PARENT UNION REFUSES SHUT DOOR ON CIO

Federation Of Labor Declines to Expel Organizations

BELIEVE REVOLT ONLY TEMP'RARY

Council Votes Against Severing Last Bond Existing Between Two Labor Factions

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 30.—(AP)—American Federation of Labor leaders have decided informally to leave the door open for a reunion with John L. Lewis' CIO.

This was learned today in well-informed quarters while the Federation executive council started the second week of its seashore meeting. Council members, decided informally not to expel the ten CIO unions they suspended last September 5 in answer to a demand from a few unions that they sever the last bond between Lewis and the A. F. of L. Three council members, it was learned, felt there was no use locking the door as long as there was any chance for a reunion. Some of them felt that the Lewis revolt was only a phase in the development of the American labor movement and that the movement would be reunited.

Prepare to Stage Heavyweight Tilt New York Tonight

Rain Unlikely to Postpone Again Battle Between Joe Louis and Tommy Farr of Great Britain

New York, Aug. 30.—Joe Louis weighed in at 197 pounds today for his heavyweight championship match with Tommy Farr in the Yankee Stadium tonight. Farr scaled 204 and one-half.

Both fighters were lighter today than they were last Thursday when they went through weighing ceremonies only to have a steady rain force a postponement until tonight. At that time Louis weighed 198 and Farr 207.

Although the weather was cloudy and threatening today, Promoter Mike Jacobs said he would make no decision on a postponement until late this afternoon. If postponed again the bout will be staged tomorrow night.

Jacobs, however, was confident the fight would be held and a weather bureau forecast upheld his guess that there would be no rain.

London, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Charges that the battle between Joe Louis and Tommy Farr "isn't a straight fight" appeared in the British press as England prepared to spend a sleepless night at radio parties listening to the broadcast from Yankee Stadium in New York tonight.

Rev. H.F. Jones Here; Rotary Club Speaker

Rev. H. Frederick Jones, now of Baltimore, but formerly pastor of Memorial Baptist Church here, will deliver an address at the regular weekly meeting of the Greenville Rotary Club.

Rev. Mr. Jones is well known here and a large crowd is expected to attend tonight's meeting to hear his talk.

Negro Held In Jail For Alleged Shooting

Sylvester Phillips, Negro, is in Pitt county jail charged with shooting Edgar Thigpen with a 22 calibre rifle yesterday afternoon, but the injured Negro is not thought to have been critically injured.

Members of the sheriff's office who investigated, declared the shooting occurred about four miles from Greenville as the two Negroes met on a side road and engaged in a brief argument.

Sam Underwood, Jr., To Practice In City

Samuel Bobbitt Underwood, Jr., of this city, one of those who successfully passed the recent bar examination, declared today he planned to locate in Greenville in the immediate future.

He declared, however, he had not selected an office site but added he would begin practicing independently shortly.

SUSPECTS HELD IN PARK SLAYING

Arrested on suspicion in St. Louis, John L. Martin (left) and Leonard Doxy (right) waived extradition to Illinois after Doxy admitted, police said, that he was so tight in connection with the mysterious slaying of Herbert W. Lee in Grant Park at Chicago. They are shown boarding a train for Chicago. In the rear is Lucille Meredith who was arrested with them.

JUDGE HARRIS CHARGES JURY

Instructs Body To Investigate School Busses in County

A new Pitt county grand jury, headed by R. L. Little, was instructed by Judge W. C. Harris, presiding over a week of criminal court here, to make a close inspection of the school trucks in the county and determine if they are absolutely safe for the transportation of children to and from school as the session got started here this morning.

The Raleigh Jurist declared that if he had a hobby it was school busses. He advised the jury to investigate the trucks and "see if they are fit to haul your children," adding that if the busses were found in such condition, then they were in good enough order to haul other citizen's children.

In the brief charge Judge Harris also instructed the jury to make recommendations along any line they desired and added he would see that they were not allowed to go unheeded. "I am tired of recommendations by grand juries being pigeon-holed," he declared.

He stressed the importance of making thorough checks on the various offices of the county. "You are the trustees of the county," he told the 18 men, in attempting to impress them with the power invested in them.

Asking them to dispose of bills as promptly as they could efficiently do so, he declared it was no reflection on the jury to return a no true bill.

With Mr. Little as chairman, the grand jury is composed of the following men: C. L. Thigpen, Jr., Russell Britt, Marshall Joyner, J. S. Dixon, H. I. Britley, Frank Carraway, R. R. Little, W. T. Warren, Leslie Harris, J. P. Oakley, W. J. Moye, George Darden, Jr., Blaney W. Cannon, W. A. House, J. T. Clark, and John R. Pilgreen.

Increase In Auto Sales Proves Prosperity Here

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—Automobile sales in North Carolina this year confirm indications that prosperity has returned.

Although sales of new cars have not quite kept pace with the increase in total automobile registration in 1937, figures in the department of revenue show a very substantial increase, in which practically every type and make of car has shared. Registration so far this year already exceeds that for the whole of 1936. Sales have not been attained such proportions.

According to figures in the office of R. R. McLaughlin, head of the motor vehicle division of the Department of Revenue, 34,164 new passenger automobiles have been sold in North Carolina this year up to August 1, against 28,067 in the corresponding period of 1936—an increase of 6,097; while 9,887 trucks were sold in the first seven months of 1937, against 8,879 in a like period of 1936—an increase of 1,008.

SEEK TO HALT SHIP CARRYING WAR SUPPLIES

Strike Threatened To Keep Arms From Reaching China

VESSEL OWNED BY GOVERNMENT

Maritime Commission Probably to Find Itself in Embarrassing Position

Washington, Aug. 30.—(AP)—A CIO threat of a strike to prevent an American ship from carrying war supplies to China added a new problem today to the difficulties raised for federal officials by the Sino-Japanese hostilities.

Ralph Emerson, legislative representative for the National Maritime Union, predicted a sit-down strike by union seamen would prevent the government-owned freighter Wichita from reaching China with a cargo of bombing planes and barbed wire. "It will never get past Manila," Emerson said. The National Maritime Union is an affiliate of John L. Lewis's Committee for Industrial Organization.

Emerson also expressed the opinion the Maritime Commission, finding itself in a delicate position by virtue of its ownership of the freighter, would take steps to end the Wichita's voyage.

The Wichita sailed from Baltimore Friday just before Secretary Hull received Japanese official notification of a blockade of Chinese ports.

Final Rites Held For Mrs. Griffin

Mrs. Rosa L. Griffin, 50, died suddenly at her home, 206 Cotacane street, Saturday night at 7:50 o'clock.

She was reared in Pitt county, the daughter of the late B. F. and Mary Ward Little of Pitt county. She was a member of Memorial Baptist Church and attended regularly as long as her health permitted.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Williams Funeral Home, by Rev. Clarence Patrick, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church. Burial was beside her late husband in Greenwood cemetery.

She is survived by one son, Ray, and two brothers, J. W. Little, Raleigh, and T. L. Little, Washington; and one sister, Mrs. Mary Gibson, Pinetown.

Active pall bearers were: Berry Bostie, Vernon Parrish, Harvey Trapp, E. H. Wilson, E. S. Hamric, C. A. Robertson.

Dr. Thomas Smoot, Father Local Man, Claimed By Death

Leading Clergyman of Virginia Methodist Conference Succumbs at Home in Norfolk

The Rev. Dr. Thomas Arthur Smoot, father of T. A. Smoot, Jr., of this city and one of the leading clergymen in the Virginia Methodist conference, died in Norfolk, Va., yesterday after an illness of several weeks.

