AMELIA EARHART STILL MISSING

Forces Marshaled On Court Bill

BATTLE OPENS NEXT TUESDAY

Leaders On Both Sides Request Senators' Presence

Washington, July 3.—(AP)—Leaders on both sides of the Senate court fight asked all senators today to be present for the opening of the big battle Tuesday.

The line-up on the substitute measures, offered by administration leaders yesterday, was so close that chieftains of both friends and foes wanted to be ready for any surprise move.

Although no test votes were expected during the first few days of debate, the situation was the tensest since the democrats obtained their overwhelming senate majority in 1933.

Supporters of the administration substitute said they had 54 sure votes. Opposition leaders said there were at least 43 votes against it and challenged the claim of the other side.

Even with 54 votes, the administration would have only a margin of five over a majority. It would have to keep its entire strength within reach at all times to prevent upset by a surprise maneuver.

Neither side was certain of its strength on all the possible parliamentary moves.

As was the case with the original measure, the fate of the new proposal rests largely with a big group of publicly uncommitted senators.

AXE FALLS ON CHIEFS OF CIO

Gus Hall and Two Other Leaders First To Feel Purge

Youngstown, Ohio, July 3.—(AP)—A C. I. O. "purge" began today as the union's axe fell on Gus Hall and two other strike chieftains in the Mahoning Valley steel sector.

John Owens, general C. I. O. strike director in Ohio, announced without comment the removal of Hall, now in jail under charges of heading a dynamite ring as strike captain in the Warren area. A joint leadership of Harry Wines and John Graeber replaced them.

Owens also stripped two of his Youngstown strike lieutenants of their authority, removing Bob Burke, chief organizer at the Republic Steel plant, and John Stevenson, organizer at the main plant at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company.

Communist participation in the strike was claimed in circulars distributed through the valley today.

Weather For The Week

Scattered thundershowers first half of week and again toward end of week. Somewhat warmer at beginning of week. Temperature near normal thereafter.

SPRIT OF '37.

The glorious Fourth, day of parades, picnics and pandemonium, marks the passing of the one-hundred-sixty-first year since the Declaration of Independence. Here, Jean Chaburn, attractive young lady of the films, symbolizes the holiday in a patriotic setting, attired in a costume of fireworks.

SIGNAL CALLS ARE IDENTIFIED

Feverish Sea and Sky Hunt Waged For Famous Flier

Honolulu, July 3.—(AP)—Distress signals signed with the call letters of Amelia Earhart's monoplane flashed over the Pacific today in the midst of a feverish sea and sky hunt for the famed aviatrix, missing in equatorial waters surrounding tiny Howland Island.

Radio operators in Los Angeles heard repeated calls of "SOS—KHAQQ" shortly before 1:30 a. m. Pacific time (4:30 a. m. EST). This was more than 14 hours after the flier said her gas supply would last but 30 minutes on her flight from distant New Guinea.

The amateurs, Walter McMenamy and Carl Pierson, said the signals were so weak they could hear them through dense static and once they caught the letters "lat" for latitude, the signals were blotted out by interference.

"KHAQQ" is the call for Miss Earhart's plane, last heard from the air yesterday at 2:12 p. m. est., when she reported she and her navigator, Fred Noonan, could not sight land and were nearly out of gas.

Another message signed with the plane's call letters and seeking radio contact was picked up in the South Seas earlier.

Reports that the voyage of tousel-haired famous flier had been picked up calling "SOS" from the mystery spot where she is lost in mid-Pacific buoyed hopes for her ultimate rescue as the U. S. navy ordered a battleship to the search.

AT ODDS OVER TENANTS' AID

Senate and House Disagree on Means Providing Help

Washington, July 3.—(AP)—The House and Senate were at odds today over the best method of helping tenants and share croppers to farm owners.

The Senate approved yesterday the Bankhead bill authorizing the Agriculture department to purchase improve and re-sell farms. It requires tenants to serve five year probationary periods as lessees under supervision.

The House earlier in the week rejected that method for one authorizing the extension of liberal loans for farm purchases.

Leaders of both houses expressed the hope a compromise program would be worked out by a joint.

No Monday Paper To Be Published

No edition of The Reflector will be published Monday, the management having joined other business houses in the city in declaring the day a holiday in observance of Independence Day, which falls on Sunday this year.

Formal announcement was made by T. T. Hollingsworth, postmaster, today that the post office would observe Monday.

FORD REFUTES UNION CHARGE

Insists Labor Relations Board Without Authority

Detroit, July 3.—(AP)—The Ford motor company, in a formal answer to charges of the National Labor Relations board it had violated the Wagner act, challenged the board's authority today. The complaint, the company said, should be dismissed "because the NLRB has no authority to regulate relations between employer and employee engaged in local production."

The answer, signed by Harry Bennett, personal director of the Ford company, denied all allegations contained in the complaint issued by the board last Saturday, following charges by the United Automobile Workers Union. A hearing before a trial examiner is scheduled next Tuesday.

LINES FORMED IN WAR CRISIS

Britain, France And Russia Virtual Allies In Dispute

London, July 3.—(AP)—Britain, France and Russia, virtually standing as allies against Italy and Germany in the Spanish war crisis, sought further support today among the 27 nations represented in the neutrality system.

Firm in their rejection of Italo-German counter proposals to the Anglo-French naval patrol, scheme, envoys of the three powers hoped to line up other nations behind them in preparation for a show-down next week.

In cold rebuff to a plan that French and British war ships extend their zones to fill the patrol gap on the Spanish government coast left by withdrawal of Italian and German warships last week, the Rome and Berlin representatives demanded the whole naval patrol be abandoned and belligerent's rights granted to both government and insurgent forces in Spain.

