ITALY ISSUES NEW CALL FOR 'VOLUNTEERS'

Requests 50,000 Recruits To Meet 'Emergencies'

DENIES MEN FOR SPANISH SERVICE

Great Britain Considers New Approach to Impasse in Non-Intervention Efforts

(By The Associated Press) Italian blackshirt leaders today asked for 50,000 volunteer militiamen to meet "emergencies," as the British cabinet considered a new approach to the Spanish intervention impasse.

Fascist officials in Rome denied any of the volunteers were intended for Spanish service, but the British and French government were known to be disturbed by recurring reports of further Italian intervention.

The two countries, however, seeking to avoid a direct clash with Italy, have yielded to Premier Mussolini's wish to have the London non-intervention group manage the question. France agreed to this after stipulating the negotiations must be swift and that Britain help her "equalize the balance" in Spain should the negotiations fail.

After the cabinet meeting in London Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain took the unusual step of calling the Laborite opposition leaders into conference—a step which rarely occurs when parliament is not in session except in time of crisis.

Chamberlain was expected to take the Laborite leaders entirely into his confidence and show them secret dispatches on both the Spanish and Sino-Japanese situations. In Spain fighting continued, especially on the northern front, where the insurgents reported advances in their drive in Gijón. Insurgent and government sources reported more than 30 war planes were brought down in a series of Columbus day sky battles.

Germany announced a non-aggression agreement with Belgium. British officials would not admit it, but it was known that the new Belgium foreign policy which scrapped the old defensive alliance with Britain and France had caused uneasiness in London.

Informed circles in Berlin said Hitler desired to demonstrate to the world through the treaty that the international lawlessness of which President Roosevelt complained last week is not to be found in Germany.

Ruth Bryan Owen To Speak Here On Evening Of Oct. 20

Political Leader and Lecturer To Appear at College as Second Feature of Entertainment

Ruth Bryan Owen, famous political leader, diplomat and lecturer, will speak at the College Wednesday night, October 20, as the second night of the year's entertainment program. Her topic will be "This Business of Diplomacy."

Famous not only as the daughter of that silver-tongued orator, the late William Jennings Bryan, but in her own right as a former Congresswoman and the first woman to represent the United States at a foreign court, Mrs. Owen, now Mrs. Berge Rohde in private life, is admitted to be one of the most charming speakers on the platform today.

Certainly because of the strain of diplomatic relations all over the world today, the topic, "This Business of Diplomacy," is one to interest an audience, and one which an informed person would have much to say; and Mrs. Owen's wide and varied experience makes her such a person.

This famous lecturer gained her first experience in public speaking by making political speeches for

Poultry Exhibit

There should not be a scarcity of poultry exhibits at the Pitt county fair here next week. In fact at least one chicken apparently is determined to compete for prizes to be offered at the American Legion sponsored exposition.

The chicken went to the up-town fair office window and began pecking on the pane. Unable to get in there, the bird, then went around to the door and waited until someone opened it.

Taken in charge by officials of the fair, the chicken probably will be among the first to be placed on exhibit.

MOTHER BATTLES FOR CUSTODY OF DAUGHTER

A court fight is being waged in Chicago over custody of a little girl who has been cared for by foster parents since birth. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Richter, shown (left) with the child, Florence Ann, seek to keep her. But Miss Della Staskie (right) of White Cloud, Mich., the real mother, is fighting to take Florence Ann from them.

Mr. Hackney is survived by his wife; three sons, George, III, Carl and Dick Hackney; two daughters, Frances Hackney and Mrs. Hamilton, the latter of Lexington; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hackney, Sr., of Wilson; four brothers, D. J. John, James and Ernest Hackney; and three sisters, Mrs. W. D. Adams, Mrs. Norman Thomas and Mrs. A. G. Ruffin.

Officers Capture Liquor-Laden Car

State Highway Patrolmen last night arrested Guy Smith and wife of Raleigh on charges of transporting illegal whiskey for the purpose of sale after 74 gallons of the contraband had been found in their automobile.

