More Democrats Meet Roosevelt

SERIOUS TALK SIDE-TRACKED

Conferences Described as Old Fashioned Political Picnic

Annapolis, Md., June 26.—(AP)—A second batch of 100 Democratic congressmen went to Jefferson Island, in Chesapeake Bay today, for "an old-fashioned political picnic" with President Roosevelt.

That description by sun-burned guests returning from the first day's outing yesterday removed much of the political significance of their three-day affair.

The guests reported a smattering of serious political discussions interwoven with horse-play and recreation. There was no denial, however, that the underlying purpose was to promote harmony in party ranks.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader again led today's groups in boarding boats at the naval academy dock for the hour and a half cruise to the island. President Roosevelt and members of his cabinet had remained there over night.

Rep. Maury Maverick of Texas, leader of a self-styled House Liberal bloc, said he had urged the President to keep Congress in session until all of his program was on the statute books. To this Maverick said the President replied "we are going through."

The Texan said he did not go into the legislative program with the President in detail, but insisted he had mentioned the Roosevelt court bill specifically.

A group of opponents of the court bill said, however, they had not heard that measure mentioned.

CINEMA STARS TREK TO ALTAR

Mary Pickford And Buddy Rogers Wed In Simple Rites

Hollywood, June 26.—(AP)—In a ceremony as private as their romance was quiet, Mary Pickford will become the bride of Buddy Rogers late today.

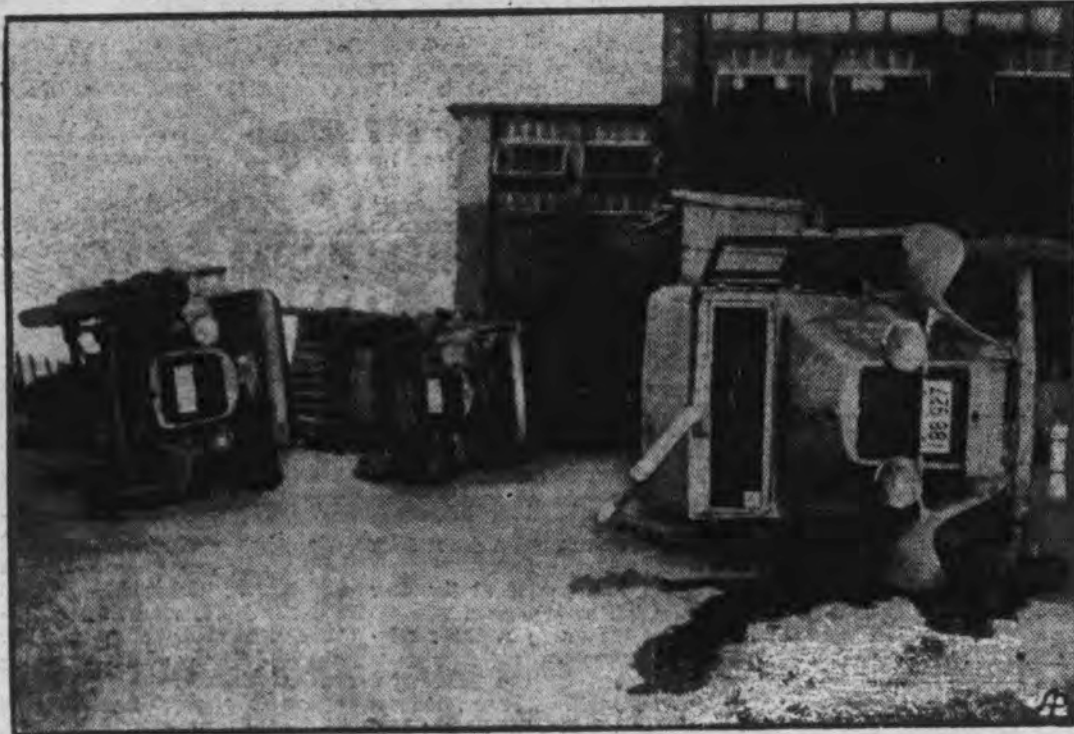

The one-time "America's sweetheart" and "American's boy friend" will say "I do" at 3 o'clock this afternoon (6 p. m. EST) in a setting strangely contrasting with the fanfare of their professional careers.

The Pickford-Rogers guest list numbered only 14 with a big guard of police assigned to see that there are no uninvited additions.

The scene itself a shaded garden nook beneath a spreading oak tree might have been lifted in its simplicity from one of the screen plays in which the bride rose to the movie heights.

A "wild cat oil well" is one which is drilled without much knowledge of what is under the ground.

STRIKERS' WRECKING SPREE

Strikers overturned 19 trucks at the Phillips Packing Company plant in Cambridge, Md., but later announced they would set men to righting them to meet the company half way. The men asked higher wages.

DUCE PREDICTS FALL OF SPAIN

Official Newspaper Predicts Fall of Empire Shortly

Rome, June 26.—(AP)—A promise that Madrid would fall shortly and the European crisis thereby be ended was published editorially in Premier Mussolini's newspaper Il Popolo D'Italia today and diplomatic sources attributed authorship of it to Il Duce himself.

The article said that the Spanish capital would fall as soon as Insurgent General Francisco Franco could finish cleaning out the Basque provinces along the Northern frontier.

Franco's troops have taken Bilbao and now are driving against Santander, last major city on the Northern Spanish coast.

When this drive is complete, the editorial said, Franco will throw the entire weight of his forces against Madrid.

The article came while government officials continued insistence that the situation as regards Spain was unchanged since yesterday.

These sources agreed that Italy and Germany would not welcome any separate action by France and Britain to fill the gap in the neutrality patrol.

The editorial, in a general discussion of the Spanish war, said:

"The crisis will definitely be resolved upon the day on which General Franco is freed of the last resistance of the Basques and they throw against the central front all the weight of his well-tempered forces, galvanized by a spirit of victory."

There will be, as often happens, an acceleration of operation. The iron band around Madrid, like that around Bilbao which seemed impregnable, will be broken."

In 1904 and in 1916 black stem rust, one of the most destructive grain diseases, destroyed almost 200,000 bushels of wheat in the United States.

Yet Without Clue In Parsons Kidnap

Stony Brook, N. Y., June 26.—(AP)—An advertisement in the "personnel" section of a New York morning newspaper today saying "everything ready" brought a denial from principals in the Parsons case that it concerned ransom negotiations for the return of Mrs. Alice McDonell Parsons.

