Marines Sprayed With Shrapnel By Exploding Bombs

FORCED LEAVE N. C. RAILROAD DEFENSE POST SHOWS PROFIT

Japanese Claim To Have Driven Chinese War Planes From Air; Spokesman Declares 300 Defense Ships Destroyed

Continues in Black Despite Loss During Month of August

Raleigh, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Governor Hoey said today the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad had a loss of $3,215.96 on its August operation, but still showed a profit of $14,894.85 for the eight months of the year.

The State owns a majority in the corporation owning the railroad. President H. P. Crowell submitted the financial statements to the Governor.

Crowell pointed out August operating revenues were up 10 per cent over July and 15 per cent over August 1936, but that operating expenses and taxes increased.

The net loss during August, Mr. Crowell said, was "due entirely to rents paid for the hire of freight cars in the movement of scrap metal for exports."

The debit balance on the item for August was $3,933.41, he said. He attributed the improvement in August business to movement of tobacco and said tobacco continued to move during September and that scrap iron began to move again.

It is expected September and October will show increased revenues. Crowell said. He said a boat to load scrap iron was expected in October.

Shanghai, Oct. 5.—(AP)—United States marines were sprayed with shrapnel today and forced to evacuate their defense outposts along the northern boundary of the international settlement when Japanese war planes rained 15 bombs on one of China's largest flour mills, just across Soochow creek.

The Japanese claimed to have driven China's war planes from the air, a spokesman asserting some 300 Chinese fighting craft had been destroyed in the three months of undeclared war. The Japanese drive to crack the Chinese defense positions in the Chapei sector was halted on land, however, and Chinese machine guns mowed down Japanese marines like ten pins.

As the battle raged across the narrow creek from the American positions, Brigadier General John Beaumont ordered his marines to withdraw temporarily out of the line of fire.

The marines occupied their positions two hours later. Beaumont explained the withdrawal was ordered because the Japanese bombardment did not endanger the international settlement and it was needless to risk American lives in holding the endangered outposts.

The Chinese and Japanese lines were no farther apart than 10 yards at many points of the line through the Chinese city. The Pantheon theatre was changed into a "man's-land" with Japanese sandbag barricades at the back door and Chinese at the front door.

As the bitter day's fighting for the environs of Shanghai ended in apparent stalemate, Japanese war planes turned their bombardment at sunset to the Footing industrial area.

First Victims Of Hunting Accidents Seriously Injured

Luther Harris Shot in Hip by Son This Morning; Harry Wilson Shoots Self in Shoulder

Two hunting accidents already have been reported in this immediate vicinity since the opening of the season, coming as a warning to sportsmen to be careful.

Luther Harris was painfully injured this morning when he was accidentally shot in the hip, by his son while they were squirrel hunting near their home across the river. Mr. Harris, a good distance from his son, was in a stooping position with the tail of a squirrel sticking out of his hip pocket. His son got a glimpse of the squirrel and opened fire, the lead striking his father in the hip. Mr. Harris was brought to a doctor's office where he was treated for the injury, but his condition is not considered serious.

Harry Wilson, about 15 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Wilson of this city, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon when an automatic shotgun accidentally discharged. He also was treated by a local physician. Mrs. Wilson declared today that her son had an uncomfortable night, but was resting better today.

The charge from the gun pierced the youth's collar bone and his injuries are considered serious.

FHA Official Anxious Welcome Former King Duke Coming Here To Study Housing Problem

Washington, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Government housing officials, as proud of their low rent dwellings as any young bride, said today they would welcome a chance to show the Duke of Windsor how the United States has tackled the housing problem.

The Duke, accompanied by his American-born duchess, is expected to leave Paris soon for a study of housing and labor conditions in Germany and this country.

From Stewart McDonald, FHA administrator, came a statement "we will give all cooperation and will make available to the Duke and Duchess all facilities of the FHA."

"PWA officials suggested the Duke might wish to make a 'circle tour' through the east, south and midwest to inspect large scale housing projects built with government loans and grants.

Other news was: The Supreme court began its secret consideration of more than 400 petitions, including two challenges to the right of associate justice Black to remain on the bench.

Senator Reynolds of North Carolina said he favored a special session of congress in November, provided it is restricted to consideration of farm legislation.

"But if we are not going to confine ourselves exclusively to farm legislation, a special session would be worthless," he added.

Alonzo L. Miller Claimed By Death

Alonzo L. Miller, 66, died at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his home in Erul. Funeral services were conducted this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the graveside in the family cemetery by Rev. John R. Smith, Christian minister of New Bern.

Mr. Miller is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sarah J. Miller; a sister, Mrs. Eliza Tyndall, of Lenoir county, and several nieces and nephews.

Mr. Miller moved to the Erul community 50 years ago and has made his home there since.

Active pallbearers were C. P. Heath, George W. Ipeck, Dave Peetee, Louis Barden, W. F. Metts and J. T. Bright.

Franklin Bootlegger Gets Heavy Sentence

Simon Colley of Franklin county, who was caught transporting 180 gallons of whiskey recently by Pitt County ABC Officer James M. Ward and two Beaufort county officers, was given a year and a day sentence and fined a total of $1,200 in Federal court in Washington yesterday.