The officers "spotted" the liquor-laden car while patrolling the Greenville-Washington highway. The whiskey was in five-gallon containers and half-gallon pars. Officers said both Smith and his wife had been charged with dealing in illegal liquor before.

They put up $500 cash bond, $250 each, for their appearance in court here.

Because of domestic production, United States imports of foreign dyes have decreased from a high of $9 million pounds to approximately five million a year.

Relates Development Of Historical Commission

Waynesville, Oct. 13.—History and development of the North Carolina Historical Commission were outlined here today by Dr. C. C. Crittenden, Secretary of the Historical Commission, in an address to the Dorcas Bell Love Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The speaker chose for his subject "Preserving North Carolina History—the State Historical Commission and its Work."

Created in 1903, the commission was built largely by Dr. R. D. W. Connor its first secretary, who won such recognition in this capacity that he was recently appointed by President Roosevelt as Archivist of the United States, highest position in this field which the nation has to offer.

The chief function of the Commission is the collection and preservation of historical manuscripts, and it now has filed away in its archives more than a million and a half of them, besides more than a thousand maps and other historical materials, he said. It has published over twenty volumes of the papers of famous North Carolinians, and issues the North Carolina Historical Review, recognized as one of the best journals of its kind in the entire nation.

Executive Says People Rightly Talking Of Freedom

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today the people were "rightly" talking freedom of religion and the press, just as they did 150 years ago when New York state ratified the federal constitution.

Coming here from Hyde Park as a "neighbor," the chief executive spoke before a crowd of several thousand at the laying of the cornerstone of the city's new post-office.

Meantime at Washington, agriculture department officials were quick to compare the president's outline of an "all-weather" farm program with the "ever-normal granary" advocated by Secretary Wallace.

They said price depressing bumper crops and high food costs in the cities had doubled the emphasis on demand for its immediate enactment.

General farm legislation will have priority in the forthcoming special session of Congress under an agreement whereby Mr. Roosevelt approved 1937 crop loans.

Other Washington developments: John Biggers, unemployment census administrator, said his central organization would be headed by Stuart Rice, chairman of the government's statistical board.

Two Convicted In City Police Court

Only two defendants faced Mayor M. K. Blount in city police court, but one of the two was tried on two separate counts. Both defendants were Negroes.

William Henry Parker was bound over to County court under bond of $300 on charges of trespassing at the Imperial tobacco factory and was ordered held under bond in the same amount for engaging in riotous and disorderly conduct and assault. Unable to post bond, the Negro was lodged in Pitt county jail.

Roland Hardy, convicted of public drunkenness, was taxed with the costs in his case.

STATE ISSUES LEAF FIGURES

Nearly 200,000,000 Pounds Sold During September

Raleigh, Oct. 13.—(AP)—North Carolina tobacco growers sold 182,529,449 pounds of tobacco in September for an average of $22.33 a hundredweight.

The crop reporting service released the figures today, showing the average topped the $21.91 average of September, 1936, even though total sales increased $2,000,000 pounds from a year ago.

The report did not reveal the season's average price but said 281,515,016 pounds had been sold by (Continued on Page Five)

Cautions Hunters Be Careful When About CCC Camps

Sportsmen With Powerful Rifles Should Not Hunt Within Two Miles Of Projects

Raleigh, Oct. 13.—With the deer, bear and other hunting seasons now open, hunters are asked to be especially careful when hunting in areas where Civilian Conservation Corps boys are working. John D. Chaik, game and inland fish commissioner of the Department of Conservation and Development, said today.

"Each year we have passed on the request received from General Robert Fechner, director of the Civilian Conservation Corps, asking North Carolina hunters to refrain from hunting within rifle range of areas where CCC boys are at work," Mr. Chaik said. "The response and cooperation of the North Carolina hunters has been of the finest sort and we are confident that they will cooperate again this season as they have in the past."

