ANOTHER STEP TAKEN TOWARD ADJOURNMENT

Resolution Adopted Dispensing With Some Rules

DEFICIENCY BILL COMES UP NEXT

Senator Copeland Accuses Black of Being in Sympathy With Ku Klux Klan

Washington, Aug. 17.—The House took another stride toward adjournment today by adopting a resolution to dispense with some of its rules for the rest of the session.

The next order of business was passage of the third and final deficiency bill. Disposal of that appropriation measure will leave on the House program only the Wagner housing legislation, among major bills leaders expect to pass.

The Senate heard Senator Copeland, (D-N. Y.) today call Senator Black (D-Ala.) a K. K. K. "sympathizer" in debate on the Alabama nomination to the Supreme Court. Leaders hoped to have Black confirmed before the Senate quite for the day.

The House's tape-cutting resolution would: Permit dispensing with the morning prayer and reading of the journal; allow a motion at any time to suspend the rules and pass a bill by a two-thirds vote, authorize day-to-day recesses instead of adjournments; let the rules committee bring in rules and get their approval the same day by a majority vote.

The resolution was passed despite a suggestion by Representative Rankin (D-Miss.) it might apply to a special session if any were called in October or November to consider farm legislation.

Chairman O'Connor (D-N. Y.) of the rules committee, said theoretically the resolution might apply to a special session, but that is not likely to happen.

The only possible hitch apparent in the drive toward adjournment was the revolt of certain House Democrats over abandonment of the wage-hour regulation bill and the omission by the House appropriations committee of funds for farm tenancy.

Funeral Held For Young Victim Of Unusual Accident

Carl Briley Stocks Succumbs To Injury Suffered Week Ago When Hand Hit by Car Door Handle

Carl Briley Stocks, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Stocks who live on the Greenville-Winter-ville highway, succumbed at 11:05 o'clock last night in Pitt General hospital to injuries suffered last Tuesday morning when his hand was torn from his arm when it struck the door handle of a passing automobile.

The automobile was driven by Amos R. Avery of near Winterville. Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst, who investigated the freak accident, said it appeared that Avery was on the hard surface and that he was of the belief that the boy threw out his hand as the car passed and it struck the door handle. Young Stocks was on his way home for breakfast from a tobacco barn.

No charges have been preferred against Avery.

Funeral services for the youth were conducted at the home this afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. J. C. Moye, Free Will Baptist minister of Snow Hill.

Besides his parents, the youth is survived by six brothers, Ormand Marvin, Leon, Bonnie, Dock and Leo Stocks; and three sisters, Mrs. A. J. Fussell and Misses Alma and Minnie Lou Stocks, all of Pitt county.

Active pallbearers were James Ray Moye, Norman Prede, James Moxingo, Dal Waters, Darwin Waters and G. W. Peede, Jr.

Roosevelt Leaves By Special Train For N. C. Tonight

Chief Executive to Deliver Address at 350th Anniversary of the Founding of the Lost Colony at 3:30 Tomorrow

Washington, Aug. 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt will leave tonight by special train for Roanoke Island on the North Carolina coast to join in celebrating the 350th anniversary of the founding of Sir Walter Raleigh's "lost colony."

Ten members of Congress will accompany him. A feature of the program will be commemoration of the birth of Virginia Dare, first child born of English parentage on this continent.

Mr. Roosevelt's address at 3:30 p. m. (EST) tomorrow will be broadcast. He will remain for a musical drama telling the story of the ill-fated colony which began its short-lived existence July 4, 1587.

Virginia Dare was the granddaughter of John White, leader of Sir Walter's second expedition to found an agricultural colony. Her mother was the former Eleanor White who married A. Dare, the governor's assistant.

The child was born a month after the expedition reached the then District of Virginia, after which she was named. Three years later when White returned from a trip to England there was no trace of the colony. Its fate is still a mystery.

The pageant which the President will see will be given in a seaside amphitheatre marked out of the big sand dunes at old Fort Raleigh.

POST MASTERS HEAR GENERAL

James Farley Upholds Inauguration of 40-Hour Week

Fayetteville, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Postmaster General James Farley told postmasters of the Carolinas today after two years of operation he had no cause to regret the 40-hour week which he approved for postal employees.

