

Estimate Two Thousand Chinese Dead And Injured In Japanese Bombardment

CANTON RAIDS TAKE BIG TOLL

Weeping Women and Wailing Children Roam Bomb-Shattered Streets, Bewildered and Almost Deprived With Fear and Anguish

Shanghai, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Two thousand Chinese, most of them refugees, are estimated to have been killed or injured in two days Japanese aerial bombardment of Canton, South China city.

The raids today and yesterday left weeping women and wailing children searching the ruins of densely packed dwelling areas of the poorer classes.

Thousands roam the streets bewildered and almost deranged with anguish and terror. The Japanese bombing of non-combatant provinces and northern areas, extended to Tsingtau, capital of Shantung province, when a lone invader flew over a suburb and loosed one bomb, wounding nine civilians.

The United States embassy reiterated its urging that American evacuate to Tsingtau, Chantung port, and thence to Manila. Germans were urged to hoist their national flags prominently on all their property.

Thirty Japanese bombers raided the first strong fortifications below Chingkiang between Shanghai and Nanking.

Japanese war planes and warships rained bombs and shells during the day on the two great Chinese ports of Canton and Haikow, causing widespread damage.

Nanking, earmarked by the Japanese for destruction as the seat of Chinese resistance, was not raided in the morning, however, as the Japanese apparently were impressed by the seriousness of American, British, French and German protests against unrestricted bombardment of civilians.

Famous Singer To Appear At ECTC Tuesday, Oct. 5th

Norman Cordon, First Ten Heel to Become Member of Metropolitan Opera Co. To Sing Here

Norman Cordon, leading bass-baritone of the Metropolitan Opera association, will be heard at East Carolina Teachers college on Tuesday evening, October 5.

Mr. Cordon is the first native of North Carolina to become a member of this distinguished opera. He was born in Washington, North Carolina, and started his singing career as a choir boy. He attended Fishburne Military academy and then entered the University of North Carolina, where he began the serious study of music, which he continued for four years at the Nashville Conservatory of Music, then for two years in Chicago under Hadley Outland.

Mr. Cordon's real singing career began when after a series of appearances in Chicago with the San Carlo Opera company he was signed by the Chicago Grand Opera company. He made his debut with that organization as Angelotti in "Tosca" with an all-star cast and was hailed by Herman DeVries, dean of the Chicago critics, as "a singer of great promise." An amazing operatic record has followed, which includes appearances with the Detroit Civic Opera, the Philadelphia orchestra's presentations under Stokowski, a 39-week radio engagement, and a season with the St. Louis Grand Opera company.

The young bass-baritone realized his cherished ambition when he was chosen to sing with the Metropolitan Opera association for the spring season there. Appearing in the opening performance Cordon scored such a great success the New York Times devoted headlines to his outstanding achievement. Before the season was over his voice, personality and dramatic ability had won for him a two-year contract for the Metropolitan's regular season.

The program will open at eight-thirty.

Talk Of Invoking Washington Pact

Great Britain Understood to be Considering Treaty in Effort to Get Japan to Attend Conference on Sino-Jap War

Geneva, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Great Britain was understood today to be planning to invoke the Washington pact, guaranteeing China's territorial integrity as a last resort to bring Japan to an international conference to stop the Sino-Japanese war. Such a move would have the additional advantage of bringing the United States into full cooperation on measures to halt the far eastern conflict—a step considered essential if the peace efforts are to meet with success. Geneva circles considered Japan, while ignoring League of Nations initiatives, would scarcely refuse a nine-power consultation under the treaty she signed in Washington in 1922 with China, the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Portugal and Belgium. The signatories agreed to respect the sovereignty, independence and territorial and administrative integrity of China. These things, China has charged before the League of Nations, Japan is violating by an undeclared war of "aggression."

A special "Boosters committee" was named to go about the county just before the exposition opens inviting the citizens to attend. S. A. Whitehurst was named chairman of the committee.

Morrison's Rumored Race Not Considered Seriously

Raleigh, Sept. 23.—Little more than smiling incredulity has been shown as Raleigh's reaction to the effect that tobacco-chewing Cameron Morrison is likely to oppose attorney Robert R. Reynolds for the senate next year.

