ALL-TIME RECORD SET ON GREENVILLE MARKET

Observers Believe Japan Mobilizing Full Strength For Clash With Russians

GAINS MADE ON CHINA FRONTS

Nipponese Planes Bomb Military Airport Outside Nanking But Refrain from Shelling Thickly Populated Civilian Districts

Shanghai, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Japan was estimated by foreign military observers in north China to be mobilizing 600,000 troops for a possible clash with Russia as her army claimed advances on all China fronts.

French army authorities at Tientsin, headquarters of the Japanese North China expeditionary force, reported the full strength of Japan and Korea land Manchoukuo on the border of Soviet Siberia was being placed on a war footing in the event Russia became embroiled in the undeclared Sino-Japanese war.

(Dispatches from Tokyo said the war office had issued military orders number 41, directing virtually every able-bodied man in Japan in prolonging military service indefinitely for all officers and men on active and reserve lists.

(Both Japan and Russia were reported in Tokyo yesterday to be massing huge troop concentrations along the Manchoukuo-Siberia frontier.)

Thirty Japanese planes bombed the military airport outside Nanking, while a contingent roared over the Chinese section, Chapei, to drop a cargo of bombs which caused little apparent damage.

The Nanking raid lasted 10 minutes until Chinese pursuit craft drove back the attackers. Thickly populated areas were avoided in apparent reaction to foreign protests against Japanese bombardment of civilian areas.

The Japanese fleet in Shanghai also concentrated on Chinese anti-aircraft positions in Chapei. The anti-air guns, appearing in the capital since the first time, did little effective damage, but they did keep the Japanese planes at considerable heights.

Elsewhere along the Shanghai war line, there were by moon skirmishes during the day.

Greatest interest was directed toward the far north.

Only Meager Clue In Kidnapping Of Aged Chicago Man

Description Of Man Who Talked To Wealthy Retired Manufacturer Given By Hotel Bellboy

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(AP)—A hotel bellboy's meager description of a mysterious man in a gray cap furnished the only promising clue today to the kidnapers of wealthy and aged Charles S. Rose.

The man talked to Rose in a Syracuse, Ill., hotel a few hours before the 72-year-old retired greeting card manufacturer was abducted from the highway a few miles west of Chicago Saturday night.

No demands for ransom had been received by the victim's distraught wife. The kidnaper's silence raised a belief that Rose might have died from shock. He had suffered from heart disease.

The conversation between Rose and the man wearing the gray cap occurred at the Fargo hotel where the former had dined with his one-time secretary, Miss Florence Freilage, 44.

Cecil Vandemere, 19-year-old bell boy said the man approached him in the lobby and pointing at Rose asked:

"Do you know who that is, he looks like a man I used to know." Vandemere replied he did not know the elderly man. Later he said he was unable to tell if Rose and the stranger were acquainted.

Premier Mussolini and Chancellor Hitler Pictured as Appealing for Peaceful Collaboration With all Nations of 'Good Will'

Berlin, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The heads of the world's greatest fascist powers, Premier Mussolini and Chancellor Hitler, united today for what official circles pictured as an appeal for peaceful collaboration with all nations of "good will."

Nearly a million residents of Berlin thronged early toward Mayfield Olympic stadium to see and hear Hitler, the host and Mussolini, the guest, in their world-wide broadcast.

It was the fourth day of the Italian premier's history-making five-day visit to Germany.

Freshmen Welcomed At College By Dr. Meadows

GROUP TO HEAR THREE STATES

Farm Programs Of N. C., Va., and Tenn. to be Discussed

Raleigh, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Kerr Scott, North Carolina agriculture commissioner, said today he had been notified the senate agriculture committee expected to hear farm program suggestions for this state and Virginia as well as eastern Tennessee when it meets in Winston-Salem October 18.

Scott said he was told in a telephone conversation with the office of Senator Elison D. Smith, chairman of the committee, the Winston-Salem meeting had planned to hear only suggestions relating to cotton and tobacco.

