SAYS SOVIETS WILL PUT STOP TO SUB PIRACY

Litvinoff Issues Warning To Nine-Nation Conference

TO ACT ALONE IF NECESSARY

Declares Russian Government Will Not Permit Its Property To Be Destroyed

Geneva, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Soviet Russia's foreign commissar warned the nine nation Mediterranean conference today that his country must and will take its own measures against the submarine pirates in that sea. This was interpreted as a threat of reprisal against Italy.

In an impassioned address not long after the nine powers met to adopt collective means of stopping the attacks on neutral ships Maxim Litvinoff of the Soviet Union cried: "The Soviet government cannot allow any one to destroy the state's property."

He linked these words with a thinly veiled accusation of Italy as a "pirate government." Everyone, he said knew whom he was talking about.

Then Litvinoff brought into the open that Italy will act alone if necessary to stop the pirate submarines. She has already accused Italy directly of sinking two of her ships!

After Litvinoff, Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, arose and expressed regret that Italy and Germany were not represented at the conference, but added this should not stop the conference from doing its duty. The conference went into secret session.

Meaning France and Great Britain had called on seven other powers to adopt by common accord a sweeping plan to annihilate the pirate submarines from the high seas.

Reveals Excellent Response To N. C. State Advertising

Paul Kelly Says More Than Two Thousand Inquiries Already Been Received

Chapel Hill, Sept. 10.—As a result of North Carolina's advertising campaign, for which $250,000 was appropriated by the last legislature, inquiries have already been received from more than 2,000 individuals or organizations in 46 states and 11 foreign countries, Paul Kelly, publicity chief and assistant director of the State Department of Conservation and Development, told the Chapel Hill Rotary Club in a talk at its meeting this week.

The largest number of inquiries are coming from the states of largest population, such as New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, as may be expected, he said.

To date advertisements have been run in Time and National Geographic Magazine and twice in 50 of the leading daily newspapers of the nation.

The objectives of the campaign, he said, are to bring to North Carolina tourists, home seekers, especially people with fixed incomes who may wish to retire; new industries which in turn will bring new payrolls and new sources of revenue.

The tourist industry is one of the three of four biggest industries in the country, it being estimated that four billions are spent annually by tourists, Mr. Kelly said. Virginia, he added, estimates it is getting 80 million dollars yearly from tourists, while North Carolina is said to be getting not more than thirty or forty millions.

Thirty-seven per cent of the tourist business is "repeat business" and 20 per cent of the tourists are keenly flattered by their friends, Mr. Kelly said.

Describing the methods employed to advertise the state, he said direct paid advertising, newspaper features sent out by the publicity bureau, illustrated bulletins and an information service are being relied on chiefly so far. A magazine that will present pictorially the state's chief selling points is to be issued regularly and placed on sale at an early date, and an industrial service division that will promote new industries, is to be organized, he said.

Half the states in the union are now carrying on advertising campaigns similar to North Carolina, among them being Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Pennsylvania and New York.

STUDENTS 'STRIKE' IN PROTEST AGAINST BUS RIDE

These youngsters want to go to school but they don't like the idea of getting up at 4:30 a. m. to ride a bus 15 miles to school. So they gathered at a little one-room school house near Knoxville, Tenn., determined to hold fast in their sit-down "strike" until their little school is reopened or a later bus is promised them. They are seen sitting tight on the steps of the closed school.

YOUNG DEMOS HOLD MEETING

Hear Governor And Others in Annual Session Today

Winston-Salem, Sept. 10.—(AP)—With harmony prevailing and amid a spirit of celebration of victories won, North Carolina's Young Democrats here today heard speakers paint vivid pictures of what they termed the success and benefits of government by Democrats. Hundreds from all parts of the state arrived last night and business was the order of the day after a morning tour of the tobacco factories.

D. L. Ward, member of the legislature from Craven county and executive committee, sounded the keynote with a challenge to young Democrats to read the record of the past and present state progress and the party's service to the people and "pledge anew your allegiance to our party which has done so much for us."

The party's leader Governor Clyde Hoey, climaxed the day with an exhortation to carry on the work of the Democratic party.

The chief executive outlined North Carolina's record of progress in emerging from financial depression and traced accomplishments of his administration.

"The young Democrats can find much of which to be proud in the history of America's triumph over the depression and mastery of problems challenging the very existence of Democratic principles. No state gives its citizens more for every tax dollar than North Carolina," the governor asserted.

Last night John Caffey, of Greensboro, announced that he was not a candidate for president of the organization and no announced opposition is seen to Arch Allen, of Raleigh, member of the legislature from Wake county. The election will be on Saturday.

Treasurer William Wellons of Smithfield, reported a healthy balance in the treasury and J. T. Graham, Jr., of Warsaw, national committee man reported on his work.

Art Institute For Greenville

Raleigh, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Eighteen art institutes for public school teachers will be held in various North Carolina towns from September 13 to October 2, Henry Highsmith, director of the division of instruction of State Department of Public Instruction, said today.

The institute, designed to give teachers additional teaching art instruction and promote an "art for every child" program will be held in Greenville September 14.

Johnston REA Appeal Badly Complicated Affair

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Sept. 10.—As counsel for the various principals in the tripartite Johnston county rural electrification row prepare to press their appeals to the Supreme Court it becomes more and more evident that this higher tribunal hearing is likely to be a really complicated affair.

To the lay mind this may seem strange in view of the fact that the issues can be very simply defined as: (1) The plaintiffs (three Johnston county farmers fronting the Federal REA) are appealing because Judge Henry Grady refused to stop the Carolina Power and Light Company from building lines in Johnston.

(2) The defendant power company is going up because Judge Grady said their contract with the directors of the Johnston county coop is a monopoly.

