U.S. NAVY MAN ACCIDENTALLY SHOT IN CHINA

Four Japanese Munition Ships Forced From Tientsin

CHINESE CLAIM MAJOR VICTORY

Japanese Offensive Against Peiping Reported to Have Been Smashed

Washington, July 28.—(AP)—The navy department announced today Private Julius Flisvar of the mounted marine detachment at Peiping had been wounded by unaimed rifle fire from Chinese troops barricaded near the United States embassy.

It was the first American casualty announced here in the current Sino-Japanese fighting at the ancient walled city.

Flisvar, a native of Nazareth, Pa., with a gun wound in his side, was being treated at the corps hospital, the navy report said. His condition was described as not serious.

Tientsin, China, July 28.—(AP)—Chinese mortar fire tonight forced four Japanese munition ships to turn back from the mouth of the Hai Ho river after trying to reach Tangku port of this Japanese military headquarters in the undeclared war between China and Japan.

Westward sanguinary fighting, with conflicting claims of success, made an all-day battlefront of the Peiping area.

(By the Associated Press) The Chinese 29th army reported today it smashed a Japanese offensive against Peiping in the first major battle in the informal war in North China.

The Japanese attacked Peiping's environs at dawn after expiration of their final ultimatum demanding withdrawal of Chinese divisions from the Peiping area.

A withering Japanese aerial attack shattered the Chinese lines. Chinese commanders declared their troops recovered, however, and captured a Japanese field headquarters west of Peiping and an important railroad center between Peiping and Tientsin in a counter attack.

The Japanese high command at Tientsin, east of the Japanese army in North China, denied the Chinese reports and asserted Peiping's defenders had been hurried back on the city's walls.

Both capitals made declarations of open hostilities.

State Commission Insists On Union Station For Busses

Utilities Group Declares There Has Been No Change in Policy With Regard to Stations

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, July 28.—There has been no change in the policy of the State Utilities Commission with regard to its insistence that motor bus transportation companies maintain union bus stations wherever more than one line operates through a city or town. R. O. Self, in charge of bus transportation for the commission, said today.

As a result, no bus lines operating in North Carolina will be permitted to build separate bus stations unless they will become union bus stations, Self said.

"During recent months, largely as the result of agitation for new bus stations in Charlotte, here in Raleigh and some other places, the idea has gotten out that the Utilities Commission is going to recede from the position it has held from the first, requiring bus companies to maintain union bus stations," Self said.

"But the commission is more convinced than ever that both the traveling public and the bus companies as well as much better off with union stations than with separate stations, although one or two bus companies do not think so. As a result, we do not intend to permit the building of any new bus stations unless they are union stations which can be used by all of the bus lines coming into the city in which it is located. In fact, one reason North Carolina is conceded to have as good if not better bus service than any state in the country is due to the fact that from the very first the Utilities Commission has insisted upon union bus stations, the maintenance of regular schedules, the publication of rates and interchangeable tickets."

By insisting upon union bus stations, the traveling public is saved the bother and expense of having to take taxis or busses from one bus station to another, while these stations also reduce the overhead

Lover Confession

A bizarre tale of "murder by request" was related to New York police by Stanley A. Martin, Jr. (above) upon his arrest for the death of Mrs. Florence Jackson, mother of two children. He said they were in love but were despondent because both were married. "She asked me to kill her," Martin sobbed. "She handed me her red leather belt from her dress and I strangled her with it."

GOOGE FAVORS FAIR RETURNS

Federation Speaker Says Capital Due Proper Respect

Salisbury, July 28.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor, George Googe, southern representative, said today, believes on a fair return on the investment of capital and proper respects for capital rights.

Speaking before the annual convention of the state federation, Googe said "such recognition preserves the rights of wage earners and the work of an organization to improve the economical and social status of workers."

Outlining a three point program for the federation, he pledged the support of the national organization to the state executive board in all future organization activity.

The community and commonwealth's interests, he said, listing his program, are paramount to other considerations of the federation since labor must sacrifice for the common good.

The interest of the wage earner and dependence for shorter hours, higher wages and improved working conditions, Googe declared, are a barometer for human advancement and "shall not be ignored."

Under the American system, labor recognizes industry, he said, and commerce must be profitable to owner. For his third point he called for labor's cooperation in the industrial expansion.

Road Signs Refute Sunshine

Colorado Springs, Colo.—(AP)—Tourists no longer will be fooled into attempting a beforebreakfast hike to Pikes Peak, thinking it only a mile or two away.

The city engineers department has decided to post the road with signs showing the exact mileage. The peak is about 15 miles from the city.

In the clear, brilliant sunshine of mile-high altitude one peak sometimes appears to be only two or three miles from town.

Little Anticipated From Electrification Meeting

Reflector Bureau. By J. C. BASKERVILL Raleigh, July 28.—The mass meeting to be held in Smithfield tonight, called by Administrator John M. Carmody of the Rural Electrification Administration in Washington, for the purpose of protesting the action of the directors of the Johnston County Electric Membership Corporation which recently decided to reject an REA loan of $310,000 for the building of electric lines and accepted the offer of the Carolina Power and Light Co. to build the lines instead, is expected in most circles here to result in nothing more than a tempest in a teapot, or perhaps in only a breeze in an electric parlor.

For what started out to be a great face-saving demonstration on the part of the Federal REA, in which it hoped to get Governor Clyde R. Hoey to be present and if possible "the spot" now promises to fizzle out like a blown fuse.

For there is nothing the Federal REA, Administrator Carmody and the few farmers in Johnson county can do about the situation now, since the directors of the cooperative several weeks ago voted to reject the REA loan and then signed a contract with the Carolina Power and Light company under which the power company has agreed to build more miles of rural electrification lines than the REA had planned to build. It is generally agreed.

For the contract has been signed with the power company and it is already at work building lines, which it has agreed to complete by January 1, while it is doubted if the cooperative had accepted the REA loan any lines would even have been started by January 1. One of the reasons the directors of the Johnston county electric membership corporation gave for rejecting the REA loan and asking the power company to build the lines, was that they had been waiting for more than two years trying to get some lines built by the Federal REA, and they are tired of all this delay and had decided to get the power company to build them because they knew it would do the job without any further red tape or delay.

