4,000 Jap Troops Fall Before Fire In Chinese Attack

Detachment Reported Wiped Out West Peiping

AMERICANS FLEE FUKIEN PROVINCE

Chinese Shells Barely Miss American Consulate General North of Settlement

Peiping, Sept. 9.—(AP)—A detachment of 4,000 Japanese troops was reported today to have been wiped out by a deadly Chinese ambush in the rocky hills west of here. The Japanese line reportedly was trust back five miles by the sudden Chinese onslaught.

Japanese commanders were obviously more and more worried over fate of their operations in this area, where their advance has been held up a full month by dogged Chinese resistance and strategy.

Heavy reinforcements were flowing through Peiping to a place 30 miles to the south and to the sorely menaced Japanese right flank in the western hills 25 miles to the west.

The steady stream of wounded Japanese coming back from the front was almost equally heavy. Several thousands have been brought here in the last few days.

Shanghai, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Three one-pounder shells crashed directly in front of the American consulate general this afternoon, seriously injuring three Chinese civilians and one British policeman.

The "pom-pom" shells were fired from Chinese guns just north of the International settlement border apparently at four low-flying Japanese bombers.

Just previously 100 additional American marines had been landed from Admiral Harry Yarnell's yacht Isabel after a hurried trip from Tsingtao. They swelled the United States land forces to 1,300 marines.

Amoy, China, Sept. 9.—(AP)—American residents of this south China port of Fukien province were forced to scurry under ground today in bomb-proof dugouts for protection against a shattering two-hour raid of Japanese airplanes and war ships.

American lives were gravely endangered and the United States warship Asheville was caught in the bombardment. Several bombs fell only a short distance from the Asheville and forced her officers and crew to hurry below decks for refuge from the hail of shrapnel bombs and shells from the Japanese planes and ships rained on army headquarters, police headquarters, the air field and the old fort near the compound of the American Socony-Vacuum Oil company.

Recent Big Rains Highly Favorable To Weed Diseases

Extension Pathologist urges harvesting of Crop Before Excessive Development Sets In Raleigh, Sept. 9.—Heavy rains during the past few weeks have been highly favorable for the development of practically all of the leafspot diseases of tobacco, declared Dr. Luther Shaw, extension plant pathologist.

Blackfire, brown spot, and alternaria, aided by the favorable conditions, have caused a large amount of damage already. With continued rains, Dr. Shaw says these diseases will continue their rapid development.

There are no control measures known which would be effective under the unusually favorable conditions. Dr. Shaw pointed out. Most of these diseases develop faster on the more mature leaves than they do on the greener leaves.

While it is not always possible to harvest the crop before excessive development of these diseases sets in, Dr. Shaw suggests this practice as the most effective method of combatting the menace.

ABANDONED EGGS YIELD 50 TURKEYS

Terrebonne, Ore.—(AP)—Mrs. Ada Garrett, who has a small farm here, was looking over a dump ground when she saw a number of eggs that were obviously hatching.

Investigating she was able to pick more than 50 turkeys out of the shells. The young birds are now thriving on her acres.

The eggs lay on some warm ashes and Mrs. Garrett believes the heat helped hatch them.

AMERICAN MISSION SEIZED BY JAPANESE

The latest American property to be seized by the Japanese for military purposes is the $1,000,000 compound (above) of the Seventh Day Adventist missionaries in the Yangtzeop section of Shanghai. Regardless of United States flag flying over the installation, the missionaries were evicted and the buildings were turned into billets for Japanese marines. This airview shows the mission's Chinese school (No. 1), the English school (No. 2), the office building (No. 3), and the Adventist publishing house (No. 4). On each side of the street are homes of missionaries.

PLAN TO CHECK NATION'S IDLE

John D. Biggers Of Toledo Offered Job By President

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today asked John D. Biggers of Toledo, Ohio, to take charge of the unemployed registration authorized by congress Biggers said he would give his answer in Washington next Wednesday.

At the same time it was understood preliminary consideration was given by the President to utilizing local election and postal machinery to make the count, which will be kept on a voluntary basis.

Under the tentative plan, the President may stir interest before the registration by a public radio address.

Meantime Frank R. McNinch said after a summer White House conference during the day he had been given a "free hand" to reorganize the Federal Communications commission.

"The President has given me a free hand to find out what may need correction and to apply the remedy," said McNinch, who will take over his new duties as communications chairman September 20.

He is now chairman of the Federal Power commission and will remain on the communication's agency until he completes the job of reorganization.

At Washington, D. C., in the meanwhile, it was revealed federal regulations which became effective October 1 will add the states of North Carolina and South Carolina in campaigning against traffic in marihuana, the domestic drug which creates tragic reactions in its users.

North Carolina, under the direction of its state health officer, Dr. Carl Reynolds, already has launched a strenuous campaign against use of the drug, which is smoked in cigarette form.

Plot Declared Underway to Seize Control of U. S.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Daily Times said in a copyright article today "in uniforms strangely suggestive of those worn by Adolf Hitler's Nazi storm troops, a relatively small, but rapidly growing army is preparing for the American counterpart of 'der tag' when it plans to seize control of the United States."

The newspaper said the article resulted from an "exhaustive investigation of American Nazis" made by three reporters and investigators, James Metcalf, his brother, John, and William A. Mueller. Mueller wrote the article.

The investigators, the newspaper said, "worked for many months both from within and outside the Amerikadeutscher Volksbund—German-American Bund—and its companion organizations traveling from coast to coast and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, to 'learn international secrets.'"

"Under the name of Oberwinder," the article continued, the "Metcalf brothers months ago built themselves up as Nazi sympathizers and were accepted as members of the organization."

John Metcalf established himself in the predominantly German Yorkville section of New York City and later acted as a propagandist on a cross-country tour.

SEES PROGRESS IN RURAL LIFE

Farming Made More Profitable and Also More Pleasing

Raleigh, Sept. 9.—Progress made by farmers and farm women in building a more profitable agriculture and a more pleasing rural life during the past year has been recorded in the annual report of the agricultural extension service of State College and copies of the printed report are now available.

