War, Fire Continue In Shanghai

LARGE PART OF CITY BURNING

Routine Inquiry Conducted Into Shelling Of Augusta

Shanghai, Aug. 21.—(AP)—War and fire continued to lay waste in Shanghai today with foreign police estimates about 11 square miles of the world's sixth largest port had been destroyed.

Fire leveled most of Chinese Shapel, Japanese Hongkew, Yangtze-poo, industrial Pootung, across the Whangpoo river, and Kiangwan.

Only the International settlement, the French concession and parts of Soochow Creek remained intact.

In the absence of firemen who already had evacuated the burning areas, the flames continued to spread unchecked in all the directions.

Stifling smoke and fierce heat were driving many Chinese belligerents from the Hongkew battle area.

Three Chinese war planes droned over the smoking ruins in renewal of warfare today, aiming their bombs at the Japanese consulate. The projectiles fell wide of their mark, but killed one Chinese and one Japanese and wounded 13 others all believed to be Japanese.

From the U. S. cruiser Augusta grim faced blue jackets carried the shell-ripped body of a 21-year-old Louisiana boy, one of the crew, and the fourth American killed since the hostilities started.

The mighty Augusta still lay resolutely at anchor on a curve of the Whangpoo near the heart of the International settlement to protect American lives while investigators tried to learn the origin of the anti-aircraft shell that killed the seaman, Freddie Falgout of Raceland, La.

A routine navy inquiry board, headed by Commander E. H. Kincaid of the Augusta, heard testimony of persons who witnessed the shelling.

As the Shanghai hostilities entered the second week, foreign authorities estimated Chinese casualties to be about 5,000 against 600 Japanese.

AMERICAN SHIP HIT IN FURIOUS SHANGHAI FIGHTING

With a fourth of the city in flames, Shanghai witnessed its most furious day of Sino-Japanese fighting with a series of events climaxed by the shelling of a United States ship. This diagrammed airview shows (1) the spot in the Whangpoo river where the cruiser Augusta was struck by anti-aircraft shell, killing one American sailor and wounding 18. Enveloped in flames was the whole Pootung waterfront and much of Hongkew, with the fire threatening the famous Astor House hotel, indicated by circle on bank of Soochow creek (2). The North Station (3) of the Shanghai-Nanking railroad was bombed by Japanese. The Chinese battle line in the Yangtze-poo area still swung around the famous Ward road jail (4); and at one point the Chinese attack was reported to have split the Japanese lines (5). In the area designated as (6), where Japanese-owned warehouses, wharves and cottonmills are located, the Chinese staged a heavy bombing attack.

HOUSE ACTS ON HOUSING BILL

Compromise Late Today Predicted By Leaders

Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The House, moving rapidly toward adjournment, quickly approved today a compromise form of the Wagner housing bill, placing it just one short pace from President Roosevelt's approval.

The senate must agree to the compromise before messengers take the bill to the White House.

With the housing measure and a compromise on the $150,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill still in the offing the senate paused in the adjournment drive to hear Senators Wheeler (D-Mont.) and O'Mahoney (D-Mt.) shout defiance at election difficulties predicted for them by Senator Guffey (D-Pa.).

Guffey called for the defeat of O'Mahoney and Senator Burke (D-Neb.) and forecast Wheeler would have explanations to make to his Montana electors.

So little business was left for the two houses to contract, House Majority Leader Rayburn predicted adjournment by nightfall. The house waited formulation of the compromise on the deficiency bill, the last major legislation on which it must act.

The compromise was not ready in the early afternoon, but senate-house conferees on the measure predicted they would compose the differences shortly.

Senators Wheeler and O'Mahoney shouting defiance of Guffey's threats to defeat them, called for removal of the Pennsylvania as head of the Democratic senatorial committee.

The two senators who opposed the recent court bill took the senate floor at the outset of the session today to reply to the speech last night by Guffey.

Slated to Succeed H. H. Honeycutt At N. C. Prison

Manila, P. I., Aug. 21.—(AP)—War in China and earthquake here made Manila a city of refugees here today as authorities cleared away the debris of nature's destruction and prepared for more unfortunates from battle torn Shanghai.

Thousands of Manila's nearly 400,000 residents spent last night in parks after two severe earthquakes rocked the city, toppled masonry, cracked buildings and plunged the metropolis into darkness.

Ambassador Turns Home To Discuss Foreign Problems

Robert Bingham Departs Unexpectedly From London for Conference with Chief Executive

London, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Robert Bingham, ambassador to London sailed unexpectedly today to confer with President Roosevelt on the international situation.

One report, which was not confirmed, said Mr. Roosevelt had summoned the ambassador for urgent discussions of how far Great Britain is willing to go with the United States in efforts to halt the Sino-Japanese hostilities.

