LOCAL UTILITY DESIGNATED AS AGENT OF EHFA

Cheap Financing Be Available for Electric Appliances

FEDERAL AGENCY PROVIDES MONEY

Greenville First City in State With Rates Meeting Standard to Get Approval

Announcement was received from Washington today that the Greenville Water and Light Commission has been approved as agent for the Electric Home and Farm Authority, a Federal agency, making low-cost financing available to Greenville residents purchasing electrical appliances from local dealers.

It was understood that the local commission was the first in the state to be approved, although other cities have applied for agencies and probably will be designated as such in the near future.

The Water and Light commission last week signed the contract to serve as the government authority's agent after J. M. Baesman, EHFA field representative, had gone into detail with officials. Announcement of the plan was withheld until final confirmation was secured.

It is understood that all Greenville concerns dealing in electrical appliances on a large scale will cooperate in the plan. Under the set-up a person may purchase a stove, radio, hot water heater, electrical refrigerator, or any other appliance he billed along with his gas electric and water bill. It was made clear, however, that if a person defaults in payments on any electrical appliance it does not mean that his water, gas or electricity will be cut off for non-payment.

The plan is designed to save purchasers time and money. Instead of having to pay installments at various places, a person will be able to make payments along with his water, gas and electric bill.

The government will finance the appliance and the Water and Light commission will serve as collecting agency. The commission will be required to pass on every individual contract after the dealer has turned the contract over to it. The commission then will send the contract to the Electric Home and Farm Authority, which will send the dealer his money.

The plan is in use by more than 200 utilities throughout the country and was inaugurated by the Tennessee Valley Authority. Both public and private utilities are working on the plan. Greenville, however, is the first city in North Carolina with rates that conform to the authority's standard to receive approval.

Only approved merchandise will be financed by the authority and only dealers who are reliable and recommended by the Water and Light Commission will be able to have their sales financed by the EHFA. It is understood that all Greenville concerns dealing in electrical appliances have made application and a list of those accepted will be announced at an early date.

In all places where the plan has been tried it has been found to be satisfactory as it proves helpful to both dealer and purchaser. It was declared.

Absolve Driver In Fatality Saturday

A coroner's jury this morning held that J. R. Peterson, crippled Kinston man who was almost instantly killed here Saturday morning at Five Points when struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. A. F. Harrington, came to his death through no negligence on the part of the driver of the car.

Coroner A. A. Edinger declared that Mrs. Harrington was crossing the intersection on a green light. He quoted her as saying she did not see Peterson, who was forced to pull himself along with his hands.

Baptist Association At Tarboro Oct. 12-13

A number of Greenville citizens are expected to attend the thirtieth annual session of the Roanoke Baptist Association at Tarboro October 12-13.

The general theme of the meeting will be "Magnifying Christ and His Church."

DAHL SAVED FROM FIRING SQUAD

Doomed to death before a firing squad, 28-year-old Harold Dahl (left) of Champaign, Ill., fromer Loyalist aviator who was captured by the Spanish Insurgent forces, was reprieved by General Francisco Franco, Insurgent commander to whom Dahl's bride had sent her picture and an appeal for her husband's life. Also reprieved were Michael Zaikni (center) and Alex Cherasoff (right), Russian pilots in the Loyalist forces. This radio photo shows them standing in the dock in the military court where they were sentenced.

PAIR HOLDS UP LOCAL STATION

Two Negroes Rob Golden Leaf at Point Of Pistol

Police officials declared that Charles Martin, Jr., of Bethel and Aiton Edwards, who rooms on Greene street, attendants, were the only two persons in the station when the Negroes drove up, stopped, entered the station and one of them pulled a gun on the two employees and ordered them to hold up their hands while his co-hort went through the cash drawer.

The attendants were able to give a good description of the two Negroes, but police have not apprehended them as yet. The two drove away in a 1934 Ford V-8 coach, but the tall light was dim and the attendants were unable to get the license number.

This was the second filing station to be robbed during the week-end. On Saturday night, Mixon's Service station was entered and a quantity of cigarettes, cigars and chewing gum was taken, along with one hundred pennies.

Officers are carrying on an investigation of this robbery also, but so far no one has been arrested.

Health Board To War On Typhoid and Tuberculosis

Reflecter Bureau. Raleigh, Oct. 11.—Despite drastic, almost incredible, reductions in North Carolina's death rate from typhoid and tuberculosis, Health Department officials are still unsatisfied with results and are planning even sterner battle than ever on these scourges.

There were only 21 deaths per 100,000 from typhoid in 1936, but health officials declare there should not be any from this disease, which is practically 100 per cent preventable. There were 60.9 deaths per 100,000 from tuberculosis in 1936, as against 139.2 in 1914, but physicians now know how to treat the "white plague" and health officials feel that the present mortality rate could be still further reduced.

Destruction of Wharf Only Result of Sunday Fighting

FOREIGN GOODS LOST IN BOMBING

Shantung Province, Claimed by Japanese, Comes Out For Nanking Govt.

Shanghai, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Chinese and Japanese troops crawled out of their muddy burrows today along the 25-mile front to the northwest and resumed the almost two-months-old battle of Shanghai.

The smoldering ruins of the China merchant navigation company wharf and warehouses were the only results of the Japanese warship's bombardment of the rich industrial area.

A Japanese naval spokesman announced the Chinese peppered the Japanese war ships with machine guns from the wharf and the Japanese retaliated with their big guns.

The property lost was estimated at $2,000,000, including considerable American and other foreign cargoes. The bombardment of Pootung began in a heavy rain during the final hours of Sunday, upsetting an otherwise generally quiet day.

Today the Japanese struggled through the muck for a mile advance, straightening out their salient between the stubbornly held Kiangwan race course and Wootung creek north of the international settlement.

The exodus from Tsinanfu, the capital of Shantung increased today as the Japanese threat to the province continued.

General Fan Fu-Chu, governor of Shantung, which the Japanese claimed to have won over, came out flatly today for the Nanking government. He issued a proclamation urging all government employees to bow resistance to the death against Japan.

Children Advised Beware Of Danger Of Stray Animals

'Poor Little Puppy or Kitten' May Be Infected With Rabies And Bite a Sympathetic Child

Raleigh, Oct. 11.—"Kiddies, beware of the puppy or kitten that 'looks lost.' It may have rabies and then you would be all out of luck. Be kind to dumb animals, of course, but don't let your sympathy take the place of your better judgment," warns Dr. Roy Norton, assistant director of the division of preventive medicine, State Board of Health.

"With the reopening of school," he declared, "it is timely for health officers, nurses, teachers and parents to pass the warning along that—among the early symptoms of rabies in a dog or a cat is the tendency to leave home and wander around looking bedraggled, homeless and in need of sympathy and care.

"Such dogs or cats often go to school grounds," Dr. Norton warned, "and many cause several children to have the painful anti-rabic injections. People seem to forget that most dogs and cats will stand a lot of under-feeding, neglect and even mistreatment before leaving home. It is possible, therefore, that any puppy or kitten or grown cat or dog found wandering around is not normal and is likely to be diseased.

"Instead of exhibiting a foolish sentimentalism, offering to handle them or making them playmates of our children, our common sense should make us suspicious and cautious.

"Rabies may be present in a puppy or kitten only six weeks or two months old. A little forethought in this regard may save a great deal of torturing worry, pain and possibly horrible suffering and death," Dr. Norton concluded.

