CHINESE HEED REQUEST MADE BY U. S. AGENTS

Bombing Planes Fly Around Foreign Settlement

TAKE NEW ROUTE AS PRECAUTION

Chinese Bombs Damage Japanese Mill On River Bank And Set Fire to Buildings

Shanghai, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Chinese bombers flew over a new route today to avoid the international settlement in before-dawn raids on Japanese positions about Shanghai.

In previous raids the planes had crossed over the settlement and Japanese anti-aircraft shell fragments had sprayed foreign areas. Yesterday United States ambassador Nelson Johnson made representations against the practice to the Chinese government.

A Chinese foreign office spokesman unofficially said of Johnson's request that Chinese airmen again were ordered to take every precaution to safeguard foreign areas.

He declared Japanese primarily were responsible for the situation since they were operating from some sections within the settlement. The spokesman added while precautionary measures were being taken, China is forced to take military action against Japanese as long as they occupy Shanghai.

Today the foreign population slept through the Japanese anti-aircraft fire unaware that shells were bursting over Pootung, along the new Chinese bombing route, across the Whangpoo river from Shanghai proper.

Chinese bombs damaged a Japanese mill on the river bank and set fire to six buildings. The Japanese anti-aircraft fire apparently was ineffective.

One foreign area, a suburb where many wealthy foreigners have their homes, was declared by Chinese authorities to be out of bounds of the international settlement.

Several Cases In Local Police Court Heard Yesterday

Seven Negroes Convicted of Trespass Fined Five Dollars Each and Taxed with Costs

Seven Negroes convicted of trespassing were fined five dollars each and taxed with the costs in City police court yesterday. The seven were Thad Harris, Council Bush, Orlander Allen, Elbert Roberts, Willie Daniels, Heber Anderson and John Atkinson.

Pete Crawford was convicted of public drunkenness and fined $10 and taxed with the costs.

Thad Harris was taxed with the costs of court upon conviction of drunkenness.

Annie Bell Harper, Negro, was convicted of engaging in disorderly conduct and ordered to pay the costs of court.

William Henry Williams, Negro, was bound over to County court under bond of $200 on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Junia Thigpen, Negro, was ordered held under bond of $200 for trial in county court on a charge of shoplifting.

George Johnson, Negro, was ordered held under bond of $200 each on a charge of maintaining a liquor still with assault with a deadly weapon.

Wete McGowan was held under $300 bond for trial on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

MAYBE THAT'S WHEN MUD HENS WERE BORN

Zanesville, O., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Folks stayed close in their own balliwick in this section along in the 1850's, to judge from a copy of an old Zanesville paper discovered here by Mrs. Samuel M. Wince. The paper, dated March 26, 1856, relates that spring weather had produced mud up to five feet deep in the principal streets. The editor recommended plank sidewalks. Another item concerned a proposal for carrying mail to Marietta, O., a distance of 64 miles, in the "short time" of two days. News from far places consisted of squibs on Jenny Lind singing in New York and troop movements in the Crimean war.

Iodine First.—Iodine may not look nice on your skin, but it's still the most efficient germ destroyer, the University of California department of bacteriology reports. Tests were made of nine leading germicides used to combat pus and typhus and types of bacteria.

First Greenville Automobile

The first locally-owned automobile ever to operate on the streets of Greenville is shown above parked in front of Johnston Brothers' grocery store, a site now occupied by Batchelor's clothing store. The building next door is now occupied by the home base of the Guaranty Bank and Trust company. The picture was taken by Jesse Speight and presented to J. B. and the late F. V. Johnston. F. V. Johnston subsequently quit the grocery business and erected a tobacco warehouse which he operated until his death a few years ago, and which now is being operated by his son, James Johnston. The automobile was owned by the late Robert Greene.

Attendance Record Set As Throngs Attend Fair

What was considered the largest and best behaved crowd ever to attend a Pitt County Fair journeyed to the new grounds on the Falkland highway yesterday afternoon and last night, jamming the new fair grounds almost to capacity.

Meantime administration officials showed signs of worry over financing the proposed new farm program without upsetting the President's forecast for a balanced budget next year.

Despite the chief's expressed hope of balancing the budget without increased taxation, there were persistent talks of establishing processing taxes to finance a crop control system at least partially.

At his press conference today Treasury Secretary Morgenthau said the budget bureau was making a study to determine whether certain claims could be financed without disrupting the President's latest budget estimates.

The rides and shows were busy throughout yesterday. The monkey show, which is proving unusually popular, was jammed most of the day. The rides, some of which never have been brought here before, were busy hauling old folks and children.

The weather man did his part to make yesterday a success. It was children's day and all were admitted to the grounds free. Because some children were unable to take advantage of the offer, the management announced this morning that children would be admitted free again on Saturday until 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

When the deadline for entering agricultural exhibits closed Tuesday one of the best displays ever seen at a Pitt County fair was in place to represent the various agricultural products of the county.

Today was Farmville Day and residents from that place flocked to the grounds to make it another big day.

Secretary Grey declared that in spite of its size, the crowd yesterday was one of the best behaved he ever had seen at a fair.

Active pall-bearers, all cousins, were H. Walter Whichard of Norfolk, Va., Hugh S. Sheppard of Wilson, Dr. Paul E. Jones of Farmville, E. B. Whichard of Stokes, L. L. Whichard of Whichards, John R. Carroll of Winterville, A. F. Kennedy, Robert D. Whichard, Hugh S. Ragsdale and A. E. Hobgood of Greenville.

Miss Whichard, who had suffered practically all her life with asthma, was taken ill Wednesday night of last week. She developed pneumonia Sunday and her condition became critical. She died at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

She was the daughter of Mrs. Hennie S. Whichard and the late David J. Whichard. She had served as society editor and circulation manager of The Reflector since 1923. The paper was founded by her father, and is now published and edited by her brother, D. J. Whichard, Jr. One sister, Mrs. S. L. Bridgers, also survives. Six surviving nieces and nephews are John David and Elizabeth Sutton Bridgers, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Bridgers; Hennie Ruth and Mary Andrews Whichard, daughters of Mrs. Ruth A. and the late W. L. Whichard; and David J. III and John Suther Whichard, sons of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Whichard, Jr. (Continued on page eight)

Funeral Services Conducted at Home On Wednesday

Funeral services for Miss Hennie Sutton Whichard were held at her home on Evans street where she lived during her entire life.

The services were conducted by Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of Memorial Baptist church, of which she was a life-long member. Assisting was Rev. Lowell F. Sode-man, acting pastor.

Music was provided both at the home and at the grave by Mrs. W. L. Hall, Mrs. E. S. Hamric, Mrs. H. R. Goodall, W. W. Lee and H. A. McDougle. "Face To Face" and "How Firm A Foundation" were sung at the home, and "Abide With Me" at the grave.

The large and beautiful floral tributes were handled by intimate friends of Miss Whichard, including members of her bridge club.