Bingham departed from Southampton aboard the Empress of Britain. News of his going, a spokesman, said, had been concealed carefully at his instructions.

FRANCO DRIVE PUSHED AHEAD

Fall of Santander Early Next Week Is Predicted

With Insurgents on the Santander Front, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Weather permitting, General Francisco Franco expects his army to reach Santander possibly in the early part of next week and that Spanish town may be his before another Saturday.

Today his two strong southern columns hammered with almost monotonous success at dwindling government defenses with but 25 miles of roadway to cover before they can knife into Santander, the government's last port of importance on the Bay of Biscay.

In the mountains southwest of Santander was witnessed a battle as fantastic as anything in Spain's fantastic civil war. It was a battle of ghosts—mud and blood-smearred ghosts struggling in hand-to-hand conflict.

For six days Franco's airmen, artillery and infantry had blasted at the ever-receding government line, most of the time under the brooding rays of an uncurtained sun.

Then came the fog, shrouding the mountain tops, soaking everyone in mists and hiding attacker and attacked alike. Yesterday the Burgos road column of shock troops thrust through the fog at a point about 12 miles south of Torrelavega.

Six battalions of Asturians were waiting on the mountainside, protected by the fog from Franco's artillery and planes.

HARRIS & ROGERS LIST ADVANTAGES

R. E. Harris, Jr., and R. E. Rogers will operate the Harris and Rogers warehouse this season, having successfully operated the same warehouse for the past several years. During the past few weeks the building has been repainted and many interior changes made that will offer more accommodations to growers this year than ever before.

R. R. "Red" Rogers, who has seen 23 years of experience in the tobacco industry, will again be manager of sales this season.

This warehouse is not only one of the largest in the belt, occupying approximately 55,000 square feet of floor space, but is one of the best lighted, enabling the conducting of sales on the darkest days with speed and facility.

In choosing their sales force, Harris and Rogers have chosen men of long experience, each having been connected with the tobacco industry for a period of ten years or more. Each member of the sales force is a practical farmer who has seen long service in the handling and selling of tobacco and this assures the growers of receiving unexcelled service at all times. Among those associated with Harris and Rogers this season are: H. R. "Red" Rogers and R. E. Rogers, sales managers; Ed S. Eaylor and Grover C. Hardee, assistant sales managers; Billy Branch, auctioneer; Malcolm Hassell, head floor manager; Wayne Speight, Wiley Tripp, Pete Mendenhall and Bruce Strickland, assistant floor managers; W. C. White, head book-keeper; J. J. Payne and C. L. Perkins, book force; Julian Smith, Lerman Porter, Henry Gay, C. T. Beaman and W. A. Forbes, clerical force; Frank Taylor, labor man.

PLANES READY BEGIN SEARCH

Fliers of Three Nations to Seek Missing Russians

Fairbanks, Alaska, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Noted figures of three nations, led by Jimmy Mattern, converged on the Arctic today for an effort to rescue six Russian trans-polar airmen, missing eight days on the bleak roof of the world.

American, Canadian and Russian aviators gathered on Point Barrow in an effort to pierce the fog-shrouded mystery of what happened to Pilot Levaneffsky and his five companions.

The Soviet "Lindbergh" and crew left Moscow a week ago Thursday en route to Oakland, Calif., with a refueling stop at Fairbanks, across the pole on their 4,000 mile hop the next day and vanished.

Eager to repay Levaneffsky for rescuing him in Siberia four years ago with an identical heroic act, Mattern flew through fog from Fairbanks to Point Barrow, Alaska's northernmost tip yesterday.

Mattern radioed he was forced to fly by instruments over the bleak northern wastes. Word of his arrival eased tension felt here for his safety.

Also at Barrow, waiting for a break in the weather, were Bob Randall, experienced North Canadian aviator, and the Soviet flier, Zaddock, one of the ace pilots of Siberia. A Russian ice breaker lay off Barrow with four planes ready to be hurled into the hunt.

Sir Hubert Wilkins planned to hop from Fort Smith, North West Territory, with his party of four for Aklavik.

"Distinctive Clothes for Women"

the dark ships

BY HULBERT FOOTNER

SYNOPSIS: When Neill, a young federal agent, gets to Baltimore for a week's vacation with Janet, he finds she won't break a dinner date with Prescott Fanning. From what Janet says, Neill distrusts Fanning, dubs him a crook. They quarrel and part. To check on Fanning, Neill finds him at his hotel and gets acquainted in the bar. Fanning invites him to join his party, but Neill passes out in the taxi, doped. Next noon he awakens to find Janet, Fanning and Fanning's yacht gone. The taxi-driver of the night before tells him of trailing them and another couple, then losing them.