Dr. Smoot was pastor of the Norfolk Epworth church.

Mr. Smoot and his wife were with the minister when he died, having gone to Norfolk several days ago.

Dr. Smoot has visited in Greenville and is known by a number of local residents. He is survived by his wife, the former Miss Lellie Gilchrist McGirt of Wilmington, and two other children besides his son here, Edward Brittingham Smoot and Miss Mary Lily Smoot.

Funeral services were conducted at Epworth church this afternoon. Burial was in Wilmington, where he served as pastor a number of years.

He has held many important positions with the Virginia and Southern Methodist conferences. In the general conference he was a member of the hospital board from 1922 to 1926 and the committee on the budget from 1926 to 1930. He was a member of the general board of finance and president of the board of Christian education of the Virginia conference. He was a delegate to the Federal Council of Churches, Cleveland, in 1919, and was a trustee of Randolph Macon college.

FIGHTS MURDER CHARGE

Hull Orders Ambassador To File Strong Protest

To File Objections to Bombing of American Vessel

Washington, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Secretary Hull said today he had instructed Ambassador Nelson Johnson at Nanking to make a strong protest to the Chinese government on the bombing of the liner President Hoover.

The secretary said he was under the impression that merchant vessels of the United States would not call at Shanghai.

Regarding American merchant vessel hauls at Shanghai, Hull said Admiral Harry Yarnell, Asiatic fleet commander, had directed the President Hoover to go to Kobe, Japan, but that no definite instructions had been given that other Dollar ships avoid the war torn ports.

His expressed impression that the port would be avoided, however, was taken to mean that Dollar liners as well as the vessels of any other line probably would cease to call there.

This raised the question of how Americans remaining in the city would be evacuated. The secretary said it was possible native vessels would be made available for that purpose. He added that no decisions had been reached.

Between 200 and 300 Americans are ready to leave the city, the secretary said.

Admiral Yarnell reported to the navy department 25 pieces of shrapnel from an unidentified source struck the liner Hoover at anchor two miles from the Yangtze river lights.

He reported seven of the liners' crew were severely injured and two passengers were severely stunned.

Small Number Of Defendants Tried In Mayor's Court

Only Six Up This Morning Despite Fact Unusually Large Crowd in City Over Week-End

Only six defendants were tried in City police court this morning, substantiating the statement by police officials that the unusually large crowd in the city over the weekend was well-behaved.

Willie Oakley, who is well-known in police circles, was convicted on two charges, assault and being drunk and disorderly and using vulgar and profane language, and was given a 30-day road sentence on each, both to be suspended provided he leave the city and not return for 12 months.

Tom Gray, Negro, was convicted on two charges, assault and drunkenness. He was fined $10 and taxed with the costs on the former and ordered to pay the costs in the latter case. If he fails to pay, a road sentence is provided.

George Smith, Negro, was convicted of blocking the sidewalk and taxed with the costs.

Daniel Sheppard, Negro, was convicted of drunkenness and taxed with the costs.

Lee Lockmy was convicted of being drunk and disorderly and ordered to pay a five dollars fine and the court costs.

Robert Whitehurst, convicted of being drunk and disorderly, was taxed with the costs.

The youngest mountains are the roughest. As time passes, erosion softens their outlines.

Seven Of Crew Injured And Three Passengers On Liner Suffer Shock

LOADED TRUCK RUNS OVER BOY

Negro Killed While Pulling Bike Along By Vehicle

Richard Wilson, Negro about 20 years old, was almost instantly killed this morning about 11 o'clock when he was crushed beneath a brick-laden truck which he was holding on to, pulling himself along on his bicycle, when it made a sharp turn.

Dave Dixon, Negro truck driver for Sellers Brick company was exonerated by a coroner's jury, which held Wilson came to his death through his own negligence.

Wilson, who was employed only a few days ago by the Home grocery store, was declared to have been holding on to the truck, pulling himself along. The truck turned off Dickinson avenue into a side street and the Negro's bicycle was knocked against the curb and under the truck. The right rear wheel of the truck ran over the delivery boy's body, crushing him to death almost instantly. He was taken to the hospital, but died just about the time he arrived.

Driver Sought In Hit - Run Accident

Corporal L. L. Jackson of the State Highway patrol today was investigating a hit-and-run wreck about four miles from Greenville on the Washington highway last night.

According to information gathered by the officer, a car driven by a Mr. Matthews of Farmville was struck by a truck, the car being damaged, but no personal injuries were suffered.

Corporal Jackson said Matthews told him the driver of the truck cut off his lights and continued without stopping after striking him.

Matthews reported, however, he got the license number of the truck and the number he gave the officer was issued for a truck belonging to W. P. Moore of Bonner town, near Washington. Corporal Jackson today continued his investigation in an effort to definitely identify the owner and driver of the truck.

Tropical Winds Hit Coast Of Florida

Daytona Beach, Fla., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Top winds of 50 miles an hour whipped the Florida coast between here and St. Augustine today as a small tropical storm moved inland from the Atlantic ocean, where it had picked up heavy squalls for a week.

The weather bureau at Jacksonville said the storm center crossed the coast line about 10 a. m., between Ormond Beach and Flagler Beach. The forecast predicted the disturbance would blow itself out in rain squalls in northeastern Florida this afternoon.

There were no reports of personal injury in this area. Only minor property damage was done. Trees were toppled and creeks littered with small debris. A 40-foot temporary tower used by the State Firemen's Association for instructions, was blown down here.

Willard Field Day To Be Biggest Such Event Held

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—Department of Agriculture officials here are working hard to make the Field Day at Coastal Plains Test Farm, Willard, September 9, the biggest in the history of this event which is annually Eastern North Carolina's outstanding farm event.

With Governor Clyde R. Hoey as the principal speaker and an attractive supporting program it is predicted that not less than 10,000 farmers and other interested people will be on hand. The test farm at Willard is under direction of Dr. Charles Deary.

"All farmers of the states, their wives and all others will be welcomed on this occasion which will be devoted to the welfare of agriculture in the state," Commissioner of Agriculture W. Kerr Scott said.

Charles F. Cates, Mebane, a member of the State Board of Agriculture, will be chairman for the day.

W. H. Robbins, manager of Penderlea Homesteads, will supervise the demonstrations which will begin at 10 a. m.

Demonstrations will be conducted as follows: Poultry, C. O. Bollinger, poultryman for the Coastal Plain Farm; dairy, by two boys of the Pikeville 4-H Club of Wayne county, and members of the Johnston county 4-H Club; strawberry spraying and disease work, O. A. Meek, stroph, federal Department of Agriculture; horticulture, E. B. Morrow, State College; proper watering of flowers, J. S. Weaver, State College; fertilizers, E. R. Collins, State College agronomist.

Mrs. Estelle R. Smith, district home demonstration agent, will preside at the afternoon meetings for women beginning at 2 o'clock, and Miss Ruth Current, state home demonstration agent, will be the principal speaker.

Another interesting feature will be the election of officers. The state officers and three local members come up for election at this time.

An interesting program is prepared and will be released.

Chinese Authorities Admit "One" Plane Accidentally Hit the President Hoover While Aiming At Japanese Troop Ship

Nanking, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Chinese authorities admitted tonight that "one" of their planes aiming at a Japanese troop ship accidentally hit the American Dollar liner President Hoover off the Woosung light ship today.

Independent reports said the bombing was done by four planes. Seven members of the Hoover's crew were wounded and three passengers suffered shell shocks. Two of the seamen were gravely hurt.