The trouble with Administrator Carmody and the REA, according to most observers here, is that they are sore and peevish at having been turned down by a county cooperative.

FIFTEEN DEAD AS RESULT OF PLANE WRECK

Netherlands Transport Plugs to Earth In Belgium

TRIO AMERICANS KILLED IN CRASH

Ten Passengers And Five Members Of Crew, Including Stewardess, Victims

Amsterdam, July 28.—(AP)—Fifteen persons three of them identified by air line attaches as Americans, died today in the flaming plunge of a Netherlands air liner at Hal, Belgium.

The ship left Amsterdam at 9:20 a. m. and crashed on a flight to Paris after having landed at the Brussels airport.

Miss Lillie Mae Davis of Washington to Carry on Work Among Children in District

Pitt county has been selected as a field for Child Welfare Services by a mutual agreement with the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare and the Pitt County Welfare Board. This service is offered in counties with well organized welfare departments where quality work has been accomplished and is made possible through a special grant by the United States Children's bureau.

Miss Lillie Mae Davis of Washington, was selected by the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare and approved by the Pitt County Welfare Board to carry on this work in Pitt county during the next year. Miss Davis is well qualified having received her training at the College of William and Mary at Richmond and three years experience with child welfare services. She will serve as member of the case work staff of the welfare department.

Special cases arising in the schools or coming for attention by the juvenile court of children under sixteen, other fertile fields for this service in Pitt county.

WAR CONFINED TO ARTILLERY

Both Insurgent And Government Armies Fagged Out

Madrid, July 28.—(AP)—Fagged by seven days of furious struggle over who is to have Madrid in Spain's civil war, Insurgents and government armies today held their combat to artillery duels.

Activity in the Brunete and Villanueva de la Canada sectors of the western front was confined to shelling of each side's positions while each army dug itself in firmer for a determination of "the battle for Madrid."

In the respite from the hand-to-hand struggle precipitated by General Jose Miaja's bold offensive into insurgent rear guard positions about 15 miles west of the capital, insurgent and government troops alike buried their dead.

The bodies were gathered up with ammunition and arms which had been left in trenches and open fields when tides of infantrymen ebbed and flowed over the hills and plains to the west.

Meantime Madrid's police announced they had arrested as a spy the former Countess de la Puebla de Montalban.

IMPROVEMENTS ON LEAF MART

Greenville Market Is Making Preparations for Season

K. W. Cobb, supervisor, declared today that great preparations were being made by the Greenville tobacco market to handle the 1937 crop. Auctions will start in this belt on August 26, less than one month away.

One of the many improvements now going on on the Greenville tobacco market is in the R. J. Reynolds plant. This already large plant is now being nearly doubled. When this addition is completed the Reynolds company practically will be able to double its daily capacity.

The large new addition adjoins the old plant and faces on the Norfolk Southern railroad and Pitt street.

Another big improvement being made by the Greenville market this season is the mammoth new factory just completed by the American Sales company, which buys tobacco on this market for the American Tobacco company. This plant now completed, is one of the most modern plants in Eastern North Carolina. It will put the American Sales company in position to handle much more tobacco. This factory is situated on Fourteenth and Pitt streets and the Norfolk Southern railroad.

With this new factory and the addition to the Reynolds plant, the Greenville tobacco market will be in position to handle more tobacco and have more factory space than in previous years.

WAR CONFINED TO ARTILLERY LEAF GROWERS DETERMINED TO KEEP PRICES AT FAVORABLE LEVELS

Washington, July 28.—(AP)—Representatives of North Carolina tobacco growers expressed determination today to keep leaf prices at favorable levels.

A warning tobacco markets in the state would be closed if prices were unfavorable followed a statement by Chairman Jones (D-Tex.) of the House Agriculture committee that farm legislation at the present session of congress was doubtful.

J. E. Winslow of Greenville, N. C. president of the North Carolina farm federation, said efforts would be continued to obtain tobacco legislation, but if they failed emergency steps would be taken.

He said the plans agreed upon was if prices were held to be unfair to the grower the markets would be closed during which a referendum would be held on establishing marketing quotas for the 1938 crop.

Winslow and other representatives of North Carolina tobacco growers met yesterday with congressmen interested in tobacco legislation.

TERROR RULES AS KING PAYS IRELAND VISIT

Peace of Belfast Shattered as Sovereign Appears

BLAME TROUBLE ON REPUBLICANS

Bombs, Arson and Gunfire Signal Hostile Greeting to King George, VI

Belfast, Northern Ireland, July 28.—(AP)—Terrorists shattered the peace of Belfast and Ulster's Free State border with bombs, arson and gun fire today in hostile greeting to King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

Police blamed the outbreak on Irish Republicans.

While the king and queen on a coronation visit, were driving to the Belfast city hall through crowded streets a gas main explosion a half mile away boomed through a wide area of Belfast. It came as a climax to a night of terror in which custom houses were burned and a railway bridge dynamited.

After the British sovereigns were received in the city hall, attended a state luncheon and a garden party and saw a parade of youth organizations, investigators decided the gas explosion probably was accidental.

However the Royal Ulster constabulary at Belfast said they were investigating the possibility the blast might have been caused by a land mine.

Other explosions and disorders including the burning of 28 custom houses between Carrington and Bundoran, were attributed to a "big plot," rumors of which had reached the ears of authorities last week.

Crowds lining the streets cheered the king and queen on their drive through the city. The throngs started gathering last night and hundreds ate picnic breakfasts in the streets to keep their places.

Evidence Offered By Defendants In Krochmalny Trial

Attempts Made by Lawyers for Kinsman to Refute Evidence Presented by State

Burgaw, July 28.—(AP)—The defense offered eleven witnesses today in an effort to refute state's testimony at the trial of three men charged with the cremation murder of a kinsman, Paul Krochmalny, on the night of April 4, 1936.

A number of the witnesses testified Nick Zuravio, who testified for the state that he saw the trio burn the crippled laborer's body in a dairy sterilizer furnace, had a "bad" reputation. Several admitted on cross-examination, however, that they never heard of his being involved in "trouble" except with members of his own family.

