EXPRESS HOPE FOR ADOPTING LEAF CONTROL

Congressional Proponents of Legislation Busy

LITTLE HEADWAY MADE THURSDAY

Another Meeting of Solons From Tobacco-Producing States Called For Tuesday

Washington, July 23.—(AP)—Congressional proponents of tobacco control legislation expressed hope today they could reach agreement on a workable program.

They reported little headway was made yesterday when members of congress from Kentucky, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia met to discuss a program, but expressed determination to continue.

Representative Harold Cooley of Nashville, N. C., chairman of an unofficial tobacco committee, said another meeting would be held next Tuesday.

He reported agreement that any referendum to be provided would be held prior to the planting season instead of just before the marketing season.

The tobacco group proposes to include tobacco in a general farm bill if one gets before congress. Otherwise they want a separate measure.

Technical details of proposed legislation were discussed yesterday, Cooley said.

MALARIA GAIN SHOWN IN N. C.

State Board of Health Asks to be Advised of Cases

Raleigh, July 23.—In order to properly control malaria, now a reportable disease, it is highly important that the State Board of Health know where each case occurs, said Dr. J. C. Knox, State epidemiologist.

"During the past few years there has been an increase in the incidence of malaria in North Carolina reflected in an increased number of deaths, and also shown by every other method for determining its prevalence. While the disease was not declared reportable until May 25 of this year, and the total number of cases for any previous year or series of years can, therefore, be accurately determined, yet mortality records show there were 130 deaths from malaria in North Carolina in 1936, as compared with 94 in 1935. Provisional reports for the first half of 1937 also show there is an increase in the number of deaths so far this year, as compared with the corresponding period of 1936.

"The procedure to be followed in reporting malaria is the same that is used in reporting other notifiable diseases. Each case should be reported on the regular card furnished by the local health department or obtained from the State Board of Health. Each of these, bearing full information, should be mailed to the county or city health officer, or quarantine officer who, in turn, forwards the cards to the State Board of Health.

"Considerable work has been done for the control of malaria in North Carolina, including the recent digging of 4,867,468 feet, or 922 miles, of ditches, draining 12,416 acres of malaria breeding area. Prompt reporting of every case will greatly aid in determining the incidence of malaria and show where there is greatest need for extended work looking toward control."

Little Lewis Girl Dies From Colitis

Dorothy Elizabeth Lewis, 13-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lewis of Pateolis, died early this morning from a short illness of colitis.

Funeral services were conducted from the Williams Funeral home at two o'clock this afternoon by Rev. Howard Paramore of Grimesland. Burial was in the family grave yard in Greene county.

She is survived by father, mother, four brothers, Sidney Ray, Allen Earl, Ralph McKay, David Edward, and one sister, Gladys Ruth.

'I Killed Him'

J. E. Denton, navy Oklahoma oil field worker who was kidnaped by the outlaws, Pete Traxler and Fred Tindol, demonstrates how he seized Tindol's gun and killed him near Boswell, Okla. Meanwhile, Frank Trimmer, another hostage, grabbed Traxler's pistol and wounded him seriously. Denton also fired on Traxler after killing Tindol.

DEATH CLAIMS ANNING PRALL

Federal Communications Commission Chairman Dies

Boothbay Harbor, Maine, July 23.—(AP)—Anning S. Prall, Federal Communications Commission chairman, died at his summer home here today. His physician said Prall succumbed to a heart attack.

Prall, 66, formally was a Democratic congressman from New York. He was educated in the New York public schools and later rose to the post of president of the New York City Board of Education.

He was appointed a commissioner of taxes and assessments of New York City in 1922. Then he was elected to congress and served from the 68th to the 72nd congresses from the seventh New York district.

Six Persons Dead In Highway Wreck

Priest Bridge, Maryland, July 23.—(AP)—Six persons died in a flaming automobile here early today after a truck struck their parked passenger car and turned it over. A seventh died later of his injuries.

The truck driver rescued a seven-year-old boy by pulling him through the window of the car. The others, all members of one family, were tangled in the wreckage.

Dr. J. L. Moore Now Located In Falkland

Dr. J. L. Moore, practicing physician, has located in Falkland, occupying the offices of Dr. Jenniss Morrill, retired.

Dr. Moore received his education at the University of North Carolina and graduated from the Medical college of that institution and then from the Jefferson Medical college of Philadelphia. Last year he served his internship at the Watts hospital in Durham.

Federal Electrification Body Balks In Johnston

Reflector Bureau
By J. C. BASKERVILLE

Raleigh, July 23.—Yelping like a kicked dog as a result of the decision by the Johnston County Electric Cooperative directors to reject its proffered loan and to let the Carolina Power and Light company build its rural electric lines, the Federal Rural Electrification Administration apparently has lost all interest in bringing electric service to the farmers of the state and is now intent only on fighting the power companies and if possible, in getting Governor Clyde R. Hoey on a hot spot, observers here today are convinced after reading the snarling letter written to Governor Hoey by REA administrator, J. M. Carmody and made public in Washington.

In his letter to Governor Hoey, Administrator Carmody revealed that a meeting has been called in Johnston county for Wednesday, July 28, as a protest against the action of the Johnston county cooperative in refusing the REA loan and that he would attend this meet-

SHELLS AGAIN DROPPED INTO CITY STREETS

Madrid Suffers Two Assaults Within 24-Hour Course

EIGHT KILLED BY ONE PROJECTILE

At Least 15 Persons Slain and Score Hurt as Capital City Is Thrown Into Siege

Madrid, July 23.—(AP)—Twice shelled within 24 hours and with at least 15 killed and a score hurt by the insurgent's big guns, Madrid was abruptly thrown back today to the grimness of a bitter siege.

After two weeks of comparatively calm while a tornado of offensives and counter offensives raged over the hills and plains some 15 miles to the west, Madrid was jolted into sharp realization that a besieging army was still at her gates.

After a long artillery duel last night, confined to the outskirts of the capital shells started dropping in Atocha street and Cibola square.

One projectile killed eight. Great splashes of blood were still visible this morning on the pavement near the old Ministry of War before workmen started scrubbing the sidewalks and clearing away the debris.

Spotted all over the central part of Madrid were fresh heaps of stone and bricks and holes gaped in what was solid walls the day before.

Gala Celebration For Moore County Set For Saturday

Village of Hemp to Hold Affair To Modernize Projects

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, July 23.—Hemp's history will date from July 24, 1937, announces the program of the celebration to be held in the Moore county town tomorrow, July 24.

Port Raleigh on Roanoke Island is commemorating its 350th anniversary and other cities take pride in and vie for ancient ratings. Hemp holds that life begins for it from the date of the dedication of its modernization by completed Works Progress Administration and PWA projects.

Hemp's new PWA water system is modern and complete, representing an expenditure of $210,000.

The Works Progress Administration has provided 19,925 man hours of employment to relief laborers on other municipal improvements, which include a two-story brick and concrete City Hall, sidewalks and the extension of water and sewer mains.