Chapter Six

'She's In Bad Trouble'

THE cab-driver ruefully exhibited a pink card. "I'm on my way now to the traffic court." "How much will they soak you?" asked Neill. "A fiver, I reckon." Neill gave him the money. "That's white of you, boss." "Not at all. It's only fair. When you come up before the judge, say nothing about my passing out, or that you were trailing another car. That won't help us any." "Just as you say, boss." "Give me a phone number where I can call you if I should want you later." Tingstrom went away still grinning, and Neill began pacing his room again, hoping against hope that Janet would call him up. Even though they had quarreled, he could not believe that she would sail away out of his life without a word. The strain of waiting soon became more than he could bear. He had to be doing something. He bathed and shaved and set out for the Maryland insti-

"Haven't seen Mr. Fanning this morning," said the clerk. He called up 1410. "No answer," he said, after waiting awhile. "Has he checked out?" "Checked out!" echoed the clerk, staring. "Certainly not! Mr. Fanning is a permanent guest." Neill thought: Fanning is just fooling them. He's left a few things in his room for a stall. "Have you got a guest here called David Eyster?" he asked. "Mr. Eyster has checked out." Neill suspected that Eyster had better information than he had. "Say where he was going?" "No information." Inquiries of the bellboys and the doormen turned up nothing. He called up the office of the lawyer, Kettering, but again failed to find him. Mr. Kettering had gone to Washington for the day and would not be in. Neill taxied back to the Stafford because he had no place else to go. At the desk he was told that his room number had been called up twice while he was out. His heart leaped up and then sank again, fearing that he had missed an important clue. "The man left no message," the clerk told him, "but he said he would call again." Neill ascended to his room and paced the floor half crazy with the suspense of waiting. Three times he telephoned downstairs to make sure that the operator had not forgotten that he was in. When the bell finally rang, he flung himself on the instrument. A man's voice asked: "Is this room 704?" It was a strange voice—tenor with a Scot's burr. "Yes." "Are you the guy that rents that room?" "Yes. Who are you?" "Never mind that. I have a message for you from a certain girl.

"Janet never sent this wire! It's not her style."

I don't know her name. Here's what she looks like: brown hair, brown eyes with a kind of surprised look. Was wearing a pink silk dress and a black wrap. "Sure! Sure!" said Neill shakily. "What's her message?" "She's on the yacht Nadji in Absalom's Harbor, and she's in bad trouble." "Where's Absalom's?" "Southern Maryland. Eighty miles south of Baltimore." "What are the circumstances? What kind of trouble. . . ?" Neill heard a click as the receiver went up. The line was dead. An Unknown Enemy, Too AS Neill went through the lobby, a well-meaning clerk said: "Is anything wrong, Mr. Patton?" Neill had no notion of confiding in him. "Why no," he said easily. "What makes you ask?" "There was a man came to the desk at 8 this morning asking for you. When I said you weren't up, he wouldn't let me call you." "What sort of man?" "Big fellow; roughly dressed; stoop-shouldered. I went off duty at nine or I would have told you. When I left the building he was waiting outside. The other boys told me he was waiting there all morning. Did he find you?" "Nobody found me," said Neill. "I think you're seeing things." The clerk laughed. This added to his uneasiness. The stoop-shouldered man again! It looked as if he had a friend and an enemy both unknown to him. It was certainly not the stoop-shouldered man who had called him on the phone. That was a high-pitched voice, whereas the big fellow's voice as he had heard it the night before had a subterranean rumble. Neill suspected that he had been followed all around town, and in his excitement had failed to notice it. In the street he looked sharply up and down but the big man was not visible then. with the Mildew club.

On the off chance that most of you weren't there, however, it may amuse you to know that there is such a club—and it came about in this manner: On a damply chill night, so nastily unseasonable that only the very foolish or the very wise would think of leaving their firesides, a dozen of us piled into a hack and were driven down town to a certain pier. Magnetite is an ore possessing One of the big de luxe liners wasmagnetic properties.

BLONDIE

"THAT'S WHAT YOU THINK!"

By CHIC YOUNG

Hurrying up the gangplank, dripping wet, we spied the figure of a well known producer. He seemed vaguely embarrassed at being hailed by the press. A unique circumstance in this publicity-seeking village.

Well, his daughter was sailing incognito in hope that she might quietly "forget" an impertinent young fortune-hunter whose ardent wooing had been abruptly terminated by papa himself. Papa, at this moment, was a much annoyed hombre, and while he said nothing on this score, he visibly winced every time he thought of the blurb that would appear in the newspapers next day.

That is the point. There wasn't anything in the papers next day. Most newspaper reporters are bloodhounds when tracking down the news, but there are times when they conveniently forget a story. Such a one was this, and it wasn't a week before this Broadway producer dropped each of the scribes a little note expressing his thanks. He wanted, he said, to show his sincere gratification for the favor that had been extended, and so he had formed a little club. The Mildew club—because it had happened on such a damp night.

