PRESIDENT AT FORT POND BAY FOR VACATION

Appoints Wm. Dawson as Minister to Uruguay

CONNALLY PLANS NEW LINT LAWS

John Lewis to Make Bid for Farmer-Labor Political Alliance in Radio Talk

Aboard Press Yacht Indian, Sept. 3.—(AP)—President Roosevelt on the yacht Potomac arrived in Fort Pond bay near Montauk Point, Long Island, today after a leisurely 200-mile horseshoe run overnight from Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Before taking a launch to try his luck for bluefish and bass in this sheltered part of Long Island sound, the President announced the recess appointment of William Dawson of Minnesota as minister to Uruguay. James Roosevelt, secretary to his father, negated the diplomatic appointment of the Potomac's rail to the accompanying newspapermen on the yacht Indian.

Meantime at Washington, Senator Connally (D-Tex.) promised a "determined" fight in behalf of cotton when the administration crop control legislation comes up in the next session of Congress.

John Lewis, meanwhile, indicated in the capital he would bid for a political alliance of farmers and laborers in a broadcast address tonight.

His address will be broadcast by a radio network from 9:30 to 10 p. m.

Other developments included: The agriculture department reported the south has been almost entirely free of cattle ticks and the value of southern cattle has reached the highest average in five years.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics figures recording an uprising in cattle prices in the south included North Carolina, $20.60 in 1933; $27.20 in 1936 and $28.90 in 1937.

The estimated North Carolina total for 1937 is 651,000 head.

Madison Politics Set For Another Airing Next Week

This Time Hearing to be Before No Less August Tribunal Than N. C. Supreme Court

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Sept. 3.—Madison county's politics will get another airing next week—this time in no less august a tribunal than the supreme court of North Carolina.

From the county where Democrats and Republicans are not only partisan opponents but personal feuds comes an appeal designed to determine whether or not a Democratic legislature can constitutionally deprive a Republican county commissioner of the right to levy and list taxes.

The lower court, Judge Hoyte Sink presiding, said it cannot. It remains to be seen what the seven-member higher forum will decide.

Title of the cause is Lee Ramsey and others vs. Wm. V. Farmer and others. Plaintiffs are members of the legislatively-setup Tax Commission to which the assembly of 1931 sought to delegate the taxing powers in Madison county. Defendants are the county commissioners and tax listers appointed by them.

The county commissioners in 1936 ignored the tax commission statute, named their own tax listers (needless to say they choose devout G.O.P.'ers), levied the taxes and prepared to collect them.

Plaintiffs sought a mandamus—legal term for "make 'em do it"—to compel the commissioners to turn over the tax records to Tax Commission appointees. Judge Sink dissolved a temporary order issued by Judge A. Hall Johnston; held the 1931 statute violates constitutional provision that county commissioners shall have taxing power. County commissioners proceeded to levy, list and collect taxes; now contend that there's nothing for supreme court to pass on except a purely academic question.

Bodyguard to Marry Lynn, Mass, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Thomas Quailers, President Roosevelt's bodyguard and former Massachusetts state trooper, will be married to Miss Arlene Eade of Lynn at St. Mary's church here, September 20. Two hundred guests, including James Roosevelt, son of the President, will attend the wedding and reception.

U. S. civil service employees total more than 800,000.

TWO LIVES STAKED ON ONE 'LUNG'

Victims of infantile paralysis, two little girls in Denver, Colo., depended for life on a single "iron lung" which they took turns in sharing. Another lung arrived from Chicago but too late. Maydelle Outcalt, 15, shown in the lifesaving instrument, died yesterday. The other victim, Shirley Krause, 2, lies on a cot.

VOTE ON BONDS DECIDED UPON

Board of Aldermen Officially Calls For Election

A bond election for the issuance of $200,000 in long-term securities $150,000 to be used by the Water and Light Commission and $50,000 for street improvements, will be held about the first of August.

The Board of Aldermen in regular session last night voted to call the vote, required by state law. F. C. Harding, city attorney and also chairman of the Board of Elections said he was investigating the legal phases in regard to time of the vote.

The $150,000 for the Water and Light Commission would make necessary extensions to water and sewer lines and provide two 300,000-gallon overhead storage tanks to insure adequate water pressure.

The bonds would be retired by the commission, officials of which have announced this could be done without any increase in rate or causing any reduction in the $50,000 it turns over to the city general fund annually.

The $50,000 for street improvements would be used for new pavement to complete a program started here a year or so ago.

Martin Swartz, superintendent of the Water and Light Commission, has prepared estimates for the water and sewer extensions, showing that approximately $115,000 would be used for labor, material and the two tanks. The extension would provide adequate water supply for fire protection and for industrial and commercial use to the section South of Eleventh street and Columbia avenue to the new city limits and also for domestic use and fire protection for property East of Eastern street to the new city limits.

The sewer extensions would provide adequate service to property south of Fourteenth street, Ridge-way street and Watauga avenue to the new city limits and all property east of Meade street. It is estimated that $33,000 will be needed for:

All Parties Plan To Press Appeals In REA Argument

REA, was encouraged by Judge Grady's "Findings of Facts" which were almost uniformly in their favor and against the power company and the defendant directors of the coop. It is hoped by the plaintiffs that reversal of Judge Grady's refusal to grant an injunction might be accompanied by a mandatory injunction requiring the power company to tear down lines already erected. At least, they feel, the contract under which the coop directors agreed to reject a loan from the REA and by which the power company was given the exclusive right to build lines in Johnston, will be declared null and void. Judge Grady expressly found that the contract created a monopoly and indicated the opinion that the director of the coop did not act in good faith. The power company's appeal will seek reversal of these fact findings, as will that of the directors.

In order to avoid any possible criticism, officials decided it would be better to rescind the order calling for the establishment of the tribunal September 1.

For the present the city court will continue operating as usual.

Some opposition developed to the plan and board members expressed the opinion it would be better to let the people vote on the proposal. It is expected that an election will be held on the matter at some near future date.

The question of establishing the court had been under consideration for some time before it was decided to proceed with the plan, but some opponents appeared to think the board acted too hastily.

Advisory Committee Urges Farmers Contact Officials

Raleigh, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The North Carolina tobacco advisory committee urged all tobacco growers in the state today to contact members of county tobacco committees and express on proposals for tobacco crop control.

C. T. Hall of Wooddale, chairman of the committee, and J. E. Winslow of Greenville, a member outlined recent attempts at control legislation for the benefit of committee members at a meeting here and the group called for expressions from farmers.