"Billie" will meet when notified. Everything ready. Will P., the advertisement said.

The note demanding $25,000 for the return of Mrs. Parsons, society heiress who disappeared June 9, was addressed to her husband, William Parsons, as "Will P."

MICKEY NEVER TO PLAY AGAIN

Detroit Manager Says He Will Never Catch Again

New York, June 26.—(AP)—In a copyrighted interview published today, Joe Williams, sports editor of the New York World Telegram, "Mickey" Cochrane as saying definitely he will never catch another game.

NAVAL PATROL PLAN OFFERED

Means Proposed Secure Cooperation of Germany, Italy

(By Associated Press)

A new plan to get a measure of Italian and German cooperation in the international naval patrol of Spain was reported being prepared today in Paris.

Informed sources said the program provided for placing Italian observers on French ships and German representatives on British vessels to maintain supervision of any movement of arms or foreign fighters to Spain.

That scheme was an amplification of the Franco-British proposal that their ships fill the gaps in the neutrality cordon created by withdrawal of Italian and German ships.

Authoritative Rome sources declared, however, Italy would oppose maintenance of the patrol by British and French alone. In some Italian quarters it was said there was no need of continuing the patrol because Italian and German ships were continuing an independent watch. While participating in the neutrality patrol they had been stationed along the Eastern Spanish coasts off government-held territory.

German newspapers, although they expressed approval of British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's attitude toward the Reich as expressed in his speech yesterday, blamed Britain and France for the breakdown of cooperation among these four great western European powers.

On the actual fighting front Insurgents were reported massing troops in the Jarama region southeast of Madrid, menacing the important highway from Madrid to Valencia on the Mediterranean.

ROBERT IRWIN IS IDENTIFIED

Leaves Only Slender Trail in Shabby, Dim-lighted Room

Cleveland, O., June 26.—(AP)—An artist who police said "definitely" was Robert Irwin, fled his shabby, dim-lighted room and left only a slender trail today for authorities seeking him for New York City's famous Gedeon murders.

A kitchen girl, a clerk and a half dozen other employees at a leading downtown hotel identified a bar boy there as the sculptor-divinity student charged with the slaying last March 28 of pretty Veronica Gedeon, her mother and a man who roomed at their East Side flat.

"The man definitely is Irwin," declared Detective Lieutenant Stephen Tozzer as a widespread hunt was started for the fugitive a few hours after he vanished.

The kitchen girl, attractive dark-haired, started police on an intensive search for the former insane asylum inmate.

She recognized, as she thumbed through a detective story magazine Wednesday night a resemblance between the 29-year-old man named as the killer of art's good-time girl and the bar's boy who had worked at the hotel for a month and a half.

Miss Koscianski, who said "I did not tell police because it occurred to me only as a coincidence," asked him playfully last night "say, Bob, what is your real name, anyhow?" "Robert Murray," she said was the reply.

"Then I said 'did you ever hear of Robert Irwin' and he turned his back on me and said 'no,' sounding kind of indifferent. I did not see the expressions on his face. He turned and walked out of the hotel kitchen and that was the last I ever saw of him."

STRIKE FACES SILK INDUSTRY

Declares General Walkout Only A Question of Days

Paterson, N. J., June 26.—(AP)—Carl Holderman, regional director of the C. I. O., said today "it is only a question of days when there will be a call for a general strike in the silk industry in the country."

"We are preparing to organize every silk factory in the nation and the general strike will be the opening wedge," he told a mass meeting of 750 Paterson silk workers, sponsored by the Textile Worker's Organizing committee of the C. I. O.

Holderman listed the union's demands as a closed shop, $15 weekly minimum wage, a 40-hour five-day week, time and a half for over time and an impartial arbitration board.

Miss Jackson Honored
Miss Victoria Jackson, bride-elect of July, was paid a pretty compliment last evening when Mrs. W. E. Hooker was gracious hostess at bridge.
The home was beautifully decorated in hydrangeas, gladioli and phlox, with a pink color note predominating.

Guests were greeted on arrival by Mrs. Hooker and Miss Jackson and directed to the dining room, where Miss Louise Hooker, from an attractively appointed table, served punch.

Tables for the game were placed in the music room and library. Miss Jackson's place was marked with a shoulderette of white carnations. At the conclusion of the game Miss Syble Clark was given silk hose for high score and Miss Iola Bradley a vase for high cut. Miss Jackson's gift was china in her selected pattern.

The hostess served a tempting ice course and candies, carrying out the pink color note.

The surprise of the evening for the bride-elect came when Mrs. Hooker gave her a ball of cord and told her to follow it. This led to another room where she found a clothes line hung with beautiful linens from the guests. Miss Jackson graciously accepted the gifts, gathered them from the line and placed them in a decorated laundry basket.

Bride-Elect Honored

Mrs. W. E. McGowan delightfully entertained Tuesday night at the Woman's club in honor of Miss Doris Quinn, whose wedding to Robert Griffith of South Hill, Virginia, will take place on July 16th. The entertainment was a miscellaneous shower for the honoree from 8:00 until 9:30 o'clock, and a dance from 9:30 until 12:00 o'clock.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. W. E. McGowan, who introduced the guests to the receiving line, composed of Miss Doris Quinn, Robert Griffith, Mrs. Ethel Gibson, Mrs. E. B. Rouse, Misses Annie Ruth Quinn, Gay Rouse; Mrs. Staff Hill, Miss Grace Brown and Lon Forrest, Jr.

Mesdames Bessie Bussie, E. H. Rouse and J. R. Mobley presided over the gift table.
Acting as chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Elks, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Banks and Mrs. E. B. Rouse.

The clubhouse was beautifully decorated with pink and white gladiolas, shaster daisies, wondering jew and English ivy. Burning candles accentuated the beauty of the decorations. In the corner was placed a long table, centered with a lovely arrangement of ivy, flanked by burning white tapers with three miniature brides and grooms on either side of the two large punch bowls and in the center. Here delectable iced orange punch and Ritz were served. Mrs. Staff Hill and Miss Grace Brown presided over the punch bowls. Assisting in serving the iced orange punch and Ritz were Misses Gay Rouse and Anne Ruth Quinn.

Later in the evening the guests were entertained by Earl Rouse and his guitar. Edward Conway and Miss Mildred Clark sang "An Indian Love Call" and "I Love You Truly," dedicated to the bride-elect.