Active pall-bearers, all cousins, were H. Walter Whichard of Norfolk, Va., Hugh S. Sheppard of Wilson, Dr. Paul E. Jones of Farmville, E. B. Whichard of Stokes, L. L. Whichard of Whichards, John R. Carroll of Winterville, A. F. Kennedy, Robert D. Whichard, Hugh S. Ragsdale and A. E. Hobgood of Greenville.

NEW PROGRAM SET UP UNDER SON OF CHIEF

James Roosevelt Is Named Coordinator Various Agencies

EFFICIENCY AIM OF NOVEL SYST'M

Officials in Washington Meanwhile Worry Over Financing of Proposed Act

Washington, Oct. 21.—President Roosevelt set up his son, Secretary James, today as a "coordinator of the executive work of independent government agencies."

This description of his job was given by young Roosevelt as heads of nearly a score of agencies had down at a White House luncheon to receive from him an explanation of the new program. He told reporters the President hoped the plan would cut down his calling list and increase the efficiency of the executive branch.

At the request of the President, James said he would receive the head or acting head of each of the independent agencies at a set time each week. All of Mondays and Tuesdays have been set aside for the purpose.

Meantime administration officials showed signs of worry over financing the proposed new farm program without upsetting the President's forecast for a balanced budget next year.

Despite the chief's expressed hope of balancing the budget without increased taxation, there were persistent talks of establishing processing taxes to finance a crop control system at least partially.

Much Interest In Three Appeals To N. C. Supreme Bar

Case Against Representative R. E. Sentelle of Brunswick County for Driving Drunk Argued

Raleigh, Oct. 21.—Argument of appeals in three criminal cases attracted a large number of attorneys to the Supreme Court chamber Wednesday.

Two of the cases were of statewide interest, those of Walter (Preacher) Caldwell, giant Negro under sentence of death for criminal assault upon a white woman in Iredell county and that of Representative R. E. Sentelle, of Brunswick county, whose appeal from a conviction of driving while

PLANS MAPPED ON PROBATION

Tentative Location of Offices Announced By Director

Raleigh, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Harry Sample, director of probation, announced tentative location of district probation officers today.

The new venture in probation of state prisoners will start November 1, Sample said, and in the meantime the field staff members are getting acquainted to their territory after going to school here.

The districts, showing who is in charge, the headquarters city, judicial district embraced and counties in each, include:

1A—Vincent Leary, Elizabeth City, judicial district one; Currituck, Camden, Pasquotank, Chowan, Gates, Tyrrell, Perquimans, Dare, Beaufort and Hyde.

1B—Wayland Sledge, New Bern; fifth judicial district; Pitt, Greene, Jones, Craven, Pamlico and Carteret.

2—S. E. W. Kenny, Tarboro; second and third districts; Bertie, Hertford, Northampton, Halifax, Warren, Vance, Nash, Wilson, Martin, Edgecombe and Washington.

3—Kirkwood Hanrahan, Goldsboro; fourth and sixth districts; Chatham, Lee, Harnett, Wayne, Sampson, Lenoir and Onslow.

4—J. B. Beatty, Lumberton; 8th and 9th districts; Hoke, Cumberland, Robeson, Bladen, Columbus, Brunswick, Pender and New Hanover.

5—R. Bruce White, Jr., Durham; seventh and tenth districts; Durham, Wake, Franklin, Person, Orange and Alamance.

Dead In Plane Wreck Brought Out On Horses

So rugged was the mountain side on which the United Airlines plane crashed near the Wyoming-Utah border that pack horses were required to bring out the bodies of 19 persons who perished. The picture of the wreckage (top) is mute evidence of the terrific plunge. Below, horses are harnessed up beside snow-covered wreckage and bodies to receive their burden of dead.

COUNTY COURT IS CONCLUDED

Unusual Large Number Cases Removed From Docket

This week's session of Pitt county superior court was completed yesterday morning after a number of cases had been removed from the docket.

The case charging Joseph Johnson with violating a section of the cosmetologist law, which was expected to attract state-wide attention, was transferred to Superior court when counsel for the defendant moved for a jury trial and the motion was granted by Judge Dink James.

A nolle proes was taken in the case charging Claude Chance with larceny and similar disposition was made of a charge of possessing whiskey for sale against Will Carr. J. R. Cook tendered a plea of guilty to failing to secure a license to sell beer and was fined $50, costs to be deducted and ordered to purchase a license.

Joe Moore was acquitted of a charge of driving careless and reckless.

Ollis Warner, Negro, was fined $25 and costs and had his driving license revoked for 30 days upon tendering a plea of guilty to driving in a careless and reckless manner.

Brother of Local Man Is Claimed By Death

Word has been received here of the death of J. D. Overton, of Nashville, brother of D. D. Overton of Greenville. Mr. Overton died in a Rocky Mount hospital yesterday morning.

Funeral services were conducted at the Nashville home at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

PACT REACHED TO END STRIKE

Waterfront Walk-out At Southern Ports Concluded

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 21.—(AP)—V. E. Townsend, union spokesman, announced early today a truce in the waterfront strike which has tied up principal southeastern seaports for six days.

Townsend, southern representative of the International Longshoremen's Association, said the truce would become effective some time today and would hold until November 5, or until operators reached a final agreement with the American Federation of Labor organization.

Negotiations will continue with the provision that any new wage scale agreed upon will be retroactive to the date of the truce, he added.

About 3,000 men, mostly stevedores, checkers and warehouse workers, are on strike in Wilmington, N. C., Charleston, S. C., Savannah, Ga., and Jacksonville, Miami and Tampa, Fla. Their walkout tied up more than thirty steamships.

The men demanded increased hourly pay, an eight-hour day, and premiums for overtime labor. It was learned authoritatively there was a difference of only two cents between the allowance asked and those offered by operators. Other points were yet to be settled.

Townsend said the truce affects only coastwise vessels.

Half the menus in London seem to be printed in French.

Other Senate Candidates Are Considered Possible

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Oct. 21.—It's hard to convince a large portion of the political prognosticators that the 1938 senatorial primary has narrowed down to a "in this corner" the defending champion, Robert R. Reynolds, and "in that corner" the challenger, Frank Hancock.

There is still some muzzling of the name of former Governor and former Senator Cameron Morrison, but this is discounted practically unanimously by those who ought to know their way around. At the present moment, one Raleigh news forecaster is beating up tom-toms proclaiming that George W. Coan (the state WPA administrator) will enter the lists as the champion of the conservative and so-called "Tory" group.

So far Mr. Coan has contented himself with the old standby "Absolutely no comment to make" re-

GREAT BRITAIN THANKS ITALY

Expresses Appreciation on Non-Intervention

London, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, addressing Commons at the opening of the fall session today, thanked Italy for making at "the eleventh hour" her new and "very welcome" contribution to Europe's program of non-intervention in Spain—by agreeing to preliminary steps for withdrawal of foreign fighters in the insurgent army.