The report prepared by Dean I. O. Schaub, director of the extension service, and John W. Goodman, assistant director, bears the title "Rebuilding a Fair Land" and consists of 47 pages of type, illustrations and charts. The report shows that 210,355 of the more than 300,000 farm families in North Carolina were reached by some form of the extension activity.

Since extension work is based on actual demonstrations both in the field as well as in the home much of the report deals with the results farmers secured with these demonstrations.

Five Year Old Boy Cut By Hay Mower

Little John Marvin Mills, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Mills of Ayden, Route No. Two, is in Pitt General hospital suffering with severe gashes in his leg as a result of having been cut by a hay mower this morning.

Mr. Mills was moving hay and did not know his son was even in the field when the boy walked into the blade and was cut three times across the foot. The blade also struck the boy's leg about half way from the ankle to the knee and went about a third of the way through the bone.

Mr. Mills said hospital attaches told him they hoped to save the boy's leg.

ATTEMPTS SET TEACHERS' PAY

Committee Hopes To Complete Schedule During Meet

Raleigh, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Teacher salary schedules for 1937-38 remained as unfinished business today as the school commission heard numerous delegations and disposed of routine business.

The work has been practically completed and we hope to finish before night," a member of the salary committee said. "We worked until 11 o'clock last night and some more before the commission met today."

The commission member, who asked that his name not be used, said "in general teachers will get a 10 per cent raise over the old, but some in the higher brackets will get 10 per cent and some in the lower levels will get a slightly larger boost."

The legislature authorized funds for a 10 per cent increase in allowances for personnel service.

Requests taken under advisement after delegations were heard included whether pupils from Garysburg should attend the Wisdom or Jackson school; whether or not to transfer a teacher from Carvers Creek in Bladen county to Elizabethtown.

Rolling Chair In Need For Shut-In

At the County home there is an invalid lady, a "shut in" who, according to the local health officer, is badly in need of a rolling chair. This chair, not only would brighten her days by enabling her to leave her room and get to the sunlight and fresh air, but would, according to the health officer, do much to improve her general health.

"It has occurred to me that there may be some family in Greenville or in some other part of Pitt county who had a rolling chair no longer needed and which they would be glad to loan or donate to the County home," declared the health officer.

If the chair is in need of repairs this will be done by the welfare department.

Anyone having such a chair or knowing of anyone who does and would be willing to donate it to a worthy cause is requested to get in touch, by letter or phone, with the welfare department.

Plans Mapped For Young Folks' Club

The Salvation Army has rented and is preparing a building near the Serve You service station and on Monday, September 13th will open a Red Shield club for boys and also for girls. The club will be open from 3:30 each afternoon until 6:00 and then from 7:00 until 9:00 each evening.

Among the activities that will be enjoyed at the club are checkers, table tennis, croquet, volleyball, basket ball, horseshoes, etc.

In addition to the above there will be classes, in first aid, music, and band training. It is hoped to also operate a small library for the benefit of those of the members who do not avail themselves of the public library.

The boys will be under the supervision of Captain Bates, and the girls will be directed by Mrs. Bates. A full program will be carried out during the entire winter and some enjoyable hours are anticipated.

Reflector Stages Novel Campaign

Schools of Pitt County to Receive Library Funds

In a drive for more readers to The Daily Reflector the paper today announces a somewhat novel campaign for this section in that instead of a prize campaign the subscribers are to be given the usual commission paid contest managers in the form of a 30 per cent reduction in the subscription price and the $1,000 or more usually spent by the paper for automobiles or other prizes is to be distributed to the schools of Pitt county in the form of commissions on all business turned in by the individual schools.

Under the plan which goes into effect today for a limited period the price of the paper will be $3.50 for a full year's subscription either new or renewal to any subscriber in Pitt county. The plan has been approved by the principals of the various county schools and it is understood that the majority of the schools expect to use the funds derived from the present school libraries.

While the special offer is wide open for any resident of Pitt county and subscriptions will be accepted at the price of the paper at the reduced rate while the campaign is on, persons wishing their schools to get credit for their subscriptions must enter them through the schools instead of sending or bringing them direct to the office.

Full information regarding the offer is included in a page advertisement appearing in this issue.

State Government Chief Subject Of Institute Meeting

Albert Coates Announces Plans For Thorough Study of Various Governmental Agencies

Raleigh, Sept. 9.—The Chapel Hill meeting at which the Institute of Government announced plans for extending its sphere of activity into the realm of state government is still the subject of conversation among state officials who are unanimous in calling it "important" and "inspirational."

"The people of the state are forever calling for efficient government by honest officials, and I think that the Institute of Government is doing as much as any other single factor in getting them just that," said Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, state health officer in a typical comment.

"Any function at which the Governor speaks, at which a Supreme Court Justice (Judge W. A. Devin) presides, and at which there are present five of the seven Supreme Court Justices and more high state officials than attend a political convention deserves being called important. The Chapel Hill session was inspirational," continued Dr. Reynolds.

Albert Coates, director of the Institute of Government, explained the plan by which his organization expects to make a thorough study of state government and to prepare guide books to the duties of each department.

Raleigh Political Whirl Doubts Doughton To Run

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Sept. 9.—Nobody in the Raleigh political whirl thinks that Representative R. L. (Farmer Bob) Doughton has any intention of entering the senatorial lists for a political death duel with Robert R. (Our Bob) Reynolds, present wearer of the toga of junior senator from Tar Heels.

The political big guns here are unanimously of the opinion that the newspaper writer who positively placed Mr. Doughton in the race has climbed far, far out on a limb and are emphatic in expressing the belief that the limb will let him down with a fall hard enough to make Humpty Dumpty's famous drop the gentle waltzing downward of a feather.