The bombs tore gaps in the Hoover's hull at several points above the waterline, but she came about and proceeded toward Kobe, Japan, under her own power.

Two American destroyers steamed at forced draft to the scene in response to the liner's call for aid, but already the British warship, Cumberland was at her side.

The liner, one of the mercy fleet which has been evacuating hundreds of Americans from Shanghai, was attacked 20 miles from the coast or about 50 miles from Woosung.

Calls for medical assistance indicated an undetermined number of persons aboard the Hoover were wounded.

Japan meanwhile asked army and navy forces for a general onslaught against the estimated half million of Chinese General Chiang Kai-Shek's warriors who are about Shanghai and other cities of the Kiangsu province.

Warfare came closer to the international area of Shanghai itself. A huge shell, believed to have been fired by a Chinese gun, exploded in Japanese lines in northern Shanghai close to the international settlement.

Many were killed and a wide area was in flames.

Fires broke out again in other districts when Japanese naval guns bombarded Chinese troop concentrations at Kiangwan north of Shanghai proper, and Japanese planes dropped bombs on Miaohang farther north.

Japanese aviators refrained from additional bombardment of the old Chinese city, but army spokesmen said the crowded Nantao quarter would be bombed again if the Shanghai-Hanchow railway were used for troop movements.

Mrs. Moye Issues Call For Meeting On October 6-7-8

President of International Order of King's Daughters and Sons Calls Convention

Mrs. Hortense F. Moye of Greenville, president of the North Carolina Branch of the International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons has issued a call to the forty-seventh convention of the state branch which will convene in Kannapolis October 6-7-8.

This promises to be one of the most interesting conventions in some years.

The Look Out, senior circles, and Lend A Hand, junior circle of Kannapolis, are putting forth every effort to make the time spent in their city both profitable and pleasant.

There will be a reception on the opening evening, honoring the state officers and the guest of honor, Mrs. Morris W. Leiber, past president of the International Order, and other guests.

On Wednesday afternoon the King's Daughters and friends will be taken on a tour of the Cannon mills and the Jackson Training School for delinquent boys at Concord. The state project of the order for the time being is the erection of a chapel at the training school to replace the one built by the King's Daughters several years ago, but which the school has outgrown.

Another interesting feature will be the election of officers. The state officers and three local members come up for election at this time.

An interesting program is prepared and will be released.

Increase In Auto Sales Proves Prosperity Here

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—Automobile sales in North Carolina this year confirm indications that prosperity has returned.

Although sales of new cars have not quite kept pace with the increase in total automobile registration of 1937, figures in the department of revenue show a very substantial increase, in which practically every type and make of car has shared, registration so far this year already exceeds that for the whole of 1936. Sales have not been attained such proportions.

According to figures in the office of R. R. McLaughlin, head of the motor vehicle division of the Department of Revenue, 34,164 new passenger automobiles have been sold in North Carolina this year up to August 1, against 28,067 in the corresponding period of 1936—an increase of 6,097; while 9,687 trucks were sold in the first seven months of 1937, against 8,879 in a like period of 1936—an increase of 808.

Total sales for the year 1936 were 49,364 passenger cars and 14,286 trucks.

At Mr. McLaughlin's office it was pointed out that no record is kept of used car sales, but the opinion was expressed that they have doubled this year. There has been a particularly large increase in the number of used cars brought into North Carolina from other states.

At the office of the North Carolina Automobile Dealers Association here, Mrs. Bessie B. Phoenix confirmed the increased activities shown by the revenue department's figures. He said that reports at the recent automobile dealers convention, as well as reports she hears from time to time throughout the year indicate that 1937 will be a banner year for the trade. Only a few dealers are running behind 1936 sales, she said, assigning strikes early this year in the industry as the cause for such "slack" as there is.

The weather bureau at Jacksonville said the storm center crossed the coast line about 10 a. m. between Ormond Beach and Flagler Beach. The forecaster predicted the disturbance would blow itself out in rain squalls in northeastern Florida this afternoon.

There were no reports of personal injury in this area. Only minor property damage was done. Trees were toppled and creeks littered with small debris. A 40-foot temporary tower used by the State Firemen's Association for instructions, was blown down here.

Rocky Mount, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Offerings on the tobacco market here today were reported at 400,000 pounds and the price average was estimated at 23 cents a pound.

Kinston, Aug. 30.—(AP)—An estimated one million pounds of tobacco, much of it classed as low quality, was offered on the Kinston market today. Officials said the price average was about 22.50 cents per pound.

Daytona Beach, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Tobacco market officials estimated today's offerings on local floors at 60,000 pounds and said the price was approximately 22.50 cents a pound. The quality ranged from very poor to good.

Tarboro, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Tobacco market officials estimated today's offerings on local floors at 60,000 pounds and said the price was approximately 22.50 cents a pound. The quality ranged from very poor to good.

LOADED TRUCK RUNS OVER BOY

Negro Killed While Pulling Bike Along By Vehicle

Richard Wilson, Negro about 20 years old, was almost instantly killed this morning about 11 o'clock when he was crushed beneath a brick-laden truck which he was holding on to, pulling himself along on his bicycle, when it made a sharp turn.

Dave Dixon, Negro truck driver for Sellers Brick company was exonerated by a coroner's jury, which held Wilson came to his death through his own negligence.

Wilson, who was employed only a few days ago by the Home grocery store, was declared to have been holding on to the truck, pulling himself along. The truck turned off Dickinson avenue into a side street and the Negro's bicycle was knocked against the curb and under the truck. The right rear wheel of the truck ran over the delivery boy's body, crushing him to death almost instantly. He was taken to the hospital, but died just about the time he arrived.

Corporal L. L. Jackson of the State Highway patrol today was investigating a hit-and-run wreck about four miles from Greenville on the Washington highway last night.

According to information gathered by the officer, a car driven by a Mr. Matthews of Farmville was struck by a truck, the car being damaged, but no personal injuries were suffered.

Corporal Jackson said Matthews told him the driver of the truck cut off his lights and continued without stopping after striking him.

Matthews reported, however, he got the license number of the truck and the number he gave the officer was issued for a truck belonging to W. P. Moore of Bonner-ton, near Washington. Corporal Jackson today continued his investigation in an effort to definitely identify the owner and driver of the truck.

Willard Field Day To Be Biggest Such Event Held

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—Department of Agriculture officials here are working hard to make the Field Day at Coastal Plains Test Farm, Willard, September 9, the biggest in the history of this event which is annually Eastern North Carolina's outstanding farm event.

With Governor Clyde R. Hay as the principal speaker and an attractive supporting program it is predicted that not less than 10,000 farmers and other interested people will be on hand. The test farm at Willard is under direction of Dr. Charles Dearing.

"All farmers of the states, their wives and all others will be welcomed on this occasion which will be devoted to the welfare of agriculture in the state," Commissioner of Agriculture W. Kerr Scott said.

Charles P. Cates, Mebane, a member of the State Board of Agriculture, will be chairman for the day.

W. H. Robbins, manager of Penderlea Homesteads, will supervise the demonstrations which will begin at 10 a. m.

Demonstrations will be conducted as follows: Poultry, C. O. Bollinger, poultryman for the Coastal Plain Farm; dairy, by two boys of the Pikeville 4-H Club of Wayne county; and members of the Johnston county 4-H Club; strawberry spraying and disease work, G. A. Meekstroth, federal Department of Agriculture; horticulture, E. B. Morrow, State College; proper watering of flowers, J. S. Weaver, State College; fertilizers, E. R. Collins, State College agronomist.