Eden reiterated, however, England's determination to "maintain a right of way on this main arterial road," the Mediterranean.

Britain united, he continued, in wanting the government to take no side in a purely Spanish matter, but "there will be no indifference on the part of the British government where it is clear that vital British interests are concerned—such as protection of her Mediterranean route to her colonies."

The foreign secretary declared both Italy and Germany had "substantially modified their views" on the relation of withdrawal of volunteers in Spain and the granting of belligerent rights to the Spanish combatants.

He added the Italians had proposed the "acceptable plan" for deciding on the proportions of withdrawal of foreign volunteers from either army on the basis of figures to be submitted by a commission to be sent to Spain.

Meantime British officials began work on proposals for sending an international commission to tabulate the number of foreign war, riots in Spain and see that they are withdrawn.

The plan will be submitted to the Spanish neutrality subcommittee tomorrow.

The area of Manchoukuo, 1,303,143 square miles, was announced officially for the first time in March, 1935, previously having been a matter of estimates.

FRANCO OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR ENDING STRIFE

Insurgents Take Last Spanish Northwest-ern Stronghold

ARAGON SECTOR NEXT OBJECTIVE

Command Appears Hopeful of Dealing Decisive Blow Before Volunteers Go

Irun, Spain, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Insurgent military headquarters announced today Gijon, the Republican government's last important stronghold in the Spanish northwest had surrendered to General Francisco Franco's offensive.

Headquarters said the Navarra brigades of the insurgent forces were expected to enter the "scary" seaport tomorrow morning. Details of the capitulation were not given immediately.

The reported surrender of Gijon came after the flight of many Spanish government officials and the last unit of the Asturian air force to France.

Indications were the insurgents would clean up quickly the remaining fragments of government territory in Asturias province and transfer the mass of troops from this area to eastern Spain for the impending major offensive there.

Franco has been concentrating troops in the Aragon sector in preparation for a drive into Catalonia and Valencia. The insurgent command appeared hopeful it would be able to deal a decisive blow to these government centers before any appreciable number of foreign volunteers can be withdrawn from the civil war.

It had been Franco's plan to settle the war before winter weather interferes with troop operations.

Travel Tour Pays Brief Visit Here During Afternoon

Journalists and Travel Executives Served Refreshments in Hotel Dining Room While Here

Two buses and several cars loaded with journalists and travel executives stopped in Greenville for a few minutes this afternoon on their itinerary which took them from Elizabeth City to Goldsboro.

Greeted by the High School band members of the tour arrived just before 3 o'clock. They were ushered into the Proctor hotel dining room, where they were served refreshments. On their way out the writers and executives were taken by East Carolina Teachers college.

Plymouth, Oct. 21.—(AP)—A North Carolina travel tour arrived here today in time for a luncheon of game, after which they headed for the tobacco belt again.

Although officially it bade farewell last night at Elizabeth City, about 80 members of the party, several of whom are members of general committees before leaving the state. After lunching on bear, deer, wildfowl and squirrel, the group set out for Kinston, where the journalists and travel executives expect to spend some time on the tobacco auction floors.

Previously the tourists had stopped at Wilson and there were so intrigued by market operations that they called for another visit. They planned to spend tonight at Goldsboro and then move to Charlotte to disband.

Today's trip also afforded a view of the pulp wood forests in this area.

NOW YOU CAN LEAVE POTTED PLANT A HOME

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 21.—(AP)—here's a new gadget devised by S. Herbert Smith, to water the potted geranium while you're on vacation.

Operated by the heat of the sun, it will squirt ten ounces of water into a flowerpot on sunny days. Smith says the plant won't need water when there's no sun to dry it out.

Smith's gadget consists of a metal tank, a length of rubber tubing, and a tiny needle valve.

The heat of the sun expands the air in the top of the tank and forces a couple of drops of water through the tube to the plant.

Hoppers Counted Before Harvesting. Lancer, Colo.—(AP)—Grasshopper experts have discovered there will be 200 grasshoppers hatched on each square foot of soil in a large field near here next spring. How extensive infestation may be in other southeastern Colorado fields has not been determined.

Back From New York.
Miss Bess Lowe has returned from New York where she has been purchasing new merchandise for herself.

A. A. U. W. Meets.
The local branch of the A. A. U. W. began its year's activities Monday night, October 18, with a dinner in the parish house at which over forty members and guests sat down.

The meal was followed by business meeting and program.

As the officers of secretary and treasurer had been left vacant by the resignation of Miss Jessie Mack who is now married and living in Delaware, and Miss Maude Adams, who is now on the faculty at the Women's College of the University of North Carolina, Miss Helen Spangler was elected to serve as secretary and Miss Annie C. Newell as treasurer.

The program was in charge of the education committee. Miss Jessie Schnopp, chairman, talked on the educational needs of the community pointing out a number of fields in which the A. A. U. W. might help in some way.

She mentioned the need for more visual education in the schools, for work in the creative arts, for hobby clubs, for vocational guidance throughout the four years of high school and for those who are just out of high school, for more physical education for girls, more provision for the play needs of children and more adequate library facilities.

Mrs. Luther Herring, another member of the committee, moved the celebration of Book Week by the group; and her committee was requested to take charge of the plans.

Mrs. Ficklen Arthur, president, sat at the head of the table and conducted the business meeting. The hostesses were Mrs. Arthur, Mrs. Jack Edwards, Mrs. C. A. Bowen and Miss Kittrell.

R. C. Deal of the college, will be the speaker at the Fall Federation of Home Demonstration Club Women, meeting in the Roper high school auditorium tomorrow afternoon.

The Round Table
The regular meeting of the Round Table was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. J. Everett. On arrival the guests were served light refreshments.

The business meeting was brief, routine matters were taken up in regular order. The literary program was postponed that the club might accept the invitation of the Sans Souci Club to hear Nell Battle Lewis speak at the parish house.

The Round Table will hold its next meeting October 28th with Mrs. J. W. Higgs.—Reported.

4-H Club Meeting.
On Wednesday, October 20, the Red Oak 4-H Club met in the club house at 8 p. m. The president called the meeting to order. The minutes of last meeting were read and approved. There was no old business. The new business discussed was about the time of the meeting. The club decided that the next meeting was to start at 7:30 p. m., instead of 8 p. m.

The first 30 minutes was devoted to a talk on parliamentary law by Mr. Griggs. He told us how a president should preside over the meeting and a few dos and don'ts that the members should do. Next he talked about poultry. He told us when we should buy laying hens, what kind to buy, how to take care of them, and what to feed them.

Miss Nice talked on room improvement. She had a variety, a miniature wardrobe and two types of shoe racks which she showed to us and explained how they could be made. She gave the girls some materials for their scrap books and told them to make a drawing of their room for the next meeting. Reported.

