PLAN USE NAVY FOR REMOVING U.S. CITIZENS

Only Naval Vessels to Evacuate Americans in China

SINO - JAPANESE PROBLEMS AIRED

President Roosevelt Reveals Decision After Conference At Hyde Park Home

Hyde Park, Sept. 1.—(AP) — Summer White House officials said today the United States Government would rely on existing naval vessels in the Far East to evacuate Americans still in the danger zones.

The announcement was made after a conference between President Roosevelt and Admiral William Leahy, chief of naval operations, at the Roosevelt home.

Officials said the President and high naval official went over the "whole problem" in the Sino-Japanese situation. They added there was no need for additional naval vessels at Shanghai and vicinity.

Since the closing of the Port of Shanghai to American merchant ships, following the bombing of the Dollar liner, the President Hoover, consideration has been given to augmenting the navy flotilla there to take the several thousands of refugees still in the area.

The Roosevelt-Leahy conference preceded a long luncheon parley between the President and Robert Bingham, ambassador to London.

President Roosevelt vetoed during the day six minor bills passed by the last congress.

His action, announced at Washington by the White House, brought to 38 the number of vetoes this year and to 259 the number since he became president.

Two bills vetoed were for payment of claims brought against the government by individuals.

Meantime at the national capital AAA officials said they hoped the nine cent a pound government loan on this year's cotton crop was enough to encourage the free flow of cotton in trade channels.

Since prices are lower than in recent years...

Vocational Work For City Schools Will Be Extended

Additional Teacher Employed For Department and Aims Revealed For Community Program

Greenville High school has for the past three years employed one teacher of vocational home economics. This year another vocational teacher has been added.

Miss Jessie Schnopp has been re-employed to fill the former position, and Miss Evelyn Rogers, who has been employed as a teacher of home economics in the Junior High school, has been employed to fill the new position. Both of these teachers are employed for a ten calendar month year.

The work of these two teachers will consist of teaching classes in homemaking at the high school, supervision of home project work for each student enrolled in the day school program, conducting adult classes as desired by the community, cooperation with and participation in programs which have as their purpose the betterment of home living.

The course of instruction in the high school includes training in clothing selection, preparation, service, and care; family relationship; management of time, money, energy, and resources; child development; personal development; and all other phases of homemaking instruction.

Hoey Fears Difficulties On Cotton Subsidy Plan

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Sept. 1.—Governor Clyde R. Hoey sees grave difficulty in determining which farmers shall be eligible for the three cent per pound cotton subsidy proposed for growers who have cooperated in the federal soil conservation program.

The Governor indicated his approval of the nine-cent loans just authorized.

"I am wondering how they are going to determine which farmers are to get the three cent subsidy," he said, "because there apparently will be no accurate way to check up on cooperation in and acceptance of the soil conservation program of this year."

"The subsidy will not be paid until next spring, he pointed out, and it is then that he expects the real

FLOP ESCAPES STORM WITH MINOR DAMAGE

A small tropical storm with winds of 50 miles an hour struck the Florida east coast between Daytona Beach and St. Augustine, but only minor property damage was reported. The driver of the automobile shown here missed death by inches when a tree fell across the car during the peak of the storm at Daytona Beach.

MEDIUM LEAF SELLS STRONG

Sun - Burned Lugs, However, Cut Down Official Average

Although sun-burned lugs constituted a good per centage of the offerings on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday, an official average of $20.40 per hundred pounds was paid by the local warehouses.

Offers totaled 54,786 pounds and brought farmers $113,158.64.

Medium and good grades continue strong on the local market and quite a bit of this quality is sold, but the sun-burned lugs offered cut sharply into the average.

The average is expected to show an increase shortly when more good tobacco and less of the sorry types are offered on the warehouse floors.

The poundage continues to run far ahead of that last year and the amount of money paid out by the Greenville market this year is much greater than for the same number of days last year. The average, however, continued about in line with that paid for a similar period in 1936.

With a large crop this year, farmers are expected to realize much more for their year's work than they did for the previous crop.

Two New Justices On Supreme Court Hear First Cases

Barthill and Winborne Take Interesting Part in Proceedings, But Ask Few Questions

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Sept. 1.—Justices M. V. Barthill and Wallace Winborne are today completing their first sitting with five veteran members of the supreme court of North Carolina.

During argument of the 34 cases on the docket yesterday and today both the new members took an interested part in the proceedings, though neither, during the first cases particularly, joined in interposing counsel as much as did the members of longer service.

Two capital cases, involving three defendants, were argued, one a murder conviction from Beaufort county, the other a first degree burglary conviction from Surry.

In the first "Pete" Bell and Sam Rodman, Jr. Negroes, sought reversal of the death sentence imposed for the killing of another black, Heber Roberson, cut to death during an argument which arose during a gambling session. Defense counsel Sam Blount, Beaufort representative in the legislature, and Leroy Scott, Washington, contended that the state offered no evidence of premeditation and that a dying declaration was improperly admitted by Judge Clawson L. Williams.

No Defendants Tried In City Police Court

Quiet again prevailed in city police circles for the past day or so and no session of mayor's court was held this morning.

A large number of arrests were made during the past weekend, several defendants were tried at the Monday morning court. There were not enough cases ready for trial this morning, however, to justify a term of court.

Local Meeting Is Set For Young Democrats

All members of the local Young Democrats club, potential members and sympathizers have been called to attend a meeting to be held at the courthouse Friday night at 7.30 o'clock.

Among other business, delegates will be named to the annual convention.

War Putting Crimp In Export Tobacco Trade

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The undeclared war in China has put a crimp in America's export tobacco trade.

Benjamin Hill, chief of the tobacco division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, said today "It is obvious that the Shanghai situation is interfering with our tobacco exports to China."

China is this country's second biggest customer for unmanu-

Loyalists Flee From Stronghold

Irun, Spain, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Government of Spain's stragling army of the northwest abandoned the last barrier between insurgent troops and the province of Asturias today.

The insurgents, advancing westward from conquered Santander, found hardy Asturian militiamen had retreated from the mountains and across the border into their home province.

Presumably they filtered then into the Cuera mountains to establish defense lines for Gijon, the Asturian coastal stronghold still held by the government.

QUASH CHARGE IN HENDERSON

D. T. Hazlewood Is Freed of Slaying Step Daughter

Hendersonville, Sept. 1.—(AP)—D. T. (Tex) Hazlewood, former Butler university athlete, was freed today of statutory rape and murder charges, preferred against him after the death August 17 of his 12-year-old stepdaughter, Gloria Hausler, whose body was found in a ravine near here.

Solicitor C. C. Ridings announced he had decided to nol prosequi the charges and Hazlewood was set free.

The solicitor made his statement immediately after Coroner Bruce Cox had reconvened a jury of inquest originally organized last Saturday when a postponement was taken until today.

Cox then announced the inquest would be adjourned and the case would be left open. No testimony was taken.

A packed courtroom broke into applause after Ridings completed his statement. Many rushed up to congratulate the smiling Hazlewood.

The solicitor said he had reached his decision after conferring with Henderson county officers and with Hazlewood's attorneys.

Hundred Planes Join In Hunt For Missing Tar Heel

Greatest Aerial Search in History of Texas Being Waged for Cadet Guy Edgerton

Grapeland, Texas, Sept. 1.—(AP)—More than 100 army airplanes criss-crossed east and central Texas today in the state's greatest aerial search.