"President Roosevelt has proven the wisdom of offering greater opportunity to the man who works," he said. "His policies are exemplified to a greater degree in the postal service than in any other public or private establishment. I have believed for a long time that good wages and good working conditions are essential to good business.

The post office department head emphasized the necessity of courteous treatment of the public and urged fair, straight-forward dealing with postal employees.

"I can assure you," he said "that the postal service is in good, healthy condition. We are too busy to even think of reduction in personnel."

Leaf Dryers Under Maximum Hours Rule

Raleigh, Aug. 17.—Major A. L. Fletcher, state labor commissioner, said today tobacco redrying plants, though exempted from the state's new hours law, were subject to provisions of an old statute limiting the workweek for women to 55 hours.

Major Fletcher said it appeared that "many" tobacco redrying plants operators thought they were free from all maximum hours laws. There is no restriction of the hours of labor of men over 18 in these establishments, he said.

SINO-JAPANESE WAR ZONE

Sino-Japanese aerial warfare maintained its center in the stricken Shanghai area Monday, August 16, but also extended westward all the way up the Yangtze river to Nanking, the Chinese capital. Principal points involved in the developments included (1) Shanghai itself, where both sides braced for more heavy fighting and Chinese put heavy guns at Pootung (2) as American women and children were moved to Woosung (3), where the Inver Shipyard awaited them. Japanese aerial attacks were reported to have cut connections on the Shanghai-Nanking railroad (4), but it was reported from Nanking (5) that Japanese planes were brought down while raiding the Chuying airbase (6). Japanese claimed to have raided Chinese air bases at Soochow (7), Hangchow (8) and Kwanten (10). Many foreigners in the Hangchow area were believed to have moved to Mookanshan (8), mountain summer resort.

Awaiting Arrival Of Cars To Set Up N. C. Patrol Radio

Difficulty in Obtaining Bullet-Proof Windshields Holding Up Inauguration Of System

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, Aug. 17.—Difficulty in obtaining bullet proof windshields has indefinitely held up inauguration of the state highway patrol's system of radio broadcasting, though it may seem a far cry from one to the other.

It all comes about through inability of the patrol to get delivery of the sixty spick, span and shiny new patrol cars it has had ordered for many weeks.

More than a week ago nineteen of the roadsters, a captain's sedan and a coach were delivered and at the same time the patrol was informed the other cars would be turned over at the rate of about 4 or 5 a day, according to Paul Rosekrans, communication engineer of the highway commission. But so far no more cars have come in and Mr. Rosekrans merely shrugs his shoulders and throws up his hands when asked when others will be delivered.

The excuse for non-delivery of the vehicles, which are in Norfolk, is the inability of the company to get the bullet proof windshields. Mr. Rosekrans said. It seems that sixty windshields of the type desired were delivered some weeks ago, but for some unexplained reason they were not big enough and the wait began all over again.

The cars already delivered have been equipped with radios. The others will be so equipped as soon as they arrive. Then the forty old cars will be called in the new ones put into service. And then—though nobody knows now when that will be—the old cars will get radios and the system of broadcasting will be inaugurated.

Franco's Forces Lunge Against Biscayan City

Santander Attacked From Five Different Fronts

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Aug. 17.—(AP)—General Francisco Franco's legions lunged against the tottering defenses of Santander from five directions today.

Insurgent tacticians predicted the fall of the Biscayan capital within a week.

One powerful column, which ripped open a pass with hand grenades and bayonets, reportedly routed Spanish government troops from a pass which was the last mountain stronghold of Santander on the south.

A dispatch from the insurgent side said seven government battalions had been trapped by Franco's fast-moving offensive and the number of government dead had reached into the thousands. The insurgents claimed the government's northern defense had been demoralized.

The important manufacturing city of Reinos was captured by one insurgent column yesterday.

The government reports, while not mentioning Reinos specifically, said a "slight retreat" had been carried out because of the "important number of war elements which the enemy brought into use."

These "elements" included one of the heaviest aerial attacks of the 13-month-old civil war, demolition comparable to the tactics used to smash the "iron ring" defense of Bilbao, another Biscayan seaport, which fell to Franco in June.

The other occupants of the car, who were occupying the front seat, were not hurt it was said. The car body was practically demolished.