Mrs. Stafford Entertains

Ayden, July 2.—Mrs. Hal Stafford (Miss Adelaide Turnage) entertained at seven tables of bridge at the Community building Thursday evening, honoring her cousin, Mrs. Ralph Smith (Miss Mary Alice Laws) of Kinston, a recent bride. The place for the bride was marked with a miniature bride. The ladies' lounge was beautifully decorated with the various colored summer flowers. In the main hall the color note of green and white was predominant in flower and table arrangement. During the game fruit punch was served.

High score prize, a hand-colored placque, was won by Mrs. J. L. Jenkins. Second high, a china sugar and creamer, went to Mrs. James Everett. Mrs. Cicero Norman, of Plymouth, was given linen handkerchiefs. The honoree was presented a beautiful gift.

After the bridge game, bingo was played in order to win the slam prize, which had not been won. Miss Clyde Stokes was the winner of this gift, which was novelty soap.

After the game the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Lucy Crowell and Mrs. Russell Britt, served an ice course with hand decorated cakes and minis in the bridal colors.

Those enjoying this occasion were Mrs. Ralph Smith, Kinston; Mrs. Cicero Norman, Plymouth; Mesdames Eugene Smith, Jack Quinerly, James Everett, Keith Brunson, J. E. Burgess, J. C. Andrews, W. W. Riddick, Misses Lena Dawson, Virginia Belle Cooper, Valie Sumrell, Clyde Stokes, Ruby Garris, Virginia Turnage, Onnie Prescott, Estelle McClees.

Eagles-Holland

Tarboro, July 1.—The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Holland of Greenville and Connor Eagles of Crisp was solemnized Wednesday afternoon at five-thirty in Calvary Episcopal church. Rev. Frank Pulley, of Wadesboro, performed the ceremony. The church was decorated with white gladioli and cathedral candles. The wedding music was played by Miss Emily Hart, organist. Miss Mary Howerton Burnette was her maid of honor and only attendant. Her dress was of navy silk net over a printed taffeta slip. Her hat was a navy trimmed burnt straw with navy accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of garden flowers. The bride was escorted by her brother-in-law, Mack Hux, of Greenville, by whom she was given in marriage. She wore a navy starched chiffon, fashioned princess style and a large picture hat of navy felt. Her flowers were a bouquet of bride's roses and swansonia. Randolph Eagles of Crisp, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The ushers were Russell Clark and Ashley May, of Rocky Mount.

Mrs. Eagles is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Holland of Pitt county. She is a graduate of East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville. Mr. Eagles is the son of Mrs. Rosa Eagles of Crisp and the late L. D. Eagles. He is a graduate of State College, Raleigh. They will make their home in Franklinton.

Immediately following the ceremony Miss Mary Howerton Burnette entertained the wedding party and out-of-town guests at a buffet supper at her home on St. Andrews street. There were seventy guests present.

On Monday afternoon the Farmville No. 1 club met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Forbes. After a short business session the group went to the home of Mrs. J. I. Morgan in Farmville where they met the Farmville Garden club and continued with them in a club tour. The homes of A. C. Monk, E. F. Gaynor, T. E. Joyner, G. E. Moore, Lynn Eason, J. M. Hobgood, Miss Annie Lang and Miss Tabitha DeVisconti were visited.

Bethel 4-H Canning

The Bethel 4-H girls canned squash and made cucumber pickles Tuesday morning in the H. E. laboratory. Maggie Ford has written a good 4-H play which will be given before other 4-H groups in the near future.

Local History School

Miss Sallie Joyner Davis, history instructor at East Carolina Teachers College, gave a most interesting discussion on the settlement of North Carolina and Pitt County on Tuesday afternoon. The following leaders were present and will give the material to their clubs in August: Misses Georgia Taylor, Janie Reid Phillips, Rillie Taylor, Merle Reade Moore, and Mrs. George Taylor of St. John; Miss Dora Cox of Winterville; Mrs. L. R. Bell and Mrs. J. I. Tugwell and Mrs. J. H. Bynum of Farmville No. 2; Mrs. E. H. Boyd, Miss Helen Brooks, of Red Banks; Mrs. E. E. Moore and Miss Ruth Gardner of Timothy; Mrs. Heber Cox of Pierce; Mrs. A. C. Carraway of Farmville No. 1; Mrs. John Carroll and Miss Annie Carroll of Chocod.

Farmville No. 2

The Farmville No. 2 club met on Thursday afternoon in the Norton club house near Mrs. W. R. Hinson's with Mrs. Hinson as hostess. Twenty were present for the meeting. Reports were given of their tour in June. They visited the homes of Mrs. George Dew, Mrs. J. B. Moore, Mrs. R. Taylor, Mrs. High and Mrs. Jim Pearson, all of Wilson, and the members of both the Home Demonstration club and the Wilson Garden club. Mrs. R. F. Tugwell, and Mrs. W. G. Baker planned and conducted the tour. It was held while the agent was in camp with the 4-H boys and girls. Reports on "Outdoor Living Rooms" were given by Mrs. W. G. Tugwell and Mrs. J. H. Bynum.

Littlefield N. D. Club

Sixteen women were present for the meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Penny Hart. Recent tours were discussed by the home agent. This club will make its tour in the near future.

Club Tours

During June forty-one homes other than Penderlee have been visited by Home Demonstration club women. A few of these homes have been visited by more than one club. Many interesting features have been observed. Everyone had pretty grass which is the first essential. There were outdoor living rooms, beautiful trees, pools, playgrounds, bird baths, bird houses, arbors, as well as flowers and well laid out grounds.

Flower Shows

Reports show there were 407 who attended the thirteen flower shows and 655 arrangements were exhibited. Eighteen women helped with the judging.

