Insurgent Break Through Lines Of Biscayan Defense

Planes Smash Resistance South Europa Mountains

LOYALISTS STALL MARCH ON GIJON

Asturians Retreat From Mountain Pass And Then Launch Vigorous Offensives

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Spanish insurgents today broke through hard-fighting government lines in Leon province and advanced six miles toward the government's Biscayan defense positions.

Insurgents said their airplanes smashed resistance south of the Europa mountains in a renewal of large scale fighting. The attacking column is seeking to join insurgent coastal forces in an assault on Ribadesella, eastern gateway to the ultimate insurgent objectives in Asturias.

Earlier guerilla warfare stalled the insurgent march toward Gijon, last government stronghold in north Spain.

Border dispatches reported that band of Asturian defenders adopted new strategy to halt the forces moving through the northern mountains toward the Sella river to mop up the last government resistance on the Bay of Biscay.

The Asturians retreated from their mountain positions and then launched vigorous attacks, attempting to surprise the insurgent advance guard.

Small bands of Asturians swooped down on the main columns ambushing outposts and sniping at the main lines. Reports from both contending forces said little change had come about in the battle lines, however, with insurgents still about 50 miles from Gijon.

Government reports declared defending troops were stubbornly resisting and had repulsed four insurgent attacks under a heavy artillery barrage.

Later the insurgents took advantage of fog blankets to move toward the government positions again, but were said to have been thrown back in bitter hand to hand fighting that inflicted many casualties.

Large Number Of Week-End Arrests

More than 20 names were placed on the police blotter at police headquarters during the weekend, and although not all of the cases were tried this morning, the session of police court was one of the largest in several weeks.

Oliver Gibbs and Joe Valentine, Negroes, were taxed with the costs upon conviction of engaging in riotous and disorderly conduct and mutually assaulting each other.

The following white defendants were convicted of drunkenness and fined or taxed with the costs: Levy Evans, Willis Fleming, Gus Schaff, John Harrington, G. B. Wiggins, Mack Cason and Richard McLawhorn.

One Negro, Jesse Speight, was taxed with the costs upon conviction of public drunkenness.

Preparations Completed For Opening Middle Belt

Raleigh, Sept. 13.—North Carolina's Middle Belt tobacco markets will open September 16 with indications that 95,000,000 pounds of tobacco will be sold. W. P. Hedrick, tobacco specialist of the State Department of Agriculture said today.

After making a tour of the belt, Mr. Hedrick said that preparations for the opening are practically complete.

"Tobacco sold in the middle belt last season averaged 23.17 cents per pound," he added, pointing out "if the prices paid in the eastern belt are indicative of the prices to be paid in the middle belt the farmers will be pleased."

COUNTY SAVES BY ABC PROFIT

General Fund Reduced Despite Increase In Needs

The fact that Pitt county residents are realizing a saving through profits derived from the sale of liquor by the legal liquor stores was emphasized today by county officials when they revealed that a reduction was made in the per centage of tax money set aside for the general fund despite the fact that appropriations have increased.

Fourteen cents of the 90 cent rate was appropriated to the general fund in 1935. In 1936 revenue from liquor profits enabled the commissioners to reduce the fund five per cent, this amount being made up by the liquor stores. This year the general fund rate was reduced to five cents, three cents under the figure last year.

Officials said these reductions were equivalent to 20 cents in the tax rates, appropriations having increased some $12,000. It was officially stated that had there been no additional levies for new items and no increase in general fund appropriations the tax rate would be 65 cents instead of the present 85 cents.

The last fiscal year the ABC board turned over $20,000 to the county general fund. This year the board will turn over $40,000, half of which already has been delivered.

In addition to the three cents reduction in the general fund this year through use of liquor profits, nine and one-half cents was set aside for Social Security costs, making a total of 12 and one-half cents saved through applying profits from the sale of liquor to the general fund.

At the close of this year the ABC board will have turned over $40,000 to the county, it now has paid up stock of about $60,000, has fixtures valued at $10,000 and also has about $25,000 in cash on hand for operating costs, making a total of approximately $155,000 realized since the stores were opened.

The 85 cent county-wide tax rate for the county is divided as follows: general fund, five; county home, two and one-half; poor and relief, three; health department, three; maintenance, seven; debt service, 55; and social security nine and one-half.

White Man Jailed By Two Patrolmen On Liquor Charge

Officers Williams and Smith Arrest Durham County Man With 40 Gallons Liquor in Auto

State Highway Patrolmen H. B. Smith and C. R. Williams Saturday afternoon arrested a man they booked as M. M. Rigby of Creedmore near Durham, on a charge of transporting illegal whiskey for the purpose of sale.

Forty gallons of whiskey, in five-gallon tin containers, were found in the car, the officers said. The officers also said a loaded automatic shot gun was in the vehicle. They said Rigby claimed he had been hunting, but declared they put little credence in his statement.

The alleged rum-runner was in a small sedan when captured by the officers, near Grimesland.

The officers said they had Rigby's son up on a similar charge several months ago after he had been taken in custody while hauling a load of whiskey through Greenville.

Water And Sewer Needs Explained In Statement

State Railroad Reports Deficit

Raleigh, Sept. 13.—(AP)—President H. P. Crowl of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad, reported to Governor Hoy today that the line last $6,633.38 on its July operations, but had a profit of $18,106.81 for the first seven months of this year.

The state owns controlling stock in the corporation which runs the railroad.