Bus Companies Required Maintain Union Stations

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, Aug. 17.—Efforts of bus companies to explain delay in providing adequate terminals on the grounds that they have not decided whether to maintain union stations or to use separate terminals are "all bosh" according to R. O. Self, chief clerk of the state utilities commission.

"The commission's order of June 12, 1925 provided that union stations must be maintained in certain cities. Since then all towns served by two or more bus lines have been added," he said.

"The commission hasn't the slightest idea of receding from its position. Every town must have a union station and when any bus line says it is holding up establishment of a new or better terminal pending decision whether or not it will have its own separate station or whether it will use the union station it's all bosh, because the lines all know they have to use the union station, although there is no regulation preventing it from having an additional one of its own."

Mr. Self hastened to add that the utilities commission does not attempt to dictate the location of a bus station within any city, but confines itself to passing upon the adequacy of the station after its location has been agreed upon by the companies and the city concerned.

Specifically referring to the situation at Wilmington, where there has been much discussion about the existing bus terminal and its location Mr. Self said that the city can force the bus company to stop parking its buses on the city streets while loading and unloading when the authorities believe the practice is dangerous or a nuisance.

Burlington, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Superior Court Judge Walter Bone, Nashville, ordered forfeited today the $2,000 bond of Alfred Mallico, wanted in New York State to stand an arson charge.

Mallico had been given until yesterday to surrender after an unsuccessful fight against extradition. Arson county, New York, where grand jury had indicted him on charge of arson in connection with the burning of a boat.

The defendant had not appeared at the opening of today's court session, and attorneys present pressed for the court's approval of a compromise arrangement under which Alamance county would get $800 of the bond and New York State $200. Judge Bone approved the proposal.

The cost of this latest giant whaler, eight "catcher-boats" will be $4,000,000. She will be equipped with 40 500-ton whal-ol tanks which will enable the ship, in case of war, to be converted into a petroleum tanker.

The vessel is 534 feet long, 74 feet wide, and has a draught of 57 feet. In her construction 2,800 tons of steel are used, about the same quantity of steel frames used in Japan's National Parliament are being used.

About Viruses

We are about to hear more and more about viruses and virus diseases. So we'd better know something about these disease-producing agents.

The term virus was originally employed to designate any agent capable of producing morbid conditions. Lately however, the term has been restricted to those disease-producing agents which are smaller than the micro-organisms called germs or bacteria.

Viruses are not visible under the most powerful microscopes, in ordinary light. Their existence and shape is in a measure demonstrable by the use of ultraviolet rays. The wave length of the latter being shorter than those of the visible light rays, the small bodies of the viruses apparently can interfere with the passage of ultraviolet rays, but not with those of visible light. Certain of the larger viruses can be photographed through powerful microscopes in ultraviolet light.

Viruses are responsible for numerous plant and animal diseases. Among the principal human diseases charged to viruses are infantile paralysis, rabies (hydrophobia), smallpox, measles, certain forms of brain inflammation, typhus, yellow fever, influenza and probably the common cold.

There is much speculation and a great deal of experimentation and research, centered about the question as to whether cancer in human beings may be caused by filterable viruses.

One type of cancer (sarcoma) in chickens is known to be caused by a filterable virus. A certain wart-like formation affecting rabbits which is known to undergo malignant changes resulting in cancer formations is also due to a filterable virus. But these animal tumor growths differ radically from human cancers, the cause or causes of which is still an open and unsolved problem.

One other point is noteworthy. Viruses are believed to reside and grow within the cells of the body, whereas practically all germs are placed outside and between the body cells.

Says State Banks Prepared To Loan Marketing Money

Ample Funds to Provide Farmers With Ready Cash Available at Home, Declares Bankhead

Winston-Salem, Aug. 17.—Ample money to provide orderly marketing of the state's bumper crops is available through North Carolina banks, was the opinion expressed here today by Robert M. Hanes, president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company.

He stated that approval of a government loan on cotton might be desirable as a price stabilizer, but that in his opinion bankers generally were anxious to lend money on cotton and other farm products and had abundant funds for this purpose.

"North Carolina has the best state cotton warehouse system in the country," stated Mr. Hanes, "and receipts for cotton stored in approved warehouses is good collateral at any bank. Our institution, operating in different sections of the state, is ready to lend millions of dollars to farmers, farm agencies and warehousemen. Other banks, I am sure, will do the same. There need be no dumping of our abundant harvest."