They sought Cadet Guy Edgerton, of Kenly, N. C., who became lost Monday night while flying with 12 other planes from Shreveport, La to San Antonio.

Yesterday 72 planes scanned hundreds of miles without finding a trace of the missing flier. Land parties included 300 CO's, enrollers and they trucked through forest and rough mountain without results.

No further major personnel changes are in prospect until the commission meets September 16, Johnson said and maybe no more even later.

Reflector Bureau Newport, R. I., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Leonar M. Thomas, former Philadelphia banker and former husband of Michael Strange who later married John Barrymore, died at his home here today of a heart attack. He complained of being ill on returning from a trip to the beach, and was taken into his house, and died within a few minutes. He was about 60.

What appeared to be a "horse hair snake" was brought to the city today by Jesse Windom, who lives on the Wiley farm near Belvoir school.

Mr. Windom said he found the snake in his lot and did not know what it was. Several people however, said it was a snake. It is no larger than an ordinary piece of wrapping twine and about four inches in length.

Neither confirmation nor denial of reports of his activity could be obtained from Hubert Olive, Hoey state manager, who is at his home in Lexington.

On the other side of the matter, none of Sandy Graham's campaign leaders could be reached to state his position in the matter. The Raleigh morning paper has repeatedly reported that Miss Oliver is the candidate of the Graham organization, but it has never produced one scintilla of proof other than its own assertions.

Some time ago Mr. Graham is reported to have told close personal friends that he intended to keep his hands completely off the Young Democratic campaign, while his position on the question of running for any office has been that it now behooves him to practice law for a while and make a living.

ANGUS M'LEAN SUCCUMBS AT RALEIGH HOME

Funeral Plans Incomplete, But Services Expected to be Held In Washington, N. C.

Raleigh, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Angus Dhu MacLean, 60-year-old former assistant solicitor general and former assistant attorney general of the United States, died during the night at his home here.

The body was found on the floor at the bedside by a daughter, Mrs. Martha Duff, late this morning.

Mrs. MacLean and another daughter, Miss Janie MacLean, were in Washington, D. C., having gone there yesterday.

Funeral plans were not completed immediately, but it was announced services would be held in Washington, N. C., former home of the MacLeans.

Dr. Robert McGee, after an examination said MacLean had been dead of heart trouble several hours when his body was found.

Last night MacLean retired about 10 o'clock after spending the day at his office here and having friends out for an evening chat. He said he was tired after a trip to Asheville on business Monday, associates said, and spoke of a pain in his chest. He had not been known to be subject to heart trouble.

MacLean was called the "father of state supported schools in North Carolina" as a result of the passage by the 1931 legislature of the "MacLean law" which required the state to provide complete support for a uniform six-months public school term.

That law was the highspot of MacLean's legislative career, which included three terms in the house and one in the state senate representing Beaufort county. State support of the schools no wextends to eight months.

After the 1933 legislative session MacLean went to Washington, D. C., as assistant solicitor general when J. Crawford Biggs of Raleigh became the United States solicitor general. He later became assistant attorney general and also had done special legal work for the government since coming here November 1, 1935, to enter private practice of law.

Declares Problem Of Idle Convicts Needs Attention

Robert Johnson, New Director, Reveals Committee Working on Plan Utilize All Labor

Raleigh, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Robert Johnson, new director of the state penal division, said today the "most important thing facing the prison committee now is putting 600 to 800 idle prisoners to work."

He said the prison committee was working on plans to utilize all prison labor.

"There is no use letting able-bodied men sit around and do nothing," said Johnson. "Right now we have more than have jobs."

Oscar Pitts, new superintendent of prisons, said there are around 9,000 men in prisons over the state now. About 6,000 are working on roads and about 60 to 75 in prison industries. A number of others do camp work. He said 600 to 800 idle prisoners was a conservative estimate.

No further major personnel changes are in prospect until the commission meets September 16, Johnson said and maybe no more even later.

TAR EXPECTED REACH 15 FEET

Stream Standing At 14.8 Feet at 8 A. M. Today

The Tar river is expected to crest at 15 feet here during the day. B. T. Clark, in charge of the local weather bureau, declared this morning following advices from the state offices in Raleigh.

The river stood at a depth of 14.8 feet at 8 o'clock and was still rising, but not as rapidly as earlier in the week when it was rising at the rate of a foot every six hours.

At 15 feet the stream will be in flood stage, but no damage is anticipated. Last week the river was out of its banks in its upper reaches but the heavy rains recently began to show their effect here only this week.

Other rivers in Eastern North Carolina have been rising rapidly recently and several went out of their banks at a number of places. Among those reaching flood stage were the Neuse, Cape Fear, Roanoke.

Although the rivers reached high stages, no damage was reported from any areas.

Proctor Believed In Tarboro Area

Tarboro and Edgecombe county officers today were reported to be concentrating on a search for "Tick" Proctor, escaped convict believed by the officers to be in that vicinity.

Chief of Police Worsley of Tarboro reported this afternoon that a sedan automobile stolen off the streets of Rocky Mount this morning was believed to have been taken by Proctor and two members of his gang. Officers were scanning the area this afternoon, but had not been able to get any definite trace of the desperadoes.

ANOTHER BUSY COURT SESSION

Numerous Cases Removed From Docket This Morning

Working at a steady pace in Superior court here, a number of cases were removed from the docket this morning and yesterday afternoon, leading to the belief only a few old charges will remain to be tried when the session is completed.

Another true bill in a capital case was returned by the grand jury this morning when it held Will Joyner for trial on a murder charge.

Snaw Blount was freed by a jury of a charge of larceny. Norman Little, charged with attempted criminal assault, tendered a plea of guilty to assault on a female and was given a 12-months sentence.

Walter Smith entered a plea of guilty to breaking and entering and was sent to the roads for 12 months. Robert Lee Hales was given 12 months after he had tendered a plea of guilty to larceny.

James McKelly entered a plea of guilty to attempted criminal assault and was given two-year sentence. William Newton was given a five to 10 year sentence after tendering a plea of guilty to larceny. Robert Garris and Frank Parker entered pleas of guilty, the former only after the state's evidence had been completed, on charges of breaking and entering. Garris was given a two-year sentence, suspended upon good behavior and Parker was sent to the roads for 18 months.

Jacob Williams was acquitted on a charge of giving a worthless check. James Paxton was given six months each on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and breaking and entering. The sentences to run concurrently.

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Sept. 1.—Published reports that Governor Clyde R. Hoey of the so-called "Hoey Machine" is backing Arch Allen for presidency of the Young Democratic clubs of North Carolina, today brought the smiling comment from the Governor that "I'm going to let the Young Democrats settle that matter."

"I never take the time or trouble to deny political rumors," he continued. "But if I want to support anyone for any position I do it openly and without reservation."

From Cutler Moore, now liquor board chairman and who was assistant state manager for Governor Hoey in last year's primary, came a flat categorical denial that the organization is taking any stand whatever, either for Mr. Allen or against his opponent Miss Mae Oliver.

Neither confirmation nor denial of reports of his activity could be obtained from Hubert Olive, Hoey state manager, who is at his home in Lexington.

The charge was made by J. E. Johnson, of Greenville, in one of the boldest and frankest letters ever written. The letter was addressed to Mrs. Annie L. Williamson, chairman of the cosmetic board, but copies were mailed to the press.