Sans Souci Honors New Clubs.
The Sans Souci Book Club, with Mrs. J. H. Blount and Mrs. J. B. Kittrell as hostesses, began the club year very auspiciously by having as its guests the club women of Greenville, desiring in particular to pay honor to the newly organized book clubs of the town.

The meeting was held in the parish house of the Episcopal Church, the special feature of the afternoon being a review by Nell Battle Lewis of the books "The Miracle of England" by Andre Maurois, and "Edward VIII" by Hector Bolitha.

The hostesses, Mrs. Blount and Mrs. Kittrell, assisted by the club officers, received the guests at the door and invited them to the receiving line which was composed of Mrs. W. E. Hooker, president of the Sans Souci Club, Miss Lewis, and the presidents of the new clubs. These were Mrs. Wm. Taft of the Inter Se; Mrs. Jack Spain of the Clio; Mrs. D. M. Clark of the Athenium, and Mrs. N. S. Beard of the Chatham.

The large number of women present showed Greenville to be indeed "club-minded." Mrs. Hooker dispensed of all conventionalities, and very graciously and informally welcomed the assemblage. "Not," she said, "as co-workers" but as "friends." She gave a brief resume of the history and accomplishments of the older clubs and extended invitations to the new ones. She expressed the wish that the same friendship, the same cooperation, and the same real fellowship that has always existed among the clubs of Greenville might continue, and be strengthened by the addition of these new groups of fine women.

Mrs. Hooker then presented Miss Lewis to the women. Miss Lewis

Here Tonight

Harold D. Eide
Harold D. Eide, Arctic explorer will speak at the High School auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock on the topic of "Building a City in the Shadow of the North Pole." The entertainment is the second in a series of four being presented by the Greenville Kiwanis Club for the benefit of underprivileged children.

seemed no stranger to them, being well known through her publications and particularly through her delightful column "Incidentally."

Miss Lewis first discussed "The Miracle of England." This book, written by Andre Maurois, is described as one that takes you inside of England. It graphically depicts England in its making, showing the developments that have made her the world power she is today. It traces the changes in government, giving a comprehensive view of the relationship between crown and people from the days when the divine right of kings was accepted, to the present, when the monarchy is extremely limited, is a controlling force in binding one-third of the world's people. England's greatness, this book shows, is largely due to her discretion in saving the best from the past and combining it wisely with the progress that time has brought.

Miss Lewis put the major part of her time on the book "Edward VIII." She weighed the various influences in his life and inheritance that led him to "lay down his burden" and become the tragic figure he is today. In presenting Bolitha's "Edward," Miss Lewis showed more charity in her estimate of the man than when discussing him in "Incidentally." At least she left him and the duchess foaming the earth and, as in "Incidentally," made no suggestion that it be well for them to expose themselves to the dampness of the bottom of Switzerland's largest and deepest lake.

The women enjoyed Miss Lewis very much and I am sure are grateful to the Sans Souci Club for giving them this opportunity to hear in person one whose column they read so diligently and from which they quote so frequently.

A social hour followed this interesting program. The guests were invited into the guild room which was colorfully arrayed in chrysanthemums and other fall flowers. The table was lovely in a color scheme of green and yellow. A large basket filled with autumn fruits and vegetables, suggestive of harvest-time made the very attractive central decoration, over which yellow candles in silver holders shed a soft light.

Adorning each end of the table were two silver services, presided over by Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley and Mrs. George Woodward, charter members of the Sans Souci Club. Tea and sandwiches were served the guests.

The Sans Souci Club was indeed happy to be hostess to the clubs and to share Miss Lewis with them. The club is deeply indebted to Mrs. Blount and Mrs. Kittrell for providing to them this delightful occasion.—Reported.

Ballard's X Roads
Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Tyson and Mrs. Moses Tyson were Rocky Mount visitors last Monday.

Mrs. Paul Davis and little Chas. McArthur Davis of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Nancy McGlohon of Greenville, and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Allen of Rocky Mount, were guests of Mrs. Chas. McArthur and Ray Crawford Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Joyner and children of Walstonburg, were guests of Mrs. I. U. Joyner Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Chas. McArthur who has been in a hospital for treatment for the past several months, returned home today much improved in health.

Among the people around Ballard's who attended the State Fair in Raleigh last week were Messrs. Gene Allen Forlines, William Alinsky, Gilmer Nichols, Carl and Hubert Crawford.

Mr. Elbert Tyson, Jr., who is attending school at Barium Springs, Michigan, is at home for a few days.

Messrs. G. T. Tyson, Chester Worthington, Lionel and Jasper Jones attended the farmers' meeting in Winston-Salem Monday.

Address At College By Ruth Bryan Owen

Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, well known throughout the country for her achievements in many fields—as writer, platform speaker, Congresswoman and diplomat—delighted a large audience last night at the College, by her personal charm, the unusual quality of her voice, and her interesting account of the more informal activities and observations of a public representative abroad.

Introduced by President Meadows as the daughter of a famous father, "The Great Commoner," whose speeches and writings had touched his own life and that of countless others, and as a person recognized in her own right as a woman of notable achievement and great charm, Mrs. Rohde responded with a few gracious words of thanks and the laughing comment that she had searched the Bible to find assurance that oratorical gifts descend from parent to child, but all she had found was that "the sins of the fathers are visited upon the children."

Her informal lecture which followed, drawn from her experiences in Denmark and Denmark's possession, Greenland, kept her large audience interested, and eager for more at the end of an hour.

The speaker explained that her subject—"This Business of Diplomacy"—was chosen because many people do not realize that diplomacy is a business, a very important one, and not just a frill or "carnation in Uncle Sam's button-hole."

One duty that falls on a representative abroad is to answer the deluge of mail that comes to the office—including letters from auto-graph hunters, from stamp collectors, from geography classes, from magazines seeking material for articles, and so on.

She was even asked once to secure a photograph of a certain type of red cow from a Danish island far from her headquarters in Copenhagen.

Mrs. Rohde divided the work of our representatives in a foreign country into three classes: matters in which an individual must deal with the government, handled by the consulate; matters which concern trade promotion, handled by the commercial attaché; and those in which government must deal with government, such as treaties and questions of state, handled by the legation procer.

Her prime business, as Minister Plenipotentiary and Envoy Extraordinary to Denmark, was introducing the United States to Denmark, and helping to make them friends.

A foreign country knows us chiefly through three sources—our daily papers, our "movies," and our people who go abroad.

The speaker then pointed out the unfavorable impression given by our papers. In a study she and another United States envoy made, they found 70% of the United States news which appeared in the Danish papers over a certain period was crime news.

Much of the rest, with its full details about tree sitters, our marathon dancers, out pie-eating contests and our "new sport" of frog-racing (said to be approved by the President) and its returns levied on NRA for funds) showed us in possibly an even worse light than our crime news.