This correspondent has been unable to find even one political wiseacre who puts any credence in the reports, the general opinion being that it was an interesting yarn written by an enterprising news man on a day when news was scarce and something had to be done about the matter of filling two or three sheets of copy paper.

In effect, the consensus seems to be that if Mr. Morrison really believes he has a chance to defeat Reynolds in 1938, the former governor and senator thereby makes exactly one person who does feel that way.

One high state official, who would not allow himself to be quoted by name for reasons which are

Urges Greater Diversification of Agriculture

Columbia, N. C., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Governor Hoey urged greater diversification of agriculture in North Carolina and cooperative efforts by farmers to solve their economic problems as he dedicated the new Tyrrell county agricultural building here today. H. Swain, president of the Tyrrell county farm bureau, welcomed Hoey and visitors, and J. C. Meeking introduced the governor. "There is no panacea for the troubles of agriculture," said the governor. "Wise legislation and governmental assistance will help. The farmer is entitled to all the benefit possible to be derived from this source, but the individual farmer will need to map out a long-time program for himself and his own farm, and his ultimate success will depend in a large measure upon his own wisdom and judgment in managing his own affairs."

Hoey left early to speak at an Institute of Government meeting in Tarboro in the late afternoon.

Fifteen Year Old Boy Dies At Home

Jimmie Warren, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Warren of near Williamson, died at his home at 6 o'clock this morning after an illness of eight weeks.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon with Rev. C. T. Pickoff, Presbyterian minister of Williamson. Burial will follow in the Roebuck family cemetery.

Besides his parents the youth is survived by one sister, Mary Elizabeth; three brothers, Howard, Jr., Wallace and Russell Warren and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Bettie Roebuck of near Robersonville.

The DuPont powder mill at Hagley, Del., was built in 1822 and is one of the outstanding early specimens of industrial architecture in America. It was probably patterned after powder mills in France.

fairly obvious, went back to the campaign of 1932 in which Our Bob licked the living daylight out of Cam for his belief that the Mecklenburger would stand just about the same chance as the celebrated celluloid canine had in its renewed run after the fireproof helix through the fiery flames of the nether regions.

"Mr. Morrison is entirely too high hat for the farmers of North Carolina," said he. "Back in 1932 he was scheduled to make an address to several thousand in Raleigh one morning. Just about two minutes before he was due to speak, Cam drove up in a sixteen-cylinder automobile with a chauffeur. He got out, pushed his way through to the platform without saying howdy or anything else to anybody. He read his speech, shoved his way back out of the hall, got back in that big buggy and was off. Two busy, too proud, or too something to talk to the common folks. That sort of fellow can't beat Bob Reynolds."

SMILES FOR THE MILES!

Epitomizing the sacrifices made in the World War, smiling Sergeant Paul Bolin of Birmingham, Ala., minus a leg, drew thundering applause as he stepped briskly along on his crutches in the American Legion's gigantic parade in New York. Trailing him are other members of Birmingham's delegation.

PITT SCHOOLS PARLEYS HELD RECORD GAINS BY PRESIDENT

Enrollment Expected To Be Over That Last Year

When the estimated two or three hundred Pitt county students who have not returned to school this term because they are busy helping harvest crops go back to the class rooms, the total enrollment of the county system is expected to show a substantial increase.

Figures compiled at the offices of the Board of Education today show that 6,369 students had enrolled at the end of the first two weeks of the session. Figures for the first two weeks of the 1936-37 session were not available, but at the close of the first month last year 6,510 students were enrolled. The enrollment at the completion of the first month last year was 141 in excess of that at the end of the first two weeks of this year.

It was explained, however, that at least two or three hundred students had not enrolled yet and when these return to the class rooms the enrollment this year will exceed that of the previous session.

Several of the schools already have larger enrollments than they did for the first month last year. Among those showing the greatest increase are Grimesland, which jumped from 491 to 542, and Belvoir Falkland, which increased from 121 to 176.

Enrollment in the Pitt schools for the first two weeks of this year follows, last month for last year follows, last year's figures coming first:

Bethel, 461 and 463; Winterville 676 and 681; Grimesland, 491 and 542; Chicod 860 and 777; Grifton, 395 and 400; Belvoir-Falkland High school, 121 and 176; Ayden, 702 and 656; Farmville, 719 and 670; Pacolet, 363 and 318; Fountain, 352 and 309; Stokes, 358 and 348; Falkland elementary, 338 and 317; Belvoir Elementary, 333 and 359; Arthur 29 and 347.