LEWIS WIDENS LABOR BREACH

Chances for Reunion Virtually Removed By CIO Head

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 11.—(AP)—John L. Lewis removed virtually all chances of a re-union between his Committee for Industrial Organization and the American Federation of Labor today as he started discussions of CIO expansion with leaders of his 32 affiliated unions.

The Federation's annual convention in Denver at the same time moved toward a final settlement of the estrangement which began here two years ago, but Lewis said the CIO "does not have even a technical connection" with its rival.

Describing the federation suspension of the original ten unions which formed the committee as a "frantic, cowardly, contemptible act," Lewis said "our attitude is one of complete indifference. We are separate and apart."

He described as "silly conversation" the statement of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor that the Federation would conduct a drive to crush the CIO.

Two Counterfeit Bills Found Here

J. H. Waldrop, cashier of the Guaranty Bank and Trust company, revealed today that two counterfeit ten dollar bills were taken to the bank by local customers today, leading to the belief that others may have been distributed in Greenville.

One of the bills came from a hotel and the other from a cafe. Mr. Waldrop declared that the bills were hard to tell from genuine currency by anyone not experienced in detecting flaws in bills.

Both of the bills had the same serial number, which is B69447852B. Local persons were asked to look out for any more of the bogus money.

DEATH CLAIMS OGDEN L. MILLS

Illness Proves Fatal To Hoover Cabinet Member

New York, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Ogden L. Mills, former secretary of the treasury, died at his home here today after an illness of two weeks. He was 53 years old.

Mills had suffered several slight illnesses during the course of the summer. He took a long cruise during the hot weather on his yacht from his home club, the Cold Springs Harbor Yacht club, ending at the New York Yacht club's station at Newport.

Because of these recurring illnesses, Mills had given up much of his activities in the Republican party.

At the time of his death Mills' activities were manifold. He was a director in several large companies.

Mills rose to his highest prominence in the nation's affairs under President Hoover, who made him secretary of the treasury in 1932 when Andrew Mellon, whom he had served as under-secretary of the treasury, retired.

Mills left public office when President Roosevelt entered the White house, and always was a leading foe of the New Deal.

Camp Baldy, Cal. (AP)—Queenie, a police dog with a strong maternal instinct, has become the bosom pal of Skippy, a deer, at this mountain resort.

A year ago, Skippy, then a fawn, was orphaned when a careless motorist killed his mother. A few days later, Queenie induced the fawn to follow her into Camp Baldy, and since then they have been constant companions.

Sports Held Spotlight At State Capital Last Week

Reflecter Bureau. Raleigh, Oct. 11.—Forecasting the Duke-Tennessee result and naming the Giants occupied Raleigh last week almost to the exclusion of real political or business activities, although the football game in Durham Saturday loaded the capital city's hotels from Friday over the week-end.

So far as the current of governmental affairs was concerned there was hardly a ripple except on the school commission front where a loud war over where Garysburg children should go to school was climaxed by a school commission meeting Friday at which rival delegations took turns at saying hard things about each other.

FOUR PERSONS DIE IN WRECK

Raleigh People Meet Instant Death In Spring Hope

Spring Hope, Oct. 11.—(AP)—A truck-automobile collision here this morning killed four Raleigh people and painfully injured a fifth.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. King and Miss Gladys Carroll, all of Raleigh, died instantly.

Mrs. Bertie Walker, also of Raleigh, died early this afternoon in a Raleigh hospital.

Miss Kathleen Branham was reported to be doing fairly well at the hospital. She suffered painful injuries about the head.

King was a salesman for a Raleigh bakery. State highway patrolman T. R. Burdette, who investigated, said the truck was driven by Charles Smith of Apex and that it was meeting the Raleigh car driven by King on a curve near the intersection of the Wake Forest road on Highway No. 64, west of Spring Hope, when the crash occurred. The truck and trailer attached were loaded with tobacco.

Patrolman Burdette quoted Smith, who was reported only slightly injured, as saying that he dimmed his lights when his truck and trailer approached the Raleigh car. King was said to have attempted to hit his own lights, but Smith said they went out before the two vehicles met.

Mrs. Walker was the wife of the manager of the Williamson fair, it was reported here.

Hope To Complete Chest Drive Soon

Sixty per cent of the budget for the Community Chest has been pledged, with unreported pledges in sufficient to cover approximately seventy-five per cent of the amount needed.

Considering the "actors" which have retarded the work, the committee feels that this is encouraging, and expects to complete the work within the next few days.

Officials issued a statement today declaring "The Community Chest will meet a definite social need in our community and it was felt certain that the thinking people of Greenville would support it. That this is being done is most gratifying. If you haven't given, remember the slogan—'Let's Go! and Let's Give!'"

Practical joking is a misdemeanor in Japan, liable to 20 days in jail or a fine.

TWO PETITIONS TO CHALLENGE BLACK DENIED

Roosevelt Appointee Given Clear Title to Bench Seat

LEVITT DECLARES FIGHT NOT OVER

Former Federal Judge Indicates He Will Inaugurate Other Proceedings

Washington, Oct. 11.—(AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to permit Albert Levitt, former Federal judge in the Virgin Islands, and Patrick Henry Kelly, Boston attorney, to contest Justice Hugo Black's right to a seat on the bench.

This action gave Black a clear title to his judicial post so far as present challenges are concerned. Levitt has indicated, however, that he might start other proceedings.

"This fight will not be over if my petition is denied," he asserted. The court refused to permit Levitt to file his petition which contended Black was constitutionally ineligible for the position.

Levitt contended Black was barred because he was a member of the Senate which voted to increase the "emoluments" of justices by permitting them to retire at full pay after reaching 70 and serving 10 years.

He added that the retirement of Justice Van Devanter did not create a vacancy on the court and hence there was no place for Black to fill. He contended that Van Devanter still technically is a member of the tribunal.

Service by Black, the petitioners, with interests with and prevent the due proper and lawful administration of justice in the Supreme Court of the United States."

The action of Justice Black's colleagues was announced to a packed court room by Chief Justice Hughes who said Levitt did not have sufficient interest in the litigation to justify him in proceeding with it.

The Kelly motion was denied on the basis of the action on Levitt's petition. Neither mentioned K.K.K. membership.

Miss Dora Coates of the college, specialist in primary education, is state president of the organization.

There is also a student branch at the college.

Vesper Service At College.
"What Does Education Mean To You?" was the topic of an enlightening talk at the Y. W. C. A. vesper service Sunday evening, by Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of Eighth Street Christian Church.

"Most of us go to school for a definite purpose," began Mr. Ryan, "usually to acquire an education."

The speaker then went on to explain the true purpose and real value of education, saying "The world has no use for people, educated or otherwise, who have abilities and do nothing with them."

With colorful illustrations, he explained some of the many uses of education and showed how one can use his education to the best advantage.

"You're here," continued the speaker, "and you're going to be educated, we hope; but I do wish you would remember that education is more than learning information. If that is what you want—there is no need for you to spend four years in college."

"If you learn to live a better and fuller life," the speaker ended, "to be a benefit to mankind, and to appreciate and understand the beauty of life, then you will be educated."

King's Daughters Convention.
Friday, October 8th, brought to a close one of the most spiritual and best conventions held in years, possibly ever.

The convention opened in the First Presbyterian Church in Kannapolis Wednesday night with a beautiful anthem by the choir. The devotional service was conducted by the Reverend W. H. Goodman, pastor of the church, after which the convention was called to order by the State President, Mrs. Hortense F. Moye, of this city.