The state charges the three, Pete Krochmalny, brother of Paul; Pete's son, Paul, and a son-in-law, Ervin Williams, killed the elder Paul to obtain $1,000 in receipts from the sale of a farm, and then burned the body.

Considerable testimony today centered about the dimensions of the furnace door.

Big Celebration Planned Open Sandhills Project

Reflector Bureau. By J. C. BASKERVILL Raleigh, July 28.—The several thousand people who are expected to attend the big barbecue and formal opening of the Sandhills Land Use project of the Resettlement Administration, near Hoffman are expected to be surprised at what they will find there, despite the fact that the project is still far from completion, according to Resettlement officials here today.

For while those attending the celebration, including Governor Clyde R. Hoey and other state officials are expected to show particular interest in the 2,000 pounds of pig meat which has already been purchased for the big barbecue when noon and eating time arrives, they are also expected to become just as interested in many other aspects of the celebration, which will include a tour of the 62,000 acre project.

This Sandhills project is in reality a three-fold project, in that it is designed to show what can be accomplished at the same time and on the same land, along the lines of forest development, wild life conservation and recreational development, according to James M. Gray,

MOTHER SLAYS TWO CHILDREN

Farm Woman, However, Fails in Attempt Kill Self

Henderson, July 28.—(AP)—Two small sons of Mrs. P. R. Overby, 31-year-old farm woman, died shortly before noon today of bullet wounds which Coroner Asa Paschall said were inflicted by their mother.

Mrs. Overby was brought to a hospital here apparently seriously ill. The coroner ascribed her condition to poison which he said she swallowed after shooting the children, John Russell, 7, and Jimmie Davis, six months.

Paschall said an aunt of Mrs. Overby told him her niece had telephoned her of shooting her sons and taking poison.

The tragedy took place at the Overby home seven miles in the country. Overby is employed at a filling station here.

The coroner reported finding a note with Mrs. Overby's signature in which she said she killed her sons because she wanted them to go to heaven.

GENERAL FARM BILL DEAD FOR THIS SESSION

Agreement Expected to Allow Early Adjournment

WAGE-HOUR BILL STILL PENDING

Administration's Labor Standards Bill Drastically Revised by House Committee

Washington, July 28.—(AP)—Speaker Bankhead declared today an agreement to postpone general farm legislation until next session had "greatly clarified" the congressional adjournment situation.

He told his press conference several questions about the legislative program remained undecided, but he expressed hope further progress toward fixing a time for adjournment would be made at a White House conference late today.

Senate majority leader Barkley of Kentucky, and house majority leader Rayburn of Texas will accompany him to the parley.

Chairman Jones (D-Tex.) of the house agriculture committee, announced the decision on the farm bill, saying this would permit full study of the legislation before the next session.

The decision removed from the path of adjournment one of the main obstacles. Another big hurdle, the wage-hour bill, was up in the senate for debate and discussion of a number of amendments.

The house labor committee meanwhile drastically revised the administration's wage-hour bill to give the proposed labor standards board power to establish minimum wages as high as 70 cents an hour and a maximum work week as short as 35 hours.

The house committee acted while the senate debated the administration measure to permit such a board to fix wages no higher than 40 cents an hour and the hours no lower than 48 a week.

The house changes were made committee members said, after Chairman Norton (D-N.J.) voted to break a tie. The changes were prepared by Rep. Wood (D-Mo.).

Although declining details of the amendment, Rep. Ranspice (D-Ga.) ranking majority member predicted it would defeat the bill in the house if left unchanged.

Bankhead had listed wage-hour legislation as one of the measures the administration wants this session. Other measures he listed

How To Rouge As Crowsfeet Begin To Show

By BETTY CLARKE
(AP Feature Service Writer)
Purple eye-shadow and platinum nail polish won't fool the public into thinking madame is 30 if she is 45.

But if madame would pay attention to the application of creams and conservative cosmetics she'd be more successful in preserving the illusions of youth.

Helen Rubenstein has a few tips for the woman who finds she's getting crows' feet and a suspicious-looking double-eyebrow.

First: Pick a cleansing cream with special lubricating qualities. The skin tends to dry with the years.

Second: An older woman needs a tissue cream. She uses it around the eyes, to counteract crows' feet and puffiness. She slaps it vigorously all over her face, for muscle stimulation.

Third: She particularly watches her neck, eyes and hands, for they age most rapidly.

Massage the neck downward. All movements on the neck are down; on the face, up. Crepe throat will disappear under vigorous massage.

Rub tissue cream around the eyes, moving the tips of the fingers in an outward motion below the eyes, and an inward motion above the eyes.

Because eyes get smaller with age, and the lids droop, take hold of the skin above the eyebrows and push upward. A few motions like this morning and night will enlarge the eyes, and relieve drooping muscles.

Older women take care of fading

Older Women Should Stay Within The Dots

ing hair, but they neglect fading eyebrows and eyelashes, says the specialist, who judges the age of a woman by brows and lashes. So use a darker eyebrow pencil than the one your daughter wears.

Wear gloves with cream on them at night, to get rid of wrinkled hands. A grand exercise for chasing wrinkles is to rub cream on the fingers, and then push down on each finger, exactly as though you were putting gloves on. Hold the hands high while exercising them, and repeat the exercise nightly.

For an all-round face-lifting, Mme. Rubenstein suggests a beauty mask of silk, which lifts sagging parts and tightens flabby spots.

It should be worn for about 20 minutes daily, or longer, if you're engrossed in a book, or soaking in a hot tub.

Finally for make-up! Place rouge high, but don't put it on above the cheekbones, as it will tend to emphasize puffiness. Stick to the rose shades in make-up, since sun-tan colors accentuate sallowness.

Be conservative with lipstick.

For The Caddy, Hard Times Come Again No More

ATLANTA — Prosperity has returned for the caddy, with golf courses crowded as never before. That's why the caddy on the left is carrying two bags. He's caught a double — $1.50 and tips. That's why the grinning blackamoor above is so happy. He's been "livin' right" — prerequisite to successful financial manipulation.