"Isn't it a pity that your board should spend its time and the taxpayers' money in an effort to catch poor little girls working without licenses, while all over the state the Beauty Schools who are after all responsible for these situations, have piled their trade with your sanction. If you please, to such proportion that it has reached the racket stage," he wrote.

CITY SHELLED BY SEA AND AIR

Terrifying Blazes Ignited by Naval Guns and Aerial Bombs; Section of International Settlement Guarded by Americans Fired

Shanghai, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A terrifying series of great new fires roared in Shanghai tonight, kindled by the opening naval guns and aerial bombs of Japan's big offensive against all of China.

One of the blazes flared in the Soochow creek area facing the American-defended sector of the International settlement.

Twenty-one Japanese destroyers and cruisers pumped shells into the Chapel and Kiangwan sectors of Shanghai's north end. Japanese war planes rained bombs on Chinese positions.

Wounding already was in Japanese hands. But the hard pressed Chinese were fighting on with unmatched courage holding further with many important positions.

The Shanghai curtain raiser to the Japanese offensive which is to extend all over China found American and British naval commanders considering the possibility of uniting their protective strength to force a way to the sea for their refugees.

That consideration was the result of Japanese naval warnings to all shipping to steer clear of Japanese war ship concentrations crumming the Whangpoo and the Yangtze.

The Anglo-British naval authorities discussed a convoy plan to force an open and safe pass down the Yangtze and Whangpoo after Japan had warned all foreign shipping to steer clear there.

An open route to the sea is vital to the safety of Americans and other foreigners in Shanghai because the Yangtze and the Whangpoo are their only means of escape.

(As United States Dollar liner President Hoover, scarred by a Chinese aerial attack at sea, reached Kobe with a seaman killed and passengers and sailors wounded, high officials at Washington intimated a naval order closing the port of Shanghai to American merchant men would be lifted.)

Haskett-Patrick
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee Patrick announce the marriage of their daughter Margaret Louise to Mr. Harris Westbrook Haskett on Wednesday, the first of September. Nineteen hundred and thirty-seven. Greenville, North Carolina.

At Home
after September twelfth. Wilmington, North Carolina.

In a ceremony characterized by simplicity and beauty the wedding of Miss Margaret Louise Patrick, of this city, and Harris Westbrook Haskett, of Wilmington, was solemnized at nine o'clock this morning at the home of the bride's parents on Student street. Only the members of the immediate families and a few friends were present.

As the wedding guests arrived, Carl Abee, Jr., cousin of the bride, directed them to the living room, where the ceremony was performed. Here an improvised altar was banked with ferns, palms, white lilies, and pink gladioli and cathedral candles in graduated candelabra. Tall floral baskets of lilies and pink gladioli were banked at either side of the altar. Satin prayer cushions were used.

As the guests assembled, Mrs. Guy V. Smith played "Traumeret" by Schumann. Call Abee, Jr., entered and lighted the candles. Mrs. Smith wore a dress of this color and a shoulderette of pink roses. Prior to the ceremony, Jonathan Overton of Greenville, sang "At Dawning," by Cadman, and "Because," by d'Hardelot. The bridal party entered to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from the opera "Lohengrin," by Wagner, and repaired to the strains of the "Wedding March" from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Mrs. W. M. Swindell of Goldsboro, only sister of the bride, as dame of honor, was first to enter. She wore a gown of brown crepe with brown accessories and carried an arm bouquet of tallisman roses tied with gold chiffon.

Little Miss Mary Lee Abee, cousin of the bride, carried the ring in the heart of a lily. She wore a dainty frock of blue printed silk with blue accessories and a shoulderette of sweet heart roses and valley lilies.

The bride entered with her father, Walter Lee Patrick, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the bridegroom, attended by his only brother, Delmar Haskett of Wilmington, as best man. Reverend S. B. Denny of Wilson, performed the beautiful ring ceremony. During the ceremony Mrs. Smith softly played "Liebestraum" by Liszt.

The bride was lovely, attired in a brown velvet dress with harmonizing hat, shoes and gloves. She wore a corsage of tallisman roses.

For the wedding Mrs. W. L. Patrick, mother of the bride, wore an aqua crepe dress and a shoulderette of pink roses.

Mrs. Haskett is the attractive and popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee Patrick of this city. She graduated from the Greenville high school and received her A.B. degree from East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville. For the past several years she has been a member of the faculty of the Wilmington schools.

The bridegroom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse H. Haskett of Wilmington. He graduated from the city schools there and for several years has held a position with W. P. Mauldin, Inc., Wilmington.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Misses Eleanor and Katherine Haskett, Carey Walton, Delmar Haskett, Mrs. Black, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Covil of Wilmington; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Swindell of Goldsboro; Miss Nell Dudley and Odell Long of Richmond, Va.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Haskett left for points unannounced. After their wedding trip they will make their home in Wilmington. For traveling Mrs. Haskett wore a navy blue crepe suit with blue accessories.

The golden text was from John 5:23, 24. "The Father" judges no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son; that all men should honor the Son, even as they honour the Father."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "And we have seen and do testify that the Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world." (I John 4:14)

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Meekly our Master met the mockery of his unrecognized granier. Such indignities as he received, his followers will endure until Christ's last triumph. He won eternal honors. He overcame the world, the flesh, and all error, thus proving their nothingness. He wrought a full salvation from sin, sickness and death."

Registration For City Schools
1. It will not be necessary for any pupil who was in the Greenville schools last year, nor will it be necessary for any first grade pupil who registered at any pre-school clinic last spring to go to school until Monday, September 6, at eighty-thirty.

2. For first grade pupils who have not registered, and for pupils attending Greenville schools for the first time, please observe the following regulations:

(a) Pupils, grades one to six, report to the West Greenville School, or the Training School, or the Third Street School, Friday morning, September 3, between the hours of nine and twelve.

(b) Pupils in grades seven to eleven inclusive, report to the high school building Friday and Saturday, September 3 and 4, at any hour of the day.

(c) Any pupil, grades nine, ten or eleven, who desires to change his schedule from the one handed in last spring will report to the high school also on Friday and Saturday.

(d) Pupils entering from other schools must bring with them either the last year's report cards or transfer cards from the former schools.

PLAN TRAINING FOR TEACHERS

Program Designed to Make UNC Educational Center

Chapel Hill, Aug. 30.—A program designed to make the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill an outstanding southern center for the professional training of teachers was announced here today by Administrative Dean R. B. House.

The program calls for the creation of a division of education at Chapel Hill in which other university departments will cooperate with the department of education through special courses and activities.

Following the arrival of Dr. Earl R. Douglass, professor of secondary education in the University of Minnesota for the last eight years, who is regarded as one of the nation's foremost leaders in his field, Dr. A. K. King will act as executive head of the department of education.

Dr. E. W. Knight will be an advisor to graduate students in education and carry on his regular work in the history of education.

Prof. Guy B. Phillips will be the advisor to undergraduates in education and continue as one of the faculty advisors in the general college. He will also be in charge of the teacher placement bureau and maintain university contacts with the public school people of the state.

The second new member of the department, Prof. Ruben J. Maske, regarded as one of the country's leading authorities in rural and adult education, will give courses in introduction to education and secondary education and will be available for consultation.

Professor Maske has been deputy superintendent of the Oregon state department of education since 1931.

Dr. A. M. Jordan will be in charge of work in psychology and will give particular attention to problems of testing and measurement.

Members of the practice teaching staff will be Professors A. K. King, C. E. Preston, J. M. Gwyn, H. P. Munch, P. C. Farrar, and Hugo Giduz.