The program was presented and adopted by the convention. Mrs. W. H. Goodman, wife of the pastor, welcomed the convention from the church and the King's Daughters circles of Kannapolis.

Mrs. W. R. Jones of Greenville, very graciously responded to this most cordial welcome for the members of the North Carolina branch of the International Order of King's Daughters and Sons.

Mr. Barnhart brought greetings for C. A. Cannon, owner and operators of the Cannon Mills, the largest in the world.

Mrs. O. E. Scarborough, local president of the Kannapolis circle then introduced the state officers and Mrs. Moye then introduced Mrs. Morris W. Leibert of New York City, the past International president. Mrs. Leibert then addressed the convention and visitors on what is in a name and told them how the King's Daughters received such a wonderful name. We were then honored with a lovely solo by Miss Matilda Geiger, followed by the hymn of the Order "Lead As We Go."

We were then invited into the church basement where an informal reception was given, where we came in closer touch with all the Daughters and friends.

At nine o'clock Thursday morning delegates were registered, and at nine-thirty the service of the Lord's Supper was held, followed by the singing of the King's Daughters hymn. The roll call and minutes were read and apoted, followed by the announcements of committees and reports of branch officers.

We were then held spellbound with the usual beautiful message from our beloved state president, Mrs. Moye. The convention looks forward to her soul-stirring and inspiring message from year to year. We were then led in a round table discussion by Mrs. R. G. Kizer of Salisbury. Mrs. A. A. Wagoner gave us a lovely solo, "Teach Me To Pray."

The quiet hour was conducted by Mrs. Leibert and she used as her subject "Stir Up the Gift That Is Within Us." This was followed by a luncheon.

Thursday afternoon consisted of a hymn, minutes, and reports of different committees, senior circles and a discussion of the state work by Miss Easdale Shaw of Rockingham. Pledges by the circles for the state work (Stonewall Jackson Training School). The informal ballot was then taken and the election was so close that it was voted unanimously.

We were then invited to visit the Cannon Mills and a drive over the city to places of interest. But the visit to the Cannon Mills would have taken a week and then not have seen half of it, for it is the most tremendous of all in the world. It is the largest, longest, building under one roof in the world. We were then given a buffet supper (according to the program) but it was really a lovely banquet consisting of turkey and all the trimmings. The table decorations and flowers were in the King's Daughters col-

PRESIDENT KING'S DAUGHTERS

Mrs. Hortense F. Moye of this city was elected president of the King's Daughters and Sons for the seventh consecutive year at the State convention held in Kannapolis last week.

Mrs. E. W. Harvey of this city was re-elected as corresponding secretary.

The complete slate of officers follows:
Mrs. Moye, president; Mrs. W. B. Evans of Wilmington, vice-president; Mrs. W. T. Eulachi of Raleigh, recording secretary; Mrs. John A. Stanford of Willard, treasurer; Mrs. E. W. Harvey of Greenville, corresponding secretary; Miss Easdale Shaw of Rockingham, historian; Mrs. T. R. Manning of Roanoke Rapids, chaplain; Mrs. Z. A. Rochelle of Durham, publicity chairman; Mrs. Claude Gore of Rockingham, Bible study chairman; Mrs. C. H. Shipp of Durham, literature chairman.

Executive board: Mrs. Leon Smith of Kannapolis, Mrs. J. L. Boyd of Salisbury, Mrs. W. A. Thorne of Roanoke Rapids, Miss Margaret Gibbons of Charlotte, Mrs. T. W. Young of Durham, Mrs. N. B. Ailsbrook of Raleigh.

ors—purple and silver—and at each place we found a lovely purple and white wash cloth woven by the Cannon Mills, tied with white ribbon as souvenirs. This lovely banquet was given by Mr. Cannon through J. T. Peeperman, manager of the Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. Leon Smith of Kannapolis, introduced the honor guests and speakers of the evening in a very charming manner. Mr. Peeperman gave a short talk and welcomed the King's Daughters. Mr. T. C. McKnight spoke for the boys. Approximately one hundred and twenty-five guests were present at this elaborate banquet.

Eight o'clock found us back in the church. Mrs. Z. A. Rochelle of Durham, gave the devotional in the absence of Mrs. W. A. Thorne. This was followed by a report of the Junior work. A message from Supt. Boger and this was followed by a wonderful program by 33 boys of the Stonewall Jackson Training School. The Junior King's Daughters of Kannapolis then gave a program consisting of a pageant based on the founding of the King's Daughters and Sons. This was a real lesson in itself for many older in the cause. The latter part of the pageant stressed peace. A silver offering was then taken for the Stonewall Jackson Training School.

Friday morning devotionals were led by Mrs. E. W. Harvey of Greenville. A hymn, "Worship the King" followed by a remembrance service by Mrs. T. R. Manning, our state chaplain. Three members of our state branch passed away in the year just closed.

Mrs. Morris W. Leibert then charged the state officers in a beautiful and inspiring talk. The convention closed with the singing of "Blest Be The Tie That Binds."

At noon we were driven seven miles to the Stonewall Jackson Training School where we with four hundred and ninety-five boys, were given a lovely barbecue dinner. Following the dinner we then visited the Silver Cross on the grounds where the new chapel is to be built. As we drove out we were each given a slice of cake wrapped in a paper napkin.

Every King's Daughter and visitor will long remember this convention at Kannapolis where we met some of the finest people anywhere to be found. One would have thought the whole twenty thousand people there were King's Daughters and Sons.

The state officers elected were: Mrs. Hortense F. Moye, Greenville, president; Mrs. W. B. Evans, Wilmington, vice-president; Mrs. T. W. Uelschi, Raleigh, recording secretary; Mrs. J. S. Stanford, Willard, treasurer; Mrs. E. W. Harvey, Greenville, corresponding secretary; Miss Easdale Shaw, Rockingham, historian; Mrs. T. R. Manning, Roanoke Rapids, chaplain; Mrs. Z. A. Rochelle, Durham, publicity chairman; Mrs. Claude Gore, Rocking-

ETIQUETTE

By JOAN DURHAM (AP Feature Service Writer)
There are three times when the behavior of the maid-of-all-work reflects on her mistress:
When the maid is serving at table, answering the door and answering the telephone.
When you engage a maid you talk on definite responsibilities. If you don't set her a good example—give her regular hours and definite duties—the chances are very good she will be slipshod and inefficient.

Training for Table

The maid must be taught to speak pleasantly and courteously and to be neat in appearance when answering the door.
She should be instructed to be polite and take messages carefully when she answers the phone.
Training her for service at table means thinking the whole meal through with her—until she gets accustomed to the routine. In fact, it's best to have a new maid serve the family several times before company is invited in.

Have her set the table while you supervise. Show her that the crease in the cloth must go down the middle of the table; that the glasses go above the knife on the right; that the napkins should be laid either on the plates or to the left of the forks.

Instruct her to have the water glasses filled and butter placed on the bread and butter plates—above the forks on the left—just before the guests are seated.

Things to Check On
Let her check for salt and peppers—one to each two people at the table, jelly spoons, pickle forks and similar pieces; serving spoons—one for each vegetable to be passed—and one carving knife and fork.

The maid should be as quick as possible and as unobtrusive as she can when serving.
She should know that service should be from the left of the guest when things are passed and from the right when dishes are removed, that the guest of honor should be served first and the hostess last, with the other guests served as they are seated; that all used dishes from one course must be removed before another course is served; that the gravy boat needs a tray under it; that in passing vegetables she must approach one guest at a time and be sure she's making it easy for him to help himself, and that stacking dishes is not permissible.