Mrs. Estelle R. Smith, district home demonstration agent, will preside at the afternoon meetings for women beginning at 2 o'clock, and Miss Ruth Current, state home demonstration agent, will be the principal speaker.

There will be a reception on the opening evening, honoring the state officers and the guest of honor, Mrs. Morris W. Leiber, past president of the International Order, and other guests.

On Wednesday afternoon the King's Daughters and friends will be taken on a tour of the Cannon mills and the Jackson Training School for delinquent boys at Concord. The state project of the order for the time being is the erection of a chapel at the training school to replace the one built by the King's Daughters several years ago, but which the school has outgrown.

Another interesting feature will be the election of officers. The entire state of officers and three board members come up for election at this time.

An interesting program is being prepared and will be released soon.

Mrs. Moye Issues Call For Meeting On October 6-7-8

President of International Order of King's Daughters and Sons Calls Convention

Mrs. Hortense F. Moye of Greenville, president of the North Carolina Branch of the International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons has issued a call to the forty-seventh convention of the state branch which will convene in Kinston October 6-7-8.

This promises to be one of the most interesting conventions in the state's history.

The Look Out, senior circles, and Lend A Hand, junior circle of Kinston, are putting forth every effort to make the time spent in their city both profitable and pleasant.

The Lost Colony

A Modern Version

By EDW. W. HEARNE

(Author's Note.—The characters in this story are fictitious and resemblance to persons living or dead, is merely coincidental.)

"Well, Margie, we are entering 'Betty Village,'—better check up on your groceries; they say this is the last stop en route to 'Hags Head' . . . We want a good supply of food, you know—"

It was Eleanor Hare speaking, Eleanor, and a group of girl friends had bought a trailer and were touring the country. Their home was in Kansas and they had heard many enticing tales of the hospitality of North Carolinians, so had set out to make a tour of the narrow stretch of land that juts out into the ocean somewhere between Roanoke island and France.

They had, since childhood been adventurous souls and the sextette had carefully planned their trip with eager anticipation. . . . so at "Betty Village" they stocked up a good supply of food and had stopped at a filling station to gas up.

"How far is it to 'Hags Head'?" Eleanor inquired of the attendant. "About sixty-five miles," was the reply.

"And how far is the alphabet store from here?" Eleanor asked. "Oh! You can get plenty out there," replied the attendant. "They have a select stock of popular brands right in the middle of the beach. . . . You folks are foreigners aren't you?"

"Well—you might call us that," responded Margie. "We are adventurers from Kansas."

"Oh! Yes—that's the place where you have to buy cigarettes from a bootlegger. . . . Queen Elizabeth's descendants must have settled in that state and wanted to get even with the Indians for making her choke on Chief Manteo's pipe. . . . by the way you girls had better buy a supply of mosquito netting before you leave here," suggested the attendant.

"What's that for?" inquired Bess, another of the sextette, who had been crowned queen of something or other out in Kansas. . . . Since then she had been known as Queen Bess. . . . Her grandfather had been a blacksmith, and her father was an ex-heavyweight champion, so she had inherited the art of taking care of herself. . . . therefore, she, too, could boast of being a virgin queen.

"Why mosquito netting is a kind of cloth that is punched full of holes to let in the air and keep out the mosquitoes," replied the attendant. "And what are mosquitoes?" asked Margie.

"Well," replied the attendant,—"mosquitoes out there are believed to be descendants of the Indians who were enraged because of the white man's trespassing upon their land. . . . So an Indian medicine man changed them into these monsters. . . . and ever since they have swooped down upon the pale face unmercifully trying to drive them off their happy hunting ground."

"Mercy knows" gasped Kitty, "we'd better get a gun."

"So they stopped at a drug store and bought a flit gun for each—then crossed the bridge. "Oh! look!" screamed Bess, "that's a cute place."

They were passing the "Beach Club," a famous resort erected as a monument to the agony of Volsteadism.

Full over to this filling station and let's see where we can camp," suggested Margie.

They were directed to a stretch of sand near "Terry's Casino," where you can get more out of a nickel than a Scotchman.

By five-thirty they were comfortably settled—the trailer had been parked and supper was on the fire. . . . they had wanted a sea food supper, but being at the beach they knew this was impossible so had compromised on "hot dogs" and a couple of cans of the pride of Boston.

Already they were beginning to enjoy this "new world" everyone was so sociable—they had arisen (those who had been fortunate enough to get to bed) . . . to see the sun come out of the ocean. . . . (although they didn't know whose son it was) . . . At night they had been thrilled watching the moon do a Kate Smith over the sand dunes. . . . At dusk they had marvelled at the air carnival put on by the masquitos—had watched them flying along the edge of the ocean—diving now and then and ascending with a fish, carrying it in their beak to the sound. For weeks they had enjoyed every moment in this "new world"—but now they were getting uneasy—day after day they had stood by the nickel machines hoping to hit a 30—for this was one place in North Carolina that had never heard of Ned Hanigan—had had wired home for more nickels—day in and day out they had scanned the skies in vain for air ship of relief that never came—Aggie—who was sixty-eight—but more, or less, the Fannie Ward type—had received her July pension check—but those two dollars had also played the horses. Their nickels were getting low—so days went by one morning a traveler from "Hitty Kawk" knocked at the trailer door which stood ajar—there was no answer. They had vanished—leaving behind only an empty champagne bottle tied to the "hitching post"—No one saw them. As far as J. Edgar Hoover is concerned the mystery is a closed book. Some say they were so carried away with the hospitality of those who make that strip of sand their summer home. . . . So carried away with those beautiful full moons that hypnotize. . . . That six "full" sons carried them away to honeymoon hotel to become Mr. and Mrs. . . . Others say the mosquitoes carried them back to Kansas. . . . But the janitor at "Beach Club" feels sure that some morning he will find them under a able and solve to mystery.

What To Do—If War Breaks Out While You're Abroad

(By The AP Feature Service) 1. Hurry to the nearest American diplomat.

2. If warned in time, establish a bank account in a neighboring country that promises to be peaceful.

3. Lay in a week's food supply. Any more would be futile for no telling which way the bombing will turn.

4. Notify the nearest American foreign service man where you are so he can throw out the life-line if it becomes necessary.

Should war break out unexpectedly, says the United States Department, its every man for himself until he reaches the protective wing of the nearest American ambassador, minister, consul or vice-consul. Then it's up to the diplomat.

UNC PREPARES BEGIN SESSION

Indications Point to Increase in Enrollment

Chapel Hill, Aug. 30.—The University of North Carolina here began preparations today for the opening of the 144th session, with indications that the enrollment will be slightly above last year's.

The total enrollment is expected to pass 3,100. Last fall's total was 3,027.

Proceeding the formal opening, Freshman week, a period set aside for the purpose of aiding freshmen in getting adjusted to university life, will be observed from Monday, September 13, through Thursday, September 16. The first freshman assembly will be held at 9 o'clock September 13.

Freshmen and transfer students will register Wednesday, September 15, upper classesmen September 16, and classes will begin the morning of the 17th.

Bob Magill, president of the student body, will welcome members of the freshman class at the opening assembly on the 13th. Following this will be meetings with faculty and student advisers and counselors.

At 8 o'clock that evening a reception will be held in Graham Memorial when new students will have an opportunity to meet President Graham, Administrative Dean House, deans of the various schools and faculty advisers.

The University club will give a reception for the new students on Wednesday evening, and the Freshman week program will be brought to a close with College night exercises on Thursday when some of the student leaders will give talks on the various campus activities.