(3) The defendant directors of the coop are complaining because Judge

Announce Winners "Big City" Contest

The winners of the "Big City" contest, which was conducted by the Reflector and the Pitt Theatre, have been announced. Much interest was shown in the contest and numerous answers were received.

The winners, who are to call at the box office of the theatre for their prizes are as follows: The first prize of $5.00 goes to Mrs. W. L. Hall, 502 West Fourth street.

The second prize of $2.50 each go to Mrs. D. M. Clark, 407 Holly street, and Mrs. Frank J. Diener, 569 West Third street. The next seven names each of whom receive a ticket to "Big City," which is now showing at the Pitt Theatre, follow: Miss Annie L. Turner.

Edgar A. Denton, Columbia avenue. Mrs. J. A. Tyson, 902 West Fourth street.

Mrs. J. B. Kidd. Mrs. Milton H. White, 414 Latham street. Mrs. Sussie T. Webb, 127 Ridgeway street. Miss Lala Brantley.

BIG PLANS FOR COUNTY FAIR

Second Annual Exposition To be Staged By Legion

Final plans for the Pitt County Fair to be staged next month for the second time by the Pitt County and Farmville Posts of the American Legion, have been completed this week and already bill posters are busy covering the section while other crews are busily engaged in getting the new fair grounds ready for the event.

Last year the Legion staged the Pitt County Fair for the first time and while the Legion derived no profit for its labors the fair from an agricultural exhibit standpoint was one of the best put on here in years. This year the fair is offering $750 in premiums for agricultural exhibits and it is believed that this will cause many Pitt County farmers to again bring their prize products to the fair.

In addition to the farm exhibits the fair operators are planning a program that should meet the requirements of all. The midway will be occupied by Kaus United Shows, who last year brought one of the best carnivals to this city that has ever shown in this section. There will also be free acts of the highest type together with fireworks programs and other features that go to make up a full program for a county fair.

HEALTH DEPT. MAKES REPORT

Department Shows Much Activity During Past Month

Major activities of the Pitt County Health department for the month of August were: venereal disease clinics, maternal and infant welfare centers, tuberculosis follow up work and cafe inspections.

The statistics for contagious diseases show for August: diphtheria, 4 cases; typhoid fever 3 cases; paratyphoid 1 case; tuberculosis, 4 cases no scarlet fever; whooping cough or smallpox.

The attendance at two venereal disease clinics showed a falling off for the month of August as compared with July. For instance, the Farmville clinic had an attendance for July of 259 against 162 for August, while the Greenville clinic had 492 in July against 371 for August. It was the opinion that this falling off was due to the seasonal work in tobacco factories.

Last month's report (July) showed that the attendance at the maternal and infant welfare centers was much below that for the previous month of June. During August, however some of the lost ground was regained. For instance, the total attendance of mothers and babies for July was 41, while the attendance for August was more than doubled, there being a total of 87 patients present; 62 mothers and 25 babies. Attendance at the Well Baby clinic, for July 1; for August 5; grand total for August, 92 patients.

In connection with the tuberculosis follow-up work, this phase of the program was stressed during the past month. There were 62 follow-up visits for July against 93 in August.

The sanitary inspector, for the past month, gave special attention to hotel, restaurant and cafe inspections, having made a total of 53 inspections.

As per the suggestion of the Pitt County Medical society at its August meeting, the health officer has secured a certain amount of newspaper publicity in connection with the state law relative to the examination of domestic servants.

With reference to the proposed cancer control program for Pitt county, which was presented to the society in the health officer's regular monthly report as of July the 8th and endorsed by the society. A meeting will be called soon of the Public Health Relations Committee for the purpose of arranging this program.

At the meeting of the Pitt County Board of Health on August 13th the board endorsed the proposal of the local health officer that an effort be made to have the State Board of Health take the necessary steps to have Pitt county made a model malarial control county. Following a discussion of this question with Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, state health officer and Dr. R. E. Cox, director of the division of county health work, State Board of Health the matter was then presented to Dr. J. C. Knox, director of the division of Epidemiology, State Board of Health, who has agreed to make a malaria survey of the county in the near future.

On August 25th, Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, state health officer, appeared before the Greenville city Board of Aldermen in connection with a sanitation program. Following his discussion, the board acted on his recommendation and agreed to employ a city sanitary inspector on a cooperative basis with the state, the city supplementing the Pitt county health department budget and placing the inspector solely under the direction of the health department; this arrangement to go into effect as soon as it is practical to secure the proper man for this position.

DUKE POWER SEEKS REVIEW BY HIGH COURT

Would Prohibit Government Loans For Public Utilities

G-MEN PROBING NAZI ACTIVITY

Invocation of Neutrality Act Would Prohibit Export of Cotton, Wheat, Etc.

Washington, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The Duke Power Company appealed to the Supreme Court today for a second time in an effort to prevent the Federal Public Works Administration from making loans and grants for public owned hydroelectric plants. It asked the tribunal to review a decision by the Circuit Court of Appeals sustaining a $2,852,000 loan and grant to Greenwood County, South Carolina, for an electric plant at Buzzard's Roost.

The court already has agreed to review similar litigation brought by the Alabama Power company and the Iowa City Light and Power company to stop the government from supplying the money for projects in those two states. Argument of the latter cases probably will be heard next month and if the court consents to review the Duke case it likely will be argued with the others.

Meantime government officials said any future application of the neutrality act might seriously restrict export of certain things as cotton, wheat, scrap iron and automobiles as well as embargoing shipments of arms and ammunition. This is a possibility under the President's discretionary powers, they said.

Immediately upon invocation of the neutrality act by the President it would become unlawful to export arms, ammunition and implements of war to either of the belligerents. Similar prohibition would become effective against extension of loans or credit to either side of the conflict.