Sportsmen hunting deer or bear with rifles should not hunt within a distance of less than two miles of CCC work projects, since most (Continued on page six)

Man Kicked By Mule Reported Improving

James (Tobe) Evans, who was seriously injured when kicked by a mule in the forehead Saturday while at his farm about two miles from Greenville on the Cox Mill road, was reported improved by attaches at the Pitt General hospital today.

After remaining unconscious for several days, attendants said Mr. Evans was conscious at times today.

Wounded Survivor Of Gang Admits Three Policemen Slain By Members Of Band

G-Men Put End To Notorious Al Brady Mob Of Indiana

BOTH BRADY AND HENCHMAN DIE

Injured Man Admits That Three Policemen and Clerk Victims of Outlaws

Bangor, Me., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Captain Frank Foley of the Bangor police, said today James Dalhover, wounded survivor of the G-men ambush of the Al Brady gang, had confessed the band had slain three policemen.

Foley said he heard the prisoner during an all-night questioning admit to federal agents the gang had killed Richard Rivers, Indianapolis police sergeant; Paul Minneman, an Indiana state trooper, and at Freeport, Ohio, highway patrolman George Conn.

Dalhover, his skull creased by a bullet, surrendered after a squad of federal sleuths shot and killed Al Brady, John Dillinger's "successor" and the gang's youthful "trigger man," Clarence Shaffer, yesterday in a dramatic gun battle on a Bangor street.

Foley said the captured gunman also accused Brady of "knocking off" a grocery clerk, but said he did not know the victim's name or where the killing occurred. G-men however have charged the gang with the death of Edward Lindsay, a Piqua, Ohio, grocery clerk.

The wounded mobster claimed, Foley said, the gang did not intend "to do anything" in Maine, but merely wanted to replenish an arsenal depleted when the trio barely escaped G-Men at Baltimore.

Pitt Farm Bureau Members Gather To Hear President

Immediately Following Address Local Organization Wires Chief Executive Message of Thanks

The newly-elected directors of the Pitt County Farm Bureau assembled last night to hear President Roosevelt's fireside address. Immediately after the address the following telegram was sent to the President of the United States:

"The Directors of the Pitt County Farm Bureau assembled in session, listening in on your fireside address tonight, desire to express to you our appreciation of your efforts in behalf of agriculture and labor, our entire confidence in your leadership during these unsettled and insecure times, and our continued and wholehearted support of the measure which you proposed."

While the directors were in session plans were made to have a large delegation of farmers representing Pitt County at the Senate Committee's hearing in Winston-Salem on October 18 at 10 o'clock a. m. in the ball-room of the Robert E. Lee hotel.

The hearing will be presided over by Senator Smith (D-SC), chairman of the committee, who has expressed a desire to hear direct from farmers on the question of whether or not they favor crop production control.

Officials of the Farm Bureau here are urging farmers to attend in such numbers the hearing will have to be moved from the ball-room to the most spacious place available in the city.

New directors of the Farm Bureau, one from each township, follow: John R. Carroll, Winterville; F. M. Kilpatrick, Ayden; John T. Thorne, Farmville; Mack G. Smith, Beaver Dam; G. E. Revathan, Palkland; Arthur Woodard, Carolina; J. B. Ayler, Bethel; M. B. Scott, Belvoir; R. L. Little, Chirood; P. S. Moore, Swift Creek; W. H. Dail, Jr., Greenville; R. B. Tyre, acting director, Palkland.

Officers recently elected are G. E. Trevathan, president; R. L. Little, vice-president; Arthur Woodard, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Lillie Mae Dixon, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Collector Of Revenue To Be Here Two Days

Nate Parker, deputy collector for the Internal Revenue Department, will be in the post office here Thursday and Friday for the purpose of assisting persons in filing social security tax returns.

Mr. Parker will be found at the post office between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m.