Make a point of conferring with your maid occasionally.
Don't lose patience if she doesn't remember everything all at once. Give her time to think it over. If necessary write things out for her to refer to.

Real Hunting
Minneapolis (AP)—Hunting, game experts say, will be hunting in the real sense of the word when nimrods take to the fields this fall in search of the wily pheasant—the northwest's leading upland game bird. Conservationists say pheasant flocks in Minnesota, and the Dakotas have decreased greatly.

strained honey, mixed with cottage cheese, a few broken nut meats and soft butter makes a delicious filling for sandwiches for the school child's lunch box.

Serve mint sherbet in peach or cantaloupe halves. The combination of flavors is delicious.

INDIAN SUMMER FROCKS—For those last sunny days of Indian summer an American designer has created this flower-printed cotton frock which will make a good house-dress later. It is colored in the warm russets, yellows, and browns of autumn leaves and belted in brown felt to match the beret.

MEETING IS SET FOR UNC-DUKE

Historical Association To Gather November 18, 19, 20
Chapel Hill, Oct. 11.—Members of the Southern Historical Association will meet at the University of North Carolina and Duke University November 18, 19, and 20 to report and discuss detailed research studies concerning historical, social and political trends in Southern history, according to the program announced by Dr. Fletcher M. Green, secretary-treasurer of the Association.

An attendance of about 300 members from the South and the upper Mississippi Valley is expected. The program will include speakers from many of the leading schools in the country who will present papers and discussions, said by Dr. Green to be of general interest to the whole Southern region.

The opening session will be held on the Duke University campus. Prof. Thomas J. Wertenbaker, of Princeton will act as chairman of a discussion on "The Significance of urban life in the old south."

Chairmen of the remaining sessions will be Prof. W. B. Hesseltine, University of Wisconsin, on "Aftermath of populism with special reference to the regulation of public utilities; Walter Pritchard of Louisiana State University on "aspects of southwestern history; Lester J. Gappen, University of Virginia, on "archives and manu-cripts in the south." Kathryn Adebey, Florida State College for Women on "the slavery controversy." Howard K. Beale of the University of North Carolina, on "bourbonism in the old south."

Duke University will give a dinner Thursday evening and Mr. Geo. Arants of New York City will deliver an address on the "history of tobacco."

The annual Association dinner will be held Friday evening and Thomas F. Abernethy, University of Virginia, will deliver the Presidential address on "Democracy and the Southern Frontier."

GOOD RELIEF of Constipation by a GOOD LAXATIVE

Many folks get such refreshing relief by taking Black-Draught for constipation that they prefer it to other laxatives and urge their friends to try it. Black-Draught is made of the leaves and roots of plants. It does not disturb digestion but stimulates the lower bowel so that constipation is relieved.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (AP Science Editor)
New York (AP)—Once the world believed that aristocrats had blue blood. But even the most liberal thinkers today do not realize how far in the opposite direction investigation has carried science.
Many scientists know that chemical analysis of blood and of the green coloring matter of plants has all but definitely proved that the plants' green and the animals' red blood had a common origin.
It is harder to imagine how plants have any connection with living nerves. But one link has just been shown by M. N. Ragozina, laboratory of experimental biology, institute of experimental medicine, Moscow. He reports it in the British scientific journal, Nature.
He took an embryonic salamander before its tissues had been begun to develop nerves or any other special organs. Ground-out plant tissues were implanted into the tiny animal embryo.
The plant substances caused formation of the "neural plate," the beginning of the animal's nervous system. The best results made from use of cambium, a tender tissue of growing stalks.
The "unity of plant and animal tissues" thus is shown, says Ragozina.

The Characters

Nina, a nice girl with flaxen hair.

Honey, Nina's gay, plump, youthful mother, has brought home a new husband.

Richard, Nina's stepfather, charming, poised, dark-haired, well-tailored and Honey's junior by 10 years.

David, a young auto salesman, met Nina at a party he crashed. He has copper hair and an engaging manner.

Cordelia, Nina's closest friend.

Chapter Seven

Chasing Button

CORDELIA said: "We'll talk about my party at lunch, because that vulture, Bridget, will be hovering around for bits of gossip. But afterwards, you've got to give me the real low-down on Honey and her new sizzle."

So over their melon and their stuffed eggs and broccoli, they discussed the "Evening on Montmartre." Nina had told her more about the funny young man with the copper-colored hair, and what he had turned out to be; but later, upstairs in the library, they had gone straight for the business of the day.

"Now then, Nina, tell me all about this Richard Challoner, the Man of the Hour."

"I don't know a thing, Cordelia. Not a thing, except that he's not more than 35 or 6, and frightfully good-looking."

She described him, and was surprised to notice how well she remembered every little thing about him: the way his sleek dark hair grew in points over his temples; the nice way he used his hands—lighting a cigarette—pouring drinks; the way he carried himself with an almost military stiffness—turning from the waist...

Her friend made a significant whistling sound through her lips. "I should say you knew quite a lot about him," she remarked.

"Oh, but not the important things. When they began to compose the notice for the papers, I thought: 'Here's where little Nina gets some data...' but you saw all there was. Born in England. Member of several good clubs in different cities. Served with the Seaforth Highlanders during the war. There he is in a nutshell."

entirely different person yesterday. More... more down to fundamentals, if you get what I mean?"

Cordelia was very understanding about things.

She said: "I think I know, darling."

A few days later, as Nina was coming out of the Colony restaurant, early in the afternoon, something large and spotted dashed round the corner of 63rd street, collided with her and very nearly knocked her over.

The girl with whom she had been lunching, Betty Halliday, steadied her, and then looked perfectly dumbfounded as Nina cried: "Button!" and dashed after the hound puppy.

At the sound of his name, he stopped, abruptly, and glanced over his shoulder. A long rope—it looked like part of a wash line—dangled after him, rakishly, and his brown eyes said: "Catch me

Winterville 4-H Club.

The Winterville 4-H Club held its Achievement Day Friday, October 8th. It was not only an itinerant affair, but it was quite educational.

Story telling by the 4-H members of Winterville and the 4-H vice-president, Frank Banks, of Simpson Club, added spice to the program.

Those engaged in story telling were as follows: Ruth Brown, Loyd Roberson and Mandie Moore.

Negro Spirituals were sung by the 4-H Club members, led by Prof. Roberts.

Prof. Whitfield of the Simpson school, introduced the 4-H club officers of the Simpson club. At the same time he made some timely remarks.

The 4-H Club pledge was explain-

Display at North Carolina State Fair Abundant

Raleigh, Oct. 9.—Farm machinery representing the most modern mechanical aids to agriculture, will have the largest display ever entered at the North Carolina State Fair, according to the Fair's publicity staff.

This is regarded as a good omen for the immediate future of agriculture in North Carolina, as manufacturers of farm implements usually indicate by their autumn shows just how well prepared they think farmers will be to purchase their products.

The once-open farm machinery building has been enclosed and redecorated. Other commercial exhibits will be housed in this building, thus leaving the floral hall and educational building open entirely to farm and home displays, educational exhibits and displays by State and Federal government divisions.

Altogether, nearly 75,000 square feet of exhibit space will be packed with displays for fair visitors next week, Manager J. S. Dorton said.

In addition to the modernistic machinery building, many other renovations have been completed. A boardwalk from the grandstand to the poultry building will eliminate walking in the auto driveway. Exhibit barns have been remodeled and painted. The midway will be located to the rear of the grand-

Habits in the Elementary School.