Elsewhere in Washington a disclosure that the Justice department was already investigating reported Nazi activities in the United States followed fresh demands for a congressional inquiry.

Egar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, said at Portland, Oregon, Attorney General Cummings ordered an investigation six weeks ago and was begun at once.

"We expect to make an extensive report on the Nazi matter but I cannot say when we will be ready to give the report to the Attorney General," Hoover said. "It will be several weeks because we are going into this matter very thoroughly."

Teachers To Get Increase In Pay

Raleigh, Sept. 10.—The state school commission decided yesterday, after a session lasting until 8 o'clock last night, to give teachers in the state a straight 10 per cent raise right down the line.

Salaries of principals and superintendents were also raised approximately 10 per cent but the raises in this instance will vary some in individual cases.

Under the new pay schedule, teachers with Grade A certificates and no experience will receive $96 per month and teachers with Grade A certificates and eight years experience will get $128.75. Those with one to seven years experience will receive salaries on a three-dollar scale for each additional year experience above the $86.

Under the former schedule, Grade A teachers with no experience received $87.50 a month and those with eight or more years received $112.50.

Salaries of city and county superintendents were revised and adjusted. Lloyd Griffin, secretary of the school commission, said, and the total earmarked for superintendents' wages was increased 10 per cent.

VICTIM OF 'WOMAN IN RED'

Paul Reeves, 25, shown with his wife, Myra, was found nude and dying of bullets shortly after a mysterious "woman in red" ran from his home at Iselin, N. J. Later Margaret Drennan, 20-year-old school girl, was arrested and confessed, police said, that she shot him. She claims he was the father of her unborn child.

PASS ELEVEN MILLION MARK

Local Market Has Paid Average Price Of $20.48 Cwt.

With already close to ten million pounds sold and with large offerings today the Greenville tobacco market is expected to reach or pass the 11,000,000 pounds mark with the end of the day's sales. While offerings this week have included a scattering of the better grades, the sales as a whole have been composed of the inferior qualities which is said to be holding the average price down to its present levels. To date the market has averaged $20.48 per hundred pounds.

Official figures on the market made public this morning by Supervisor K. W. Cobb showed yesterday's sales as 1,072,442 pounds for $220,716.74, an average of $20.58. Sales for the week ending yesterday were 5,085,508 pounds for $1,051,152.60, an average of $19.77. Season's sales through yesterday were 9,846,238 pounds for $2,016,447.86, an average of $20.48.

For the same week last season the market sold 2,863,700 pounds for $61,532.25, an average of $23.10. To the corresponding date last season the market had sold 4,363,006 pounds for $899,527.06, an average of $22.91 per hundred.

With the cooler weather warehousemen look for continued heavy sales next week and with the appearance of the better grades in larger quantities the daily average prices are expected to show an increase.

K. W. Cobb, market supervisor announced early this afternoon that all sales would be completed today and the market would begin the week with no block.

Resident of Ayden Community Dies

J. Stocks, Greenville; Marcellus Stocks, Greene county; William Stocks, near Greenville; Sam Stocks, Bell Arthur; Edward Stocks, Renston community; two sisters, Mrs. Rebecca Currier of Fajkland, and Mrs. Dolly Dall of the Renston community.

Say Payne Seen In South Carolina

Hemingway, S. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Officers of this section were on the alert today after Bill Payne, North Carolina prison farm fugitive, was reported to have been seen driving through here late yesterday in a blue sedan bearing North Carolina license plates.

Police Chief Walter Phillips said two Hemingway residents reported they saw Payne drive into a filling station and then continue toward Florence. They recognized him from his picture, they said. Chief McLaurin Burch, at Florence, was notified and his men were instructed to be on the lookout.

School Bus Routes In Better Shape Than Ever Before

Raleigh, Sept. 10.—The roads made to repair the ravages made by last winter's unusually cold and slushy weather.

Commenting on the expenditure of money on roads the highway commission chairman said that he has often heard much misdirected criticism of the fact that the state spends more upon its highways than it does on its schools.

"As a matter of fact, if we stopped spending money on North Carolina roads and let our state get back into the mud we would soon be unable to have more than a three-month school term," he said. Roads are really a paying investment for the state, he pointed out, and if it were not for the roads North Carolina would soon be absolutely unable to compete with other states or even to transact any large amount of business within its own borders.

CHINESE STILL HOLDING OWN AGAINST JAPS

Japanese War Machine Fails Break Thru Defenses

NEW ASSAULTS ARE UNDER WAY

Heavy Civilian Casualties; Americans Refuse To Abandon Fortunes in China

Shanghai Sept. 10.—(AP)—Japan's streamlined war machine struck at stubborn Chinese defenses on all fronts today placing Americans and other foreigners in serious danger from the spreading hostilities.

The new assault found China's army holding virtually the same positions as when the drive started August 13. United States marines guarding the northern boundary of the International settlement were endangered when a Japanese shell fragment ploughed into the heart of the barricade. Shrapnel sprayed the International settlement causing a number of civilian casualties.

High explosives rained down the Whangpoo, Shanghai's outlet to the Yangtze. One projectile narrowly missed a British destroyer, another whizzed close to the French flagship anchored across from Shanghai at Pootung.

Japan carried the warfare to southern Chinese ports with bombardment of Swatow. Americans took refuge on the U. S. gunboat Asheville.

The first 1,200 war refugees left Hankow for Canton with a prayer that their train would not be bombed.

On the northern front the powerful Chinese communist armies of General Tso-Tung were reported taking the field in two provinces to block Japanese advances.

Despite increasing danger many Americans insisted on remaining in China. It is estimated that 7,000 non-military United States citizens have not been evacuated. More than 2,000 Americans, mostly business men and their families, stayed in Shanghai with apparently no thought of abandoning their fortunes.