TIPS are bigger "lak old times"—It's fo' bits and up." Drinks go the round at the 19th hole, the caddies getting "setups." This dusky club-legger wastes no time disposing of his refreshment.

DURING the busiest months, caddies usually work 18 holes in the morning and 18 holes in the afternoon. In between, they dose. These photographs, taken at "Mistuh Bobby Jones' kose"—The East Lake country club of Atlanta — are typical of shots that might be made almost anywhere in the U. S. as the golf season reaches its peak. "De preshun done ended."

NECESSARY TO FILE REPORTS

Unemployment Compensation Commission Insistent

Raleigh, July 28. — Employers, those who have not yet made their quarterly reports on payments to individual employees for January, February and March, forms 16 and 17, now three months overdue, will find themselves in hot water unless they make these reports in a hurry. The N. C. Unemployment Compensation Commission is now considering seriously invoking the law, as found in Chapter 1, Public laws of 1936, special session; Section 16, subsection (c), on the delinquents. This provision reads:

"Any employer who shall willfully violate any provision of this act or any rule or regulation thereunder, the violation of which is made unlawful or the observance of which is required under the terms of this act, and for which a penalty is neither prescribed herein nor provided by any other applicable statute, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $20 nor more than $200, or by imprisonment for not longer than sixty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and each day such violation continues shall be deemed to be a separate offense."

Field representatives have called on many of these employers, sometimes more than once, and they have promised to send in the reports. Director E. W. Price of the Unemployment Compensation division, states, "Delay in filing these reports, now three months overdue, is seriously delaying the division in starting the records for individual employees." Mr. Price said. The commission is seriously considering citing such delinquent employers before it to show cause why the penalty should not be imposed, he stated.

These reports were due by April 30, and most of them are in, but probably 10 per cent of the employers have not yet filed them.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

Hollywood — Movie factories: "All Baba Goes to Town" is Eddie Cantor's first film under the Twentieth Century trademark, and the studio is going to town on production. Lavish sets, interior and exterior, have been built, each looking like Darryl Zanuck's answer to Sam Goldwyn, who has a reputation for sparing no expense. Eddie and Sam parted company with headlines and commotion before the comedian sized with Zanuck, and Hollywood is curious to see whether Eddie won or lost in leaving Sam. Eddie plays a movie extra who goes to sleep in one of the prop jars used for an Ali Baba movie, and dreams himself back in to dear old Arabia where he starts a New Deal.

—Er—Miss Hovick Today's scene has Eddie being stabbed with a prop knife by Douglas Dumbrille, an Old Dealer in whiskers, silks and turban, while courtiers, equally bedecked, look on. Eddie has brought the knife from Hollywood in his dream, and Dumbrille is astounded when it has no effect on Eddie, who merely inquires, "Which way should I fall?" But the prop knife springs squeak in undreamy fashion, and they have to take the scene again.

Gypsy Rose Lee—I mean Louise Hovick—is in this picture with June Lang, Roland Young, Alan Dinehart and others. The assistant director, summoning Gypsy, calls "Miss Hovick" and when Dave Butler, the director, calls her he says "Miss Lee—er—Miss Hovick." Even at home Zanuck is making the name change stick.

A Playful Spider For "The Bride Wore Red" Hollywood has gone to the mountains and also brought the mountain to Hollywood. The Joan Crawford picture is now back in the sound stages after a location trip to the High Sierras. Stage 15 is a nice Tyrolean setting, complete with trees and foliage.

And there is excitement not in script. Joan is emoting smoothly when suddenly she grasps her arm and says "Ouch." There is concern—the star has been bitten by a spider.

"Oh, it's nothing," says Joan. But Dorothy Arzner, the director, insists on calling a nurse to treat the wound. They also get out the spray guns and declare war on other spiders that might be lurking in the transplanted foliage.

The spider, it develops, was playful rather than vicious, and the show goes on. . . . Some stars take to their beds—with headlines—at incidents of this sort. . . .

Kansas fattens more than 300,000 southwestern ranch and range cattle on its bluestem pastures each year.

ETIQUETTE

By JOAN DURHAM (AP Feature Service Writer)

It's an old hostess custom—sleeping in one's own guest room. It pays handsome dividends in reputation.

The only way to know if your guest room bed is comfortable is to spend a night in it.

The only way to find out how good the mirror in the adjoining bathroom is for shaving is to have your husband try it out.

Here's a list of guest-knacks to anticipate the needs of your most fastidious visitor:

In The Bedroom . . . A bed that's neither too hard nor too soft. That insures a grouch-free night in the morning.

Pleanty of blankets. Try sleeping in your wrapper or under a coat that keeps sliding off during the night, as some guests have had to do, if you don't believe it.

Windows and doors that open and shut easily and then stay put. Otherwise a guest may get up a dozen times some right to prop a chair against a door or push open a window that blows shut with each strong gust of wind.

A clock that's wound and running when the guest arrives. Ate least two books—neither too high nor too low-brow for the guest.

Letter paper or penny postals—so the guest can get off those necessary notes. Don't forget pen, ink, and blotter. And in case your guest is having such a good time he forgets the date, a calendar makes a handy addition.

Empty drawers. And that means EMPTY. At least one small drawer for items such as cosmetics, one large one for underwear, sweaters, etc.

A clothes brush. A shoe brush helps, too.

An ash tray or two, and matches. A small sewing kit—with darning cotton and plain thread. A good mirror and a good light.

Try putting a full-length mirror on the back of the closet door. Add a bed-lamp for reading.

In The Bathroom . . . Plenty of hot water. Faucets that turn completely off. No all-night drip-drips.

S soap. It doesn't have to be fancy, but there must be plenty of it. Extra tooth brush, a guest-size tube of tooth-paste, and a small bottle of mouth wash.

At least one generous bath towel, a face towel and a face cloth for each guest.

Paper tissues—in case you have lipstick smudgers.

Good mirror and plenty of light. (Yet, that's a duplicate. But the bathroom mirror is especially important if your guest is masculine.)