"The committee wants to find out if the farmers still want control like they did in 1935 when they voted 82 per cent in favor of the Kerr Smith," said E. Y. Floyd, executive secretary of the agricultural conservation program. "I want to find out the sentiment of the farmers so it can truly reflect it before the senate agriculture committee at its hearing in Winston-Salem, on October 18."

The advisory committee called another meeting to be held here Wednesday in conjunction with the annual meeting of the farm bureau federation.

Raleigh, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The newly chartered peanut stabilization cooperative members elected R. C. Holland of Edenton as its president today and voted to favor peanut control provisions in federal crop legislation.

Eight counties were represented at the meeting. B. D. Stevenson of Pendleton was chosen vice president and J. B. Fearling of Windsor secretary treasurer.

The directors issued a statement saying "it was the sentiment of the entire membership present that it was desirable and necessary that peanuts should be designated" in proposed federal legislation.

A committee from the cooperative was directed to present a full statement on the subject and ask for action at a mass meeting at (Continued on page eight)

Piedmont Tobacco Damaged By Rains

Raleigh, Sept. 3.—(AP)—E. Y. Floyd, extension service tobacco specialist at N. C. State college, said today recent rainy weather "damaged what tobacco was still in the fields in the piedmont by 15 or 20 per cent or more."

Floyd said he could not estimate what portion of the entire crop had been affected, but said harvesting in the piedmont was still underway.

Ventriloquist Dies

Marion, Ohio, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Edward P. Sharpless, 66, who for more than 20 years was an internationally famous ventriloquist known as "The Great Reynard," died at his home yesterday of apoplexy.

Destroyers Furrow Swift Path Toward Mediterranean

Double-Barreled Policy Decided Upon To Curb Mysterious Maritime Outrage

London, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Four little destroyers of His Majesty's home fleet furrowed a swift path toward the western Mediterranean today to help track guerilla submarines that have terrorized international shipping with torpedo attacks.

The admiralty announced the Fury and Forester sailing from Portsmouth and the Fortune and Firebrake from Catham, would join five other destroyers in a heavy concentration.

The war crafts will blanket a wide area of the Mediterranean about the spot where two days ago the British destroyer Havoc and the British tanker Woodford were torpedo targets. The Havoc escaped the Woodford was sunk.

The four destroyers comprised the eleventh division of the sixth home fleet flotilla. The twelfth division already was in the area.

Naval experts said the eleventh division could reach its destination in three days at forced draft or five days at cruising speed. The admiralty's order was not disclosed.

This direct naval action was but one point of Britain's double-barreled policy to curb the mysterious maritime outrages. The other avenue was through negotiation toward affected action by affected powers.

France, a pretty consistent ally of Britain through the troublous months of trying to keep the Spanish war in Spain, was expected to propose a method of collective action at a conference of Mediterranean powers late next week at Geneva.

Janama City, Fla., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Scant hope was held today for the lives of 15 men still missing from the sunken steamship Tarpon. Fourteen of the estimated 29 persons aboard the freighter have been accounted for since the Tarpon foundered early Wednesday in heavy seas 20 miles off East Pass in the Gulf of Mexico. All those missing are Negroes.

The bodies of Capt. W. G. Barrow and Second Mate W. H. Russell were recovered by the coast guard cutter Triton near where the ship sank. The Triton at the same time picked up nine survivors. Three reached shore unaided.

A coast guard cutter early today continued the search that began yesterday morning when Adley Baker, 25 year old Mobile, Ala., oiler swam ashore and gave first word of the tragic plunge of the Tarpon.

P. C. O'Connor, general freight agent for the owners of the Tarpon, said there were 10 white men and about 19 Negroes on the vessel.

Smashing Counter Attack By China Shifts Warfare Back To Shanghai Proper

HUNDREDS PERISH IN HONGKONG TYPHOON

Hundreds of lives were lost, a wide area was devastated and many ships were hurled ashore in a terrifying typhoon that swept Hongkong, China. Raging fires broke out in the wake of the wind which blew at the rate of 125 miles an hour. The death toll was believed to have passed the 500 mark and officials feared it will mount into the thousands. The British Crown colony (above) along the Hongkong waterfront was in the path of the storm and much of it was laid waste.

COURT SESSION IS CONCLUDED

Number of Cases Still Remain on Criminal Docket

The August term of Pitt county Superior court was adjourned here this morning after many cases had been tried, but there still remains a large number on the docket to be disposed of.

Work was halted this morning so Judge W. C. Harris of Raleigh, presiding over the session, and lawyers could attend the funeral of Angus Dhu MacLean in Washington.

Several cases were tried at the concluding sessions of the court. Harvey Barfield tendered a plea of guilty to larceny and was given a 12-months sentence, suspended upon condition he pay the cost and remain of good behavior.

Will Clark, alias Big Will, was sent to the roads for six months on a charge of possessing liquor for sale.

Willie Howell entered a plea of guilty to receiving and transporting illegal whiskey and prayer for judgment was continued until the October term of court.

Only One Fire Here During Last Month

The monthly fire report, read to the Board of Aldermen last night by Chief George Gardner, revealed that there was only one fire in the city during the month of August.

The loss of the single blaze for the month was estimated at $130.30. The conflagration was in the "Bama" section.

The loss for the year was estimated at $15,694.80.

The one fire in August was not as good a record as the one for July as not a fire broke out within the limits during that month.

FOREIGNERS IN GREATER PERIL

Japanese Transports Forced to Flee Down Stream as Chinese Spray Shells And Bullets on Vessels, Stalling Nipponese "Big Push"

Shanghai, Sept. 3.—(AP)—China's armies surprised Japanese tonight with a smashing counter offensive which shifted Shanghai warfare back to Shanghai proper and placed in new jeopardy the lives of Americans and other foreigners.

The Chinese attack stalled Japan's long-promised "big push" and forced a revision of Japanese strategy.

Chinese big guns and machine gun nests sprayed shells and bullets on Japanese warships and troop transports. Eight Japanese transports fled downstream.

Shells crashed into the International settlement and the French concession.

One projectile struck the roof of the second United States Marine battalion barracks, but failed to explode. Marine officers said it was a one-pound anti-aircraft projectile.

A heavy artillery shell burst at the junction of Peiking road and Shanghai's bunt in the International settlement. Shrapnel burst about the United States cruiser Augusta.

