off from mentioning that young lady's name, or do you want some more?" Ted faced his panting opponent whose rage for the moment had been deflected to Mike Kelly. These words swept Scrap back to the real issue at hand.

right wrist. With a slow, relentless twist, he threatened to wrench the arm from its socket.

"Are you ready to leave that young lady's name alone?" Scrap gritted his teeth, then yelped with pain and rage as Ted put on pressure. "Yes, damn you! Let me go!"

Ted dropped the arm and stepped swiftly back as his victim tried to struggle to his feet, then sank back in an exhausted stupor.

"Don't forget!" Ted warned. "If it ever happens again, I won't stop short of broken neck! Get me!"

With a nod and a "Thanks for the fair play," to Mike Kelly, Ted turned and strode out. To his relief, Kay was nowhere in sight, and the horses were waiting as he had left them.

Panting from his exertions, but with a wild sense of elation coursing through him, Ted mounted his horse again and watched the bank door for Kay's reappearance.

'He's A Snake!'
HER eyes half blinded with tears of rage and disappointment, Kay stumbled out of the bank and ran over to where Ted was waiting with the horses.

She was absorbed in her own troubles and hardly glanced at Ted, so failed to notice his new look of power and restored confidence that the fight with Scrap had given him.

He resolved not to mention his encounter, handing Kay Flicker's reins in silence.

"Hurry up and get away from here," she gasped, seizing Flicker's reins and flinging herself into the saddle. A touch of her heel to Flicker's flank sent him ahead at a startled bounding.

Without questioning her haste, Ted followed suit, and the two pounded down the main street of Red River at breakneck speed. For several minutes after they reached the range, Kay set the same pace, not pulling in until she felt she had herself enough under control to speak without having her voice betray the panic that possessed her.

The blow she had had was all the greater because she had never for a moment doubted that she would have the insurance money to rebuild. Her thoughts ran in incoherent circles, seeking a way out, but apparently there wasn't any.

No matter from what angle she looked at it, she was trapped. Without money to rebuild, how could she carry on? Even if they went without the house, the barn was the heart's blood of the ranch in winter time. And Aunt Kate and Babs couldn't go on visiting forever. Perhaps they could all get on in the two cabins, but how could she break her promise to Ted Gaynor?

"Would you rather not tell me what's happened?" Ted's voice brought her back from her desperate future plans to the present. Kay pulled in, and turned toward him.

"No, you may as well know now, as later. I can't get any of the insurance money." With a rush, the whole story poured out in answer to his unspoken sympathy.

"And somehow, I know Josh Hastings is behind it all," she ended passionately. "I wouldn't even put it past him to have burnt down the ranch to get his own way!"

WILL PROVIDE COLD STORAGE

Plant to Be Erected in Greenville By Local Men

Farmers of Eastern North Carolina will be provided with a modern cold storage plant in which to store meat, eggs and other products.

H. M. Blount announced today he would have the plant, which will be located next to Keel's warehouse ready for use by August 10.

The plant will provide a means for farmers to cure their meats under controlled temperature. If taken advantage of it will eliminate the heavy loss each year through spoiled meat.

Individual compartments will be constructed. Each will be under lock and key and have a capacity of about 3,000 pounds of meat or 16 crates of eggs. Farmers may begin now making their reservations for compartments. Three hundred sections will be available.

Farmers desiring further information on the cold storage plant may get in touch with Mr. Blount or Lyman Hardy, who will be at Keel's warehouse each Saturday.

NEED IS CITED FOR PASTURES

More Than Half of Animals in State Without Grass

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, June 25.—Pointing out the need for more pastures, Dr. R. Y. Winters, director of the agricultural experiment station at State College, declared that over half the farm animals in North Carolina are without this important source of feed.

In a recent study of 40 dairies in the Piedmont, it was found that the feed cost represents 45 per cent of the total cost of milk production. To reduce the feed bill, Dr. Winters said that nothing is more effective than the growing of good pastures and legume hays.

Large quantities of manufactured feeds and a considerable amount of hay imported from other states are purchased yearly by North Carolina farmers which could be raised on their farms, Dr. Winters said. "Because of the importance of feed cost in the livestock program, opportunities for development in the near future lie in the reduction of costs of production and provisions for livestock products to be consumed on the farm," Dr. Winters added. "The feeding of concentrates may be materially reduced if the quality of roughage and pasture is good. With the exception of a few areas, North Carolina produces poor hay which is low in food content."