Supt. A. W. Honeycutt, formerly of Lexington, will have charge of the Chapel Hill school system, which offers the university its opportunity for practice teaching.

will take notice that an action entitled as above has been instituted in the Superior Court of Pitt County, North Carolina, for the purpose of obtaining an absolute divorce on the grounds of two years separation; and she will further take notice that she is required to appear at the office of the undersigned Clerk in Greenville, N. C., on or before September 12, 1937, and answer or demur to the plaintiff's complaint or the relief asked for will be granted.

ETIQUETTE

It's soon be open season for rushing in the colleges.

Masses of freshmen will be squirreling about the campuses by upperclassmen who hope to get the best of them for their fraternities or sororities.

Unaccustomed to the flattery that is part of rushing, a lot of those freshmen join the wrong groups at the end of the four-or-five day rush week and spend their declining four years regretting their error.

Esther Jacobs of Chicago, rush captain of the oldest chapter of the oldest sorority in the country (Alpha, of Kappa Alpha Theta, DePaul university), has some good advice on the subject.

Clothes may help make the rushee, she says, but so does her conversation.

"While we don't like the slant type of girl," she remarks, "gushers are definitely unpopular. A girl who can talk easily and with some sense is very much appreciated.

"Speaking of clothes," she continues, "complete outfits make a good impression. Since rushing begins in the fall most girls know that fall clothes are in better taste. Those clothes ought to be correct and simple—not elaborate."

Rush dates usually fall into three categories: Calling and teas, informal parties and formal parties.

Street dresses or dressy sports clothes (sweater-skirt-ghillies combinations are generally out) are best for the first. Add suitable accessories—hat, gloves and purse.

Long, "informal" dresses are suitable for informals. That means a dressy dress, but not an evening gown. Long sleeves are preferable. Decollete backs and fronts are out.

Evening gowns are correct for formal parties scheduled for the evenings.

Don't be a rushee.

Don't break any local rush rules. That can get both you and the sorority in trouble.

Don't talk about any other sorority—favorably or unfavorably.

Don't break dates—especially those made in writing. It's generally considered proper to split dates—that is, divide your time between two or three houses—if each house knows exactly how long you plan to be its guest.

Don't stay after the party is over.

Don't be away from your room during calling hours. If you must be absent unavoidably, leave a note of explanation on your door.

Don't let your chin sag. If you don't get what you want and haven't a close second choice, don't join just for the sake of joining.

BAYNES NAMED TO STATE POST

Person County Man Appointed Associate Veterinarian

Raleigh, Aug. 31.—Appointment of Dr. W. R. Baynes of Person county as associate veterinarian in the North Carolina Department of Agriculture's veterinary division was announced today by Commissioner of Agriculture W. Kerr Scott.

A graduate of Ohio State University in 1922 and North Carolina State College in 1929, Dr. Baynes has had wide experience in animal disease and inspection work throughout the south.

His work in the state-federal bovine tuberculosis eradication program in the state in 1922-24 was termed outstanding by the Department of Agriculture officials. During the tuberculosis eradication campaign, he was stationed in Charlotte, Mooresville, Statesville and Lenoir.

Coming to the disease eradication program, Dr. Baynes opened an office for the practice of veterinary medicine at Enfield, Halifax county, where he was located for eight years.

In 1934, he joined the Georgia Department of Agriculture and was in charge of that state's veterinary laboratory until May, 1935. He was offered the position of chief of the Georgia veterinary board, a post he held temporarily for several months, but selected to accept a job with the N. C. and St. Louis Railroad instead.

Dr. William Moore, chief of the North Carolina's veterinary division said Dr. Baynes would assist in livestock disease eradication in the state and investigate outbreaks among cattle.

Dr. Baynes assumes the position with the Department vacated by Dr. B. H. Stinson of Marshville, who resigned to accept a position with the Durham County Health Department.

WAR Gleaners Are Heroes In Battle For Bread

AMERICA is more than an idle spectator this year in the world-wide struggle for bread centered in the wheat fields of Europe. While Canada's crop is the shortest in 30 years, the United States yield made a spectacular comeback after years of drought and put the nation in the export picture once. The government's estimate was a harvest of 668,000,000 bushels.

GERMANY taught world powers that food meant victory when its people were half starved in the World War. Now the Nazi government has requisitioned all bread grains of (or a harvest of 10 to 15 per cent below normal, and is staging festivals such as this one to glorify the harvest.

RUSSIA approached Stalin's goal of a $2,205,000,000 bushel harvest for the first time despite charges that much wheat spoiled before it could be repaid by old-fashioned methods. Still unsatisfied, the government plans a 70 per cent increase in next year's acreage.

Job Hunting? Don't Overdo Your Charm

By BETTY CLARKE (AP Feature Service Writer)

You're trying to get a job. Perhaps you're one of this year's college graduates. Or perhaps job hunting is an old story.

In either case, you can get out your best suit, give yourself a shampoo and put on your brightest look. For the success stories tell you personality will get the job.

They're right, young lady—but you must remember that personality implies good grooming as much as sparkling enthusiasm.

So, when you get out that best suit, be sure it's conservative in cut and color, and pressed neatly. Your blouse must be spotless.

And if you're the sort of person whose blouse is forever parting company with your shirt, wear a tailored dress.

Don't forget to wear your hat and gloves. Your employer-to-be may want to see if your gloves are as neat as the rest of your outfit.

And keep your hat on—even if you feel your golden curls really should be shown. Your executive may not be that susceptible.

This is no time to experiment with your coiffure. The way you've been wearing your hair probably is as good as any. And you'll look more natural.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—The last week of really hot weather in New York was made less intolerable by the new Folies Bergere. It was the first opening night of the season and for the first time in our life we heard an audience clamor wildly for the "author."

This came at the final curtain with more than 100 actors, dancers, singers and entertainers on stage. The whole vast audience of 1,700 first nighters began to cry "Fischer! Clifford C. Fischer! We want Fischer!"

Mr. Fischer is a cosmopolitan wanderer who spends most of his time playing between New York and Europe. His favor is undoubtedly. Always he is serene and untroubled.

But not that night. After an interlude of prolonged cheering a couple of his associates managed to drag him out on the stage. He was white as a sheet and he faced the house with the stricken anticipation of a man going to the chair.

The crowd enjoyed every moment of the climactic all the louder. Then finally, Mr. Fischer made his bow. He said something comparable to, "This makes me very happy and I am glad you like our show" but we couldn't hear him. For once in his life his voice failed him and the words he murmured were merely faint vibrations on his lips.

Can you imagine, say, Helen Foster blowing up in her lines? That was what it was like. There was, however, one extenuating circumstance. Maybe the thought of all that money had him unnerved. These were, remember, 1,700 people present at $10 a plate. Figure that out.

Our mathematicians won't stand the strain.

It was actually an excellent occasion. Everybody in town was on hand to be seen. Mel Hyman of MGM came in with pocket money in tow and practically demoralized the house. Incidentally, he isn't beautiful as some of the current reports have it. He is merely a good looking bloke who knows how to wear clothes and more important, how to make an entrance without falling over a chair.

First they placed him at a second row table on the extreme right but that was no good, so they tried another on the mezzanine. But that wasn't good either, so finally they took him out center where he belonged, where everybody could see. How Hyman came up with the tickets at that zero hour is a testimonial to his adroitness. The house had been reported sold out for days.