"Bank loans are naturally based on market prices, and approval of a government loan on cotton may be needed to establish a minimum price, but the money to market the crop in an orderly manner can readily be supplied by the banks."

Washington—The political dopsters are giving some attention these days to President Roosevelt's "good friend," Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky as a likely candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The floor leader of the Democrats in the senate has not indicated publicly that he is nurturing any hopes of moving from capitol hill to America's No. 1 residence at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue, but several veteran politicians here are betting that the Kentuckian will be in the intra-party derby of 1940.

They point out that Barkley as senate leader for the administration will be a party "big shot," his name appearing regularly in the newspaper headlines, during the next two years. If he hangs up a

New York—Death by thirst might be a threat to New Yorkers if the city should have an earthquake. This is pointed out by the American Society of Civil Engineers.

The city has 223 miles of tunnels in which New Yorkers travel—subway, railroad and vehicular. They include tunnels for getting off the Island of Manhattan. If a quake put these tunnels out of commission and broke water mains, the engineers figure, it would be difficult for New Yorkers to get across bridges to drinking water or to bring water enough into the city. There are 130 tunnels in the city for human use alone.

EXPORT TOBACCO COMPANY

One of the larger buying companies on the Greenville tobacco market is the Export Leaf Tobacco Company, located on Tenth street. The factory is one of the most modern to be found anywhere and is equipped with the very latest machinery for blending, redrying, packing and cleaning tobacco. Including their storages they have approximately 134,118 feet of floor space. During the tobacco season they can handle several hundred thousands pounds daily. A. E. political-geographic handicap. Kentucky has only a handful of electoral votes, and the prospect of capturing a big bloc of electoral votes—predicated on native-son support by the home folks—is the chief reason why the Democrats have so often picked a New Yorker for standard bearing honors.

Furthermore, the party hasn't gone as far south as Kentucky to choose a standard bearer since long before the Civil war. Woodrow Wilson was a native of Virginia and for that reason was hailed by some good Democrats as a southerner, but he was a resident of New Jersey when nominated.

The south could be counted upon to be solidly Democratic; so it was not considered necessary to have a candidate with particular vote-getting power in that region. Nominees generally have been chosen with an eye to their sectional appeal in New York state or the strategic agricultural midwest.

BY HULBERT FOOTNER

SYNOPSIS: Neill, a resolute young federal agent, comes to Baltimore to spend a week's vacation with his girl. But they quarrel. Janet, who is tall, attractive and independent, refuses to break her dinner-party date with Prescott Fanning Neill. Neill says Fanning is "too old" for Janet; "he spends too much money; he's too slick." Janet admits she's been warned against him, knows little about him. Both jeered, they part and Neill sets out to prove Fanning a crook. He finds the hotel manager Janet cited as Fanning's close friend. He says Fanning is "a mere acquaintance."

Chapter Two

The Gray Little Man

"How long has Fanning been around?" Neill asked.

"I couldn't tell you exactly. Some weeks," said Mr. Bromley. "What brought him here?"

"He likes the town. Looking for a little place in the Green Spring valley. I've got a place out there, and that's how I got acquainted with him. But it didn't suit him."

"Who introduced him in Baltimore? Who vouches for him?"

"Dead, I don't remember. Fanning is the sort of man you just see around. . . . Do you know anything queer about him?"

"No indeed," said Neill. "I was just trying to find out something about his standing."

"Well, don't ask me."

"Is he a man you would trust?"

"I don't trust any man," said Mr. Bromley grinning.

Neill saw that there was nothing to be had here. "Where does Fanning hang out?" he asked.

"He's a devil to women!" Eyster exclaimed.

"Lord Baltimore hotel."

This hotel was further downtown and Neill took a taxi. He sat down in the lobby and looked around. It came to him that the bellboys of a hotel generally have a low-down on the guests, and he beckoned to a lad in a bob-tailed jacket who was passing.

"Fetch me a couple of Eden Perfectoes, will you?"

The cigar stand was not more than 15 feet away, but Neill knew that bellboys never resent a guest who refuses to wait on himself.

The cigars were brought and the boy generously tipped. He held a lighted match, and Neill detained him in talk.

"Do you know a guest here called Prescott Fanning?"