Monday, October 4th, the Cherry Lane group met and gave the following program: "Teaching Health Habits," Primary grades, Mamie Pige; grammar grades, C. H. McGlone; "The School Child's Lunch," Auna Mason. "An Outlined Course for the Elementary School in teaching Health," L. Skinner. Each demonstration was full of information. After remarks by the supervisor, the group voted to invite the parents to these meetings and to have each meeting at a different school.

Tuesday, October 5th, the Greenville group of Pitt county teachers met at the Fleming street school. Dr. J. A. Battle gave an address on "Worth-while Health Information for Teachers." After his address a few minutes was given to answering questions and open discussion. Dr. Graves then gave an address on "The Care of the Teeth," after which he gave answers to questions and open discussion.

Wednesday, October 6th, the Farmville group met at the Farmville high school. A demonstration was given from the primary and grammar grade departments on "Teaching Health" in those grades. After an open discussion by the group and remarks by the supervisor, the meeting closed to meet next month.

Thursday, October 7th, the Winterville group met at the Winterville school. After discussions and demonstrations on "Teaching Health" from primary and grammar grade teachers, Dennis Dupree farm demonstration agent, was introduced to the group and made an interesting talk on the work he is doing in the 4-H clubs in the different schools.

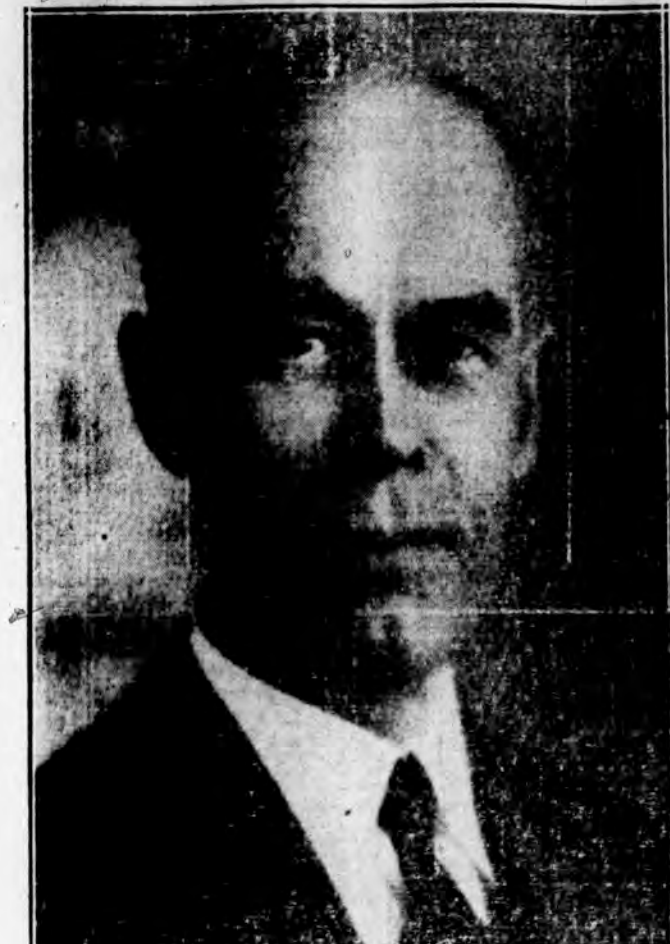

The supervisor suggested that each group use as a subject next month "Supervised Play and the Recess Hour."

One really feels different after having been to the Winterville high school. The beautiful building, the well kept ground, Prof. Roberts and the pleasant faculty make one feel at home. Prof. Roberts is a real club leader, and he spared no pains in making the day worth of its name, Achievement Day.

DISTRICT KIWANIS GOVERNOR

Charlotte, Oct. 11.—More than 500 men and women from various parts of North and South Carolina are expected to attend the 17th annual convention of Kiwanis Carolinas district at Hotel Charlotte here October 28-30. Important business matters will be discussed and several prominent speakers will address the delegates.

Climax of the three-day meeting will be the election of officers, including District Governor and Lieutenant; Governors of each division. Dr. Joseph R. Sevier, of Hendersonville, N. C., is present district governor.

Dr. Sevier, descendant of John Sevier, noted Indian fighter and first governor of Tennessee, is president of Fasselheim school at Hendersonville. He studied for the ministry at Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Va., and has held pastorates in Lynchburg, Va., Alexandria, Va., and Augusta, Ga. He has been president of Fasselheim school since 1911.

First formal session of the Kiwanis convention will be held at 6 P. M., Thursday, October 28. Dr. Sevier and District trustees will confer and the meeting will be followed by a Kiwanis forum at 8 P. M., presided over by Dick Thigpen, lieutenant governor.

James P. Gallagher, of Newton, Mass., international trustee, will address the delegates at a luncheon meeting Friday and J. Lathrop Moorehead, of Durham, will lead an open forum that afternoon.

The Kiwanians will hold their final business session of the convention at the hotel Saturday morning, October 30, at 9:30 A. M. Dr. W. T. Laprade, of Duke University, will speak and election of officers and naming of the next meeting.

Strictly business will not occupy the minds of the delegates the en-

HERE'S A FISH STORY TO LIVE THE PARTY

Galveston (Tex. AP)—They tell this fish story here when the conversation lags:

An angler caught a finny specimen which had colored stripes along its body, giving it a stream-lined appearance. The most unusual characteristic, however, was the fact that it swam backward to keep the water from its eyes.

The fish backed up until it felt the bait with its tail. Then it gave the bait a swat, knocked it around in front, and grabbed it.

Speaker at U. N. C.

Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general of the United States, will speak at the University Day exercises in Chapel Hill on October 12 which are being joined this year with the University's celebration of the sesquicentennial of the signing of the United States Constitution. The speech and exercises will be broadcast.

'mehous' increase in recent years in this class of dirty. Detecting the filth is difficult but quite possible when the postal inspection service has sufficient manpower to turn its attention to it. Getting convictions is another trick. Under the present law the senders, which for the most part are eastern publishing houses, can be prosecuted only at the place where they put it in the mail.

Convention Spurs Drive For a long time the department has appealed vainly to congress for an amendment to the law permitting the cases to be prosecuted at the point where the filth is delivered. Often enough the publications will fall in the hands of individuals in Kansas, Texas, or elsewhere, who are only too glad to help get the case to court.

When witnesses are faced with the necessity of traveling from Kansas to New York, for instance, they often balk; and the expense to the department is terrific. Moreover the department in years past has not had especially good luck in getting convictions in New York. New York juries are fairly liberal minded, it seems, and don't get especially excited at the complaint of an Iowa mother indignant at having a book of naughty pictures delivered to her 14-year-old son.

However, a jury in Judge Moscovitz court in New York smashed down on a case recently. The judge praised the jury highly, and the postoffice department felt better. Nevertheless, the principal publishers and distributors of dirty literature were not scared out, only a few of the smaller fry. The department expects the smaller ones will set up under other names in time. Usually they do.

Man About Manhattan

New York—Now that Broadway's producers, grimacing like gargoyle, are up to their hips in first nights, it seems sensible to report the doings of Maxwell Anderson and Burgess Meredith, who make up the fanciest writing-acting combine in the business. Max writes 'em and Burge acts 'em.