G-MEN WIPE OUT BRADY GANG

In a five-minute machine gun battle on a busy street in Bangor, Maine, department of justice agents put an end to the notorious Al Brady gang of Indiana outlaws. Brady (upper right), leader of the mob, and one of his henchmen, Clarence Shaffer, Jr. (lower left) were killed instantly in the G-men's hail of bullets. Another member of the gang, James Dalhover (lower right) was wounded slightly and surrendered. Federal Agent Walter Walsh (upper left) was wounded.

FARMERS PAID DOUGHTON NOT BIG SUM HERE AFTER SENATE

Tobacco Growers Already Have Received $10,000,000

Approximately $10,000,000 have been paid to tobacco farmers selling on the Greenville market this year, compared with a total of $11,158,602.11 for the entire season in 1936 and $12,698,063.23 for 1935.

Farmers therefore already have received almost as much for their crop as they did during each of the two previous years.

Offerings were heavy again yesterday and priced continued strong on all grades. Offerings for the day totalled 1,235,338 pounds and sold for $372,985.30, an official daily average of $30.19 per hundred pounds.

The season's general average, which has steadily climbed for the past several weeks, has reached a mark of $25.36 per hundred pounds, a figure much higher than that at the corresponding date a year ago and also that of two years ago.

So far this season nearly 40,000,000 pounds of tobacco have been sold on the Greenville market, compared with a total of 40,067,808 pounds for the entire 1936 season and 60,354,582 during the whole of the 1935 season.

The 39,432,838 pounds of tobacco sold here this year brought $9,998,461.69 to establish the general season's average of $25.36 per hundred pounds.

State Again Successful In Case Protesting Tax

Raleigh, Oct. 13.—Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell and Attorney General A. F. Seawell are the Yankee tax suits against the state.

Just as Joe McCarthy's baseballers are invincible on the diamond, these state officials are tops when it comes to enforcing North Carolina's revenue gathering statutes.

The record stands thus: Neither Mr. Maxwell, who is going into his ninth year as commissioner, nor Mr. Seawell, who has held his post for four years or thereabouts, has ever been on the losing side in a tax suit when it was finally determined.

Latest victory for the pair came just a day or two ago when the United States Supreme Court refused a writ of certiorari to review a judgment compelling oil and gasoline companies to pay the chain station tax levied by the 1935 legislature.

CHINESE CLAIM HEAVY LOSSES BY NIPPONESE

Spokesman Declares 3,000 Japs Killed In Offensive

ADVANCE FLYING COLUMN ROUTED

Increasing International Consternation Caused By Attack on British Autos

Shanghai, Oct. 13.—(AP)—A Chinese spokesman declared today Japanese forces had lost more than 2,000 dead and wounded in a disastrous attempt to crash the Chinese line four miles northwest of the international settlement.

The Japanese army used 15,000 men in its desperate thrust. One Japanese flying column pushed ahead of the main body three miles to the outskirts of Tazang, where a murderous machine gun and hand grenade fire forced it to retire to the original position.

Tazang is the most strongly defended line on the Chinese battle line. Its capture by the Japanese might force the Chinese troops to withdraw from the Chapei sector to escape being flanked and surrounded from the west.

Despite withering fire from land, sea and air, the Chinese clung to their lines on all other fronts in the Shanghai district.

While Japanese planes resumed bombing Chapei a few yards outside the international settlement boundary, the echo of their machine gunning of two British motor cars late yesterday was creating more international consternation.

Hundred Farmers From Pitt Expect To Go To Hearing

County To Be Well Represented at Senate Agriculture Committee Hearing in Winston-Salem

More than one hundred farmers from Pitt county already have indicated that they will attend the Senate committee hearing at Winston-Salem October 18 at 10 o'clock in the ball-room of the Robert E. Lee hotel.

The Senate committee, headed by Senator Ellison D. Smith, of South Carolina, is holding similar hearings in seven other states. The object of these meetings is to give the farmer an opportunity to say whether or not he is in favor of production control.

County Agent R. R. Bennett issued the following statement urging farmers to attend the meeting: "For years farmers have wanted an opportunity to have their say in shaping the agricultural policy of the nation, and I hope that Pitt County farmers will get away from their work one day and go to Winston-Salem. Each and every farmer should use every available opportunity to express himself."