A full day has been scheduled for the parade of progress starting at nine in the morning. Band music and talks by Lieutenant Governor Willis P. Horton, Mayor W. P. Saunders, Stanley Wright, State Director of the Federal Administration of Public Works, John Grier, district WPA Director and Fred J. Cohn, Director of WPA Information Service, will be at eleven. Later, contestants for many prizes will chase a greased pig, climb a greasy pole, engage in a potato race, water battle and many other stunts. The prettiest girl and the ugliest man will be chosen. Those finished, the fun will have just begun—Moore county prime pits will be sacrificed on barbecue pits and served with fitting rites of corn pone and slaw to Hemp's visitors.

WIDOW MOURNS FOR MARCONI

The widow of Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of wireless, is shown kneeling in prayer at a mass memorial for her husband in the Italian Academy at Rome. Beside her stands Gioia Marconi, the inventor's daughter by a former marriage. This picture was radioed to the United States.

Mayor M. K. Blount definitely stated today the city's tax rate of $1 would not be increased this fiscal year, despite the fact that a number of improvements have been made.

Mayor Blount declared the city officials were practicing economy at every point in order to keep the tax rate at its present level, but at the same time were undertaking a number of needed improvements for the city which will necessarily call for appropriations.

CITY TO KEEP PITT SCHOOLS OLD TAX RATE OPEN SEPT. 2ND

Classroom Work to be Completed Early in Rural Areas

No Increase Anticipated in Dollar Rate For Greenville

Schools in the Pitt county school system will open Thursday, September 2, it was announced at the offices of the Board of Education this morning.

It was explained that the early opening gives the advantage of being able to complete half of the term before Christmas.

In the strictly rural sections school will open early each day for the first month so the day's schedule may be completed by 2 o'clock. This was decided upon in order to enable school children to help with cotton picking and tobacco grading on the farm.

It is the custom of the county schools to open during the latter part of the week so all preliminaries will be completed and the students can get down to regular class work on the following Monday.

This year textbooks will be provided free to primary and elementary students and it will be necessary for the various principals to determine how many will be needed in their respective schools and get them from the dispensary in Winterville. Free textbooks will be a new experiment in Pitt county, but officials are not expected any undue confusion. Pitt was one of the first counties to send in its requisition and the books arrived some time ago and were stamped and packed in the gymnasium of the Winterville school, C. D. Ward, principal, has charge of the books.

Only one change has been made in the principals for the coming year, that at Pateolis, where Hyatt Forrest, graduate of East Carolina Teachers college last spring, will be the principal.

Roanoke Island Program Mapped For Coming Week

(Editor's note: The following article on the Roanoke Island celebration was prepared for The Reflector by Mrs. Lytle Zuber of Columbus, Ohio, who is spending a few days in this city. Mrs. Zuber is the sister of Mrs. Charles A. White of Greenville and a sister-in-law of Paul Green, author of the play, "The Lost Colony," being presented at the celebration. She has just returned from a stay at Roanoke Island and is able to give first-hand information.)

By MRS. LUCY LAY ZUBER
By now everybody is eastern North Carolina ought to know that there is a big celebration over at Roanoke Island in honor of the 350 anniversary of the first English settlements and of the birth of Virginia Dare, the first child of English parentage to be born in America, but in order to straighten out a few points and to let people know just what is going on and when and where, a few notes follow.

The heart of the celebration, sponsored by numerous historical associations and made possible through the voluntary assistance of many individuals as well as through state and federal agencies, is the production of Paul Green's play, "The Lost Colony." The play is given every Friday, Saturday and Sunday night up to and including September 6, and in addition there are extra performances on certain days when there are special celebrations.

Friday, July 23 is known as National Guard Day, Saturday, July 24 is D.A.R. day, Wednesday July 28 is Aviation Day, Thursday July 29 is National Park Day, Saturday July 31 is Colonial Dames Day, August 1, National Coast Guard Birthday, August 10, Woman's Club Day, August 14, U.D.C. Day and as everyone has been told, August 18, is to be Virginia Dare Day when in the afternoon at 2 the President of the United States will speak. Regardless of whether there are special celebrations or not, the production of "The Lost Colony" goes on every Friday, Saturday and Sunday at 8:15 in the evening.

The play is given in the great waterside theatre, reached by going through the palisaded entrance of Fort Raleigh, the state park, which embraces within its enclosure the reconstructed "Clue of Raleigh," the little chapel, the museum with a set of the original drawings made by the painter-governor of the Roanoke colony, John White, various log buildings for information booths and finally the great amphitheatre, built on the slope between two sand dunes. The stage, built over the edge of the water, represents a scene of the interior of Fort Raleigh, and by use of lighting, music, dancing, pantomime and words, the actors make real before the audience, the days of the early pioneers in this country.

Every Sunday morning in the outdoor theatre, a tent is put up for shelter against the sun, a service is held with visiting ministers. July 25, C. K. Proctor of the Oxford Orphanage will preach, on August 1, Bishop A. C. Thomson of the Episcopal Diocese of South-

Carolina will speak. The play is given every Friday, Saturday and Sunday at 8:15 in the evening.

FDR DECLINES STATEMENT ON COURT STATUS

Represented, However, As Feeling Part of Aim Won

EXECUTIVE SIGNS TENANT AID BILL

Former Senator Furnifold Simmons Introduced by Roosevelt at Press Parley

Washington, July 23.—(AP)—A high administration official said today despite the Senate's emphatic rejection of Supreme court enlargement, Pres. Roosevelt felt some of his original aims for court reorganization had been achieved.

This was coupled with a hint the chief executive believed a more complete and permanent attainment of his goals would require court legislation beyond that which the senators who virtually killed his court bill, have been willing to accept.

The court bill foes, forcing the measure to the senate back to committee yesterday, agreed to certain procedural changes in the lower courts.

At his regular press conferences President Roosevelt declined to comment on the senate's action yesterday. He parried a question as to whether he contemplated further campaigning for his court program by saying he has not done any campaigning.

Meantime Mr. Roosevelt signed legislation authorizing the federal government to embark on a program to aid tenants and sharecroppers to acquire farm homes.

The bill, which followed general recommendations the chief executive made to congress early in the session, authorized the agriculture department to make liberal loans to thirty tenants for purchase of farms.

It would allow $10,000,000 this year, $25,000,000 in the 1939 fiscal year and $50,000,000 annually thereafter for such loans.

Former Senator Furnifold M. Simmons of North Carolina was a White House caller and was introduced by the President at his press conference.

San Francisco (AP)—Analysis of six months' traffic on the new San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge shows it is the third busiest toll crossing in the U. S., Earl Lee Kelly, state director of public works, announces.

Most heavily traveled is the Holland Tunnel of New York, with the Delaware river bridge at Philadelphia second.

Home Industry Urged on Filipinos

Manila, P. I.—(AP)—Assemblyman Felipe Buencamino wants the Philippines to launch a system of home industry like that he has just studied in Japan. Government encouragement in keeping farmers occupied in dull seasons is urged to help solve the agrarian problem.

Both Tragedy And Comedy Found In Spud Situation

Raleigh, July 23.—Tragedy was mingled with comedy during the Irish potato marketing season recently closed in eastern North Carolina, according to reports reaching here.