Even greater danger loomed for the Augusta and other foreign warships. A Japanese naval spokesman announced Japanese ships would fire across the foreign naval contingent lying in the Whanpoo in punitive bombardment of Chinese artillery positions.

Chinese gunners showed surprising improvement in marksmanship. They scored three direct hits on the Japanese consulate, seriously wounding three Japanese consular police and one Japanese newspaperman.

Many Japanese bluejackets on shore and on ships were killed or wounded.

The Chinese artillery and machine gun fire rained on Japanese transports, supply ships and the Japanese Hongkong district from emplacements across the Whanpoo from International Shanghai.

American and foreign vessels were anchored between Japanese warships and Pootung, preventing Japanese from returning fire and inspiring the Japanese announcement "hereafter we will use our full power regardless of the presence of foreign war crafts."

Capture Murderer Following Escape From Raleigh Pen

Jerry Dalton Taken at Lexington Last Night, But Fellow Escapee Still Evading Officers

Raleigh, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Jerry Dalton, 41, mountaineer convicted of slaying his sweetheart in a triangle love affair who escaped from Central prison here yesterday, was captured at Lexington, Hugh Wilson, new warden said today.

The break, first to occur since a new set of prison officials took office this week, was discovered at roll call late in the afternoon.

Then Dalton's absence and that of Homer Kaylor, 32 who was sentenced in Caldwell county for criminal assault were discovered.

Warden Wilson reported he had no information of the whereabouts of Kaylor.

Wilson said Lexington Police Chief Price got Dalton with the Highway and Public Works Department truck in which the two escaped after delivering milk to the Cary prison farm.

No one was hurt, Wilson said he was informed and Dalton was expected to be returned here during the day.

Wilson attaches, said Dalton, sent up from Macon county for first degree murder in 1922, was caught during the night. Originally sentenced to be electrocuted, his sentence was commuted first to life imprisonment and later to 30 to 35 years.

He had escaped twice previously.

HELPS FOR HOUSEWIVES

Doughnuts will crack and brown before they are thoroughly cooked inside if they contain too much flour or if the fat in which they are fried is not hot enough. Test the fat by trying a one-inch piece of dough. Or, if you have a thermometer see that it registers 365 degrees Fahrenheit when the fat is tested.

Snowberries, bitterweet, hydrangea and Chinese lanterns make delightful table decorations. Pick them in the fall and arrange them in vases and store them in a cool place until the late summer flowers are gone.

Make a list of duties for the young masculine member of the family to follow in cleaning his room. The business of checking them off each day gives him a sense of importance that encourages diligence.

To remove rust on metal porch lamps rub them with fine sandpaper or steel wool and then apply a thin coat of lubricating oil.

Knitted suits should be handled carefully after they are washed. Wrap them in a Turkish towel for several minutes—to get rid of part of the moisture. Then lay them on a clean, dry cloth or towel until they are dry. Never wring or twist them—that is likely to break the fibers.

Banana filling appeals to most youngsters. Mash a banana. Thin it with a little orange juice and a few drops of lemon juice and spread the mixture over Graham crackers.

Sardines mixed with salad dressing and a few drops of lemon juice make an excellent filling for tiny tea biscuits. Serve them hot with soups as appetizers.

Serve creamed chicken between biscuit halves as the main course for the bridge club luncheon. Add coffee, a salad, a hot bread and some simple dessert such as gingerbread or doughnuts.

Add grapes, seeded or seedless, to lime or mint gelatin for a pleasing flavor contrast to serve with roasts, chops or fowl.

GO NATIVE, YOUNG MAN—UNCLE SAM'S ALL FOR IT

Washington (AP)—There are now 67 areas in the country where the man who's tired of it all can go native.

No reminders of civilization—not even a road—are permitted in the areas by the National Forest Service which is preserving these "islands" of the country to show future generations how it looked originally.

Vacationers in these primitive parks just walk in with knapsacks on their backs, and return, presumably, with songs in their hearts.

About 35,000,000 trees were distributed through federal and state cooperation to farmers in the last year for planting farm forests, wind-breaks and shelterbelts.

Foreign sales of farm equipment from the United States have reached their highest peak since the early part of 1931, government statistics show.

Canada leads the world in the transportation of freight by air. In the last year, commercial transport companies operating chiefly in the mining areas of the north carried 23,847,000 pounds of freight consisting largely of machinery, fuel oil and supplies.

Livestock Prices Showing Increase In North Carolina

Cattle Raisers Now Receiving 65 Per cent More Than Paid Last Season at Similar Time

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Sept. 3.—North Carolina cattle raisers are now receiving 65 per cent more for their stock than was paid last season at this time. Paul L. Fletcher, livestock marketing specialist for the State Department of Agriculture, said today.

The markets division authority of the department forecasts "a decline in prices paid for cattle early this winter in view of the fact that new corn is selling for approximately 35 per cent less than it brought at the same time last year."

"A seasonal 'break' in fat cattle prices is usually to be expected after mid-September as a result of the slackening in demands for meat by the vacation trade, and the beginning of heavy shipments to market," he explained. "Therefore, in view that corn is relatively cheap as compared with cattle, growers will witness a strong demand for feeder cattle during the remainder of this fall."

Fletcher said that "in view of the present small supply of well-fattened slaughter cattle together with the strong demand for feeder cattle, it is probable that the normal fall season price decline will be

Funeral service was conducted Sunday night at his late home by the Fleet Reserve No. 35 of Jamaica, of which he was a member, and burial was made in Pinelawn cemetery, where a military service was conducted Monday morning.

"Mr. Tripp was chief Petty Officer in the transport service during the World war and had made 30 round trips overseas with troops. He also had served in the Spanish American war, the Boxer Rebellion and in the China Insurrection. He was born in Winterville, North Carolina, 62 years ago. BY HULBERT FOOTNER

SYNOPSIS: Wealthy flashy Prescott wearing kidnap jacket, a Baltimore girl, aboard his yacht. She gets word to Neill a young federal agent who loves her. Rushing to Abolom's Harbor, he boards the yacht and finds, in a locked cabin, Fanning shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Neill hides her in the disused lines up the river. Back at the village he resumes his fisherman role to watch developments. Mark Bonniger, a keen local man, is called in to lead the murder investigation. Katie, a Baltimore lawyer there to fish, offers to introduce Neill.

Chapter 17

Eyster Beckons

BONNIGER, Wilson and Virgil were now on the store porch. Kettering hailed Bonniger with his customary heartiness, and brought up Neill to be introduced. Bonniger shook hands with Neill courteously, but let it be seen that he had other things on his mind.