Crowl said the July net receipts lacked but $7,249.15 equaling those of July, 1936, and a profit was shown but that net receipts for seven months were $50,704.39 ahead of the same period last year.

He said efforts were being made to secure freight for the railroad and that he had been promised some of this business for the coming fall and winter.

He forecast a better showing for August.

Improvements Necessary to Keep Up With Progress

Martin Swartz, superintendent of the Greenville Water and Light commission, today issued a statement outlining the proposed improvements to be made in the sewer system is a bond election is set for next October 4.

He listed the projects and cited the necessity for each and also outlined needed improvements for the water system, with special reference to the lack of water pressure to combat fires in certain sections of the city.

Attention was called to the fact that the interest and principal would be retired by the commission, with no extra cost to the taxpayer. Mr. Swartz added that he or any of his office force would be glad to explain the proposals to anyone desiring more information. The statement follows:

Sewer Project No. 1.

In 1923, $50,000.00 in bonds was issued to install sanitary sewer service in the territory east of Stender street to the city limits at that time and install sewer service in the territory south of Ninth street and east of Cotanche street to the city limits. It was impossible to drain the sewerage on either of the above territories into the present main. Permission was granted by the state board of health and East Carolina Teachers college to connect the system serving the first project into the college sewer system which was collected into a temporary septic tank at Twelfth street and Green Hill Run to take care of the second project. The two septic tanks were only a temporary disposal system, allowed by the state board of health providing that at a later date, the outfall would be built up Green Hill Run eliminating the two septic tanks.

Several months ago, we were forced by the state board of health to lay approximately 3,500 feet of outfall line along Green Mill Run to eliminate the two septic tanks which were creating a very unsanitary condition, but this short outfall line only removed this unsanitary condition off the college property and is now dumping the raw sewage into Green Mill Run east of the college property. The state board of health is demanding that this sewage be piped down Green Mill Run below the cemetery and dumped into Tar river.

Sewer Project No. 2.

In order to serve the territory south of Fourteenth street, Watauga and Rideway avenues to the new city limits, which you will note the greater part of this territory has been inside the city limits for some time, and there are domestic manufacturing and business houses located on this property that were entitled to sewer convenience several years ago had it been available, it is necessary to extend the present outfall from Fourteenth street and Green Mill Run following the run and ravine south of the Norfolk and Southern railroad through the Bamma up to Dickson avenue, crossing the Norfolk and Southern railroad before reaching the Cotton Mill property with the branch line to serve the territory now occupied by the Gulf Oil company, Harvey's Oil company, a filling station and several residences that are not available to the sewer service under the present system, also making available all undeveloped property in this area.

Sewer Project No. 3.

At the present time, the sanitary sewer serving all property west of

LEAGUE MEETS TO HEAR SPAIN ACCUSE ITALY

Rebuffs Attempt To Unseat Spanish Government

BRITAIN, FRANCE ASSEMBLE FLEETS

Unconfirmed Reports Declare Pirate Sub, With Crew Alive, Crippled in Sea

Geneva, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The League of Nations rebuffed an attempt to unseat the Spanish government from its assembly today at the outset of a tense closely-guarded session which is to hear a Spanish accusation of Italy as a Mediterranean pirate power.

While the assembly met, France and Great Britain assembled a mighty fleet of 60 men of war to drive mysterious raiders from the island sea. Already there were unconfirmed reports from Spanish Cartagena on the Mediterranean that a pirate submarine, her crew still alive, lay blasted and crippled under the water.

The Spanish insurgent general, Francisco Franco in a letter to the league contended his government was the only one representing the will of the Spanish people.

But the league credentials committee decided credentials of the Valencia delegation were in order and the assembly seated it.

The assembly likewise spiked any Mussolinian hope that the league would expel Ethiopia from membership. No voice was raised against Ethiopia during the session of the credentials committee.

Neither Italy or Ethiopia was represented by a delegate, but the deposed Emperor, Haile Selassie, sent a letter expressing his continued "stay in the league."

Adams, manager of the Rocky Mount, North Carolina office of the Social Security Board, located in the Municipal building, announced today that effective September 15 the Rocky Mount office will assume the full load of typing all Social Security account numbers for the twenty counties served by that office.

The Rocky Mount office has for some time been giving over-the-counter service on applications received locally, but the new set-up will greatly enlarge their service and will facilitate the handling of account numbers for all employers and employees located in the territory served by that office.

All applications for Social Security account numbers from Pitt County should be sent direct to the Rocky Mount office.

FOES FOLLOW HARD ON HEELS

Defenders Continue to Hold Fast, However, and Engage In Furious Covering Action to Protect Establishment of New Positions in Shanghai Area

Shanghai, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Under heavy fire from Japanese land and sea batteries, the Chinese army abandoned the hotly-fought Kiangwan salient north of Shanghai today and withdrew all forces to the powerfully fortified second line of defense stretching from Shanghai, 25 miles to the northwest.

The Chinese retreat was orderly and strategic to prepare positions which they expected to fall back on as soon as the full force of Japan's mechanized advance surged against them.

The Japanese followed hard on the heels of the retreating Chinese and quickly occupied the far eastern course and the now completely ruined Kiangwan civic center. The Chinese had held the area for a full month against the fiercest Japanese assaults.

Thrusting hard against the center of the Chinese first line at Yangchang, the Japanese rushed up reinforcements in an effort to turn the withdrawal into a rout. The Chinese held fast, however, and fought a furious covering action to protect the establishment of new positions.