Billy Rose bobbed up too, saying he was leaving almost immediately for the coast where Fannie is working on a picture. "I can't get out of this town soon enough," he growled. He said he was going to make a picture and admitted being scared to death.

It looks like M. Fischer has another hit with all the alluring breath-taking ingredients that make for his now familiar superopuses.

How's Your Health?

Edited for the New York Academy of Medicine

By Iano Galdston, M.D.

Abuse of Stimulants

"He who whips a tired horse soon has a dead nag." This is possibly as true of the tired human system as of the proverbial tired horse.

Stimulants undoubtedly play an important role in the life of the average man. Taken in moderation and under proper indications, they may help render tolerable and comfortable conditions and circumstances which otherwise might prove galling. But, used in excess—stimulants—and sedatives—are likely to produce undesirable, if not actually disastrous, results.

The most ancient of the common stimulants is alcohol, produced by fermenting carbohydrate—or starch-containing substances. The untoward effects following overindulgence in alcohol are universally known. Apparently, however, there are many individuals who believe that there are "safe stimulants," safe in the sense that they may be used, even in large amounts, with impunity. The basic laws of physiology reduce such a belief to very small shreds.

Every stimulant used to excess is a depressant. True, stimulants do vary in their sum total effects on the body. Habitual overindulgence in coffee or tea is not likely to prove as disastrous as habitual overindulgence in alcohol. But even tea and coffee cannot be deemed safe in the sense defined above.

The latest discovered stimulant is likely to catch popular fancy, and some few are rash enough to "try it on themselves." Not long ago thyroid extract was the "pep pill" of the day. Now it is benzadrine.

The latter has an especial appeal for many consider it notably a brain stimulant. Granted it is such, the brain is not exempt from the universal laws of physiology which hold that the suppression of the sense of fatigue and the stimulation to activity of a tired organ cannot be long sustained without subsequent periods of retribution.

In addition, benzadrine is a drug not entirely safe even in moderate doses. It is a new drug and full knowledge of its potentials is still lacking. It should therefore not be used save under medical supervision. Certainly it is not in any sense a safe brain stimulant.

THE ELEPHANTS ARE COMING

When the Ad-Zack herds of elephants are seen here with Dan Rice Circus that makes its re-appearance on Wednesday, September 8, afternoon and night, the three youngest girl animal trainers in the world will put these ponderous pachyderms through their paces in a fast moving manner that will bring amazement to the faces of the large audiences that are sure to crowd the spacious tents to welcome the circus that has not been seen in his section of the country in 37 years.

Helen Duffy and glamorous Elizabeth Debb use neither whip nor hook as they act as mistresses of ceremonies over each herd of performers that offer a routine of new tricks.

The trio of beauties have been raised with elephants since childhood and through kindness have captured the hearts of the huge beasts.

Many other wild and domestic animals are seen during the program of the Dan Rice Circus that is presented in three rings and under large waterproof, air conditioned tents.

UNCLE SAM'S NEW BEAT

THEY CAN AND SHOULD LIVE AT HOME

Senator Ellender, of Louisiana, is right when he declared "A can-opener should have its place in a farm wife's kitchen." Senator Ellender made his statement in announcing a movement to get the farmers to again live off their lands instead of devoting their energies to one-crop farming and depending upon purchasing their needs.

Two legislators, one of them now a judge, of the 1937 general assembly, were visitors in Governor Hoy's office Tuesday. One was Fredell's Con C. Johnston, the other Superior Court Judge A. Hall Johnson, veteran senator from Buncombe.

By urging our farmers to "live at home" we do not mean that they should decline to purchase those things that they need and want from the stores, for we feel that they are entitled to just as many comforts and luxuries as any other group of people, but on most farms in this section there is plenty of land and plenty of time for the production of home supplies as well as money crops and the farmer who produces the bulk of his own supplies finds at the end of the year that he has more money left from his money crops with which to purchase additional comforts and luxuries.

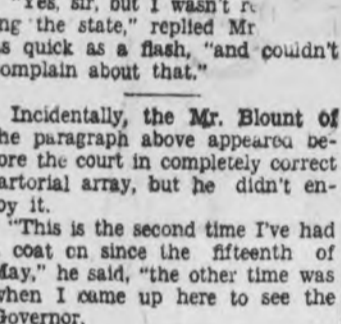

There is no sense in Eastern North Carolina devoting all its energies to the production of cotton and tobacco and then sending all the money derived from these crops to other sections of the country to pay for supplies that could and should have been raised right here at home.

Good news for small families: Dr. William Moore, chief of the Department of Agriculture's veterinary division announces a program looking toward the breeding of turkeys small enough to fit the small family's ice box.

Washington—Folks in these parts are convinced the President will renew the fight to remodel the supreme court, but there is some recent history to indicate the contrary.

President Roosevelt has had two previous defeats on important issues. In 1934 he submitted the St. Lawrence power and navigation treaty with Canada to the senate for ratification. A majority of the senate was for it, 46 to 42, but that was not the required two-thirds majority. So he lost.

Washington—Folks in these parts are convinced the President will renew the fight to remodel the supreme court, but there is some recent history to indicate the contrary.

President Roosevelt has had two previous defeats on important issues. In 1934 he submitted the St. Lawrence power and navigation treaty with Canada to the senate for ratification. A majority of the senate was for it, 46 to 42, but that was not the required two-thirds majority. So he lost.

Now, Therefore, the undersigned will on Monday, the 6th day of September, 1937 at 12 o'clock, noon

By virtue of a Resolution adopted by the Board of Education of Pitt County in pursuance of Public Laws, 1937, of the State of North Carolina, said Resolution setting forth that the public school property hereinafter described having become unnecessary for public school purposes and further resolving that the property hereinafter described be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash on Monday, the 6th day of Sept., 1937, it being the first Monday in September, 1937, at 12 o'clock, noon, before the Court House door in Pitt County, said Resolution being of record in the Records of the Board of Education of Pitt County.

County in Book J-12, page 19. The Pitt County Board of Education reserves its statutory right to reject any bid on the ground of inadequate price. This the 23rd day of August, 1937. John Hill Paylor, Commissioner. Aug. 27-11w-4w.

BY HULBERT FOOTNER

SYNOPSIS: Wealthy, flashy Prescott Fanning kidnaps Janet, a Baltimore girl, aboard his yacht. She sends word to Neill, a young federal agent who loves her. Rushing to Absalom's Harbor, he boards the yacht and finds in a locked cabin, Fanning shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Neill rouses her to the disguised liners kept up the river and hides her in the best suite. Back at the village hotel, he resumes his fisherman role to watch developments. The village is hysterically excited over the murder. Button Billings, justice of the peace, is called.

Chapter 15

Blood On Your Knee

A TALL gaunt old man in decent Sunday blacks came down the companionway behind Neill and pushed through with an air of authority. He had a thin gray beard that waved with every movement and an expression of grim piety. He looked like a picture out of an old book. This was Mr. Button Billings, justice of the peace. Neill breathed a little easier. No special danger here. As a matter of fact, as soon as Mr. Billings entered the after cabin a conflict of authority arose. "What's this? What's this?" he wanted to know. "Why didn't you wait for me?"

Virgil looked at him with a mixture of respect and exasperation. He tossed his badly chewed cigar through the porthole and stuck a fresh one in his mouth. "We are just looking into the evidence, Mr. Billings."

"That is my job."