Colley was caught near Pactolus after a spirited chase. He was "spotted" by the officers while they were after another alleged bootlegger.

Morrison Would Provide Opposition For Reynolds

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Oct. 5.—Cam Morrison, former governor and United States senator, will oppose Robert R. Reynolds, the man who beat him overwhelmingly in 1932, in next year's senatorial sweepstakes, if no other seriously considered candidate enters the lists. At least that's the way the situation stacks up as of today.

When Mr. Morrison foregathered with Governor Clyde R. Hoey, Congressman R. L. Doughton, former Governor O. Max Gardner and others of the political big game at Shelby last week-end, he all but came right out in meeting and announced his candidacy.

According to reports from the Cleveland county metropolis, Cam said he is "tempted" to run; that he would like to get back at Bob Reynolds with a cartering campaign; that he "has been modest long enough for a defeated candidate." All in all he appeared willing (if there is such a comparative) than Barks of Charles Dickens fame.

All this, no doubt, is being taken in stride by Senator Reynolds who (Continued on Page Four)

MONDAY SALES ON LEAF MART BREAK RECORD

Average of $32.29 Highest Established This Season

MONEY PAID OUT ALSO NEW HIGH

Offerings of 1,731,926 Pounds Largest Amount Weed Ever Sold in One Day

Three new records for the season or longer were established on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday when the heaviest offerings of the year were sold for the highest average and brought farmers the largest sum paid out in any one day.

Although last Monday's offerings of 1,700,488 pounds was thought to have been a record which would stand for the local market for some time, yesterday's sale of 1,731,926 pounds set a new all-time high for the Greenville market.

The $559,250.05 paid farmers for their offerings Monday was the largest sum ever paid out in any one day on the market.

An average of $32.29 per hundred pounds also was a new record for the season or longer and was nearly three dollars higher than the average established Monday of last week.

In the 28 days the market has been open this season 30,565,080 pounds of the weed have been sold here, bringing a total of $7,285,461.69. The high daily averages paid for the past two weeks or so has brought the general season's average up to $23.84 per hundred pounds.

For the sake of comparison, a check shows that on the first Monday in October last year 1,357,702 pounds of tobacco were sold on the Greenville market for $40,311.21. The average of $29.66 was the highest of the season up to that date. Farmers received $7.23 a hundred pounds more for their offerings yesterday than they did on the first Monday in October in 1936.

Prices continue strong on the Greenville market and offerings are running far ahead of last year.

Meeting Planned For Legion Posts

Pitt county legionnaires and their wives will attend a get-together meeting Friday night at 7 o'clock at Green Wreath park, on the Falkland highway.

The scene of the meeting, at which dinner will be served, is about nine miles from Greenville and about the same distance from Farmville. The two American Legion posts in the county, located in Greenville and Farmville, are cooperating in the movement.

A committee on arrangements is headed by Dr. Paul E. Jones of the Farmville post and S. A. Whitehurst of the local unit.

Members of both posts are urged to attend with their wives.

CALLS POWERS DISCUSS CRISIS

League Group Invited To Meet at Earliest Moment

Geneva, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The drafting committee of the league advisory group on the Sino-Japanese conflict agreed today that signatories of the nine-power treaty, including the United States, should be "invited" to meet at the earliest possible moment to examine the far eastern situation.

It was understood also concessions were made to a Chinese demand that the nine-power conference invitation not be the only action taken. The Chinese representatives insisted the league also should recognize its obligation to act.

A raft of the proposals is to be submitted later to the sub-committee of 13, and if approved there, to be then presented to the full advisory committee, which in turn would report to the league assembly.

The effort to call together the nine powers earlier had been snagged by determined Chinese and Russian opposition in a conference on the conflict.

The Chinese delegation, supported by their Russian allies, were learned to have opposed the British project unless the league of nations continues its study of charges accusing Japan as an aggressor nation.

BOND ELECTION GOES OVER TOP

Voters Favor $200,000 Issue, for Water, Sewers, Streets

Voting in the bond election yesterday was light, less than 500 votes having been cast, but the proposal was carried by a wide margin.

The vote was called on the question of issuing $150,000 in long term bonds to make improvement, and extensions to the water and sewer systems and $50,000 for street improvements.

Voters registered their choice separately on each of the proposals—water, sewer and street. Wards one, two and three, voting for which was at the court house, favored issuance of the water bonds by a vote of 243 to 43. The sewer bonds passed 241 to 43, and the street improvement issue carried 230 to 52 at the box.

Citizens in wards four and five voted at the city hall and the margins of victory were about the same as at the courthouse. The water bond issue was favored 151 to 45, sewer, 153 to 43, and street, 156 to 41.

The combined vote for the city water bonds, 394 for and 88 against, sewer, 394 for and 88 against, street, 394 for and 88 against.

Chief Executive Calls On All Peace-Loving Nations To Join Concerted Effort

Shanghai Victim's Last Tribute

In a flag-draped casket, the body of Sailor Freddie J. Falgout came to his home at Raceland, La., from Shanghai, where he was killed August 20 by shell fragments that showered the U.S.S. Augusta. Sailors from the naval recruiting station served as pallbearers at the funeral in St. Mary's church. Walking behind the casket are Falgout's weeping sweetheart, Louise St. Germain, and his father, Harrison Falgout.