Mrs. Rohde wished the papers would present to the people abroad a picture of the "typical American" a dweller on "the sunny side of main street," who would be recognized at once, she felt, as a man worthy of respect and friendship.

The second agency that shows us to foreigners, American films, also gives a very distorted picture in many ways.

One such moving picture cited, a prison-camp film, caused prayers to be said in Copenhagen churches for anyone caught in the horrors of America's prison system.

How much we needed, said the speaker, not only to preface that film for foreign exhibition with an explanation that it did not picture typical scenes in our prisons, but also to show such things as the rebuilding of lives achieved in the unusual woman's federal prison in West Virginia under Dr. Mary Hirst, the only woman warden of a federal prison.

The United States needs to send abroad films, as well as news, that will give an accurate picture of American life. Every advance in good pictures made here means an advance in prestige abroad.

To help give you a true picture of America, and in some measure counteract the unfavorable impressions given by newspapers and films, Mrs. Rohde, as Minister to Denmark, hung on the legation walls paintings of beauty typical of the United States, at one time a large painting on one wall of a New England winter scene, and on the opposite wall a scene in Florida at the same season. She tried to show the North and the South, the mountains and the plains, to give her callers some idea of the sweep of the country.

Another of her informal activities as the United States Minister, was the organization of an American women's club which devoted itself to presenting American achievements in the fields of arts and sciences. Its first program was the court pianist at the piano.

The speaker then told of an automobile trailer trip through Denmark with her young son and daughter, and gave interesting glimpses of the life and surroundings of the Danish country people, and of the friendly feelings on both sides stimulated by this contact.

The speaker closed with a string description of a Fourth of July celebration in an American park in Denmark, in which she participated, and telling how 40,000 Danish and American spectators united first in "The Star Spangled Banner" and then the Danish national anthem, she added it was one of those occasions "when the hearts of mankind are swept toward good will and peace."

"And the cultivation of such good will and peace," she concluded.

Jim Pettus, Negro, was given a 90-day sentence upon conviction of having liquor for sale.

Claude Atkinson, Negro, was given a 12-months sentence and his automobile was ordered confiscated upon conviction of having liquor for sale.

This minister herself, in congratulating the then Mrs. Owen on her appointment, mentioned the fact that only Russia had ever appointed a woman diplomatic representative and added laughingly, "and of course the Soviets will do anything!"

Mrs. Rohde (Kammerjunkerin) Rohde to use the feminine form of her Danish husband's court title, was accompanied by her husband, Captain Boerge Rohde of His Majesty's Life Guards and Kammerjunker or Gentleman-in-Waiting, to King Christian.

As their home will be in America, Captain Rohde has taken out his naturalization papers and, in his own words, "will be an American citizen in two and one-half years."

Captain and Mrs. Rohde had motored down from New York to allow Mrs. Rohde to fill her North Carolina appointments at Red Springs, Duke and E. C. T. C.

They left this morning for Roanoke, Va., from which point Captain Rohde will return to New York, while Mrs. Rohde will continue her Southern tour. She will speak twice in one day at Chattanooga, Tenn.

After the lecture, many of the audience remained to be presented to the guests.

COUNTY COURT CONCLUDED

Two's Company

By MARGARET CLION HERZOG

The Claretton
Nina, a nice girl with brown hair, has fallen in love with her stepfather.

Richard, the charming, well-favored stepfather, is openly attentive to Nina.

Yes, Nina's own plans, beautiful mother, is every a bit her own business.

She's a young and handsome, adores Nina and has tried her to marry him.

Richard is not at all afraid.

Chapter 15 Horseface's Advice

DAVID left that night before dinner, refusing Mester's offer of further hospitality with an easy grace. But before he went, he managed a word alone with Nina.

"I've not finished with you yet, young lady," he warned her. "When you're 'em, they stay kissed, my darling. More anon."

"More—kisses?"

"You bet. And wootings, and a betrothal... and maybe a diamond-ship engagement ring, that you'll actually be able to see... if you look hard enough and use a magnifying glass."

"David, you agreed that I hadn't committed myself."

"I said 'maybe,' didn't I?"

"But certainly more kisses?"

"I said 'you bet,' didn't I?"

"Thank you, for doing what you did, David."

But he only said: "Oh... Nina... and turned away, abruptly."

She watched him walk down the hall, a little stiffly. There was a little cross of white court-plaster, where the blood had trickled out from his temple.

For some reason, Nina's eyes filled with tears.

One Of Those Scenes?

IN February, Aunt Carrie (Horseface) Van Alstyne had a little talk with Nina. She had sent for her, and they were having tea in her extremely moderne apartment. There were chairs made of chromium plated tubes and silvered leather. There were black satin hangings and black glass tables, and everything that wasn't black or silver was green. Definitely green... You had to be careful what you gave Aunt Carrie.

Aunt Carrie thought it was all a huge joke, particularly the arty young man who had done it for her.

"Don't I look absurd in this place?" she had asked at her housewarming... and she did. But then, Aunt Carrie looked a little absurd, anyway, anywhere... so it didn't make much difference.

She was a tall, thin woman, a little older than Honey. She never gave a thought to clothes—usually accepting the garments salesladies hung on her, and walking out with them.

Her greatest talents were a superficial sophistication that covered an extremely warm and simple heart... and a flair for getting the most possible fun out of life.

Today, however, she was unduly serious.

"Nina, my dear, this is going to have to be one of those little talks that are called (loathsome expression) 'woman to woman.'"

Nina began to feel uneasy, but she took a deep breath and said she was ready.

"It's about our mutual concern, Honey." Now Nina began to grow hot, all over. "Get this clear in your head first, child. I think her marriage is a grand thing; but just at this point I think it needs a little supervising."

Was this going to be like one of those scenes you see on the stage, with each character knowing exactly what the other means, and yet talking in paraboles?

"I've noticed a very slight change in Richard lately," Carrie went on, "and I think I know what's the trouble. You can help me nip it in the bud, Nina, if you will."

Oh, it was going to be one of those scenes. So Horseface knew it all, did she? Nina thought it was a miracle that everyone hadn't noticed... or maybe they had. Things had reached a stage where it was impossible for Nina not to realize that Richard was tremendously attracted to her... he made no effort to disguise it, and she supposed that if anything had pulled the wool over people's eyes—Honey's eyes, it was his very openness.

Some nights when she lay sleepless from thinking about it, she thought that her stepfather himself must be unaware of his feeling for her and some nights, particularly when she was worn out with conflicting emotions, she thought that he was being diabolically clever. You couldn't pin anything on him; if he took his coffee up to her room in the morning, he announced it beforehand; when he kissed her, he kissed her in front of Honey; if he was holding her hand when his wife came in, he continued to hold it.

All this could be interpreted in two ways, and Nina, loving him, preferred to think that he was not deliberate. It made him a nicer person, it made her feel like a nicer person... if anything could, there'd say.