These very political personages, however, absolutely decline to allow their names to be used in connection with any comment on the heralded Doughton candidacy and so it may be well to discount their remarks more than a small per cent.

Their arguments sound logical enough as they point out that Mr. Doughton is far too wily a politician to give up the certainty of his present post for the decided uncertainty of defeating one of North Carolina's most capable vote harvesters.

One of them (a personage who would have perhaps more influence than any other single person in the state) explained his absolute certainty that Farmer Bob will not run with the remark: "He hasn't talked enough to his friends about it. If he had any idea of running he would have talked it over thoroughly." This personage, incidentally, is one of the "friends" with whom the veteran representative would most naturally have conferred.

Stranger things have happened in politics and doubtless will happen again, but if Mr. Doughton does run for the senate it will be a tremendous surprise to all those folks hereabouts who are supposed to know their way about.

HOEY SPEAKER AT TEST FARM

Declares Farmers Key Men in Solving Own Problems

Willard, N. C., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Governor Hoy said here today that despite the government's inauguration of a "great agricultural program, after all the farmer is the key man in the solving of his own problems, and economic security will come to him because of his intelligence, industry and wisdom in dealing with the situation on his own farm."

The chief executive headed speakers at the state agriculture department's Willard test farm picnic, including Commissioner Kerr Scott; Dean I. O. Schaub, North Carolina State college extension service director; James M. Gray, associate regional director, farm security administration, Raleigh, Assistant Agriculture Commissioner D. S. Coltrane, Dr. J. S. Dorton, state fair manager; and Miss Ruth Current, state home demonstration agent.

The governor emphasized the importance of agriculture for the groundwork of American prosperity. He said "the constant struggle in government has been to establish a parity of helpfulness to agriculture commensurate with that afforded industry. The government is now endeavoring to meet these needs and give to the farmer an even chance to share some of the real benefits arriving from governmental assistance."

State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson introduced Hoy and Charles Cates of Mebane, agriculture board member, presided.

Office Structure Is Expected To Save State Large Sums

New Building Probably Will Prove Paying Proposition For N. C. In Dollars and Cents

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, Sept. 9.—The state's new office building will be a paying proposition anyway it is considered—in dollars and cents, in greater efficiency of departments and in improved health and sanitary conditions.

Just when the five-story structure will be completed is a matter of more than a little doubt, but work is going forward quite rapidly in clearing the site and it will hardly be longer than the average before the new building is completed.

Cost of the building is estimated at $675,000. With the state borrowing money on bond issues at an average of 2.7 per cent the interest charge on the cost of construction will amount to approximately $14,225 annually. At present the state is paying out nearly $32,000 in rent for office space outside buildings owned by it. There would, accordingly, be a saving of nearly $14,000 a year by reason of the new construction.

Completion of the new building, however, may not entirely eliminate the necessity of renting some office space, as it is already apparent that even the huge new structure will not be large enough to take care of the ever-expanding personnel of the state government.

Present plans call for housing of the Department of Charities and Public Welfare, with all its branches such as the Unemployment Commission, the commission for the Blind, etc.; the Labor Department and its branches; and a number of other state activities in the new building.

Advantages of the new structure from the standpoint of the employees' health and of increased efficiency by reason of concentration of records in one place are obvious.

ITALO-GERMAN BLOC FORMED

Rome and Berlin Refuse to Attend Anti-Piracy Conference as London and Paris Chorus Determination to Use Warships to Halt Sea Attacks

(By Associated Press)

Great Britain and France joined forces today against the Italo-German bloc in the Mediterranean "anti-piracy" conference.

Rome and Berlin, acting in close collaboration, both refused to attend a conference in Switzerland tomorrow to deal with the torpedoing of merchant ships.

London and Paris replied in chorus with: 1. New determination to use their warships to stop the attack; 2. Insistence that the parley achieve results whether or not Italy and Germany attend.

With the absence of the fascist powers certain, Britain was expected to scrap her "restricted zone" plan—for which unanimous cooperation is essential—and submit a proposal for Mediterranean patrols and convoys for merchant men.

Italy refused the parley invitation because of Soviet Russia's accusations that she was subsidizing had sunk two Russian freighters.

An unverified report, one of many rumors in the charged diplomatic atmosphere, said Rome and Moscow were near a breach in relations or a mutual trade boycott.

Rome still had not replied to Moscow's second diplomatic protest charging Italian responsibility for the sea attacks and demanding redress. Italy's first retort was a flat denial.

Germany, as Italy's friend, rejected the conference bid. She refused to sit at the same table in Switzerland with Italy's foes.

Both Italy and Germany contended the question should be one for the inactive "hands off Spain" committee.

France and Great Britain answered that the situation had grown beyond the scope of European neutrality in Spain.

PARKING LAWS ARE ENFORCED WITH PEANUTS
Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Milwaukee police have been trapping parking violators with peanuts.

They used to mark the tires with chalk but then motorists got wise and rubbed out the tell-tale signs.

A police sergeant instructed his men to buy bags of peanuts. After chalking the wheels as of old an officer tucked a peanut in front of each front wheel and behind the rear wheels.

If the peanuts were whole when he returned the officer knew the car had overstayed its legal parking time regardless of what had happened to the chalk marks.

Police said the plan had worked.

NEW TEACHERS AT UNIVERSITY

Several Faculty Additions for 1937-38 Session

Chapel Hill, Sept. 9.—Appointment of Dr. Richard Jente as new head of the German department and of Dr. Reinhold Baer and Dr. Nathan Jacobson to the mathematics department has just been announced by Administrative Dean R. R. House.

The three newcomers were recently elected to the faculty by the university trustees.

Dr. Jente has been for 15 years professor of German in George Washington university and was acting head of the department there last year. He succeeds Dr. A. E. Zucker, who resigned last spring to head the German department at Indiana.

Dr. Baer and Dr. Jacobson come here from the world-famous Institute of Advanced Study at Princeton. Dr. Baer replaces Prof. L. L. Garner, who is at work on his doctorate at Michigan. Dr. Jacobson is an addition.