Mr. Anderson has come out of South Mountain Road, in the up country near Haverstraw, and is settled in his town house. Yet he remained quietly at home with his pipe and slippers when his new play, "The Star Wagon," opened the other night. The thick-chested poet never attends a premiere, and so he had no inkling of what took place the other night until his next door neighbor, who happens to be Meredith, came in around midnight.

Meredith is the enthusiastic shouting type, and Anderson is of the placid, unemotional mold, so it would be interesting to know what happened when the actor burst in on the playwright. Meredith probably let out a wahoo-o-o-o that startled the dead, and Anderson, in spite of his reserve, probably started up with, "How was it—what happened—what'd they say?"

This is their third serious drama in concert, yet it is the first one that hasn't been written in verse. Their first was "Winterset," in which Meredith gave an amazing performance, and then last year there was "High Tor," an imaginative fantasy with the Hudson Palisades as its locale. Meredith and Anderson both have estates within sight of the very promontory about which the play is written. The star's home is a white neoclassical dwelling in a rustic background of apple orchards and maple trees. Anderson has a somewhat larger abode with a tiny but in the neighborhood, to which he retreats whenever guests clutter up the premises.

Mr. Anderson wrote three plays last year and probably has another one for this season. It is said of him that he rarely ever makes a change in script, once the dialogue is on paper. Much of his composition is done standing up, and all of it is done in longhand. He doesn't like the typewriter. Nor does he like shiny, crisp writing paper. His favorite mode of writing dramas is with a fountain pen in an old notebook.

He has breakfast punctually at nine every morning, and it usually consists of bacon, toast and apple butter. He is a big guy, amiable when he has to be, but "freezes" when a reporter asks for an interview. He wears loose fitting clothes, mostly in tans and greys. His shoes are sizes 10 D, which is no midget's foot.

He once thought he wanted to go to South America as a civil engineer. Fourteen of New York's 16 theaters in 1889 were given over to burlesque. Los Angeles Wants a City Song. Los Angeles (AP)—Los Angeles may have lots of advantages, but one thing it lacks is a municipal song extolling the glories of the city. Mayor Frank Show, to remedy this defect, has asked song writers to submit original compositions in a contest, the winner to get a bronze replica of May Sharpless' Echo Park monument, "Queen of the Angels."

Fishermen's Luck Shawano, Wis. (AP)—Local fishermen had rare luck when a conservation truck broke down and its load had to be emptied. Into Shawano lake went 20,000 perch fingerlings, 5,000 bullheads and 5,000 bluegills.

The musician knows that a Stromberg-Carlson will reproduce every tone for you exactly as he plays it, without adding false tones or taking anything from the brilliance of his artistry. Foremost of the features of the new style-stunning Stromberg-Carlson is the exclusive Labyrinth that makes perfect Natural Tone possible. Tri-Focal Tuning gives the most accurate method of visual tuning. Automatic Sensitivity Control prevents a powerful station from blotting out the others. These features and many others uphold the saying, "There is nothing finer than a Stromberg-Carlson."

The ACOUSTICAL LABYRINTH. The long, winding passage-way of the Acoustical Labyrinth takes the place of the usual box-like cavity in the cabinet which is the source of the exaggerated boom in low tones. GRATITUDE To The Editor: Will you please allow me space in your excellent paper to extend hearty greetings to the 26,270 old men and women in North Carolina who are eligible to share in that humanitarian program of old age assistance that will distribute $3,817,175.60 to benefit the aged and needy. Franklin D. Roosevelt is the Moses called by God to lead us on the way to gather up the manna that we may eat and live. Look at Nature, how profuse she is in everything, does anyone suppose that the universal mind that imagined that profusion ever intended anyone to be limited, forced to scrimp and save in order to eke out a bare existence? No indeed, most assuredly not! The Universal Mind placed them there for the good of all.

When the future historian shall come to survey the character of Franklin D. Roosevelt he will find it rising like a lofty mountain high above that of his would-be critics; he is just, and for this reason would not put upon others that which he would not put upon himself. His conscience is void of offense toward God and man. He is a neighbor without reproach, a Christian without hypocrisy, and a man without guile. He is truly a humanitarian and a friend to the weak and needy. In order to express our heartfelt gratitude for his kindness, I suggest that we mail him a photographic copy of our certificate showing how liberally we shared on the National bounty "according to need."

Cheer up! It will not be as long now as it has been. The Welfare Department will soon be ready to write checks at the rate of 7,500 an hour. The division has now installed $8,700 worth of equipment for the tremendous job of making out checks for the 26,270 aged and needy and 24,000 dependent children. Remember "Where-so-ever the carcass is there will there be the eagles gathered together." (Matt. XXIV-XXVIII). And behold! a feast at the minimum cost of $894,-475.05 annually.

"I reserve the right to wonder and will continue to do so." A. E. DENTON, Sr., Greenville, N. C.

Recently we learned, there has been a bull in the drive to keep the mails clean of obscene matter, not because of any change of policy but for more casual reasons. First, the inspection service has been temporarily concentrated on other duties, and, second, there was a slight abatement in violations. Long ago many magazines publishing merbid, sexy stories got around the post office departments' strict regulations against obscenity by shipping their publications in bulk by freight or express. Postal regulations impose a $5,000 fine and five years imprisonment upon persons sending obscene matter through the mail. There is punishment also for sending such stuff by freight or express in interstate commerce, but the percentage of detections is not so great as in the postal department.

VIRGINIA TEAM NEXT FOR NCS

Wolfpack To Battle Virginia Tech This Saturday

Raleigh, Oct. 11.—Virginia Tech of Blacksburg will send one of its best teams of recent years here on Saturday to do battle with State's Wolfpack in a Southern Conference grid feature.

The game will be staged in Riddick Stadium, State's beautiful gridiron, and the kick-off has been set for 8 o'clock Saturday night. The tilt comes as a climax to North Carolina's annual State Fair.

The game will rival the Fair in color and excitement for in the Tech backfield and in the State backfield are some of the South's finest running backs.

Tech looks with pride upon Captain Carol Shockey, left halfback, and Mel Henry, right halfback. They gave State plenty of trouble here in last fall and will face the Wolves on Saturday night greatly improved ball players.

State's own brilliant backs Eddie "Little Buzzer" Berlinaki, left halfback, and Art Rooney, right halfback, will be out to outshine and outrun the boys from Virginia. It is a big task these two have taken upon themselves to do better than Shockey and Henry, but the speedy youngsters say they can do it.

These four backs should produce some of the greatest backfield play to be seen in Riddick Stadium this fall, despite the fact that Tech's defense will be set to stop Berlinaki and Rooney and State's defense will be designed to stop Shockey and Henry.

SPORTS HELD SPOTLIGHT AT CAPITAL LAST WEEK

Speaking of the governor, one of the capital's political prognosticators filled one of his daily columns with a long, circumstantial yarn to the general tenor and effect that His Excellency is casting oozing eyes in the direction of the U. S. Senatorship, now in the possession of Robert R. Reynolds.

It made good reading as does anything with the merest scintilla of logic when dealing with the political outlook, but it was not accepted for anything more than it was, an interesting, well-written bed-time story. There was not the slightest indication that Mr. Reynolds would hurry back to the state in an effort to head off the Governor's candidacy.

Nothing else of interest developed along the political front, at least, nothing that leaked out for publication.

At the Department of Agriculture everybody was busy all week getting ready for this week's State Fair which Louis H. Wilson, chief publicity specialist, and all his aiders and abettors declare will be "colossal, stupendous, gigantic and, in short, terrific."