Dainty lingerie was presented to Mrs. E. B. Rouse of Philadelphia, sister-in-law and house guest of Mrs. W. E. McGowan, and silk hose was presented to Mrs. Ethel Gibson of New York, mother and house guest of Mrs. Staff Hill.

Approximately one hundred twenty-five guests enjoyed the evening. —Reported.

RED OAK NEWS

(Mrs. B. L. Tyson, Correspondent)
Beginning with this issue we shall divide our news into different sections. If you have any item that you think would be of interest, please send or hand it to your correspondent on or before Sunday of each week and it will be published the following week.

Church Items

We shall endeavor to relate news of our two churches from time to time under these items. We have two churches functioning in our community and they are really the center of most of our activities.

We have Piney Grove, a Free Will Baptist church with a large membership. Services are held every second Sunday morning and Sunday school every Sunday morning. Reverend Philip Woodard of Bayboro has been the pastor for the past two years.

Our other church is the Red Oak Christian church. Reverend Gilbert Davis is the pastor and we have services every third Sunday morning and Sunday evening; also Sunday School every Sunday morning.

Miss Inez Allen and Miss Rubelle Vandford have returned from the Youth's Conference held at Lake Eden, near Asheville. They were sent as representatives from Red Oak church.

Club News

Your correspondent heard the following remarks after our club tour a week or so ago: "Mrs. Harrington has certainly improved her place. I know she has done some hard work;" "The very prettiest place to me was Mrs. Johnny May's. I think her yard is lovely. I would like to live there;" "I think Mrs. Hodges' back yard, with its lovely shade and swings and flowers, was the most attractive place I saw. And the refreshments were so appetizing;" "The prettiest lawn that I saw was Mrs. John Crawford's. She will have a lovely place when she gets it completed;" "I was never so much surprised in my life as I was when I saw Mrs. Billy May's home. I didn't know she had such an attractive place;" "Anna's and Dorothy Ray's home certainly looks better since they have cut down some of the scraggly trees;" "If Mrs. Tyson would keep her garage door closed her place would look better. It looks like the opening to the Mammoth Cave when both doors are open;" "Ruth's bird-bath was very attractive, and the refreshments, served in rainbow colors, was beautiful and so refreshing;" "We regret very much that we couldn't get to Mrs. Leon Hardee's. We hope we can go there another time;" "It was a most enjoyable trip. There were about fifty women who went;" "Rubelle's and Lizzie's verbenas and other flowers were so pretty."

Sick List

Word has been received today of the death of one of the oldest and most beloved citizens of the old Frog Level community, Mrs. Martha Ann Moye. We extend our deepest sympathy to all her children.

There is a regular epidemic of sickness in our community. Mrs. Perene Tyson still remains in Pitt General hospital, but friends will be glad to know that her condition is very much improved.

R. R. Tyson has recovered from a recent illness.

Mrs. James Allen is still ill at her home. Mrs. Herbert Ellis and Miss Lottie Ellis of Winterville, Mrs. Sam Harris and daughters of Richlands, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kessinger of Pennsylvania, Mrs. John Aman and Mrs. Carlos Harris of Greenville, have been to see her this week, besides a great number of other friends.

Mrs. Julia Crawford still remains very feeble. We hope she will be feeling better soon.

Mrs. John Buck is very much improved. She got a very painful cut on her head in an automobile wreck two weeks ago.

A telephone message from Durham Tuesday night stated that Mrs. Frank Elks was in a very serious condition. She had an operation on her head Wednesday. Mr. Elks was called to her bedside Tuesday night.

Interesting Facts

Mrs. R. R. Tyson has a humming bird's nest at her front door. There are two eggs in it and one of them has hatched. It is really a curiosity to anyone who has never been fortunate enough to see this tiny bird's nest and eggs.

Mrs. J. L. Buck has a hen sitting on ten partridge eggs. It is time for them to hatch this week. We will let you know more about them next week.

If you know of an interesting fact send it to your correspondent.

Experiments are made in this house and instructions given to the homesteaders. For instance, in moving this house the chimney was damaged. It was mended and cleaned with two coats of raw linseed oil, which gave it a new and clean appearance. The furnishings were all durable, but colorful and appropriate to the house and to the surroundings.

4-H Party

The 4-H Council invited all the members to a picnic party Thursday evening. About six thirty the first of the group came. They played soft ball on the campus. About seven-thirty the picnic lunch was spread on the tables back of the college dining hall. After eating the entire group went to Wright Memorial building where the meeting was opened by Miss Mildred Evans, the council president. They voted to go to Public Landing for their July meeting. After a short business meeting games were enjoyed.

The last leaders' school for home beautification was held Friday afternoon in Sheppard Memorial Library. Miss Pauline Smith gave material on out-door living rooms. This material will be given in all clubs in July. Leaders were present from Winterville, St. John, Chicod, Red Oak, Red Banks, Farmville No. 1 and Farmville No. 2. Each club was urged to talk to all of their club members and be ready at the July Council meeting to vote for the subject they prefer for next year. Possibilities are: Third Year Home Beautification, Home Management, House Furnishings, Clothing and Foods. What the majority want will be the program for the county.

MICKEY NEVER TO PLAY AGAIN

Handley of the Yankees in a game here May 26.

"As a player, I am through all time," Williams quoted Cochrane as saying. "Whether I'll continue as manager, I can not say. I am not thinking about my baseball future these days. All I'm thinking about is getting well."

Cochrane, discussing the accident, blamed himself. He explained that with the count "three and one" he was "prepared to take the next pitch whether it was over or not."

He says he lost the ball in the sun. Cochrane, asked whether he thought batsmen should be compelled to wear protective head gear or a helmet, replied "absolutely."

Washington — Direct action is the term for Maury Maverick of Texas.

He wants publicity for his bill to appropriate $3,000,000 for a cancer clinic. As each reporter comes into his office, Maverick shoves into his hands a copy of the congressional record. It contains a 100-word speech by Maverick. Attached to that is a statistical study of cancer death rates compiled by Frederick L. Hoffman, statistician of the Franklin Institute, in Philadelphia, to show how bad cancer is.

Here is an idea of what it does:
It knocked off 150,000 people of all ages in the United States in 1936.

In spite of persistent research, the death rate is increasing. Hoffman, who is not a physician, is a bit critical of the research progress being made to stamp out the disease. He says the problem at present is in a state of "disturbing confusion."