A native of New Haven, Dr. Jente won his A.B. and M.A. degrees at Yale. He took his Ph.D. degree magna cum laude at Heidelberg. He taught at Yale and later at Minnesota. Since 1922 he has been at Washington university. He has also lectured at Chicago.

Dr. Jente published a volume in 1921 on "Mythological Terms in Old English Vocabulary" and in 1926 an extensive study on "The Proverb in Shakespeare." He has specialized in the study of the proverb, collecting the largest library in America and publishing numerous articles on this specialty.

Commenting on the other two appointees, Dr. Archibald Henderson, head of the mathematics department, who takes great pride in his staff, said: "A distinguished mathematician at Johns Hopkins has just written me that with these two conspicuous additions to our staff, the mathematical center of gravity in the United States definitely moves southward."

Dr. Baer, who was connected with the Princeton Institute in 1935-37, studied at the Technische Hochschule in Hannover, the University of Göttingen, and at the University of Kiel, where he received his Ph.D. in 1925. His main lines of research are the theory of algebraic fields, topology and group theory. During the past ten years he has published around 50 papers, a number of these being extended monographs.

Dr. Jacobson, a southerner by birth, received his A.B. degree at Alabama in 1930, and his Ph.D. at Princeton in 1934. At Princeton he was assistant in the Institute, Proctor Fellow in Mathematics. During 1935-6 he was acting head of mathematics at Bryn Mawr. Already the author of ten papers, several of them of note, he has obtained important results in his field.

skinning or dressing rabbits. When the carcass of an infected animal is thoroughly cooked, the disease germ is destroyed.

Tularemia manifests itself in a variety of forms. In one, the predominating symptoms involve the eye; in another the lymph glands of the body appear to be principally affected; in a third, the disease resembles typhoid in its symptoms. A characteristic of the disease is the development in the skin of nodules which tend to break down with the formation of pus.

There is no specific treatment for the disease. The patient must be dealt with symptomatically and receive good nursing. Rest in bed is essential during acute stages, and the patient should receive an easily digestible diet of a high caloric value.

Best of all, of course, is prevention, furthered by the awareness of the danger of tularemia infection, ever present when handling the carcasses of wild rabbits.

New York — Douglas Fairbanks was in town the other day and said he probably would do some serious motion picture producing on the coast next year.

However, at the moment, he is occupied with plans for some winter skiing at St. Moritz, where he intends to do a lot of exhilarating skiing has replaced leaping over fences in the dewy dawn as Doug's favorite sport. He explained that the trudge up mountain sides was most invigorating and that no thrill was comparable to the experience of plunging down mountain sides at two miles a minute.

Doug said that Mrs. Fairbanks was also enthusiastic over prospects of another whirl at the winter sports, although she is not a skier herself. Her idea of fun is a bob-sled rumbling down a safe, wide course.

It is an established verity that a man getting around this town must pay between $40 and $50 a year for the privilege of wearing a hat.

One cannot enter a theatre, a nightclub or restaurant without exchanging one's hat for a little red ticket. This of course means a 25-cent tip, and in time these quarters do mount up.

However, the owners of the places themselves rarely pocket this jargesse. They lease the hatchecking concessions for extraordinary sums sometimes receiving as much as $3,000 a month. There are several corporations which make a regular business of buying up concessions and establishing their own girls behind the counters.

Another little racket in New York has no such highly organized system, yet it is as flourishing for years. This takes in motorists, and when you park your car on any of the side streets a bum shuffles up, opens the door, and informs you that he will look after your car so that the street urchins will not steal the wheels or let the air out of the tires. This, in simpler words means, pay up, or else. A quarter usually will suffice, but if you ignore him you will probably regret it to the extent of several dollars.

worth of accessories. They steal motometers, scratch paint, and even slash tires.

A socially prominent young man who is usually about three months ahead of the fashion czars was seen the other evening with his hat askew. It was thought he was introducing a new fad, but a few pointed questions revealed the fact that he was shielding a black eye.

"I got this for being such a doubting Thomas," he explained.

And how was that? "Very simple," he went on. "Just as I arrived on the eighth green someone yelled 'Fore' and I didn't believe him. Silly of me, what?"

New York—As Broadway hurtles toward a new show season, one point seems obvious. The gaudy, wise-cracking school of playwrighting is to have an inning.

Managers are shying away from tragedies and dramas with forlorn themes. The success of "Room Service," with its raucous dialogue and ludicrous situations, has the producers all hepped on the idea that farce is the thing. Nor can they forget the amazing box office of "You Can't Take It With You," which George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart wrote last year. (P.S. This number is still running, with seats selling 18 weeks in advance.)

As one producer put it, "People have enough to cry over without looking for grief on the stage. There used to be a time when dramas of a grave and serious nature were saleable merchandise. Now, unless you have Helen Hayes in the cast it isn't safe to fool around with any play that isn't interspersed with laughs."

"Room Service," which astonished its producers as much as its authors with its money-making proclivities, is a perfect example of the type of theatre that New York laughs itself silly over. Take the scene where the three characters are starving in a bedroom. Their hunger knows no bounds. Suddenly one says: "I'm so hungry I've got spots before my eyes. No, they're not spots—they're hamburgers." A second character cries: "If you see any with onions, save 'em for me."

Silly? Sure, but it makes people laugh. Now take the scene in "You Can't Take It With You," where the argument about income taxes comes up. One of the characters refuses to pay any tax at all. Why? "Well," he says, "I don't believe in it." This scene has been told and retold more often on trains and over tea cups than any other scene on Broadway this year. And it seldom fails to provoke hysteria.

This current trend in the Broadway drama, if nothing else, will probably save us from a repetition of the plague of locust plays which dined down on us last year—cheap melodramas and horror tales which died almost as abruptly as the victims in their own second acts.

At least, Broadway's established producers won't touch them. They want laughs.