Upon insistence by himself, extension service, farm bureau and state grange officials, Scott said he was told that truck farmers and peanut farmers also would be heard.

Scott discussed procedure to be followed at Winston-Salem with E. F. Arnold, secretary of the state farm bureau; Harry Caldwell of the state grange and Dean I. O. Schaub of the extension service. He telegraphed the commissioners of agriculture of Virginia and Tennessee that he would cooperate with them.

Logs Important Factor In Future Of Fort Raleigh

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Sept. 28.—What will happen to Fort Raleigh, site of the Roanoke Island celebration, depends largely upon settlement of an argument about whether logs were used by the 1584 settlers in building their shelters and, if they did use logs, whether they laid them vertically or horizontally.

The North Carolina Historical Commission wants to give the Fort to the National Park Service—offered it in 1936. The N. P. S. will not take it unless everything about it is considered authentic.

Frank Stick, of Elizabeth City and Nags Head, under whose plans the present fort was constructed, holds that the original settlers made their buildings of logs laid vertically.

He bases his contention largely upon an ancient account which speaks of "nether rooms," drawing from this the conclusion that there must have been upper rooms and the further conclusion that if the fort was two stories the logs must have been laid horizontally.

LEAGUE BACKS COMMITTEE ON CONDEMNATION

Assembly Adopts Resolution in Moment of Silence

JAPANESE AERIAL TACTICS SCORED

Profound Distress Expressed at Loss of Life Caused to Innocent Chinese

Geneva, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The League of Nations assembly condemned Japan's aerial bombardment of Chinese cities today by a moment of dramatic solemn silence.

There was no formal vote. The Aga Khan, delegate from India and newly elected assembly president, interpreted as a vote of unanimous approval the silence that followed presentation of the Sino-Japanese advisory committee's resolution of condemnation.

The assembly acted swiftly on the resolution. It had been adopted yesterday by the league advisory group, on which the United States is represented in a consultative capacity.

A letter accompanying the text of the measure from foreign minister, William Munters, of Latvia, president of the 23-nation Sino-Japanese committee, explained its purpose was to give delegates not represented on the committee an opportunity to subscribe to it.

Alvarez del Vayo, Spain's league delegate, then took the floor to support the resolution. At the end of his address the Aga Khan announced the body had approved the condemnation without a dissenting vote.

The brief condemnation of Japanese aerial tactics in the undeclared war in China, as approved by the advisory committee, expressed "profound distress at the loss of life caused to innocent civilians, including great number of women and children, as a result of bombardment."

LABOR FORCES MEET IN CLASH

A. F. of L. Men Force Way Through CIO Picket Lines

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 28.—(AP)—At least four men suffered severe injuries and scores were pummeled and bruised when American Federation of Labor members forced their way through picket lines of opposition unionists today at the Mueller Brothers company plant.

Kenneth Hunt, 21, was taken to Port Huron general hospital with internal injuries. He was knocked down and kicked when 400 American Federation of Labor members and about 100 CIO pickets fought with fists and clubs at the main gate.

The American Federation of Labor workers returned to their jobs on the day shift after running the picket line and production, interrupted last night, was resumed. The CIO unionists called a meeting for noon today after failing to close the plant this morning.

Police said they expected trouble at 3 p. m. when the CIO troops may be able to mobilize members from other plants.

Patrol Radio System Unofficially In Use

Although it has not been opened officially, the patrol radio system was pressed into use last night when officers here called the station at Williamston and had it broadcast the news of a car stolen from here.

The car belonged to C. W. Stokes, highway patrolman reported, and was taken from in front of his home about 7:30 o'clock last night. It was at least an hour before the officers knew of the theft, however.

Since the radio system has not been officially inaugurated, it was doubtful many patrolmen had their sets turned on. The system probably will be inaugurated this weekend.

No trace of the car has been found.