But Carrie was saying something that startled her.

"Your mother is so completely out of her head about him, that she has reverted to her schooldays. I haven't seen such fawning over a man since I made a fool of myself falling in love with my biology professor... I fell out of love with him, incidentally, when he practically croaked at the mouth with de- I got over a juicy ox eye... but that is neither here nor there, is it?"

But it certainly was. Good old juicy ox eye... Horseface was evidently on the wrong track.

"It's entirely to his credit, of course," Carrie continued. "That Richard is the finished product he is. You and I both know that he must have had a great many women in love with him, Nina, and frankly, I think he's getting a touch fed up with Honey's—adulation."

It began to be funny.

"My thought was, that if you would help me persuade your mother to accompany me on a little trip south, it would give Richard a bit of a breathing spell."

It ceased to be funny—immediately.

She said quickly: "I think, Horse—er, Aunt Carrie..."

"Go on, say it. Say 'Horseface'."

"I think, darling, that you are on the wrong track, I mean, I think you're mistaken. I mean I think everything's just fine."

But Horseface had the bit between her teeth.

"Well, you're crazy if you do," she said, in no uncertain terms; and she said: "A little lemon?" as though it were: "A little arsenic?"

"Aunt Carrie, dear, here's the thing; you only see them at intervals. I'm with them all the time. Don't you really think I'm more in a position to see what's going on, than you?"

Carrie frowned. "Not necessarily. Don't you know the way it is when a person's getting bald? He sees it and tends it every day, and thinks he's getting along fine. It takes an outsider to come along and tell him how much he's really lost."

"I'd Be Lost!"

MRS. Van Alstyne's mild, humorous face was no longer a friendly, amusing thing, to Nina. It had assumed dragon proportions.

Nina said: "Please don't think me rude, Aunt Carrie, or maybe I am... but I do ask you to leave this to me... Not to meddle."

Dragon-face was not in the least put out.

"I've always meddled in Honey's life—for the best, Nina; and I always shall. You simply don't want your mother to go away... You're less mature than I thought, dear child. Some crumpets!"

"Not! Nina was getting excited. "How ridiculous for you to say I don't want Honey to go away! Let them both go away, that's a thought... A change for them both. That would fix it."

Carrie sighed.

"This isn't getting us anywhere, baby. I'm not going to abduct your mother, but if I can persuade her to go away with me for a few weeks, I shall certainly do so. I'm sorry we can't see eye to eye about this. Now let's talk about something else." Presently Nina left, and in half an hour she was talking to Honey.

All the way home she had thought: "I'd be lost!" "I'd be sunk!" "I'd lose my head, surely." "She can't leave us alone together!"

"Honey, dear, please don't say I said anything about it, but Aunt Carrie mentioned something about wanting you to go south with her the other day... just you. You wouldn't do it, would you, darling? It would be an awfully dirty trick to Richard. Why, you're still a bride!"

She waited in an agony of suspense for her mother's reply.

But Honey was noncommittal.

"Why, I don't know, baby... maybe she's changed her mind; she hasn't said anything to me yet. We'll see."

The next day, Honey brought up the subject again, herself.

"You know, I'm rather considering that trip idea, Nina. Richard told me last night that he thought I looked a bit peaked." She paused, and then went on, anxiously: "Do you think I look peaked, baby? Do you?"

Nina suddenly imagined that her mother did... although it was probably just that Honey was nervous at the thought... she was always so passionately anxious to look blooming for Richard.

"Why, I hadn't noticed it, Honey, dear. But I certainly wouldn't leave him, even if I did go away for a while. Take him with you! I think he'd have every right to feel hurt..."

She simply had to let it go at that.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Oct. 21.—Definition of the word "knowledge" became quite the point at issue in the appeal of Earl Miller, young Salisbury man convicted of receiving stolen goods "knowing" them to have been stolen.

Attorney General A. A. F. Sewell was listening at some length on the philosophical aspects of the matter when Justice Michael Schenck interrupted:

"Perhaps none of us knows anything," he said.

"That's exactly right," replied the state's chief legal adviser—"That is from the point of view of objective reality," he hastened to add.

Operation of the state's new probation system will begin within the next two or three days, according to Probation Director J. Harry Sample.

The ten district probation officers have completed their training and left Raleigh. They will be assigned to headquarters almost immediately and will begin to function actively, Mr. Sample said.

Comment on the lack of open drinking and signs of drinking at the Fair Grounds last week is still being heard here on all sides. In previous years it has been customary to set up a "court" on the grounds for trial of law violators. Last week there were only three arrests made on the grounds. Deputy Sheriff Rufe Hodge is being congratulated on all sides for the fine job he did in policing the grounds during the fair.

There is no characteristic type of drunken driver. If the description of the 22 persons whose licenses were revoked Wednesday is a true criterion:

Age of the violators varied from 19 to 60 years, height from five feet three to six feet two, weight from 120 pounds to 200 pounds. Apparently Old John Bartycorn can get the best of any of them in a finish fight.

An incidental, but perhaps interesting fact in connection with the appeal of Walter (Preacher) Caldwell, argued Wednesday, is that the giant negro originally came from Scottsboro, Alabama, and that he was convicted of rape in Iredell county just at the time this past summer that the "Scottsboro Boys" were making their most recent appearances in Alabama courts for their alleged mass rape.

Loy Crowder, Polkville high school Shelby, has received the only existing national award to students of vocational agriculture for improved farming in North Carolina, according to a release this bureau has received from the Tenth National convention of the Future Farmers of America, in session at Kansas City, Missouri.

Closing his argument for Representative R. E. Sentelle, who appealed to the Supreme Court from conviction for driving while drunk,

THE FORGOTTEN MANHOLE

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

This is another article in which Preston Grover, Washington columnist, analyzes the New York mayoralty campaign as an important segment in the national political picture.

New York City—New York is probably one of the very few cities in the world where political speeches are punctuated by steamboat whistles.

A fine peroration by Mayor La Guardia during dedication of a link in a new high speed thoroughfare was split right between the subject and the predicate by a tug wallowing up the Hudson. The low-toned moo-coo-no drowned out at least 10 important words and La Guardia had to back up all the way to the preceding semi-colon. He seemed disturbed.

In fact, numbers of things are quietly passed over in New York elections that would fairly curl the hair of responsible public officials out in Pasadena or Des Moines. From the dedication of the highway, La Guardia went to Columbus Circle for another speech. A crowd of several thousands spectators was packed into one segment of the circle where loudspeakers had been installed to outthunder the street cars.

They cheered the mayor, of course, but the amazing spectacle was the masses of hands upraised, palm forward, in the fascist salute. When an Italian fascist patriotic piece was played by the band the crowd seemed to go wild with ecstasy and those thousands of palms farmer Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus said: "We're like the possum which fell from the very top of a tree—we hope you'll find a limb for us to catch on."