Thursday, 3:00 P. M.—Stokes H. D. Club with Mrs. J. L. Perkins.

Moore Makes County Inspection Of Cafes

Attention was called today to the fact that cafe inspections and other duties of the county health sanitary department are carried on by J. H. Moore, inspector.

An article in yesterday's paper left this impression all cafe inspections in the county were made by J. P. Stowe, while as a matter of fact Mr. Stowe is the city sanitary inspector and his activities are confined to Greenville, while Mr. Moore has charge of the work elsewhere in the county.

Air-Cooled Millinery

New York (AP) — Open work hats this year will display intricate patterns. Not content with mere slips in the crown fabric, designers are busy cutting diamonds, circles, and squares to allow smart coiffures to peek through. Linen and pique are still popular hat materials.

Beachwear in Black

New York (AP) — A five-piece ensemble for summer beachwear is recommended for surf devotees. In the ensemble are a full-length fitted coat, a jacket, a halter, slacks and shorts. One New York store suggests black silk linen as the fabric, since it is especially effective on glaring sands.

Chinese Swig Horse Milk

Shanghai, China (AP) — Vodka, sake, Chinese shaoshing and champagne are all familiar to Shanghai's cosmopolitan drinkers, but even "Old China Hands" generally are unaware that horse's milk may be obtained cafeteria style on downtown streets.

Instead of delivery in bottles, as in the case of cow's milk, the horse and her master patrol the streets about ten hours a day. Horse milk is a little cheaper than cow or goat milk and is popular with the reasonably well-to-do Chinese and with some Russian refugees.

War Doesn't Worry Stork

Bilbao (AP) — The roar of guns in Spain's civil war didn't bother a stork in the small town of Orduna. It perched indifferently in its nest atop a church tower.

Arrested At ABC Store, Negro Believed It Home

Charlie Hawkins, who declared in City police court this morning he thought he was at his own home and not at a local ABC store door where he was found by policemen in the early morning hours, has 30 days to get his bearings.

Charlie did not appear to be out at all by his situation and insisted that he believed he was at his own home and could not get in the front door, when asked if he was trying to break in the liquor store or was just waiting for it to open to get another drink.

At any rate, he was convicted of public drunkenness and was sentenced to a 30-day term on the roads.

Other cases tried this morning follow:
 Snowd Connie, Negro, assault with a deadly weapon, bound over to County court under bond of $500.
 Jesse Brown, Negro, public drunkenness, taxed with the costs of court.
 John Butts, white man, public drunkenness, ordered to pay costs.
 John Kelly, Negro, public drunkenness, taxed with costs.

ORDER SOUGHT BY N. C. PLANT

Mansfield Cotton Mills Allege Illegal Picketing

Fayetteville, July 3.—(AP)—In a surprise move the Mansfield Cotton mill and law enforcement officials sought a petition for an injunction here today before Superior Court Judge N. A. Sinclair against Myles Horton, TWOC organizer and his committee for what was termed illegal picketing at the mill company's east Lumberton plant.

The hearing today had been called to hear a petition for injunction by the TWOC to restrain the mill and police from providing barriers for workers at the entrances of the company's plant.

Judge Sinclair recessed court until 2 p. m. as members of the TWOC gathered affidavits seeking to rebut the contention.

Affidavits flew thick and fast before the introduction of the second injunction petition.

At the opening of the hearing counsel for the TWOC, a C. I. O. affiliate, which filed the petition, said the committee wished to introduce 200 witnesses to support its claim.

Judge Sinclair said he would hear affidavits only.

Only one had been introduced by the petitioner at the luncheon recess. This alleged that the officers forming lines at the entrance of the plant, through which the workers walked interfered with peaceful picketing.

Bombay (AP) — Workmen sinking a well at Bhivandi near here came upon a substance believed to be rock oil. Tests were made on the spot and more exhaustive ones are contemplated. No oil-bearing deposits of any magnitude have been discovered in India.

Sheriff Discounts One Person Killed Parsons Reports In Auto Accident

Dunn, July 3.—(AP)—Sheriff W. E. Salmon discounted today a report of J. E. Lee, Jr., Dunn nurseryman that he had seen Mrs. Alice McDonnell Parson, missing woman here a few days ago.

Sheriff Salmon expressed the opinion Lee had merely seen someone who resembled Mrs. Parsons. Lee however, said he was "positive" he had seen Mrs. Parsons and said he recognized her by pictures sent out by the Department of Justice.

The nurseryman said he saw Mrs. Parsons, who disappeared from her Long Island home June 9, walking down a street here. He said she was alone.

Matthews as prison supervisor for the sixth district.

The chairman said the filling of this office completed the personnel of all the highway districts. All other appointments were announced earlier this week.

Matthews has been superintendent of the Lillington prison camp.

Lillington, July 3.—(AP)—An automobile accident near here early today brought death to one man and injuries to several others as a car apparently failed to make a curve on the Fayetteville highway.

A deputy said James O'Connell, identified by a funeral home as a Savannah, Ga., painter, 35 or 40 years old, was killed. The deputy said evidence indicated they were riding "pretty fast" and a "tire blew out as they rounded a curve."

J. E. Sloan and J. C. Barn, both of Savannah and Fred Call of Washington, D. C., were taken to a Fayetteville hospital. The funeral home employees said a fourth occupant escaped injury.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York — There is a pharmacist on Lexington avenue whose daily chores provide one of New York's most fascinating entertainments. A glassed-in circle has been cut through his wall, and behind the pane is a display of drugs that leaves anyone who doesn't understand chemistry confused and confused and confounded.

All day the pharmacist prowls amongst his tinctures and elixirs, his aquas and acids.