"At one of the potato graders at Alliance, a Negro worked until he was nearly exhausted, crawled into a potato car and went to sleep. The train crew came along and in their rush they slammed the door of the refrigerator car and sealed it with the Negro inside.

"A report came back by railroad that when the car reached the Berkeley yards at Norfolk, they thought an lion had been placed in the car. Such a roaring and howling as you never heard—but they let the Negro out."

Not only were prices down, but potatoes failed to ship well this season, and insects appeared to do more than usual damage. Galphin declared. This decreased the growers' returns still further.

"It all sums up to one thing," said Galphin, "we are in much worse shape today than we were before planting."

Says Judge Is Dead

Seven years after Judge Joseph F. Crater of New York disappeared mysteriously, his wife, Stella (above), has broken her silence to express the opinion he was killed. The New York World-Telegram quoted her as charging he was "murdered" in connection with his "political career" but Mrs. Crater later denied she used language quite that strong. New York police immediately launched a new investigation of the baffling mystery.

BANK HELD UP IN BLADENBORO

Unmasked Negro Takes Over $600 at Point of Pistol

Bladenboro, July 23.—(AP)—An unmasked Negro walked into the Bank of Bladenboro shortly after noon today and Cashier L. C. Bridger said took "something over $600" at the point of an automatic pistol.

Bridger said he was alone at the time of the robbery, just before closing time for lunch.

The Negro, Bridger said, called for him to "stick 'em up" and turn over all the money in the cash drawer.

The cashier said the Negro, whom he described as about 30 years old and about five feet ten inches tall, then made him walk to the door where another Negro waited in a car.

After the holdup the pair went in the direction of Fayetteville, Bridger reported.

Police throughout the section were notified and a searching party of officers formed immediately.

Bridger, Chief State Bank Examiner John Allen, of Raleigh, said, told him he gave the robber some loose change and a $500 package of $5 bills, but was certain the total was less than $700.

The highway patrol offices at Raleigh received word of the robbery after 1:30 and patrolmen were instructed to watch for them.

Complete Hearing At Morehead City

Morehead City, July 23.—(AP)—William Griffin, examiner for the National Labor Relations Board, returned to Washington today to study evidence given in a hearing here on charges that the Regal Shirt company had violated the Wagner labor law, and to make his report to the full board.

Representative Of League Is Visitor

William H. Newell, field consultant of the North Carolina League of Municipalities, was in Greenville today conferring with Mayor M. K. Blount on a number of problems facing the city.

One thing discussed was the purchase of 2,000 feet of hose for the fire department. Mayor Blount said the league could save the city from 16 to 20 per cent on this item.

Purchase of the fire hose would be one step toward securing lower insurance rates for Greenville. There are other requirements which must be met in order to secure a lower rate, but the city is gradually working toward a reduction. While the local fire department is considered among the best in the state for its size and appropriation, it was explained at a meeting here recently that if several improvements were made the insurance rate could be cut substantially.

CONFLICTING REPORTS OVER CHINESE CRISIS

Confusion Springs Up Just as Tension Is Thought Ended

JAPAN RETURNS BACK TO NORMAL

New Military Activity on Part of Japanese in Peiping, However, Leads to New Fears

(By Associated Press)
Diametrically opposite reports from Chinese and Japanese threw the current North China crisis into new confusion today just as the two weeks of tension was thought to have been ended.

In Tokyo the government reports of Chinese troop withdrawals from Peiping and was disposed to consider the immediate danger of war passed. Japan said she was ready to approach settlement of the fundamental issues between her and China.

But in Peiping Chinese listed new Japanese military activity and expressed fear it foreshadowed a major Japanese drive to consolidate the enhanced influence gained because of the present incident.

Tokyo, July 23.—(AP)—Japan rapidly returned to normal today as a general belief grew that war with China had been averted and a lasting settlement of the long existing differences between the two countries was near.

A foreign office spokesman declared Japan was ready to consider any proposal from the Chinese government to open negotiations for a settlement of the fundamental Sino-Japanese issues and would respond to any change in the Chinese foreign policy.

TWO EXECUTED AT N. C. PRISON

Raleigh, July 23.—(AP)—Two Negroes convicted of wife murder, Hunter Winchester from Guilford county, and Fred Gray from Onslow, died by gas as State's prison today.

Winchester died nine minutes and 38 and one-half seconds after the gas machinery was started at 10:35, the shortest gas execution on record here. He entered the death chamber at 10:33 and was dead at 10:45.

It took 12 minutes and 55 seconds of gas administration before Dr. G. S. Cojeman, prison medical director, pronounced Gray dead at 11:38. He entered the gas chamber at 11:23, nodded to witnesses he recognized and two minutes later the lethal machinery was started.

Winchester, 24, was born at Reidsville, his death certificate said, and his body was claimed by relatives there. Gray, 26, was born at Yemassee, in Onslow county and his body was taken there.

Warden H. H. Honeycutt said each man confessed his guilt. Winchester killed his wife, Mabel Winchester, and Gray's wife was Letticia Gray.

FEWER DEATHS OF PNEUMONIA

Increase, However, in Airplane And Auto Wrecks

Raleigh, July 23.—There was a sharp decrease in deaths from pneumonia in North Carolina the first half of 1937, but a jump in airplane fatalities, with a slight increase in automobile deaths, as compared with the first six months of 1936, the provisional report for that period, issued by the Vital Statistics Division of the State Board of Health, of which Dr. R. T. Simpson is director, shows.

There have been 25 more suicides and the report shows. Other increases recorded for the first half of 1937 were as follows: Railroad accidents apart from those in which automobiles were involved, 9; diarrhea and enteritis in children under 2 years old, 117; infant deaths under one year old, 41; pulmonary tuberculosis, 2; air transportation accidents, 6; syphilis, 27; cancer, 9; and malaria, 6.

There were no deaths from smallpox during the entire year of 1936 and there have been none reported so far this year.

FLAME TRAIL

BY MARIE DE SERVAUD

SYNOPSIS: Fire destroys Kay Crandon's ranch house and barn. Neighbor Josh Hastings tries to buy her ranch and court her, but she hates him and is determined to rebuild. Ted Gaynor, a puncher she impulsively hired, fights Scrap Johnson, a cowhand who molested Kay. They shoot it out, wounding each other. Hastings finds them unconscious and kills Scrap with Ted's gun. Ted crawls to a cabin where a girl named Marion curses him. The gun puts Sheriff Farley on Ted's trail. Kay sees Ted and Marion together in the cabin and rides off in jealous agony. She tells Tom Runyon, the fire patrol, finds her and she babies Ted unconsciously of Ted's hideout.

Chapter 33 The Tip Off

TOM RUNYON stood up and turned his mount about, heading him down the trail. Then stooping, he gathered Kay in his arms, and lay her across the saddle.

Mounting behind her, he gathered her into his arms so that her head rested on his shoulder, and slowly and carefully started the descent.

By the time they reached the stream, it was clear that Kay was not going to be able to ride Flicker back to the ranch. Untying him, Tom gave him a sharp cut on his quirt, and listened while he splashed across the stream and headed up the trail of the western slope of the eastern divide. Then, holding Kay tightly to him, he guided his horse into the dark swirling water.