All day Sunday and all last night the battle raged through Yangchang. Not a house in the strategic village 10 miles north was left standing. Observers said it was the bloodiest fighting of the five weeks old battle of Shanghai, which is estimated to have taken a toll of 50,000 killed or wounded Chinese and Japanese troops.

The first group of American refugees to flee Shanghai aboard a U. S. warship was evacuated to Hongkong today by the Sacramento. There were 23 persons in the group, of which 18 were indigent being cared for under the emergency congressional appropriation of $500,000.

New Vehicles For State Patrolmen

New, shiny, silver-painted coupes and reconditioned roadsters were in the hands of State Highway patrolmen today, officers in this troop having gone to Raleigh this morning to get the vehicles.

Lieut. Lester Jones said 24 cars had been assigned to his division. This will provide a car for almost every man in the troop. At present there are only 27 patrolmen in the division, but three more are expected to be added in the near future.

The new cars have been equipped with radio receiving sets and the old ones are expected to be outfitted with the equipment this week. While the cars are equipped with the sets, the patrol radio system is expected to be put into operation throughout the state.

SEEK INCREASE USE PEANUTS

Representatives of Industry Attend Capital Meet

Washington, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Agriculture Department officials discussed today with more than 100 representatives of the peanut industry a program looking to increased use of peanuts for non-edible purposes.

The program, similar to one established for the 1935 season, would provide federal help in diverting peanuts from the normal channel of trade principally into oil and by products.

It would authorize payment to associations or corporations for such diversion as one means of stabilizing the price and supply of peanuts.

Tentative plans for the program were outlined to the industry representatives by F. R. Wilcox, director of the agricultural adjustment administration marketing division, and other AAA officials. States represented were Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Texas.

The Atlantic Coast Line railroad is being dumped in Tar river in the ravine near the gas plant, which 440 feet down the river from our intake of the water plant, there are also outfalls emptying into Tar river at Pitt, Green, Washington, Evans and Cotanche streets. During the minimum low stages of the river and the tide coming in there is an up stream current which makes it possible for sewage from these outfalls to go up stream to the water intake and pollute our water supply. The state board of health and your Water and Light commission think it essential that this condition be changed. Therefore, we plan to collect these outfalls into a main outfall dumping them approximately 3500 feet farther down the river.

For these three major projects the Water and Light commission has asked the Board of Aldermen to issue $20,000.00 in bonds. These projects do not benefit any one particular person but are essential in order that sanitary conditions of Green Mill Run and Tar river may be bettered in that territory inside the city limits of Greenville and adjacent to the city limits that may be taken in later and to give them the convenience, which they are entitled to, of sanitary sewer.

Approximately 35 years ago, the Town of Greenville issued bonds to install a water system, standpipe and pumping station. We have outgrown the old pumping station several times and at the present time, there is no original piece of equipment at the pumping station. The water mains or water system was very intelligently planned, because at the present time they are adequate to take care of the underwriters requirements in the business section and tobacco town, that is, all territory between Eleventh street and the river. Our fire department several times in the past have called on neighboring towns for extra equipment and at all times they found the water supply was adequate. The standpipe is getting in bad condition, several leaks have appeared and as these leaks are stopped others appear, due to rusting away of the steel and the rivets at the joints. The standpipe is 110 feet high, holds approximately 250,000 gallons. After the water is lowered approximately 30 feet in the standpipe, the pressure is lowered to such an extent that the balance of the water in the standpipe is of no value until additional water is pumped in raising the water level in order to get the required pressure, which means, that only approximately 70,000 gallons of water out of the 250,000 is of any value. A fire lasting two hours and three jumpers fighting this fire will consume 350,000 gallons of water. Should any part of our pumping station fail during a fire, you can readily see the present standpipe is of no value.

Beginning the year 1920, revenue earned by your electric plant, was used for extending the water mains in the territory taken in by extending the city limits of sufficient capacity to supply one pump serving two lines of hose which is ample to take care of the average dwelling in this territory up to a few years ago. In the territory south of Eleventh street and south of Columbia avenue we now have such buildings as West End school, Keels warehouse, Orange Crush Bottling company, Garris-Evans Lumber company and Tobacco Storage houses, filling stations, grocery stores and fertilizer plants. Should any of the larger buildings in this territory catch on fire the present water supply would only be ample to take care of one pumper and should there be a strong wind this amount of water would not keep the fire from spreading much less put out the burning building. To properly remedy this condition it is necessary to put a minimum of one-half million gallons of water in overhead storage and to install mains necessary to distribute this water to hydrants located near the larger buildings to take care of this emergency and to extend fire protection to people inside the city limits living east of Eastern street we are asking the issuance of bonds in the amount of $150,000.00. This makes a total of $150,000.00 that your Water and Light commission is asking for, in order, that they may install the above mentioned equipment in best service possible to the citizens of Greenville. The interest and principle of the above mentioned amount will be paid out of revenue of the Water and Light departments which means no extra revenue on the tax payer.

Candied sweet potatoes have a distinctive flavor if they are sweetened with honey. Sprinkle a few cashew or Brazil nut fragments over the tops just before serving.

For storing melon pieces in the refrigerator, wrap them in waxed paper held in place with rubber bands. This will keep the flavor from permeating such mild flavored foods as milk and butter.