Virgil let him have his way. Mr. Billings stood in the middle of the cabin stroking his shaven upper lip, looking down at the body, looking all around. He frowned at the stricken steward on the sofa.

"Did he do it?" he asked Virgil.

The man jumped up with a cry. "No, sir! No! It was me who found him! He was stiff and cold then."

Mr. Billings silenced him with a wave of the hand. "All in good time. We'll sit on him first."

"That's not the way they do it," Virgil burst out. "They collect the evidence first, and then hold the inquest."

"It's nothing to me what's done in other places," said Mr. Billings. "We have our own ways. Always when a body is found we sit on it immediately."

"We don't know who he is yet," said Virgil. "He called himself Barrett, but there's no proof of it."

"Well, if we don't know who he is, then he's an unknown person," said Mr. Billings crushingly.

"They'll call us hicks in the paper," muttered Virgil.

The old man ignored the remark. "This place is too small to hold it here," he said. "We'll carry him ashore."

"The evidence is here."

"What evidence?"

"The gun, the bullet that was shot out of it, the smashed door."

"I will swear to a jury from among those present, and they can view the evidence."

"We ought to take steps to catch the murderer first."

Mr. Billings flattened him with a gesture. "We will proceed in due order, Virgil."

A jury was duly sworn in—Mr. Billings had a testament in his tail pocket—and with difficulty steered around the little cabin. Twelve solemn-faced fishermen and clerks, they took their responsibilities seriously. Mr. Billings then requested them to carry the body up on deck and to lay it in one of the skiffs alongside.

The Jury's Verdict

VIRGIL, desperately rolling the cigar between his teeth, made another plea for delay. "Anyhow, wait till Mark Bonniger comes."

Mr. Billings drew himself up. "What's Mark Bonniger got to do with it?"

"I have requested him to take charge of the case."

"Mark Bonniger is not an officer!"

"He's a student and a traveler," said Virgil. "He knows how these things are done."

"You have gone beyond yourself in this matter, Virgil," said Mr. Billings severely. "We all respect you as a citizen, but you hold no office. I am the representative of the law in this district."

Virgil flung up his hands. The cigar tossed like a ship at sea.

Neill was well pleased to see the body carried ashore. The officious Mr. Button Billings was doing all he could to make the finding of the killer more difficult.

A freight shed on Longcope's wharf was designated as the place to hold an inquest. The solemn jury and the witnesses disappeared inside and closed the door. While he waited, Neill circulated unobtrusively among the crowd, watching and listening for anything that might threaten danger. He was startled when he accidentally caught sight of his own strained face in the mirror of a slot machine.

An hour later the verdict was announced: "Man unknown shot to death by person or persons unknown." Neill could scarcely believe his ears. Was it possible they were going to drop the whole thing? No such luck. When he saw Virgil Longcope's shrewd eyes and active cigar he knew it wasn't going to be dropped.

Virgil was the only source of information as to what was really happening. Neill was unable to get hold of him again, but the nature of his activities leaked out of the little office from time to time. Mark Bonniger, it appeared, was away from home, and they were telephoning all over for him. Meanwhile Virgil had got the governor himself on the phone, and had arranged that as soon as Bonniger was found he should be sworn in as a special officer. Thus he got ahead of Mr. Button Billings.

Virgil had a keen sense of the value of publicity. He telephoned the news to the Washington and Baltimore newspapers and it was said that the reporters were racing down in a fleet of cars.

"I'm going to have this matter handled right!" Virgil was heard to shout. "I'm gonna put Absalom's on the map!" Neill's breast tightened, hearing this. He dreaded the reporters just now.

This Man Bonniger

NEILL felt an anxious curiosity concerning this Bonniger whose name was on everybody's lips. His fate and Janet's depended on the kind of man he proved to be. By keeping his ears open and asking an occasional question, he built up a mental picture of Bonniger.

A quiet man. A widower in his middle forties, and the last representative of a family that had been prominent in the county since it was first settled. The Bonnigers were not the sort of people that money stuck to, and the family estate had declined since the Civil war, but Mark still had good tobacco and corn land and blood-riding horses. He lived alone in his old house, "Lordship's Grace," 20 miles up river.

Mark Bonniger's neighbors regarded him with a mixture of familiarity and awe. They felt that he belonged to them though they rarely saw him. He was a great traveler and would be away for months at a time without anybody knowing of it until he got back. He never went around, but he had good friends. Like Virgil. Virgil thought the world of him. Virgil had been trying for years to get him into public life, like all the Bonnigers before him.

Chiefly, however, the men spoke of Bonniger's insight into character.

"You can't fool Mark Bonniger. He will let you think you are fooling him, but he is fooling you. Virgil Longcope, he made no mistake when he picked Mark Bonniger to solve this case. . . . Mark Bonniger can see further into a stone wall than most men." And so on. And so on.

All this was disquieting. Neill saw that in remaining on the spot he had cast himself in a difficult role. His thoughts turned to Janet. He wished that he had her hidden further away. Too dangerous to try to move her now. He longed to be with her.

Later he learned that Mark Bonniger had been found and was being rushed to Annapolis so that the governor could swear him in.

As he was circulating in the hotel lobby, picking up a word here and there—it was only idle gossip to the crowd, but to Neill it meant everything—he happened to glance at the letter rack behind the desk and was surprised to see a letter in his box. Upon his asking for it, a plain white envelope was handed him. Nothing but the room number was written on it. Inside he found a half sheet of note-paper with a note pencilled in a clerical hand:

You been going round all morning with blood on your knee. You better wash it out before the investigator comes.

It was like an unexpected icy shower. Taking care to keep his face, Neill went quietly up the stairs. In his room he stared at his reflection in the mirror. It was true! There was a brownish-red stain on his left knee as big as a quarter.

He must have got it when he had knelt beside Fanning's body in the cabin of the yacht. The breeches were an old, soiled pair, and one spot more had escaped his notice. The thought of his carelessness brought the sweat out on him.

A trained sleuth, it seemed, could be as blind a fool as any crook when it came to covering his own tracks.

He slipped out of his breeches in order to wash them. An ugly anxiety made him set his jaw. Who had written this note? It brought back to mind the unexplained happenings of the night before. Who was the sharp-eyed individual watching his every move? Who was there in Absalom's who knew so much about him? And how much more did he know?

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coon

Hollywood—in Savannah, Tenn. there is a business firm whose letterhead proclaims the town as one-time headquarters of General Grant and "birthplace of Elizabeth Patterson."

If Savannah has seen "High, Wide and Handsome" I wouldn't be surprised if, next printing, the letterhead gives Elizabeth Patterson top billing over General Grant. . . . She played Granny, and she's an actress.

An actress, in case the loose use of the term in Hollywood confuses, is one who can go into a picture and make you enjoy it so much you leave the theatre thinking the star is an actress, which quite often is not the case.

Elizabeth Patterson learned the hard way. . . . Dramatic school, stock, three years in Ben Greet's Shakespeare outdoors, more stock with Stuart Walker in Cincinnati, Broadway and then Hollywood.

So I was surprised to hear her say that Hollywood and movies are developing actresses.

Brian Donley one day jumped 16 feet for a fire scene of "In Old Chicago" and came up smiling. . . . But next day he had to jump six inches and land foot first on Don Ameche's face—and he twisted his knee. . . . Ameche must have a tough beard. . . . The picture is having more than its share of injury trouble. . . .