SAYS AMERICA WILLING HELP

Roosevelt Arraigns Aggressor Nations And Declares There Must Be Positive Endeavor to Preserve Peace of World

Chicago, Oct. 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt bitterly arraigned aggressor nations before the bar of world opinion today and called upon peace-loving countries to join in a "concerted effort" to restore international tranquility.

Speaking out formally and aggressively on foreign affairs for the first time in months, but withholding any definite proposal for an international conference or invocation of peace pacts, he asserted bluntly in dedicating the outer link bridge here:

"There must be positive endeavor to preserve peace."

He said America, determined to stay out of war, would not remain aloof from these efforts and as if in reply to those who have been urging an American neutrality proclamation, declared:

"The peace-loving nations must make a concerted effort in opposition to those violations of treaties and those ignorings of humane instincts which today are creating a state of international anarchy and instability from which there is no escape through mere isolation or neutrality."

Without mentioning any nations by name, it was clear his indictment of aggressors for "definite" violations of agreements embraced the Sino-Japanese conflict, the Mediterranean submarine attacks, outside interference in the Spanish civil war, and possibly went as far back as the Japanese invasion of Manchuria and Italy's Ethiopian campaign.

The President, near the end of the longest and most significant speech of his current coast-to-coast trip, asserted America was "determined to keep out of war, yet we cannot insure against the disastrous effects of wars and the dangers of involvement."

Nine Cases Called At Morning Term Of County Court

Three Convicted and Fined, Two Acquitted, One Case Nolle Prossed and Three Transferred

Of the nine cases called in County court this morning, three were transferred to Superior court, a nolle pro was taken in another, two defendants were acquitted and three convicted.

Cases charging David Crisp with larceny, William Merritt with driving careless and reckless, and Alton Johnston with driving careless and reckless, were transferred to Superior court.

Wiley Edge, Negro, was acquitted of a charge of failing to support his children, and Robert Lovitt was freed on a charge of false pretense.

A nolle pro was taken in the case charging James Mangus, alias James Mangus Ford, with possessing liquor for sale.

Johnnie Hyman, Negro, was given a 90-day sentence, suspended upon payment of $25, following his conviction of a liquor charge.

B. A. Chadwick, Negro, was fined $25, had his license suspended for 90 days and given a 60-day suspended sentence upon entering a plea to careless and reckless driving.

Robert Lovitt was given a 60-day sentence, suspended upon condition he pay the costs and pay J. Sam Fleming, prosecuting witness, $6 following his conviction of larceny. The defendant appealed to Superior court and bond was fixed at $200.

ACCUSE BOARD OF AIDING CIO

A. F. of L. Resolution Asks Labor Board Be Dissolved

Denver, Oct. 5.—(AP)—A fiery resolution introduced at the American Federation of Labor convention by the boot and shoe workers union called upon President Roosevelt today to disband the national labor relations board because, it said, the board is "actively supporting and upholding" the CIO.

The resolution, which A. F. of L. leaders said echoed sentiment of the federation as a whole, was sent to the resolutions committee of the convention which opened here yesterday. There was no indication when the committee would report on it.

The resolution asked Mr. Roosevelt, Congress and Secretary of Labor Perkins to discharge the labor board's employees because board personnel is "selected, dictated, controlled and supervised by CIO," headed by John Lewis.

William Green, A. F. of L. president, called upon the federation yesterday to expel Lewis and his 19 "rebel" unions.

"The hour is here," he said in a speech opening the convention, "having appealed to them for two years to come back, you will now order your board of directors to revoke the charters of this dual movement."

More fireworks were in the air meanwhile as the time neared for Warren Madden, chairman of the labor board, to address the convention.

City Community Chest Campaign Gets Off To Good Start

Those in charge of the Community Chest campaign expressed themselves as pleased with the start made yesterday toward raising the proposed budget of $4,700.

The condition of the weather presented a handicap which made it difficult to do more than a fraction of the work planned for the day. Even with this unfavorable condition, contributions to the total of $612 were received.

One of the most encouraging features about the present campaign so far is that very small percentage of the amounts contributed are covered by pledges. While the committee is glad to have pledges payable during the year, it was pointed out that every dollar paid in cash reduces the cost of operation by reducing the cost of collection. If the present trend is continued in the matter of cash receipts, the proposed budget may be further reduced.

One very important matter which must be borne in mind by contributors is that this is a combined budget for three agencies and not merely for one, as in the past. If contributors give to the combined budget only what they gave last year, say the Boy Scouts or the Salvation Army, then they are making no provision for the larger work to be carried on by the combined program.

There has been some misunderstanding concerning the actual disbursement of the funds received in the Community Chest. The directors wish to make clear that the officials of the Community Chest will not disburse funds but will turn them over to the treasurers of the participating agencies, namely, the Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, and (Continued on Page Two)

Much Activity Going On At New Fair Ground Site

The new fair grounds site on the Falkland highway is the scene of much activity and everything is expected to be in readiness for the second edition of the American Legion sponsored exposition, to be held October 18-23.