BY HULBERT FOOTNER

SYNOPSIS: Abducted from Baltimore on Prescott Fanning's yacht, Janet gets word to Neill, a young federal agent who loves her. He dashes to Abalom's Harbor, boards the yacht and finds, in a locked cabin, Fanning shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Neill hides her nearby in a dioxied liner, then joins Mark Bonniger, keen local investigator, to keep tabs on developments. Despite Janet's disapproval, Neill thinks she shot Fanning until he finds proof a man was hiding in a closet on the yacht. Then he suspects queer little Eyster, who hated Fanning. Also in the picture are Kettering, a Baltimore lawyer down to fish, and a huge tough who has been trailing Neill.

Chapter 25 Sly Little Eyster

WHEN they went ashore, Neill, moving through the crowd, never ceased looking for a man six feet tall weighing considerably more than 200 pounds. He would be a roughly-dressed, unwashed fellow, and he had an impediment that caused him to breathe noisily. Once he heard him speak, Neill would know him.

The day's mail had just been distributed and everybody was immersed in the newspapers. The many columns on the "yacht murder" and the spread of photographs gave the villagers the pleasant feeling of having become famous overnight.

Bonniger went back to his work in the office, and Neill entered the hotel. He took a look into his own room on the top floor and found, as he expected, that it had been entered in his absence. He had arranged the few articles he had bought for himself, so that he would know if they were moved. He had locked the door on leaving, but the lock was of the cheapest sort and he would not have been to go out and hail a taxi and tell him Abalom's. Seemed like a good place to sober up, see?"

This was obviously an invention and Neill disregarded it. "How did you learn so quick that Fanning was here?" he asked.

Eyster looked innocent and sly. "I didn't know Fanning was here till I got here."

"Remarkable coincidence."

"Yeah," said Eyster, "just as remarkable as you coming on the bus that afternoon."

Neill laughed. "But you said you had made arrangements to follow Fanning."

"Oh, I was just talking big then. Neill tried another line. "You seem to like me, Eyster."

"I do, I do," he said quickly and it seemed to be genuine. "You're a dandy fellow, Wheatley! Keen as a whip! I'd do anything for you."

"Why?" said Neill.

Eyster turned sly again. "I guess you know that," he said.

"I swear I don't."

"Don't you remember what I told you in the hotel?"

"You just said you were talking big."

"I mean before that. . . I told you what my purpose in life was. Well. . . you carried it out."

Neill stared at him, wondering if he had heard right.

Eyster's lips curled back. "I've only got one thing against you, Wheatley—you killed him too quick. He didn't even see it coming. If it was me, I would have strung him up by his thumbs and tortured him slow. You know, gone back to it again and again. God! wouldn't it have been sweet to see the look in his eyes when I come back to him?"

Neill asked himself if this was madness or part of a deep game that the little man was playing.

Eyster's face fell. "But what could a poor shrimp like me do? I was afraid of him. I was afraid even to let him see me. I had to have a big fellow like you to do the job for me; a strong fellow—and tual goods over exports. The amount of tourist expenditures abroad, shipping service charges and other "invisibles" so far this year is not known. The department believes it is far in excess of the amount payable to the United States, so the "adverse" balance of trade will be fairly imposing, perhaps several hundreds of millions.

But, the appearance of an "adverse" balance of trade does not mean that the republic is falling. England has had an adverse balance of trade in merchandise for generations. It has made up the difference by supplying shipping service and capital to other countries, while at the same time enticing tourists to spend lavishly in dear old England.

Foreign nations in debt to the United States can pay only in goods or services. And they can not amass a margin to pay the debts if they are required to buy from the United States as much as they sell it.

Of course there are boat loads of argument on both sides of the question as to whether a permanent "favorable" balance of trade is beneficial to a nation.

The department of commerce supplies information helping to throw a favorable light on the present trade deficit. This country is better off, so is able to buy more abroad. One of the indications of good times here is the increase in American tourist travel abroad.

Then, too, currency devaluations abroad have reduced the cost to America of foreign goods. Because these prices are low, American manufacturers are buying foreign raw materials heavily. Ultimately foreign prices are sure to rise, so American manufacturers, with supplies of cheaper raw materials bought in advance, can undersell foreign goods later.

It is noteworthy, in support of this, that the principal increase in imports to this country is in raw materials, such as rubber, part of which will be later exported as finished goods.

The department of commerce insists also that the trade pact is helping break down trade barriers, but that is something likely to be a subject of political wars for years to come.

MARTIN PLANS FOR BIG FAIR

Williamston Exposition Set for October 5-9

Williamston, Sept. 13.—A sparkling program of entertainment has been arranged for the Williamston Fair, which will be held October 5-9, Resident Manager Harvey Walker announced today. A number of outstanding attractions have been secured through the efforts of General Manager Norman Y. Chambliss of Rocky Mount and George A. Hamid of New York, internationally known showman who is the world's most prominent producer of outdoor entertainment.

While the agricultural angle of the fair is being stressed, Manager Walker emphasized that high-class entertainment is a major factor in any fair's success.

So that all children of Martin and surrounding counties might have every opportunity to visit the Williamston Fair, Manager Walker announced that Tuesday, October 5, opening day of the fair, has been set aside as Children's Day, and every youngster who comes to the main gate before 4:30 p. m., will be admitted free.

Outstanding feature of the Williamston Fair will be the return engagement of "Lucky" Teter and his Hell Drivers, fresh from a triumphal tour of Europe during which new death-defying feats were added to their program. A prime favorite at Williamston, Teter will present his motorized daredevils on Friday of fair week.