"Statements are put forward almost from day to day which are simply guess work excursions into a realm of almost fathomless confusion of facts and conclusions," says Hoffman. Keep in mind that he is not a physician so he doesn't have to be polite to fellow practitioners.

Between 1916 and 1935, two and a quarter million people died of cancer in the United States. In that same period, the death rate climbed from 81.6 per 100,000 in 1916-1920 to 103.6 in 1931-36.

Pacific coast cities have the highest average death rate from cancer,
Hoffman says. He doesn't say why.

The cancer death rate is higher in the cities than in the rural districts. That's because cancer victims flock to the cities where better treatment is available.

Of people who died in the United States in 1935, one of every 10 died of cancer. Death from cancer occurs most frequently among older persons. Cancer accounted for one out of every eight deaths in 1935 of persons beyond 45 years. Under 45 years, only one of every 28 deaths is from cancer.

Hoffman suggests certain foods have something to do with the cancer death rate. He says statistics he has compiled warrant such a belief.
Maybe that is just one of the "guess work" statements he denounces.

At any rate Maverick wants $3,- 000,000 to start a clinic to study cancer, and a million a year to keep it going. If his bill is enacted and the clinic helps trim the cancer death rate, we will feel pretty good about this bit of publicity. Two very fine friends of ours have died from the disease.

Exports of American products to Japan, valued at $204,000,000 in 1936, exceed the total of our sales to all other far eastern countries combined.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York — Table - loitering has almost become a lost art in New York, although Guthrie McClintic, Dwight Fiske, Christopher Morley and a few others still cling to the practice of passing whole days at one cloth in a favorite restaurant.

The late Ring Lardner, a fastidious diner, once spent 72 hours at his table in a 45th street cafe, explaining that such a stay was not too long for a man who wanted to really savor the choice delicacies on a first class menu.

But today one seizes a waiter by the arm, shouts an order, gulps it down and hurries away. The answer is that leisure, like lavender and old lace, is a word that sounds nice but doesn't mean much in an age when life rushes past like a river in spring flood.

It was Ring who really was, content to sit by and watch life and the hours slip quietly past — if he were seated in a favorite restaurant nibbling pleasant confections and sipping inexhaustible cups of java.

There was the time a friend took him to lunch and after an hour's chat, got up and went away. Several days later the friend came back and Lardner was still there.

"It's like this," Lardner explained, "I know the manager and he's letting me spend my vacation here."

Dwight Fiske, the piano raconteur, consumes several hours over breakfast alone. Guests are often perturbed over the Fiske deliberation, for, not wishing to appear rude, they attempt to go along in his leisurely manner. But by time you have finished breakfast, read the morning paper, telephoned the office, and perhaps indulged in a brisk turn around the park, he is only finishing his orange juice. "Dining is such a pleasure that I try to prolong it indefinitely," he confesses.

Guthrie McClintic, the producer, is another whose breakfast is a ritual lasting several hours. He will read several plays between cereal and eggs. Charlie MacArthur might also be classed as one who deliber-ates over his food, although this is not always the case. Charlie is such an omniverous talker that he really doesn't get a chance to make away with his food. Once in a night club a steak was set before this Irish gadabout, but 40 minutes later Charlie was still talking, and the waiter courteously removed it, sup-planting it with a fresh, hot one. MacArthur never knew it until his companion told him the next day.

Another who feels keenly on this subject is Christopher Morley. He is the founder of the Three Hours For Lunch Club.

church where five generations of her family have been christened, wed and buried. They're marrying after four years of knowing each other.

He Comes To Dance
 She's Ethel du Pont and she becomes Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Jr. At the reception a little later she'll stand in line with her husband and her parents to smile in a poised manner at a goodly section of the nation's well-known people as they file past to wish her happiness.

She probably wore a less poised smile the first time she mentioned, three years ago that her guest list for a dance included the name of Franklin Roosevelt. The du Pont industrial empire is so large that the family easily qualified for the title "Economic Royalists," the very group against which the boy's father was waging battle in Washington.
 But the boy came to the dance. His smile was warm and genuine.

His manners were perfect. He talked about any and everything well. And his eyes obviously lit up when they fell on the young, blonde hostess.

She Goes To White House
 The boy came again and again. He invited the girl to the White House to the annual Christmas party in 1934. And the White House found the little heiress gentle, unassuming, gay, pretty and they also saw that light when her eyes lit on the young host.

So who's to stand in the way of such patient, young love? Certainly not politics.
 They're rather a remarkable throw-back to their parents' generation when it comes to the characteristics that make a happy marriage.

He Works On Farm
 Young Roosevelt has never been afraid to work. And he's asking no favors. He says, "One thing's sure, I'm not going into politics."

He spent one summer driving a truck "just to see how" the other half lives. The farmers on his father's farm and on the du Pont estate are his friends because he can talk intelligently about their work.
 He disliked intensely the fuss made over him when his father went to the White House, and he'll probably growl now when he sees the stories of his wedding.

Both Like Out-of-Doors
 The girl he's marrying fits in well with his idea of a happy world. She likes the out-of-doors as well as he, and she's almost as expert at hunting, fishing, sailing, and riding.

Her path has followed his since they met. She's almost deserted Wilmington parties because his friends cluster around Boston, New York and Washington.

They both like very good things. They both dislike anything flashy. They've both poked into every arriving wedding present, giggling and whispering. "Please make it OLD silver, not NEW silver, Please make it OLD glass."

She's brought up in the du Pont tradition which, even the Wilmington provides that once a du Pont woman marries 'she sticks to it.'

The Age-Old Anti-Catholic Racket

False testimony to convict priests is as old as the trial of Christ before Caiaphas. Slaughter of priests to destroy their sublime teachings is as old as the murder of Christ on the Cross.

The technique of the anti-Catholic racket has varied little down through the ages. "Slay the priests and you stop religion. Burn the churches and you prevent worship. Level the seminaries and the priesthood perishes. Seize the children and the coming generation will be anti-Christ. And justify it all by slanderous lies." An age-old racket that never has, or will, succeed.

And now it's all being tried over again by Adolf Hitler, the mad dog of Europe, who snips and snarls and foams at Jews, Protestants and Catholics, who tears up treaties and concordats and who basks in the title of "a new, a greater, a more powerful Jesus Christ," and "the true Holy Ghost."