President Urges More Use Of Electric Power

Speaks at Newly Completed Bonneville Federal Dam

Bonneville Dam, Oregon, Sept. 28.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, reviewing his power objectives at this newly-completed federal dam, advocated today the "widest possible" use of electricity and forecast a "wider geographical distribution" of population as a result of such use.

Standing on a decorated platform beside the project's administration building about a quarter of a mile from the dam, he told also the thousands grouped before him his program would not destroy individual liberties.

"My conception of liberty," he said, "does not permit an individual citizen or group of citizens to commit acts of depredation against nature in such a way as to harm neighbors and specifically harm the land."

BANK ROBBERY LAID TO PAYNE

Escaped Convict Identified in Candor Holdup Today

Candor, N. C., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Two armed bandits, one of whom was tentatively identified as Bill Payne, escaped convict, held up the Bank of Candor here today and escaped with cash estimated at between $2,500 and $3,000.

M. T. McCaskill, cashier, said he felt certain the loot would not exceed those figures. McCaskill and his assistants, Miss Ruby McCaskill said they were "almost sure" after viewing photographs of Payne, one of the robbers was he.

The cashier said the two men came into the bank shortly after 11 a. m. A third sat in a new black sedan at the curb.

One of the men, McCaskill said, asked for change for $10. "I did not have it handy and had to go to the vault for it," the cashier related.

Raleigh, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The Local Government commission sold four small note issues today including:

Hunters Advised Get New Hunting Permits

With the hunting season opening October 1 on squirrels, coon, opossum (with dogs), bear and deer, J. O. Teel, county game protector, today warned sportsmen to abide by the law and purchase their license.

In the past there have been several arrests each week for violations of the game laws and hunters find the experience quite expensive, fines running from $10 to $21.

Fox hunters also are required to purchase the permits.

FOR ISSUANCE OF CITY BONDS

Better Sewer System Favored By Health Officer

Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Pitt county health officer, today expressed the opinion the proposed additions and extensions to the water and sewer systems would be a big improvement to the health and sanitary conditions.

Carrying out the improvements to the two utility systems depends upon the outcome of a bond election set for October 4. The citizens will vote on whether or not to issue $200,000 in long-term bonds. Of this amount $150,000 would be used by the Water and Light Commission and would be repaid by the commission without any increase in rates or additional cost to the taxpayers. The additional $50,000 would be used for street improvements.

Dr. Ennett explained that much of the city's sewage is now emptying into the river at a point so near the water intake that it constitutes a great health hazard. He was strong in his endorsement of the proposal that the sewage outfall be carried at a distance down the river.

"Another health hazard," he declared, "is the sewage from the cross adjacent to the college, which now empties into Green's mill run. While this sewage empties some little distance down the run and is not so much a health hazard for the city proper, it creates a hazard to the suburban development along the Washington highway."

The health officer added he considered these improvements not only essential to the health of the people, but absolutely essential to the continued growth of the city.

Court Continues On Railway Damage Suit

Today's session of Pitt Superior court was taken up by the $1,500 damage suit brought against the Atlantic Coast Line railway by H. L. Tetterton. The case was started yesterday morning.

Mr. Tetterton contends the railroad should reimburse him for crops lost because of high water, alleging that negligence of the line to provide proper drainage facilities was responsible for the high water.

Court Clerks Instructed In Handling Appeal Cases

Raleigh, Sept. 28.—Clerks of Superior court throughout the state have just been sent instructions from Supreme Court Clerk Edward Murray telling them just how they should handle appeals in capital cases resulting in conviction and the death sentence.

The instructions were sent out, Mr. Murray said, because so many clerks have made mistakes in handling these appeals. Only recently there was quite a mixup over the appeal of "Freicher" Caldwell, Iredell Negro convicted of rape, and for a time it seemed that the Negro would be due for execution without anything having been done about his appeal.

Mr. Murray has now instructed all clerks that if notice of appeal has properly been entered the execution is stayed either by an appeal bond or by an order permitting the defendant to appeal as a pauper.