Rocky Mount Man Is Hold-Up Victim

Picks Picture Of Escaped Convict As One Of Those Taking Part In Robbery

Rocky Mount, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Leon Epstein, well known clothing merchant here, picked out the picture of Eddie Cobb, escaped convict, from police records this morning as most nearly resembling one of two white men who held up and robbed him last night.

The men forced him into a car, robbed him at the point of a pistol, he said, and released him in a Negro section of the town. The two men drove up to his house in a suburban section and held him up with a pistol when he went to the car. He said the robbers got only $1 for their effort.

Request For Troops To Stand, Says Judge

Marion, N. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Superior Court Judge Felix Alley said today he had refused to withdraw his request to Governor Hoey for National Guardsmen at the trial Monday of Mann Smith, Negro charged with criminally attacking a 13-year-old white girl.

Judge Alley requested the troops Tuesday after a white man, booked by Sheriff Grady Nichols as Frank Anderson, walked into the court room and slugged Smith with an iron pipe as he sat in the prisoner's dock during selection of a jury. A mistrial was immediately ordered.

Judge Alley said Marion citizens had requested that he withdraw the request, contending that troops were not needed. He said he denied the request because he held that he was solely responsible for order and protection of the defendant.

A Roommate's Problems Are All Little Ones

By JOAN DURHAM (AP Feature Service Writer)
You'd better give some thought to the roommate problem before you start for college.

Whether you have learned in advance who your roommate is to be or whether he or she is a perfect stranger when you meet in the dormitory you have a chance to form a beautiful friendship—or to wreck it—over trifles.

For the successful roommate is the product of hundreds of little extra efforts, all based on consideration for the other fellow.

Little efforts like saying "thank you" when your roommate leaves a note to tell you someone called while you were out, or being sure the note is accurate if you are the one who leaves it.

Little efforts like saving a piece of cake or candy from the folks at home especially for your roommate—picking up the papers that got scattered all over the room when you opened the window last night—emptying the ash trays now and then.

And if the other fellow lets fall the idea he would like to catch up on some lost sleep—you really don't have to be told these things, but you're likely to forget—it's not a bad idea to move to some other room with your late studying and let the other fellow sleep.

Above all, watch your borrowing. It starts to rain. You reach toward the accustomed hook to get your raincoat. It's not there—your roommate has borrowed it! Well, that's the sort of petty irritation roommates always are causing. It's unintentional but it's the beginning of the end of that beautiful friendship. So don't borrow—clothes, note paper, fountain pens, combs, powder puffs, any of the

"In cases of high blood-pressure not caused by serious organic disease, prolonged use of ALLIMIN Essence of Garlic-Parley Tablets in specified doses at prescribed intervals helps to lower blood-pressure considerably in most cases and also relieves associated headache and dizziness. It acts beneficially by dilating surface blood vessels temporarily and inhibiting intestinal putrefaction, often a contributory cause of high blood-pressure."

High Blood Pressure Sufferers

The above is from a scientific report by Dr. Frederic Damrau, eminent physician of New York City, telling of his experience with ALLIMIN Essence of Garlic-Parley Tablets, which Dr. Damrau used with highly satisfactory results in cases of high blood-pressure. The use of Essence of Garlic for relief of some of the most distressing symptoms of high blood-pressure is not new. Scientists the world over have reported highly satisfactory results from the use of garlic essence for this purpose. Now, ALLIMIN genuine Essence of Garlic-Parley offers these valuable ingredients to high blood-pressure sufferers in specially processed tablets that are free from objectionable taste and odor. They are on sale at good drug stores everywhere in two sizes—50c and $1.00. Be sure to ask for them by name and see that you get the genuine ALLIMIN, same as used by Dr. Damrau with such favorable results.

the dark ships

BY HULBERT FOOTNER

SYNOPSIS: When flashy Prescott Fanning Eyster Jr. from Belmont on his yacht, the gets word to Neill, a young federal agent who loves her. Dashing to Adams Harbor, he boards the yacht and finds, in a locked cabin, Fanning shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Neill hides her nearby in a dazed liner, then joins Mark Bonziger, keen local investigator, to keep tabs on developments. Learning from a party to the ship, Neill is seized and bound by a "hushy" opponent who wants to know where Fanning's "find" is. Neill sends him on a wild chase and is struggling to free himself when queer little Eyster comes, cuts him loose.

Chapter 23

Spy in Room 18

"WALK along in the edge of the pier so we can't be followed," Neill said.

After splashing through the shallow water for a hundred yards or so, they made a wide detour around the course that Neill's assistant had taken across the field and back.

"How did you find me?"

"Well, that's quite a story," said Eyster. "I was listening to you moving around in your room to-night."

"Listening where?"

"My room is number 15 next door to yours. I heard you come out and go down the back stairs and I followed."

"Why?"

"Well, it's just my way," said Eyster with his crazy grin. "I like to know what folks are up to."

"Go on," said Neill grimly.

"I soon found out I couldn't follow you without being caught at it. In the upper part of the village there wasn't a person moving. So I gave it up and came back to the hotel to wait for you. I waited and waited and you didn't come, so I went out again to look for you. It was only by accident that I found your tracks."

"How come?"

"Well, I had gone through the village when I heard the cop coming on his motorcycle and I went over the fence into the field alongside. I didn't want to be questioned. In that field I found your tracks where you had crossed and come back again."

"How did you know they were my tracks?"

"I have followed you before," said Eyster grinning. "There was another set of tracks coming back a hell of a big foot. Somebody had followed you."

"How do you know he had followed me?"

"Because in places his track pressed yours out."

"Pretty good. Go on."

"Well, the coming-back tracks brought me to a place where there had been a struggle. I picked up a flashlight there."

"It's mine," said Neill.