All through the long ride out of the mountains, Kay babbling on in her delirium, and Tom Runyon listened.

An ugly look flashed into his eyes whenever Kay mentioned Ted's name. It was evident that she thought more of Ted than Tom had supposed, but instead of shaking him from his purpose to win Kay for himself, it made him all the more determined.

As he made his plans for getting rid of his rival, Tom gave a vicious chuckle. He had him where he wanted him, all right! But it wouldn't do to take any chances on his making a get-away! He must get to a telephone as soon as possible.

Then Tom struck on a brilliant idea. Why not take Kay directly to the Flying Six? Her aunt was there, and she would be much better cared for, than in the little cabin. He had never met Josh Hastings, but he knew that he had been a friend of Kay's father, so he felt sure he'd be only too glad to look after her.

Suiting the action to the thought, Tom struck out across the mesa to the Flying Six.

Kay's delirious talk had subsided some time before, and she rested a dead weight in his arms, as he urged his mount on. Her breathing was even and reassuring. Even though she was undoubtedly suffering from concussion from her fall, the indications were that it was not serious. He knew it might be some time before she completely regained consciousness.

The late moon was rising in the east as they came in sight of the Flying Six ranch house, a dark rambling mass in the silver light. Following up a shrill whistle with a loud "Whoopee," Tom clattered up to the front steps.

Phoning The Sheriff

A LIGHT flickered past the living room windows, and the next minute, Josh Hastings pulled open the front door.

"Kay Crandon's had an accident, and I brought her here," Tom Runyon began, rather importantly. She

He got no farther. A shriek from Aunt Kate's open window was followed by shuffling footsteps down the hall, and Aunt Kate's disheveled head appeared over Josh Hastings' shoulder.

"Where is she?" She imperiously pushed him aside and made for the steps, where she met Tom Runyon coming up with Kay in his arms.

"What's happened?" she demanded fiercely. "What have you done to her?"

"She had an ugly fall," Tom Runyon carried Kay up on the porch, and laid her down in the hammock. "She'll be all right," he added. "It's just a slight concussion, but I thought she'd be better off here, than she would be over at her place."

"You were dead right," Josh Hastings boomed. "We'll look after her, don't you worry. But where

"I'll tell you all that later," Tom broke in, leaving Aunt Kate fussing over Kay, while he beckoned Josh Hastings to one side. "I've got to get in touch with Zeke Farley P.D.Q."

Josh Hastings motioned him toward the door. "You'll find the phone right there on my desk." He followed Tom Runyon inside. "What's up?"

"I've located that Gaynor guy who's wanted for murder. Tom Runyon swelled with importance as he reached for the telephone. Intent on getting his number, he failed to see the gleam of triumph that quickly flashed in Josh Hastings' eyes as he demanded eagerly.

Tom motioned him to wait, as he bent to the telephone.

"This Zeke Farley? I'm Tom Runyon, the fire patrol. I want to tip you off about that Gaynor bird."

An explosive oath over the wire could be heard, even where Josh Hastings was standing.

"Yeah, I know where he is all right," Tom went on. "He's up in a cabin by a clearing on the south side of the central divide. Up there with a girl friend," he added, with a malicious laugh.

Again Josh Hastings could hear the sheriff's exclamation.

"Yeah, I said girl friend," Tom repeated. Kay Crandon saw them up there—that's how I know. He's there now. How long he'll be there, I can't tell you."

There was a long pause while Zeke Farley's voice rumbled over the wire.

"Reckon that's your best bet," Tom agreed finally. "I'm telephoning from the Flying Six."

There was another pause.

"O.K. I reckon they'll give me a shake down," Tom coughed in an inquiring eye at Josh Hastings, who nodded his assent.

"What did he say?" he demanded eagerly, as Tom hung up the receiver.

"He's notifying Sam Cutter over in the Clear Water basin, and starting off to meet him there," Tom turned to the porch. "How about getting Kay to bed somewhere, and I'll give you the dope?"

Aunt Kate met them at the doorway.

"Put Kay right in that spare bed in my room," she ordered, crisply taking charge of the situation. "I reckon you're right about its being a concussion, young man. She fixed Tom with a severely appraising eye. Only I don't see why you couldn't have prevented its happening at all!"

"I wasn't there," Tom defended. He stooped down to pick Kay up, but Josh Hastings shoved him unceremoniously aside.

"Here! I'll do that!"

Tom watched Josh Hastings with surprised and smouldering eyes, as he gathered Kay into his arms and carried her through the door.

"You needn't look like that, young man," Aunt Kate observed tartly, as she prepared to follow after them. "These two are as good as engaged and you may as well know it now as later."

His jaw dropped with chagrin and amazement as he watched Aunt Kate disappear inside the house.

"Throw 'Em Up, Sister!"

MARION HOWELL stirred restlessly on her bunk that was in the tiny room off the main shack where Ted was sleeping.

She had thrown herself fully dressed on the bunk, as she had done every night; since Ted had appeared. Now that he was out of danger, she wouldn't be so constantly on call, she reflected, as she raised herself on one elbow and glanced out the crack in the boarded-up window over her bunk.

The first gray light of dawn was cold and cheerless, and with a shiver, she dropped back, and was preparing for more sleep, when a snapping of twigs caught her ear. She told herself it was only an animal prowling through the brush, but an instant of alarm nevertheless impelled her to get up and creep through Ted's room to the front door.

Noticing with a glow of satisfaction how deeply and quietly he was sleeping, she went to the front door with an amused smile at herself for her nervousness.

As she put her hand on the latch to pull it open, a shove from the outside flung it in, nearly knocking her down as it swung back, revealing a group of men. One of them instantly covered her with his gun.

"Throw 'em up, sister," he commanded, "and the less fuss you make, the better for you!" He made way for the others to pass. "Go on in, and hog-tie that bird," he ordered, keeping one eye on Marion to see how she was going to respond to this surprise invasion.

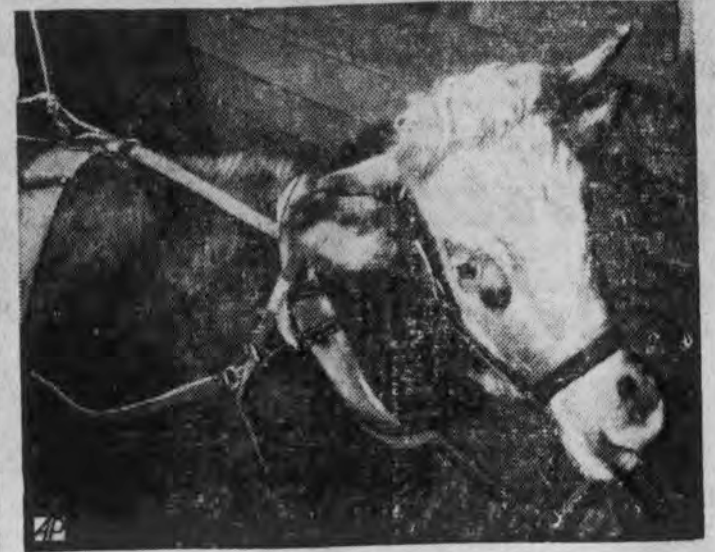

"There's no use throwing my hands up, as I haven't a gun," Marion was amazed at the calmness of her own voice, which belied the sick terror that possessed her. Every instinct was alert to keep her wits about her, as the only possible way to save Ted, and her father as well. "What right have you to break in this way?"