In the Department of Conservation and Development, Paul Kelly, the assistant director, and members of the advertising division staff kept themselves well occupied in preparation for the Travel Tour of newspaper men, editors and other distinguished guests, which started at Asheville yesterday.

Highway Commissioner Frank L. Dunlap made a trip to Washington Friday in an effort to get the federal government's permission to relax a bit in its demands for a 1,500 foot right of way for the Blue Ridge Parkway; but came home with Secretary Ickes' ultimatum to the general effect "Get that 1,500 feet or else." North Carolina officials are afraid that "else" means an unwanted rerouting of the Parkway to the big advantage of Tennessee.

'MINNESOTA KINDERGARTEN' IS A FOOTBALL HOTHOUSE

Minneapolis (AP)—The University of Minnesota's "kindergarten" of football has produced a bumper crop.

Marshall high school, situated almost in the shadow of the Maroon and Gold's Memorial stadium, and productive of the "touchdown twins"—Halfbacks Andy Uram and Rudy Cimtro—has six former griders on the current Gopher squad.

Ranging from ordinary prospects to the team's leading player—Uram—the prep school's representation this fall also includes a top-notch newcomer in Bill Gilchrist, whose punts so far have been described as "beautiful."

Holding inside positions in the race for line posts are Russ Wile, Kenneth Flibert and Marvin LeVoi, brother of the famous Babe, who also got his early football training at Marshall, high.

Yankees Again World's Champions Of Baseball

American Leaguers Whip Giants 4-2 To Cop Fifth Game and Annual Series at the Polo Grounds Sunday

Sport Slants

By PAP

Polo Ground, New York, Oct. 11.—(AP)—The conquering Yankees climaxed another record-smashing chapter in their book of amazing baseball accomplishments yesterday by over-powering the Giants in a booming finish to the second successive all-New York world series.

To the accompaniment of their biggest burst of long-range fire in the series, the Yankees blasted out a 4-2 victory on a rain-drenched diamond in the fifth and final tilt while Lefty Gomez repulsed repeated counter-attacks by the Giants after Mel Ott's homer tied the score in the third inning.

The triumph by the Yankees, four games to one, marked the second straight conquest of their neighboring rivals, their fifth successive victory in baseball's big-money battle and their sixth since the war. They won previously in 1923, 1927, 1932, and 1936.

This set an all-time record. The Yankees broke a tie with the Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics each of whom was victorious in five world series. The champions of the world now have captured 20 of their last 23 games and there's no club in either league that, in two years has come close to challenging their supremacy.

Gomez was the hero of the decisive game as the Yankees tallied all their runs off the portside delivery of gangling Cliff Melton. Giant freshman who failed for the second time in the series. Five of the eight Yankee hits went for extra bases, including a double, two triples and two home runs, but Gomez enjoyed the distinction of batting home the winning run with a single as he repeated his opening game triumph over the Giants.

The lanky Castilian portside, by winning two contests, ran his World Series record to six victories, with no defeats. He beat the Cubs once in 1932 and he Giants twice last year. He's now tied in the record books with Jack Coombs and Herb Pennock, each of whom posted five victories without a break.

Despite penetrating chilly weather and skies that ceased dripping only an hour before the game began, a crowd of 38,216 turned out to see whether the Giants, after making a winning stand behind the great Carl Hubbell yesterday could broom the issue with the Bronx Bombers. With the park less than two-thirds filled, the gate receipts just failed to touch the million-dollar mark. The total for five games amounted $985,994.

The Giants, even though they couldn't match the Yankee power, made it close and went down to defeat fighting hard to turn the tide. They outthrew the Yankees, 10 to 8, but except for Ott's circuit clout into the right-field stands in the third, with Dick Bartell on base, the National Leaguers were unable to produce a scoring punch despite repeated opportunities.

Home runs by Myrl Hoag into right field stands in the second and by Joe DiMaggio in the third, on Boxing, to Harry Jeffra, is the means whereby he can earn enough money to keep himself supplied with golfing equipment. Jeffra is considered one of the best young golfers in the state of Maryland, shooting consistently in the low 70's.

Jeffra captured the world bantamweight title from Sixto Escobar—thus putting himself in a position to receive larger purses than have come his way in the past.

"The first thing I am going to do, now that I have won the crown, is to buy myself a new set of clubs and some good golf balls," he said in his dressing room after beating Escobar. At a time like that, he still was more anxious to talk golf than fighting.

The little fellow, who had defeated Escobar on two previous occasions in overweight bouts, first in Baltimore and later in New York, beat the Puerto Rican by an even greater margin when the title was at stake. The ease with which he made the bantamweight limit and remained strong enough to go 15 rounds at top speed indicated he a drive that hit the upper roof near the leftfield line, put the Yankees off in front. Melton fanned five batters in the first three frames, but he made the fatal mistake of pitching too many extra-base balls.

After Ott's smash tied the score, Tony Lazzeri started the winning outburst in the fifth with a 450-foot triple to center. Hank Leiber made a desperate try for the ball, but it caromed off his gloved-hand and bounced against the bleacher barrier. Gomez then shot a single off Whitehead's glove to tally Lazzeri across with what proved the winning tally.

Gomez then advanced when Red Rolph walked and scored on Lou Gehrig's double to center. Another pass, to Bill Dickey, filled the bases, but Melton pulled himself out of the jam by retiring Hoag on a foul to Danning.

That ended the Yankee scoring. The Giants threatened Gomez in four of the last five innings, but couldn't produce in the "clutches." Gomez not only pitched superbly when in danger, while the Yankees bullpen was kept constantly active, but he was aided by the brilliant defensive work of the champions, who established a World Series record of playing errorless ball throughout the five games.

The Giants experienced their 8th World Series setback, thereby adding to their own record for absorbing the most setbacks of any single club in series history. Their latest defeat was the most decisive since they lost four out of five games to the Athletics in 1914.

Victory for the Yankees meant a difference of about $7,000 in player money. The world champions collect $169,268.51. Translated into individual shares, this means a cut of $5,336.84. The total share for the Giants amount to $112,845.67, or $24.123 per individual.

GIRLS TO MEET IN WRESTLING

Bout Scheduled For Rocky Mount Thursday Night

Rocky Mount, Oct. 11.—With Miss Clara Mortensen, lightweight girls' wrestling champion defending her title against the challenge of Marie Fontaine, French-Canadian at the Recreation Hall next Thursday, Bill Lewis will present one of the greatest wrestling attractions ever booked in this city.

The girls will wrestle two out of three falls with no time limit, while there will be a two out of three fall match between Roy Graham, rough working Texan and Gene Bowman with a two-hour limit to add color and a one fall, 30-minute match between Leo Mortenson, brother of Clara and Jim Morris, to precede the two main events.

Skeptical fans who think these girls do not know plenty about the grappling business are due for a real surprise when they see the two stars in action. Both of them are well versed in all the tricks of the game and have been wrestling a long time.

Miss Mortensen, who looks more like a socialite, or a debutante, comes from a family noted for its wrestling ability. Her father, Fred Mortensen, once held the lightweight championship of Denmark and has wrestled many times in this country. He still speaks English with a decided accent.

The challenger, Miss Fontaine, is a discovery of Jack Ganston, Canadian promoter who is sending here to his city to make a bid for the title. She has been in training for many months and has defeated many outstanding feminine wrestlers in Canada and France.

The advance sale of tickets is going on at the Standard Drug Co. here with ringside seats at $1.10 each.