Bureau Approves Expenditures For State Test Farms

Raleigh, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The Budget Bureau approved expenditures by the Agriculture Department today of up to $20,000 for the purchase of land for use in peanut research.

Kerr Scott, Agriculture Commissioner, said the Board of Agriculture held options on the 250-acre Edwards farm adjoining the Upper Coastal Plain test farm in Edgecombe county and the land would be purchased.

The board also will lease land "farther over" in the commercial peanut section for test purposes. The tobacco station at Oxford was allotted $5,000 contingent upon securing an $80,000 federal appropriation recommended for tobacco research work there.

Authorization was given the Coastal Plain farm at Willard to purchase 129 acres for $6,500 to be used for dairy experimental purposes, and $400 was made available for chicken houses there.

Fish As Far As Eye Can See Honolulu.—(AP)—Lured by millions of "muhce" or red sea shrimp on which they feed, giant tuna thronged into these waters in such numbers recently that the school was estimated to cover 50 square miles. Fishermen who ordinarily are at sea three or four days filled their boats to capacity in two hours.

Money Movement Being Considered

Hint of Possible Mutual Action by United States and Great Britain to Curb "Hot Money" Made by Sec. Morgenthau

Washington, Sept. 23.—(AP)—A hint of possible mutual action by the United States and Great Britain to curb international "hot money" movements through taxation came today from Secretary Morgenthau.

The problem of international capital movements and their effects on domestic economy has been under study by the Treasury, Federal Reserve Board and Securities Commission for more than a year. President Roosevelt has expressed concern over heavy inflows of foreign capital, coupled with the possibility of sudden withdrawal of foreign investments in this country, might upset the national economic balance.

"Hot money" is foreign capital which may move quickly from one country to another, creating domestic credit and leaving a wake of financial problems as it moves. Meantime elsewhere in Washington, Chief Justice Charles Evans (Continued on Page Two)

LEAF AVERAGE REMAINS HIGH

Wednesday's Offerings Bring Average Price of $23.08

Offerings on the Greenville tobacco market fell off yesterday but the average price paid showed an increase over the figure for the previous day.

Prices were strong on the first three sales days of this week and the general season's average continues to climb steadily. Offerings also are running far ahead of last year, bearing out pre-season predictions that this year's production would be the largest in some time. It has been estimated that up to 70,000,000 pounds would be sold here this year, but many have expressed the opinion offerings would not exceed $5,000,000. With prices climbing steadily farmers should realize more for their year's work this year than in many seasons.

So far this year 19,535,228 pounds of the weed have been sold here, bringing farmers $4,223,374.37, far in excess of the amount paid out on the same number of sales days (Continued on page four)

Bennett Explains Farm Legislation

R. R. Bennett, Pitt county farm agent, last night addressed a community meeting at Pierce, explaining the proposed 1938 farm program.

Every farmer present expressed himself as being in favor of a control program to be effective by planting time for the 1938 crop.

Mark Smith, Beaver Dam farmer discussed the possibility of getting a large number of farmers from this county to attend the meeting of the senate agricultural committee, to be held in Winston-Salem, October 18.

Three delegates and three alternates will be elected to the Carolina district convention to be held at Charlotte October 28, 29 and 30.

The meeting will be held at 6:30 o'clock, the club having changed to its winter schedule. Rev. W. A. Ryan will be in charge of the program.

Reflector Bureau

Raleigh, Sept. 23.—"Peacefully if we can, forcibly if we must" will protect the innocent against syphilis, declared Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, state health officer. "Persons infected with this disease will be able to evade compulsory treatment, or imprisonment, if they persist in their refusal," he continued, "simply by moving from one county to another, or from one state to another."

"I am in receipt of a letter from Virginia asking me to notify the authorities here to be on the lookout for a syphilitic from that commonwealth who left to come to North Carolina. I am contacting the health officer in the community to which he is supposed to have gone, in order that he may be located and compelled to continue treatment, or go to jail."

"In the future, when a syphilitic moves from one North Carolina county to another, the health officer will be required to notify promptly the state board of health and, in turn, the health authorities in the community to which he is supposed to have gone will be notified."