The clerk of the Superior court in which the appellant was convicted should certify to the Warden of the State Prison and Attorney General not only the notice of appeal, but also the fact that the appeal bond has been given or an order made permitting the defendant to appeal without bond," say the instructions.

Commenting on pauper appeals attorneys appointed to defend in capital cases are not acquainted with the law enabling them to appeal at the expense of the county, rather than by the usual "in forma pauperis" manner which calls for a vast expenditure of work on their part.

He pointed out that the statute says that whenever a convicted felon is unable to pay for an appeal "on account of his poverty, it shall be the duty of the county upon order of the judge to pay necessary costs of obtaining transcript of the record and of procuring the requisite copies and briefs which the defendant is required to file."

The statute applies only when counsel was appointed by the court, but applies in cases where the defendant was indicted for a capital offense and convicted of a lesser crime.

$500,954.42 Paid Out Also Believed To Have Been Record Figure; Prices Continue Strong, Average of $29.46 Being Highest So Far This Season

An all-time poundage record was established on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday when 1,700,488 pounds of the golden weed was sold on the warehouse floors here.

Records were not available for comparison, but it was officially stated that yesterday's offerings were the largest ever auctioned on the local market in any one day.

It also was unofficially stated that the money paid out here yesterday—$500,954.42—was the greatest amount for any one day, since the market was established.

Another record: the $29.46 average per hundred pounds was the highest of this season.

With such figures as the above, it was only natural that the Greenville tobacco market replaced the Far Eastern and Spanish conflicts as general topics of conversation throughout the city today.

The air of optimism was the most pronounced since the market opened here on August 26. Already this year almost half as much money has been paid out on the Greenville market as was during the entire season in 1936.

With the daily average price having climbed steadily for the past week or so, the season's general average has climbed until now it is $22.23.

Yesterday, the biggest day the Greenville market has ever experienced brought the total offerings for the season to 24,090,694 pounds. For this amount farmers have been paid $5,333,735.30.

Prices on all grades were stronger Monday and observers declared that prices continued strong today, although the quality of the offerings was below that of the leaf on the floor yesterday.

The market thus far is averaging well over a million pounds daily, there having been 23 sales days and more than 24,000,000 pounds having been sold.

With the crop generally conceded to be the largest since 1933, when 70,218,690 pounds were sold, the farmers are realizing much better returns than in years. In 1933 the average price was $18.70 and brought farmers a total of $1,742,050.33. Indications are that this amount will be exceeded by a large figure this year, almost half that amount having already been paid out this year.

Storm Apparently Heads Out To Sea With No Damages

Winds Reported Along North Carolina Coast Up To Maximum Of 30 Miles An Hour Subsidizing

Beaufort, Sept. 28.—(AP)—A storm heading this way from off the Florida coast apparently had swept out to sea today.

Weather reports from points along the North Carolina seaboard indicated winds that rose to a 30-mile-an-hour velocity were subsidizing.

There were no reports of casualties or property damage.

Richard Baily, meteorologist in charge of the U. S. weather bureau at Hatteras, said he was confident the storm had turned seaward before reaching the North Carolina coast.

He said the highest wind which whipped Cape Hatteras during the night had a velocity of 28 miles per hour and the lowest barometer reading was 29.88.

At Fort Macon the thermometer dropped to 29.97 but about midnight it was 30.15 and winds were subsidizing there.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

New York. —(AP)—A rat, says B. E. Holsendorf, U. S. Public Health service, is able to "gnaw through medium soft sheets of aluminum."

That is about the same of the rat's achievements to date in trying to keep close to man. The rat has always lived with man, preferring his food to any other.

Science is trying to rat-proof civilization. But the Public Health service estimates that there is still one rat for every human in civilized area. A special reason for American interest in wailing of the rodents at the moment is the bubonic plague.

That is the Black Death which once killed about half the people in Europe. This plague has spread through much of the American west in ground squirrels which keep away from man. But the squirrels can infect rats, and rat fleas will give man the plague.