Gracing the midway will be the World Wonder Shows, with 15 thrilling rides and 20 novelty shows. Manager Walker emphasized that no offensive shows or concessions would be tolerated.

Two harness races will be run on Wednesday, and two more on Thursday, with professional auto races on Saturday capping the week's special entertainment program.

A nightly feature before the grandstand will be the Continental Revue, a fast stepping musical show with 20 girls in the chorus, a sprightly swing band, and fun gator. This sparkling revue was produced by George A. Hamid and is being brought south for the first time this fall. Augmenting the grandstand entertainment each afternoon and night will be 10 spectacular hippodrome acts, presenting some of the finest talent in the country. Each evening's program will be capped by a dazzling display of fireworks.

The villagers felt they had become famous overnight.

surprised to learn that the same key would open all the doors. It was no great matter, because there was nothing in the room that could betray him.

He knocked on the door of number 15 adjoining. No answer. The door was locked. He knocked again and a sleepy voice asked:

"Who is it?"

"Wheatley."

"Oh, you!" said the voice with a pleased note, and bare feet pattered to the door.

Eyster in his underclothes, gray-faced and wasted, looked like the caricature of a man. His hair was standing on end. Having admitted Neill, he hopped back into the bed and pulled the sheet over his legs. "Certainly was friendly of you to stop in," he said.

"Well, I owe you something," said Neill. He took a seat at the foot of the bed.

"That's a nasty bruise you got," remarked Eyster.

"Well, I feel thankful that I am here at all."

"That's right! That's right!" There was a pause. Each was waiting for the other to speak.

'Good Place To Sober Up'

FINALLY Neill said offhandedly:

"When did you get down to Abalom's?"

Eyster saw through it, and grinned. "Noon on Tuesday."

"How did you come?"

"By taxi."

"Taxicab! That must have set you back something."

"Twenty dollars. It was too much, but I was tight."

"Tight?"

"Fact is, I was tight off and on all the time I was in Baltimore."

Eyster went on, grinning. "Didn't you notice it? Tuesday morning I hear a guy talking about Abalom's Point, what good air it was down here and good fishing and all, and I was just drunk enough afraid of nothing. . . . Let me feel your muscle, Wheatley."

"Ah! the hell with it!" growled Neill. He was thrown back into confusion again. The psychology of the sly, lying, tormented little man baffled him.

'Good Pickings Aboard'

"I WISH I could do something to show my appreciation," Eyster went on. "I reckon you want money. Young fellows always want money. And mine's about gone. Not that it matters to me. But I haven't anything to give you."

"Don't want it," muttered Neill. "Did you pick up anything on the yacht?" he asked eagerly.

"Not a thing."

"There ought to have been good pickings aboard. Fanning pulled off some kind of a dirty deal in Baltimore, and naturally if he was making his getaway on the yacht, you'd think he'd carry the proceeds with him. Somebody else thought so, too."

Neill fixed him with his glance. "Do you know who that somebody was?" he asked.

A look of fright came into Eyster's face and his eyes shifted away. "No," he said.

"You're not playing the part of a friend now," said Neill.

Eyster broke into a flood of denials and protestations and Neill saw that he could get nothing out of him by direct questioning. He made believe to fall for the suggestion of the loot.

"If I knew what Fanning had been doing in Baltimore, I might get a line on it."

"I can't help you there," said Eyster. "I couldn't follow his financial operations."

"But you can give me some clue, can't you? Think back."

Washington—Just because the United States had an "adverse" balance of trade in 1936 and expects another one for 1937 is no reason for business men to start jumping off bridges.

Many economists refuse to call it an "adverse" or "unfavorable" balance of trade. Instead they call it an "import surplus." The department of commerce insists it should be simply an "unbalance of payments," since only part of it represents a trade in goods. Shipping interest and dividends and tourist expenditures enter into it.

But the fact remains that in 1936 for the first time in decades, the United States had an import surplus. It amounted to $153,000,000. Even so it exported $34,000,000 more of actual goods than it imported. The deficit came in such items as American tourist expenditures abroad, services of foreign ships in carrying American produce, and other "invisibles." Total exports, goods, services and all were $3,483,000,000.

There will be a larger unbalance of payments in 1937. The department of commerce reports there is already this year a surplus of more than $140,000,000 in imports of ac-

Man About Manhattan

MAN ABOUT
New York—The summer of 1937 is moving quietly towards the bourne from which no summer ever returns, and since the memory of man is sometimes short, it might be well to say at once that, far from being dull in New York, this summer produced in headline entertainment—

The big champagne party for women in Col. Jeremiah Beall's Park avenue apartment and two casualties when one guest socked another with a ginger ale bottle and was socked in return with a champagne bottle, vintage 1906, empty.

The hair-on-the-chest, rock-me-to-sleep-with-a-manny-list literary battle between Slugger Ernest Hemingway and Slugger Max Eastman, or the Enjoyment of Laughing at Bull in the Afternoon.

The annual cruise of Father Divine's angels up the Hudson to the Heavenly Kingdom near Kingston with nothing for the inner man but fried chicken and corn on the cob, and for the spiritual uplift one of Harlem's best swing bands. Also the defection of Faithful Mary, the stabbing affair in the main kingdom of Harlem's little brown messiah, the arrest of Father Divine in the coal bin of one of his Connecticut heavens, and the subsequent celebration when he was freed by a New York court.

The brawl on the sidewalk outside the night club, or who started the free-for-all that landed Adela Rogers St. John and her pals in the pie wagon.