"This year's potato crop sold for depression prices. The 1937 cotton crop is the second largest in the history of the country and also is bringing depression prices. Tobacco prices are good at present but they continue to remain so. This is a question which the thinking farmer is now turning over in his mind."

"It is time for the farmer to act."

The vehicle was found abandoned on the old river road. Patrolmen advised Mr. Tripp yesterday that his car had been found. The person or persons responsible for stealing the car have not been apprehended.

Picked Up 41

S. L. Bridgers, congenial advertising manager for The Reflector went fishing off Morehead Monday and when asked about his luck upon returning yesterday replied "I picked up 41."

Mr. Bridgers would not explain what he meant by picking up 41, but his companions, W. A. Darden, D. J. Whitehead, Jr., and E. L. Henderson, none of whom could do much bragging, admitted that they had picked up a fishing seine along the beach. At any rate, Mr. Bridgers contends that he "picked up 41."

Christian Science Church.
"Are Sin, Disease and Death Real" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, October 10.

The golden text was from Romans 8:2. "The law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death." Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "When he came down from the mountain great multitudes followed him. And behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed. And Jesus saith unto him, See thou tell no man; but go thy way, shew thyself to the priest, and offer the gift that Moses commanded, for a testimony unto them." (Matt. 8:1-4).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science & Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "If sin, sickness, and death are as real as Life, Truth and Love, then they must all be from the same source; God must be their author. Now Jesus came to destroy sin, sickness and death; yet the Scriptures aver 'I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill.' Is it possible then, to believe that the evils which Jesus lived to destroy are real or the offspring of the divine will?"

CLUB MEMBERS HEAR OF CLINIC

Orthopedic Work Explained at Weekly Rotary Meeting

The wonderful work of the Orthopedic Clinic serving Pitt and four adjoining counties was indelibly impressed on the minds and attention of the Rotary Club, the sponsoring organization, last night when John Winstead, chairman of the special Crippled Children's committee, told of the work of the clinic and presented a colored man and a child who have been enabled to walk due to the clinic. Dr. Winstead, told how the clinic with Dr. Thompson as attending orthopedic surgeon, diagnosed cases and recommended treatment.

There is an average of twenty people—adults and children—present at each clinic held once a month. Adult indigents needing treatment or braces are cared for by the Federal and State government. Children unable to afford treatment or braces are cared for through the President's Birthday Ball funds.

Tom Grant, Greenville Rotary Club president, paid tribute to Tom Ennett who had called the idea of the clinic to the club's attention and sought the club's sponsorship. Lee Folger, another member of the Crippled Children's committee, told of how the first Rotary sponsored orthopedic clinic was established in Syracuse, New York, and soon Rotary International adopted such activities as a regular part of its program.

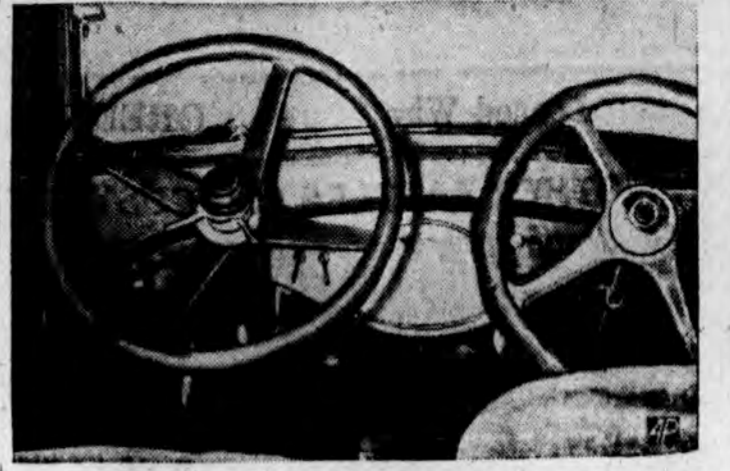

Guests of the club were John Moore and D. M. Fox. The attendance prize given by Phil Goodson was won by Johnny Overton. The club voted to sponsor the Sea Scout Troop of senior Boy Scouts operating as troop committee, N. T. Ennett, R. R. Bennett and Wyatt Brown. An inter-city Rotary meet is scheduled for early November.