A new and modernistic arch has been erected over the entrance and arrangements will be effected to take care of the pedestrians and motorists in an orderly manner.

The Great Selgfreid with his high sensational ski jumping without snow will execute this daring feat each afternoon and nights.

Three large tents will be erected for the convenience of local exhibitors wishing to house or demonstrate their wares to the public, one for agricultural and farm exhibits and another to house livestock, poultry, etc.

The Kaus United Shows will furnish the midway again this year with entertainment for both young and old. They will be found to be one of the cleanest on the road today. There are shows of all types and sizes.

Two's Company

By MARGARET GUION HERZOG

The Characters

Nina, a nice girl with flaxen hair, lets a young man she has just met at a party, drive her home.

David, the young man, has copper-colored hair, a beagle, an uppy new car and a refreshing nerve. He crashed the party.

Cordelia, Nina's closest friend, gave the party.

Chapter Two

Honey's New Husband

IT DOESN'T take very long to drive from 47th street to 74th at 4:15 in the morning, when you drive like David. As he crossed over to Park, he said wistfully:

"Sure you won't have some scrambled eggs, or something? You see, I want to put off the evil moment."

"So it's evil... your surprise?"

"Rather."

"Um-m. Well, I really ought to go in, in a second, because Honey—that's my mother—got in from Chicago tonight, on a late train. I couldn't meet her on account of Cordelia's party, and she's just crazy enough to stay awake for me."

But she sat on in the car, after he had drawn up at her door.

The beagle puppy put two enormous paws over onto the back of their seat, nosed off David's battered felt hat, and then rasped across Nina's cheek with his long tongue.

"Well! I must say, he has more nerve than you, David." She scrubbed at herself with a handkerchief. "Tell me about him. And why do you call him Beagle? He's awfully large for a beagle, isn't he? And even if he were, you don't call a horse, Horse."

"Don't you? I do. In fact, I call a spade a spade... But I only found him this afternoon, no collar, or anything, and frantically hungry. Suggest a name, then."

Nina regarded the hound thoughtfully.

"Well, he has little brown spots on him, like buttons. Why not 'Button'?"

"That's cunning."

"It's stupendous. Button he is."

David's Confession

NINA looked at David's nice clean-cut profile. The street lamp shone on his uncovered hair, and she saw that it really was copper—not red at all and straighter than you would have expected.

Funny David... She let herself in.

The Stafford house, on 74th street between Madison and Park, was an old-fashioned one, with a high stoop that made you feel sort of naked and shivery as you stood up there, waiting for the maid to let you in.

Inside, it was as if it had always been: a front living-room, and a back dining-room, with fireplaces in each, and a library on the second floor. Even the sliding doors were there, on little steel tracks; but there were no rubber plants, or statury, or heavy velvet hangings on fat brass rods. They were lovely rooms. Queen Anne-ish. Polished floors and antique walnut pieces of rare beauty. In the high-ceilinged parlor, two chintz-covered love seats came out at right angles from the fireplace, giving a comfortable feeling to the quiet, dignified old room.

Nina liked it better than the library, where Honey kept adding things: a china cat on a taffeta cushion, numerous eccentric blown-glass figures, cacti, "just one more teeny little coffee table" . . . till it looked like a Madison avenue store window. It was Honey's room, and Nina loved it for that reason, but it made her sort of breathless.

As she came in, tonight, every light in the house was burning. Well, that was like Honey, too. She looked on the hall table for a note saying: "Come in and see me, or I'll never speak to you again, as long as I live." . . . or something like that. But there was none. Instead there was a feeling in the air of hushed expectancy . . . like a surprise party, with people waiting behind portieres to pop out at you.

Nina stood still and sniffed.

Something Of A Shock

PRESENTLY, Honey's voice sang out from above.

"Is that you, Nina? . . . Oh, hurry, darling. Come up quickly. I've the most marvelous thing to show you. I brought it back from Chicago."

"Something more for the library?"

"No, sweet . . . a new husband!"

"My God, Honey!"

Nina took the steps, two at a time.

Her mother and a good looking man of middle height were waiting in the hall. Little, plump, golden Honey . . . with her blue eyes glowing, like bits of bright sky.

Nina stretched out her hands,

EXTEND POWER INTO COUNTRY

State Rural Residents Are Getting More Electricity

Raleigh, Oct. 5.—Approximately 2,500 rural residents of North Carolina have become electricity customers and consumers since July 1, according to records in the office of the state Rural Electrification Authority.

This increase has come through completion, construction and authorization of lines by private power companies, as neither the municipalities nor the Federal Rural Electrification Administration have increased their facilities in the state in the past three months.

Increase in number of consumers has been accompanied by the completion of 190.64 miles of new lines; while 124.81 miles are now in course of construction and 106.07 miles of new lines have been authorized.

As a result of these activities the power companies operating in this state are now serving 32,188 electric consumers, municipalities bring current to 2,811 customers and the Federal REA has lines reaching 5,758 customers.

Dudley Bagley, head of the state authority, expressed satisfaction with the increase in rural electricity consumption and said there are many factors leading him to believe that rural electrification is about to make even more rapid strides in the state.