The episode of the handsome movie star (mainly Robert Taylor), his surrender to autograph hunters and the cute trick of the press agent who planted two of them, young, feminine, and good looking under his bed on the Normandie just before he sailed.

The return of Honey Johnson to these shores without David, last of the Marring Mdivanis, her denial of a romance with the Georgian prince, and the famous line of Jess Livermore, Jr., friend and traveling companion: "I could marry her myself in a minute—if I wanted to."

The determination of Tommy Manville's fourth mate to go to Reno for a divorce if Tommy would sign a settlement for a quarter of a million dollars.

The artist who, becoming bored with the rapid conversations of his friends, gave a party at which the place cards were unflattering caricatures of his guests—so unflattering that one of the pests threatened to punch him until it became known that the artist was also an expert amateur pugilist.

As to whether Greenville is growing and needs a bond issue to expand its utilities can best be set forth in some figures on the operation of these utilities over a twenty-year period. In 1917 the electric plant had 600 customers. Each year since that time there has been a steady growth until the number had reached 3,163 last year. The same is true with the water plant. The number of customers in 1917 was 350 while now the number has reached 2,141. During the six year period since 1931 when the city began operation of the gas plant the number of customers has increased from 428 to 726. These figures show not only that Greenville is growing but they show that from year to year an increasing number of our people are beginning to use the utilities and receive the added comforts and conveniences afforded by them.

IT'S YOUR FAIR

The Farmville Post and Pitt County Post of the American Legion will stage their second annual Pitt County Fair here next month and it is to be hoped that the people throughout the county will give their hearty support to the fair. The Legion posts in this county took over the fair last year with a view to making it a real county fair representative of the county, but without the help of the citizens generally this cannot be accomplished.

Despite a late start last year, with many difficulties to overcome, the fair was the most creditable from the standpoint of agricultural exhibits that has been put on in this county in years and the farmers who entered exhibits were agreeably surprised that they actually received their premium money. On previous occasions the farmers had not received their premium money but the fact that the Legion took charge of the fair last year gave them new hope to try again and they were not disappointed. In view of these circumstances probably more farmers will enter exhibits this year with the result that it will be a better fair.

This is Pitt County's Fair. Of course the American Legion hopes in the end to make some money out of it, but the first consideration is to make it a good fair and how good it will be depends upon the support it receives from our people.

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Sept. 13.—The Young Democrats over in Winston-Salem appear to have taken another page right out of the textbook of their elders. In true Democratic style they have agreed to let Arch Allen be president this year without opposition on condition that John Caffrey of Greensboro, get the job next year. Who said there are no crown princes in this country?

"I'm convinced that the self-feeder is the only way to feed hogs," says F. M. Dobson of Route 1, Pilot Mountain, after clearing a profit of $85.31. Yep, we think we'd fire the wet nurse, too.

Somehow or other the farmers always seem to be "moaning" low. Latest complaint to come to our attention is that tobacco is ripening so fast in Herford county that the growers have been unable to take care of it. As a result, county Agent, J. Gordon Blake estimates the crop will be reduced by at least 15 per cent.

"Lay on McDuff" seems to be the motto of Wake's bitter political feudists, Raleigh City Commissioner S. J. Ferguson and Coroner L. M. Waring (appropriately pronounced warrin). The coroner has just been called on to answer a charge of bad check passing, a count he swears was inspired by Mr. Ferguson. Previously he was threatened with criminal proceedings for alleged beating of a board bill. In rebuttal Mr. Ferguson's son has been charged with apple stealing and Ferguson, Senior, is still facing a charge of taking campaign donations in return for promise to keep an employee in his office. What will happen if both men prove the charges they are alleged to have inspired?

The N. C. League of Municipalities is going in for prominent out-of-state speakers in a big way for its convention in Winston-Salem September 26, 27 and 28; five being already listed.

John Bauer, director American Public Utilities Bureau will speak on Responsibility of Municipal Authorities in Public Utility Matters at the afternoon session of September 27 and will be guest participant at the group breakfast meeting of Tuesday at which municipal electric plant officials will confer. Andrew Joyner, Jr., president of the American Municipal Association will be principal speaker at the league's annual banquet Monday night, talking on "Municipal Cooperation." Charles H. Chatters, executive director Municipal Finance Officers of the United States and Canada, will be guest participant in the breakfast conference of municipal clerks and finance officers. Clarence E. Ridley, executive director International City Managers Association will be heard by the city managers' breakfast group. Morton L. Wallerstein, regional director, National Resources Committee, Richmond, Va., will speak on "The Increasing Importance of City Planning" at the general morning session on Tuesday.

Revocation of 125 licenses last week brought to 12,436 the total number of drivers deprived of their cards.

Major Arthur Fulk commander of the State Highway Patrol and head of the safety division of the Revenue Department, will attend the 26th National Safety Council in Kansas City October 11 to 15 "if possible," he has stated. He attended last year's session and says these councils are of great importance and assistance in campaigning for greater highway safety and fewer motor vehicle accidents.

ANNOUNCES INTRODUCTION OF IMPROVED GASOLINE

E. W. Harvey of the Harvey Oil Company, American Oil Company distributor for Pitt county and vicinity, today announced the introduction of an improved Amoco-Gas. The improved motor fuel, he said, has already been distributed to American Oil Company dealers and stations throughout this territory and is now available for motorists in and around Greenville.

New processes recently patented and new equipment recently installed in the American Oil Company refinery at Texas City, Texas, are largely responsible for the improvements made in Amoco.