"Beyond that place I couldn't find your tracks; only the big man's. He went over the fence. I couldn't figure out what he had done with you. I looked around, and across the road I found where he had gone across another field and come back again. So I followed his tracks and came to the old ship and looked in her. Was I surprised!"

Neill's feelings were mixed upon hearing this. If the story was true, he owed Eyster a debt that could never be repaid. But was it true? The man had such a furtive, mysterious air that Neill couldn't trust him. Was it not possible that Eyster and the other were working together? The big man had changed his purpose perhaps, and sent Eyster back to free Neill.

"Do you know who attacked me?" asked Neill grimly.

"No. Do you?"

Neill was pretty sure then that he was lying.

"Well, I certainly am obliged to you for coming to my help."

Eyster laughed in his queer noiseless fashion. "Comes hard, don't it, to be beholden to me?"

Neill said nothing.

The village was asleep when they returned. They met nobody.

News Of The Girl

NEILL was up at six, sore in every joint. He anxiously consulted the mirror. His face was not as badly marked as he feared, for the man's blows had mostly fallen on bony places. But there was an ugly bruise on one cheek.

When he opened his door to go out he was aware that a door down the corridor moved a little and that an eye was applied to the crack. So the spy was still on the job. The number of the room was 18. Neill fiddled with his lock while he debated whether to force the door open and have a look at the man. He decided against it. On Janet's account he dared not risk a showdown.

He found Bonziger already busy with his ham and eggs in the dining room. He showed a calm front that filled Neill with envy. This case couldn't get under his skin. Neill himself was as tense as a hunted animal.

"Sit down!" said Bonziger. His stern face relaxed in a smile. Evidently he had decided to like Neill. It increased the danger.

"Thanks," Neill placed himself so that he could watch the bottom of the stairs. Nobody came down while he sat there. But there was the back stairway.

"Good God!" said Bonziger, when he got a look in his face. "What have you been up against?"

Neill seized on the first lie that offered itself. He recollected a roving resort. "I dropped into Kinney's for a drink last night and got in a little mix-up."

Bonziger frowned. "This is a focal option county, Kinney has no right to sell hard liquor. I'll speak to the sergeant."

"Don't do it," said Neill quickly. "You'll only get me in wrong with the bunch. Let's stick to the big case."

Bonziger shrugged. "I've been on the telephone half the night. They've given me a private wire into Longcope's office."

"Any news of the girl?"

"Plenty."

Neill looked up startled.

"No reliable news," said Bonziger. "I mean she's been reported from all over the state; from Silchester across the bay; from Lower Blenheim 30 miles up the river; from Baltimore and even from as far west as Frederick."

"She must be pretty spry."

"Sure. If it was all true, but such reports always spring up in a sensational case. They are started by people trying to horn in on it. The worst of it is, they've all got to be run down. The state police are doing it."

Neill bent on diverting his mind from the facts. "She must have got clear of this vicinity or else she's dead."

"Nothing in it," said Bonziger coolly. "In my opinion she's very much alive, and not a thousand miles away from here, either."

Neill looked at him, but the calm face gave nothing away.

"What was the report from Silchester?" Neill asked.

"A fisherman in the Cherry river, says that he saw a skiff rowing in from the bay at 6 o'clock on Wednesday with a woman sitting in the stern wearing a black wrap of some kind and a man rowing."

Neill helped the false clue along as well as he could. "The mouth of the Cherry river is 25 miles from here. That would make it about right if there was a strong pair of arms at the oars."

Bonziger was not impressed.

"Sure, but if the fisherman wanted to lie he could have worked that out from what he read in the newspapers yesterday."

Dope On Fanning

ARE you going to investigate?"

"Why should I? My job is here. I've got a good bit of dope on Fanning since I saw you."

"What's that?"

"I sent a photograph, measurements and fingerprints up to New York, and they have found him in their rogues' gallery. His right name is Lester Patchin, but he has used a string of aliases. Gill-edge swindler; get-rich-quick artist and so on. Has served a term in Massachusetts. Lately, police say, he has dropped out of sight."

"What was he doing in Baltimore?"

"That I can't tell you."

"Well, he wasn't there for his health."

"I believe you."

"What's the program for today?"

"I'm going out to the yacht to look things over."

"Want me to come along?" suggested Neill offhandedly. "Two pair of eyes are better than one."

"Sure, glad to have you!"

"I suppose you haven't identified the girl yet?"

"Not a clue!" said Bonziger. "That's the biggest mystery of all. Neill felt more like breakfast."

When they had finished, Bonziger went away to the store to receive a report. Wickes was in the hotel office counting the previous day's takings, and Neill lingered under pretense of lighting his pipe.

"Who you got in room 18?" he asked.

Wickes glanced at the register.

"Guy called Ira Buckless took that room Tuesday night. I put in a couple of other guys last night. Don't know their names."

"What like guy is this Buckless?"

"Dead. I couldn't tell you, mister. I got such a crowd!"

Neill went on to the store porch to wait for Bonziger. Horace Kettering came along with a cheerful greeting.

"Morning Wheatley!"

"Morning, Mr. Kettering."

"Look, Wheatley, my son was called up to town last night by the sickness of his wife. I hate to go fishing alone. Won't you join me today?"

"Thanks a lot," said Neill. "Certainly is kind of you. But this darn murder case is so interesting I can't tear myself away."

Kettering laughed. "Oh well, if you prefer murder to fishing, I can't do anything for you. Another day, I hope."

By order of the Board of Aldermen of the Town of Greenville.

J. O. DUVAL, Town Clerk. Sept. 10-17.

CRIMINALS SELDOM FIRE AGAINST 'DEAD SHOTS'

Colorado Springs, Colo.—(AP)—If you are a "dead shot," rarely will you have to "shoot it out" with a desperate criminal.