Blossoms Are Bright

Paris (AP)—Bright-colored blouses are worn with many new fall suits. A dark green suit is highlighted with a blouse of fuchsia colored jersey. A quiet smoke-gray model is lifted up in the color scale by a tuck-in blouse of magenta satin-surell. An afternoon ensemble in black wool has a velvet blouse, half red, half green, the velvets joined, front and back, in a slanting line from shoulder to hip.

Paris (AP)—Original color ideas along launches this season include fluffy silk pompons to trim evening frocks. These dangle in a variety of shades on tulle and lace skirts. Colors mix also in a red, blue, yellow and green striped belt which accents a black dress.

BACK-SEAT DRIVERS GET FRONT-SEAT JOB

If keeping the back-seat driver busy will put an end to that machine-age menace, then a Kankakee, Wis., businessman has solved the problem. He has installed an extra steering wheel which gives the wife or other back-seater an opportunity to climb into the front seat and do her or his own maneuvering. The little detail of connecting the extra wheel to the steering knuckle was overlooked—but quite intentionally.

Carolina Sales Corp. Victory Dinner Host

The Carolina Sales Corporation was host to 140 Philco radio dealers at the Country Club here last night at a "Victory Dinner" in celebration of the completion of the ten millionth radio. The dealers enjoyed a bountiful chicken and barbecue dinner, served buffet style, after which a Monte Carlo party was staged. Each person was given thousands of dollars in stage money and after the "money" had changed hands in various methods of chance, prizes were sold to the highest bidder. For the more serious part of the meeting short talks were made by James T. Little, general manager of the Carolina Sales Corporation; E. E. Rawl, general sales manager, and C. H. Stickney, division manager of Philco.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Oct. 13.—The North Carolina school commission has just done a Solomon.

Back in Biblical days the so-called "wisest" man decided a baby controversy by suggesting that two pieces be made of one young 'un. Now comes the august commission to make two school buses run where one ran before. It has solved the Garysburg row by doubling the service so that one bus will take children from Garysburg to Weidon, where the school board recently decreed they couldn't go; while another will come within a short mile of them and take them over to Jackson, where the commission said they had to go. If they feel so disposed.

All of which may cost a little bit more money, but what's a few dollars compared with saving the face of a commission member?

Speaking of money, this bureau wonders just how much air mail was picked up at Kitty Hawk Tuesday.

The gesture was appropriate enough for air mail week, however.

Refuting the contention that they do nothing except engage in a few political maneuvers around election of officer time each year, leaders of the Wake county Young Democrat club have launched an intensive drive for members.

If Miss Virginia Griffis, club president, could personally interview all prospects, it's dollars to doughnuts the membership would increase by leaps and bounds. She's one of the few feminine politicians of the state who combines good looks with political sense and real charm.

The case which crushed a candidacy for lieutenant governor will come before the state supreme court next week, when the appeal of R. E. Sentelle, Brunswick county lawyer-preacher-legislator, from a conviction of driving while drunk in Moore county is called on the calendar.

Mr. Sentelle, who had all but officially announced he would run for the state's second highest post in 1940 and who moved his residence to Canton for the express purpose, was convicted in recorder's court and again in superior court when he appealed.

His appeal to the supreme court is based on the contention that his conviction was against the weight of evidence in the case. His only purely technical assignment of error is that Judge J. A. Rousseau erred in refusing to allow the defendant to offer evidence that he is known as a total abstainer.

Mr. Sentelle is represented by the law firm of Ehringhaus, Royall, Gosney and Smith, of Raleigh, as well as by Brock Hurley.