The Piedmont area of the state contains a large area of idle land which could be made to bear returns in pasture. Dr. Winters said. Studies of grazing lands in Washington county have shown that beef cattle may be carried on this natural growth from May 1 to December 31. A large part of the coastal counties contain natural grazing areas and much of the land will produce excellent pastures when planted to adapted grasses and legumes. Results of experiments made have indicated that the composition and yield of pastures can be improved without excessive cost.

RALEIGH POLICE TO DRIVE ON CAPITOL BOOTLEGGERS

offender. The law also requires that the officers must read the search warrant, whenever requested, before being admitted or before forcing their way into any place suspected of being a bootlegging joint. This gives the bootleggers plenty of time to dispose of any liquor which might be used as evidence.

"But we are going ahead and do the best we can and make as many arrests as we can, regardless of these loopholes in the law."

When asked if he and his deputies were going to make any extra effort to "dry up" Wake county, now that it had voted for liquor control and liquor stores, Sheriff Numa P. Turner said: "I wish some one would tell me how we can 'dry up' the county any more than we have been doing it, with the laws as they are. For under the new laws, as I understand them, our officers cannot swear out a search warrant on their own information and belief, must get some citizen to make an affidavit first—and it is just about impossible to get any one to do that. Then it is not perfectly legal for any one to drive the bootleggers out of Raleigh transport as much as eight pints per person in a car, on foot or any other way, so that it is necessary to catch a bootlegger with more than eight pints in order to get him for transporting. Thus the law search of the premises, just as they have in the past. And any evidence found in the course of such a search can be used against the defendant in the trial. Thus the new law both safeguards the officers and the person being searched since it prevents the search of premises on mere suspicion.

It is understood that some sheriffs and law officers in the state are maintaining that it is impossible for them to arrest bootleggers under this law unless some citizen will first make an affidavit that he has bought liquor from a bootlegger or seen it bought or sold, and that officers cannot issue search warrants on their own initiative or even make affidavits. But according to Assistant Attorney General McMullan, this is not the case.

Some of these officers are also understood to have been of the belief that they must not only read the search warrant, whenever asked to by the person whose property is to be searched, but also the affidavit upon which the warrant was issued. But according to Assistant Attorney General McMullan, it is only necessary for the officers to read the search warrant and not the affidavit—and then only when requested to do so. Otherwise they must be given immediate admittance to a house or other building and where permission is refused, have full legal authority to force their way in.

The belief in many circles here is that too many officers have no desire to make out affidavits or issue search warrants, especially against suspected bootleggers.

How's Your Health?

Laxative Foods

The individual who eats an orange, grapefruit, grapes, raisins, an apple or prunes is taking a small dose of laxative salts.

The citrus fruits contain both potassium citrate and a free citric acid, and these become sodium citrate in the duodenum (first part of small intestine). The citrates in the form of dyps are commonly employed in treating constipation.

Grapes contain potassium citrate which in the digestive tract becomes Rochelle salt. Apples contain other laxative substances.

In addition to their laxative chemicals, fruits also supply roughage and residue. This, incidentally, is one reason why it is preferable to eat the whole fruit than merely to drink the juice.

The only exceptions to this counsel are those individuals suffering from hypersensitive stomachs who are unable to eat fruit without discomfort.

Weight for weight, most fruits are more laxative than even coarse vegetables. According to Dr. Walter A. Bastedo, many who would otherwise be constipated keep to normal movements by a moderate daily allowance of fruit, such as an orange, apple or dish of prunes. There is this much truth, therefore, in the old saying that "An apple a day keeps the doctor away"—sometimes.

Besides the fruits, fats and oils also tend to be laxative. An excess of these may even cause diarrhea. Fats and oils promote gastro-intestinal movement by acting as mild irritants.

Fruits and vegetables supply the gastro-intestinal tract with the required residue and roughage—the substances which are not digested and absorbed, and which consequently remain as bulk within the gastro-intestinal tract to be moved and evacuated. Roughage increases the mass of the colon content not only by its own bulk, but also by the water that it absorbs and carries down. Not all persons, however, can handle roughage foods equally well.

Many individuals can eat abundant fruits, salads, coarse vegetables and spices without any untoward effects. Others, however, suffer pain and indigestion when eating fruits and coarse vegetables.

When roughage foods irritate to the gastro-intestinal tract, the fault lies in the food, and not within the foods.

Scientists have been familiar with electrical phenomena since the time of Thales, about 600 B. C.

our businessmen and our in-should be willing to support acting in the capacity of good job taking into considhad but limited financial backing from only a part of Greenville's business houses.

The present organization is not sufficient to serve our needs in the way of a Chamfirst step toward enlarging the organization should be the securing of adequate fi-

Washington Daybook

By Preston Green

Washington — Litigation usually is a wearying proposition to the casual spectator but if any develops under Senator Norris' bill to create seven TVA's it won't be litigation in the usual sense. It will be a contention.