Its workings were simple. The members simply were armed with a secret pass-word. This pass-word discreetly whispered into the ear of the doorman of any of his theatres, brings immediate admittance. This producer tosses probably a dozen dramatic attractions on the boards each season. But members of the Mildew club never have to worry about tickets. They merely saunter to the door and do their stuff! Somebody should compile an anthology of unforgettable names that have appeared in dramas, past and current. . . . A starter would be: (1) the derring-do player Slug-Eye in "Singapore Joe," (2) the kid who played Spit in "Dead End," and (3) Mother Goddam in "Shanghai Gesture."

BROADRIBB RECALLS 'GREATEST FIGHTER'

Long Branch, N. J.—(AP)—Back in 1910, when he was boxing as a featherweight, Tommy Farr's manager, Ted Broadribb, met a young Frenchman in a Paris bout.

Broadribb, fighting under the title of "Young Snowball," proceeded to give the promising Frenchman such a thorough going-over that the contest was stopped in the fourth round. The victim was Georges Carpentier. Later that year, Broadribb came to New York and boxed a 3-round exhibition with Stanley Ketchel—one month before Ketchel's death. "He was the greatest fighter I have ever seen," says Broadribb of Ketchel.

Bunch of Yard Peas Exhibited By Farmer

J. J. Boyd, farmer of the Clay Root section of Pitt county, exhibited a simple bunch of yard peas here today, which were left on display at the Reflector office. The yard pea gets its name from the fact that it grows to a length of a yard or more. The pods are well fruited, and resemble black-eyed peas. They are said to be very excellent food. The pods make excellent stock feed. Mr. Boyd is reported to have a good crop of yard peas this year.

WILSON GETS WARDEN'S JOB

For 376 American refugees who had just arrived from Shanghai, the quakes, 24 minutes apart late last night, were an added horror to the shot and shell from which they fled. Sixty-two persons were known to have been injured in Manila alone and scores of others were reported hurt in Tabayas province. No deaths from injuries were reported.

SOIL CHEMIST BETTER FOLLOWING OPERATION

Raleigh, Aug. 21.—Considerable improvement was reported yesterday in the condition of L. G. Willis, soil chemist of N. C. State College, who underwent a major operation recent at Rex Hospital here. Mr. Willis, however, will not be permitted visitors until next week. His condition for a few days was critical but his physicians now believe he is making rapid progress toward recovery. He probably will be returned to his home, 2702 Fairview Road, late next week.

A TRIBUTE

In the recent passing of Henry W. Renfrew of your city, the city of Greenville, Pitt county, and a large circle of his acquaintances, have lost a true and loyal friend.

Upon my departure from Greenville and the Immanuel Baptist Church, of which he was a member, he presented to me a small but splendid likeness of himself, set in a neat little frame, which ever since has remained upon my desk. Upon the back of that picture frame and neatly pasted on, are these significant and highly treasured words:

"Let those who choose their millions of silver and gold, find their joys in pomp and power for a season. Let those who wish it, have the honor and applause of the fickle multitude. But as for me, GIVE ME REAL FRIENDS, with sympathetic hearts atune with mine.
Friends, who weep with me when sorrow comes, who rejoice when I rejoice, who worship my God and walk side by side with me in the footsteps of my Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Lord, give me TRUS-
TIFUL FRIENDS AND MAKE ME WOR-THY OF THEM."

The above lines revealed something of the true heart of Henry Renfrew. I have often accompanied him into the fields and woods with gun and dog; ridden with him for miles to fishing places; an driver with him time after time to distant religious services. He was always and everywhere the same considerate, gentle, kind, courteous, sympathetic and unselfish Christian

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Aug. 21.—Tossing of an apple, according to ancient myths, caused no end of trouble and discord among the ancients. Picking of a few apples from a farmer's yard has started as merry a little political war in Wake county as you'd choose to see. A son of Raleigh Commissioner S. J. Ferguson swiped a few apples, somebody gave his name to Coroner L. M. Waring who forthwith and immediately prepared of visit the lad with all the rigors of the law. The matter was tossed out of court on payment of costs by the commissioner, which should have ended the matter, but it hasn't. The city official and the county coroner are tossing verbal brickbats at each other daily in the public prints. It seems that Mr.
Waring either did or didn't (depending on whom you believe) take some money from Commissioner Ferguson in the latter's last race for office and did or didn't (again depending upon a matter of veracity) spend it working against instead of for the man who put out.

John L. Lewis big boss of the CIO is scheduled to speak in North Carolina soon. So far there has been no announcement that he will be accompanied either by Governor Clyde R. Hoey or by Dave Clark of Three fine special editions came much sweeter because the precious soul of our dear friend is there.