That is the theory of Maj. W. H. Drane Lester, assistant director of the federal bureau of investigation under J. Edgar Hoover.

"We have had to kill only nine criminals out of 12,000 captured in the last three years," he says. "The criminal, knowing we are capable of protecting our own lives, rarely chooses to shoot it out with us."

Harvard University has the largest endowment of any college or university in the United States. It amounts to $129,000,000.

FAIR TO GIVE FINE PROGRAM

State to Operate Own Exposition Again This Year

Raleigh, Sept. 10.—Probably the most imposing array of entertainment features ever presented by a North Carolina State fair will be offered visitors to the 1937 exposition which will be held in Raleigh October 12-16.

Manager J. S. Dorton revealed today that he is bringing back favorites of former years, while many new features will add sparkling innovations to the entertainment program.

With the fair back in the hands of the state, after several years of private management, Manager Dorton is stressing that emphasis will be placed on agricultural exhibits. He announced that premium books now on the presses, will be available soon, and that a sizeable increase in awards will be offered over last year's figure.

Nevertheless, Manager Dorton explained today, fair-goers also relish high class entertainment features, and in this first year of his management he intends to give the best that can be secured.

Headlining the week's entertainment program will be the appearance on Wednesday, October 13, of "Lucky" Teter and his Hell Drivers, fresh from a triumphal tour in Europe, where, as in North Carolina, their death-defying stunts on wheels left record-breaking audiences gasping. Teter's troupe of daredevils made their first appearance at the State fair last fall, and so thrilled a capacity crowd which spread his fame that Manager Dorton successfully arranged for their return next month. The Hell Drivers will appear only one afternoon during fair week.

A nightly feature before the grandstand will be "The Revue of Tomorrow," a sparkling stage show produced by George A. Hamid, maestro of outdoor entertainment. This new revue, making its southern premiere at the North Carolina State fair, is regarded as one of the highest class road shows on tour this fall.

PRE-HISTORIC MUMMY DISPLAYED IN CAVE

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Mammoth Cave's pre-Columbian mummy, thought by archaeologists to be the most interesting relic of the kind east of the Mississippi, is now displayed in a new moisture-proof case in the cave. It is shown a few feet from the spot in which it was found, the centuries before it was found, the national park service says. Suspended over the spot where the body was found is the five-ton rock which caused the death of the pre-historic miner.

On the midway will be Max Linderman's World of Mirth, bringing 20 thrilling rides and 22 novelty shows. This aggregation is prominently known for absence of objectionable features, a reputation which many exhibitions at North Carolina fairs have proven to be well-deserved.

Climaxing the fun and frolic features each night will be a spectacular display of fireworks, offering brilliant and intricate aerial designs as well as ground pyrotechnics.

On Saturday, a series of professional auto races will be run under the sanction of the American Automobile association. These speed contests will bring to the fast State fair oval some of the nation's most daring dirt track drivers.

Manager Dorton has arranged three race programs for lovers of horse races. Two events will be held each afternoon on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and entries will include horses and drivers from outstanding stables.

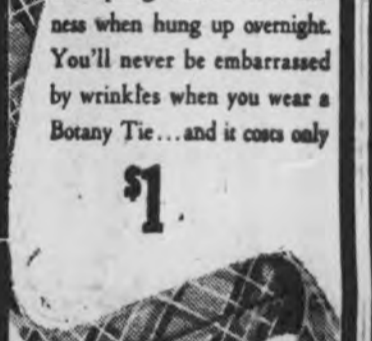

Phi Delta Theta fraternity has the largest membership of any national men's fraternity. Its present enrollment is over 45,000.

Snow Hill Wins Coastal Plain Loop's 1937 Championship

CURTAIN RUNG DOWN ON PLAY

Smallest Town in Organized Ball Gets 1937 Pennant

Snow Hill, Sept. 10.—The Billies of Snow Hill Thursday won the Coastal Plain League's post-season play-off to give the smallest town in professional baseball a sweep of honors in the Class D circuit.

The Billies won over Tarboro, 7-2, behind four-hit pitching of Cecil Longest, former Carolina hurler. It was the fourth triumph in five games played of the best-four-of-seven series and closed competition in the Coastal Plain's first campaign as a professional league. The championship is the first for Snow Hill, a member of the Coastal Plain during the league's semi-pro days. The series ended today was the first in which the club topping the league for season play emerged on top in post-season battling in the Coastal Plain.

D. C. (Peahead) Walker managed the Billies to top place in the regular campaign but had to report on his football job at Wake Forest before the Billies entered the finals against Tarboro. Aaron (Robby) Robinson, third-baseman, directed the club the rest of the way. Snow Hill eliminated New Bern in the semi-finals, and Tarboro put out Williamston's Martins. Williamson finished second in the league race; Tarboro third, New Bern fourth.

Longest's Second Win
Today's victory was the second in the finals for Longest, who pitched a win in last Saturday's series opener. The visitors bunched half of their four hits in today's game in the sixth to get their runs. With one out in that inning Soup Campbell walked. Henry's double scored Campbell. Rimmer grounded to Longest but Lehman singled to score Henry.

Tarboro's other hits—singles by Henry and Ware—came in the first and eighth innings. Myers, first batter of the game, was safe on an error. Ware and Campbell went out, and then Henry singled to send Myers to third. The Serps tried a delayed double steal, but Myers was thrown out at the plate—Wall to Mewborn to Wall.

How Billies Scored
Doubles by Hyder and Wall in the fourth opened the Billies' scoring. Mewborn's triple and Hyder's homer in the sixth gave the locals a 3-2 edge and, as it turned out, settled the game. Hyder, a right-handed batter, drove his homer over the right field wall.