"The right of the law to arrest a murderer," Zeke Farley answered, with brutal abruptness.

Steers Write 'Diary' In Air-Cooled Rooms

ALL TRUSSED UP And No Pace To Go

(By the AP Feature Service) URBANA, Ill. — Speaking of fancy barnyards, some of the steers at the University of Illinois' agricultural college live in air-conditioned quarters. In return, they write a diary of every move they make. A complicated harness hooked up to an electric clock records whenever they lie down or stand up and for how long at a time. All waste products are analyzed.

And what do you suppose the rats live in? A dark corner of the barn? Not at all—a glass cage. There's a reason for this, too. The rodents are being used in studies of nutritional anemia. First the anemia is produced by unbalanced feeding.

Then they are given different metallic salts, and the rate of recovery is clocked. If the rats were kept in a metal cage, they would chew enough to spoil the results of the tests. So they live in a glass house.

The steer experiment is said to be the only one of its kind in this country. Previously, such calculations could be made only by putting the animals in respiration chambers and going through an expensive laboratory process.

NO PRIVACY For 'This Rat

Both the steer and rat studies aim to help make the 5 billion dollars worth of livestock on United States farms produce food, fiber and power more efficiently, says Dr. H. H. Mitchell, who is in charge at this time.

Production Mark Set by Cadillac Motor Co.

—Detroit, July 23.—All time model volume records for the Cadillac Motor car division went into the discard this week when the factory shipped its 40,966th car of the 1937 series.

The figure topped the previous peak in the 35-year history of this General Motors unit which was established by the series that was placed in manufacture in July, 1928 and ran through June of the following year.

The car was a Cadillac sedan. Design and performance did not differ from hundreds of others that had preceded the car on the assembly line, but its appearance attracted acute official interest.

V. A. Olsen, works manager, ran a practiced eye over the chassis. E. W. Seaholm, chief engineer, personally checked the motor. D. E. Ahrens, sales manager, inspected the interior. And the car was driven for the first time by General Manager Nicholas Dreystadt while a dozen manufacturing assistants looked on.

After the car had passed its distinguished board of inspection and a final court on Cadillac and La Salle quality, workmen slipped into place a 1938 Michigan license plate numbered 40,966 Green, with black numerals. This was the first of next year's auto tag, to be publicly shown and was especially likely shown and was especially likely shown to commemorate a milestone in the life of Detroit's oldest automobile company.

TONSILS GONE, DOG'S IN GOOD VOICE AGAIN

El Paso, Tex. (AP)—"Spider," the sad little black-and-tan dog, is happier now. His tonsils, cause of a doggone bad sore throat, are out. What with influenza, bronchitis and finally tonsillitis, Spider was feeling as woebegone as he looked. Then his owner, Davis Green, wrapped his throat in a towel and took him to a veterinarian.

Here's a Big Used Car Market Washington (AP)—More than 10,000,000 U. S. families owning automobiles never have purchased a new one. They have always bought used ones.

The American Petroleum Industry committee figures that during the past three years close to 3,000,000 families having annual incomes of $1,900 a year or less have been added to the ranks of motorists. The vast majority of them have purchased used cars.

Pitt Farmers Make Tour Of Projects Over County

More than 35 Pitt county farmers left the County Agent's office Wednesday morning at 9:00 on a Farm Tour, which covered 81 miles in this county.

Jack Criswell, farm management specialist from State College, attended the tour and entered into the discussion at the different demonstrations visited.

The object of this tour was to let farmers see what is going on in the different parts of the county and to see how different farmers carry out the various farming practices in connection with different crops, and to see some of the work being conducted by the county agents.

The farmers visited gave the group a good explanation of the methods used, the objects and results of various demonstrations being conducted on the farm.

Prizes awarded by the Blount-Harvey Fertilizer Co. and the Pitt F.C.V. Service are offered to the farmers who attended the tour and who will turn in to the county agent the best write up of what took place and what he saw on the tour.

The first stop was made at J. P. Davenport's farm at which time the county agent explained the purpose of the tour and Mr. Davenport discussed his crop production project. Interesting questions and a general discussion kept the group for about 30 minutes.

The second stop was made at Coy Forbes' farm where the results of a ridge cultural method for tobacco were studied. Forbes pointed out that tobacco will hold up better on a good high ridge in wet weather or dry weather than it will on a low ridge.

The next stop was at D. J. Wilson's farm. Wilson is following a definite three year crop rotation which was worked out in cooperation with the county agents and E. C. Blair, agronomist from State College extension service.

The results which Mr. Wilson has had with corn following lespedeza were interesting and invited many comments.

He is also following a thrifty pig plan as follows:

He places the sows on a clean pasture where no hogs have ranged for one year and on which a crop has been grown since the last time hogs were allowed on the land.

The sows were washed clean with soap, disinfectant, and warm water to remove dirt and worm eggs from the udder.

Individual farrowing pens were provided for the sows.

After weaning, the pigs alone, were allowed to remain on the clean pasture until they weighed about 100 pounds.

A feeding demonstration was then started. 38 pigs were weighed in and placed on self feeders. Corn, fish meal, and mineral mixture made up the ration. The 38 pigs averaged 1.76 pounds per day gain during the 62 days feeding period.

The feed cost per 100 pounds gain was $5.15 and he sold the hogs for $9.50 per hundred or a profit of $4.35 per bushel to grow corn. Mr. Wilson sold his corn through hogs for $1.39 per bushel.

Mr. Wilson also had a corn variety demonstration consisting of 3 rows of Mallards Yellow, 3 rows of Lethings Double, 3 rows of American Beauty, 3 rows of Indian Chief, 3 rows of Jervis Golden and 3 rows of Mammoth Yellow, all planted side by side.

At 11:45 the party arrived at J. V. Taylors where farm machinery and terraces were studied.

At 1:30 the party enjoyed a barbecue and Brunswick stew dinner at Respass' in Greenville.

R. L. Little's farm was visited at 2 o'clock. Mr. Little is following a definite crop rotation worked out by E. C. Blair. This is a two year rotation started in 1935. The farm is mapped off and the crop land is divided into two large fields, No. 1 and No. 2.

In field No. 1 Mr. Little plants cotton, tobacco, peanuts and rye one year and corn, beans and peas on field No. 2. The next year this order is reversed.

W. G. G. extension forester from State College, joined the group as Mrs. Addie G. G. forestry thinning and timber stand improvement demonstrations.

This forestry demonstration was put on through the cooperation of Mrs. Smith, Mr. Graeber, Pitt county agents, and the CCC camp from Beaufort county.

Purpose of demonstration: to show improved methods of growing and utilizing a timber crop.

Data on demonstration: area in demonstration, cut 4 acres; volume of wood cut 28 cords, per acre 7 cords; number of trees after thinning, 2211 per acre, 553; volume of standing trees 110.8 cords per acre, 27.7 cords; total growth for 26 year period 134.3 cords per acre, 34.7 cords; average annual growth per acre 1.33 cords.