A Candid Talk

WITH ADOLPH ZUKOR, who started life in a small Hungarian village, immigrated to America at 16, became a fur finisher, nickelodeon operator and movie producer. Of his 65 years, 36 have been spent in show business, 26 of them with Paramount. He is the industry's oldest active producer.

Confronting cameraman and interviewer together for the first time, Adolph Zukor quickly snaps up a question on how magnates gauge movie trends. Simple. "You compare pictures which did well with those that lagged."

But there's a catch. "In measuring trends, we bring into play our background of experience in dealing with the public. We never plan or commence a picture until we have completed a survey of what the public wants. It requires constant study to anticipate changes in public taste."

So the interviewer went right after the topic of how public taste is changing and how the movies are keeping up with it. Zukor goes on: "Color? It will have to be much more commercial than it is today before it becomes standardized. And then its adoption will be decided by public reaction."

"Television? I am certain it will not touch theater audiences. Radio, for instance, doesn't detract today from attendance at worthwhile pictures. That is our whole problem—good pictures. We in the movie industry feel that they will meet any outside competition."

New York Cotton

New York, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, two lower to two higher with steady Liverpool cables partly offset by favorable weather and southern selling. December eased from 7.90 to 7.82 and shortly after the first half hour was 7.85, with prices generally one to 11 points net lower.

The market was quiet later in the morning with price movements narrow and the undertone about steady. December was selling at 7.85 early in the afternoon with the general list two to seven points net lower.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Selling in major steels put the stock market on the defensive today and many leaders dipped fractions to three or more points to new lows for the year or longer.

About the only encouragement trading forces could find in the proceedings was the comparatively smallness of volume. Dealings were quiet from the start, but few recoveries were in evidence near the fourth hour.

Tending to put brakes on buying contingents, brokers said, was weakness of securities in London, Paris and Amsterdam, attributed partly to the new Franco-Italian row over Spain.

Lightening of commitments was also thought to have been inspired partly by the fact the market will be closed tomorrow for Columbus Day.

Bonds and commodities generally pointed lower.

SHOW BIRDS AT NC EXPOSITION

Poultry Show at State Fair Declared Outstanding

Raleigh, Oct. 11.—"A number of outstanding birds will be entered in the 4-H poultry show at the State Fair this week," C. F. Parrish, of State College, said today. This show is being resumed after a lapse of several years, he continued, and club members are particularly interested in making a good showing.

As one of the directors of the fair poultry department, Parrish is in charge of the 4-H poultry show. The show may not be as large this fall as it has been in previous years, he added, "but what we may lack in quantity will be more than made up for in quality."

The main entries will come from Buncombe, Davidson and Iredell counties, where poultry club work has been making rapid strides in the past few years, Parrish stated.

Varieties of the leading meat and egg breeds will be represented, he said, including Rhode Island reds, white leghorns, single comb dark brown leghorns, white wyandottes, silver leghorns, dark Cornish, New Hampshires, and buff Plymouth Rocks.

Premiums will be awarded the best individual entries, and the sweepstakes prize will go to the best bird entered in the show. The three counties scoring the most points will also receive cash prizes.

Only birds raised by bona fide 4-H club members in their poultry projects are eligible for competition. No entry fees will be charged the club boys and girls.

Accused in his own time of nature faking because of the dramatic poses in which he portrayed birds, John James Audubon, early American naturalist, has been vindicated by the studies of more recent scientists.

In 1934, the census showed 32,641 foreign residents living in Japan.

NEED PATIENCE TRAIN PIGEONS

Trainer Must Have Full Understanding of Birds

By AURELIUS KINSEY (AP Feature Service Writer)

CHICAGO — You don't have to show a homing pigeon the way to go home, but it takes lots of patience to get him there fast.

Fanciers who train pigeons for the racing season, in full swing in late summer and early fall, must understand how to breed speed, endurance and stability into his birds. He must spend hours with them, gaining their confidence and affection. He must be somewhat of a psychologist—able to speed a jealous racing male toward the rival imprisoned in the home loft, or the mother to her young.

A typical homing pigeon course requires preparations days in advance. The course is surveyed by an engineer to determine the airline distance from the starting point to each home loft. Two nights before the race, fanciers take their special tape timing clocks to headquarters where officials synchronize them with a master clock to record the day, hour, minute and second each bird returns to its loft.

On the night before a race, fanciers take hundreds of pigeons to headquarters. There the birds are registered and rubber countermarks are snapped around their legs.

Each bird bears three identification numbers. His life-long number is on a seamless aluminum leg band. His racing number is on the outside of the countermarker within the folds of which is a third secretly recorded number.

The banded birds are placed in panniers, or willow shipping baskets which are taken in special railroad cars to the starting point. Here the panniers are stacked in a row, five and six high. Everything is ready. The concourse racing secretary watches the time and gives the signal "Go." The doors fly open and the race is on.

Home headquarters are notified by telegraph of the starting time and weather conditions. This information is telephoned to the participating fancier. He studies wind and weather and calculates the hour and minute the first of his entries should dive for the home loft. He should dive for the home loft, he waits in his yard, scanning the skies. He sees a speck far above the housetops and dashes into the loft with his timing clock.

A bird's speed is calculated in yards per minute, a mathematical task for headquarters officials when they open the fanciers' clock.

They're Eager For Action Pigeon racing is called a gentleman's sport because its followers—there are 30,000 in the United States—race the birds for diplomas

How's Your Health?

THE PROBLEMS OF PIMPLES

The common pimple or acne vulgaris as the condition is called is from the medical viewpoint, one of the minor disabilities. But to the sufferer it is at best a plague and, to the sensitive young person, almost a tragedy. The present individual is most likely to develop acne vulgaris.

Most cases of acne are found in skins that are greater than normal. Occasionally, however, individuals with a dry skin may also show what is termed superficial acne.

The forerunner of the pimple is the blackhead or comedone. The blackhead results from the blockage of the outlet of the oil secreting gland. This blockage is caused by an abnormality of horn formation in the outer layer of the skin.

When the outlet of the sebaceous gland is blocked, the gland's secretion, instead of having free egress, becomes bottled up and in time forms a solid plug. Dirt may collect at the mouth of the oil gland forming what is called the "blackhead." The plugged up mass of sebum may soon act as an irritant within the skin, causing the collection around it of pus cells. At this stage the blackhead becomes converted into a pimple.

Since not all youngsters going through puberty suffer with acne vulgaris, it is reasonable to assume that certain constitutional factors must contribute to the development of this condition. Heredity seems to be one factor. The character of the individual's skin and the combination of glands of internal secretion peculiar to the individual are of course derived from his ancestors.

Anemia, malnutrition and tox-rather than high cash awards. They may place side bets and win a few dollars, but they consider it lucky if they break even with expenses of about $3 a year per bird.

The average loft contains 50 pigeons which have been bred or bought at prices ranging from $5 to $10 apiece. The largest known privately-owned loft has 700 birds and the highest recorded price paid for one pigeon, a consistent champion, is $1,100.

"Racing pigeons are as keen as race horses," says W. R. Fancher, secretary of the Greater Chicago Concourse, American Racing Pigeon Union.

"If you look into the panniers just before they are opened you will find the birds all aquiver and crowding one another for advantage points in front of the wicker gate. Each pigeon tries for a front row position from which to spring into action at the signal 'Go.'" emias of various kinds lower constitutional vitality and reduce the resistance of the skin to infections. Constipation has an important effect on the condition. Bad personal hygiene, that is, irregular hours, lack of rest, over-work and anxiety are contributing features.