GIVES ADVICE ON TERRACING

Vegetative Waterway Declared Most Effective Plan

Raleigh, Aug. 31.—The most effective, most permanent, and most economical type of terrace outlet channel is the vegetative waterway, according to State College Extension Service specialists and E. T. Erickson, project manager of the High Point demonstration area of the Soil Conservation Service, who gave as example the vegetative waterway of Mrs. June Willard's farm near High Point.

A 10-acre field with an average slope of 7 per cent was terraced two years ago, and the water flowing from the terraces was temporarily allowed to empty into a small ditch on the edge of the field. In less than a year's time the ditch was a gully, twice its "normal" size.

Four weeks ago the ditch was plowed in, a seedbed prepared and seeded to a mixture of Sudan grass, Lespedeza sericea, and Korean lespedeza at the rate of 50 pounds to the acre.

The area, about 8 feet wide and 150 feet in length, was mulched with pine boughs, which were wired and staked down so as not to wash away.

Now there is a thick stand of Sudan grass 4 feet high, Erickson said, which serves as an excellent guard against erosion and also as a protection to the thick stand of lespedeza sericea and Korean lespedeza which is just getting started. The Sudan grass is an annual, but when it is cut away the sericea will have obtained vigorous growth, sufficient in size and density to protect the waterway against erosion, and to provide hay and pasture for livestock, Erickson pointed out that there has been no erosion in the waterway since the vegetative cover became established.

Pitcher Says In Box — For Fifty Years

Carleton, Mich., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Sixty-two-year-old Harry German, a former American Association pitcher, still is effective after a half-century of hurling.

He's been a baseball figure since 1887. Yet opposing batsmen years younger are baffled by his change of pace.

Since he first put on a glove, German, a banker, has pitched more than 10,000 innings in more than 1,200 games. He pitched a shutout in 1900 and repeated the feat within the same team in 1929.

German pitched for Toledo from 1901 to 1904. George Moriarity, the American League umpire, was the Mudhen's third baseman and in the association at the time were the late Miller Huggins, Nick Altrock, Roger Bresnahan, Addie Joss and Germany Schaefer.

"I was a raw country lad, then, willing but rather dumb," German says, recalling the first game he pitched for Toledo. "I tried to pitch a strike each time but the batters pinned my ears back."

"My only regret is the fact that I didn't know anything about pitching 40 years ago. If I'd known half as much about the weaknesses of batters as I do now I would have whipped 'em all."

In his first appearance with Toledo he allowed Milwaukee only three hits. Later, against Louisville, he pitched a game in one hour and 18 minutes.

His pitching now is confined to semi-pro baseball. His 1937 record of eight victories, one tie and one

4-H WILDLIFE CAMP SUCCESS

Conference Attended By Members From 33 Counties

Raleigh, Aug. 31.—An awakened consciousness of the value of wildlife was given the farm boys and girls who attended the 4-H wildlife camp at Swannanoa this past week, said L. R. Harrill, 4-H club leader at State college.

The 66 members from 33 counties reported that they had learned more about the significance of wild plants and game than they had ever realized before.

Most of them announced they were going back home with definite plans as to how they could help push a more effective program of wildlife conservation in their respective counties, Harrill stated.

The group consisted of 4-H club members from Swain county in the west to Beaufort county in the east who had done outstanding work in wildlife projects during the preceding year.

During the week of camp, they heard lectures by noted authorities in the field of game and general wildlife conservation, made field trips to study wildlife at first hand, and visited points of interest around Asheville and Swannanoa.

One member from Eastern North Carolina was particularly impressed with her first visit to the mountains, which gave her a new conception of the beauties of nature

Another member was intensely interested in learning about the good that certain types of beneficial snakes can do—something he had never thought about before.

The camp was conducted under the direction of L. R. Harrill and Miss Frances MacGregor, assistant state 4-H club leader.

Tarboro Wins Place In Coastal Loop Post-Season Finals

Serpents Get 3-1 Victory; Billies-Bears Rained Out

Louis Gets $102,000 For His Part Money

Tarboro's Serpents clinched a place in nals of the Coastal Plain League championship series by defeating Art Hauger's Martins, 3-1, yesterday for the third straight triumph in as many games. Snow Hill's Billies and New Bern's Bears, all-square at one victory each, were kept idle by rain yesterday—and they hope to swing into action today at Snow Hill. They were scheduled to play at New Bern yesterday.

Fred Henry's Tarboro players, now safely in the nals, will have an opportunity to watch daily battles between New Bern and Snow Hill. The club, having three games, will earn the right to meet Tarboro in the title series.

Tarboro, Sept. 1.—Fred Henry's Tarboro Serpents defeated the Williamston Martins, 3-1, yesterday and made a quick close-out of one end of the Coastal Plain League's semi-finals. Rain ended the game after the Martins had completed their seventh inning.

Yesterday's victory was the 11th in a row for the Tarborians.

Manager Henry, the big gun of the series, was up to his usual stuff yesterday. The skipper homered in the first to send Tarboro out in front by 2-1, as it turned out, clinch the game. His homer which cleared the right-field wall with plenty of space to spare, tallied Soup Campbell, who had drawn a free pass.

Tarboro's other tally came in the sixth when Earl Carnahan hit for the circuit.

Eddie Malone pitched the victory, and his triumph in the hurling duel was at the expense of the Martins' ace hurler—Larry Wade.

The visiting Martins threatened in every inning, but fine fielding helped Eddie hold the visitors scoreless after the opening frame. In this inning, a walk to Erpp, Deim's single to left, and Stanley's fly to deep center brought in a run.

The Martins came close in the fourth—Bruce McCay tripled, but he was thrown out at home a bit later when he tried to score on an infield nap.

Each team played errorless ball. The box score:

LOUIS GETS $102,000 FOR FIGHT

New York, Sept. 1.—Monday night's Joe Louis-Tom Farr title bout drew gross receipts, including $60,000 for radio and moving picture rights, of $325,739.95. Louis collected $102,568.38 for his 40 per cent; Farr, $51,292.69 as he exercised his 20 per cent option, in addition to $10,000 previously advanced for his expenses; the New York Yankees, $20,030.14, for rental of their stadium; the Free Milk Fund for Babies, Inc., $22,162.10. Promoter Jacobs, despite heavy expenses otherwise, probably was in the clear to the tune of $20,000 or more.

Tadlock Players Entertain Carolina Sales Club

Instead of throwing baseballs, members of Tadlock Mutual Insurance agency and Carolina Sales softball teams last night threw bouquets as the former entertained the latter at a "pay-off" dinner at Respass barbecue lodge.

All members of each team were not present, but a number of players were on hand for the feast, provided by the Tadlock team, which was defeated in the play-off series, four games to two, by the Carolina Sales force.

Twist Matthews, club official, also was on hand and joined in the bouquet-throwing.

Practically every person present made a few remarks, the tenor of each of the talks being commendation on the sportsmanship displayed by others during the season. This summer marked the first time softball has been played here and the fans the play-off series especially attracted a good following and the contests were hard fought throughout.

GREENE COUNTY MAN IS HELD AS POISON SUSPECT

Kinston, Sept. 1.—Greene county authorities were reported today to be holding Jasper Williams on a charge of attempting to poison several members of his family. He was alleged to have placed poison in food. Samples of the food were sent to Raleigh to be examined by State chemists. Officers were told that Williams and an infant remained away from the table when the family dined, the man nursing the baby. The report indicated no member of the family was in danger of dying. Williams went to jail in default of an $8,000 bond.