Rat proofing is possible, Mr. Holsendorf says. Architectural design is almost as important as materials. Rats, he finds, easily gnaw through lead. Steel and concrete baffle them.

When a submarine is expecting to meet enemy ships, she cruises along the surface with her ballast tanks half filled with water in order to dive more rapidly.

CHEST TALKED AT CIVIC MEET

Rotary Members Endorse Community Program

By WYATT BROWN

Prominent citizens at the Rotary Club last night announced themselves heartily in favor of the Community Chest as it has been set up in Greenville, and exhorted the people of Greenville to help put it over. Judson Blount, as chairman of the Rotary community service committee, said he was "sold" on the Community Chest idea for Greenville and told Rotarians that Rotary International directs Rotary Clubs to cooperate in such projects.

Relating his experience as a solicitor for community projects Jasper Winslow averred that he thought the chest idea was a fine thing. He told how once when he was at the age that he was serving his apprenticeship as a solicitor for community projects, he had two tobacco warehousemen to run from him for fear he was approaching them as a solicitor for funds. Upon assurance that he was entering their warehouse to arrange to sell tobacco, the warehousemen stopped running away. He indicated that solution would have much better reception since there will be only one solicitor instead of a multiplicity.

Speaking as the son of a preacher who had had to have charity administered to him by a woman who wanted to impress others that she had more property than others, J. H. Rose spoke highly in favor of the chest idea since it meant the placement of resources for charity in the hands of competent administrators.

More important for consideration Mr. Rose declared was the fact that a Community Chest successfully put over would mean Greenville was really a united Greenville and that a fine community spirit did exist.

Being one of those called in for the organization of the drive to raise money for the chest, Alfred Schultz said he found a fine group of leaders. So he exhorted his hearers to enlist under the already provided "general."

Next to speak was Rev. W. A. Ryan who has been selected by the board of directors of the Community Chest to be chairman of the drive to raise funds. First he told how he was impressed by the way the busy, prominent business men who made up the board of directors took their valuable time gladly to hear the presentation of the participating agencies and then in executive session analyzed and approved the budgets requested by each agency—Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, Red Cross and Thrift Shop.

Mr. Ryan said he would need one hundred men and women to volunteer to put on the canvass to raise the funds but could use two hundred. He announced that there will be a breakfast the morning of October 4 for all those volunteering as solicitors. He said the town had been carefully mapped out for an organized program of solicitation.

Then Mr. Ryan announced that the budget would be $5,200 which in his opinion, is a small sum for the first year. Following which in his characteristic manner he said it was up to the people of Greenville to put over the drive and not "wait for the Lord to do it." In the midst of the enthusiasm of the occasion he warned that if Greenville fails to raise the $5,200, the community ought not to have a chest.

Judson Blount then called on someone to explain what the Thrift Shop was all about. In view of the fact that many Greenville people have not heard of it, though it is included in the budget. The Thrift Shop is to start essentially a volunteer movement to assist in welfare work in Greenville. It is proposed that an office be maintained the year round in which a card file will be kept of all persons who receive aid of any sort. Who gave aid and the nature of it will be kept on record so that anyone at anytime can check a person seeking aid and prevent duplication in the case of impostors.

Second, clothing and furniture and other miscellaneous items which have been donated, cleaned and renovated will be kept in the Thrift Shop for sale at a minimum price for those who are able to pay a little for things they need. Payment may be in money, labor or services from the indigent or free on order from proper agencies.

Third, a motor messenger service will be maintained composed of a list of volunteer people with cars who on certain dates will be available by pre-arrangement to carry in cars indigents to and from free clinics who are unable to walk. The whole idea of the Thrift Shop is predicated on the willing-future generations of America." Because of a late start in the day's busy program, the President switched plans and spoke before driving to inspect the towering $51,000,000 dam on the Columbia river.

On the platform were Governor Charles Martin of Oregon, Senators McNary of Oregon, the Senate Republican leader; Schwelienbach (D-Wash.) and Congressmen from Oregon, Washington and California.