If you're getting tickets for a play before the new season opens on Times Square, don't look for something serious. You won't find it. Of the eight plays breezing through the summer, six are comedies: "Brother Rat," "Having Wonderful Time," "Room Service," "The Women," "Yes, My Darling Daughter" and "You Can't Take It With You." Then there's "Babes in Arms," the past season's leading musical comedy. The other play—you've guessed right—is "Tobacco Road," creeping up on the all-time record run of "Able's Irish Rose."

The United States is divided into four standard time zones.

WHAT NOW? IT'S AN OLD HITLER CUSTOM TO SOUND OFF AT NURNBERG!

(By The AP Feature Service)

SENSATIONAL is the word for the gigantic annual Nazi convention in Nurnberg, Germany. For three years Adolf Hitler, as chief speaker and sensation maker, has fired oratorical shots heard 'round the world.

This year the convention is September 6 to 13. What will the blow-off be? Some observers of the German scene predict Hitler will spring the greatest surprise of all—a speech free of the spectacular, with emphasis on German economic advances under Nazi leadership. Others are laying odds that the fourth party congress will follow the sensational pattern of the first three.

1934 This was the year after Hitler's rise to supreme power in Germany. He proclaimed the end of the Nazi revolution and asserted Germany's way of life, in which there would be no room for Jews, was fixed for 1,000 years.

1935 Hitler called the Reichstag into session unexpectedly and unpreparedly at Nurnberg to pronounce the swastika Germany's only national flag. He is shown at the second Congress reviewing youth organization members.

1936 "Give us back our colonies," he said in effect. A reference to the Ukraine struck fire in Russia.

the dark ships

BY HULBERT FOOTNER

SYNOPSIS: When flashy Prescott Fanning abducts Janet from Baltimore on his yacht, she gets word to Neill, a young federal agent who loves her. Dashing to Absalom's Harbor, he boards the yacht and finds, in a locked cabin, Fanning shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Neill hides her nearby in a disused liner, then joins Mark Bonninger, keen local investigator, to keep tabs on developments. Returning from a trip to the ship, Neill is overpowered by a husky brute who binds him, tapes his eyes and mouth, and carries him off.

Chapter 22 A Brutal Grilling

WHEN he was ready, the man turned Neill over on his face and cut the bonds on his wrists. He turned Neill again and, smothering him under his full weight, pulled his arms forward and tied them in front. He tied a second rope to the first one and, standing Neill on the first one, started pulling on the other end drawing Neill's arms above his head and higher until his feet began to leave the ground. He then fastened the rope, leaving Neill dangling, his toes just touching the ground.

The man then came close and, with his foul breath in Neill's face, started going through his pockets and through his clothes to the skin. He even unlaced his boots, and felt inside his socks. He took out Neill's wallet, examined it and put it back. This was no ordinary robber. He was after some particular thing. When he failed to find it, he started loud, savage cursing.

"Where is the stuff?" he muttered.

"You damn fool!" Neill said, knowing that meaningless grunts were the only sounds he could make.

The tapes were pulled off his lips. Neill instantly shouted with his full voice. The man laughed. "Shout your lungs out," he said. "There's no house in a mile."

Neill shut his mouth. "Where's the stuff? ... Come across or I'll kill you."

"What stuff?" answered Neill. "I don't know what you're talking about."

The man's reply was a blow that almost jerked Neill's arms out of their sockets. He spun around helplessly.

"Where's the stuff?" growled the man.

Neill knew he had been watched from the beginning. Evidently it was thought that he had secured something valuable on the yacht. Some loot of Fanning's. It was useless to protest that he didn't have it. He stalled for time.

"Lose me and I'll talk to you about it."

The man laughed. "What kind of a fool do you think I am?"

"You can come with me and I'll take you to it," said Neill.

"No, you don't! You tell me where it is and if I find it, I'll loose you. If I don't find it, I'll come back and kill you with my fist!"

Buried Treasure

NEILL thought: If I had an hour, I could release myself. It's worth trying. He said: "Do you know the wooden beacon that stands on Absalom's Point?"

"I've seen it."

"I buried it near there."

The man growled in pretended indifference: "Which direction?"

He's biting! Neill thought, and went on: "Stand with your back against the beacon and face the big locust that grows in the field. Take six full steps toward the tree, and dig in the sand. It's not buried deep. I didn't have time."

The man was silent, and Neill held himself tense for the outcome. "All right," he said at last. "God help you if you're lying!"

Neill relaxed.

He pasted the tapes back on Neill's lips. They didn't stick so firmly this time. He then pulled himself up on deck and leaped to the shore. Neill heard his steps crunching away.

Neill, blind, speechless and bound, took stock of his situation. Unnoticed by his captor, the rope had stretched somewhat and his feet were now planted firmly on the ground. The strain had loosened the bonds on his wrists also.

He rubbed his mouth against his arm until he got rid of the loose tapes. His eyes were more firmly fastened shut, and he let them go for the present.

He maneuvered his hands until he got hold of the rope from above. It was a coarse hempen rope that afforded a good grip. With endless patient working, he drew himself up on it an inch at a time. The cross-beam was only a foot or so above his hands. He struck against it, and after several failures was able to hook his fingers over it and hang there.

He now caught the dangling rope between his upper arm and his teeth and, holding it there, started gnawing. It seemed like a hopeless job. Minutes passed before he could feel even one fibre parting between his teeth. Meanwhile his strained fingers seemed to pass beyond his control. Momentarily, out of sheer exhaustion, they threatened to lose their hold on the cross-beam.

But life was sweet and Janet infinitely dear to him. The thought of her fate if anything happened to him kept his hands gripping the beam, kept his teeth grinding automatically. The rope fibers parted one by one. He lost all count of time. He was only a chewing mechanism.

The rope, he thought, was about half chewed through when he heard his captor coming back. There was a heavy slide down the bank and footsteps on the shingle. A sickening feeling of rage and frustration filled Neill. All his pains for nothing! He drew up his legs and let go the beam. The rope broke and he fell to the floor.