Snow Hill made sure of the win with a four-run party in the 8th. Longest started it with a double. Mewborn hit to deep short and had the throw to first beat—the throw was wild and Longest scored. Free tickets to Hyder and Wall filled the bases, and Bernard Mooney was called in to replace Cassell as Tarboro's hurler. Robinson's fly to right scored Mewborn and Soufas' single scored Hyder and Wall.

Hyder and Mewborn each with a brace of hits accounted for half of Snow Hill's eight safeties. Frank Ware and Pee Wee Myers, keystones, featured afield for Tarboro. Ware handled 8 chances. Defensive stars for the locals were Rabb and Soufas.

Dwight Wall, outfielder who was forced to turn catcher when a hand injury forced Joe Bistrot out of action just before the series with Tarboro started, turned in great work behind the bat in the 9th. Acting Manager Robinson and all of the Billies have been giving thanks for the presence of the versatile Wall, former Wake Forest star, and the way he fitted in as catcher.

ACE PARKER'S PLACE FILLED

Eric Tipton Succeeds Portsmouth Boy on Duke Team

Durham, Sept. 10.—Eric Tipton, sophomore fullback on the Duke varsity last season steps into a pair of mighty big shoes this fall—those left by Ace Parker, the All-American halfback of 1936.

Tipton will be assigned most of the duties that Parker did so brilliantly last fall and while he is not expected to come up to the standard of the Ace, he is a fine all-around football player. It appears that Tipton will do most of the passing and he is being groomed to do the punting. He will play the left halfback post on defense that Parker starred at last season.

"Bijlu", as the boys call him for some unknown reason, was fullback on the second team when Duke opened the season with Davidson last year—rated by the coaches as a promising sophomore. In that game he stood out so brilliantly with the No. 2 outfit that he was shifted to the first team before the game was over and has been a regular performer ever since. With the rise of "Irish" Bob O'Mara to varsity fullback ranking last season, it was generally expected that Tipton would be moved to a halfback post this fall. Coach Wallace Wade made the shift in spring training.

Tipton punted in spring training and his work was satisfactory, but, of course, not up to the high mark of the great Parker's booming boots. But he is promising. He did some passing from his fullback post last year and was considered an able tosser. He runs a lot like Parker ran—cautiously, elusively and able to put on the steam when needed. He will run the same plays that Parker ran last season—and Duke followers hope he'll do just half as well.

On defense he is as good as Parker was. He has an uncanny ability to intercept passes and he is also great against running plays.

HE WINS $50,000—IN STAGE MONEY

Gary, Ind.—(AP)—Rudolph Dankewon $50,000 in a golf tournament here but his net profit was only nine new golf balls. The $50,000 was all stage money, won in bets with fellow competitors in Gary's $1,000,000 golf tournament. Taking a tip from the headlines given St. Paul's $5,000 open and Chicago's $10,000 open, Herb Walter, pro at the Gleason park course conceived the "1,000,000 tournament." He gave each player $10,000 in stage money at the start. They were to bet it on their games or shots by other players and the fellow finishing with the most money won the tournament. There were such bets as $1,000 for the first eagle, $100 for the first ball holed out on each hole and, in addition, the foursomes made up forfeits whereby players who drove on to the wrong fairway had to pay the others $100 each. A lost ball cost a player $200 and he also had to pay $100 to each man who helped him hunt for it. Most of players wound up broke.

Here Are 1937 Football Rules

New York (AP)—In case it has slipped your mind, they've changed the football rules again. At its 1937 meeting, the rules committee was anything but radical. But there are four things you fans must remember: 1. Kickoff—only one will be allowed. If the ball is kicked out of bounds, it is to be put in play by opponents on their own 35 yard line, or 10 yards in from the point where it crossed the sidelines—whichever is more advantageous. 2. Numbers—are required on both front and back of all players. 3. Receivers—of forward passes get less protection. "It must be remembered that defensive players have as much right to the ball as the eligible opponents and bodily contact, however scored between players who are making a 'bona fide' attempt to catch or bat the

POLO FOR HEALTH

—By Pap'

SPORT SLANTS

Tradition has it that polo, originally known in Persia as "Chugan," was originated by a court physician more than two thousand years ago. Faced with the precarious task of keeping an exacting Persian monarch and his court followers in good health he abandoned the usual practices of the day, such as blood-letting, which was recognized as the cure-all of his time, and invented the game to supply exercise for his sovereign.

He advised his supreme majesty that he had discovered a "medicine stick" which, if used strictly in accordance with instructions, would transmit health and happiness through its medicated handle.

In the excitement of the game ailments were forgotten, at least momentarily. Even when the inevitable muscular tortures gripped the participants the following day the medicine man stood his ground and by cracking the lash of fear and superstition over the backs of his charges, managed to hold them to their task long enough to work the kinks out of their muscles. Eventually their energetic wielding of the "medicine sticks" at "Chugan" restored health and strength to the ruler and his court. And don't think for a moment that the Emperor failed to see that the inventor of the "medicine stick" was amply rewarded for the great service he had rendered.