Two of the five members of North Carolina's Historical Commission who were in office when its first quarterly publication came off the press in 1924 are still members of the same board. The other three members are dead.
Those serving are M. C. S. Noble

of Chapel Hill, and Justice Heriot Clarkson of the State Supreme Court. Those who have passed on were Chairman Thomas M. Pittman ton, and W. N. Everett of Raleigh.

The Unemployment Commission's softball team, strengthened (?) by some of the 30 young men who just became employees, tangled for the fifth time with the Department of Revenue's tossers, and for the fourth time came out second in a heat of two. Score 19 to 6. It seems the Revenooers were unduly exercised over the alleged packing of the Unemployment softball squad.

Those who have been following

Of late he has been shown punch-ference with Senate Leader Barkley.

If he has been kissing any girls, though, he has kept it dark.

During the past few weeks the Harris and Rogers warehouse shown above, had undergone several improvements and is ready for the opening of the 1937 auction sales on Thursday of next week. R. E.

bacco industry. He will be aided by a capable corps of workers.

FEELING HIS OATS in a literal sense, this farmer near Crown Point, Indiana, is happy as he hefts a sheaf of golden grain and looks forward to a prosperous harvest. Crop forecasts in August predicted an oat crop for the nation far above that of last year, but slightly less than the average of crops during the period from 1928 to 1936. An unusually good harvest is expected this year by mid-western farmers due to the absence of drought which, in 1934 and 1936, destroyed the crops and left them little or nothing.

Williamston, Aug. 21.—Greenville's Greenies mixed a dozen base hits with 11 walks to chalk up a 9-1 victory over Williamston's Martins here yesterday.

The visitors clinched the game with a six-run splurge in the second frame. This inning was the last one for the day for Larry Wade—starting Martin hurler.

Base hits by Swamp Norwood, Al Pignataro and Lefty King were mixed with walks for the second-inning run-fest.

Grant Jefferson, who relieved Wade, was reached for three-run the rest of the route.

Hits by Villepique, Jefferson and Earp resulted in Williamston's lone tally.

Karl Williams hurled the route for the Greenies and kept Art Hauer's boys well in check.

Norwood and King, each with 3 hits each, led the Greenies. Villepique, with a triple and a double, accounted for a third of the Martins' hits.

Willie Powell, Greenie lead-off man, batted 1.000. He drew 5 free passes, hit safely on his other trip to the plate.

The Greenies are playing Snow Hill at Third Street Stadium this afternoon.

Winning the world heavyweight boxing championship has changed Joe Louis but has not spoiled him. In contrast to the dead-pan Louis of pre-championship days, a smiling, even a gracious Brown Bomber now greets you.

Joe has learned to grin. He talks more, too. It's much easier to get a story from him.

Another welcome change is in his general attitude toward his handlers. Today he accepts orders almost cheerfully. In the past, there were many occasions when Blackburn, Roxborough and Black had their hands full with Louis.

The Schmeling defeat likely had a lot to do with bringing about the changes but that takes none of the credit away from Jolting Joe. He has realized his mistakes and has done his best not to repeat them.

In the ring, too, the Bomber's spirit is different. For his coming fight with Tommy Farr, Louis has had a crew of sparmates who actually did him some good—boxers capable of extending him. None of the knock 'em down and drag 'em out fascios that marked Louis' other training sessions. Not that Joe has failed to put many sparring partners on the floor, during his preparations for his first title defense. But the training camp fighters have been more realistic and not of the variety that made ringsiders feel the boys were going to the canvas to make Joe look good or to escape punishment.

Joe is in great physical condition if his weight and outward appearance are a yardstick

WALDROP STAR IN 3-1 VICTORY

Play To Be Resumed Monday at Third Street Park

Play-off Standings

Carolina Sales	2	2	.500
Tadlock's	2	2	.500

With Hamilton and Waldrop coming through in the pinches to produce hits when they meant runs the Carolina Sales softball team yesterday afternoon defeated Tadlock Mutual Insurance agency, 3-1, to even the playoff series at two all.

The Sales team got off to a good start in the first when Hamilton doubled and Waldrop singled and added two more in the fourth to sew up the game when Hamilton again doubled, Waldrop repeated with a single and Hooks hit safely.

The Insurance men spotted their only run in the fourth on singles by Dr. Barrett, Reynolds May and Jack Barrett. After the fourth the pitchers, Dr. Ward for the insurance men and Burnette for the Carolina Sales team, held the hitters well in hand and no other runs were scored. Most of the remaining innings saw three men up and three down.

Dr. Ward led the hitting for the insurance men, with two for three and Doug West looked best in the field for the losers.

Hamilton and Waldrop, the former with two doubles and the latter with a couple of singles, led the batting attack for the Carolina Sales team. Joe Gaston looked good in the field for the winners.

Each team made seven safeties. With the two teams standing at two games each, play will be resumed Monday afternoon at Third street stadium. Games are called at 6 o'clock.