Governor Clyde R. Hoey will speak before the annual convention of the North Carolina College Press Association in Raleigh, during its sessions November 4, 5 and 6. He accepted an invitation from Charles Dunagan, of State College, but has not yet definitely arranged the day or hour at which he will make the address.

Newspapermen and state officials who saw the Monday night preview of attractions at the State Fair came away loud in their praise, despite the fact that it was cold as Greenland's icy mountains in the grandstand and the further fact that the preview was long drawn out.

Thursday all state employes will have their best opportunity to take in the fair, as all offices and bureaus will be closed.

REPORTER 'CRACKS' SAFE,
—BUT QUITE LEGALLY.
Washington Courthouse, O., Oct. 13.—(AP)—A reporter for a local newspaper turned out to be a real "wire-worrier", to the immense relief of employes at the Peoples and Drivers bank, where he opened the vault after all other attempts had failed. The vault door had caught on a safety lock, designed to be unfastened only from the inside. All manner of tools failed to budge it until the reporter happened along. With a length of steel wire he soon swung the massive door open.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington.—One of the things that make life interesting for school teachers in Alaska is that they have to supervise the reindeer.

The department of education says the teachers sort of drifted into the job because they were in close touch with the Eskimos whose children they were teaching—and the Eskimos were in close touch with the reindeer they eat.

Supervising the reindeer was a comparatively easy job for an enterprising school teacher until congress last session appropriated $2,000,000 to buy up all the private herds and turn them over to Eskimos, who were running short of reindeer of their own.

This wasn't a crazy communistic idea of congress to buy out private industry and turn it over to the people. It was a means of settling a range dispute of long duration among the drifts and tundras of America's frosty province.

How it started.
Fifty years or more ago the government imported reindeer from Russia and Lapland, hiring some Lapps to herd them and to teach the Eskimos how. In turn the Lapps were allowed shares of the herds for themselves. Later men from the United States went to Alaska to raise reindeer for the American market.

The Yankees introduced low-cost herding methods into the business, and from that and other reasons trouble arose. The Lapps had taught the Eskimos to herd their reindeer in closely held bands moving from place to place for fresh supplies of moss, upon which reindeer feed.

Operators from the United States adopted the "loose herd" system in vogue on western plains, where the animals are allowed to roam at large, with few herders. It cut down the cost, and for a time the operators made fair money shipping reindeer meat to the American market. The meat reportedly isn't as good as beef, but the novelty of it kept it going.

In time the herds got all mixed up, and the Eskimos, never famous as astute business men, began to complain that they were suffering from the short cut in the annual roundups. Moreover, the operators from the United States hired all the experienced Eskimo herders at fancier wages than the Eskimo reindeer owners could pay, with the result that the Eskimo-owned bands of reindeer began to run wild and to suffer terrific losses from wolves. Certain Eskimo villages ran so short they faced real need.

Roundup Ordered.
Moreover, the reindeer meat industry didn't prove so valuable, and was hit hard by the depression in the United States. Some members of congress were caustic enough to suspect that the $2,000,000 was to be used simply to get the private operators out of a bad spot, but the bureau of education in the interior department says that is not so—well, not altogether so.

But there was such a wide difference between the number of reindeer the private owners had, they had and what the government agents said they had that a general roundup is to be completed before the money—$3 a head—is paid over.

Roundup reindeer scattered all over southern and western Alaska is quite something to think about, but the supervising school teachers say it can be done. Government estimates are that about 600,000 to 700,000 head of private stock will be bought, but the owners say it will be nearer two times that.

The Eskimos will take over the packing plants and all, and hope to continue shipping meat to the United States. But the chances are that if you want your reindeer meat regularly hereafter, you'll have to move to Alaska.

IT'S ODD

But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(AP Science Editor)

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 22.—Mt. Washington, the tallest peak in the east, is a good test airplane for one thing—ice on wings.

The mountain, explains S. Pagliuca of Harvard's Blue Hill observatory in the journal of Aeronautical Sciences, in spite of standing still, furnishes a good imitation of the forces that put ice on a moving plane.