A clean tumbler. That means sparkling clean. None of those nebulous "water marks" on the bottom.

Let Conscience be Your Guide at the Beach

Hints to some surf bathers are never sufficient.

In spite of pointed glances from the beach and whistling by lifeguards, they persist in swimming in their own sweet way and cavorting in their own abusive manner.

Beach bathing is a cooperative enterprise. Because of crowds, and with individual as well as collective comfort in mind, each beach has its own rules. They should be observed.

Some beaches, for instance don't dress or dress, do you? Neither allow swimmers to bring lunch boxes. They provide stands and pavilions—with paid attendants to collect all the debris.

If you go to a beach where it's permissible to take your own lunch, however, here are two notes.

Always remember to keep your benefit. You don't want your food lunch box closed—for your own garnished with sand.

Put the papers and refuse in containers provided for that purpose or roll the mup and put them back into your lunch box until you can get rid of them.

All beach equipment belong to somebody. Just because an especially attractive chair doesn't have an occupant when you spot it, don't take it for granted it will remain empty all afternoon.

Confine your baseball, badminton and other game to your own territory.

Most beaches have regulations about where you can put cabanas, chairs and umbrellas. If you set them up in the lifeguard's line of vision, for instance you'll only have to move them.

Wet bathing suits and hair are definitely allergic to sand. If you must bury people it's a good plan to make sure your friends don't object to that particular method of embalming.

Don't swim beyond the last buoy or rope—or whatever limits the beach authorities set up.

And last, but definitely not least, exercise a little consideration when you leave your locker room. You don't relish trailing across a pile of wet towels to the bench to unload your gear, do you? Neither does the other fellow.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington — Before another election time comes around Walter L. Williams of Millinocket, Me., wants to have all Democratic party workers organized on an industrial union basis so they can bargain collectively for division of patronage jobs.

Williams as president of the National Union for Collective Bargaining of Democratic Party Workers, says he already has signed up 22,000 party workers disgruntled with the way party bosses control job distribution without reference to the rank and file.

"In accordance with the cherished principles of American democracy," says Williams, "the endorsement of a majority of the votes and a majority of the party workers in any given political subdivision does and should carry more force than the endorsement of any individual or minority group in that political subdivision."

Appeal Williams and attractive Mrs. Ernest Krieger of Warwick, R. I., carried their case straight to Democratic headquarters and evidently ran head on into blunt Charlie Michaelson, master publicity man. He told them to put their ideas in writing and send them to the national committee. But he said it was not likely the party officials would surrender any of their prerogatives of management.

Williams, who seems to have a government job of no particular importance, asks that party workers be given a citation for work performed for the party. The citation would grade the worker according to what he had done for the party and give him a claim on the kind of job his work merited, regardless of whether he stood in with the ward boss.

He does not set out the gradations of merit, but might find it suitable to grade the workers' service something in the manner of movie reviewers with one, two, three and four star ratings.

Starring 'Em We would suggest: One star—Good for athletically postmaster, or foreman on a WPA theatre project. Something paying around $100 to $125 a month.

Two star—Good for a job as assistant internal revenue collector, or minor executive post in the department of agriculture or RFC, at $200 to $350 a month.

Three star—Good for a pretty trim job, such as internal revenue collector for a state, executive secretary to some federal board, or state director of WPA or social security; $5,000 to $7,000 a year.

Four star—Good for a top flight job such as appointment to the federal trade commission, the labor mediation board or international boundary commission, where the pay is about $10,000 a year.

Four star—colossal—Good for innocuous cabinet post such as secretary of war or navy, or minister to Iran, with pay $10,000 to $12,000 plus political emolument.

Super-four star—colossal—A first line cabinet post, such as secretary of the treasury, or ambassador to the Court of St. James. There is nothing too good for a super-four star—colossal party worker who contributes not only advice and counsel but pays into the party treasury a sum greater than his four year salary as secretary or ambassador.

The only trouble with Williams' proposition is that even if he organized all the political workers in Christendom the jobs would still go to the boys who were right with the ward boss or the national committeeman.

COMMON SENSE HITS CHINA'S BLIND MEN

Nanking, China (AP)—China's hundreds of thousands of blind men are waging a losing battle against the new "rule of common sense," which is depriving them of their livelihood.

Institutions for the blind were unnecessary in old China, at least for blind men. Tradition gave them a virtual monopoly over fortune-telling.

A decade ago Nationalism proclaimed the end of superstition, but did little to enforce it. Now aggressive Canton has instructed police to prohibit fortune telling. Hundreds of soothsayers have united in a petition to stay execution of a law that would reduce them to the state of beggars, so far without success.

FLAME TRAIL

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD

SYNOPSIS: Kay Crandon decides to rebuild her burned ranch house and burn through Neighbor Josh Hastings, whom she hates, wants to buy her ranch and marry Kay. Ted Gaynor, a puncher she impulsively hired, fights Scrap Johnson, a cowhand who molested Kay. Shooting it out, they wound each other. Hastings sneaks up and kills Scrap with Ted's gun. Ted crawls to a cabin where a girl (Marion) nurses him. Kay sees them together, misunderstands and deliberately gives away the hideout after a fall. Ted is arrested and taken away. Marion's insane father, the firebug, turns up.

Chapter 37

The Steel Nail Head

SOMETHING deeper and stronger than the jealous resentment that Kay had been cherishing took possession of her, and with a startled gasp she pulled herself up, as she suddenly saw the whole situation in a different light.

What did it matter whether he cared for her or the other girl? His very life was in danger, and she was doing nothing to help him! This vital issue surmounted everything else.

What could she do? What could she do? Kay clenched her fists until the nails bit into her palms. She must think of something!

She lay back and concentrated on all she knew of the affair, trying to piece it together, and turn it some way to Ted's advantage. In spite of everything, she still believed him innocent.

in sight. She tiptoed out of her room and made her way to Josh Hastings' door. Noiselessly opening it, she slipped in and shut it.

She leaned weakly against the door and looked around, while her heart beat like a trip hammer. The room was fairly tidy. The closet door was half open, and a gleam of metal on the top shelf caught Kay's eye.