Zak Gets 15th Win As Billies Nose Out Bugs

Snow Hill Aug. 21.—Walter Rabb's single his stolen base and Johnny Hyder's double to left gave Snow Hill a ninth-inning run which defeated Goldsboro 3-2, yesterday afternoon, and enabled Emil Zak to register his 15th pitching triumph of the season.

Hyder was the batting star of the game. His homer in the first frame opened scoring for the afternoon. The game-ending double came with two away in the ninth.

Lefty Feora opposed Zak and hurled well. After yielding a singleton to the locals in each of the first two innings, the southpaw settled down and served only goose-eggs until the ninth.

Snow Hill's second run resulted from Harry Soufas' steal of home. Soufas walked to start the second, advanced on Logest's bunt, moved to third on Walter Rabb's single. Zak fanned, and then Soufas and Rabb put on a double steal.

The Bugs got only two runners to first—Flora, by an error in the third and Roper, when hit by a pitch in the fourth—for five innings. Balla singled in the sixth to stop Zak's no-hit hurling. Goldsboro scored in the seventh and eighth.

Maisano homered for the first tally of the afternoon for the Bugs. The other resulted from Overton's single, and Manager Roper's single.

The Bugs made a strong bid in the ninth. Daniels singled, and Gadd beat out an infield hit. Maisano was walked purposely. With the squeeze on, Zak threw a pitch-out—and Daniels was trapped off third. Pitzer grounded out, and then Zak fanned Overton.

Zak's pitching average now is .833. He has been charged with only three defeats.

Aces Stake Hopes In Week-End Twin Bills

Ayden, Aug. 21.—Tarboro's Serpents returned to third place in the Coastal Plain League by defeating Ayden's fifth-place Aces yesterday, 7 to 2. The victory enabled Fred Henry's Tarboro team to pull a half game in front of Doc Smith's New Bern club. The Bears were idle on account of rain yesterday.

Ayden now is three games behind New Bern. The locals still are in the running for a berth in the post-season play-off. Ayden and Goldsboro will play a double-header at Goldsboro today, which was scheduled to start at 2:30, and will meet here Sunday in another twin bill. The Sunday bill in Ayden will begin at 1:30.

The Aces met a double loss yesterday. In addition to dropping the game, they lost Russell Gurth, left-hand hurler. Gurth's nose was shattered by a line drive off the bat of George Rimmer in the sixth.

Tarboro scored once in the opening inning of yesterday's game and then clinched the victory with four tallies in the third. Credit for the victory went to Cassell, who was yanked with two away in Ayden's seventh. He was replaced by Eddie Aces in the seventh but started off Majone, who managed to retire the in the next verse by walking the first three batters. Bernard Mooney came to the rescue and pulled out of trouble—Mooney took Johnson's grounder and threw to the plate for a putout, and then Fary hit into a double play, one of two engineered by the Lehman-Ware-Henry combine.

The Serpents made a half-dozen hits in their four-run third inning, and the big blows were homers by George Rimmer and Jim Tatum. Rimmer homered on the first pitch of the inning. Henry singled, Campbell sacrificed, and Tatum homered. Lehman's double, Carnahan's infield out, and Cassell's single brought another run. Myers contributed a single, but Ware was retired.

NO SOFTBALL FOR JOE UNTIL AFTER TITLE BOUT

Pompton Lake, N. J., Aug. 21—(AP)—Joe Louis, with a day off as far as boxing was concerned, had hopes of engaging in a game of softball yesterday, but Manager Julian Black refused to let the heavy-weight boxing champion enjoy his favorite pastime.

"The ball has been locked up and will remain under lock and key until after your fight with Tommy Farr," Black told Joe after the champ had searched 'high and low' for the ball. "We are getting too close to the fight to take any chances of your catching that ball on the end of a finger."

MANILA GOAL OF REFUGEES

War and Earthquake Make Thousands Homeless

Raleigh, Aug. 21. — (AP) — The Times said today Hukh H. Wilson of the industrial division of the state highway commission, is slated to succeed H. H. Honeycutt as warden of State's prison.

Honeycutt probably will become state disciplinary officer and John B. Bray, a district prison supervisor, will be made deputy warden, the newspaper said.

Governor Hoey told the Associated Press the appointments had been considered by the highway and public works commission.

"I do not know whether action has been taken or will be taken, however," he said.

Frank Dunlap, chairman of the commission, declined either to confirm or deny the reports.

Four Defendants In Police Court Session

Two white defendants and two Negroes were tried in city police court this morning.

Robert Bland was bound over to county court on a charge of driving while drunk; Floyd Cannon was taxed with the costs upon conviction of public drunkenness; and Thomas and Annie Mae White, Negroes, were fined $5 each and taxed with the costs for engaging in riotous and disorderly conduct.