"I reckon this will spoil the fishing," said Kettering humorously, "but of course we've got to hold up the law's hands at such a time. If there's anything I can do, Bonniger, call on me."

"Thank you," said Bonniger dryly. "I may be glad of a little legal advice."

"Always at your service," said Kettering.

A thought struck Bonniger. "Look, Kettering—the dead man was known to his crew as John Barrett of New York. But he boarded his yacht in Baltimore right before last, and I've an idea he may belong there. You have a wide acquaintance in Baltimore. Come have a look at him."

They crossed the road and entered the shed. Neill managed to slip in before the door was closed. Fanning's body lay on a trestle with a sheet pulled over it. Already there was a smell of death in the place. Virgil took the edge of the sheet between thumb and finger and gingerly pulled it down. The dead man's face was composed now. A lock of hair concealed the hole in his forehead.

"Good God! It's Prescott Fanning!" cried Kettering. "I didn't know he had a yacht!"

"What do you know about him?"

"Only what everybody knows," said Kettering. He related it.

"From New York?" said Bonniger. "We must put out lines there. The rest is only Baltimore gossip. Can't you give me something particular about the man?"

Kettering shook his head. "I didn't know him at all. I saw him everywhere, but I haven't spoken to him above three times, and then only to pass the time of day."

"Well, we have established his name. That's a beginning," said Bonniger. "I'll have inquiries made in Baltimore and New York."

They returned to the store with Neill tagging along. Bonniger disappeared into the back office to telephone, and Virgil went behind the counter to wait on Kettering. Neill hung about at the back of the store until Bonniger appeared again. He had decided to make a bold play.

"Can I speak to you for a moment?" he asked.

Bonniger gave him a keen look. He was not a man that you could fool with. "Have you information to give me about this case?"

Neill faced him out grinning. "Yes and no," he said. "I want to offer you my services."

"In what capacity?"

"I was introduced to you just now as Ford Wheatley. My right name is Neill Tryon and I'm a member of the treasury department's narcotic squad." He produced his credentials.

Bonniger read them and handed them back. "It's a good work you people are doing," he said in his grave way.

"This is in confidence," said Neill. "I'm supposed to be lying low for a few days."

"Surely... What brought you to this out-of-the-way spot?"

"Fishing," said Neill. "I never anticipated anything like this, but here I am if I can help you. I reckon you'll need help. These people mean well, but Lord, they're dumb!"

Bonniger's stern face broke up in an attractive smile. "You're right, they're pretty dumb," he said. "I have to admit it, though they're my own people." He searched Neill's face with his steady eyes. The examination was satisfactory, and he offered his hand. "Very decent of you to offer to help, Tryon. You must be 10 times the detective, I am. I shall be glad to consult with you."

Neill's conscience reproached him because he had to play a double game with this man. He was drawn to Bonniger. He felt that they could have been friends.

Queer Little Customer

SERGEANT WILSON came up to consult with Bonniger, and Neill strolled out on the porch. Kettering had gone with his puror at playing cards and checkers.

SHERIFF PUTS END TO 'KANGAROO COURTS'

La Porte, Ind., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Sheriff Joe Wolf has outlawed "kangaroo courts" mock hearings conducted inside bullpens by prisoners themselves at the La Porte county jail because he says "too many abuses arise."

Many sheriffs "approve such courts," Wolf says, because they give the prisoners something to do and keep them out of mischief.

A new prisoner usually is charged with "breaking into jail." The "judge" always imposes a "fine." If the prisoner can't pay the "fine"—money, cigarettes, candy or personal belongings—fellow prisoners are permitted by "court rules" to frisk him.

In Wolf's jail the prisoners are told to pass the time at odd jobs, chases. Virgil was leaning against a porch post watching the crowd.

The police were still keeping them moving up and down the road between store and wharf. The shed was the great object of the people's curiosity.

"Looks like a regular metropolitan, don't it?" remarked Virgil. Suddenly among those approaching from the right, Neill picked out a familiar figure. It was David Eyster. Fanning's half-crazy little trailer. There was no mistaking the gray figure ceaselessly turning his head from side to side. Eyster saw Neill, too, and it was too late to slip in the store.

There was a new quality in Eyster's grin which reminded Neill of devil's laughter. Yet the tragic look showed in his eyes unchanged. As Neill put it to himself, the devil was still in hell, but something had pleased him. Neill said to Virgil:

"That's a queer little customer yonder in the gray suit."

"Quare is the word, mister. Last night when I seen him first it give me the creeps," Neill echoed.

"Last night?" Neill echoed.

"Sure he first come around last night after the movies. I don't know where he's from. Won't speak."

This gave Neill fresh food for thought. If the yacht had been driven into Abolom's by accident, how could Eyster have learned of her presence there so soon?

When Eyster came abreast of Neill he gave him a look of meaning and jerked his head slightly in the direction of up the road. It was clearly a summons to follow and Neill became a little hot. To come to heel at the beck of this repellent little man went against the grain, yet it was wiser not to disobey until he found out how much Eyster knew.

So Neill left Virgil and strolled up the road with a wooden face. Just beyond the store the road took a turn to the left and crossing the narrow neck, turned sharp to the right and followed the river bank. The shanty which served as a post office stood on the river corner, and Eyster waited for Neill in its shadow. All the other promenaders turned back before they came to the river.

Neill bluffed it out. "WELL, what do you want?" asked Neill grimly.

"Just to shake your hand," said Eyster with his crazy grin. "You must give me that satisfaction. You're a fine fellow, and I'm your friend."

Neill gave him his hand. He couldn't trust his offers of friendship. And he didn't want him for a friend anyhow. But he couldn't quarrel with the man.

"I see you've washed your pants," said Eyster.

"So it was you who sent me that note?"

"Sure, I been keeping my eye on you."

"Since when?"

"Since you rowed out to the yacht last night."

A chill struck through Neill. He bluffed it out. "You're crazy! I haven't been on the yacht."

"Friends shouldn't lie to each other," said Eyster.

"How did you know the yacht was here?" asked Neill.

"I told you I had made my arrangements."

"When did you get here?"

Eyster looked out over the river. Like a child, he made out to be deaf when he didn't want to answer a question.

"Did you come alone?" asked Neill.

"I am always alone."

"I reckon you were out rowing yourself last night."

"I have never been in a row-boat," said Eyster. "I wouldn't know how to swing an oar."