"Mr. Fanning? Sure do, boss. He's in 1410, one of the best suites in the house. Mr. Fanning's a real gentleman, he is."

"What's his business?"

"Don't seem to have any. Just enjoys hisself."

"Does he get much mail?"

"Not at the hotel."

"Come on," said Neill persuasively. "Loosen up."

"What's your graft?" asked the boy with a sharp look.

"Oh, put me down as a nosy individual with a big heart."

"Well, Mr. Fanning's been a good friend to me and I ain't a-going to . . ."

"I could be a better friend if you gave me any real information about him."

The boy grinned at him as much as to say: "Prove it."

"Always happy to oblige," he said. "But I can't tell you what I don't know. Mr. Fanning carries a wad of new money in his wallet an inch thick. He plays the races, and his bar bill's pretty near a hundred a week. He appears to know everybody in town. He talks a lot but he never tells nothing. Just joshes."

"A bellboy's hero?" said Neill.

"You said it, mister! I wish they was more like him. . . . Sorry, I got to beat it. I'm not allowed to stand and talk."

Neill let him go.

Disease Found In Native Oak Trees Cause Of Concern

Leaf Curl or Leaf Blister, Caused by Fungi, Widespread Over State, Says Specialist

Raleigh, Aug. 16.—Leaf curl or leaf blister, a disease of native oaks caused by fungi, is widespread over North Carolina this year, according to O. P. Owens, of the State College department of botany.

This disease appears in the spring before new leaves mature. Gray or bluish spots form on the leaves and cause the leaf surface to push out so that it is concave on one side and convex on the other.

gray hair, gray skin, gray lips. He wore a wrinkled gray suit too, as if for protective coloring. It was impossible to guess his age. He would have been completely insignificant had it not been for his eyes Neill had ever seen. He looked like a lost soul; yet his colorless lips were twisted in a grin.

"Pardon me, sir," he said with a fawning air. "But I couldn't help overhearing part of your conversation just now."

"So what?" said Neill. He felt that he ought to be sorry for the man but he only felt repulsion.

"I heard you asking the boy about Prescott Fanning."

Neill pricked up his ears. "Do you know him?"

The gray man moistened his lips like a cat. "Yes," he said slowly. "I may say . . . that I know him."

"Sit down," said Neill. "Have a smoke?"

"That looks too big and strong for me," said the gray man with a sidelong look at the cigar. "If you will excuse me, I prefer my pipe."

"Smoke up," said Neill.

While the little man was busy filling his pipe, Neill studied him. A new type. Not criminal, yet somehow repulsive. Neill wondered if every man who has been through hell becomes repulsive to his luckier fellows.

"You may call me Eyster," he said. "David Eyster."

"I'm Walter Patton," said Neill. He was glad that Eyster did not offer to shake hands. His gray paws looked like a dead man's.

"Do you know Fanning?" asked Eyster.

"No."

"Are you anxious to meet him?"

It may be controlled by spraying with Bordeaux mixture composed of 4 pounds of builders lime, 4 pounds of copper sulphate or bluestone and 50 gallons of water.

The spray should be applied in the spring about ten days before the buds open.

However, Owens pointed out that spraying is not always advisable since the disease seldom persists in severe form for more than a year or two.

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Aug. 17.—Equipped with mechanical gadgets which will do everything except count boll weevils' teeth, Frank Parker, statistician of the United States Department of Agriculture for North Carolina, leaves today on a tour of Eastern North Carolina to gather data on crops of that section—particularly on the cotton crop.

Mr. Parker has a voltmeter which will count bolls of picked cotton, a mechanical tally by which he can tell how many bolls there are on unpicked cotton and a crop meter (played something like a piano) which will enable him to tell just how many feet, yards or rods of just what crops there are along the highways.

All these things, the U. S. D. A. people contend make their predictions and reports anything but guess work.

Third Efre, Secretary of State, is taking his vacation this week, probably with a view to attending Wednesday's climax of the Roanoke Island celebration when President Roosevelt will be the state's guest.
Mr. Efre will be back in his office here next Monday.

Convinced it is logical that everybody must eat, no matter what they do, a Negro filed application for employment as "cook" with the Highway Patrol's radio unit.

Coincidence—or something. A note on this bureau's desk read "Call Laughinghouse 301." Three-o-one, the phone book shows is the state institution commonly known as
"Dix Hill."