BORDER COUNTIES OPPOSE BOOZE

Elections Prove Counties Opposed To ABC Stores

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Aug. 21.—North Carolina's border counties do not want liquor stores, results of local option elections prove.

To date the people of ten border counties have voted. Eight of them have voted against stores, two have favored them. The dries have won Alleghany, Stokes, Rockingham, Person, Granville and Currituck, all on the Virginia line; Columbus and Mecklenburg, touching South Carolina. The wets have carried only Vance and Warren, on the Virginia line.

Both Virginia and South Carolina have liquor stores, state-owned and operated in the Old Dominion, operated by private licensees.

It is also a noticeable fact that every county in the state which has voted against stores either borders a wet state or adjoins a Tar Heel county in which there are legal stores. In addition to the dry counties of the Virginia and South Carolina lines, Wayne, Alamance and Jones have turned their backs on the control system. Each of them touches one or more store-operating counties.

Reasons for these facts will probably be disputed, dries claiming that the counties they won have learned not to emulate the evils of their neighbors; wets declaring that the influence of bootleggers, whose business is more profitable the nearer their source of supply, had much to do with the results. As in every other phase of the liquor question totally different conclusions will be drawn from the very same undisputed facts.

Grocer Ends Life In Rear Of Store

Raleigh, Aug. 21.—(AP)—"Police department; do not touch any man. I did this all for myself."

After writing such a note this morning, Coroner L. M. Waring said Gus Corifos, 50, a grocer, ended his life by shooting himself in the head.

The coroner said the body was discovered on a cot near the rear of his store by Willie Norman, employed as a clerk at the grocery store.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Quiet buying in steels and specialties today managed to bring mild rejuvenation to a rather tired looking stock market.

In most of the two hour proceedings minor gains and losses were about evenly divided. Some short covering based on the theory the market has already had a good sell-off then appeared and a slow upward trend developed.

Transfers were around 300,000 shares.

TWO NEW MEMBERS MEET WITH BOARD

Raleigh, Aug. 21.—The State Board of Charities and Public Welfare met here yesterday with two new members attending for the first time. They had been appointed to replace members who were unable to serve.

Prior to the meeting, Chief Justice Walter P. Stacey administered the oath of office to both—Miss Carrie McLean of Charlotte and E. H. Evans of Laurinburg.

Mrs. W. T. Bost, State Welfare Commissioner, said after the session that only routine matters had been discussed.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coon

Hollywood—Visitors, just visitors. Hundreds, thousands, millions of visitors. And what do the little visitors want? Why, they'd like to peep in at the various studios, or see a few studios, and once in a while they'd give anything just to get inside one studio. Visitors . . . The lady had to see a studio. She knew somebody who was a friend of a friend, and she had a letter of somebody, so she had to be taken care of." The fellow—he's the one who takes care of the "important" visitors—sat at his phone and mumbled to himself.

"Lessee, now . . . Paramount? No, I can't. I've sent them 10 packages this week already . . . Metro? No—no—no. . . Lessee. . . Universal! I haven't sent anybody out here since day before yesterday. Whoopee Universal it is!"

So he called up the "U" and fixed it. At the appointed time the lady appeared. Her ticket said one but she'd brought along her two children, cunning little tykes. She and offspring were taken to a grand stage, where the children were fascinated by all the electrical gadgets. They pulled out one or two plugs . . . So the fellow answered the phone and what the Universal guy said to him wasn't nice. And the next time he answered the phone it was the lady visitor . . . She thanked him for the "U" trip but she really hadn't seen anything and couldn't be fix it up so she would do another? . . . Maybe Metro, and see Garbo?

It is things like that, you'll understand when you come to Hollywood and want to see the various studios, that make it virtually impossible to admit you. Of course, if you know someone, maybe you'll get in. But you won't see anything except what is visible outside the sound stages. If you know someone really, then you may get inside a stage.

But you won't be too welcome, even if the director smiles at you and the stars come over to say a dutiful hello. You'll be as welcome to put it bluntly, as you would in a washerwoman's tub on a blue Monday morning.

Studios are talking now, after a summer tourist season that has brought a steady stream of applicants for visiting, of clamping down the lid on all visitors. They always talk that way, but they've never yet done anything about it. They can't.

Exhibitor, important executive, studio head himself, sends friends. Studio can't afford to make enemies out of important friends. Last time the producers' association issued a strict "No Visitors" edict the tide of out-of-towners increased rather than receded.

One solution suggested has been the erection of sound stages with a glassed-in elevated cage for visitors, where they could see movies in the making without getting in the way of the making.

Another has been a community sound stage, erected at joint expense of all the studios, whereon visitors could go and see a film company—employed for their education alone—go through the motions. They might even support this with paid admissions, as Carl Laemmle used to collect in the silent days when visitors didn't matter.