This somehow had the ring of truth. If it was true, Neill figured, there was another unknown factor in the case.

Meanwhile Eyster's strange, tragic eyes were fixed on his face. "I wish I had a son like you," he said unexpectedly. "You are my idea of what a young fellow ought to be—cool, hard and able. I would do anything for you. You can depend on me to the death."

This put Neill's teeth on edge. Too melodramatic. Even if sincere, which he doubted, the "friendship" of this crazy little man would be terribly dangerous to him now.

"If you want to do me a service, keep away from me, see? We must never be seen together. Nobody must know that we are acquainted."

"Right!" said Eyster. "My idea exactly. Just this one meeting to cement the friendship. Then pass as strangers. I'll go around by the beach and you return by the road. Rely on me!"

He went down the bank with a crazy wave of his hand, and Neill turned back down the road scowling. The secret which he had supposed to be all his own was shared by another it seemed—and perhaps by two. It complicated the situation damnably.

ARMY SEEKING 500 RECRUITS

Call Goes Out For Large Number Of Southern Boys

Atlanta, Sept. 3.—Major General George Van Horn Moseley, commanding the Fourth Corps Area, states that he has just received another call from the War Department for 500 more southern boys for service in the Infantry at Panama.

On August 27, 515 young southern boys were embarked on a transport at Charleston, S. C., destined for Panama for service in practically all of the arms and services. The 500 young men enlisting in the present campaign will probably sail from Charleston on Sept. 27. Upon arrival in Panama they will be assigned to either Fort Davis or Fort Clayton, the two posts in the Panama Canal Zone garrisoned with infantry troops.

The 14th Infantry, commanded by Colonel John L. Jenkins of West Virginia, is stationed on the Atlantic side of the isthmus at Fort Davis. On the Pacific side the 33rd Infantry under the command of Colonel Charles F. Severson, a native of Illinois, is located at Fort Clayton.

An enlistment in the regular army today offers many attractive advantages for the young man undecided as to his future. Schools and shops are maintained where the wide-awake young soldier may learn a variety of trades which will help him later in life such as radio operator and engineer, auto mechanic and technician, clerk, stenographer, etc. The soldier is taught self reliance, initiative, necessity of maintaining a sound and healthful body and many other things which assist him in attaining success in his chosen work and clipping him to be a good citizen.

Early application will insure selection while vacancies exist. Young men interested should bear in mind the following qualifications:

Age—18 to 35, those between 18 and 21 must have written consent of parents or guardian.

Citizenship—Must be a citizen of the United States.

General Qualifications—Sound health, at least 5 feet 4 inches in height and weigh not less than 114 pounds, education equivalent to 8th grade, single with no dependents.

Character—Must be of good character certified to by reputable citizens in his locality.

ANTI-SUICIDE CLUB WIDENS DRIVE

Sacramento, Calif.—(AP)—A state-wide campaign against suicide to be waged through the press and by radio, was announced here with the incorporation of the Suicide Prevention Society of America.

Under the direction of Robert Rehkugel of Oakland, the group has been campaigning there against suicide for more than a year. Rehkugel says that a number of despondent persons already have been talked out of ending their lives.

SLOW DRIVER FINED BUT HE DOESN'T CARE

San Jose, Calif.—(AP)—It cost Harry A. Dunlap, 19, a dollar to drive eight miles an hour along the highway, but he said it was worth it.

"You see, I was driving a young lady home," he explained to the judge. "The faster I went the less time I'd have with her."

Officers testified Dunlap's slow driving nearly caused several accidents.

September 13 and 14. Upperclassmen will register on Wednesday, September 15 and classes for all students will start the next day.

There will be a meeting of the faculty Thursday, September 6.

There have been many additions to the faculty this summer. The engineering school will be headed by Major Blake R. Van Leer who succeeded Dr. W. C. Riddick, on July 1. Dr. Riddick remains on the faculty as a professor. He has been with the college 45 years.

Dean Van Leer came to State from the University of Florida where he was head of the engineering school. He is recognized as one of the leading engineers and engineering teachers in the nation.

The college is well prepared to receive the expected large enrollment. In addition to increases in faculty, much work has been done on the campus towards improving buildings, grounds and class room equipment.

WAR IN CHINA KILLS 1 IN HAWAII

After an argument over relative merits of Chinese generals, two aged celestial drew knives and one was stabbed to death.

On the other hand, Kenji Ohtomo, a young Japanese gave his blood to save an old Chinese, Ah Ming Liu. The two were strangers.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Sept. 3.—There's nothing of the "keyhole" about Young Democrats. They believe in just opening the door and looking in on the other faction. If there is any truth in apparently well-founded reports now current.

It seems that a group supporting Miss Mae Oliver for presidency of the Y.D.'s was holding secret confabs in a room at the Sir Walter, the door unlocked. Of a sudden it swung open, no knock of any sort preceding the unceremonious procedure. There, pencil and paper in hand, stood a violent "Arch Allen for President" partisan. Calmly he wrote down the names of all those in the room, and before the Oliverites could recover from their astonishment he just as calmly put his notebook in his pocket, closed the door and hastened to a morning paper news room to give the "low down" on the conference.

Dr. Frank Graham, U.N.C. president, was a governor's office visitor yesterday. He had nothing to say about business, if any, he discussed with the executive, but he brightened up and displayed boyish enthusiasm when asked if the Tar Heels will beat Duke this fall.

"I don't know," he said. "They're going to have a mighty outfit over there, but we're going to fight 'em."

Dr. Graham also was obviously against the planting of grass on the dismal sand dunes of Kildare hill and the other barren wastes around Nag's Head and Manteo. As do many others, he feels the section would lose its uniqueness.

Mayor M. K. Blount of Greenville, was in Raleigh Wednesday but he had any municipal business in course of transaction, he kept it under his hat.

The state of North Carolina will apparently take no official part in the Antislavery celebration to be held on the famous Civil war battlefield September 17 and 18.

Dr. C. C. Crittenden, secretary of the N. C. Historical commission, said that about a year ago he received some suggestion from celebration sponsors that they participate. He replied asking details, but has not heard a thing in recent months, he added.

North Carolina soldiers distinguished themselves in every phase of what was perhaps the bloodiest and most desperately fought battle of the entire four years of civil conflict.

Dudley Bagley, head of the state Rural Electrification Authority, has accepted an invitation to attend the state Grange convention at Winston-Salem, October 27-28-29, but he did so on one condition only.
"I'll be there if I don't have to make a speech," he told H. B. Caldwell, Grange secretary who extended the bid.