Raleigh's aged Miss Annie Lewis, whose attempted eviction by HOLC authorities has raised such a hubbub, seems to have been under a misapprehension shared by a large number of citizens, to wit: Nobody is ever under any obligation to pay back anything borrowed from the government.

North Carolina State's Dean Harrelson predicts the largest enrollment ever at the Raleigh college, but what most alumni are interested in is whether the football team will be the best ever. One thing stands out so far, the appointment of "Doc" Newton went far toward silencing the continual howling of the disgruntled.

Biggest business man in the state —judged by cash handled, last fiscal year was Charles M. Johnson, state treasurer, who took in $99,733,403.00 during the twelve months ended June 30.

Quite a jump from the fiscal year 1917, when $6,424,268.11 came into the state treasurer's temporary possession.

Governor Clyde R. Hoey, scheduled to go to Manteo today will not return to his office until Thursday at noon. He plans to stay in Manteo as long as President Roosevelt is there.

Question most often propounded after reading that a birth certificate for Virginia Dare has been filed here: So what?

Press reports that Colorado killed a murderer with lethal gas in three minutes. In North Carolina a recent execution which took ten minutes was classed as unusually swift.
Must be that our criminals are tougher than in the West.

CENTURY-OLD JAIL GETS THIRD INMATE

Southampton, England —(AP)—
The old wooden door of Sark Island's two-cell jail has groaned open to admit the third prisoner in its century-old history. The prisoner is a postman accused of stabbing his wife on the tiny Channel Island between Guernsey and Jersey.

The British Island, which was part of the old Dukedom of Normandy, has a population of 500.
The first prisoner in the little stone barricade was a deserter, locked up "a long time ago."
The second was a woman incarcerated nine years ago for "a trifling offense." But her sobers were so loud the jailer released her within an hour. Thereafter she sat on the step of the cottage across the way, chatting and knitting.

THE BREAD SNATCHER

CLUB ADDRESS BY HENDERSON

Boy Scout Movement Work Subject Reg- ular Rotary Meet

By WYATT BROWN
Work of the Scout movement in Greenville district for the past year was reviewed for the Rotarians last night at the regular weekly supper meeting of the Rotary club by Dr. E. L. Henderson, chairman of the Greenville district committee. Upon the conclusion of Dr.
Henderson's remarks the Rotarians paid tribute to him for the fine leadership he has given the movement locally.

There are five Scout troops in Greenville—three for white boys and two for colored boys. Dr. Henderson told how program and attention for boys already Scouts had been emphasized instead of trying to get numbers; so there are 283
Scouts this year to last year's 266 (white only). Pointing out the fact that there are too many Scouts of the lowest rank—tenderfoot—the speaker said emphasis next year would be on advancement and camping.

With a word of high commendation for Greenville's Scoutmasters who are making the movement what it is in the community today, Dr. Henderson said there was need for more and better trained leaders to supplement what is already being done for the Scouting movement is what the Scoutmasters make it for the boys.

Dr. Henderson explained that next year's budget would have to be a little larger than this year's because of improvements that need to be made at the district camp out at the Country club. When asked by Lawrence Stroud what was needed at the camp the speaker said beds of metal.

There has been much more interest in the advancement among the Scouts for the last six months.
One of the two boys sent to the Washington Jamboree will shortly become Greenville's second Eagle Scout. (Dr. Henderson's son informed the Rotarians in introducing the speaker—Eagle is the term applied to the highest rank in Scouting.) It seems Ayden and Rocky Mount have more Eagle Scouts than Greenville. This handicap can be overcome, Dr. Henderson believes if Rotarians and others will boost Scouting and the leaders. In conclusion Dr. Henderson exhorted the Rotarians to pitch in and help and to be ready to help when called upon.

Karl Pace brought to the Rotarians attention how some of the outstanding men of Greenville are giving their time and effort to the advancement of Scouting. Then Ford Harding in his eloquent way paid tribute to Dr. Henderson's fine work as district chairman and the Snow Hill, Aug. 15.—The high-riding Snow Hill Billies met their master in Young John Delaney today, and the rejuvenated Greenies from the Pitt county capital won handily over the locals in a rained-out playoff, 4-1.