But he was still helpless. He tore the tapes off his eyes and

The blow made Neill spin around helplessly.

Trap Is Laid For Thief Of Plant Food

PUBLIC-ENEMY TRAP
The cylindrical contraption, called a lysimeter, is being planted by Oklahoma agronomists to find what force of nature steals nitrogen from the soil.

Stillwater, Okla.—(AP)—A giant trap is being laid to snare the thief Oklahoma A. and M. college agronomists believe has made off with from 30 to 60 per cent of the soil's nitrogen in some 40 years of cultivation.

Dr. Horace J. Harper and Dr. Garth W. Volk, agronomists who have set about to corner the felon of the soils, look for no success in a fortnight—they'll go trapping for 10 years.

Forty-eight lysimeters or metal cylinders, designed to catch and measure all water that passes through or runs off the soil enclosed within them, are being set in the soil of the college experimental farm here.

Two more experiments are planned for other parts of Oklahoma.

Dr. Harper and Dr. Volk know the nitrogen thieves well enough. What they want to learn is which one of three is making off with the most loot.

Nitrogen is lost by absorption by nitrogen-using crops or is washed away by water erosion or dissolved and borne down by surface water sinking into the subsoil.

Ten years of study, the agronomists believe will show which of these processes takes the most nitrogen from the soil and will give an inkling of the best methods for restoring the element.

pulled savagely with his teeth at the knots that bound his wrists. If he could only free himself so he could put up a fight! Too late! The man was climbing aboard.

Rescued
THE round eye of a flashlight blazed in the hatch overhead. It dazzled Neill and he could not see what was behind it. He struggled to throw himself out of reach of its rays, but could not.

"Good God! What happened?" said a husky, uncertain voice.

This was not what Neill had expected. For an instant he was filled with stupefaction, then a surge of joy. "Eyster!" he yelled.

"What shall I do?" the voice quavered.

"Come down here quick and untie me!" shouted Neill.

"I damn't! I couldn't get out."

An ugly suspicion arrested Neill's joy. Was the man playing with him? Were the two in cahoots? "Let yourself drop," he commanded. "You can see that it's less than 10 feet. I'll boost you out when you untie me. Quick!"

Eyster finally lowered himself over the edge of the hatch and let go. Neill's spirits leaped up. He could have embraced the little man then.

Five minutes later the two of them dropped to the shingle. Eyster was shaking with nervousness. Neill turned to take a look at his prison. It was an old Chesapeake pungy which had been abandoned on the beach. The masts were out of her. She was a complete wreck.

SPECIAL SESSION AND FARM PRICES

Members of the Farm Bureau Federation in this state are demanding a special session of Congress to enact crop control legislation with a view of assuring growers a fair income from their crops from year to year. Whether their plea for a special session will be heeded or whether they will be successful in getting the desired legislation passed, cannot yet be foretold, but we do feel that the failure of the last Congress to enact crop control legislation with regard to tobacco is having its effect upon the farmers of this section at this time in the way of lower prices. The farmer is entitled to a fair price for his products and if rational legislation is necessary to control production in order to assure these fair prices then we should have such legislation without further delay.

the state they cannot have them. During the period of our special subscription drive our people have the opportunity of paying their subscription through the county schools in their various communities. The schools will be allowed a lib-scriptions handled by them and the funds will be used for bettering their school libraries. The arrangement, however, does not apply to the schools of Greenville.

DON'T MAKE ME LAUGH!

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Sept. 9.—What with a Supreme Court Justice acting as chairman and serious-minded department heads doing most of the talking, there was little of levity connected with the Chapel Hill meeting of the state government heads with the Institute of Government; but just the same the irrepressible Tom Bost, dean of Raleigh newspaper correspondents, won a big laugh and at the same time summed up the situation very succinctly when he rose to tell of the of the accomplishments of the Institute during its five year existence:

"Albert Coates got an idea and went crazy over it," said Tom.

Another member of the General Assembly has reaped the reward of all good politicians. State Senator Gilmer Sparger of Danbury, down in Stokes, has been appointed executive secretary of the North Carolina Petroleum Industries Commission (Gasoline and Oil industry propaganda and lobbying agency, according to popular belief).

He succeeds R. Grady Johnson who went from politics to oil and back to politics via Speakership of the House, the post to which Mr.
Sparger has just been named and appointment as director of the Prison Division.

A correspondent from Washington, North Carolina, who doesn't want even his initials used for fear
"I would catch the devil all the way around" hands out this hot tip on the next Governorship race:

"The next governor of North Carolina will be Congressman Lindsay C. Warren. He may deny it all he please, and he has said it is the last thing in the world he is interested in, but he is going to be Governor because he can't help it. And when he runs he will not have any opposition. He will be the ideal candidate for all to agree on."
So, that settles that.

Comes now another bellyhooded candidate for the 1940 governor's post. State Treasurer Charles M.
Johnson, with a statement to the press in which he puts himself on record as favoring four year terms for sheriffs.

Senator Robert R. Reynolds says his office in Washington has an average of 284 incoming telephone calls every day. Also that an average of 150 people call in person every day. Also that his staff answers every one of the thousands of letters written him on the very day received.

"Of course," said Mr. Reynolds, "I could cut all that down by more than 50 per cent by being just a little bit discourteous, but if I did,

I wouldn't have quite as many friends back home."

Incidentally, Senator Reynolds is now the second ranking Democrat on the Senate Military Affairs committee, a group which is likely to become the most important senatorial subdivision if war keeps on flaring up all round the world.

The public prints are still working hard at the job of reviving interest in the Winston-Salem session of Young Democrats, which was dealt a body blow by the withdrawal of Miss Mae Oliver from the race for boss of the younger set.

"The State Highway Patrol is primarily a body for law enforcement and promotion of public safety, but I want its members to remember that they can also be of real service to motorists—and in particular can create a feeling of good will toward North Carolina among visitors from out of the state," said Major Arthur Fulk, commanding the SHP.