Amoco was one of the very first special motor fuels, being introduced in 1915. This fuel made possible the modern high-compression automobile motor. Amoco also made contributions to the aviation industry—was used by Clarence Chamberlain in his trans-Atlantic flight to Germany. It was also used by other flyers in trans-oceanic hops.

Amoco is also a favorite with racing drivers and on endurance runs and mountain climbs. It was so popular in these competitions that Amoco holds more official AAA records than any other motor fuel.

American Oil Company spent millions of dollars on improvements and additions to their refinery in order to take advantage of latest scientific discoveries and inventions. These additions were recently made to what was already the world's largest and most modern refining unit.

The improved fuel is being advertised as "The greatest, Amoco in the history of the American Oil Company. It is being advertised through a large list of daily newspapers from Maine to Florida, including The Daily Reflector. The newspaper advertising is being supplemented by outdoor and radio.

CULL APPLES AND HAY MAKE GOOD SILAGE

Pullman, Wash.—(AP)—Washington State college dairy experiments have shown that "an apple a day goes well with hay."

The college experiment station reported that a combination of 30 per cent cull apples and 20 per cent alfalfa hay proved to be "unusually palatable" silage. The cows increased their production and the butterfat gained in carotene content.

This state produces between 150,000 and 300,000 tons of cull apples annually. Disposal has been a major problem.

New London, Tex.—(AP)—John Lumpkin has started paying the obligations of a vow taken when his only son was killed in the school explosion here last March. Lumpkin, an oil company executive, said then he would devote part of his time to serving mankind, particularly children.

Carrying out the vow, he bought a 50-passenger bus. Driving it himself, he travels through the countryside on Sunday mornings, taking scores of children and their parents to Sunday school and church. The service is free, and he will take them to any church they wish to attend.

...AND OF COURSE WE IMPROVED AMOCO-GAS, TOO!

An improved and enlarged refinery... new equipment... new processes... we've announced all this in the past few weeks. We've told how these improvements enable us to build-in greater value in American Oil Company products. But we've saved the best part of the story till last — the story of the new Amoco-Gas. It's an important story. And here it is:

AMOCO-GAS has always been the world's finest motor fuel—the very finest. But recently from the workshop of Science came word of a new and history-making triumph. Science had won another great victory in its struggle to wrest even bigger values from crude oil. New, revolutionary, radically different refining processes had been invented. At a cost of many millions, American Oil Company designed and installed new equipment... incorporated these new patented processes into what was already the world's greatest and most modern refining unit.

And as a result, the new Amoco-Gas is better than ever before. In smoothness, performance, economy — in everything—it's better. It's the greatest Amoco-Gas in our history! And that's saying a lot — because Amoco's history has been a glorious one. Amoco-Gas revolutionized the automotive and gasoline industries when it was first introduced... made possible the modern high compression motor. And now it makes history again.

See for yourself that the new Amoco surpasses anything you've ever used! Fill your tank with the new Amoco-Gas. Then get out on the open highway. It will be an experience such as you've never had before! And the new Amoco-Gas actually costs less in the long run... it costs a little more per gallon, but much less per mile! The new Amoco-Gas is the greatest in our history. Always the best—now better than ever! Try it today! AMERICAN OIL COMPANY

HEELS FEARING OPENING GAME

University Squad In Only Fair Shape for Gamecocks

Chapel Hill, Sept. 13.—The North Carolina football squad today began the final two weeks of preparations for the opening contest with South Carolina here September 25.

The squad of 41 candidates appeared to be in fairly good physical condition. Wallace Winborne, junior reserve quarter, who suffered a shoulder displacement recently, has improved steadily, and should be able to take part in the rough work this week.

A leg injury which kept Tony Cernugle, an outstanding prospect, out of eight games during his sophomore year last season, is still giving him some trouble. He has attended every practice this fall but takes his work in short doses. It is doubtful if he will be ready for the opening game.

John Mulhern, sophomore tackle prospect, is expected back sometime this week. He had to return to his home on account of his mother's illness.

And while the Tar Heels are bending every effort to be prepared for the Gamecock invasion, reports emanating from the South Carolina stronghold are still frankly optimistic about prospects. There the latest dope is that Coach Don McAllister will be blessed with several top-notch "coffin-kickers."

Ed Clary of the Gaffney tribe has had his spirals checked almost consistently between 50 and 60 yards. And he's been booting them where the opposition can't return them. Others well versed in coffin-kicker tactics are Tommy Lonchar of Lexington, S. C., Heber Stroud, 168-pounder from Darlington; Lit Durham of Greenville; Gene Robinson, speed merchant from Chester; and Banjo Williams of Bishopville.

South Carolina's football stock took another jump recently with the announcement that Captain Jack Lyon, star halfback, who has been on the injury list, would be available for opening contests with Emory and Henry and North Carolina.

And so it looks like the Battle of the Carolinas, less than two weeks away, is going to be one whale of a ball game for a season opener.

Ticket reservations indicate it will be one of the biggest first-game crowds Kenan stadium has accommodated.

Wisconsin is nicknamed the Badger State.

JOE GORDON IS SLATED TO PLAY SECOND FOR THE YANKEES - HE IS A STAR ON THE NEWARK TEAM.

TONY LAZZERI - THE VETERAN HAS HIS EYE ON A MANAGERIAL BERTH - WITH CLEVELAND, POSSIBLY.