Students who have not been here this summer will be surprised to find the new woman's dormitory nearing completion and the new gymnasium well under way. The new woman's building will house 100 coeds and is scheduled for occupancy at the opening of the fall term.

The gymnasium and indoor swimming pool, which are being erected at a cost of $700,000, made possible through a PWA grant, bond issue, and private contributions, will not be completed before January, maybe a little later. Among its features will be a large swimming pool, indoor track, and basketball court. It is designed to seat more than 6,000.

Despite the large enrollment, indications are that all students accepted will be able to find suitable rooms, either in the dormitories or in homes in the village. The Y.M.C.A. is maintaining a service for those seeking rooms in town.

Coal and coke production in the United States dropped about 30 per cent from 1930 to 1935.

How's Your Health?

Edited for the New York Academy of Medicine By Iago Goldston, M.D.

Germs differ radically in the ways they injure the body. Some, having gained entrance, multiply and spread throughout the body and cause local damage wherever they settle. Others may be confined to one spot, but there they produce toxins which are absorbed and circulated by the blood.

The germ or tuberculosis may be taken as a typical example of the first; germs of diphtheria are of the second variety.

This distinction is approximately exact, but not entirely so. For all germs produce toxic substances, and those germs which prove injurious chiefly by the poisonous substances which they liberate are in themselves destructive to the tissues within which they reside and multiply.

It is against the germs of the toxin-producing variety that we have developed our most effective immunizing vaccines and curative serums. Thus, for example, we have potent curative serums with which to treat diphtheria, tetanus (lock-jaw), botulinus poisoning, and certain of the streptococci (those of scarlet fever). Better still, we can artificially immunize individuals against many of the poisons of the toxin-producing germs.

The "mechanism" behind this form of immunization is this: The toxin-producing germs are cultured in an artificial medium (outside the body). We then isolate from the medium in which they are grown their characteristic toxins. When these toxins are administered to an individual, in small and innocuous quantities, they provoke the production within the individual's body of specific antibodies. These antibodies may be pictured as neutralizing agents. The antibodies remain within the individual's body for a number of years. This immunized individual has within his body protective substances ready to serve him should he be attacked by toxin-producing germs.

This is the mechanism utilized in immunizing children against diphtheria and scarlet fever. It is also applied in immunizing individuals against lockjaw, the gas bacillus of Welch, and a host of other diseases. However, not all vaccinations make use of toxins. Some involve the use of altered (changed or weakened) viruses (smallpox and anti-rabies vaccinations); others again employ killed bacteria (typhoid vaccination) or bacterial products.

RED OAK NEWS

Tightening Rules Governing Dairies Expected Aid REA

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—Tightening by the state board of health of regulations surrounding dairies and their operation has been a decided boost for rural electrification in North Carolina, in the opinion of J. M. Grainger, engineer of the state Rural Electrification Authority.

Mr. Grainger believes that these regulations (which Maxey Tom Cooper of Wilmington said require dairymen to "build castles for their cows") have made the use of electrically operated equipment almost an absolute necessity and have thereby converted many dairymen who never before thought much about the matter into leaders in the cause of electrification.

This belief, he said, was strengthened last week by the visit to his office of a group of Chatham county dairymen and farmers in an effort to secure cooperation from the Carolina Power and Light company in extending lines into their county.

Health regulations now require that dairies be supplied with so much washing equipment that a high water pressure pump is indispensable, Mr. Grainger said, with the result that every one of the dairy men must either buy and install a high-pressure gasoline engine or he must have electrically operated machinery.

And so it has come about that the leading figures in movements looking to extension of power into rural counties are now almost invariably draws from the dairy group.

Indirectly this eagerness of dairy folks to have electricity has been of value to many other rural inhabitants who are now being served by power lines as the result of their dairymen-neighbors' efforts.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

Hollywood, Aug. 28.—(AP)—In Hollywood the traditional grain of salt won't do. You need a barrel of it.

All you have to do to join the skeptics' club out here is ask one little question and wait for developments. The question is "And how did you get into pictures?"

Every actor has a different answer—sometimes a true one. Miss Mylicent Bartholomew and nephew Freddie arrived in Hollywood from England on a vacation. While here, they thought they'd see about getting Freddie the part of "David Copperfield." Wonder of wonders, they went to the studio and the producer jumped up and down and signed Freddie and he didn't go back to England at all. (The true version of Aunt Cass's story has been aired in court.)

Miss Mari Colman was carving out a career on the New York stage when a Paramount scout spotted her and rushed her west. Strangely enough—because in Hollywood miracles are commonplace—Cecil B. DeMille was even then questing for a "virginal Diana" for one of his pictures. He chose Mari after testing hundreds. Mari was coy. She could not tell her real name of her real home town—because the family had objections to an acting career. She was a mystery girl—until Gus Sonnenberg got mad and spilled the beans and Mari (now Judith Allen) owned up she was then Gus's mistress.

Miss Marsha Hunt came to Hollywood on a vacation and she had no idea, no indeed, of going into pictures. Oddly, she was met at the train by a photographer and got considerable publicity on the strength of her adamant resolve to have nothing to do with pictures. So she got a contract. It was not until months later that she started telling the truth: that it was a clever plot to get in quickly and surely.

Phil Regan, the singing cop, was one of Hollywood's most eligible bachelors. He was "rumored" attached to this newcomer and that. How much this contributed to the spread of his fame is uncertain—but the biggest "story" he ever got same with the truth. Phil was revealed as an adoring husband, and as fond father of four youngsters, all of whom stayed obediently in the background for the o'd professional reasons.

It may be, considering this case, that the truth doesn't pay. Warren Hull came here and made no secret of the fact that he was working to buy shoes for three growing children. And what did Hull get out of it? Just an occasional mention like this one.

SYNOPSIS: A lovers' tiff parts Neill, a young federal agent, and Janet in Baltimore. She won't break a date with wealthy, flashy Prescott Fanning whom Neill distrusts. Next day a mysterious phone call tells Neill Janet's in trouble on Fanning's yacht at Abolom's Harbor. Rushing there, he finds in a locked cabin, Fanning shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Neill rouses her to the disused liners kept up the river. They climb aboard, dodge a watchman and find the best suite. Neill makes a rope ladder, then leaves Janet hidden on the ship and gets back to the village hotel before dawn.

Chapter 13

Two Campers Arrive

NEILL slept for an hour. His anxieties would not permit him to rest any longer, and he was up and sitting on the porch of the store next door before any other person in the village was stirring. The Nadji lay out in the harbor, clean-cut in the pure light of morning. White paint, mahogany and brass all spark and span. Nothing to suggest that a dead man lay aboard. Her dinghy was tied to a boom amidships, so the crew must have returned. Neill waited for developments.

At 7 o'clock Virgil Longcope came down the little hill back of the store, whistling out of tune and swinging a big key. He was a leathery, middle-sized man wear-winter when the river freezes over and there's no oystering nor fishing, this village would starve if it wasn't for Virgil. He carries them all."

When Captain Bickel came out of the store, he found Neill standing beside his car.

"Morning, Captain. I saw your ship when I came down the road yesterday. Is a person allowed to go aboard?"

"You have to get a permit from the department of commerce, young man. I ain't authorized to let anybody aboard."

"Do you have many visitors?"

"No, sir. Them ships has been forgotten. Nobody asks to go aboard and the department ain't over-anxious to issue permits."

"Why is that?"

"We're afraid of fire. Don't want folks moseying around on board and dropping cigarette butts."

"I suppose they send down inspectors from time to time."