Being in a nosey mood, I stuck my head through the door: "What's in that blue bottle?"

"There is no blue bottle," he answered. "The bottle is just like ordinary glass—it's the water that's blue. It's an aqua used for flavoring."

"And those things—there?"

"They're pharmakons — drugs.
In this row are poisons and their antidotes. Here is a drachm of bromide. Don't touch that bottle of sulphuric acid. You might get a burn."

His name was Sam.
There was a gathering, as usual, staring at Sam and his hundreds of blue and yellow and red, black, green, purple, and rose-colored bottles.

"Don't you ever make a mistake?
I mean, get the wrong ingredients in some of these concoctions?"
"No," said Sam, "when you make mistakes in this business people die.
We can't afford to have such things happen."

It was hot. Twenty feet away was a fountain.

"Let's have a soda," he suggested, laying down whatever that greenish stuff was.

We ambled up to the fountain.
"You go ahead and have one. I'm not thirsty."

Sam looked up suspiciously. "I know what's on your mind. Didn't I tell you we didn't make mistakes around here?"

"Well, if you're sure there won't be any H-2-S-O-4 in it, I'll have one. Make it strawberry."

No mistake was made.

Afterward I strolled outside and joined the mob watching the rows of little coral, pigeon - blood, lavender, jade, bay, and russet bottles.
There was Sam, serving as an entertainer, compounding medicines, tossing acids around and blending his sulphurs and phosphates.

It's something to see.

Waterfront: An ominous, long, snaky craft is nudged into a 47th street pier. A white cylinder of bored steel thrusts its nose out, forward. . . She's a French gunboat, and she's been in dock for two weeks. . . That white cylinder is a long-range gun. . . It could bore holes through every brick wall in Manhattan. . . Passing drivers pause to scrutinize the strange craft. . .
Pedestrians make like unhappy for the cops, ganging up to have a peek. . . Everybody seems excited except the French, themselves. . .

How's Your Health?

Edited for the New York Academy of Medicine

By Dr. Iago Goldstein

Science probably knows more about the anatomy, physiology, heredity and pathology of the white rat than of any other living creature, including man. This high-bred rodent stands pre-eminent among the animals which have served man in the study and conquest of disease.

Lately the white rat has rendered notable service in the nutrition laboratory. This standard laboratory "tool" grows 30 times as fast as man, and resembles him closely in nutritional needs.

By experimenting with "brother white rat," we may learn in the short space of a few years those facts which, if drawn from human experience, would require scores of years to gather. The white rat has taught us much of what we know concerning vitamins and mineral salts. It has served us in demonstrating the effects of diet on growth, fertility, freedom from disease,
and longevity.

Because we have been able by dietetic means to improve the white rat in each of the above named respects, the conviction has been forced upon us that "we must not regard any race or nation's physical status as fixed, until we have found out whether better nutrition will alter it."

While experience has taught us to be cautious in applying the results of animal experimentation directly to human beings, there is enough of a common factor in the physiology of living matter to render certain conclusions applicable to all its accidental forms. Protoplasm (the fundamental form of living matter) is essentially alike in "mice and men."

We can take white rat litter mates and, by altering their diet while keeping them in identical environments, cause one to grow well and the other to be stunted, render one fertile and the other sterile, keep one free from disease and cause the other to be highly susceptible, maintain one to a ripe old age while the other dies, prematurely. When we can do all these things, not once but many times over, we have more than adequate proof of the relation of diet to well-being.
Furthermore, these very experiments, in modified ways, have been tried and proved on other animals and on human beings.

The destiny of rats and men, at least as far as growth and health are concerned, is evidently largely dependent upon what they eat.

ETIQUETTE

The perfect guest has two virtues — consideration and enthusiasm.

Consideration for the wishes of her hostess and the rest of the guests.

Enthusiasm for whatever entertainment the hostess provides or other guests suggest.

There never is a dull moment in the household in which she is a visitor.

That doesn't mean she is under the heels of her hostess all of the time. It simply implies that she fits into the general scheme as if she were a member of the menage.

She senses the mood of the family.

When conditions begin to look a little cramped she excuses herself long enough for them to iron out.
When the other guests' spirits begin to sag she jumps to the hostess' rescue with suggested entertainment. (She doesn't have to bob up and down every five minutes with a bright idea. She just knows when and how to suggest a game of cards or a swim.)

She manages to keep her own belongings segregated — so they don't clutter up the household or get hopelessly entangled with the host's possessions. (That saves embarrassment later — when the family is sure the largest tube of tooth paste was in the medicine cabinet before her arrival and the second daughter is positive the sun tan oil was hers.)

If there are dishes to do, beds to make and dusting to finish — and no maid to take care of those homely duties — she keeps her own room in perfect order and quietly insists on helping out with a reasonable portion of the family chores.

She's not one of those people, however, who jumps up after every course of every meal to demand the privilege of transporting the empty dishes to the kitchen — and then fidgets about while the hostess nervously assembles the strawberry shortcake.

The perfect guest never outstays her welcome. She finds out diplomatically just how long she is supposed to stay — and then stays just that length of time. (The hostess who is thoroughly onto herself will set a time limit by suggesting that her guests arrive on the 5:15 train Friday afternoon and plan to stay through supper Sunday evening. If one or two of the guests have to leave before Sunday supper they should be careful to tell her so — before it's time to set the table.)

After she has left, no matter how dull a time the perfect guest may have had, she is prompt to write a bread-and-butter letter thanking her hostess with as much enthusiasm as she can muster.

The more quickly she answers,
the shorter her note may be.

Blouses Follow Tailored Suits In Jump To Summer Popularity

By ADELAIDE KERR

NEW YORK (AP)—Blouses are more important and varied than they have been in ten years.