Crossing the room, she reached up, and pulled down the gauntlets where she had found them, and tiptoed back to her room. Once safely back, she sank down on the bed, weak with the excitement of her discovery.

Her mind flashed to the possible consequences, but it was all too confused to see anything clearly. However, one thing was certain in Kay's own mind—Josh Hastings had been at the scene of the tragedy and for some reason he had suppressed the fact.

She realized only too well, though, that her slender evidence would be laughed to scorn, unless she had something more substantial to support it.

If only she could delay the trial! Why had it had to happen in Idaho instead of Montana? With Zeke Farley, she might have some influence; but with an unknown sheriff, there wouldn't be a chance. A vision of the monument marking the dividing line between the two states flashed before her. In her mind's eye, she could see its lettered markings—Idaho on the west side, Montana on the east.

An exclamation suddenly escaped her, and she sat upright, her eyes brilliant with excitement. Breathing quickly, she ran over to the window and looked out. Aunt Kate's rocking chair was empty, and the porch deserted.

She hastily slipped off her dress and put on her riding clothes. Clipping her broad-brimmed hat over her gleaming hair, she ran to the living room, and quickly pulled out some books she had been mulling over the day before. She shuffled over several paper pamphlets, chose one and slipped it in her pocket.

Then, turning to the front door, she noiselessly left the house, and ran down to the corral.

'No Break This Trip' WHEN Ted was led out of the shack, and gruffly ordered to follow Sam Cutter through the thick brush to the spot where the wave of weakness swept over him that he felt he never could comply with the demand.

Realizing, however, that he would be bound and ignominiously carried if he couldn't make the grade on his own, he summoned all his strength, and pushed on.

Sam Cutter motioned him to the horse he was to ride, slit the ropes at his wrists, and watched him mount.

"You know what any try for a break means, don't you?" He put his hand on his holster.

Ted nodded. "I've given you my word not to make a break on this trip," he declared shortly.

"I ain't worrying about breaks on any other trips!" Sam Cutter gave a short, disagreeable laugh. "My guess is you won't be making so very many more trips."

Ted made no answer to this jeering observation, and the sheriff led the way to the summit of the central divide, and started down the west trail to Clear Water Basin.

Ted's trial gets under way, tomorrow.

With a gasp, Kay saw a nail head missing.

AN INTERRUPTED PARADE!

18-Year-Old Dog Thrives On Candy And Ice Cream

By TOM SMITH

CINCINNATI, O. (AP)—Patrick Henry, it seems, cares not for death, but is concerned only with liberty—and ice cream.

Patrick Henry is only a German shepherd, but at 18, says Harry Lahke, his druggist owner, is "just about the best hold-up insurance I've got."

Pat wears 16 annual license tags on his shoulder harness. Others,

Lahke explains, have been lost. Registration papers "that long"—with Lahke extending his arms as if telling a fish yarn—further attest to the dog's antiquity.

Besides possessing a child-like fondness for ice cream and candy, the dog is almost human, Lahke boasts, in his "fastidious 'demeanor' for cleanliness.

"He has to have his face washed every morning and dried with a clean towel," the owner says.

"As regularly as I go to the bathroom to shave, in comes Pat, to be washed. He'll sit and watch until the last bit of lather scrapes off. Then it's his turn. If I get a used towel—nothing doing. If I start out without drying his face, I feel a tug at my wrist, and I've got to go back and finish the job."

IT'S ODD But It's Science

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE (AP Science Editor)

Cleveland — Add to the "burnished skies" sung by poets a new one discovered by three Cleveland scientists—a sky that burns you more than the sun.

The rays from one of these burning skies are ultra-violet. They come from the sun, but scatter in the blue of the sky, and fall like mist from all parts of the sky at once.

This scattering is nothing new to science. But it was not supposed that on a clear day more burning could come from the sky than from the direct rays of the sun.

M. Lukeish, A. H. Taylor and G. P. Kerr, reading sun-burn meters that recorded continuously for two years, discovered days in September when the sky rays carried nearly twice the burning power of sun rays.

They report this discovery in the Journal of the Franklin Institute.

The Roman emperor Augustus paid 20,000 crowns for a talking crow that saluted him after his victory over Marc Antony.

All games in the Coastal Plain baseball league were rained out yesterday and there was little possibility that contests could be played this afternoon.

Greenville was scheduled to have engaged the Snow Hill Billies on their diamond yesterday afternoon and were to have returned here to engage the Greene county boys today.

Thursday's schedule calls for the locals to play New Bern here with the two teams returning here Friday. Week-end entertainments call for the Greens to play in Williamston Saturday, returning here to engage the Martins on Sunday.

Officials of the Greenville club continue their efforts to bolster the team with the hopes of making a strong finish. The locals now are in seventh place, three and a half games ahead of the Kinston Eagles. Greenville has won 25 games and lost 45 this season, for a standing of .348.

Several weeks ago there was a report out that the locals were going to drop out of the league, but this is false, as you can now see. Local officials have added several new additions to the club recently and more are coming in.

LOCALS ANNOUNCED FROM ELECTRIFICATION MEETING

With which they worked day and night for more than a year and in which they spent thousands of dollars in order to build some rural lines that would show on both the State Rural Electrification Authority and the Carolina Power and Light Company. For the Federal REA not only advised the Johnston county corporation to have nothing to do with the state REA, when the state authority was trying to help it get a loan approved more than two years ago, but later urged it to ignore the state REA and come to it direct, with the hint that if it did so it would get the money it was seeking. Up to this time, the state REA had managed to keep the Carolina Power and Light company out of Johnston county for almost two years, although it had the right to build lines in the county under its original franchise.

But when the state REA found that the Federal REA would not cooperate with it but was actually encouraging county groups to ignore the state law, it then washed its hands of the entire matter, thus leaving the power company free to go into Johnston county to build lines—which it did. It was then that the Federal REA went into court and obtained an injunction to prevent it from building any more lines and that the power company sought a similar injunction to prevent the REA-financed cooperative from building any lines parallel to its new lines.