Governor Martin introduced the President. He recalled the inception of Bonneville Dam and said the chief executive, "like the Greeks of old, has come himself to rejoice with us in this great undertaking." Scattered applause and laughter came first when the President rebuked those who objected to governmental interference with what they "miscall" the liberty of the individual.

Hand-clapping and cheering also greeted his statement favoring the "widest possible" use of power developed at great federal projects like Bonneville, Grand Coulee and others.

American Oil Company Again makes Gas History with Greatest AMOCO-GAS

The history of America is the story of achievement. The story of men who dreamed great dreams... and then made these dreams come true.

This American Spirit, which made the U.S. the greatest nation in the world, has been one of the major factors in the success of the American Oil Company. This company revolutionized the automotive industry—made possible today's high compression motor—by introducing Amoco-Gas, the first and original special motor fuel.

Amoco-Gas, for years, has held more world's records than any other motor fuel. But science dreamed of an even greater Amoco-Gas. So we spent millions of dollars... new processes were invented and patented... new equipment perfected... the greatest and most modern refining unit in the world was made even more modern.

Result: the new Amoco-Gas is the greatest in our history! Literally, better than the world's best! Try it! You'll get a new driving thrill—and real economy!

IT'S YOUR FAIR

Work on the new Pitt County Fair grounds is progressing rapidly and every-thing will be in readiness long before the opening date of the fair October 18. The Farmville and Pitt County Posts of the American Legion are sponsoring the fair in an effort to give the people of this county as good a fair as possible and it is to be hoped that the people will in turn support the fair. The premium list of around $1,000 being offered for farm and home exhibits should be an incentive to our people to take an active interest in placing exhibits at the fair. As we have said on previous occasions in this column, the fair will be just as good as our people are willing to make it and no better. If we want a good fair in Pitt County and are willing to support it, we can have one. Otherwise we cannot have one and we are sure that the American Legion Posts of this county do not want to continue to operate the fair unless it can be a credit to the county.

BETTER TOBACCO PRICES

Better tobacco prices are bringing back a feeling of optimism to the tobacco growers and residents generally of this tobacco growing area. Yesterday was not only one of the best days of the season from a price standpoint throughout the belt but it was a record for the local market from the standpoint of a single day's sale and total amount of money paid out. While yesterday's sales averaged around the 30 cents mark, the season's average so far is less than 23 cents, and in view of the fact that probably more than a third of the crop has already been sold, there will have to be a lot of high average days if the season's average price is to reach anywhere near the 25 cents mark. At the beginning of the season we expressed the belief that less than a 25 cents average for this crop would be unsatisfactory to the growers and in the face of the rising prices we are hopeful that this figure will be reached for the season's sales. Twenty-five cents a pound, we believe, would be a fair price for this crop and certainly we feel that the growers are entitled to a fair return for their labors and investment in producing a commodity out of which handlers, processors and manufacturers make millions of dollars annually.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Sept. 28.—Caldwell county will be "all lit up" if it ever gets electricity flowing in all the miles of wire authorized for it. It is the only county in the state with more miles of rural lines than miles of roads, the figures standing 474.49 miles of authorized electric lines to 412.6 miles of roads.

In many places in the county lines of the county cooperative, backed by the Federal Rural Electrification administration parallel lines of the Duke Power company. As yet there is no "juice" in the coop lines, while those of the private power company are spreading light, if not joy.

Incidentally, the Duke Power company has constructed 320.25 miles of rural lines in 29 counties since July 1, according to its report just made to the state Rural Electrification authority. This total came from 160 different extensions, making the average extension a matter of some two miles. The new lines serve approximately 2,000 new customers. Shortest extension (five one-hundredths of a mile) was in Mecklenburg county, longest (25.7) was in Wilkes.

Since the first of the year the Duke company has built 1,082.19 miles of rural lines, serving approximately 6,400 new customers.