Both Paris and America have launched a number of delectable designs and the result is a blouse for every occasion. The reason is the popularity of the tailored suit. Something White For U. S.

The American blouse favorite is white, sheer and a bit frilly. Organdies, plain or shadow printed, and sheer, washable, rayon or silk crepes are used. They are finished with a touch to give them feminine softness. A jabot edged with Valenciennes lace, a double ruffle cascading down the front or one edging a round neckline do the trick.

There also are designs of sheer dark fabric such as navy blue organdy spotted with white dots. Most necklines hover at the collar byes. Virtually all sleeves are short.

Sport blouses are as smart as fabric and designers can make them. Paris' favorites is a sleek shirwaist of polka-dotted surah silk—brown or yellow for instance. New York is making them of soft necktie silk or colored linen on the same trimly collared lines. Some of the casual crash and linen shirts have trimly finished tails, so that they can be worn (belted) outside the skirt if desired.

Cape-Sleeved Blouses

Waistcoat blouses and double breasted jacket-blouses of tie tuck and linen worn with bright Ascot scarfs, are good for both country and town.

Ready to dress up and go places are designs of colorful satin, net and voile. A few smart women are wearing cape-sleeved blouses of sheer black marquisette with their dinner suits.

Sunday morning, but the entire time will be used for the Communion Service.

The Third Quarterly Conference of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church will be held at the church Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. All officials are requested to be present.

REPORTS MADE BY DELEGATES

Kiwanis Meeting Is Turned Over To Representatives

The regular bi-weekly Kiwanis meeting, held last night in the Woman's club building, was turned over to President Berry Bostic and Vice President D. H. Conley to report on the recent annual meeting of Kiwanis International.

The convention was held in Indianapolis, Ind., and the president and vice president were delegates from this club.

Special spring music was provided by Ben Gardner, Jr., and Sidney Holland.

Other guests were Roy T. Cox, H. B. Mayo and Bancroft Moseley. H. A. McDougale led the club singing and Mrs. R. A. Tyson, club pianist, provided the music.

H. H. Duncan called attention to the Booster meeting to be held at Respass barbecue lodge July 19 and made a report on what had been accomplished toward arousing interest in the affair.

President Bostic confined much of his report to the actual trip, while Vice President Conley reported more on the convention sessions.

F. Trafford Taylor, of St. Boniface, Manitoba, Canadian lawyer is the 1937-38 president of Kiwanis International.

He was first elected to the international board of trustees in June 1934 and at the Washington, D. C. convention in 1936 was elected to the office of vice president. He is a charter member of the St. Boniface club and was its first president in 1924.

Mr. Taylor became a lieutenant governor of the Western Canada district in 1930-31 and was elected district governor for the year 1933 for this district.

He has practiced law in the cities of St. Boniface and Winnipeg since 1914. In 1934 he was appointed His Majesty's King's counsel. He is a graduate of Toronto University and the University of Manitoba.

Other officials elected are: C. Harold Hipper, of Eastis, Fla., and George E. Snell, of Billings, Mont., vice presidents. H. G. Hatfield, of Oklahoma City, Okla., was chosen as treasurer to succeed himself. He has held the position for the past number of years. A. Copeland Callen, of Urbana, Ill., is immediate past president.

Navy Sends Out Call For More Recruits

The quota for July, 1937, has been received at the local Navy Recruiting Office at New Bern. The quota for this month is six Apprentice Seaman and One Mess Attendant. The men to fill this quota will report to the Recruiting Station on July 21, 1937, for enlistment.

This quota will greatly reduce the waiting list and the Recruiting Officer desires more men for the next month. The Recruiting Station will be open daily but for July 8-9-10 when the Recruiter will renew signs at Belhaven, Greenville, Kinston, Jacksonville, Morehead City, and Post Offices on these routes. The office is also closed on Holidays and Sundays.

NAZIS WARNED TO SEEK OUT FOES

Frankfurt - am - Main, Germany (AP)—The threat of "state enemy" hangs over all who fail to report any notice of the slightest possible trend toward "subversive or disruptive spirit" in Nazi Germany, Jakob Spengler of Frankfurt warned at a meeting here.

Admitting that it would take years, if not decades, to cement pure Nazi thinking and philosophy in the minds of every German, he said that negligence of the "watch work" was comparable with failure to do one's duty at one's job.

FLAME TRAIL

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD

SYNOPSIS: When Kay Cranston's Lazy Nine ranch house and barn burn, Josh Hastings, owner of the Flying Six, tries to buy her ranch and talks of marriage. But Kay hates him and is determined to keep her ranch and rebuild. It's a jolt that the insurance money has to go to the mortgage. Ted Gaynor, a puncher Kay hired impulsively, stirs the outfit to cut its own timber and rebuild without pay. Riding to buy the only available timber land, Kay is lassoed by Scrap Johnson, a Flying Six puncher. Ted gets the option for Kay and rescues her from Scrap's unwanted, brutal attentions.

Chapter 16

An Unexpected Visitor

KAY let out a long quivering breath, as Ted stood panting for a moment. Then he walked over to her and took back the gun from her trembling hand.

"It'll be some time before he comes to," in spite of his effort to steady it, his voice showed the effect of the emotional and physical ordeal he had just been through. The sooner we get off, the better. Unless I miss my guess, he'll vanoose from this range without too much boasting about this afternoon's doings."

He slipped the gun in his holster, and stepped over to Scrap Johnson's horse, that had been patiently waiting at some distance from the fray, his reins over his neck. Picking up the reins, Ted hung them over the pommel of the saddle. Then he gave the horse a sharp low on the flank, sending him off across the mesa.