"So you see, we mean business. The only way to see this thing through is to make a thorough job of it, and with the cooperation of our co-workers, we will do just that thing. I have a letter from a health officer who requested official blanks. He has in mind a syphilitic who will be formally notified to take treatment. If he refuses, he will be put in jail and he will stay there until he becomes non-infectious and will then be treated until he is cured."

GREATER ARMY ALSO FAVORED

Continuation ROTC and CMTC Recommended Also With Increase In Standing Army to Bring Its Strength to 180,000

New York, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The American Legion's national defense program report, calling for the biggest navy in the world and big increases in the standing army, was adopted amid whoops and shouts today at the final session of the 19th annual convention.

The report was submitted by Robert Shaw, chairman of the Sigourney, Iowa, as the delegates met in the Metropolitan Opera house.

It recommended continuation of the C.M.T.C. camps and the R.O.T.C. camps, recommended a navy second to none in the world and increases in the standing army to bring its strength to 180,000 at once.

The report also recommended an additional guard of 210,000 with 48

New York, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Daniel J. Deberly, Boston attorney, was unanimously elected national commander of the American Legion today as the 19th annual convention in return to their homes after the greatest convention in their history.

The report also recommended a paid armory drills a year, bigger air service and a naval auxiliary of merchant ships.

Still another point in the report adopted was the recommendation that not one cubic foot of helium gas be sold to any foreign nation nor to allow it to be exported for any reasons. The committee recommended the control of helium gas be placed in charge of the war department.

Helium gas is non-inflammable and is used in army and navy dirigibles. The German ship Hindenburg, which was destroyed by fire at Lakehurst on May 6, last, used hydrogen, which made it an easy prey to flames.

Delegates to the convention also were to pick a national commander and chaplain.

ETIQUETTE

By JOAN DURHAM
(AP Feature Service Writer)

Preparing announcements of engagements for the local newspapers is one of the duties that devolves on the girl's mother. She should get in touch with the society editor herself or make sure that some member of the family does.

Many newspapers will not accept wedding or engagement announcements unless they are in writing. But even if the information is to be given verbally it's a good idea to write it all down first and check it meticulously.

Watch The Names
Correct spelling of names and accuracy in all facts are vital. Information required by most society editors is included in the following list. If the marriage is to follow soon after the engagement is announced, the editor may use all the information at once. If some time is to elapse between the two events, however, the editor may hold out some of the information for use at the time of the wedding.

Here are the main points:
Full name of the girl.
Full name of the man.
Name and address (street number, city and state) of parents of both.

Date, time and place of wedding.
Will there be a reception?
Where?
Name and title of officiating clergyman and his church.

Where girl attended school, list of her clubs.
Business affiliation of girl—if she has one.
Where man attended school, list of his clubs.
Business affiliation of man.

Consider Your Ancestors
If either or both have interesting ancestral backgrounds—information about those. (Don't feel hurt if they are left out, however).

Names of attendants; maid or matron of honor, bridesmaids, flower girl, best man, ushers. Where each is from and, in the case of the flower girl, name and address of parents.

What the bride and each of women attendants will wear.
Where wedding trip will be.
Where couple will live.

If, for any reason, the bride's mother wants any of the information held until the day after the wedding she should make that plain to the society editor. Otherwise the latter is free to use her own judgment.

Pictures should only be sent if they are requested. If you want them returned, make that clear in a note to the editor.

BY HULBERT FOOTNER

SYNOPSIS: Neill, a young federal agent, finds his beloved Janet, a gun and Prescott Fanning's freshly shot body locked in a cabin on Fanning's yacht at Absalom's Harbor. Mr. Neill hides her nearby in a dussled liner, then joins Mark Bonniger, local investigator. Neill learns Janet didn't shoot the flashy stowaway but has to find out who did to save her. He suspects queer little Eyster, who hated Fanning, and Fanning's ex-bodyguard, 'Pa' Buckless. He distrusts Kettering, a lawyer down from Baltimore to fish. The yacht is ransacked and Bonniger questions Buckless, who tells Neill's connection with Fanning.

Chapter 34

Eyster Can Lie

THIS fellow's story only confuses the issue," Bonniger said slowly. "He claims not to know the girl, and certainly the girl that the crew have described would never have fallen for that brute!"