But that probably wouldn't work either. No real stars would be on hand and besides—what's the good of seeing something that anybody else can see?

Ask Two Lines
Raleigh, Aug. 21.—The Utilities Commission yesterday heard applications from two truck line franchisees. The Frederickson Motor Express corporation asked for a charter to operate between Charlotte and Newton, via Denver, and Smith's Transfer company asked a charter to operate between Morganton and Charlotte, via Toluca, Lincolnton and Denver.

CALM AND COMELY. Mrs. Anna Filser Hahn of Cincinnati, combs her locks as she sits in jail, charged with the poison murder of George Gsellman.

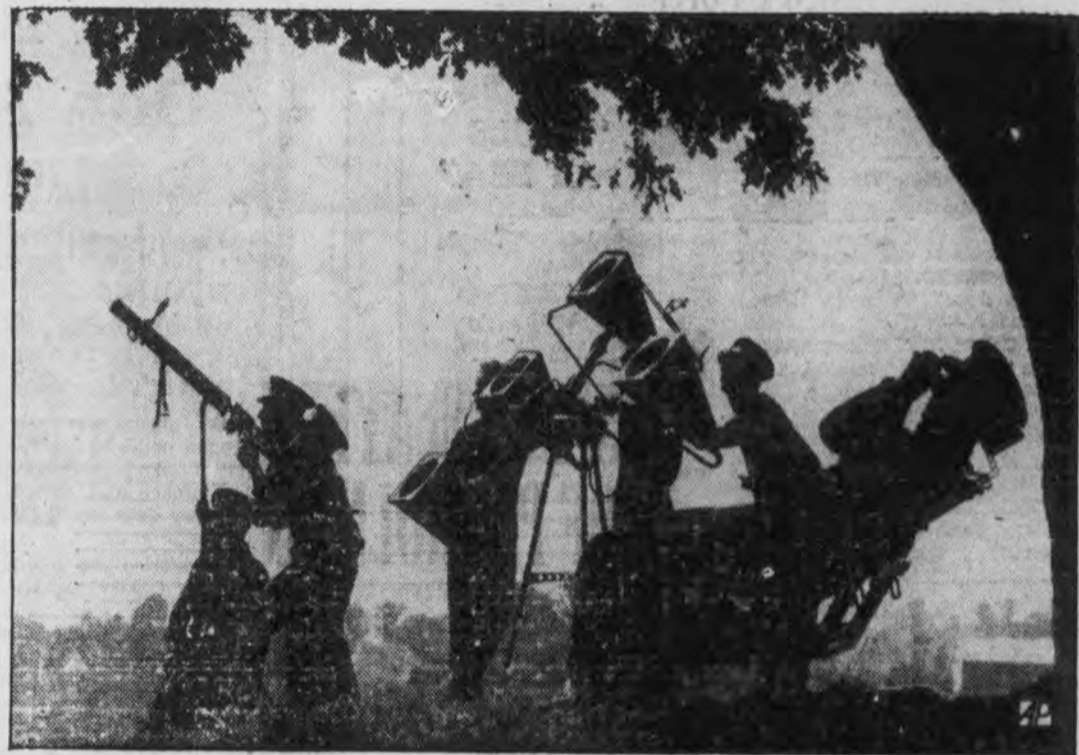

BURNING UP THE WATER with speed, this Gold Cup racing boat of Count Theo Rossi will compete with other foreign and American speed craft at Detroit's Labor Day race. The unique craft with its motor occupying so much space the pilot seat hangs out over the stern, has traveled 90.97 miles an hour in tests. Rossi is also planning to enter an aluminum speed boat in the contest.

SECURITY is now the prime interest of Mary W. Dewson of New York, nominated by the President as a social security board member.

FOOTSTEPS of his father are being followed by young Robert F. Wagner, Jr., who is candidate for 16th district assemblyman.

KEEPING AN EAR TO THE GROUND is essential in modern aerial defense. This is one of the sound locators, together with a Lewis gun and a spotter's chair, being used in a recent mimic air raid on London and southeastern England. Distant sounds of aircraft motors are magnified by the locators and direction finders enable anti-aircraft guns to spot their prey.

LONDON BRIDGE falling down would be bad news for Sir John Steele, one of the defense board of strategy in mimic air raids on the city.

THE MORE ABUNDANT LIFE. Senator Robert Reynolds believes, calls for plenty of strenuous exercise. The North Carolina Democrat is shown here punching the bag in a Washington gymnasium. His regular workouts also include exercises with the rowing machine, the weights, and sparring to keep in fighting trim for verbal battles in the senate.

ADDING SWEETNESS to the countenance of Mrs. Geraldine Spreckels, wife of Adolph Spreckels, Jr., of the wealthy California sugar family is Makeup Artist Jack Pierce. The comely heiress was recently awarded a movie contract by a Hollywood studio.