"That bird can walk. It will do him good and work out his stiffness," he observed grimly, glancing at the unconscious figure on the ground as he came back to Kay. "How about our getting under way?"

"Ted, wait!" Kay's eyes were enormous with the force of an idea that she was struggling with. "That man has the option on our timberland, right there in his pocket!"

Ted stared at her in bewilderment. Was her mind giving under the strain?

"No, he hasn't, Kay," he soothed, as he led his horse over to her. "I'll tell you about that on the way home."

"But he has!" Kay declared passionately, gazing with fascinated horror at the inert figure stretched on the mesa. "He got it by trickery, and if you won't take it away from him, I'm going to!"

"Wait a minute!" Ted seized both her hands in one of his, as he fumbled with the other for a paper in his pocket. "No need for you to rifle his pockets," he added, flourishing it triumphantly before her.

With amazement, Kay ran her eyes over the memorandum of Ted's transaction with Old Man Warren with the prospector's name signed at the bottom.

"Ted! You mean you beat him to it?" Her eyes sparkled with excitement, and the color flooded her cheeks at this further evidence of Ted's thought for her.

Silent Communion

IN a few words, he told her about Seth and the boys chipping in to raise enough to bind the purchase, and about his visit to Old Man Warren.

"I don't know anything about beating this guy to it," he added, easting his eyes on her happy excitement as she folded the precious paper and put it in her pocket. "You'll have to tell me that part of it. Come on!"

A swift, strong vibration ran through him at the thought of holding Kay in his arms as they rode back to the ranch.

Mounting, he reached down his hand and she sprang lightly up before him, her own heightened color attesting to the fact that his emotion had communicated itself to her.

For a long time they rode in silence across the mesa that was beginning to take on the intenser colors and lengthened shadows of late afternoon.

Kay leaned confidently against Ted, and his arm involuntarily tightened around her. Somehow there seemed to be no need for words, and sweet as the gay companionship of the morning's ride had been, this silent communion meant infinitely more.

The sunset colors were flooding the sky as they neared the ranch house gate.

Abruptly Ted reined in. "I'd like to say goodby to you here. I must be on my way."

He hardly recognized his low husky voice. A wild longing to kiss Kay before he released her swept over him, but even as he struggled with it, Kay slipped from his arm, and sprang lightly to the ground.

"When will you be back?" Kay's voice was as low and vibrant with suppressed feeling as his.

"Three days at the most," he answered. For a long moment he gazed at her. He started to say something, then changed his mind and picked up the reins.

"Goodby." He wheeled abruptly, and Kay watched him ride into the sunset. A strange premonition suddenly tightened her throat. Would he really be back in three days? Already, their whole tense and dramatic encounter seemed like a dream.

Turning swiftly, she walked past the charred ruins of the ranch house and down to her cabin, skirting the bunk house in a desire to be alone for a few minutes, before accounting for her absence to the boys.

Ready To Investigate

ABSORBED in her thoughts, Kay walked with her eyes absent-mindedly fixed on the browning bunch grass at her feet.

"Hullo! There you are!"

A hearty voice startled her out of her reverie, and glancing up, she saw the tall figure of a man waiting for her on the cabin steps.

Reluctantly relinquishing her desire for solitude, she hurried forward, and recognized Tom Runyon as the waiting figure.

"Say! I couldn't wait any longer to come over and tell you how bad I feel about all this!" He waved toward the ruins of the ranch house as he came down the steps to meet her. His eyes, as they rested on her brilliant coloring, and the flush still in her cheeks from the ride with Ted, expressed the same admiration they had on the ridge.

"I had to stick around up yonder until I was relieved," he explained, "or I'd have been over sooner."

"That's very good of you." Kay slipped her hand out of his grasp. "I certainly didn't think, when I talked to you last, that I'd find my own house burnt down!"

"I kind of thought I might be some help," Tom Runyon boomed pompously. "I've been talking with that foreman of yours up at the bunk house, and it looks mighty peculiar to me how this fire started."

Kay shot him a startled look. "You mean you think—"

"I'm not thinking anything," he hastened to say, with a cautious lowering of his voice. "I'm only saying that this and any other fire will bear investigating."

FEDERAL FUND ASSURES PLAN

Boys and Girls In Schools Be Taught To Work

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, July 3.—More boys and girls in the North Carolina public schools will be taught how to work with their hands as well as with the heads as a result of the passage by the U. S. Senate this week or the George - Deen Act which sets up a Federal appropriation of $14,483,000 to be used to help the various states enlarge their vocational education programs, it was announced today by state Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde A. Erwin and Director T. E. Browne of the division of Vocational Education.

This appropriation had previously been approved by the house of representatives, but had been reduced to about $4,500,000 by a senate committee. The senate, however, restored the appropriation to the original figure and passed the bill. Supt. Erwin was advised this week in a telegram from Senator Robert R. Reynolds.

The bill was attached as a rider to the Department of the Interior appropriations bill and is now in conference, for the adjustment of minor difference in the main bill. Its approval by President Roosevelt is regarded as certain when the conference committee completes its deliberations. It should become law within the next week or ten days.

As a result of the enactment of this bill containing the original appropriation of $14,483,000, North Carolina will get approximately $400,000 a year more than it has been getting from Federal funds with which to provide more vocational education in North Carolina.

Director Browne said. The state is already getting about $350,000 a year in Federal funds for this purpose. So when the new appropriation becomes available, approximately $750,000 a year in Federal funds will be provided. The $350,000 a year must be matched dollar for dollar with state and county funds while the $400,000 a year must be matched 50 cents to the dollar with state or local funds, so that in all, the state will have approximately $1,300,000 available for its new funds.