No. 1, Volume XII of "The North Carolina Press" has just come to this bureau's desk. Edited by W.
Gurtis Russ and Miss Beatrice Cobb, Morganton, it carries as its lead story an article by the new president of the North Carolina Press Association. It is headlined "President Russ Sounds Note of Optimism
as Year Begins."

SQUARE FARMING IS ON THE DECLINE

Washington — (AP) — Square farms are going the way of the old oaken bucket: into limbo. The soil conservation service is to blame.

The square farm, they say, is often a good way to lose valuable top soil. They advise plowing that follows the contour of the hills.
So sky-riders are beginning to see new patterns from the air. Fewer checker-board effects, and more swirls.

JAPAN IS CHINA'S SECOND-BEST CUSTOMER

San Francisco — (AP) — China is now fighting her second-best customer, according to trade figures for the first half of 1937 released by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Shippers took 19 per cent of China's exports during this period.
The United States, China's best customer, took 33 per cent.

IN THE WAY!

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—Probably one of the things President Roosevelt didn't think about when he appointed Hugo Black to the supreme court was that Tom Hefflin would try to succeed Black in the senate.

The people outside Alabama who don't know former Senator Hefflin could be counted in millions. But in his home state Hefflin's peculiar shaped figure, reddish hair and smooth-fitting, buff-colored shoes are recognized at every cross-roads.
Likely he has told a rip-roaring story at each crossing, accompanied by a booming laugh that rattled the audience off the fence rails.
A man who spent 16 years in the house and 10 in the senate should be able to think of something funny at almost any moment.

Hefflin was elected to the senate and soon thereafter won himself a kettleful of fame by attacking the Pope as a menace to peace in America. The Pope, said Hefflin, was trying to get the United States the Catholic clergy down there.

He rode this hobby-horse in and out of the senate. Although few besides Hefflin ever took it very seriously, he carried it so far as to bolt the Al Smith ticket in 1928.

In 1930 a Bankhead father-son cycle was completed after a 10 year interruption by Hefflin. The great foe of the Pope, had been elected to the senate in 1920 to succeed John H. Bankhead, father of the present congressional Bankheads, the speaker of the house and the senate. Speaker William Bankhead had been in congress several years before his elder brother polished off Hefflin in the 1930 primary and so put another John H. Bankhead in the senate.

Hard times then came upon Hefflin. Few politicians, especially the senatorial kind, amass real fortunes from politics; and Hefflin was not one of those. He was in and out of Washington much of the time, and by 1935 had forgotten his anti-Papal fervor and was glad of a few months work under the New Deal. He became speaker extraordinary and ballyhoor plenipotentiary for the Atlanta district of the federal housing administration—at less than half his senatorial salary.

From time to time he breezed out on the senate floor in his lawn-colored suit, looking like a woodcut from a Civil war issue of Leslie's Weekly. During one of Huey Long's rampages in the senate Hefflin confided to news men that he would give his senatorial splendor left foot for an opportunity to go to bat in debate against the "Kingfish."

Hefflin now says he will stump Alabama from end to end for the senate on a phrase he invented two years ago when Roosevelt appointed him Atlanta speaker for the housing administration: "Roosevelt has destroyed the power to create a panic."

As Hefflin explained it to us, it sounded just a little vague. But he was never one to be bothered by details. After all, the slogan is one for Alabama to digest.

A GOOD LAXATIVE

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—It has been seven years since the girl who became the eternal Sadie Thompson of "Rain" was carried to a rain-soaked cemetery in Kansas City, and in all that time no one has come forward to take her place.

There have been other actresses with golden-red hair and fiery temperaments who aspired to Jeanne Eagles' shoes—good actresses who apparently had all the requisites of so glamorous a role—yet for some reason they never quite succeeded. And Broadway is still waiting for just the right girl and just the right play to recapture a fragment of the emotional hysteria which has made "Rain" the town apart; when Jeanne first introduced her throaty-voiced language to first night audiences.

For awhile it was believed that Francine Larrimore, a star in her own right before Eagles died, would inherit the "Rain" soaked mantle of Jeanne. Indeed, Miss Larrimore became Jeanne's "ghost" when she slipped into several roles originally intended for the star. It was in "Chicago" that Francine first succeeded the tempestuous Jeanne, and later, in "Storm Song," she captured the glory which would have been Jeanne's had not death stepped in and wrote an abrupt finish to her career.

There is a chapter of interesting theatrical history to this play which Sidney Buchman wrote especially for Jeanne. The heroine was the wayward daughter of a ship captain who teamed with beach combers and roamed the south seas in jinkers and freighters, and it was thought no actress but Eagles could play it successfully. But just at that time her explosive temperament and her once more into difficulties and Equity banned her from the theatre for a year.

After that stunning the drama to another actress, a producer paid

Later Tallulah Bankhead, with her husky throatiness and her wine red hair, gave a remarkable performance of the much harassed Miss Thompson in a revival of "Rain" but 10 years had left their mark on the play—it was found to be irretrievably dated—and though Broadway cheered Tallulah, it could not forget the shadow of that other girl who had thrilled New York with one of the most exciting first nights ever seen on Broadway.

Now comes the heraldry and pag-antry of a brand new season. . . .
The tom-toms are beating, and perspiring producers, their horror masks in place, are shouting new authors, new players, new casts.
Will there be a new "Rain" or a new Eagles among them? Broadway doesn't know. Broadway does not disdain. But, Sphinx-like it is watching and waiting.

PLANS SET FOR STATE MEETING

Gas Plant Operators To Meet in Raleigh Sept. 7-8

Raleigh, Sept. 3.—Gas plant operators from all sections of North Carolina will gather at N. C. State college, September 7, and 8, for an institute being conducted for them by the chemical engineering department and extension division of the college.

Edward W. Ruggles, director of the college extension division, says the operators will be addressed by some of North Carolina's most noted men, including A. J. Maxwell, state commissioner of revenue;

Stanley Winborne, chairman, State Utilities Commission, and T. A. Wilson, chairman, North Carolina Industrial commission.

Also appearing on the program as speakers are Col. John W. Harrelson, administrative head of State college; Major Blake R. Van Leer, head of the State college school of engineering; Dr. E. E. Randolph, head of the institution's chemical engineering department, and W. W. Winter, president, Atlanta Gas Light company.

A number of speakers from North Carolina's largest gas and light companies also appear on the program.