But between the time the power company started building its lines and the injunctions were sought, it went to Washington and offered to compromise with the REA and Morris L. Cooke, who was then administrator, would have accepted the compromise and agree to sell out to the Carolina Power and Light Co., if it would have agreed to have nothing more to do with the state Rural Electrification Authority, it was learned here today from a very reliable source.

The power company officials, however, told Cooke that they had already told the state REA that they would cooperate with it and build as many miles of rural lines as were feasible in their territory and that they could not break this agreement with the state REA. As a result, Cooke refused all offers of compromise and virtually declared war both on the power company and the state REA. The mass meeting tonight is regarded as the last piffle in this war.

RUSHTON, SS: RUSHTON, ETC., ETC.

Hunter, Utah (AP)—When the Hunter baseball team takes the field, it's Rushton to Rushton to Rushton—no matter where the ball is hit.

Because the team includes the Rushton brothers, Sam, pitcher; Chris, pitcher or catcher; Syl, first baseman, and Ed, outfielder; and their cousins—all Rushtons—Owen, second base; Clyde, shortstop; Lawrence, third base; Warren, outfield, and Parley, outfield. A complete family nine.

The roster also includes Randy Mosser, Levi Evans, Claude Coon and George Feulner.

The Rushton team — at least seven of 'em play in every game—won 12 of its first 13 games in the Victory Independent league, and captured three of its first four contests in the Farm Express circuit.

BRITISH BATTLER

WADE ALLOWS RECORDS TALK

Williamston Hurler, Unlike the Deans, Modest Chap

Larry Wade, the sterling right-hander of the Williamston Martins, didn't splash in baseball this year with any Dean Deay flair of his ability. The modest chap from Alabama has sought to make light of his achievements on the diamond, preferring to let the records speak for themselves.

Larry has done some excellent pitching in independent ball and at Oglethorpe University, where he plugged hard to get an education and accumulated two degrees.

But it's useless to try to worm much out of him. "There are very few outstanding events in my career," he says. "I'm just like thousands of other country boys. I was gifted with the ability to do most any kind of work and I went out and sought a college education."

"Now, I'm in my first year of trying to make a business of this professional game called baseball."

"Trying" is a good word. The records show Larry one of the best flingers in the Coastal Plain circuit, and it looks very much like he is going to make a success of the "business."

There is every opportunity in the world for a good young pitcher with the St. Louis Browns, and Wade's trail leads right to that port. The Browns have changed managers and are in the throes of reorganization. There is a link between the Martins and Johnston in the Middle Atlantic league, and that club is controlled by the Browns. All of which means that if Larry keeps up his sterling pitching, there is a chance for him to go south with the Browns next spring. Pitching is what the Browns need most, and there's a job there for the fellow who can show anything.

Wade, who once was a catcher, moved to the pitcher's mound because his teams always faced a shortage of chunkers. He's 24 years old in his first season of professional ball, but what of it? Few questions will be asked about age if he keeps on winning.

Sport Slants

Tommy Farr talks a whale of a fight.

Whether the latest British heavy-weight importation is as fluent with his fists as with his tongue remains to be seen. But if you are willing to take his word for it there will be a new world heavyweight champion crowned after he squares off against Joe Louis late in August.

"And after I defend the title two or three times (winning it is a mere formality), I shall retire," spoke Tommy bravely as the Berengaria made her way up New York harbor. "Got to give some other fellow a chance, you know."

Purely on the strength of his record there is little reason to agree with the British battler that Louis is going to prove a soft touch. On the contrary, there is every indication that if either is to prove an easy mark it is likely to be the visitor from abroad.

Farr outpointed Tommy Loughran, the record book shows, and he beat Ben Foord, Max Baer and Walter Neusel, stopping the latter in four heat. He has improved in the last six months but it is extremely doubtful that he has come along far enough to extend the Brown Bomber.

Farr bases his confidence on the fact he has made an exhaustive study of the Bomber's recent fights from movies and is convinced that Louis can be hit. And then, too, he has met and defeated eight or nine colored fighters.

Reports from abroad have it that Farr is a fair boxer and able to absorb considerable punishment but if he packs a knockout punch he has failed to show it.

In appearance he reminds one of an English bulldog. His background indicates that he comes of rugged stock, his father and grandfather before him having gained some measure of renown as bare-knuckle fighters. Perhaps here is a British heavy who can stay on his feet for a while.

First use of wireless telegraphy to report a major steamship disaster was when the liners Republic and Florida collided in 1909.

UNITED STATES REGAINS TITLE

Ten-Year Campaign to Recapture Davis Cup Ended

Wimbledon, Eng., July 28.—(AP)—The United States won the Davis Cup Tuesday—Frankie Parker and Don Budge swept the final two singles matches of the challenge round with Great Britain and brought the Stars and Stripes to the end of a 10-year campaign aimed at recovery of the international team tennis trophy.

To Parker, 21-year-old player from Milwaukee, went the honor of clinching the series with a 6-2, 6-4, 6-2 triumph over Charles Edgar Hare in the first of today's matches. Then Budge, "veteran" of the team at 22, made the final series count 4-1 by whipping the British stylist Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin, 8-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

When it was all over, Her Highness the Princess Helena Victoria lifted the big trophy from a table draped with the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack, and handed it over in the name of the British who had held it since 1933 when France's six-year grip finally was broken.

Thus the cup, which had defied all American efforts since age crept into William Tatem Tilden's legs was ready for its first crossing of the Atlantic since 1927. That was the year that Rene Lacoste and Henri Cochet whipped Tilden and Little Bill Johnston on the final day of the challenge round and took the cup to France.

And not the least remarkable feature of American triumph was the fact that it was accomplished with perhaps the youngest team that ever reached a Davis Cup challenge round. Gene Mako of Los Angeles, third member of the squad used in the finals is only 21.

Although deprived of the privilege of scoring the clinching point, Budge remained the hero in America's successful drive. The singles victory which the California redhead scored over Hare on Saturday and the doubles triumph which he and Mako earned against C. R. D. Tuckey and F. H. D. Wilde Monday left Parker in a position to clinch the cup.