Sport Slants

Despite the fact that Don Budge downed Baron Gottfried von Cramm in the Wimbledon and Davis cup matches a third meeting between the pair in the national singles championships would create tremendous interest.

The Baron is in the U. S. on his first visit. He is not convinced that Budge is his master on the tennis court.

Von Cramm has two and one-half strikes on him already. The two defeats he suffered at Budge's hands abroad. The fact that Big Bill Tilden is picking him to dispose Budge as leading amateur player of the world, Tilden, a notoriously bad picker of tennis talent, has been naming von Cramm as the coming world champion for the past four years. Perhaps that's why the Baron has failed to make the grade.

When Fred Perry stepped out of amateur ranks it was pretty generally conceded the German ace would take over the No. 1 post. Then Budge upset him.

Von Cramm has no illusions about stepping out on unfamiliar American courts and avenging the defeats Budge handed him in England. He admits that Don is a great player—greater than Fred Perry, in von Cramm's estimation. While he lacks Perry's steadiness, he is capable of reaching far greater heights than the former British champion.

The German ace tells you that he hopes to give Budge a real battle. You are certain he will. He looks fit. At 28, he should be at the peak of his game. His meeting with Budge is the main reason for his trip. At the same time he is remembering that when the smoke clears away after 1938 interzone Davis cup tests it is likely that Germany will be the challenger. In that case, the experience gained by competition on American courts this summer might come in mighty handy.

Breeding Of Turkeys Gets More Attention

Raleigh, Aug. 31.—A program looking toward the breeding of turkeys to suit the small family's icebox will be launched by the N. C. Department of Agriculture, if sufficient demand is made by commercial growers, Dr. William Moore, chief of the Department's veterinary division, announced.

Although no official estimate of the turkey consumption of the state is available, H. S. Wilfong, poultryman of the department, said "it is obvious that there is a market for the small turkey for the two-member family, and if the small family is not furnished with a small bird then the chicken will continue its reign over the table."

The program for turkeys would be possible through the National Poultry-Improvement Plan.

THINKS AMERICANS SHOULD QUIET CHINA

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 1.—(AP)—General Smedley D. Butler said today he thought United States citizens should "get the hell out of China and stay out."

The former Marine officer expressed his sentiments in an interview with the Buffalo Evening News shortly before he addressed the national convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He said he looked for an "adjustment" of the troubles in China within 60 days, but predicted that the next world war would start in China and Japan. "But that won't be much before 1942," he said. "England won't let it blow up until she gets her navy."

DISSOLVING ROTARY CLUBS IN GERMANY

Berlin, Sept. 1 - (AP) - The Rotary Club of Berlin will pass out of existence next Saturday and on the same day a district Rotary conference is expected to bring dissolution of all other Rotary clubs in Germany and the Free City of Danzig.

The Nazi party high command last week started a campaign against the organizations because they do not conform to national socialism.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 1. - (AP) - Although pressure on steels dragged the market down fractions to two or more points today, selling dried up around the fourth hour. Utilities showed more resistance than most other groups an analysis attributed this in part to the comparative steady rates of power production. Bonds were uneven, grains and cotton were narrow. The French franc and pound sterling were down a little. Transactions approximated 750,000 shares.

DECLARES AIM RETAIN CAMPS

Total of 52 CCC Units To Be Continued In Parks

Richmond, Va., Sept. 1. - A total of 52 Civilian Conservation Corps camps will be retained in national and state parks and other recreational areas of the southeast, for development operations during the new enrollment period beginning October 1, the National Park Service announced today at its eastern field headquarters here. The new enrollment term, the tenth since establishment of the CCC in April, 1933, will be open to unemployed youths 17 to 23 years of age, both years inclusive, as well as to 30,000 war veterans. Action of congress at the last session authorized recruiting up to 300,000 men, exclusive of a 15,000 quota for Indians and for territorial and insular possessions. Reassignment of National Park Service camp units approved include: North Carolina: Great Smoky Mountains National park, four camps; Morrow Mountain State park, Albemarle; Hanging Rock State park, Danbury and Cape Hatlerus State park, Buxton. Total, seven.

Full-strength camps have been reassigned to the national, state county reservations of the southeastern list but special detachments from these units will work also on projects at other parks. Broad conservation - recreation development program will be carried out at the state-owned properties with the CCC youths under joint supervision of the National Park Service and state or local government authorities.

Defer School Opening

Chicago, Sept. 1. - (AP) - The Chicago Board of Health has ordered that the opening of all city schools, scheduled for September 7, be delayed indefinitely in an effort to check the spread of infantile paralysis.

Confesses Slaying

Joseph Jacobs, 45, is shown after he confessed, according to Police Lieut. Walter Bachor, of Detroit, that he beat 10-year-old Evelyn Mack, daughter of one of his neighbors, to death with an automobile crank handle. He led officers to the body on the western out-kirts of Detroit. Jacobs, caught as his car broke down on a bridge enroute to Canada, denied mistreating the child.

TWO NEW JUSTICES ON SUPREME COURT HEAR FIRST CASES

(Continued from page one) In the Surry case, Thomas Madden, Negro, was convicted for first degree burglary of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wood on the night of November 1, 1936. The defendant's counsel insisted that the evidence did not justify the verdict. There was a positive identification of the defendant as the man who committed the crime, the state countered.

No decisions in any of the cases argued will be handed down prior to September 22 when the court will hand down its first batch of opinions.

New York Cotton

New York, Sept. 1. - (AP) - Cotton futures opened barely steady, five to nine lower on large private crop estimates and under active foreign and hedge selling. September, which had eased from 9.10 to 9.04 was quieted at 9.08 shortly after the first half hour, when the list was four to 10 points net lower. By midday December, which had recovered to 9.13, was selling at 9.11 and the list was one to four net lower. Futures closed steady, seven to nine lower. Spot quiet, middling 9.29.

PLAN USE NAVY FOR MOVING U. S. CITIZENS

(Continued from page one) cent years and large supplies are indicated, export volume of American cotton may increase in international trade, they said.

"Leans of this type are a success," said J. B. Hutson, assistant AAA administrator, "if they remain below market price levels and do not cause an accumulation of stock on government hands."

FURNITURE WITH PEDIGREE BROUGHT DOWN TO EARTH

A trip to Williamsburg, Va., would give you a wealth of material if you've run out of ideas for decorating the house. For Williamsburg is much more than a beautiful old Colonial town restored with millions of dollars. It is the very spirit of Colonial ways come to life - and into our lives, too. You'll want this Williamsburg magic in your own home - and it's not hard to get, because leading furniture and furnishings manufacturers also have found it irresistible. That's why you can have pedigreed furniture without paying king's ransoms - sofas and wing-chairs, mahogany settees and side chairs, drum tables and highboys. And, for the right settings, authentic fabrics, paints, rugs and accessories.

Subtle off-tones, but clear and rich, were the favorite colors of those stately days. Lead blue, mustard yellow, jade green and saumon pink decorated whole walls or painted dados and woodwork for wue-washed walls.

Just as strong and interesting are the fabric colors. Of course, the Colonial dames liked checked chintz, and many of the designs used in the restoration can now be had in medium priced chintzes. There are also copies of damasks, striped satins and other favorite fabrics; and several beautiful rug patterns from Williamsburg originals.

And you can have true Colonial hospitality at your table with faithful patterns in glass and silverware.