UP IN SMOKE. Zooming skyward, these planes in a Royal Air Force display at Duxford Station, England, made an impressive sight as they spewed a heavy smoke screen during the sharp climb. The King was present to review the air force.

"The outlook for more and better vocational education in North Carolina is brighter than ever before as a result of the enactment of this bill by Congress," Superintendent Erwin said today. "For with approximately $1,300,000 available for vocational education this coming year as compared with only about $700,000 a year in the past, we can really start going places in teaching agriculture, home economics, mechanics and other subjects which will better prepare boys and girls to make a living if they are not able to go on to college. If the senate had not restored the original appropriation to $14,483,000, our program here would have been badly crippled and we would have been forced to retrench instead of expand. So there was much rejoicing here in the department of public instruction, especially in Mr. Browne's department, when we received the telegram from Senator Reynolds saying that the original figures had been restored and the bill passed."

Williamston, July 3.—Larry Wade, Martin righthander, let Greenville's Greenies down with only three hits here yesterday in registering a 1-0 victory for Williamston.

Wade was complete master of the Greenies as he won over John Delaney in a red-hot pitching debate. Delaney yielded eight hits, and two of these—singles by Stanley and Deim—were sandwiched around a walk to produce the game's only tally. The run came in the eighth. The Greenies had threatened to score in their half of the same inning, but the threat was nipped in the bud when Steve Kenosh, attempting to tally on Melchor's double, was thrown out at the plate on Bruce McCay's fine peg.

Wade pitched perfect ball until he had disposed of 20 batters. Manager Bo Farley tripled with two out in the seventh to break the spell, and was left stranded.

The Martins loaded the bases in the sixth—on hits by McCay and Stevens, plus a walk to Deim—but Delaney pulled out of that difficulty.

McCay with three for three lead the Martins with the willow. He hit a double and two singles. Stanley with two for four was runner-up for the Martins.

Farley with two for three was the leader for the Greenies. Melchor's double was the only other hit the Greenies made yesterday.

Greenville plays the Ayden Aces this afternoon at Third Street Stadium to open a four-game series. Ayden and Greenville will play two games on the fifth, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. The box score:

ROARING ROMAN

-By PAP-

SPORT SLANTS

by PAP

Tazio Nuvolari is variously known as Madman of Modena, Man of Iron and the Man Who Has a Contract with the Devil. Any of the nicknames seems to fit Italy's tiny sport idol.

When he drove his big red Alfa Romeo, No. 8, across the finish line first in the George Vanderbilt cup race last October, he won the hearts of his countrymen transplanted in the U. S. At an Italian-American banquet last fall he tied Joe DiMaggio, the New York Yankees' sensational outfielder, for first honors in voting for the most popular Italian athlete.

A frail man of 43, Nuvolari started his career of speed as a motorcycle rider. His father and uncle were famed bike racers in Italy around the turn of the century. Incredible stories, but authentic, of his harrowing experiences in wrecks, his innumerable confinements in hospitals, and his scorn for personal injury have captured the Italian imagination and made him a national legend.

Once Nuvolari cracked up in the Turin, Italy, road race and was carried to the hospital room that seemed like home because of his frequent stays there. He was thought to have a fractured skull. He actually had displaced a few vertebrae. An inquiring reporter asked if he hoped to drive in the Tripoli Grand Prix race a week from then.

Nuvolari turned his back and said, scornfully, "Have you by any chance heard that Nuvolari is dead?"

Only Nuvolari and his Alfa Romeo factory would know how many road races he has won in the last 20 years, or, for that matter, how many different hospitals he has recuperated in.

Another story goes back to his motorcycle racing days. After an accident in which he was pitched into a barbed-wire fence, Nuvolari was sent to the hospital, escaped without leave and drove in a race two days later, swathed in bandages and strapped to his motorcycle.

He never buys a return trip ticket when he goes to drive in a road race. "You never can tell what will happen."

Goldsboro Noses New Bern Out, 5 To 4

Goldsboro, battering Ed Ball's double of Owen Elliott's single in the eighth, snatched Balla to score from second with the run which gave Goldsboro a 5-4 victory over New Bern yesterday.

It was the 11th pitching triumph of Elliott, who has dropped two decisions.

Elliott had a 4-1 lead until the visitors rallied in the seventh for five tallies and deadlocked the score. Elliott walked Mullinax to start the inning. Sheppard was safe on Maisano's error. McAbee's single scored Mullinax and put Sheppard on third. Hamons grounded out, Maisano to Ignasiak, but Ignasiak's return throw to third, in an effort to catch Sheppard off the bag, went wild, and both Sheppard and McAbee scored.

An error, Mullinax's double, and McAbee's outfield fly scored one for New Bern in the fifth.

The Bugs made two runs in the first inning on Adamcik's single, a walk, Blethan's sacrifice and Maisano's single. Powell's single, a sacrifice, a passed ball, and an outfield fly brought another in the third. In the fifth, Lefty Flora issued four successive walks to present the Bugs with a run.

Hamons relieved Flora after the fifth and pitched well. He issued a walk to Balla in the eighth, and this led to the winning run. Overton sacrificed, and Elliott then singled.

Ayden Whips Snakes By Score Of 8 To 3

Ayden — Russell Gurth, Ayden's roly-poly southpaw, pitched perfect ball after the fourth inning as the locals defeated Tarboro, 8-3, yesterday. The result ended at six games the winning streak of Fred Henry's Serpents.

Lehman singled in the fourth for Tarboro's fourth and last hit of the afternoon. From then on, Gurth set the Serpents back in 1-2-3 fashion.

Monk Joyner's Aces clinched victory in a hurry. They made four tallies, exactly enough to win, in the first inning. Doubles by Joyner and Girard Corrado drove in the runs. The Aces added scores in the third, fifth and sixth.