Financial analysis on a per acre basis—Mrs. Smith reports—Estimated cost of harvest if done by farm labor, $1.00 per cord. Value of wood at farm, $2.50 per cord. Net value of stumpage cut, $1.50 per cord. Tax value of land $24.00 per acre. Tax rate (1936) $1.50 per hundred. Annual tax per acre 36 cents.

The harvest—7 cords per acre, was sufficient to pay taxes (average of 1936) for life of timber (26 years) $9.36 and leave a cash dividend of $1.14.

The standing crop, 553 trees per acre, scale a total of 27.7 cords per acre. This added to the thinning harvest and calculated at the same value per cord, after deducting cost of harvest and taxes, gives a net annual return of .164 per acre, or 6.3 per cent on land valued at $24 per acre.

From Mrs. Smith's party went to R. H. McLawhorn's farm where it viewed two stallions and several brood mares.

Mr. McLawhorn surprised the group by . . . farmade.

M. C. Spriggs farm was the last stop. The following results of cotton seed treatment with ceresan and planted side by side were seen.

Stand before chopping—Living plants per 100 feet of row 506 treated, 217 untreated; Dead plants per 100 feet of row 10 treated, 16 untreated; per cent of living plants . . . the shin 19 treated, 85 untreated.

Plants per 100 feet of row after chopping 162 treated, 92 untreated.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—The determination on both sides to go ahead with the court debate flies in the face of a very evident desire of many senators including opponents and proponents to close up the affair and adjourn after a brief cleanup session.

But the wish of the President to carry on the fight to a conclusion wiped out most immediate prospects of a quick ending. Democratic opponents of the bill worked for election of Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi as majority leader to succeed the late Joe Robinson, in the belief that with him as leader an agreement could be reached to postpone action.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky was quite evidently the President's choice for the place, although he is junior to Harrison in senate service.

It was Barkley, not Harrison, who was called to the White House on the eve of the Robinson funeral for a strategy talk.

Story
The death of Robinson has revived a story that has traveled quietly among those intimately concerned with every court development.

The story is that there was a period not far back when President Roosevelt was reasonably content to withdraw from the court fight save for the condition. The condition was that this would leave only one vacancy on the court to be filled, that caused by the retirement of Justice Van Devanter.

Giving that appointment to Robinson would have been in violation of the logic advanced by Roosevelt in asking new appointive power in the first place. Robinson was 64, well nigh upon the age the first court bill specified as too old for court duty.

So if Robinson was to have had a court place, his life long ambition, it would have been necessary for more than one place to be made available. Thus the compromise bill was devised which would have made two places immediately available, one for Robinson and one for a "new blood" judge. With Robinson dead, a "new blood" judge can be appointed to replace Van Devanter.

Outcome
That is the story. It may be one of those fanciful legislative myths which grow up to explain situations otherwise difficult of explanation. But it had circulation in places where myths are frowned upon.

Any action terminating the court fight would still leave much business undone, but it seems likely that much of it will remain undone this session in any event. President Roosevelt has urged passage of the ever-normal granary farm plan this session. It is a highly controversial subject, however, and many senators complain that it has been badly received out in the country.

The seven-hour bill has been revised to take out much of the business domination it contained at first but it too likely would invite extensive discussion.

And extensive discussion is something the senate or the house is not likely to welcome. It is highly questionable whether an inexperienced leader succeeding Robinson could keep a minimum of the senate in Washington through the hot summer.

FEDERAL ELECTRIFICATION BODY PALKS IN JOHNSON

accept it so that the Federal REA can put him on the spot and compel him to take a position either in favor of the Federal REA or against it in which case the REA will then brand him as a power company man.

Those who recall the fight over the Penner bill in the 1937 general assembly which would have permitted electric membership connections to obtain certificates of convenience and necessity before they could build lines in North Carolina and who know how bitterly the Federal REA fought this measure are convinced that the REA tried every way possible to put Governor Hoey "on the spot" at that time. It is also generally agreed that if Governor Hoey had not asked the house and senate leaders to drop the fight for the enactment of this bill that it would have been enacted with little or no opposition. But always preferring peace to a fight order to keep peace, Governor Hoey more or less sided with the REA, with the result that the bill never came out of committee. But Governor Hoey is regarded as too smart a lawyer and too canny a politician to fall for the tactics now being used by the Federal REA or to be put "on the spot" in this latest effort of Administrator Carmody and the REA to put on a face-saving act and if possible to smear the faces of others, including that of Governor Hoey, most observers here agree.

The bald facts in the case of Johnston county are that most of the farmers down there are frankly tired of waiting on the Federal REA and its endless red tape and want electricity, regardless of whether it comes from the Carolina Power and Light company or from lightning rods. They know that they waited for a year and a half while an application was pending for a cooperative loan before the REA and that later, when the state Rural Electrification Authority gave in disgust and the Carolina Power and Light company built 170 miles of line the Federal REA went into court and got an injunction that prevented farmers connecting their homes with these lines for almost a year. They know now that the Carolina Power and Light company is ready to go to work and build 135 miles of additional rural lines immediately and will probably get them finished before the cooperative could get its loan and get ready to start building lines. For what the farmers want are rural lines and electricity now, not sometime in the future.

The trouble with the Federal REA and its officials, is that they are undoubtedly more interested in fighting the power companies than they are in building rural electric lines and getting electric service to the farmers who want it and need it. Those who have been following the course of the REA are convinced. They feel that most of the REA officials are little more than a flock of modern Don Quixotes fighting a flock of imaginary power company windmills and that they have become so venomous in their hatred of the power companies that they would rather see the farmers go without rural lines and electricity entirely than have them built by power companies even when those lines can be built at least not in the farmers than through cooperatives who furnish electricity at lower rates.

The North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority however, has taken the position that its business as a promotional agency—it has no money to lend—has been to get as many miles of rural electric lines built to serve as many farmers as possible, regardless of who builds the lines. It has not only encouraged the power companies to extend their lines when it thought they should do so, but has asked them to do so. It has also tried to get the Federal REA to cooperate with it and organize and finance coopera-tives in areas which were not served by power companies or municipal plants.

This attitude and point of view on the part of the state rural electrification authority has irked and irritated the Federal REA, especially because it has not shared its phobia towards power companies and because it would not let the REA in Washington dictate the policies of the state authority, it is generally agreed. As a result there are still applications for REA loans and cooperatives pending in Washington which have been there as much as two years and even longer and which have never been acted upon.

When the state electrification authority finally found that it was almost useless to expect any material assistance from the Federal REA, it turned to the municipally owned power plants and the power companies for assistance in promoting its rural electrification program. As a result nearly 7000 miles of rural electric lines have been built, and under construction or have been authorized. Of this amount the Federal REA has built 174 miles, has 22 miles under construction, authorized 854 miles.

The background of music for "The Lost Colony" is shared by a great electric organ and a choir of 18 voices, trained in the famous Westminster Choir school in Trenton, N. J. For the services, each Sunday, the organist and the singers have been giving some of their finest work.