There was a silence. Kettering looked from one man to another. "Well I'll be on my way," he said heartily. "Got to get some sleep."

He left them. When they were alone, Bonniger said, without looking directly at Neill: "I took a shine to you right at the start, Neill. Your offer to help me out seemed so friendly I said to myself: This lad has the makings of a first-rate criminologist. He's cool and he's keen."

Neill had dreaded this moment. Bonniger was such a good fellow and a gentleman. When he spoke in this friendly way, Neill had an overpowering desire to blurt out the whole truth. But he couldn't betray Janet. "Certainly is nice of you to say so," he muttered.

"Have you anything to say to me?" Bonniger fooled with a pencil.

"Why, no," Neill said, assuming a look of surprise.

"If you were interested in this around to the front, Neill detained the constable by giving him a detailed description of the man.

"While they waited, Bonniger and Neill discussed other aspects of the case. The old friendly feeling had gone.

Eyster sidled into the room with his insinuating grin. "You want me, Mr. Bonniger?"

"Sit down," said Bonniger. "How long have you been in Absalom's?"

"Since noon on Tuesday."

"How did you come here?"

"By taxicab from Baltimore."

He went on to tell the same tale he had related to Neill.

"Can you give me the name of the driver or his license number or the name of the cab company?"

"Impossible, Mr. Bonniger. I never noticed."

"What have you been doing since you got here?"

"Just tapering off. Ain't touched a drop in two days now."

Bonniger indicated Neill. "When did you first meet Mr. Wheatley?"

"He come on the bus Tuesday evening. We got talking later and I asked him up to my room to crack the last bottle. We sat there drinking and chinning until this lad fell asleep in his chair. He couldn't take it. So I finished the bottle and then I woke him up and put him in his own bed."

Neill thought grimly: This guy is a better liar than I am.

"What time was this?"

"Somewhere after two."

"All right. Much obliged."

Eyster went out with his head over his shoulder and his eyes darting inquisitively from face to face. He wanted to hear more.

Bonniger rose and flung his pencil on the desk. "Let's go to bed," he said. Neill perceived that Eyster had overdone it. He was too obviously the glib and ready liar.

Watchers in the Night

TIRED as he was, it was impossible for Neill to sleep. He dropped in a chair to dope things out. It was clear that Bonniger did not intend to let the situation girl and Fanning wronged you, you could tell me that."

"Sure, I could tell you! But there's nothing in it!"

"All right! . . . You came down on the bus arriving here at 7:45 on Tuesday, you said."

"That's right."

"What did you do? Eat dinner?"

"No, I had eaten in town. I registered at Wickes's and sat down on the store porch to listen to the village gossip."

"Who was there?"

"How can I tell you, Mark? It was dark and they were all strangers to me. There was one fellow I remember, whom they addressed as Jake."

"Jake? . . . How long did you stay there?"

"Not long. Half an hour. Three quarters maybe."

"Then where did you go?"

Neill dropped in a chair to dope things out.

ride. His suspicions were thoroughly aroused. Morning was sure to bring a showdown.

Well, there was only one way to meet a showdown, and that was to anticipate it. He and Janet must make a break to get away. Capture was almost certain. Nevertheless they must risk it.

As soon as he had come to this conclusion, Neill felt better. He set to work to gather together his few belongings.

Ten minutes later he started down the stairs. It was past two o'clock and the excitement had subsided. Nothing was to be heard except snores in various keys coming through the flimsy doors as he passed. No lights were on.

It was not customary to lock the hotel doors at night. Neill paused inside the front door to take a prospect before venturing out. Across the road there was a filling station under a canopy and a street light overhead. Neill studied the gasoline pumps. It was a natural hiding place. Sure enough, while he watched a head stuck out. It bore the cap of a state constable.

Neill felt his way softly back through the long dining room and through the swing door into the kitchen. The kitchen had windows on three sides. He looked through first one, then another. There were so many hiding-places outside—sheds, fences—it was impossible to tell if the door was being watched. Neill tried the expedient of rattling the door handle. Instantly the top of a head appeared around the corner of a shed.

He went back upstairs with a hard grin. The decision had been taken out of his hands. What must come, must come.

(Copyright, 1937, by Hulbert Footner)

Buckless' alibi is proved, Neill's shaken, tomorrow.