"Sure, the first of every month. Two weeks' thought Neill. He said: "The cabins must be fixed up pretty fine."

"Sure. But we don't trouble the cabins. We keep 'em locked. Our job is to keep the hulls free of rust and the engines greased."

"How many men have you?"

"Four of us sleep aboard. Me my foreman and a couple watchmen. I hire what painters and oilers I need by the day."

"Must be pretty lonely at night just the four of you on those big ships."

"We sticks pretty close together." The old man smiled.

Strange this man should turn up now, Neill thought.

ing a wrinkled store suit of no particular color and a derby placed just so. This outfit made him stand out among the boots and jumpers of the other villagers. Virgil had a cracked voice, a bright eye and an expression of sly, good humor.

"Hello, Stranger! You're up early."

"Well, I came down here to get a little sea air," said Neill, "and this is the best time of day to smell it."

"I reckon," said Virgil, "though I don't notice it myself no more. You ought to be here when the fish-fertilizer factory across the harbor was working. Gemmen! We had strong air then!"

Neill laughed to humor him. He thought: The killing is not yet known or he would speak of it. Having opened up his store, Virgil sat down beside Neill and chewed his cigar.

The principal wharf of the place extended out in front of the store, and the whole panorama of village life unrolled before them—men on their way to work in the shipyard; professional fishermen chugging in from the bay with the night's catch and amateurs starting out with lunch baskets and tackle. No sign of movement aboard the yacht Nadji as yet. One of Virgil's first customers was a mild old man who drove up in a faded sedan.

"Morning, Captain Bickel!" sang Virgil. They went into the store together.

Neill remembered that this was the name of the caretaker of the big ship, and kept his eye on the door so that he could put himself in Captain Bickel's way when he came out. He wanted information.

Quizzing The Caretaker

MEANWHILE the lanky fisherman named Jake had taken a seat on Neill's bench.

"Mr. Longcope is quite a character," Neill said.

"Deed I doggone swear is he," said Jake. "He's a character, Virgil is. He loves a dicker. He'll take half a day to overreach you a dollar's worth, and hand you five. Everybody cusses Virgil out, but he gets their vote when he wants to run for anything. He owns pret' near ev' thing hereabouts, the best farms, the best timber, but he don't never grow rich because he's too soft-hearted. Come a hard

He drove back up the road. Ketterings, Father And Son

NEILL looked out at the Nadji. Still no sign of life aboard. The suspense was hard to bear. Virgil Longcope rejoined him.

A new gray sedan drove up. In it there were two men wearing fishing clothes, and the back compartment was heaped with a tent, folding cots and other camping impedimenta. Of the two passengers, one was middle-aged, spare of frame, with lanky blonde hair hanging over his forehead, a long nose and a hearty, voluble manner. The other was as different a type as could be—young, husky, dark-skinned and silent—yet they were stamped as father and son.

The older man got out. "Good morning, gentlemen! Good morning! Which of you is the store-keeper?"

"Me," said Virgil, turning over his well-chewed cigar.

"The other thrust out his hand. Delighted to meet you, Mr. Longcope. The name is Horace Kettering, lawyer of Baltimore. Yonder is my son Horace, junior."

Neill took sharp notice of the speaker. Strange that this man whom he had looked for in vain should turn up now! It was too late to ask him questions about Fanning, but as a friend of Janet's family, he might be of help.

"What can I do for you?" asked Virgil.

"Me and my son have come down for a few days' fishing," said Kettering. "We like to camp out, get close to nature and all that, you know, and I wanted to ask you if there was any place nearby where we could pitch our tent?"

"Sure. Just keep on around the harbor road, and on the other side of the point you will come to a little open field. The campers pitch there."

"Much obliged," said Kettering. "How's fishing?"

"Not bad," said Longcope. "No rock yet, but plenty of hard-head. And the trout are biting."

"Bait?"

"Oh, any God's amount of soft-crabs."

BIG APPLE DANCE

LATE SHOW FEATURE

Next Wednesday night is the big night! Promptly at 11:15 o'clock at the State Theatre local citizens will get their first chance to see the real "Big Apple" America's latest dance craze, as it ought to be danced.

An all-colored cast, featuring hot dancing couples from Columbia, S. C., where this new dance sensation started, will be presented in the first "Big Apple" Revue. The talk of the nation, the dance is a combination of the "Charleston," "Black Bottom," "Truckin'," "Suzie-Q" and the old-fashioned square dance.

An interesting screen program has also been arranged, "Venus Makes Trouble." The entire performance, including the "Big Apples" will run about one hour and a half.

Chillicothe, Ohio, is not the only Chillicothe in the United States. Chillicothe, Mo., is situated on the Grand river, northeast of Kansas City.

September Month For Farrowing Fall Pigs

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—September is the month in which many of the fall pigs will be farrowed.

To give the little fellows a good start in life, protect them from filth and disease, said H. W. Taylor extension swine specialist at State college.

Before farrowing time, put the brood sow in a field, preferably a pasture, where no hogs have ranged since the last time it was cultivated. Do not let the pigs go to old hog lots or hog pens. Keep them on clean land until they weigh 100 pounds or more.

A sow that is worth feeding deserves a good farrowing house, Taylor added. County farm agents will be glad to supply blue prints for homebuilt farrowing houses.

Jersey Cattle Club Sale Set For Friday

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—The N. C. Jersey Cattle club's annual sale of purebred cattle will be held Friday, September 3, at the Piedmont branch experiment station, Statesville.

Dr. C. D. Grinnells, veterinarian of the central experiment station at State college, said the unusually good offering of animals to be placed before the bidders has been selected from 15 of the leading breeders' herds of the state.

The purpose of these annual sales, he said, is to place more good Jerseys with North Carolina farmers, but the high quality of animals offered in the past has attracted national attention. Last year one of the animals was sold to a breeder from Oregon.

CARELESSNESS COSTS A LIFE

Many times in this column we have called attention to the dangers that accompany bicyclists who will hang on to the sides of automobiles or trucks and coast along. Judging by the prevalence of this practice in our city by both white and Negro boys it seems that little attention is paid to the danger, but this morning the practice cost the life of a Negro boy.

According to the information, the boy was hanging on the right side of a large brick truck as it moved out Dickinson Avenue, and the truck driver unaware that the boy was trailing along beside the truck, made a turn to the right, with the result that the boy's bicycle struck the curb throwing him beneath the back wheels of the heavily loaded truck.

FIGURES WERE NOT AVAILABLE

We have been asked many times since Saturday why we did not carry Friday's tobacco market figures and our answer has been "We could not get them." It has always been the policy of this paper to print the official market figures from day to day throughout the season whether they be high or low, in order that our readers might know just what the market was doing. The figures ordinarily are furnished by K. W. Cobb, board of trade secretary and sales supervisor, but heretofore on occasions when Mr. Cobb could not be contacted the figures have been available from any of the buying companies. On Saturday when it was learned that Mr. Cobb was out of the city and could not be contacted, we sought the desired figures from one of the buying companies and were told that an order had gone out that no figures could be released except through Mr. Cobb. It was explained by the buying company that this order had been issued because there were instances in the past when there had been discrepancies in the figures secured from the two sources. Finding our way to procuring the figures blocked, there was nothing for us to do but do without them. It is still our policy to give our readers the truth about the tobacco market and we feel that this can be told through the official figures and when you do not find a report on the tobacco market in the paper you will know it is because we were unable to get the official figures on the market.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—At about the same time that farmers of the Albany section let out loud yells of protest at the 45 cents the United States Commodities Corporation says it will pay for potatoes, State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson was receiving notice that the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation is transferring $18,000 to the account of the state to be used in buying surplus sweet potatoes—about a million and a half pounds of them.