Adolf Hitler, the world-renowned tyrant, murderer and falsifier—who's to believe his absurd stories of mass immorality among the Catholic priests and brothers of Germany?

We Catholics knew the plot as far back as March, 1936, when the Catholic weekly "America" published an interview with the Bavarian nobleman, Prince Lowenstein. Here was foretold— all the details — wholesale arrests of priests, false witnesses, faked photographs, trumped-up charges of gross immorality, manufactured confessions of guilt—one-way trials with no chance for defense of any kind.

Mad? Yes, but more than that. The furious Fuehrer is unintelligent if he thinks such obvious lies could do aught but draw the Catholics closer to their priests and bring denunciation from the four quarters of the globe.

Catholics despise all evil. Therefore they despise Hitlerism; but to show their hatred for this pagan tyranny, they do not make the mistake of taking unto their bosoms Communism, an even greater evil because, through subtler methods, it inoculates the sores of unrest, social injustice and human greed with a virus of false promises and hopes which would poison the body of the entire world.

Catholics often fear for their lives, but never for their religion; for always in their ears ring the promises of Him Who proved Himself God—"The Gates of Hell shall prevail against you." "Behold, I am with you all days even unto the consummation of the world." "Heaven and earth will pass away but my word will not pass away."

FLAME TRAIL

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD

SYNOPSIS: Just as Ted Gaynor is desperately about to set a forest fire to get a job, Kay Crandon stops him, likes his looks, gives him a place at the Lazy Nine. When her ranch house and barn burn, Josh Hastings, owner of the Flying Six, invites her there—he wants to buy the Lazy Nine and marry Kay. She refuses, distrusting him, but young sister Babs and Aunt Kate gladly accept. Kay's hopes of rebuilding with the insurance money are dashed—it has to go toward the mortgage. Unknown to Kay, Ted figures for her good name in a bar. As they ride back to the ranch, he tells her Hastings is "a snake."

Chapter 10

Ted's Plan Clicks

TED, Kay gazed at him with solemn eyes, "Uncle Dan told me not to breathe this, but I'm going to say it just once to you, and then never again until I have a roof. I believe Josh Hastings had some connection with the fire that burned down the ranch house!"

"Your Uncle Dan was right in warning you not to say that," Ted answered gravely. "You may be right, but an accusation like that could react on you like a boomerang and charge of dynamite combined, unless you have undisputed proof."

"I won't mention it again," Kay promised, "unless I have that roof. But Ted, can't you tell me what you know about him?"

Ted shook his head. "Not yet, but he hasn't heard the last of me, it takes years to get him where I want him."

"If you could only trip him up now!" Kay exclaimed. "I'm afraid you'll get him too late to do me any good. But he's not going to leave the Lazy Nine!" she came back passionately to the thought uppermost in her mind. "I'll probably have to sacrifice most of my stock to get enough money to rebuild, but I'll get a fresh start some day."

"What good will it do to rebuild, if your stock has to go to get money to do it?" Ted reasoned. "I've got a better idea than that. If you've got the right kind of outfit, and from what I've seen of them I'm willing to bet you have, we can rebuild without any money."

Like The First Settlers

"WHAT do you mean?" Kay hung breathlessly on his words.

"Why, we'll do the way the first settlers did," Ted declared. "Haul in our own logs, and cut our own lumber. I'm not a bad hand at carpentering, and I'm a darned good blacksmith, if I do say so. We can make what we need in that line at the shop down by the corral, and by starting on the barn right now, we can have it ready for winter. By spring, everything will be up again."

"Ted!" Kay's eyes sparkled with excitement as his enthusiasm kindled hers. "Do you suppose we could?" A sudden thought dimmed her radiant expression. "But what will we do for feed? That's all gone with the barn!"

"You've got some money laid aside for the winter, haven't you?" Ted asked.

"Only just enough to pay the men and buy food," Kay replied despondently.

"That's what I meant by the right kind of outfit," Ted answered. "We won't take any pay. We'll use the money to buy the necessary feed for the cattle and horses to carry them over the winter. With what's left, we'll buy food for the outfit, and if rations get slim, we can follow the pioneers there, too. There's as good trapping and hunting in the Bitter Root as there ever was."

"But I couldn't ask the boys to go without their pay!" In spite of her protest, Kay's eyes reflected the thrill that Ted's plans gave her.

"They'll be mighty lucky to have a roof over their heads and food to eat," Ted observed grimly. "And if they have any sense, they know it. You can leave that to me," he went on. "I'll put it up to Seth, and he'll put it up to the outfit."

"And to think that this time yesterday I didn't even know you!" Kay marveled. "You're making everything possible!"

"This time yesterday, I didn't know myself," Ted answered gruffly, and Kay felt a sudden quickening of her pulses at the look he bent on her. "It's you who have made everything possible," he paused, and then brought out, "Miss Kay."

"The boys all call me 'Kay.' You may as well get used to it." Touching Flicker with her heel, Kay raced ahead without waiting to see the effect of her announcement.

It was enough to feel the color coming into her own cheeks, and to realize that in some magic way the whole world had taken on a new aspect. What had seemed a hopeless disaster was being turned into a most thrilling adventure, and somehow the future was full of exciting promise.

The Boys Back Up Kay

BEFORE lunch, Ted got Seth to one side, explained the situation about the insurance, and put his proposition up to him. There was no question of Seth's reaction to the scheme.

"Hell's bells! Why didn't I think of that myself?" He grasped Ted's hand. "Sure the outfit'll stand by. You just watch 'em!"

Wasting no time, he strode over to the mess shack, where the men were gathered waiting for the welcome summons to "Come and get it," and explained Ted's idea.

The response was unanimously enthusiastic, and by the time Kay arrived for lunch she found the whole outfit eagerly discussing plans.

"We're all rarin' to go!" Seth called out, as Kay came in sight. "Just you wait till you see this building and loan association getting into action!"

Sudden tears came into Kay's eyes as she faced the eager group.

"I'll try to make it up to you boys someday," she said huskily.

"Gosh, there's nothing to make up," Shorty, the outfit comedian, spoke up for the bunch. "Anybody with grub and a roof over his head's in luck this winter. And say, won't we build some chateau! Oh, la, la! I'll tell the world!" Shorty, who had been overseas during the World War, never missed an opportunity to air his French.

Kay laughed. "Never mind the chateau, Shorty. Just a plain log ranch house is good enough for me!"

"By the way, is there any good sized timber near here?" Ted spoke up.