Doug Hautz, Tarboro's starting hurler, didn't last very long. He opened by walking Schueholz and Jirak, did an about-face to fan Johnson, but yielded a single to Baker. With the bases filled, Manager Joyner cracked a double which sent in two tallies and halted Hautz's hurling activities for the afternoon. Clancy came in to relieve Hautz and managed to get Fary on an infield roller. Corrado then delivered the second two-run double of the inning.

Clancy was reached for one run in the third and two in the fifth. Transki pitched for the Serpents in the Aces' last three turns and yielded one run.

Billies In Tie for Top After Win Yesterday

Kinston — Snow Hill's Billies yesterday extended a couple of winning streaks and retained their half-interest in the Coastal Plain League lead. The Billies defeated Kinston, 4-3, to run their current winning streak to four games and to register their eighth triumph in as many games with Kinston this season.

Snow Hill isn't the only club to horse-collar the Eagles this season — Williamston also has triumphed in every start against Kinston.

Superb relief hurling by Irby Wright checked a Kinston rally in the eighth and saved the win for the Billies. The visitors matched singletons with Kinston in the first and then scored three times in the fourth. They held this 4-1 advantage as the locals came up in their eighth turn.

A single by Gillenwater set off the Kinston rally. He scored when Joe Schultz doubled. Charlie Gadd doubled to tally Schultz, and Wright came in as a relief for Amadio, who had pitched four-hit ball up to the eighth. Wright walked Patton, but Hicks hit into a double play to end the rally. The twin-killing was one of two made by the Robinson-Mewborn-Soufas combination today and was Snow Hill's fifth in the two-game series with the Eagles.

HE'S 'ALL-CONFERENCE' IN THREE SPORTS

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — Byron White, Colorado university's best athlete and a star scholar, finished the year with a clean sweep of all-star honors.

White, a hard-hitting third baseman, was named to the utility post on the all-Rocky Mountain team. He was all-conference quarterback in football last fall and an all-conference basketball guard.

RALEIGH GETS WHISKEY SOON

Capital Liquor Stores To Open When Building Found

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, July 3.—Liquor stores can be opened here just as soon as the new Wake county alcoholic beverages control board, finally appointed Friday, can secure the buildings needed, install the equipment and get them stocked with liquor, it was indicated today. Henry E. Litchford is chairman of the board. The other two members of the new board are Jesse J. Henderson of Wendell and Chauncey M. Jones of Raleigh. The chairmanship of the board is a full time job, with a salary of $3,000 a year.

While it might be possible to get one store open within a week or ten days, if the board has no difficulty in finding a building in a location regarded as suitable, the general belief is that it will probably be July 15 before a store is opened, although an effort may be made to open one store before that date.

The new board has not yet held a meeting and is not expected to call one before Tuesday, due to the fact that Monday is a holiday. Chairman Litchford was not even in the city yesterday when he was elected.

There is already considerable speculation as to how many stores will be opened and where they will be located, although the county board, together with the state board must determine the number and locations of stores. It is generally agreed that for the time being, the only stores that will be opened in time soon will be in Raleigh, almost every other town in the county voted dry. Indications are that at least liquor stores will be opened here one in the down town section, but not on Fayetteville street, and one in or near the negro section. There is some sentiment for a third store to be located in the Haverly Barton residential section, but it is trouble there is going to be to find a store location that is not too near to a school or a church. There are not be any store in the Cameron Park section near State College. The state board has already announced.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

Hollywood — Somebody ought to take Dorothy Lamour aside and tell her there's plenty of time.

She doesn't think so. That's why she works the way she does. Between radio and pictures the girl keeps busy practically all the time. She gets off the set, rushes home to dinner, and then rushes to radio rehearsal. After that it's time for bed. Work, sleep, and eat is the Lamour program. No time to play. No time to go nightclubbing. No time for prolonged relaxing, unless you count those periods between movie shots. Sounded pretty feverish to me. This life of hers as she outlined it. I asked her what was the big idea. Was she aiming for a million dollars before she was 20, or what?

who lured MacMurray from Lombard. She didn't like the part, but admits it did her good.

As if she hadn't enough to do already, she's talking about trying the stage, going into a stock company. She wants to learn how to face an audience. She's afraid of it now.

The first time she sang before an audience, in a Chicago hotel, she forgot the words and had to stall through the number. The same thing happened when she made her first appearance with Gay's orchestra. That time she started to run off the stage. Kay called her back made her keep trying until she sang through without faltering. She got applause but it didn't cure her.

Styles Repeat

It's funny, but she doesn't mind the audience on a movie set. She can stand visitors, hundreds of extras, all the workers that crowd around the sets. Because, she says, they're not an audience. They're part of the gang.

It's to be "Idol of the Crowds" instead of "Hell on Ice," hell being a naughty word now. Isabel Jewell is the smart one. Bought a tailored outfit five years ago and couldn't wear it because it was too big. Had it on the other day, and looked like a million, because it was back in style just at the time she had grown up to it. Other weighty questions involved Harriet Hilliard. She lost a pound a day for five days through wearing a 35-pound movie gown.

"No, I'm 22 already. It's just that you don't know in this business how long you'll last. Today you're here and tomorrow you're in the hospital. I want to make all I can while I can, that's all."

Thinks About Stage

She came to pictures a year ago from radio. She won a beauty contest once, down in New Orleans, but that didn't send her to Hollywood. She was singing with Herb Kay's orchestra — he's her husband, now — when her voice brought in the lent scout. Her first picture was "Jungle Princess." She stepped to the front in the seductress role of "Spring High, Swing Low," the girl