Locking at a map on the wall of North Carolina's Rural Electrification Authority it is a notice ble fact that there isn't a single pretty red pin, representing a municipal power plant, west of Franklin county; though there are an even dozen scattered over the eastern part of the state.

This is accounted for, REA folks say, by the fact that power development in the Piedmont and the west by companies organized to sell at wholesale, while there was not sufficient demand for power to make organization of such big concerns feasible in the east.

"The program of the Department of Agriculture calls for the elimination of impure seed in North Carolina, insofar as possible," declares D. S. Coltrane, assistant to Commissioner of Agriculture Kerr Scott. Mr. Coltrane is to be speaker at many seed meetings to be held throughout the state. He will visit Durham, Hillsboro, Graham, Reidsville, Greensboro, Mocksville, Winston-Salem, Taylorsville, Lenoir, Lincolnton, Gastonia, Shelby and Rutherfordton this week.

North Carolina's influence in Congress is spreading. There's a scandal brewing about "absentee" voting.

A. D. McLean, former assistant Attorney General and the fellow who just about ran a state legislature some years ago, will make a speech on September 17, the occasion being the observance of Constitution Day. He will speak over the airways from Raleigh.

"The day is coming when pine trees will be classed as one of North Carolina's 'cash crops'" according to W. W. Henderson, official of the big pulp plant going up at Plymouth.

Tomorrow will be a big day for N. C. Supreme Court Justice M. V. Barnhill and Wallace Winborne. It will be occasion of their first sitting as members of this august tribunal.

North Carolina has a special committee getting ready for observance of the 150 anniversary of the formation of the Constitution of the United States, which will be celebrated September 17.

Members of the group of Representative Walker (Pete) Murphy, from the House; High Point's Thos. J. Gold, from the State Senate; Judge John J. Parker, Charlotte; Judge E. Y. Webb, Shelby; J. G. Merrimon, Asheville; Angus D. McLean, Raleigh; and Isaac C. Wright, Wilmington, the last five appointed by Governor Hoey.

Both the Department of Conservation and Development and John C. Baskerville, former correspondent of this bureau, are receiving congratulations upon Mr. Baskerville's appointment to a high post in the state's advertising campaign.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—It is simply amazing the amount of diplomatic to-doing that goes on because the United States has to go through the steps of getting out of the China war zone without really asserting publicly that it is a war. Of course there is carnage, and enough marching and counter-marching to drive the Spanish civil war off page one. Yet we have recognized Spain's war.

Secretary Hull, who is an earnest man and sincere, quite evidently would like to step in with the good offices of the United States and bring an end to wars wherever they break out. But he may not say so publicly. In rejecting the League of Nations and world court this country quite definitely said: "Devil take your foreign wars. Hereafter we are hands off."

It was a blossoming of that spirit which brought on the so-called neutrality act under which the United States, in theory, must pull its neck turtle-like into a shell whenever the shot and shell begin falling any place in the world.

In theory it is that way. The theory may have worked in the case of Italy and Ethiopia and again in the case of Spain. But in the case of the Japanese-Chinese outbreak the state department is required to pile a theory upon a theory. It must hold to the theory that the neutrality act is in fact being followed when truly enough it is being side-stepped.

The neutrality act provides that upon the outbreak of war the President must proclaim the fact. The proclamation automatically shuts off all supplies of arms, munitions and implements of war to the belligerents and sets up a chain of procedure likely in time to lead to suspension of all trade with them.

But Mr. Hull wants to preserve peace. The neutrality act is not designed primarily to preserve peace. It is designed to keep the United States from getting in the way of enemy shells or torpedoes. Since the neutrality act leaves it discretionary with the President to decide when war actually begins, Mr. Hull as the President's agent, will continue to work and plead for peace until the existence of war becomes so oppressive he can deny it no longer.

Thus you have Mr. Hull asking in his latest peace statement that China and Japan "refrain from hostilities." If he had said "suspend hostilities" it would have been an admission that there were hostilities. Such an admission would have required that the neutrality act be called into effect.

All this time Mr. Hull must direct the evacuation of Americans from the scene of conflict. He must protest against too much shooting over Yankee property in the Orient. Yet the state department does not even refer to Shanghai as the "war zone."

"But there is evidence that in the minds of some public officials there is a feeling that it is a 'war zone' in fact. Senator Pittman of Nevada chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, defended at length Mr. Hull's position. He said there was nothing yet to indicate it was a really and truly war. But down in his speech he remarked that the present prime duty of the Secretary of State was to remove our citizens from the 'war zone'."

Oh, well, we can't all be so careful as the state department.

buying the mild ripe tobacco that makes smokers say.. Chesterfields give you MORE pleasure

In 1937, Chesterfield tobacco buyers will attend each one of the 113 auction markets listed here. In addition they will be buying tobacco in Southern Maryland, and aromatic leaf in Turkey and Greece. Wherever Chesterfield tobacco is bought, in this country or abroad, it must be mild, it must be ripe.

There is no higher standard of tobacco quality than the Chesterfield standard

Billies And Snakes Get Victories In Play-Off Semi-Finals

SECOND TILTS PLAYED TODAY

Mooney of Tarboro Hurls Two-Hitter Against Martins

New Bern, Aug. 30.—Peashead Walker's Snow Hill Billies took a 10-2 victory here yesterday, afternoon over Doc Smith's Bears in the first game of the post-season semifinals.

Showing less than no fear for the marauding Bears who attempted to interrupt their reaping activities, the Billies pushed across three runs in the very first inning and then sauntered the rest of the way. Emil Zak and Johnny Hruska shared pitching honors for the winners and made a five-hit job out of it, while their mates were coupling hits off Stuart Flythe and Bull Hamons with costly errors.

Snow Hill's victory was made easier by the Bruin's ragged defensive work. Five Bruins shelled out an error apiece. Manager Walker's boys turned in a bang-up brand of errorless ball.

Hyder with three hits in four attempts led the Billies' attack, while Robinson and Soufas with two hits each were runners-up for the Billies. Thornton with two for four was the only Bear to gather more than one safety.

Thurman Vick, centerfielder, was the Bears' top man on defense.

The two teams are playing in Snow Hill this afternoon.

SERPENTS BITE MARTINS

Tarboro, Aug. 30.—The whole show was Bernard Mooney as the Serpents turned in a 12-0 victory over Williamston's Martins yesterday before 1,800 fans in the club's opener of the post-season semifinals.

Mooney let the Martins down with two hits, fanned seven, and walked only two—on the pitching side. On the batting side, he collected two hits in four batting turns and batted in four tallies. Only one Martin got as far as the keyhole sack as Mooney tossed up a baffling assortment of curves. Stanley and McCay were the only visitors who solved the big Irishman for safeties.

The Martins used three hurlers in an attempt to stave off the terrific onslaught of Snake Henry's boys, but when the smoke cleared and the scorekeeper had added up the board showed 12 runs and 15 hits for the Tarborians.

The teams are playing in Williamston this afternoon. No doubt, the Martins are seeking revenge for yesterday's overwhelming defeat, and the Snakes are seeking to make it two in a row. At any rate the game promises to be a good one.

SPORT SLANTS

Not until Gus Mancuso broke his finger in the middle of July did Harry Danning get a chance to show his worth behind the plate. He enjoyed a big day against the Phillies in Baker Bowl, when he punched out a triple and four singles to ring up "five for five."