That question brought Neill right up against it. He thought of the crouching figure outside the window, and his offers of friendship. "Have you noticed a guy called Eyster who hangs around?"

"Sure."

"Well, I struck up a kind of friendship with him."

"He doesn't seem to be a very attractive sort of man."

"Perhaps not. But I was alone. We got to talking and afterwards he invited me up to his room for a drink. So we sat drinking and chewing the fat."

"What did you talk about?"

"Good Lord, Mark! What do men talk about when they're drinking? We just made a noise. I was with him until I went to bed."

Bonniger, still avoiding Neill's eyes, called a constable and told him to see if he could find Eyster. To give Eyster time enough to get

The Wilken Family BLENDED WHISKEY--50 proof--the straight whiskey in this blend are 50 months or more old, 25% straight whiskey; 75% grain neutral spirits; 50% straight whiskey 50 months old; 5% straight whiskey 4 years old.

There are going to be some red faces. Just exactly one day after telling newspaper men he is opposed as a matter of principle to issuing "proclamations," Governor Clyde R. Hoey was practically forced into making the first of his administration.

He has "proclaimed" Air Mail week, October 11 to 16, and mailed his proclamation to Major Paul Younis, postmaster at Charlotte. The governor says he is always glad to issue "statements" backing any project he thinks worthy, but he does not like the formality of proclamations.

The report on Greensboro A and T Negro college, to be submitted by Holt McPherson, High Point Enterprise editor, on Saturday will not be public matter and its contents will not be divulged except at the complete discretion of Governor Clyde R. Hoey.

Mr. McPherson has conducted an intensive probe of affairs at the Guilford school since he was named as a result of repeated charges of various irregularities made by alumni and students of the college.

Word has been received here of the death of James Kelly, brother of Paul Kelly, assistant director of the board of conservation and development.

"Now that the farmers of Eastern North Carolina have money in their pockets as a result of tobacco sales, we are beginning to have a hard time," said J. M. Grammer, engineer of the State Rural Electrification Authority. "With money, they want to get electricity and they cannot see why they shouldn't have service just about one day after making an application I wish it were as simple as that, but it isn't."

"I think the thing that will interest me most at the State fair is going to be the calf scramble," said W. Kerr Scott, state commissioner of agriculture.

It is planned to turn loose about half a dozen wild calves, raised on the Wenona test farm, and give them to the boys catching them. It is a rough and tumble sort of event, continued Mr. Scott. "But well worth watching if you have a seat where there's no danger of being run over by the calves."

Governor Hoey is hitting the speech-making trail again today, talking at the dedication of a farm building in Tyrrell county, under auspices of the farm bureau, and at Tarboro where one of the Institute of Government's education programs is to be held with both Democratic and Republican county chairmen participating.

Webb Williams, associate member, is holding down the desk of Cutlar Moore, liquor board chairman, while the latter is in New York adding his bit to the fun and frolic being held by the American Legionnaires in the big metropolises.

Traveling on special railroad trains, the circus will arrive here early Sunday, October 3, and will spread its acres of canvas over the old fairgrounds, preparatory to afternoon and night performances on the following day.

Bringing 700 persons and more than 1,000 animals, Hagenbeck-Wallace, the world's largest trained animal show, will offer among its headlined performers "Hoot" Gibson, cowboy movie hero, who appears in person and in action with his congress of rodeo champions.

Also prominently programmed is Terrell Jacobs, youthful "lion king" of the "Tarzan" movies, who masters the largest group of performing jungle-bred lions and lionesses ever assembled.

"Poodles" Hanneford, famous riding clown; Jeanette May, Europe's champion woman aerialist; Senorita Alicia Villa, daring equestrienne daughter of the late Mexican bandit chieftain; the Great Wongs, presenting Oriental acrobatic innovations; the Flying Vassars and Le Vards and many other hippodrome celebrities are included in the spangled entourage.

There will be 26 performing elephants under the direction of Cheerful Gardner, dean of American mahouts; hundreds of splendid horses, and 57 clowns.

MEETS ELEVEN OF NASHVILLE

Curtain Raiser Is Set For Third Street Stadium

By EARLE HELLEN

Coaches Herman Dally and Durwood Stowe were putting their "Flying Phantoms" through a series of last minute tactics preparatory to the football curtain-raiser at the Third street stadium here Friday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock.