Seth scratched his head. "Most of our timber land is kind of scrubby second growth," he answered. "I hadn't thought of that."

"What's the nearest big timber?" Ted asked.

Seth looked speculatively at Kay. "I reckon that ridge of Old Man Warren's is the best there is anywheres 'round."

Kay nodded, a thoughtful pucker between her eyes.

"I'd better see him about buying a few acres," she decided. "I'll do that the next time I go in town."

"Say, we'll have the swellest ranch house on the range," Shorty boasted. "I'll be the architect."

A roar of derision greeted this proposition and with a general hubbub of plans and suggestions, they all piled in for food.

Increase Budget For School Plants

SETS AMOUNT AT $1,130,800

Increase Made Necessary by Coal Price, Other Factors

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, June 26.—A larger budget for the operation of school plants for the 1937-38 school year was approved by the State School Commission in its meeting here Friday, the new budget amounting to $1,130,800 which is $101,000 larger than the budget for the 1936-37 school year, it was announced today by Lloyd Griffin, executive secretary of the commission.

The increase was made necessary by the increase in the price of coal and by the 10 per cent increase in salaries of all janitors authorized by the 1937 general assembly.

"Present indications are that our coal will cost some 30 cents a ton more than it did last year and perhaps even more for some types, with the result that the increased cost of coal will run into quite a large figure," Griffin said. "So to be sure that the budget for operation of school plants would be adequate, the commission decided to increase the budget $101,000 over last year's allotment."

The commission has already completed the allotment of school teachers to the various city and county school units for next year on the basis of the average daily attendance for this past year, Griffin said. The city and county superintendents will be notified of the number of teachers allotted within the next few days.

These allotments are subject to adjustment from time to time and if the number of teachers allotted is not sufficient to take care of the number of children after the schools open, additional teachers will be allotted. But for the most part, experience has shown that there is not much variation in enrollment and attendance and that only a few hundred additional teachers have to be allotted after the schools open, Griffin said.

Since teachers are allotted on a basis set up by the school commission, the final allotments do not have to be approved by the commission, it was pointed out.

WORLD 'DROUGHT' CONFRONTS IMBIBERS

Rome, (AP) — Wine lovers face the prospect of a minor drought in the next few years because this year's production fell off sharply.

Only 3,750,000,000 gallons of wine probably will be produced during the current season, says the International Institute of Agriculture. This would give every man, woman and child in the world 1.9 gallons—just about a gallon less than was provided by last season's production which totaled 5,791,264,000 gallons.

The shrinkage is attributed primarily to unfavorable weather.

MAN SUFFERS 29 FRACTURES IN 16 YEARS

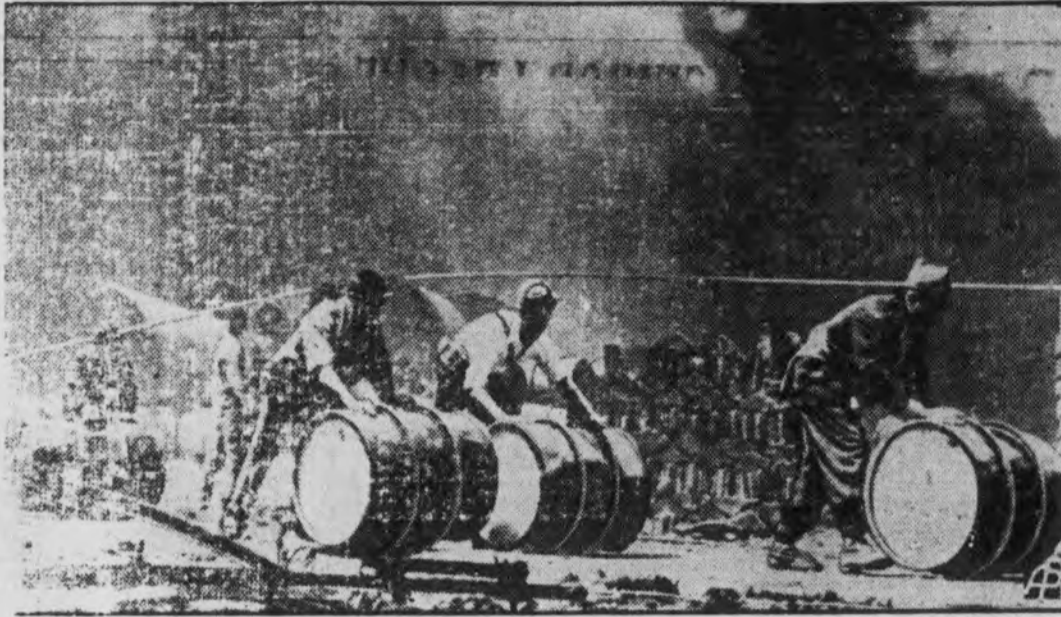

O'Neill, Neb., (AP) — Lee Deveaux, 37, a construction foreman, thinks he has something of a broken bone record. He's had 29 fractures since 1921.

Here's the record:
 Automobile and truck accidents, 22 broken bones.
 Baseball, three broken bones.
 Football, three broken bones.
 Motorcycle wreck, one cracked skull.

Both his lungs have been punctured in accidents. Three times doctors told his wife he probably would die.

In the last 10 years, he estimates, he's spent about $3,500 for doctor bills.

WARNS PUBLIC TO BE CAREFUL

Advised to Watch Food and Drinks During Hot Weather

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, June 26.—"Watch your step, also your stomach, these hot days and don't overtax your endurance. It should be borne in mind, too, that persons with inside jobs and those suffering from chronic diseases are easy marks for heat-strokes," Dr. Roy Norton, of the Division of Preventive Medicine, State Board of Health, advises the sweltering public.

"One should exercise mildly every day but avoid over-exertion," Dr. Norton said. "Eat moderately, but be sparing with proteins (meats) or fats. The addition of a small amount of salt to the drinking water is helpful. The idea that the salt should always be avoided as far as possible since it may add to the strain on the kidneys, is not correct. As a matter of fact, the body requires more salt in summer than at other seasons or whenever work is done in hot surroundings anywhere. The thirst that results from the use of salt I have mentioned will make one sure he is supplying fluids as they are rapidly lost. The salt is helpful in replacing that lost through perspiration and will not prove objectionable to the taste."

"Observe regular daily habits, and rest in the middle of the day, when this is possible. Get plenty of sleep at night. This is very important. If, in spite of precautions, one should develop heat exhaustion or heat stroke, it is well to remember certain helpful measures which may be taken.