"As a matter of fact, it will not be so long before the countryman in North Carolina is really better educated in the use of electricity than is his city dwelling fellow-Carolinian," said Mr. Bagley.

He attributed this widespread educational program to activity of the power companies in an effort to sell appliances, work of the State college extension service which has been conducting an intensive campaign of enlightenment, and the

Many Newspapers To Send Member On Tour Of State

Raleigh, October 5.—An increasing number of North Carolina newspapers are sending staff representatives to cover the state-wide travel tour sponsored by the Governor's Hospitality Committee, who will accompany the tour for the 12 days it will stay in the state, in addition to the representatives of some 20 newspapers and magazines from other states who will make the tour. It was announced today by Director R. Bruce Etheridge of the Department of Conservation and Development.

The Charlotte News and the Charlotte Observer have just notified Coleman W. Roberts, chairman of the committee on arrangements, that they are sending staff representatives. The News is sending Dorothy Knox, columnist. The Observer has not announced yet whom it will send.

The Raleigh News and Observer is sending Charles Parker, from its editorial staff while the Winston-Salem Journal-Sentinel is sending Henry R. Martin, its associate editor with Frank Jones, staff photographer for The Journal-Sentinel, will make a portion of the tour. The Asheville Citizen-Times is also expected to send a staff writer and possibly a staff photographer on a portion of the tour. Oscar J. Coffin, head of the Journal department, University of North Carolina will also make the tour.

Out-of-state newspapers who are sending representatives on the tour are the New York Journal-American; the New York World-Telegram; The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette; The Philadelphia Record; The Brooklyn Daily Eagle; The Boston Post; The Christian Science Monitor (Boston); The Washington Post; The Washington Herald-Times; The Cleveland Plain Dealer; the Cincinnati Enquirer; The Cincinnati Times-Star and the Chattanooga News.

Present reservations are for at least 30 news writers, editors, feature writers and photographers who will be the guests of the Governor's Hospitality Committee on this tour of more than 2,000 miles, during which they will be shown first hand just what the state has to offer tourists, home-seekers, and new industries.

VIOLET HAD GOOD RECORD IN 1936

Chapel Hill, Oct. 5.—(AP)—New York University's football squad which will play host to North Carolina at Ohio Field, New York City, October 9, won five games, lost three and tied one during the 1936 season. Yet the Violet turned a mediocre season into a good one on Thanksgiving by losing out the powerful Fordham Rams 7 to 6. Other victories came at the expense of C. C. N. Y., Pennsylvania Military College, Lafayette and Rutgers. Defeats were administered by Ohio State, North Carolina and Carnegie Tech.

BRADWAY PROTESTS MOVIE PORTRAYAL OF LAWYERS

Durham, Oct. 5.—Prof. John S. Bradway, director of the Duke legal aid clinic, has returned from Kansas City where he spoke at the legal aid committee meeting of the American Bar Association.

The Duke law professor protested the usual movie portrayal of the lawyer as a shrewd, unscrupulous individual, and told the group that legal aid work is a humanitarian movement that should be promoted by the legal profession in much the same manner that physicians and other professional groups aid their own.

Such an undertaking on the part of lawyers, Professor Bradway declared, would do much to increase the public respect for lawyers.

David gasped: "Nina!" and she ran up the steps.

that color to be . . . just a suggestion of a wave. His eyes were brown like her own, and clear and honest-looking.

She sighed.

"I really must go in. Spill it, David."

"O. K. Well, as I have no intention of going out of your life, I may as well be frank. I'm a fake and a phony . . . not to say a heel. I crashed that party tonight."

Nina raised her eyebrows.

"No!" she breathed. "Why, I hadn't the faintest suspicion!"

"I was transacting a little business with a man at the Ritz—saw the festivities—and popped in. And that brings me to the next thing: this isn't my car, at all, Nina. It's a demonstrator. I'm an automobile salesman."

Nina didn't bat an eye.

"Are you a successful one?"

"Not very."

"Are you trying to sell me this little number?" She remembered his pean of praise.

"No. . . . But it's an idea."

She said: "Come round for a cocktail tomorrow."

And he gasped: "Nina!" and grinned; and she ran up the steps.

A QUESTION PEOPLE OFTEN ASK:

Is Camel justified in Spending Extra Millions for Costlier Tobaccos?

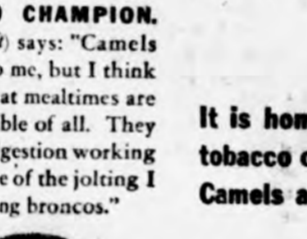

THE ANSWER IS THIS

CAMELS ARE THE LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA

WHY THE NEW National Open Golf Champion, Ralph Guldahl (right), prefers Camels. In his own words: "Camels are different from other cigarettes. You see, playing against an all-star field, my nerves run the gauntlet. Camels don't jangle my nerves."