Norris dislikes injunction proceedings such as have marched in columns of fours to delay progress of the Tennessee Valley Authority.
Under his new bill he proposes to make them costly so as to have mighty few.

For instance, if officials or bondholders of a private power company fear the competition of a new government power authority is going to sweep their system, they may want to file an injunction suit to stop it.

All right, says the Norris bill, go ahead. But first put up a bond big enough to indemnify the government and the power authority for expense of any delays, or any loss suffered from delayed sale of power or water.

Moreover, any cooperative that wants to buy power, or any individual who might some time become a customer for federal power or water, or any person who thinks he might somehow be damaged by delay in construction or progress of the authority, is invited to come in. The power company's bond must be made big enough to cover any such claims.

Then, if the power company loses the suit, the bond becomes a kitty to be split up among all parties smart enough to come in with a plea of actual or potential loss.

Chances are the bill won't pass this session. Even Senator Norris is not too expectant of it. But he is persistent personified and if he doesn't get it this year he will be after it next.

Referring to a recent column with regard to Gilbertsville dam on the Tennessee river, Arthur E. Morgan, chairman of the TVA board, wants it made clear he did not initiate the proposal that congress override the budget in authorizing immediate construction of the $112,000,000 dam.

That seems fair enough. He did not. That would have violated administrative orders prohibiting departments from going over the head of the budget director. As a matter of fact, Senator McKellar of Tennessee put the formal authorization before the appropriations committee and then passed the ball to Morgan. Morgan carried it through the line.

This column commented that congress didn't have its eyes fully open to the fact it was beginning a big dam without even TVA knowing exactly where it was to be located.
Mr. Morgan says he didn't fool congress about it.

Because of his contributions to scientific knowledge in regard to the tobacco crop of North Carolina, Dr. W. W. Garner of the United States Department of Agriculture was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Science by State College at its recent commencement exercises.

Dr. Garner discovered what is now known as photoperiodism, the effect of the relative length of day and night on plant growth. More than 10 years were required to solve this problem but the results have been of great value in scientific fields and have brought on world wide research based on the original findings.

In 1929, Dr. Garner discovered magnesium deficiency in tobacco causing the so-called "sand down" and this led to inquiry with other essential elements in plant growth on the light, sandy "washed out"

The Greenies have tasted defeat once more by the shut-out route. Owen (Ace) Elliott held the locals to three hits in racking up his 10th victory of the season. The Ace has lost only one contest this season.

The Gold Bugs reached Karl Williams for eight safeties to turn in four runs. The Bugs spotted Elliott to two runs—the result of a walk and Dynamic Ignasiak's homer—in the very first inning, and those tallies proved to be more than enough to win for the Bugs. However, not knowing this, his maters added a pair in the fifth.

The fifth inning business started with one out. Adamiak beat out an infield hit. Then stole second. Powell fanned, but Coombs tripled. Ignasiak's second hit of the day—a single—scored Coombs.

Ignasiak, with three hits for four tries, was the top gunner for Clarence Roper's Bugs. Farley, Johnson and Williams were the only Greenies to make a hit yesterday.

The locals journey over to Goldsboro today to engage the Bugs in that city. They return here Saturday for a contest with the Snakes of Tarboro, and then they return the visit of the Serpents to a game in Tarboro Sunday to wind up the week's play.

Coburn Shoe company defeated Person-Garrett yesterday in the closest contest played in the City's official league this season. The contest was decided, 2-1, after two extra innings had been played.

Mianwhile Tadlock Insurance was defeating the Blount - Harvey team 3-2. Simpson of the Coburn company pitched one-hit ball, but the tobaccoists scored in the fourth inning on an error. The shot men pushed six across in the third and added another in the ninth. Both were scored by Bob Forbes, who hit two three-baggers. Three other Coburn players got one each.

The Tadlock team defeated Blount - Harvey when John Bancroft Moseley with one on hit a home run to centerfield in the seventh inning. Blount - Harvey in his hall was unable to overcome the one run lead.

Tadlock's opened the game by scoring once in its first frame. Blount - Harvey was held scoreless till the fourth when Vincent scored on Laurence's single. The department store men scored once again in the fifth on a lead at the end of the sixth inning 2-1.

Even team was unable to produce hits when they were needed. Laurence collected two for Blount-Harvey while Stator hit safely in base for Tadlocks. Moseley's home run was the deciding factor in the game. Vincent finished his inning with a neat exhibition of baserunning.

Williamston Martins Lose to New Bern

Williamston - Bull Hester's won the pitching decision over Ray Seaman as New Bern edged out Williamston, 6-5 yesterday.