"Remove the person thus attacked to a cooler and better ventilated place. Apply an ice collar, if conscious, he should be placed under the care of a physician, who will see that the above measures are taken and also that the fluids necessary are given through a needle.

"It is a mistake to assume that alcohol helps one to resist extreme temperatures. As a matter of fact,

IT'S ODD But It's Science

New York, June 25—(AP) — To measure the lower edge of infinity—that place or condition where heat ceases to exist, and which is called "absolute zero" — two English scientists, J. F. Allen and E. S. Shire of Cambridge, have found a new kind of thermometer.

It is a very fine phosphor bronze wire. As temperature drops, the wire's resistance to electric current likewise goes down. The resistance drop is exactly in proportion to loss of heat, so that the wire measures the steps in the last degree.

It has accurately charted two hundredths of one degree above absolute zero, the scientists report in Nature. Whether it will remain accurate for the last two hundredths of a degree they do not know. But dropping through this last fraction of a degree would be all the way to infinity, and no scientist expects to attain that goal. Infinity lies in the fact that no matter how close to absolute zero you get, there is always a smaller fraction you can think of, and that really exists.

the excessive use of alcohol renders one a poor risk in tropical as well as extremely cold temperatures."

Goldsboro, June 26.—The Greenies seem to be jinxed as far as winning a ball game is concerned. The Pitt county team seemed assured of a 4-3 victory over the Gold Bugs here yesterday afternoon, but the score turned out to be a 5-4 victory for the Bugs.

Freddie Caligiuri, pitching for the Greenies had caused Kunis and Overton to ground out third to first, he then had two strikes on Adamcik—but issued a walk. Manager Clarence Roper, making his first appearance in a game, pinch-hit for Powell. Roper took a called strike, and the hit a Texas leaguer into short right scoring Adamcik. Then Coombs singled to right, and Dynamite Ignasiak was handed an intentional pass. Ace Elliott, pitcher, filling in in the outfield, singled to right-center to send Skipper Roper over with the winning run.

Konnick pitched the route for the Bugs, allowing only seven hits.

Freddie Caligiuri pitched the route for the Greenies. He was reached for 12 hits.

Al Pignataro, recent addition to the Greenies, led his team at bat when he hit safely two times in four tries.

Ignasiak with 3 for 3 and Powell and Coombs with two hits each led Bug batsmen in yesterday's game.

The Greenies meet Tarboro this afternoon at Third Street Park, and repay the visit Sunday by journeying to the Edgecombe town for the fourth game this week with Snake Henry's boys.

In the final games of the first half, Carolina Dairy defeated Flanagan Buggy company 8-7 and Carolina Sales won over the lawyers 8-0.

The Carolina Dairy - Flanagan's game was much closer and the lead changed several times before the final out. In the fifth the Fordmen added four more to take the lead again. The dairymen scored three in the sixth to tie the count and added one in the final frame to win the contest.

Williamston Martins Trounce Bears, 5-1

New Bern — Lefty Biggie hurled five-hit ball to register a 5-1 win for Williamston over New Bern yesterday.

The Bears' run, made in the fourth, resulted from Douglass' single, an infield out, and Knowles' double off the right-field fence.

Williamston made sufficient tallies—a pair—in the first inning to clinch victory. Villepique singled and continued on to third when the drive got through Black. Stanley doubled. A single by Stevens counted Stanley.

Okronley, new New Bern hurler, pitched shutout ball from the first to the seventh. He walked Wade and Lakotas in the seventh, and Sharkey sacrificed. Biggie, given another chance when Douglass erred his foul fly, singled to center to send in two tallies. Earp doubled, and Okronley was relieved by Berry. Berry walked Villepique, but McAbee turned Stanley's sizzling grounder into a double play.

Snow Hill Defeats Ayden Aces, 9 To 5

Ayden — Snow Hill tallied a half dozen runs in the last two innings to turn back Ayden's Aces, 9 to 5, today and give Pitcher Emil Zak his sixth consecutive victory.

The Billies were on the short end of a 5-3 score as they came up in the eighth. Mewborn singled to open this inning, and stole second. Wall went out, but Robinson's double tallied Mewborn. At this point, Manager Monk Joyner called on Lanier to relieve Webb, starting hurler. Bistoff said howdy to Lanier by cracking out a single which scored Robinson. Tatum walked, Rabb hit to Baker, and the shortstop's wild throw — on a double-play try—let Bistoff score. Tatum went to third on the error, and scored when Souf grounded out.

Snow Hill added two counters in the ninth, with Wall stealing home for the second.

Henry's Boys Nose Out Eagles 8 To 7

Tarboro, June 26.—Tarboro's Serpents rapped 17 hits, all singles, in turning back Kinston, 8 to 7, yesterday. The Eagles collected 14 hits, including three for extra sacks.

Fred Henry's locals got off to a four-run jump in the first inning. Hits by Myers, Carahan, Henry Lehman, and Savage were mixed with an infield out and an error.

What proved to be the winning run was counted in the seventh—Joe Savage, local boy, singled, stole second, and scored on Pizzolato's single.

Sekeres, Kinston hurler, was hit in the back by a ball thrown by Third-baseman Mock on a play at the hot corner. Sekeres remained in the game.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, June 26.—(AP)—Steels and rail shares were at the fore of a slow downward movement in the stock market today with leaders off fractions to more than a point.

A more unfavorable outlook in the Mediterranean crisis plus uncertainty over steel strike developments kept traders out of the market.

While industrial news was not dismal, no positive factors were in evidence to bring out buying support.

The pace was slow and toward the finish most prices were near their lows for the day.

All divisions shared in the downturn. Motors, oils, metals and specialties suffered from the general lack of interest. Some of the carriers were at new lows for the year. Transfer approximated 250,000 shares.

JULE WARREN MAY BE NAMED

Talked As Possible Member of School Commission

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, June 26.—Jule B. Warren, executive secretary of the North Carolina Education Association, may be named a member of the State School Commission to succeed one of the present members, according to reports heard here today. Governor Clyde R. Hoey is expected to announce the personnel of the new commission some time next week. The terms of all the present members expired May 30, but under the law members hold office until their successors are named or until they are reappointed.