The trip down to Manteo, which is close to the fort, is easily achieved by going to Elizabeth City, then N. C. Route 34 to Sligo, then on N. C. 344 to Point Harbor, cross

Wright Memorial Bridge, and continue to Roanoke Island. All tolls have been removed. Roanoke Island is ready for visits, and nearby Nags Head for surf bathing, fishing, and no one should go to Manteo and the fort, without a visit to the Wright Memorial.

On Aviation Day, July 28, the chairman for the ceremonies will be Alf Drinkwater, veteran telegrapher of the weather bureau at Manteo, who sent telegrams announcing the Wright flights near Kill Devil hill on December 17, 1903, and later during 1908.

IT'S ODD. But It's Science

Pittsburgh, July 22—(AP)—Heavy ice, made by freezing heavy water, has found its first practical use.

It is a good target to shoot at—with an atom gun. One of these guns is made by setting a positive and negative electrode so that there is a high difference in potential between them.

If electrified atoms are fed to one electrode they shoot like bullets against the other electrode. Ice is not a good electrode. But the heavy ice is so used by freezing a thin layer of heavy water over a metal electrode.

The atomic bullets used to shoot at heavy ice are heavy hydrogen particles, the stuff which makes heavy water when combined with oxygen. The result of hits on the ice is a nice stream of neutrons an atomic particle used by physicists to investigate the structure of matter.

C. M. Slack and L. F. Ehrke of the Westinghouse company tell of the new ice gun in the Review of Scientific Instruments.

Williamston, July 23.—The Coastal Plain League's strike-out king—Jim Rollins—set a league record yesterday by striking out 18 Greenville batsmen as the Martins edged a 3-2 victory over Greenville.

Yesterday's collection brought to 146 the number of batters fanned by Rollins this season. The victory lifted the Martins to just two games back of the league-leading Snow Hill Billies.

No Greene failed to fall before Rollins' strikeout ball. Despite his high strikeout total, Rollins had to work hard for victory. Lefty Moser pitched for the Greenies and he matched Rollins in the matter of hits allowed—each was reached for six safeties. Moser fanned seven. Each hurler walked three.

Rollins hit the peak of his whiffing act in the stretch. He got seven of nine batters—three of them in the seventh inning—on strike-outs, and then Johnny Rudisill tied up the ball game by hitting a homer in Greenville's eighth.

The Martins came right back with the winning run. McCay was issued a free pass, Vilpeque sacrificed, and Hans Stanley cracked his third hit of the day.

The Martins' previous tallies came in the second and third. Two free tickets and Victoria's single brought the second-inning run; the other resulted from a two-base error on a rap by Vilpeque, followed by a safety by Stanley.

Greenville's first run, in the 4th, resulted from a walk to Norwood and singles by Stowe and Roy.

After Williamston had taken a 3-2 lead as a result of the eighth inning tally, Rollins climaxed his fine performance by fanning a pair of pinch-hitters—Williams and Calliguirri—in the ninth.

Hans Stanley accounted for half of Williamston's hits. Durwood Stowe, with two for four, was high for the Greenies.

The Martins play the Greenies at Third Street Park here today.

MOVE STARTED BOLSTER TEAM

New Talent Already On Way to Aid Baseball Club

Announcement was made today by officials of the Greenville baseball club that efforts were underway to bolster the local team and that new talent was expected to join the line-up immediately.

Although the club has been in a slump recently, plans are underway to provide a rejuvenated team for the remainder of the season.

Manager Bo Furley, who was injured last week when he collided with another player at third base is still out of the line-up, and his place is being filled by Durwood Stowe, who also is an outfielder.

The board of directors of the club held a lengthy meeting this morning and named a steering committee to proceed with plans for bolstering the team.

The club at the present is standing at 359 having won 23 games and lost 41. It is three full games ahead of Kinston, cellarites, but warning is being given that the Greenies will be heard from during the rest of the season.

Kinston's Cellarites Spank Bears, 7 To 3

Kinston—Kinston's Eagles yesterday turned back New Bern and thus matched the local club's record for consecutive victories this season—it was the third win in a row.

Today's triumph was due principally to fine pitching of Manager Vernon Hayler making his first mound start since taking over the local club. Taylor held the Bears to seven hits, and the final score of 7-3 kept Kinston's percentage at 1.000 for activities since Taylor became pilot.

Errors helped the Bears to two of their runs. Miller's triple and an error brought a tally in the first; Knowles' single, a walk and an error brought one in the eighth. In between, the Bears earned a tally—Theole singled in the fourth, advanced on an infield out, scored on a single by Knowles.

Stuart Pythe, former State College chucked, went the route for the Bears. He was reached for only eight hits, but they came in the right spots and were mixed with Bear miscues.

Flythe set the Eagles down in order in the first two innings. Dallas Morris, former Wake Forest athlete, opened the home third by rapping out a single. Wright also singled. Morris was caught at home, on Taylor's bounder. Wyrostek singled to bat in two runs.

An error and Wright's double gave Kinston one in the fourth. In the next inning, the Eagles got what proved to be the winning run—Stringfellow walked, went to third on Wyrostek's sacrifice, scored on Schultz's single.

Taylor's single, an error, and Schultz's double counted two in the seventh. Patton's double, an infield out, and an error added one in the eighth.

Douglass and Knowles led New Bern at bat; Wright and Schultz led Kinston. Each of the leaders made two hits.

LARGE LOSS IN COTTON FIRES

Conflagrations in Gins Cost $2,000,000 Annually

Raleigh, July 23.—Fire losses in cotton gins, amounting to more than $2,000,000 annually, can be greatly reduced, says J. C. Ferguson, cotton gin specialist of the State College extension service.

When humidity is low and cotton is dry and dirty, high voltage charges of static electricity are common in unloading and distributing systems, in cleaners and lint flues, and on shafts and belts. All flues, and on shafts and belts. All flues, and on shafts and belts. All flues, and on shafts and belts.

Such a grounding system is described by the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils in U. S. Department of Agriculture Circular 76.

Fire-packed bales are another fire hazard that can be greatly reduced, according to Ferguson, if the ginner, immediately after a fire in the gin, plainly and conspicuously marks the first bale that is tied out following the fire. This identification will warn other handlers that precautions should be taken to prevent its being placed where concealed fire can break out unnoticed.

Whether cottonseed is subject to spontaneous ignition is debatable, he continued, but it is generally recognized that cottonseed hulls containing a small amount of oil are subject to excessive heating and thus are a definite fire hazard.

Adequate fire-fighting equipment in a gin may consist of water barrels, tanks, pumps, and pails or a hose line attached to a water pressure system and kept ready for use. Chemical extinguishers near points of known fire hazard, and steam jets directed into gin stands, lint flues, the cleaner and pneumatic distributor also are effective in checking fires.

BLOSSOMING OUT

DI MAGGIO HAS NO AMBITIONS TO BE 'ANOTHER BABE RUTH' DESPITE THE FACT THAT HE IS LEADING BOTH LEAGUES IN HITTING HOME RUNS

Joe DiMaggio

A SENSATION AS A FRESHMAN, HE IS BETTER THIS YEAR, BECAUSE OF THE ADDED EXPERIENCE

Sport Slants

By PAP

More and more it becomes apparent that Joe DiMaggio is not only a talented ball player but a mighty sensible youngster as well. The New York Yankee sophomore star has come into his own this season. Last year he more than lived up to the nice things said about him before he came up as a freshman. This year his work shows improvement, what with the extra year of experience.