TODAY'S GAME

Tarboro at Snow Hill.

Tarboro, Sept. 9.—Snow Hill's Billies outdid the Serpents in lapses yesterday and Manager Fred Henry's locals came through with a 2-1 decision in 10 innings to give the fading Coastal Plain title series life.

After three straight defeats in the best four-of-seven, the Serps finally broke into the victory column but the win came much in the form of a gift, after loose play had allowed the Billies to tie the score in the eighth.

Tarboro's Bernard Mooney and Snow Hill's Johnny Hruska were the opposing pitchers, and each turned in a good job. Mooney gave only five hits, fanned five and walked five. Hruska yielded eight hits, walked two and struck out a pair.

George Rimmer kept out of the three other games of the series by a bad leg, returned to action today and set the pace in the Serpents' attack. It was a single in the 4th by Rimmer, followed by his by Soup Campbell and Manager Henry, that brought in the first run of the game.

Mooney and Hruska maintained their tight duel at that status until the eighth and then the Billies tied things up. Hruska started the Billies' drive with a single. Horse Mewborn sent him to second with a sacrifice, and Johnny Hyder was an easy infield out, Hruska stopping at third. Mooney unintentionally passed Wall, then intentionally walked Robby Robinson to get at Harry Soufas. Three curve balls had set Soufas down his previous time up, but Mooney's control was temporarily gone and he hit Soufas with a pitched ball, forcing in Hruska with the tying run.

That left the bases still full, with the slugging Walter Latham—big hitter of the series for the Billies—coming to bat. Mooney tightened, though, and fanned Latham. Zak Extentz game.

The Serps threatened to win in the ninth, but fine play in center field by Emil Zak—star pitcher—kept the game going. After Henry fanned, Rimmer hobbled to the plate and shot a drive into deep center that Zak couldn't reach, and Rimmer limped into second. Biggie, running for Rimmer, cut loose for home as Lehman cracked a single through second, but Zak made a perfect peg to the plate to cut off the winning run. Zak then made a sprint to take in a hard drive by Campbell, deep in center, and the game moved into the 10th.

Mooney set Hyder, Wall and Robinson down in the first half. Then Hruska became generous. He walked Sharkey, and on a bunt by Mooney, Johnny hesitated a split-second too long on a throw and both runners were safe. Solly Myers failed in two efforts to bunt, but Hruska opened the gift bag again. He threw a hook that bounded off Wall's mit, and Sharkey roared to third and beat the throw. Robinson rifled the ball to Walter Rabb at second, in an effort to get Mooney, but Rabb made his third miscue of the day. As the ball bounded into right field, Sharkey came in with the deciding run.

Rimmer and Hruska, each with a pair of hits, were the only players to connect safely more than once. In the fifth game of the series Thursday at Snow Hill, the Billies are expected to call on Cecil Longest, who beat the Serps on Saturday in the opening game of the series. Manager Henry's choice for the Serps likely will be Doug Hantz, who did well against the Billies during the regular season.

SCRAP ON FOR END POSITION

Several Candidates Out for UNC Grid Team Post

Chapel Hill, Sept. 9.—A merry, free-for-all scrap is being waged at the University of North Carolina gridiron camp these days for the left end position vacated by Captain Dick Buck of All-Southern fame when he graduated last spring.

The scramble has so muddled the waters, in fact, that it now appears doubtful whether the coaches will have selected a regular in time for the opening game with the powerful South Carolina team here September 25.

When fall drills opened, Fran Gordon and Horace Palmer, 1936 reserves, appeared to have the inside track. Since then the entries of a number of ambitious youngsters has complicated the situation, until today it appears that the job may go to anyone of half a dozen candidates.

Besides Gordon and Palmer, there are, for instance, Gene Brickmeyer, who has been coveting around in the backfield for two years without conspicuous success; Jack Kravnick, another non-letter reserve, who has been used heretofore at fullback and guard; Chuck Kline, a junior, and Jim Bryant, a sophomore.

Palmer and Bryant, however, are most frequently being tested at right end as an added support to Bershak. The logical choice for the left flank, therefore, seems to be between Brickmeyer, Gordon, Kravnick and Kline.

From the standpoint of size, the odds favor Gordon and Kravnick, each of whom stands six feet, two inches. Gordon, weighing only 173 is faster of the two. But Kravnick's 150 pounds give him an edge in size and durability.

Brickmeyer, who played some at halfback last season, is the fastest of the group. He stands six feet and weighs only 165. He has shown considerable improvement in pass snugging—a characteristic that made Dick Buck one of the most feared ends in Dixie for three years. Coach Ray Wolf frankly admits that he needs a good catcher to team with Ballhawking Andy Bershak.

A backfield prospect last year, Kline is being used at end for the first time. He is the least experienced of the quintet.

TAR HEELS WILL SPORT CLASSY TOGS THIS FALL
Chapel Hill, Sept. 9.—If you want to get a line on what the well-dressed football teams of 1937 will wear, it might be well to take a peek at the University of North Carolina gridgers.

When they open with South Carolina here September 25 the Tar Heels will step out in brand new silver satin jockey pants with a knitted strip up the back. On cold days they will wear light blue woolen sweaters with silver numbers on a background of midnight blue. On warm days they will wear white cotton sweaters with numerals done in midnight blue satin. This colorful attire will be topped with silver-colored helmets.

The prize pop-off guy in baseball is, of course, Dizzy Dean. But even Ditz has quieted down a bit since he has had the worst season of his career. Lee Grissom, the Cincinnati southpaw, is exceedingly cocky. The Rube Waddell of today, they've labelled him. A young giant with blinding speed, Lee took to baseball because he hated to work.

Early this season, after losing an early game by a single run, he walked up to Manager Chuck Dressen and said: "It was all a mistake, Chuck. When do I start another game? These guys are easy for me."