And it was the lion-hearted Budge who shouldered almost all the tenuous burden in the interzone finals with Germany and who whipped Gottfried von Cramm in the most spectacular five-set match Wimbledon's center court ever has seen to clinch America's berth in the challenge round.

Farr Chesty In Meeting Louis

Tommy Farr, England's heavyweight pride, presented this picture of chestiness when he and Champ ion Joe Louis met in the office of the New York State Athletic commission and signed articles for their bout, August 26. Joe looks on—without any display of emotion, as usual—while Dr. William Walker examines Farr.

used by the 4-H clubs, farm groups, Boy Scouts, church organizations and other groups which may want to use it from a week to two weeks during the spring and summer months. It will consist of one large building which will serve as a combination dining and recreational hall, 20 bunk houses, a caretakers house, another lake, boat-house, officers quarters, wash room and showers and a craft shop.

In developing the forestry angle, the chief activity will be that of restoring the long-leaf pine forests, or which the Sandhills section was once famous. Several millions of seedlings have already been set out in the section of the project being used as a nursery and some 8,000,000 seedlings have already been taken from this nursery and planted in other sections. Some 65 miles of roads which serve as attractive drives for tourists and as effective fire-breaks in case of forest fires. One of the largest fish hatcheries ever built anywhere will be part of the wild-life conservation work undertaken and consists of 20 one-acre fish breeding pools, now almost completed and ready for operation. In order to supply water for the fish hatchery, McKinney lake has been constructed by the building of a large dam. This lake covers some 80 acres. A residence for the hatchery superintendent has also been built near the lake and he is now living in it and superintending the work of completing the hatchery.

A game farm, with a brooder house capable of taking care of from 2,000 to 3,000 young quail or wild turkeys has also been completed and some 200 fowls and cover plants for game have been planted throughout the project.

Three game refuges for deer, turkey and quail have been set aside within the project. One of these is an area of 13,000 acres in Scotland county, one in Richmond county of 11,000 acres and another in Richmond of 2,500 acres. These game refuges will be inclosed with a strand of heavy wire with signs at regular intervals proclaiming them as refuges. They will be patrolled and administered in cooperation with the State Department of Conservation and Development.

Both games in the City softball league were rained out yesterday and no games were scheduled today. Even if the schedule called for games today, rain threatened to keep the players indoors.

The league leading Tadlock Mutual Insurance agency team was scheduled to have played the bottom-place lawyers and Person-Garrett was scheduled to have engaged the Flanagan Buggy company team yesterday.

These two rained out games are added to a long list of postponed games. It is the first game postponed by Tadlock's team, however. Besides yesterday's game, the lawyers are behind a game with Person-Garrett. The tobacco team has two postponed games with the lawyers, Flanagan's and two with Carolina Sales.

Coburn Shoe company is behind games with Carolina Sales, Blount-Harvey and Flanagan Buggy company. Blount-Harvey is due to make up games with Carolina Dairy and C-burn's Carolina Dairy has missed only one game, that with the Blount-Harvey team. Flanagan's is behind games with Person-Garrett and Coburn's Carolina Sales has had postponed contests with Coburn's, and two with Person-Garrett.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, July 28.—(AP)—Aircraft issues climbed in the stock market today and brought irregular improvement to some groups. Following the brisk upswing in the aviation issues, U. S. Steel stiffened after an early slump and General Motors moved up a bit after an initial drop more than a point.

HELPS FOR HOUSEWIVES

Use equal parts of lime or lemon juice in place of the vinegar called for in French dressing recipes.

Kisses and tortes require long slow baking. Individual kisses ordinarily require about 30 minutes and large tortes an hour.

Cook peas and green beans uncovered if you want them to retain their color. Be careful not to overcook green vegetables.

Use leftover potatoes, add a creamy white sauce and combine them with other leftover cooked vegetables or hard-cooked eggs.

Use leftover potatoes, add a creamy white sauce and combine them with other leftover cooked vegetables or hard-cooked eggs.

A little vinegar or lemon juice will add to the piquancy of greens. It should not be cooked into the greens, but sprinkled over them just before they are served.

Sweet omelets are general favorites. Add one teaspoonful of sugar to the regular omelet batter. When the omelet is cooked cover it with fresh fruits or berries sprinkled with sugar. Serve it immediately—with syrup, honey or whipped cream. (Fruits may also be used as a filling if the omelet is served half turned over.)

To make a "rose jar" collect petals from several types of roses. (Select those with a heavy perfume.) Sprinkle the leaves over a flat surface in the sun and leave them until they have dried very crisp. Then put them in a jar. The fragrance will keep for several months.

Party food for the four-year-old should be very simple and yet have a "party air." Serve a luncheon or supper during the regular hour for that meal. Place creamed chicken in mashed potato or boiled rice nests. Add a helping of butter green beans. Put animal cut-out sandwiches on the edges of the plates.

Paris (AP)—Mantilla head-dresses are being worn here with lace evening frocks having foundations of contrasting color. At a recent gala dinner at the Ambassadeurs a bright blue lace mantilla was worn with a lace frock of the same color made over white, and a black one accompanied a black lace dress designed over a pink foundation.

Use Soap Jelly
Never rub soap directly onto blankets in laundering them. Use a soap jelly. After the blankets have been rinsed, dry them in the shade—to prevent them from turning yellow. Press satin or silk bindings with a warm, rather than a hot, iron.

Louisburg Canvassers Netting Good Returns

Louisburg, July 28.—The total amount of subscriptions and cash collected at the end of the first day of actual canvassing by the Louisburg group of the Franklin county unit of the Louisburg College Forward Movement program was $1,985 or approximately $2,000.

This report is of the Louisburg section of Franklin county and does not include the first day with the Franklinton and Youngsville units. Franklin county's quota is $10,000 in the $100,000 goal for the entire N. C. Conference which comprises 49 eastern counties.

Canvassing began simultaneously

Refrigerator Note
The family of four or five requires a refrigerator with at least six cubic feet of space. Seven cubic feet is even better. When selecting a refrigerator choose one large enough to store fruits and vegetables as well as meats, and dairy products.

French cooking possesses approximately 1400 sauces, yet every chef's ambition is to create a new one.