Both pitchers were hit hard in early innings but tightened up in the stretch, and the game was scoreless after the fifth.

Errors helped the clubs to match singles in the first. The Bears missed hits by McAbee and Hamons with errors for two runs in the second. They added three in the third on Stith's single, a walk, Mullman's triple, and Evans' fly.

Villepique's single, Stanley's double, and McCay's single brought the Martins two runs in the fourth. Strunk's single, Earp's double, an error, and Villepique's infield out gave the Martins two in the fifth.

Stith, with three for four, and Knowles, with two for three, were the best hitters for New Bern. Howard Earp, who had been out for several days, celebrated his return to the Martins lineup by cracking a double and a single.

Sport Slants

By PAP

A few days after the British open golf tournament, in mid-July, there will occur at Walton Heath one of those super-super gold matches between a pair of money players.

Strangely enough, old Walter Hagen, who has played some of the most stirring "challenge" matches, will be in the gallery—if he gets up in time to view the 72-hole or any part thereof.

The principals in this one, by decree of the rival American and British pro golf associations, are Henry Cotton and our own Denny Shute.

Shute was nominated for the job as solo representative of our side in what amounts to a semi-official match for the "world pro championship" because he proved himself the best match player in our golfing-for-gain ranks. That is, Dour Denny won the American P.G.A. championship two times in succession, and that's the only Grade-A event in which the pros play matches.

This great 2-man show undoubtedly will draw a tremendous gallery. But it is doubtful if it will outdraw the Haig at its best.

It is on record that Sir Walter once took in $6,800 for a 72-hole when he beat Bob Jones, 11 and 10. Of course, young Mr. Jones drew his part of the gallery, too, but it remained the fact that Hagen drew the money, the largest amount ever gathered by one man for 72 holes of golf.

Hagen's greatest match of this kind took place in 1926 when he beat Abe Mitchell, two and one, for 1,000 pounds, over 72 holes. And the greatest humiliation Hagen ever suffered on a golf course came in 1928 when, over the 72-hole challenge route, the Haig lost to Brian's Archie Compston, 18 and 17. But they paid Hagen 500 pounds for his work on that occasion—the same amount that Compston pocketed.

Snow Hill Returns To Second Place in Loop

Snow Hill - Snow Hill's Billies returned to second place in Coastal Plain standings by defeating Ayden 6-1. Thursday as Williamston was going to New Bern.

The Billies backed up Cecil Long's seventh-inning hurling by cracking out 13 safeties on offense and by offering a stellar defense featured by a quartet of fast double plays.

Ayden's lone tally, in the third, resulted from McCormick's double. Gurtch's single, and Schuerholz's outfield fly.

The Billies needed only two innings to get enough runs to win. Horse Mewborn singled to start the first, but was forced by Wall. Wall stole second, and scored on Robinson's double.

Walter Rabb opened the second with a single, and Soufas was safe on an error. Rhile sacrificed. Longest's single sent Rabb and Soufas across the plate, but only one run counted - Soufas failed to touch third and he was retired.

Mewborn, Rabb, and Robinson featured afield. Mewborn was the middle man in all double plays, and Robby started three of them. Rabb started the other.

With several new additions to the club the Gulf boys had complete control of the game from start to finish. The Sinclair team made several gallant attempts to overcome their rivals, but was unsuccessful.

Tarboro Snakes Win Over Kinston Eagles

Kinston - Tarboro scored "by degrees" to defeat Kinston, 5-2 Thursday afternoon.

A homer by Frankie Myers in the first inning opened the Serpents' campaign. The Eagles tied it in the fourth—Schulte was safe on an error; he stole second, and scored on Charlie Gadd's single.

Tarboro resumed the scoring business in the fifth and tallied a singleton in each of four consecutive innings. A walk, a passed ball, and Mooney's single brought the

Mountaineer Refuses Bring Bride To Court

Madisonville, Tenn., June 25.—(AP)—Homer Peel, lanky 32-year-old mountaineer defied authorities a second time today by stalling in court without his 12-year-old bride, Geneva.

has baffled farmers of northern Guam since the days of Spanish occupation. For generations they have caught the scanty rainfall behind dams and endeavored to make this water suffice for their crops as there are no streams in this section.

Annulment proceedings set for two weeks ago had been continued because he failed to bring his child-bride 12 miles across the mountains from their home at Epperson. Then Chancellor A. T. Stewart ordered Peel to bring her to court today.

Believing there might be artesian water available. Governor McCandlish ordered well drilling machinery from the United States. The first drilling struck a good supply at 291 feet.