DiMaggio is an established star after a season and a half of major league baseball. But he has no illusions concerning his own capabilities. He is a good ball player and he knows it. But those who would stamp him another Babe Ruth just because he happens to be setting the home run pace for the American league are likely to find the youngster simply does not care to be "another anyone."

Joe admits he has no ambitions to emulate the Sultan of Swat. He is willing to let Teammate Lou Gehrig enjoy that honor. Joe, for the present, would be content to win the runs-batted-in championship of his league.

Naturally he would like to win the batting titling, but next to that he gets his big thrill out of clearing the sacks of runners. Hits, when they mean runs. They're what Joe wants.

His attitude is absolutely right. There is no reason in the world why he should follow in the footsteps of any former great of the diamond. Joe has a personality of his own. He is not another Ruth in temperament and never will be. As far as DiMaggio is concerned Ruth's laurels are secure. Joe is content to carve out his own future along his own lines.

Loop Leaders Take 4-1 Set Back by Bugs

Goldsboro—Owen (Ace) Elliott, the Coastal Plain's high man in pitching victories, racked up No. 13 by tossing six-hit ball against Snow Hill's Billies yesterday. The Bugs won, 4 to 1.

Yesterday's defeat cut to two games the Snow Hill lead over Williamston's runner-up club. Victory enabled Goldsboro to regain third place from Tarboro.

Goldsboro accorded Elliott perfect support. The Billies made a pair of errors behind Cecil Longest's pitching, and one of the miscues helped the locals to three tallies in the first innings.

Longest started poorly—he walked Daniels and Ignasiak, first two batters in Goldsboro's opening inning. Gadd banged a hit on Robinson made a vain—and wild—throw to first. The error let in two runs and put Gadd on third. He scored on Malsano's double.

The Bugs' other run came in the seventh—on a walk to Pitzer, a single by Ignasiak, a double by Gadd.

COBURN EAKES OUT 8 TO 7 WIN

League-Leading Insurance Team Wins From Dairy, 7-5

The league leading Tadlock Insurance men continued their pace yesterday and defeated the Carolina Dairy softball team 7-5. The leaders so far have not lost a game in the second half of play and have won eight contests.

Person-Garrett has been defeated by Tadlock's only and are in second place.

One of the best games of the season was played yesterday when Coburn shoe company defeated the Lawyers, 8-7 in a contest featured by good hitting and fielding by both teams. With runs at stake in the seventh inning Dennis and Edmunds of the Coburn team made perfect throws to the plate to stave off runs.

Johnson, Coburn manager, took the pitcher's box for the first time and won a game for his mates. He was given bang-up support throughout, however.

The Aces already had the game in the bag, however. In the second, consecutive singles by Pary, Joyner Johnson and Corrado and McCormick's infield out produced two runs. The Aces' other tally came in the fifth—Schuerholz doubled, took third on Baker's infield out, and scored on Pary's single.

Faust Johnson batted four for four to lead the Aces' 11-hit attack. One of Johnson's blows was a double.

Rimmer turned in the day's best bit of fielding—a catch that robbed Corrado of an apparent homer in the sixth inning. Rimmer backed up to the fence from his post in right-field and checked the ball with his gloved hand then snared it with his bare hand.

Mooney's homer came in the sixth and Myers got his in the ninth. Each sailed over the leftfield fence.

Ayden's Aces Nose Out Tarboro, 3 To 2

Ayden—Russell Gurth gave only two hits—homers by Bernard Mooney and Solly Myers—as he pitched the Aces to a 3-2 victory over the Tarboro Serpents here yesterday afternoon.

Gurth set the Serpents down in almost the quickest possible fashion in besting Mooney, who hurled the ace against him. Gurth struck out four, walked only two, and had to pitch to only 30 batters. With the exception of Mooney and Myers the Snakes could get only the first inning and stole second. The other pass went to George Rimmer, in the fifth but Carth picked Rimmer off first.

Mooney's homer came in the sixth and Myers got his in the ninth. Each sailed over the leftfield fence.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, July 23.—(AP)—A fast opening on the upside in today's stock market quickly turned into a profit selling crawl and initial gains of fractions to two points were pared or cancelled.

While Wall street seemed cheered by the shelving of the administration's court bill and prospects of a nearby adjournment of congress, brokers thought this turn of affairs may have been discounted marketwise to a certain extent. Bonds were uneven and transfers were around 900,000 shares.

Free Dancing a WPA Project
Linton, Ind.—(AP)—Free dancing for married couples, with a nursery to check infants, was a project of the WPA recreational program here.

While dad and mama would "swing it" young women employed part time served as nursemaids. The free dancing was open to relief and non-relief couples alike.

GAIN IS SHOWN IN BIRTH RATE

39,979 Births in State For First Six Months

Raleigh, July 23.—With the return of prosperity a definite increase in the number of babies being born in North Carolina is reflected in figures compiled by the Division of Vital Statistics of the State Board of Health, of which Dr. R. T. Stimpson is the director.

Reports for the first six months of 1937, as compared with the first half of 1936 show that 39,979 babies already have been born in North Carolina this year, as compared with 38,875 the same period last year, a difference of 1104 in favor of 1937. The trend has been upward since 1933, prior to which time there was a decrease in births, following a decided increase just after the war, when prosperity was at its height.

North Carolina also continues to show a declining death rate. The number of deaths reported by the Vital Statistics Division the first half of 1937 was 17,598. This was in contrast with 18,874 reported the corresponding period in 1936, a difference of 1,276 in favor of 1937.

Recorded increases in births were reported during April, May and June, this year, while slight decreases were evident during January, February and March, though the net gain stands at 1104. During only one month this year—April—have there been more deaths than last year.

Births, by months, for the periods compared, were reported as follows:

1936	1937
January	6,398	6,108
February	6,361	6,159
March	6,877	6,861
April	6,075	6,662
May	6,824	6,992
June	6,340	7,179
Deaths—
January	3,120	2,796
February	3,444	2,865
March	3,583	3,277
April	2,836	2,932
May	2,971	2,870
June	2,920	2,858

ON TRAIL OF RIVER 'MONSTER'

Armed with a harpoon and ready to do battle if necessary, Charles B. Brown, as deep sea diver from Memphis, is shown preparing his equipment for descent into the White River at Newport, Ark., in search of a mysterious "monster" which natives claim they have seen in those waters. He said he expected to find nothing more dangerous than "an overgrown catfish."

U. S. Public Works Administration Awards World's Largest Single Refrigerator Contract

When the Government buys refrigerators for its low-rent housing projects, low operating cost is essential. Bids are based on initial price PLUS cost of electricity for ten years. On that basis, the Westinghouse Refrigerator won against all competing bidders. Because of the Westinghouse efficiency, Westinghouse could submit a lower over-all bid, even though four others quoted slightly lower initial prices for refrigerators.