Mass Meeting of Farmers To Sound Direct Sentiment

Opinions on Crop Control and Extra Session to be Expresed at Gathering at State College

Raleigh, Sept. 7.—Several hundred farmers are today being sounded for their sentiment—ostensibly on crop control and an extra session of congress, but perhaps (and not such a big perhaps) on the record and candidacy of R. R. (Our Bob) Reynolds, junior United States senator.

Crop control and mass meetings are no strangers in North Carolina. The pair have been going around together now for several years attending several big parties.

This time it is the North Carolina Farm Bureau federation (E. F. Arnold, secretary) which has called the conclave and the men from the rural areas have gathered in Frank Thompson gymnasium to hear what Our Bob has to say about his ideas of what should be done about crops particularly cotton crops, though there's a sneaking suspicion that the senator is just now interested in next year's crop of votes almost to the exclusion of any other kind.

But be that as it may, the same old division in opinion among the farm folks has already developed in the meeting and there is no telling what will be done before the day's doings are part of past history.

Sponsors of the meeting have their resolutions all ready and most of them will go through with a whoop and a "holer" as such resolutions are almost sure to do.

Thereafter these resolutions will be urged on the agriculture committee of the senate, which will meet in Winston-Salem October 18 as the will of the farmers of North Carolina.

Whether or not that will be true is problematical as the meeting now in progress is the brain child of just one group. There is no official sponsorship of it from any branch of the government. The state department of agriculture stands wholly aloof, it being a well known fact that Commissioner W. Kerr Scott and Mr. Arnold are far from chums.

N. C. FARMERS MAKING PLANS

Grooming Prize Animals for Exhibition at State Fair

Raleigh, Sept. 9. — Farmers throughout North Carolina are grooming their prize animals and selecting their best farm products for entry in the annual State Fair, October 12-16.

Specialists of the State College extension service, the experiment station, and of the college of agriculture have been assigned important duties in arranging and judging the exhibits.

Aiding in the placing and cooping of the poultry exhibits will be T. T. Brown and C. F. Parrish, extension poultry specialists. These men are associate directors in their division.

Eight men from the college will be connected with the animal husbandry exhibits, usually one of the largest departments at the fair. E. H. Hostetler is superintendent of the horse and mule division; Dr. C. D. Grinnels is assistant superintendent of dairy cattle; C. B. Clevenger has been named superintendent of dairy products; J. E. Foster will have charge of beef cattle and sheep; H. W. Taylor will head the swine division; R. E. Nance is superintendent of the most department; and J. A. Arey and A. C. Kimrey will be connected with the dairy cattle exhibits.

Four - H Club work will occupy its usual place of prominence at the celebration, with the exhibits to be prepared under the direction of L. R. Harrill, State 4-H club leader, and Miss Frances MacGregor, assistant leader.

Attracting the eye of women visitors will be the home demonstration exhibits. This work has been placed in charge of Miss Willie Hunter, Miss Sallie Brooks, Miss Mamie Whitsnant, Miss Pauline Gordon, Miss Mary Thomas, Mrs. Cornelia C. Morris, and Miss Julia McIver. Miss Ruth Current, state home agent, will superintend the division.

and integrity demanded of public officials and declared his confidence that North Carolina's governmental functionaries are well endowed with all these qualities.

Department heads in turn rose and expressed their desire to cooperate with the Institute in its activities.

Black promises to be the favorite color for the 1937-38 winter season.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Stocks zoomed through the gloom clouds in today's market for recoveries running to four or more points.

Gains were well held near the fourth hour, but the comparatively large volume at the opening dissipated.

Although the texture of the Mediterranean continued disquieting and the Sino-Japanese conflict continued there was no particular turn in the skeptical attitude about a fall business pick up, many traders thought this week's slump called for at least a technical rebound and acted accordingly.

U. S. government securities and secondary carrier loans tilted higher. Transfers were around 1,400,000 shares.

SEES PROGRESS IN RURAL LIFE

(Continued from page one) than ever before." Dean Schaub comments in the report. "There have been times when the farm income was higher; but in terms of soil conservation, land use, balanced farming, self-sufficiency, good farm and home management, and better living, the state's farming industry is now in the best position it has ever been. Moreover the current trend augurs well for the future."

Only a limited number of copies of the report were printed but as long as the supply lasts, they are available on request. It is believed that the report will be of value to libraries and rural schools as a reference work since the material contained covers the whole field of agriculture in North Carolina.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—If President Roosevelt has a desire to run for a third term, he will be hard to stop in the Democratic convention.

Before the last political convention, circumstances would have been different. Then the southern states, together with a few from other sections, might have raised the necessary votes to stop him. They needed only one vote more than one-third.

But in the last convention the 100-year-old two-thirds rule was ended. In 1940 a simple majority of the delegates at the Democratic convention will be sufficient to nominate a candidate for President.

That is a worrisome prospect for those southern congressmen who went home upset at the trend the New Deal has taken. Any "stop Roosevelt" movement will have to be strong. The cotton and tobacco members aren't strong enough, they would need support of substantial northern and midwestern states.

Voting in the last congress indicated some northeastern and southern members—with substantial exceptions—had developed a distaste for the recent course of the New Deal. They may or may not reflect the sentiment of their voters. They hope to find that out this summer.

If they had suspected there would be any third-term fever in the air so soon, they might have put up stiffer opposition at the Philadelphia convention against abrogation of the two-thirds rule. But they didn't.

Incidentally, Borah, made a bad guess on adjournment. He accepted the invitation weeks ago to speak September 16 on the constitution. He thought then that congress would be fighting about the court until September 10. As a result he is having to swelter three weeks in Washington waiting for the date. Congress pulled out from under him August 21. And worse luck; the wing of the senate office building, where his suite is located is not air-conditioned. At times he could poach an egg on his desk. Undoubtedly he never has.

The British parliament passed the Quebec Act in 1774. The act recognized the Catholic faith and allowed the French inhabitants their civil laws and customs.