The institute will be conducted for those interested in the manufacture and sale of gas who wish to meet for a period of study and discussion of their problems, says Director Ruggles.

Danny McPride, James Thomas and an army of famous funny clowns make up the laugh portion of the Dan Rice Circus that comes to Greenville for an afternoon and night performance on Wednesday, Sept. 6.

When they make their first entry, the laughter begins with a travesty on the late Jim Braddock, Joe Louis championship fight and continue through their burlesque baseball game. Advance reports state that the clowns will cause you to shake with laughter, and fairly gasp with glee over these soul sunbeams, the cargo of comic-lities, the truck loads of tricks and ticklers, the ticklers, the host of hilarious niggers, the concourse of fashion spring rools, the mimics of men and manners, and the follies and fun of the day.

The management of the Dan Rice Circus has continued making clown alley one of the most important features of the entertainment that comprises over 60 well known and seasonal features. McPride and Thomas, producing clowns were with many European circuses and bring a new style of entertainment that is wholesome and clean. Now in its 85th year, the Dan Rice Circus has always made a big feature of its clown department because of the fact that old Dan Rice was recognized as the foremost clown of all times. Old timers will remember his last visit here when he was acknowledged the most popular man in America because of his ability to entertain. So popular did he become that at once time he was considered a possibility as a candidate for the presidency of the United States.

like this to send him to a back seat. The new picture, as is customary nowadays, has everything: Squadrons of talent including songsters, comedians, and hoofers. Spectacular sets including one that is literally colossal. Expert direction by Roy DeJ. Ruth. And a plot that is hackneyed, even for a backstage musical, and dialogue redeemed only by an occasional sparkle.

This time they've combined backstage with horse-racing. Eleanor is the horse-loving girl who wants to make good on Broadway. Taylor is the young producer. He has backing from an angel (Raymond Walburn) whose wife wants Taylor for herself and withdraws support because Taylor won't drop Eleanor from the cast. The picture ends with the show—which didn't fold after all because Eleanor's horse won at Saratoga.

Taylor, with little to do and do-owed by dancing George Murphy, who gets the applause while Bob gets the girl. Sophie Tucker is grand, and little Judy Garland scores especially with "A Love Letter to Clark Gable." Other salvage is offered by Buddy Ebsen, Willie Howard, Helen Troy and Charles Gorin, who sings magnificently.

"Varsity Show" when you get to the end of it, has no great shakes of a plot either. This is Dock Powell's new one. He is surrounded, not quite submerged, by Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians, the cute Lane sisters, Priscilla and Rosemary, a grinning youth named Johnny Davis who sings like Cab Calloway, a "dumb" commedienne named Mabel Todd and assorted funny men topped by Ted Healy, Sterling Holloway and Walter Catlett. This is a movie idea of college again, but it's concerned with the annual varsity show rather than the big game.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

Hollywood, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The tales of the two Powells—Eleanor and Dick—have greeted previewers. Ungallant as it may be to say it, out Dick comes off best. Miss Powell continues in "Broadway Melody of 1938" her zooming career as leading feminine exponent of the tap, and it is no fault of hers that this timefilm is less sprightly than its predecessors. Nor is it the fault of the cast, nor even of Robt Taylor, Eleanor's co-star, who will need only one or two more roles

Zak Hurls 2-Hitter As Snow Hill Whips New Bern, 12-2

BILLIES NEED ONE VICTORY

Win Today Would Put Snow Hill In Loop Finals

New Bern, Sept. 3.—It's an ill wind that blows no good, and the same thing goes for rain. Emil Zak proved old proverb yesterday when he used his rested sore arm to pitch Snow Hill to a two-hit, 12-2 victory over New Bern. But for Tex Thornton's fourth inning home-run after Stith had singled, Mrs. Zak's little boy would have grabbed himself a shut-out.

Rain block games scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday between the clubs—and that accounts for the mention of rain in the opening paragraph.

Today's victory gave Snow Hill a 2-1 edge over the Bears in the best three-of-five series for a place in the league's championship finals. The clubs will play at Snow Hill today. Winner of this end of the semi-finals will oppose Tarboro, which eliminated Williamston in their finals.

After three innings of fine baseball the Hill Billies showed four runs across in the fourth on as many hits.

Wall got to Knowles for a single to open the frame. Robinson promptly homered over the right-field wall. Bistoff went out, but Soufas singled and Latham walked. Knowles uncorked a wild pitch, and both runners advanced. Rabb popped up to short but Zak came through with a single to score Soufas and Latham. Mewborn popped up to end the splurge.

Walkathon
Wall singled in the fifth and trotted home in front of Bistoff when the big catcher poled one out of the park. Knowles went to the showers, and Bull Hamons came in for a pending alkathon. He got to the seventh without damage, but after that, it was a case of wildness and more wildness.

Mewborn and Hyder started the seventh with conventional singles and then Wall fanned. Hamons walked Robinson purposely. Bull tried to pitch to Bistoff but the habit had gotten him, and he walked Joe to force in Mewborn. Soufas drew a walk, forcing in Hyder, and Robinson scored when Latham beat out an infield roller. Hamons then walked Rabb, Mewborn and Hyder to send in three more runs. It was a dismal inning and lots of fans didn't wait around to hang the crepe.

Zak was supported by an airtight defense, but it is strictly his glory today. He set some sort of record in the fifth and sixth when five Bruins in a row pushed easy rollers back at him.

Whether Doc Smith can get the Bears down to earth again by today remains to be seen. The locals were swamped by a 10-2 count in Sunday's opener but came back nicely Monday for a 3-1 win at Snow Hill. Stuart Flythe probably will start for New Bern in today's game at Snow Hill, with Johnny Hruska or Cecil Longest as his opponent.

Picturing SPORTS

PLAYING COACH
One of the few football coaches in the U. S. who can substitute himself into a game is Earl H. (Dutch) Clark, who has been one of the greatest all-arounders in the history of the professional game. He makes his debut as coach of the Detroit Lions Sept. 10.

KELLY (In Background)
Laughing Larry Kelly, Yale's all-America end last year, returned home from Europe in disguise. He's behind the shrubbery in this picture. His parents, when they finally were convinced this was their boy, wondered how he got out of Russia.

HANDBALL CHAMP
Harry Goldstein, national one-wall handball champion, is the favored entrant of 500 who are playing a New York City's Uiel handball tournament. Arthur M. Wehrmann, national AAU handball chairman, says this is the largest tournament in the game's history.