The only run for the locals was a circuit smash by Bobbie Robinson, which cleared the centerfield fence, more than 400 feet from the home plate. It was the longest hit ball here this season.

Although he allowed nine safe knocks, Delaney was exceedingly stingy in the pinches, and his team mates gave him great support.

Bertram pitched well for Snow Hill, but the Billies mixed in a pair of errors with the flinger's wildness, to permit the visitors to push runs across at intervals.

Andy Johnson's double and Buck Jarvis single in the second frame accounted for Greenville's first run. After Robinson's homer had tied the count in the fourth, the visitors went ahead in the fifth by sandwiching singles by Stone and Delaney around an error.

The Greenies clinched the game in the eighth. Thompson walked. Pignataro singled to left, and Hyder's throw-in went wild. The error permitted Thompson to score and put Pignataro on third, from whence he scored on Johnson's fly to right field.

Eagles Win Their 1st Game at Williamston

Kinston, Aug. 16.—A dodge-and-duck single by Claude Wright put an end to an extra-inning battle today and gave the Kinston Eagles their first victory of the season over the Williamston Martins. Score of the 10-inning game was 4-3.

With Gillenwater on second as the result of a walk and a sacrifice, Jim Rollins relieved Pitcher Larry Wade in Kinston's 10th. Rollins had two strikes on Wright when the batter ducked on a pitch—the ball hit the bat and skidded past first base for a hit, scoring Gillenwater.

Pat Cooper, Albemarle youngster, pitched for the Eagles—and deserved the victory. He had the Martins in check most of the way and hurled three-hit ball after a three-run first inning in which the visitors failed to score.

Stringfellow's triple and an error gave the Eagles a run in the first; Wyrostek's single and Stoner's double brought one in the fifth, and Stoner hit for the circuit in the eighth.

A hit batsman and two walks filled the bases with Martins in the sixth and Artie Delm singled to send in a run. Two errors and Stevens' single scored two in the eighth.

Aw, They Won't Bite — If You Treat 'Em OK

(By The AP Feature Service)

ORANGE, Calif. — Rattlesnakes, gila monsters, tarantulas and the like are just so many pets to the Puchert family. They have a back yard full of venomous things.

Their pets are deadly but not dangerous, Otto Puchert, WPA lecturer, paradoxically explains.

Puchert, who put the venom selling business on a commercial basis and then quit when the bottom dropped out of the rattlesnake poison market, willingly demonstrates his point.

A Gentle Rattler

He erethes himself on the lawn for a little "smuggling" party with Lethal, a veteran diamond back that has buzzed in, threatening fashion when he was removed from the cage.

Lethal squirms across his master's chest, all idea of striking gone.

"Rattlesnakes," Puchert says, "need only a little understanding to be handled safely. They won't bite unless they get excited."

How To Handle Spiders

There's a catch in handling deadly spiders, too.

"Want to pose with the tarantula?" he asks his small daughter, Betty Rose. She does.

So Otto places the sturdy, silken spider on her cheek.

Nothing happens.

"It takes a relatively moist skin surface to allow the tarantula to inject its poison," he explains.

TADLOCK WINS SERIES OPENER

Defeat Carolina Sales 7-2; Teams Meet Again Today

Play-Off Series
Tadlock 1 0 1000
Carolina Sales 0 1 000

Tadlock Mutual Insurance agency's softball team walked off with the long end of a 7-2 score in the first game of the City softball play-off series at Third street stadium, with Carolina Sales yesterday afternoon.

The two teams will meet again this afternoon at 6 o'clock. No admission is charged and the public is invited to witness the seven game series between the two teams.

Tadlock won the second half after Carolina Sales had won top honors during the first half of play.

Tadlock scored first, pushing two runs across in the fourth frame, added another in the fifth, three in the sixth and another in the seventh.

The Carolina Sales team scored its only tallies in the fifth, but never were able to tally again during the game.

Burnette did the burline for the losing team, while Ward pitched for the winning insurance men.

Australia Making Guns
Adelaide, South Australia.—(AP)—Defense authorities are very creative about recent tests of a new Australian-made anti-aircraft gun. The gun is said to be of standard British design, three-inch caliber and weighing one ton. It was made to fire home-manufactured ammunition and is to be used at strategic points on Australia's coastline.