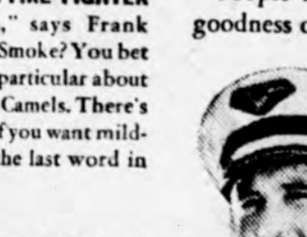

GIRL RODEO CHAMPION. Rose Davis (left) says: "Camels always appeal to me, but I think that the Camels at mealtimes are the most enjoyable of all. They help keep my digestion working smoothly in spite of the jolting I take from bucking broncos."

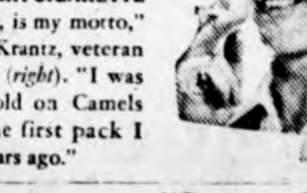

SPEAKING OF DIGESTION and smoking, Dorothy Malone, food editor (right), says: "Many comments from my women readers show that they find smoking Camels a pleasant way to encourage good digestion. I myself smoke Camels."

"I'VE BEEN A FIRE FIGHTER for 11 years," says Frank Gilliar (left). "Smoke? You bet I do. And I'm particular about my brand. It's Camels. There's the cigarette, if you want mildness! They're the last word in flavor."

"FIND THE RIGHT CIGARETTE and stick to it, is my motto," says "Duke" Krantz, veteran airplane pilot (right). "I was thoroughly sold on Camels right from the first pack I smoked 15 years ago."

It is homespun fact that nothing man does to tobacco can take the place of what Nature does. Camels are made of finer tobaccos into which Nature put extra goodness.

THERE'S only one way to get the best tobaccos. That's to pay more for them. It has been a well-known fact for years that Camel pays millions more, year in and year out, for finer tobaccos. It's the natural way to put more enjoyment into smoking.

People have confidence in the mildness and goodness of the finer tobaccos in Camels. More and more smokers turn to Camels. They find that Camels are naturally milder and that the full, natural flavor of the costlier tobaccos is brought to perfection in the Camel blend. If you are not smoking Camels, try them now. And see if you, too, don't find that Camels mean unflinching pleasure!

"CAMELS go on my shopping list regularly," says Mrs. Richard Hemingway, New York matron. "I never want to be without Camels. When I feel tired, I smoke a Camel and get the grandest 'lift.'"

"I'VE GOT TO have a cigarette that's mild," says Uva Kimmey, girl parachute jumper. "So I'm a Camel smoker. I find Camels so mild I can smoke as much as I wish without jangled nerves."

This is Fire Prevention Week when throughout our nation our people give attention to the study of fire prevention methods. Coming as it does at the beginning of the fall season when furnaces and other heating apparatus are being put into use again, it is most timely for our people to give their attention to fire prevention. If we will remember and put into practice throughout the year what we learn during Fire Prevention Week it will go a long way toward cutting down our annual fire losses.

Airplanes flying over the city on Sundays during the church hour is becoming a nuisance here. These sight-seeing planes are in the business of carrying passengers on sightseeing trips over the city but when they fly low over the city while church is going on the noise from the motors makes it at times impossible for those attending services to hear what is being said from the pulpit. We have no objection to the planes operating here and carrying as many passengers as possible but during the one hour each Sunday that church services are being held they should fly elsewhere instead of over the city.

Despite the rainy weather the Community Chest drive got off to a fair start yesterday. While the plan is new to our people it is believed that once they become accustomed to making one contribution for all the work here instead of being called on separately by the various organizations, the plan will grow in popularity and favor. Some have asked the question as to the method of distributing the funds and who will have charge of expenditures. Under the Community Chest plan the committee is responsible for the raising and distribution of the funds only. Before the drive starts the prorata distribution is set up according to the budgets of the participating organizations and when the drive is completed the funds are distributed to the organizations on this basis. The spending of money by the various organizations is carried on by their own committees as heretofore. If you have not already subscribed to the Community Chest fund, do so now.

McMILLIN SEES PURDUE AS MINNESOTA'S EQUAL

Bloomington, Ind.—(AP)—Sage Bo McMillin, head man of Indiana University football, stared intently into the Big Ten gridiron crystal and foresaw Purdue and Minnesota perched atop the 1937 Western conference heap.

"Minnesota will have its usual good team," prophesied McMillin, one-time gridiron great himself. "Purdue has one that is its equal this season."

SHORT SHOTS

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, Oct. 5.—The more reports that come in from the Shelby fair, the more this bureau becomes convinced that for last Friday, at least the Cleveland county seat was the political capital of the state. And if there weren't plenty of political schemes and ambitions hatched, then lots of people missed mighty good chances.

To begin with Governor Clyde Hoey, together with former Governors Max Gardner and Cameron Morrison, was there. In addition there were several state department heads, including Commissioner of Agriculture W. Kerr Scott and Insurance Commissioner Dan Boney—as well as a couple of Congressmen, R. L. Doughton and Major Bulwinkle, of Gastonia; and a flock of district solicitors and superior court judges too numerous to name.

It's a fair bet that Bob Reynolds would like to know, not what the Governor of North Carolina said to the Governor of South Carolina, but what the Governor of North Carolina said to Bob Doughton about the 1938 Senatorial race.

Red Cross workers from North Carolina's fifty eastern counties gathered here Monday for a regional conference and were rewarded with a fine series of reports and addresses. It rained hard enough at times to indicate they might have a minor flood disaster on their hands at any minute.