Senator J. W. Bailey and the Raleigh News and Observer are now arguing whether the former was "sick" or "fishing" when Justice Black was confirmed. They agreed, however, that Mr. Bailey was in Morehead City and not in Washington.

One Ben Wand, otherwise unidentified, obviously does not like the New Deal.

Recently he inserted a paid advertisement in the Washington Daily News declaring "I am a Tory." He takes in lots of territory in his classification of present day Tories, saying: "A sharecropper is a Liberal but a landlord is a Tory. Every New Deal pie eater is a Liberal. Every tax payer is a Tory."

Returning from the American Legion's New York convention, members of Palm Beach Voiture 290, Forty and Eight, stopped here long enough to aid Raleigh police in a campaign for traffic safety.

The Florida men drove up and down the main drag in their funny looking reproduction of a French locomotive and its accompanying box car (accommodating for 40 men and 8 horses), broadcasting a safety appeal by loudspeaker.

"Assist your local police by obeying all traffic regulations," was the refrain of their exhortations.

Most of the pulp and paper companies having mills in North Carolina or which are buying pulp wood here for use in other states, even though they already have large acreage holdings in the state, are planning to buy the pulp wood they need from the landowners and farmers just as long as they can get the necessary supply from them according to F. H. Claridge, assistant state forester in charge of forest management for the forestry division of the Department of Conservation and Development.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grouer
Washington—If papa is a "loner" and likes to spend four evenings a week at the Elks club and a fifth at a meeting of "older boys" he may have trouble getting his family into one of the suburban resettlement projects such as the one now opening near Washington.

Previously we mentioned the resettlement administration's searching examination into the private lives of prospective tenants of the three suburban projects inaugurated by Rex Tugwell before he left the government to work for a sugar company.

This bit will give an idea of the sort of communities the resettlement administration now part of the farm administration hopes to build up.

Greenbelt, 12 miles out of Washington, is now receiving tenants and will be a pattern for the other two, which are 70 per cent complete and will become a haven to rent-ridden residents of Cincinnati and Milwaukee in a few months.

Of course the government has had to subsidize the dwellings. Of the total cost of $14,227,000 for Greenbelt, $3,829,000 was charged off to work relief, land reserve and other items. The result is that the government can offer rental rates that curl the hair of local landlords. For instance a four room house at Greenbelt including electric refrigerator, range and bathroom gadgets, will be turned over to a man wife and child for $29 to $31 a month.

In Washington the same place would cost at least three times that amount. Of course, as explained yesterday, there is a hitch for the family to occupy the house must fall within certain income limits. If the income is less than $1,000 a year Greenbelt doesn't want the family. After all, the rent must be paid and the place can't be turned into a charitable institution. If the income is more than $1800, it is too much, and the family must be content with one room and bath at $50 in Washington.

Some folks always saw an aura of communism around Tugwell, so the present administration is careful to explain that while it is seeking to help the lowly, it is certainly not hankering for a hive of communism. It wants good-intentioned families who will hold their jobs, pay their bills, keep their children clean and sweet kids.

Papa and mama will be expected to take a reasonable share in community affairs and help elect the town council. If papa has to be away from home four or five nights a week on his own affairs, he probably will be considered altogether too jovial and likely to neglect his own family.

And families are important at Greenbelt, Greendale (Milwaukee) and Green Hills (Cincinnati). At Greenbelt, the 855 families are expected to supply 750 school children, not including babies and tots.

Negroes are excluded from Greenbelt by providing a separate housing project for them. The problem of apportioning the houses among other population groups was solved by ruling that they would be distributed on the basis of the tenant population in Washington. That means that 34 per cent of the houses will go to Catholics, 17 per cent to Episcopalians, 16 per cent to Methodists, and about 7 per cent each to Presbyterians and Jews. Baptists and others make up the balance.

And don't get the idea the places are not in demand. For the 885 places at Greenbelt, 3,912 families registered, 2,340 were found eligible and the list grows daily.