As soon as Danning got his bearings behind the plate there was a noticeable improvement on the part of the Giants' pitching staff. In 13 of 16 games Danning handled the starting pitcher was still tossing 'em up when the game ended. A pretty good indication that Danning was doing a fair job of pacing his pitchers and making his selections with good judgment.

Much credit for the Giants' return to the thick of the pennant fight must go to the hawk-nosed catcher. The way Danning has stood up under pressure indicates that he is doing a fair job of pacing his pitchers and making his selections with good judgment.

Louis-Farr Bout Set For Tonight

New York, Aug. 29.—(AP)—With the weather man promising to lend a hand, Joe Louis and Tommy Farr tonight will attempt to go through with their postponed world's heavyweight title match at Yankee Stadium.

Louis and Farr originally were scheduled to settle their argument last Thursday night, but Promoter Mike Jacobs ordered a four-day postponement because of rainy weather—and because he hoped the delay might boost a none-too-promising ticket sales.

Both purposes appear to have been accomplished. The forecast is for cloudy weather, but no rain, tomorrow night, while the fair weather of the past two days has helped business at the box office. With the influx today of the race crowd from Saratoga, a further soaring of ticket sales is predicted.

Promoter Jacobs, who has said all along the fight would not gross less than $300,000, is jubilant. He paid flying visits to both training camps today and hoisted his guests to a state of between $350,000 and $400,000 and a crowd of not less than 40,000.

Close observers, however, are more conservative. They think the attendance may reach the 35,000 mark, but doubt if the receipts will pass $350,000 even with the $75,000 from the radio and picture rights included.

The fight has brought no change in expert opinion. The men who write their living following and making about fights are almost unanimous in the belief the Brown bombing champion will dispose of the challenger by the knockout route in well under 12 rounds. Most

Facts and Figures On Fight Tonight

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Fast and figures on tonight's championship fight:

Principals—Joe Louis, Detroit world heavyweight champion, vs. Tommy Farr, Wales, British Empire champion.

Place—Yankee Stadium, New York City.

Length of bout—15 rounds to a decision.

Time of bout—First preliminary 7 p. m. (Greenwich time); may be advanced if weather threatening.

Probable weights—Louis 198, Farr 264.

Broadcast—NBC hookup for main bout (starting not earlier than 8:15 (EST)).

OVER THE FENCE WAS NOT OUT IN THIS CASE

Denver, Aug. 30.—(AP)—his little lady really deserved a great big hand.

Barbara Volo, pacing mare owned by Vernon Lindblad of Denver, tumbled half way over the fence and was pinioned by the sulky when one of her rein straps broke at a City Park driving meet.

The mare, only slightly hurt, was pulled back onto the track and won the next two heats and the race.

Bill Terry has no cause for worry as far as his catching problem is concerned.

Mancuso is no sure shot to take over his old job when he is ready to return. As long as Harry keeps on getting results, chances are the regular catching job will be his.

PEACE REIGNS ON GRID FRONT

Harmony Again Returns to Athletics At State College

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—It's a known fact around the campus at State college here that prospects for a winning football team this fall are extremely bleak, but there is a feeling that there will be close harmony in a heretofore upset football camp—a kind of harmony which may aid Coach William (Doc) Newton in winning some games.

Newton is to start his first year at State on Wednesday and 18 days later he will send his first pack of wolves against the Davidson Wildcats, a band which Doc himself coached last season.

Few coaches ever faced a tougher assignment. There has been more intercollegiate warfare in State football circles, than there has been the entire Spanish civil war. Doc is taking up a task which has been too much for some of the best coaches in the business. He feels, however, that he faces the firing line with the best wishes of State alumni, faculty, student and football players.

Exemplifying this spirit is the remark of one of the athletes who commented tersely when asked his opinion of the change and what he thought of Newton. He said:

"This year it will be fun to play football." And when players are having fun playing football they are usually playing better football.

There were many who regretted seeing Newton come to State, because of the reported friction. They feared it would be too much for him; but Doc, with a five-year contract, hopes to give the Pack a football club that will bring honor and glory to the school.

He faces an exceedingly hard job here—no mistake about that—but if there is any man who can take the bull by the horns and straighten things out better than Doc, his identity has not been known.

Picturing SPORTS

FISHERMAN

Ernest Liotta, Jr., Cleveland, won the national scientific angling club's "best all-around fisherman" title at Buffalo, N. Y., on his 20th birthday.

Liotta, the youngest person ever to win the award, is one of a group of young sports stars who have been stealing headlines. Others include:

TENNIS

Robert L. Riggs, Hollywood, who made almost a clean sweep of U. S. tennis courts when the Davis cup team was away—winning 9 of 10 tournaments he entered. Riggs won his first tennis racket shooting marbles. He's the younger set's best tennis player.

LARGE AMOUNT SPUDS BOUGHT

Nearly 700,000 Bushels Purchased By Govt. Agency

Raleigh, Aug. 30.—Nearly 700,000 bushels of Irish potatoes were purchased from North Carolina growers by the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation in the recent price-stabilizing program.

According to a tabulation sent Dean I. O. Schaub, of State college, 671,918 bushels were purchased directly from farmers and 15,793 bushels of North Carolina potatoes were bought at terminal markets in New York and Philadelphia.

The purchasing program was instituted when it was seen that the bumper crop of potatoes was glutting markets, and beating prices down to a level below the actual cost of production, the dean said.

By removing the surplus, the FSCC strengthened the market and enabled growers to get better prices for their spuds, although the "bolstered" prices did not go quite as high as growers wished.

Early potato growers in North Carolina and other states, encouraged by good prices received in 1936, had expanded their acreage 26 per cent for 1937. Heavy yields per acre also augmented the surplus.

The potatoes purchased by the FSCC were consigned to state relief agencies in Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, West Virginia, Wisconsin and the District of Columbia.

Distributed only to families on relief rolls, these potatoes did not compete with those marketed through the regular channels, the dean explained.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 30.—Light buying served to tilt the stock market moderately forward today, although bids were far from insistent in any department.

Dealings were exceptionally slow from the start. Early advances of fractions to a point or more were reduced near the fourth hour. Losers also were in evidence here and there.

The market apparently was calm in the face of far eastern conflicts, including bombing of the American liner the President Hoover off Shanghai. There was virtually no change in the business picture.

Carrier bonds improved in the bond division.

Cotton and grain futures slipped lower.

Leaders did a turnaround and retrieved fractions to three points of their previous losses. It was one of the slowest sessions of the year, transfers approximating only 450,000 shares.

FLOATING POPULATION

The couple in this picture belong to North Carolina's floating population, but they are neither tourists nor transients; just folks enjoying themselves in the WPA swimming pool at Durham, when the candid cameraman caught them drifting along. The WPA has constructed eleven such pools in the state.

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady, three to nine lower on easier Liverpool cables, huge selling and liquidation over the expected loan announcement.

December fluctuated between 9.42 and 9.38, with the list four to 11 points net lower shortly after the first half hour.

By midday the market had become quiet, December which advanced to 9.49, was selling at 9.46 and the general list ranged from nine points lower to one higher.

Futures closed barely steady, 10 to 18 lower. Spot quiet, middling 9.52.

Short Circuit Causes Fire Alarm to Sound

A short circuit which caused the fire alarm to sound a single time at brief intervals this morning brought a number of inquiries to the fire department, but no damage was caused.

Only one fire has occurred in Greenville in more than two months and the sound of the alarm was the first heard here in some time, except for the 6 o'clock signal.