"People who address mail to you write your name C. W. and D. W. and all kinds of things on envelopes," said REA Head Dudley Bagley's stenographer, talking to her boss.

"Yeh, but that's nothing to the things a lot of folks call me and can't put on matter that goes through the mails," countered Mr. B.

It's nearly time for the State Fair, all right. Dr. J. S. Dorton, manager, has opened an office at the grounds, ticket booths have been erected on Fayetteville street, and pass hunters are filling the office of Louis H. Wilson, Department of Agriculture publications chief.

U. S. No. 1 Highway Association held one of a series of state meetings here Tuesday afternoon, with Robert L. Burns of Sanford, in charge.

Monday there was a similar meeting in Richmond, while Wednesday South Carolina members will gather in Columbia. Other meetings are set for Augusta on Thursday, Jacksonville on Friday and at Miami on Monday, October 11.

According to Secretary Edgar O. Hobbs of the association, inquiries being received in Washington indicate the largest movement of tourists in all the history of travel.

Governor Clyde R. Hoey talked to Wake County's Young Democrats in the Hall of the House at the State Capitol Monday night when Miss Virgilia Griffin was installed as president of the Wake county club, to succeed S. Brown Shepherd.

is far too sophisticated in the political field to be unnecessarily annoyed by prospective opposition. Robert is hardly likely to lose much sleep over the prospect of opposing Morrison again, as the incumbent would go into such a race with cards, spades and both casinos in his favor to begin with.

But if one of those political miracles which dot the state's history should develop and if Mr. Morrison should by some queer run of the cards rake in the senatorial jackpot it would give North Carolina two senators in Congress because nobody else would run against a supposedly invincible incumbent. Senator Josiah W. Bailey entered the race against the then powerful F. M. Simmons only after he had begged almost everybody else of any importance to do it. Now comes Cam Morrison, who probably will stay out if "Farmer Bob" Doughton or any other formidable campaigner tackles Reynolds, to see if history will repeat.

LOSS TO U. N. C. HARD FOR PACK

State Begins Sharpening Attack for Furman Game

Raleigh, Oct. 5.—Carolina's victory Saturday was a hard one for State College to take, but the Wolfpack lost no ground in that defeat and is this week sharpening its attack for the Furman game Saturday night in Greenville, S. C.

State looked more like a ball club against Carolina than it did two weeks ago against Davidson. According to spectators, sports writers, scouts, and coaches, it was the smoothest and best clicking team to represent State in some years.

"State looked better today in defeat than it has any time in the past four years, in defeat or victory," commented an interested spectator.

It was agreed that Coach Doc Newton has already done a swell job in his first season as head of the State Wolfpack.

Newton was as pleased with the Wolfpack as any one else and said that if the players continued to improve as they have the past two weeks, State would have a ball club for the last half of the schedule.

State expects another tough tilt Saturday night with Furman, but believes that it has a chance of beating Dizzy McLeod's club altho the Purple Hurricane has been playing fine ball this year, defeating Wofford, 58-0, on last Friday night.

State and Furman met here last fall and State had very little trouble defeating the visitors, 27-0. State, however, was not so fortunate the last time it met Furman in Greenville. That was back in 1927 and Furman won 20-0 to give State its only defeat of that year.

Furman is hard to beat at Greenville where the Hurricane always blows up a stadium full of Furman fans to cheer Dizzy McLeod's boys as they go into action. State will leave here Friday morning harboring hopes of a win over Furman.

June Scott, halfback, is the star of the Furman team and he will engage Eddie Berlinski, State's "Little Buzzer," in what will probably be the greatest backfield show offered in South Carolina this fall.

Berlinski is playing great ball for State and is being hailed as one of the finest backs of the season anywhere in the South. He gained 142 yards against Carolina on Saturday on rushing and returned a Carolina punt 45 yards for the best run of the game. Berlinski is poison this season and is the back for Furman to watch.

Chapel Hill, Oct. 5.—Mal Stevens is coach of N.Y.U.'s fine eleven which encounters North Carolina Saturday on Ohio Field in New York City. In nine years of coaching at Yale and N.Y.U. Stevens' teams have won 59 games, lost 30 and tied 18, and have scored 1925 points against 903 for the opposition. Stevens went to N.Y.U. at the beginning of the 1934 season. Since then the Violet has won 37 games, lost 19 and tied 10.

As the Yankees and Giants square off in another all-New York World Series you cannot help but recall the hectic second game a year ago, wherein the Yankees unleashed devastating power to wipe records off the books in wholesale fashion. What a ball game that was!

Perhaps the knowledge that the President of the United States was on hand spurred the Yankee sluggers. Then, again, it may have been the fact that Carl Hubbell, the Giants' great left-hander, had silenced their big bats in the opening day's rain. At any rate the Yanks cut loose, and let the records fall where they would.

The Yankees warmed up with a pair of tallies off Hal Schumacher in the first inning; rested on their oars in the second and then let fly with vengeance in the third, piling up seven runs off Schumacher. Al Smith and Dick Coffman. The big blast was furnished by Tony Lazzeri, who poled out a homer with the bases loaded.