A dugout canvass of Chicago, White Sox players showed an almost unanimous agreement that Monty Stratton, "Gander" to them, was the best pitcher in the American league. But, after watching Monty work day in and day out, they are ready to stack him against any mound craftsman in the junior circuit.

Stratton had 14 victories against four losses when the Sox invaded New York recently. Teammates pointed out that three defeats were not due to pitching lapses on Monty's part—the games were boot- ed away on him. Seven unearned runs had caused Stratton's downfalls. The only legitimate defeat that could be chalked up against him was a 2-1 loss to Washington.

Monty is a quiet chap. All you learn from him is that he was working on a farm near Celeste, Tex. when he got his start in baseball. One afternoon the mayor of the town called on him with an offer to pitch for the home team. Monty accepted. For carrying the team to victory he was paid $250 and given a weekend in town.

He came up to the White Sox in 1934 but it was not until 1936 that he made a serious bid for a regular berth. He started off well but two operations (tonsils and appendix) ruined his hopes.

Stratton is quite a sleeper. He might challenge Joe Louis for the slumber championship. On one occasion he pounded the pillows from 9 o'clock at night until 1 o'clock the following afternoon. Despite his calm appearance, Monty is highly nervous. He can't eat a thing after a game he has pitched until the next morning.

He is 6 feet 5 inches tall. Weighs 170 pounds. Looks as though an extra 20 pounds would just about fill him out. His greatest stock in trade is control. He tosses 'em over-hand, under-hand and side-arm with equal ease and still manages to get his pitches over the plate. It won't be long before the rest of the league agrees with his teammates if he continues to improve as he has this season.

New Bern Jumps To Third Rung by Win

New Bern, Aug. 16.—Doc Smith's New Bern Bears, intent on getting one of the four places in the Coastal Plain's post-season play-off, cashed in with another important victory today. The Bears pulled out of a third-place tie with Tarboro by defeating Goldsboro, 5-2.

Tarboro and Ayden were idle today. The Bears now lead Tarboro by a half game and Ayden by a full game. Goldsboro, in sixth place, is still very much in the running for one of the four semi-final berths, is two games back of New Bern.

Bull Hamons pitched today's victory for the Bears. He had a shut-out until Pete Kunis homered with two out in the ninth to score Musser, who had walked. It was Hamons' 13th win of the season.

By getting three hits for four tries today, Douglass ran his new streak to nine safeties in 11 trips. He also stole three bases today.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Buying support got behind the stock market today after an early sell-off attributed partly to unsettlement over the Sino-Japanese war.

Offerings of leading steels and motors enlivened the opening, but these soon dried up and near the fourth hour extreme losses of as much as two or more points were substantially reduced. There also was an assortment of gainers, mainly rubbers and specialties. Corporate bonds held their own.

Transfers were around 650,000 shares.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—When we pick up our newspaper these days and read about harmony in political parties we are tempted to call to the attention of our master minds the column in the unabridged dictionaries about "harmony."

The fact is, if there were a fair measure of harmony among either the Republicans or Democrats, there'd be precious little need for all this harmony music on the front pages of the newspapers.

Before either party goes off the deep end of this matter it might be well if they recognized the public harmony urge as a lot of wishful thinking.

If the World war and the depression did anything, they certainly illustrated the need for more efficient government everywhere.

And, too, a lot of good party men should remember the day when chewing tobacco was a badge of the politician's trade, and Que-Gen Victoria's influence was still felt. Then it was fashionable to grab your millions by hook or crook.

For better or for worse, those days are gone.

All the signs of the times point to a division of both major parties into three struggling camps until one or the other gets a strangle hold on the machinery. Harmony can't possibly accomplish that. Nothing but good American give-and-take will produce the results that must come.

But it is interesting to speculate which camp will come out on top? Will it be the ultra-conservatives who believe too much meddling with democracy will ruin it? Conceivably they might catch the political pendulum on a rebound, save the good things that have been done in recent years, and reject the bad.

Or will political strength go to the other extreme—Will the national progressives, who want to remake our whole system to fit the "modern industrial age," gain the ascendancy? Will they be able to graft more socialistic principles on the democratic form we have inherited and still retain its virtues?

All that remains to be seen, but harmony—the pompous kind that sticks out at big political dinners and pep rallies—won't bring out the best that's in us.