Those among the school forces who for years have been opposed to the school commission and have sought to abolish it or get control of it in the last three sessions of the general assembly, have been trying to persuade Governor Hoey to make a virtual clean sweep of the present commission and name an entirely new body, just as he did with the highway commission. It is generally understood. However, indications are that they have not made so much headway with these suggestions and the present belief is that a majority of the present members — at least six — will be reappointed. This will leave five new members to be reappointed, since the law requires a member from each of the eleven Congressional districts. It is generally believed that if a majority of the present members of the commission are reappointed, Lloyd Griffin, present executive secretary, will also be reappointed.

Since the anti-school commission faction seems to have no hope of getting clean sweep of the commission, the present strategy seems to be to secure the appointment of as many new members who are in harmony with this faction as possible. It is agreed that the appointment of Warren, regarded as one of the leaders of this faction, would be eminently pleasing to this group. It is understood that in addition to having the backing of the Department of Public Instruction and the more reactionary superintendents, that Warren also has the backing of most of the large textbooks publishers and school supply houses, who are among the most ardent haters of the school commission.

In fourteen years, from 1916 to 1930, black stem rust cost farmers in the Upper Mississippi Valley an estimated $600,000,000 by destroying 422,000,000 bushels of wheat and other grain.

WORKERS RAZE HOUSE —OWNER RAISES FUSS

Lincoln, Neb. (AP)—The University of Nebraska bought a house and lot and added the property to the campus. Workmen were ordered to raze the house.

They tore down a house, but it appears to have been the wrong one. The owner of the place made quite a rumpus when he found it gone. A check from the university finally pacified him.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coon

Hollywood — What to do of an even bothers few mortals so persistently as your movie star who presumably could do anything.

To the movie star, whatever entertainment Hollywood offers, regardless of cost, is merely a routine something-to-do.

Helen Vinson is one who has solved the problem with "something, a little different."

About twice a week the Vinson-Fred Perry house in Beverly is opened to select refugees from boredom who come to dine, to sit, and to talk. Four, usually, never more than six, including the hostess. (Tennisman Perry is playing in England currently.)

Miss Vinson, no cook but a recipe collector, likes to plan "different" menus, and the procedure sounds quite civilized. A mere sherry, with wafers, before dinner. Then dinner, quiet but gay; coffee and liqueur in the living room. And then talk, radio, phonograph music.

Talk, did she say? Yes, talk. About pictures — but not exclusively. The latest tidbits and "anything of international interest, such as — the casting of Scarlett O'Hara." But general talk, too.

No Trouble Yet

It occurred to me, hearing of this radical something-to-do that Miss Vinson, grouping her guests, might be sitting on a social powder keg. Hollywood has feuds. It has even a few people who hate each other's — er — every attribute. But Miss Vinson, the smartie, hasn't made any mistakes. Not yet, she says widdlingly.

"It isn't difficult, you see," she explains. "One hears everything so quickly in Hollywood. And then, people at a small party are relaxed, and not so apt to bristle with annoyances as they are, say, at a large cocktail party."

Harlow Feared Auto Crash

Jean Harlow expected to die young — but she thought it would be in an automobile crash. . . A fortune-teller had advised her to beware of highway travel as far as possible, and she could not help feeling "jittery about it." . . . She told me this two years ago, enjoining secrecy because it "might worry mother." "Silly, isn't it?" she laughed. "I'm trying to forget it, but I can't — quite. . ."

torial novelty, "Her Accidental Hero," comedy.

Wednesday-Thursday: "Cafe Metropole," a gay, crystal comedy in settings of luxury and romance featuring the screen's most exciting sweethearts, Loretta Young, Tyrone Power, with Adolphe Menjou. (Adult). Extra, "Mickey's Amateurs," Mickey Mouse cartoon, "The Installment Collector," act; novelty.

At the State Next Week Sunday-Monday: "In answer to hundreds of requests we are returning "Banjo On My Knee" starring Barbara Stanwyck, Joel McCrea. (Family). Also "High, Wide and Dashing," sport reel; News.

Tuesday: Frolicsome Guy Kibbee in the mirth-provoking comedy mystery, "Jim Hanvey, Detective," with Tom Brown, Lucie Kaye. (Family). Extra, "Will Power," Edgar Kennedy comedy, novelty.

Wednesday-Thursday: "Elephant Boy," a thrilling picture of the jungles featuring all-native cast. (Family). Added, "Vitaphone Gayeties," novelty; "Elmer The Elephant," cartoon; Sound News.

Friday-Saturday: "Roundup Time in Texas," starring your favorite singing cowboy Gene Autrey. (Family). Also "Dog Blight," comedy; Chapter 5 "Dock Tracy."

Suave—Adolphe Menjou sees that Loretta Young and Tyrone Power remain the screen's exciting sweethearts in "Cafe Metropole."

Surprised — Claudette Colbert and her "pal" Robert Young in scene from "I Met Him in Paris"—Maybe she sees Melvyn Douglas.

Bette Davis takes a rap for love in "Kid Galahad" co-starring Edward G. Robinson.

ANOTHER DU PONT TO WED. Mr. and Mrs. Lamont du Pont of Wilmington, Del., announced the engagement of their daughter, Alexandrine (above) to Howard Alfred Perkins, Jr. She is a cousin of Ethel du Pont, fiancée of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. The wedding is expected to take place late this summer.

TWOSOME. Chroniclers of the match have called it the 1937 version of Romeo and Juliet, but in this romance love does not consider family political differences so seriously . . . no lattice and a balcony, just some golf clubs and a links.

GAME LADY. Africa-bound with a group of 14 men to make more motion pictures of jungle life, Mrs. Martin Johnson, widow of the noted explorer, waved farewell to the U. S. as her ship sailed from New York.

WAR ON BROADWAY. Here's Madrid's "Broadway cafe," homelike night spot for American tourists in peacetime, but now a place where whoopee, if any, must be pursued quietly behind a grim exterior of sandbags. Bursting bombs from insurgent planes have damaged the building extensively.

KING ON VACATION. The sport of kings takes a new slant here. Young King Peter of Yugoslavia vacationed with a wheelbarrow at Lake Bled during his royal holidays near the Castle of Suvobor. Lots of commoners probably would prefer working.

THE FALL OF A CITY. A solitary man gropes through smoke and wreckage; a house blazes like a white-hot inferno; buildings crumble. This is a scene of the fall of Bilbao, Basque capital in Spain, as insurgent troops were entering the city in the wake of heavy shell-fire and bombings.