There was no more scoring by the Yankees until the sixth when they added another counter. Two more Yankee runs came over the plate in the seventh. The eighth was a breather. The Yankees went to work again in the ninth, piling up six more runs. The box score

DUKE TO PLAY VOLS SATURD'Y

Comparative Scores Leave Little Hope For Blue Devils

Durham, Oct. 5.—Billed all summer and during early fall as the "1937 Battle of the South", the Duke-Tennessee game in Duke stadium Saturday may turn out to be a rather one-sided affair.

Performances of the two teams in games Saturday together with a comparison of the play of both elevens against a mutual foe—VPI—leaves little hope to Duke coach-showed: Lazzeri, driving in four runs in one inning, equalled Elmer Smith's mark, made October 10, 1920. Lazzeri and Dickey, each driving in five runs in one game, beat the record previously held by nine players.

Crosetti equalled the record of Ruth and Combs by scoring four runs in one game. The team scored 18 runs, surpassing the previous record of 13, held by three clubs.

The Yanks and Giants together made 22 runs, topping the 19 piled up by the Yankees and Cubs in 1932.

Every member of the Yankee team made a hit and scored a run. Both clubs cooperated to get 16 bases on balls. es that the Blue Devils will be able to successfully cope with the attack of the Volunteers from Knoxville.

End Coach Carl Voyles, who has scouted the Vols for the past two weeks, although he admits that he has gotten little information due to the fact that the Vols have been under wraps, says that this year's Tennessee team is one of the finest in the country. He doubts that any team will be able to top them this season.

He reported that in both their games this season the Vols could have scored just about as they pleased but that Coach Boy Neyland sent in his scores of reserves after they had tallied all the markers they wanted.

Against Davidson, the Duke line-men showed no line charge either offensively or defensively that will compare with that of the Vols. Practically all the running the backs did was without much aid blocking while Tennessee shook their fast-stepping backs loose several times and then blocked the way to touchdowns. Voyles reported that Tennessee's down the field blocking was as fine as he had ever seen.

MICHIGAN MAN ASSUMES NEW DUTIES WITH DUKE

Durham, Oct. 5.—Prof. Thomas A. Aycock, who has been connected with Michigan State University for the past six years, has joined the Duke physical education staff and will teach several courses in health education. He is a graduate of Oklahoma State University and the University of Iowa.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Stocks broke sharply in today's market, many leaders dropping one to four points to new lows for the year or longer. A few were off as much as 10 at the worst. Selling speeded up at the opening, but slowed later when mild support appeared for the more depressed group. Near the fourth hour, however, quotations were not far from the low mark of the session.

"I Dropped The Klan"

"Before becoming a Senator I dropped the klan...." So spoke Justice Hugo L. Black in telling a vast radio audience that he had become a member of the Ku Klux Klan but had resigned his "knighthood" in the Invisible Empire. This exclusive picture was made with a candid camera as the Justice delivered his radio address from a private home in Washington, D. C.

London Exchange Has Its Dangers London (AP)—The stock exchange "house settling room" and "strong room" should be evacuated at once in event of an air raid, members have been advised. "As no protection can be looked for on stock exchange premises," the home office adds, "by giving warning now members will have an opportunity of considering what protection they can provide for themselves and their staffs."

PAROLE SETUP IS WORKED OUT

State Perfects Agreement With Pennsylvania Dept.

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Oct. 5.—North Carolina will work with Pennsylvania in the matter of supervision of paroled prisoners, under a "gentlemen's agreement" just completed, according to Edwin Gill, state commissioner of paroles.

Plans for similar agreements are being worked on by North Carolina officials in cooperation with officials of New York and New Jersey. It is the hope of the parole department that further agreements will eventually be reached with all states, Mr. Gill said.

All these agreements will be ratified as official compacts as soon as details are completely worked out, he added.

"Reciprocal agreements of this character will enable us to follow the history of a parolee when he crosses a state line to live and will be of distinct value, not only in the rehabilitation of prisoners paroled from one state to another, but will fit in with modern tendencies in law enforcement," Mr. Gill said.

"Without such understanding between the states the most elaborate parole system would cease to function the minute a parolee crossed a state line. When each of the forty-eight states has established adequate supervision of paroles and a common understanding has been reached in regard to reciprocal services in investigation and supervision, tremendous progress will

State To Offer Louis-Farr Fight

Fight fans in this section will get a chance to decide for themselves whether Joe Louis really defeated Tommy Farr in their recent bout when the film of the fistie battle comes to the State theatre tomorrow and Thursday.

The official fight picture will be shown at the State on the program with "Circus Girl", starring June Travis, Bob Livingston and Donald Cook.

Mr. Gill gave much credit to the federal government and to federal parole officials for stressing the need for better parole systems in all states and for closer interstate cooperation.

DUKE FOREST HEAD WRITES NEW BOOK

Durham, Oct. 5.—Revision of the widely used textbook by Dr. James W. Toumey of Yale University, "Foundations of Silviculture on an Ecological Basis" has been accomplished by Dr. C. F. Korstian, Duke forest director.

Before his death in 1932 Dr. Toumey asked Dr. Korstian to undertake the revision. The book has just been issued and includes much new material.

The book is the third text by members of the Duke forest staff published during the past two months.