HEFFNER IS A FLASHY FIELDER BUT HE IS TOO FRAIL TO STAND THE GRIND OF PLAYING DAILY.

SPORT SLANTS -By PAP'

Its risky business—counting out Tony Lazzari. It has been done before. Tony has always bounced back stronger than ever. But even he cannot go on forever. He's pushing on to 34. He has served a dozen seasons with the New York Yankees. He has slowed down woefully in the field, but he still is a dangerous man when there are runners on the base. His thinking mechanism is as efficient as ever.

Lazzari is rated one of the smartest ball players in the big show. After he decides he has had enough of the daily grind, he is going to make some club a mighty fine manager.

Colonel Jake Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, is a great admirer of the durable Tony. He likes the way Tony conducts himself on and off the field. It is quite likely that the good "Colonel" would be "happy to find a place in the Yankee system for Lazzari, when his playing days are over. That the colonel wishes Tony well is indicated by his offer to allow the veteran infielder to move to Cleveland if the managerial berth is open to him. The Yankees can use Tony. But the colonel will not let anything stand in Tony's way to future success.

Cleveland was hot after Lazzari last summer. The Indians figured they would be getting a good second baseman as well as a capable leader. With Tony showing definite signs of slowing up, he may no longer appeal to the Indian chiefs.

At the present, Lazzari is nursing a badly bruised finger. Don Heffner is filling in at second. Heffner isn't likely to be a permanent replacement for Tony. He is too frail for the daily grind. The Yankees have an excellent prospect in Joe (Flash) Gordon of Newark, but the youngster is not quite ready to step into a big league berth. He will be before long, however.

DITT ONE OF FIXTURES ON TAR HEEL GRID TEAM

Chapel Hill, Sept. 13.—Art Ditt, senior 200-pound fullback, is one of two fixtures on North Carolina's football team to date. The other certain starter is Co-captain Andy Bershak, brilliant end, who rated second Associated Press All-American team last year. Ditt, who stands six feet, hails from Lebanon, Pa. He alternated with Jim Hutchins of Winston-Salem. All Southern, at full back last season, and was leading ground gainer on the team. Ditt covered five yards per try, lugging the leather 63 times for a total of 365 yards.

COONER ONE OF LEADING PROSPECTS IN BACKFIELD

Chapel Hill, Sept. 13.—One of the leading prospects on the University of North Carolina squad is Randy Cooner, senior letterman. Hampered by injuries in mid-season last year Cooner didn't hit his stride until the Virginia game when he gained approximately 80 of the Tar Heels' total 250 yards by rushing the ball. Cooner is a fine passer and a fair broken field runner. In 10 attempts last season he advanced the oval 130 yards for an average gain of 13 yards. Cooner, who comes from Asheville, stands six feet and weighs 175 pounds.

JIM CROWLEY HAS COLORFUL FORDHAM FOOTBALL RECORD

Chapel Hill, Sept. 13.—James H. Crowley, head coach of the Fordham football team, which entangles with the University of North Carolina in an outstanding intercollegiate game at Chapel Hill October 30, has turned in a colorful record at the New York institution. In four seasons as head tutor of the Rams, Crowley's teams have won 22 games, lost 7 and tied 4. His 1935 team lost only to Purdue and the 1936 team was undefeated until the final game of the year with N. Y. U.

TAR HEELS PLAY EIGHT GAMES IN THIS STATE

Chapel Hill, Sept. 13.—Eight of North Carolina's nine football games this season will be played in the state. The only game outside the state will be with N. Y. U. October 9 in New York. Four games are scheduled at Chapel Hill: South Carolina, September 25; Tulane, October 23; Fordham, October 30 and Virginia November 25. The four other games are to be played at Raleigh, Wake Forest, Durham and Davidson.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 13.—(AP)—An opening rally of one to three points in today's stock market was quickly converted into a selling-move that brought general losses of as much or more. There were a few declines ranging from five to 11 points.

Past at the start, the pace soon slowed. Larger offerings began to appear and momentum on the down side increased. Near the fourth hour minus terms were in the majority.

Offsetting Washington developments was continued uneasiness over Far Eastern and European complications. The matter of a possible special session of Congress also was regarded as a retarding influence.

Leaders crashed into new lows for two years or longer following an opening rally.

Transfers were in the neighborhood of 1,600,000 shares.

IT'S AN ACCIDENT WHEN A RATTLER BITES

Denver—(AP)—From a Wyoming town, where the sheriff writes insurance as a sideline, came this report to the district office of an accident insurance firm.

"A cowpuncher policy holder came in with a bandaged and swollen hand as proof of disability. 'A rattlesnake bit me,' he said. 'Can't do anything for you,' says I. 'That wasn't an accident. The snake bit you on purpose.' 'Was I right?' 'The company overruled the sheriff.'"

BAN ON BANNERS SOUGHT IN PORTLAND

Portland, Ore.—(AP)—When the city council placed a fee on street banners it thought it would rid the streets of that form of advertising. Instead revenue averaging $2,000 a year poured into the treasury.

But one commissioner still doesn't want banners, even at a profit. He proposes an ordinance prohibiting all except those advertising charity events.

CHILD EXPERT FINDS FAMILY 'ROWS' GOOD

Denver—(AP)—Mild family "rows" are a beneficial factor in rearing children, in the opinion of Sidonie M. Gruenberg, child specialist.

"I can think of nothing more discouraging than a home in which the mother and father never disagree," she told parents at a Denver university institute.

"Healthy family argument," she said, "gives children an insight into the problems of life."