A SERIOUS DEAN
Dizzy Dean was worrying before the all-star game July 7, and this photo was made. His troubles date from that game, in which he hurt a toe, and ended with a bad arm. Now Diz is in St. Louis getting treatment for the arm.

REDS RECALL BIG VANDY FROM SYRACUSE CLUB
Cincinnati, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds have announced recall of seven men from Syracuse, N. Y., of the International League. The seven included Pitchers Lloyd (Whitey) Moore and Johnny Van Der Meer.

The Reds announced purchase of Harry Choozen, Eldorado catcher, recently voted the most valuable man in the Cotton States League. The eight will report at the end of the season in their leagues.

JOE MAKES $40,000 AND A LOT OF TALK
San Francisco, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The accepted topics of conversation in San Francisco now are the new bridges and Joe DiMaggio. DiMaggio gets talked about most. Joe's family says he'll make $40,000 in his second season in the big time.

LIGHTS WENT OUT FOR THIS BOXER

Houston, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Billy Deeg tied up Gallito Ramirez effectively in their fight here, and Ramirez hardly was able to land a glove on him.

Suddenly the lights went out. When the circuit was restored, Deeg had a bloody nose. No one explained.

Europe Sends Strange Craft For Cup Race

Detroit (AP)—Strange-appearing hydroplanes will roar up to the starting line of the Detroit yacht club piers on Labor Day, September 6, when the annual Gold Cup regatta's feature event gets under way.

With the participation of foreign-built hydroplanes for the first time in the Gold Cup's history, something entirely new is being introduced by European contestants.

There is, for example, Count Theo Rossi de Monteleira's Alagi, short, flat and wide, resembling a flounder, with a hump through the center. Undoubtedly the Alagi, "90-mile-an-hour boat," will slither around the short turns of the Gold Cup course without materially reducing its speed. The squat-appearing craft looks as if it might be able to "turn on a dime."

And there is Count Rossi's Ardam, which holds the world's speed record of 90.97 miles an hour. Radically different in design from the American racers, its single screw sets well under the hull, with the driver's seat at the rear, projecting out over the rudder.

Three French craft also contrast sharply with the American boats. Emille Piquerez's Rafale II also features the esquat appearance that many motorboat enthusiasts believe produces greater speed.

Nearly two-score outboard drivers probably including young Gar Wood Jr., 19-year-old son of the greatest of all speed-boat drivers, will have plenty of opportunity in these several other events that make up the regatta program.

SIR MALCOLM CAMPBELL ALSO DRIVES MOTORBOATS

Locarno, Switzerland, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell today gave the motorboat world a new international record really worth shooting at.

For the second time in as many days, the British sportsman, holder of the land speed record of 301.13 miles per hour, smashed Gar Wood's five-year-old unlimited hydroplane standard of 124.86 m. p. h. This time the 52-year-old speed king boosted it from 125.7959 m. p. h. to 129.4164 m. p. h.

Finding the waters of Lake Maggiore favorable for a new record try, Sir Malcolm twice sent his powerful single-engine Bluebird over the measured course—negotiating the outward run at 130.3479 m. p. h. and the homeward trip at 128.4849 m. p. h.

Larry Kelly, Yale's brilliant football star, spent the summer touring Europe. It was a graduation present.

Manager Pie Traynor's Move To Outfielder Of Arky Vaughn

Manager Pie Traynor's move to make an outfielder of Arky Vaughn sort of events things up in the National League. Not long ago Bill Terry, New York Giant manager, hauled Mel Ott in from right field and installed him at third base.

If Vaughn fits into the Pirate's outfield as well as Mel plugged the gap at third, Traynor's outfield worries are over. Ott stands out as about the best hot corner guard in the National League. Of course, that may not be saying much.

You recall that Bill Terry refused to name any of the senior circuit's third basemen to the all-star lineup. The real reason for shifting Arky to the outer gardens is the sparkling manner in which Pep Young has been covering short. When Vaughn was ready to return to duty after six inactive weeks because of injuries, Traynor hated to take out the fast moving Mr. Young. Hoping to make use of Arky's heavy hitting he hit upon the idea of converting the former National League batting champion into an outfielder.

Vaughn has handled his new assignment very well in the few contests he has worked. That should cause no great surprise. He began his career in semi-pro ball, as an outfielder. Ever since he has been with the Pirates he has worked out Arky Vaughn is trying his hand at outfielding after years at short for Pittsburgh. He is shifted from right field to third, Ott just about tops the National League's third sackers.

What To Do—If Someone Apparently Drowns

(By The AP Feature Service)

1. Start artificial respiration immediately after the body is pulled out. Persons "apparently drowned" have been revived after as long as 20 to 30 minutes under water.
2. Get a doctor.
3. Loosen any tight clothing. Keep the patient warm and lying down.
4. Do not give him any liquids until he is fully conscious.

Here is the prone pressure method of artificial respiration endorsed by the American Red Cross:

Lay the patient on his stomach with one arm extended, the other bent at the elbow so that his face, turned outward, rests on his hand or forearm. His nose and mouth should be low and unobstructed.

Kneel straddling his thighs. Place the palms of your hands on the small of his back with little fingers just touching his lowest ribs.

With arms extended swing forward gradually, bringing your weight to bear upon him. (Don't press too hard if you're big and he's small.) Take about two seconds for this. It compresses the lungs.

Next, swing back quickly to remove the pressure. This lets the lungs expand. After two seconds swing forward again. Repeat the whole procedure 12 to 15 times a minute for several hours if necessary or until a doctor pronounces the person dead.

MARKET FOLKS URGED BEWARE

Quack Medicine Men Going Around Leaf Warehouses

Raleigh, Sept. 3.—Market crowds were warned yesterday by Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, state health officer, to be wary of "patent medicine racketeers" offering pills and drugs for the cure of venereal diseases.

"Beware of the patent medicine racketeer," Reynolds said, that sick tongue fellow who shows up where the crowds are, including tobacco markets, where money is plentiful. He offers the glib public remedies which have absolutely no medicinal value but are designed solely to 'gather in the shekles' through methods that are purely fraudulent from start to finish."

Reynolds also urged approved treatment for syphilitic mothers during pregnancy in order that their babies may be born with free chances out of ten of being free from the disease. Ene children of untreated syphilitic mothers, he said, are four times as likely to die as the children of uninfected mothers.

Prisons and jails, the health officers declared, should treat their inmates in order to "eradicate one of the chief sources of infection" in one known penal institution. In said, 66 per cent of the prisoners were found to be infected.