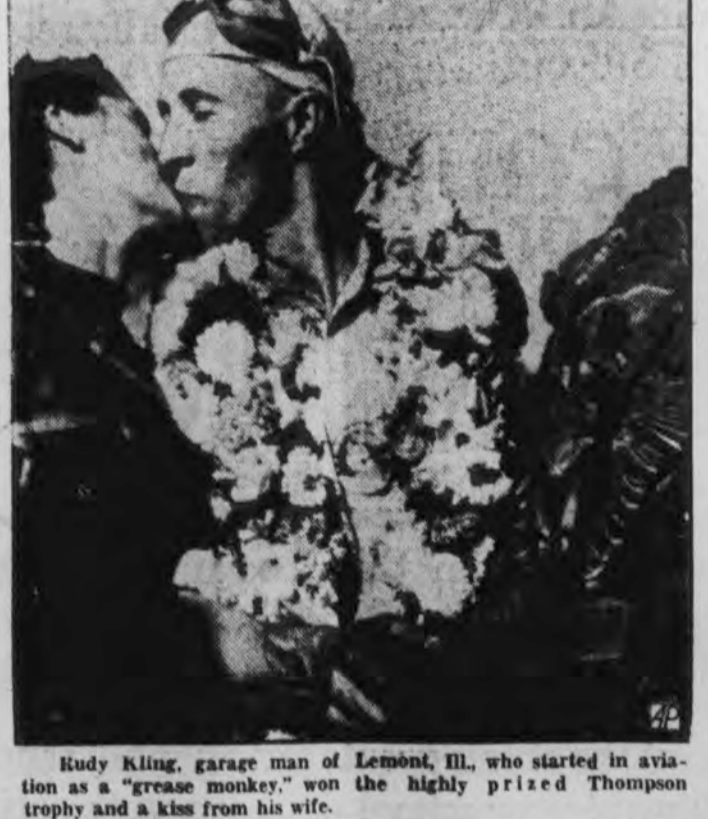

England passed the game of polo on to this country. In 1876 the late to the exalted personage might wield it with vigor. Each ailing member of the court was presented with a "medicine stick" and mounted on the smallest horse available and instructed in the art of impelling a small wooden ball, in spite of opposition from the "evil spirits," toward a certain goal which was designated as the "gateway of health."

over from London a number of forage caps, jerseys, mallets and wooden balls. He and several of his associates tried the new game at Dickel's Riding Academy in New York. Shortly after, the players formed the Westchester Polo club. And that was the beginning.

$3.50 For a Full Year's Subscription

No Prize Contest or High Pressure Campaign

In order to add new readers to The Reflector, we contemplated putting on a newspaper prize contest, but after careful consideration we have decided for a limited period to allow our subscribers a 30 per cent saving on the regular subscription price, which represents the commission we would have to pay a contest manager should we put on the old form of prize contest. The $1,000 or more that would have gone into prizes in the contest we are going to distribute to the Pitt County Schools in liberal commissions on all business turned in by the individual schools, during the limited period of this special offer.

— ACT NOW —

If you want to save $1.50 on the price of the paper and help your school you must act now as we reserve the right to terminate this offer on 24 hours' notice.

While subscriptions at this rate are acceptable either by mail or at our office, all subscribers who wish the schools of their community to receive credit for the subscriptions must turn them in through their schools as no credits will be allowed on subscriptions paid direct to our office.

— ONLY COUNTY SCHOOLS —

The distribution of commissions applies to the County Schools only, the City of Greenville Schools not being included in the offer.

— OLD AND NEW —

While we want new subscriptions, we likewise are grateful for our large list of old subscribers and we are including them in this special offer by accepting either new or renewal subscriptions at this special rate of $3.50 a year for distribution by either mail or carrier in Pitt County.

If you want to take advantage of this great saving mail, send or bring your subscription to this office now, or if you want your school to share in the offer, turn it over to a representative of your school.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Crow
 Washington—Our hero for this week is Michael J. McDermott, Secretary Hull's chief of public information. He preserved the state of confusion at the state department. In his usual deep-southern diction, Secretary Hull told a press conference that Admiral Yarnell, in charge of the U. S. fleet in China waters, had warned all Yankee merchant vessels to stay out of Shanghai.

It was important news: It meant, in effect, that the navy was putting much of the neutrality act into effect without the formality of a Presidential proclamation. A major purpose of the neutrality act is to keep American ships out of danger zones.

Now, contrary to film thrillers, reporters don't grab paper and begin noisily to scribble notes when important announcements are made. Such a demonstration might startle the news source into qualifying, or recalling his statements.

But at Secretary Hull's elbow stood McDermott. He is always there at press conferences. He said nothing. His face at such conferences usually is as bland and expressionless as a pan of milk. But at Hull's statement, several of the McDermott minor facial muscles twitched.

The conference ended and McDermott followed Hull back into his office. Evidently he asked Secretary Hull if he had received confirmation of such a blanket order against American shipping. And evidently Secretary Hull must have decided instantly that it was not wise for him to say so. It would have meant that the state department was joining with the navy in putting part of the neutrality act into play.

At any rate McDermott sailed out of the office, his parachute spinnaker full in the wind. He crashed into the press room. Several reporters already were in telephone booths dictating stories into their offices. McDermott kicked open the doors. "Hold everything," he shouted. Everybody held everything.

AIR SUICIDE WRECKS KITCHEN

The body of Raymond L. Corlett, 37, is shown lying beneath debris in the kitchen of Mrs. Louise Carson at Los Angeles shortly after he took his own life by jumping from the cockpit of an airplane several hundred feet overhead. In his fall, he crashed through the roof and partially wrecked the house. Pilot William Gage fought desperately to keep Corlett from leaping.

Then he explained that what Secretary Hull meant was that he had received information that Admiral Yarnell had told the Dollar liner President Hoover to stay out of Shanghai. Yarnell also had cancelled the calls of other Dollar liners which had been asked to evacuate Americans from the war zone.

Dispatches continued coming from Shanghai that Yarnell had told all ships to stay out. But Hull next day and the day after continued saying he had no additional news on the subject. It was confusing as everything, the navy saying one thing and the state department only half as much. But it was a bit of confusion the department had to preserve in order to justify its delay in officially putting the neutrality act into effect.

Actually while the state department continued "watchfully waiting," affairs were coming to a head. Senator Pittman of Nevada, chairman of the foreign relations committee, said two conditions must develop to justify putting the neutrality act and its arms embargoes into effect. One nation must set out to conquer another. And the war-fare must interfere with American shipping.