All set? Listen: HERE'S THE ENGINEERING MUST STORY OF THE YEAR!

Featuring the DYNAFASH ENGINE and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING—in the Most Modern Chassis in the World

You won't drive a hundred yards in a new Buick without realizing that something marvelously new and different is happening here.

It's something that happens in no other car, in no other engine.

Speeding through the intake manifold, the fuel charge hurricanes into the cylinder at something like 250 miles an hour.

Leaping to meet it is the piston, with a unique device called a Turbulator built into its face.

Then occurs something more than high compression—literally cyclompression—as swirling gasoline vapor is compacted about the spark plug.

The spark sets off a first-size hurricane—and gasoline gives up more performance than it ever gave up in a commercial engine before!

This livelier, smarter power might seem enough for engineers to lavish on a car in a single year.

But matching DYNAFASH power in importance is Buick TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING and its arrofite ride.

Take a Buick over a railroad crossing—around a curve—over bumps.

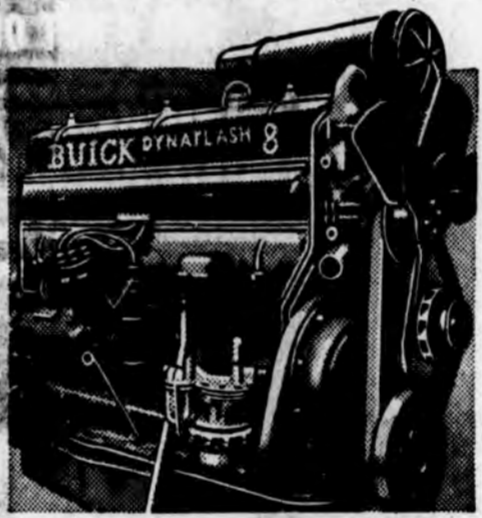

There's no thud and chatter, no tail-swing or roll; you cover rough going with the silk-smoothness of a panther on the prowl.

All because old-type leaf springs are gone! In their place, each wheel has a soft, shock-smothering cushion of stout coiled steel.

Skid risks are blessedly reduced. Rear tires last longer. The whole car handles more easily! That's TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING at work!

If it's power you're after, you'll want Buick's DYNAFASH engine. If it's comfort, you'll choose the TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING ride.

With either you get the other—plus half a score of features your Buick dealer is waiting to describe. See him now—for the engineering "must" story of the year!

MUCH INTEREST IN THREE APPEALS TO SUPREME BAR

The third case was that of Earl Miller, young white man of Salisbury who was convicted in Rowan superior court on a charge of receiving two cases of cigarettes just previously stolen by a group of negroes. Rowan's junior member of the North Carolina house, George

C. Uzzell, of Salisbury, made the principal argument for Miller. In the Cadwell case, A. C. McIntosh, Jr., of Statesville, argued that the confession alleged to have been made by the negro should not have been admitted. He contended that without this so-called confession there was insufficient evidence to convict his client. State Senator Jack Joyner, Statesville, was associated with Mr. McIntosh, who was appointed by the court in the Cadwell defense. The negro was sentenced to death within

M. E. Ringhaus argued eloquently for Representative Senelle, contending that the trial court erred in refusing to permit introduction of testimony that Mrs. Senelle said on the night of her husband's arrest that the legislator had not taken a drink and that the whiskey found in the car was not his. Error was also alleged in that the court declined to permit Mr. Senelle's attorneys to introduce evidence that he bears the reputation of being a total abstainer from alcoholic drinks.

GAME OFFICIAL SUGGESTS DEER HUNTERS "GO RED"

Denver, Colo., Oct. 21—(AP)—To make deer hunters poor targets, R. G. Parvin, state game commissioner, suggests they wear red caps and hats.

"Last year we had only three fatalities among 16,000 deer hunters but this year we would like to get by without accidents," says Parvin. "And if hunters must drink strong liquor, they should do so moderately," he added. "Liquor and bullets do not mix successfully."

UNC VS. TULANE PLAY OFF TILT

Each Team Has One Of Two Contests Played So Far

Chapel Hill, Oct. 21.—The "rubber" game of the North Carolina-Tulane series, scheduled here for 2:30 Saturday as a feature of the Tar Heels' Homecoming Day program, recalls vivid memories of the past two colorful and hard-fought contests between the two institutions.

It was just 15 years ago—in 1922—that Carolina and Tulane first mixed on the gridiron. The 1922 Tar Heel eleven, South Atlantic champions, invaded New Orleans and brought back the Greene Wave scalp after a thrilling 19 to 12 victory.

Grady Pritchard, brilliant guard, captained the 1922 North Carolina eleven. The Tar Heels scored in the first few minutes of play when Fred Cochran, an end, recovered a Tulane fumble on the 6-yard line. W. I. (Red) Johnston, All-Southern halfback swept around end on the next play for a touchdown.

But the lead was only momentary. On the following kickoff Bill Lawson, tackle, one of the greatest fullbacks ever to play at Tulane, dashed 95 yards down the sidelines for a touchdown to tie the score.

Faced by Johnston and Angus (Monk) McDonald, diminutive quarterback, the Tar Heel attack gathered momentum and power in the second quarter to march sixty yards with McDonald's 3-yard off-tackle run bringing the second score.

The Old North Staters took the lead for keeps in the third quarter on spectacular 19 and 23-yard field goals by Quarterback George Sparrow. Tulane's second touchdown, coming in the final quarter, was scored by Ed Roehl, halfback.

Fourteen years elapsed before the institutions met again. Last season North Carolina again took the lone 1800-mile jaunt jaunt to New Orleans. Tulane, however, gained ample revenge this time, decisively winning 21 to 7.

The Greenies scored on eight plays from the opening kickoff with John Andrews, all-Southeastern fullback, bucking four yards for the tally. North Carolina tied the count early in the third quarter when Jeff Dermid, reserve tackle, crashed through to block a punt deep in Tulane territory. The ball rolled in the end zone and Andy Berhak, greatest of North Carolinas ends, recovered for a touchdown.

Yet in another five minutes Tulane had scored again. Buckley Bryson, twisting dodging halfback, tossed a nifty 38-yard pass to Fred Schneidau, an end, for the second score. Another of Bryson's free-ball passes hit the waiting arms of Dub Mattis, halfback, for the third and final touchdown.

A good many of the players who took part in the 1936 game will be back here Saturday. These include Mattis, Andrews, Ralph Bond, co-captains Norman Buckner and Norman Hall, for Tulane, and Berhak, Henry Bartos, Steve Maronic, Bob Adams, Crowell Little, George Watson and Tom Burnette for the Tar Heels.

HIGHS TO MEET BEARS FRIDAY

Greenies Play In New Bern Tomorrow Afternoon

Tomorrow afternoon the Flying Phantoms of Greenville High will journey to New Bern to meet the undefeated Bears of that school.