As you might expect 74 per cent of the applicants were government employees.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—What is by far New York's most exciting season is beginning. It is the sprint from October till Christmas, with new plays jostling one another like apples in a barrel and the winter festivities boiling up with exuberance of a thousand singing kettles.

New snow and fresh plays and exciting first nights. Frost plumes in the air and football and people come alive. Theatrical critics bursting from stage doors at 11:10 p. m. and grabbing hacks, in a rush to get their reviews into print before dead-line.

Always it seems that fall brings the most tingling experiences. It is the season that, in retrospect, crystallizes the sum of good times.

I remember a Saturday afternoon in November, a day calling for turning maple leaves and creaming stadiums, with pennants flying and bands playing. You would smell the last nutty fragrance of fall. That was the afternoon I saw Osgood Perkins in "Good-Bye Again." I will never forget that day, or that play, or Osgood Perkins.

I remember a Monday night in early winter. Six inches of new snow was on the sidewalks and in the streets. It was still white and brittle and untouched by the dirt and the mud and the intangible discoloration with which any big city defiles and makes ugly new snow. On that night I saw "Accent on Youth," which, through a welter of good plays and bad, remains as vivid as a policeman's badge. . . . There were three of us and we walked home in the snow, quoting the lines and laughing like dolls over amusing situations in the play.

"Twentieth Century," the Hecht and MacArthur play, with its lunatic producer (in the play) and its insane press-agent (in the play) to whom everyone was either a foul Corsican or a foul Aztec. . . . "Reunion in Vienna," with Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne. . . . "Dinner at Eight." "Design for Living." "The Children's Hour." All these, and others, which were bright golden butter-balls of triumphs and each represented to this observer, at least an exciting day in the swiftest, most breathtaking and tingling of all seasons—the winter show season in New York.

Now we have another new season, new like a bright new coin to be spun and flipped into the air and caught again and again before the newness wears off and it slips away from us without somehow our knowing how or when.

It will be a period of haunting the West Forties, for there is where most of the theatres are to be found and of fine dusty snow beating down on tiaras and tall silk hats as the doorman hands them down from their cabs. . . . And of the rise of first curtains and the hushed quiet as the actors come on and as the burst of chatter and the rush for the foyers as the between-act curtains come ringing down.

IN CIRCUS MENAGERIE

If the giraffe had a sore throat, he ever develops a touch of indigestion.

The authentic dimensions of the hippo's gastronomic equipment was found in the "New Natural History" by Richard Lydekker, B. A., F. G. S., F. Z. S., internationally known zoological authority.

The stomach, which when extended measures some 11 feet in length, writes Lydekker, "is indeed capable of containing between 5 and 6 bushels."

weighing 4 tons or more, and it takes a flock of vitamins to fuel such a body.

And there is another reason for the hippo's big stomach. The animal is strictly vegetarian, and a herbivorous diet, it seems, requires a big and energetic stomach.

That perhaps should be a lesson for spinach eaters.

BRITAIN WARNED OF WAR-TIME FAMINE
London, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Prediction that Britain would be starved into submission in the first month or two of a new war, unless vast quantities of emergency rations were stored throughout the country, has been made by J. R. Clynes who was food controller during the World war. In his "memoirs," Clynes hits hard at war-mongers: "By whose agency war occurs it is difficult to say unless it is by those concerns whose life depends on the continued production of private fortunes from armaments. The armaments race was won in 1918. Death stood grinning at the finish point... we won the race."

beans, and cheese may be the road to longevity. Pavel Biskup, a young Czech doctor who has spent two years studying the reasons for the long lives of peasants and shepherds of a Balkan district, came to the preliminary conclusion it had to do with uniform diets that for generations seem to have been especially suited to the people. In most cases, bread and beans were the most important foods. Little meat was eaten, and then only in winter. Cheese was found to be an important item, but little milk was consumed, and that mostly sour. Vegetables, especially peppers, tomatoes, and onions, are eaten raw. Fruits and fats are avoided. Eighty per cent of the cases studied used alcohol, but in moderation.