This he demonstrated by fixing an airplane wing on a stout post and facing its leading edge into the winds on top of Mount Washington. Winds there blow from 40 to 100, sometimes 200 miles an hour.

And half of the time the weather is such that "rime" forms on the wings. Rime is ice crystals that form directly into the teeth of the wind. This is the kind of ice formation pilots fear, because it piles up on the leading edges of the wings.

Most of the ice information comes from pilots. Dr. Pagliuca explains, and they have to be concerned with safety first. They cannot let ice form for hours in order to discover the all-important workings of the "laws" of nature. Wind tunnels have tried, with some success. But in tunnels it is difficult to reproduce the great outdoors conditions which the planes must face.

Musician Runs A Nursery— Soothes Kids With Saxophone

FORT WAYNE, Ind.—When Thomas Gore, professional musician, found he couldn't keep the wolf away from the door with his saxophone and clarinet, he decided to start a nursery.

The idea clicked. He and his wife now have a house full of children, some of them boarding permanently, others there only for the day. But Gore hasn't gotten away from music entirely. He plays for the kids and finds it keeps them quiet.

How's Your Health?

Edited for the New York Academy of Medicine

Rheumatic Fever and St. Vitus' Dance

St. Vitus' dance or chorea is a form of rheumatic fever. It occurs when rheumatic fever attacks the brain. Rheumatic fever, probably due to an infectious agent, may manifest itself in a variety of forms. Thus, when involving the joints it gives rise to what is known as polyarthritis, or arthritis of many joints. When it attacks the brain it gives rise to chorea. When it affects the skin and underlying tissue, rheumatic nodules result. It involves the heart, it causes rheumatic heart disease.

Rheumatic fever usually shows itself as muscle or joint pains, chorea or St. Vitus' dance, subcutaneous (under the skin) nodules or polyarthritis. The sufferer's heart is often involved during or following these manifestations, but the damage may not become evident until months or years later.

St. Vitus' dance predominantly occurs in girls. Nervous and excitable children seem to be especially predisposed to this form of rheumatic fever. It is most common between the ages of 5 and 15. Contributing causes to development of the disease appear to be fright, anxiety, injury, or excessive mental activity.

In the early stages the child appears to be restless, irritable. It is unable to focus its attention upon its task for any length of time, and it shows other behavior changes. At the same time or a little later the child becomes unable to coordinate properly its movements.

At first only the upper extremities may be involved. The youngster will be seen going through involuntary, irregular and jerky movements. It seems to have become very clumsy—it may drop dishes or spill tumbler of water. Uncoordinated movements of the face may cause peculiar grimaces. As the condition progresses other groups of muscles become involved including those of the lower extremities.

These symptoms may vary in severity. In the extreme form the sufferer may be incapable of walking or dressing and may even find it impossible to feed herself. Speech may become disturbed. Constitutionally the St. Vitus' dance victim may show such symptoms as loss of appetite, loss in weight and some degree of fever.

of the high-powered rifles used for deer and bear will kill at a distance of about two miles. But those hunting with shotguns can hunt to within 300 yards or so of work projects, since shotguns do not have a range of more than 200 yards, even when buckshot is used. It was pointed out. In North Carolina deer are more generally hunted with shot guns than with rifles, except in the Pisgah Forest deer hunt in which the National Forest Service requires that only rifles be used, Mr. Chalk said. The law permits the use of either shotguns or rifles, however.

DRUNKARDS TO GET 'CHAIN-GANG' SENTENCES

usa, Okla., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Tulsa will have a "chain gang" for habitual drunkards.

Mayor T. A. Penney suggested the idea and it was approved by Frank Brown, police and fire commissioner and Judge A. A. Hatch of Municipal court. Instead of paying their penalty by relaxing and eating in jail, the drunkards will be sentenced to weeding and clean-up details and will be chained together, in full sight of the public.

Police Chief Roy Hyatt said between 40 and 50 habitual drunkards were arrested two or three times a week.