The Phantoms will engage the strong eleven of the Nashville high school, which has made an enviable record among other football squads in their class in previous contests.

Practice for the local aggregation was started August 30, and since that time the school coaches have been whipping their material into playing shape. Although the weight of some of the players is light, all of the boys are considered a "fighting bunch."

The return of at least a dozen letter men has strengthened the team considerably and opposing teams looking horns with the Phantoms this year will find themselves taking no so-called "easy victories."

One of the best football rosters in some time is realized at Greenville high school this year, and many good contests will likely be witnessed before curtains are drawn on the season.

For the last few years, the contest between the Greenville and Washington high schools has been played at Washington. This year, however, the "Thanksgiving fete" will be played at Greenville. This contest has created more interest in the past than any other scheduled game.

Birds and Tar Heels Expected To Take To Air

Chapel Hill, Sept. 23.—Fortified with a goodly supply of pitchers and catchers, the Tar Heels and Gamecocks are expected to take to the air frequently when their gridiron warriors clash here Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the twentieth battle of the Carolinas.

Coach Ray Polf has indicated in practice sessions all fall that he is planning to let the Tar Heels open up this year. At Texas Christian, where he coached before coming here, his Horned Frogs were noted for their aerial circuses. He frankly admits that he likes to see the boys throw the ball, that is, provided they have capable tossers and receivers.

The Gamecocks took to the air lanes often when they walloped Billy Laval's highly-touted crew at Emory and Henry in Columbia last Saturday. Three of the Gamecocks' touchdowns were garnered directly via the passing route. And two others came indirectly from aerial bombs.

Ed Clary, another of the well-known Gaffney clan of Clarys, is the best heavier among the Gamecock pitchers. Captain Jack Lyons is another flinger of high calibre. Sophomores Heber Stroud, Dick Little and Red Snider are better than average marksmen. The best receivers include Frank Urban, Ed Stillwell, ends, and Gene Robinson, Stroud and Little, backs.

Clary's pass to Stillwell netted 68 yards for the first touchdown last Saturday. It was one of the outstanding plays of the game. Stroud also scored twice after receiving passes.

The best craftsmen in the Tar Heel camp are Crowell Little, Art Ditt, Randy Cooner and George Stirweiss. Top among the Tar Heel receivers are Andy Bershak and Gene Brickleymer, ends; Geo. Watson and Tom Burnette, backs.

The Tar Heels have given their aerial game a thorough going-over during the past two weeks.

best quarterbacks State has had in years. He is a senior and one of the smartest boys on the club. In fact, he is one of the top ranking students in school in scholastic standing.

TITLES STAKED BOXING CIRCUS

Jacobs' Carnival Of Champs at New York Tonight

Tonight's "Carnival of Champions" in New York will start at 6:46 o'clock. NBC plans a broadcast, originating with Station WJZ, over its blue network.

By EDDIE BRIETZ
New York, Sept. 23.—(AP)—What Mike Jacobs likes to call "The Greatest Show on Earth" comes to town tonight when the 20th Century Sporting Club presents its "Carnival of Champions" at the Polo Grounds.

In the most elaborate fistic spectacle ever put together under one top, three world's champions will defend their titles, and as an extra attraction, a European champion will test his skill against one of the outstanding American challengers in his division.

Four 15 round battles and one four-round preliminary will comprise the card. Topping the all-star card is the lightweight battle between Lou Ambers, present ruler, and Pedro Montanez, sensational Puerto Rican star. Second in interest is the duel between welterweight King Barney Ross and Celerino Garcia, West Coast Filipino with a pulverizing right-hand sock.

Sixto Escobar risks his bantamweight crown against his most persistent challenger, young Harry Jeffra of Baltimore. The fourth champion to show his wares is Marcel Thil, middleweight king of Europe, who meets Fred Apostoli, San Francisco's middle-weight hope.

There was little variance in the betting odds as post-time neared. Jack Doyle, Broadway's leading betting commissioner, continued to rate Ambers and Montanez on even terms. Each was a 4-to-55 shot, and the bettor could take his pick. Ross and Apostoli were quoted at 2-to-5, and Escobar at 1-to-2. In the boxing belt, however, gamblers were laying 3-to-1 on Ross and Apostoli to win; 7-to-5 on Montanez and 2-to-1 on Escobar.