New Bern has been victorious over Greenville eleven times for the past seven years. Last year they eked out a 7-5 victory over the locals. This year's Greenies, one of the strongest in recent years, are out to buck the Bruin jinx.

The Bears have not been defeated in two seasons, and have only a wish Roanoke Rapids to mar their record. Roanoke Rapids is the only team that both schools have met and the Yellow Jackets took a 6-0 victory over the Phantoms last week. Thus far this season the Bruins have rolled over Morehead City, 12-0; Plymouth, 38-0; and Beaufort, 25-6. The only time the goal line has been crossed was last week when a Beaufort back ran 70 yards for a touchdown.

Coach Frank Allison's offense is built around Westerner giant fullback who played tackle last year. Outstanding players in the forward wall are Stapleford and Harrison, ends, and Paul, tackle, who will attempt to stop the Phantom backs.

There will be several definite changes in the lineup this week. Claude Hardy has been improving steadily and will start a left tackle. George Tyndall, a newcomer whose fine blocking has drawn praise from the coaches, will start at the blocking back position, and Kenneth Henderson will be shifted over to fullback. Joyner or Nobles will replace Moyer at guard.

The coaches have been stressing the pass defense which led to the Phantoms' downfall at Roanoke Rapids. New Bern plays a wide open game and has a strong aerial game.

DEVILS START FOR NEW YORK

Duke To Meet Colgate's Red Raiders Saturday P. M.

Durham, Oct. 21.—Duke's Blue Devils of football headed for the cold country of northern New York state today for their Saturday clash with Colgate's Red Raiders.

The Blue Devils will go directly to Utica, N. Y., where they will make headquarters. They will arrive there Friday at noon and will take a light workout either at Utica or at Hamilton, scene of the game Saturday.

Bob O'Mara, fullback, and Fred Yorke, right tackle, injured in the game with Tech Saturday, were with the squad when they left here today and will probably be able to play Saturday although it is not yet definitely known. In case they will be unable to take their places in the lineup, Harwood Smith, veteran halfback, will be shifted to O'Mara's job with Bob Alabaster, a Baldwin, N. Y., boy, going in at York's tackle job.

Elmore (Honey Boy) Hackney, the dashing quarterback, and Bob Spangler, blocking back, who received injuries in the Tennessee game which were re-hurt against Tech, have responded well to treatment this week and will be able to take their regular posts.

Saturday's game is the third of Duke's October suicide series of games which started against Tennessee two weeks ago and continued against Georgia Tech last week. The Wademen got out of the game with the Vols with a 0-0 tie and then came through late to defeat Georgia Tech, 20-19 in a gridiron thriller.

The Wademen are looking for plenty of passes Saturday as a result of Tech's forward-laterals working so well against them in Atlanta last week. Coach Andy Kerr of the Red Raiders is the greatest exponent and teacher of the lateral pass and will have his boys ready to cut loose all of them on Saturday.

In the three days they have had to work this week, Duke worked hard on their defense against the freshmen equipped with Colgate plays. The Red Raider line, led by Red Chesbro, was rated by Tulane last week as an impregnable forward. The Duke boys named Chesbro the best tackle they faced last season.

Many Workers Given Employment By Fair

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—Approximately 20 workers were placed in jobs connected with operation of the State Fair, including those placed in advance of the beginning of the fair and those placed in jobs after the fair started by the branch Employment office in the booth of the North Carolina Unemployment Compensation, Robert M. Duckett, district employment officer, report. These workers were ticket sellers and gate keepers, workers around livestock and exhibit buildings, salesmen and women for the concessions, waitresses and dish washers at the eating places, and other types of work connected with the fair. In addition, the booth office received orders for about a dozen domestic and personal service employees, and for 100 cotton pickers, which orders were refused to the Raleigh office.

increase of 30,000 over August 23 but a decrease of 236,000 over September 21, 1936.

Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, the North Carolina siege gun who holds the national golf title, is another who has reached the heights without the benefit of coaching by a professional. Her game is sound, long, accurate.

For the second time running she won the medal honors in the qualifying round in the national tournament. Her 79 was the only par turned in by the field.

Mrs. Page breezed through her opening match with Marian Lachman of Berkeley, Calif., and rolled through the second and third rounds by defeating Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., and Mrs. George Granley of Jacksonville, Fla.

The first difficult brush in her march to the championship came when she met Mrs. Dan Chasney, the young Dallas, Texas, matron put up a real fight before she was eliminated on the 17th. It took 30-foot putt to turn the trick.

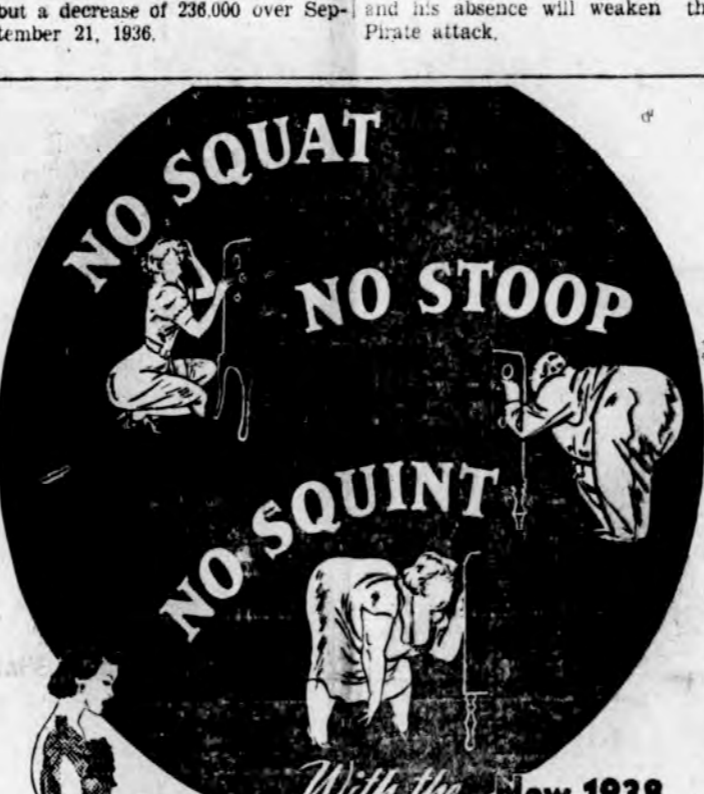

Another tough customer for Mrs. Page was her neighbor from South Carolina, Kathryn Hemphill. A sensational rally by Mrs. Page enabled her to gain the final round in the 19th green.

A birdie on the first extra hole eliminated Miss Hemphill and put Mrs. Page into the final, where she beat Patty Berg, 7 and 6.

Mrs. Page had no great trouble downing Miss Berg. Never once did the little redhead from Minneapolis have an advantage over the new titleholder. Mrs. Page's long iron shots and deadly putting settled the issue.

In four previous bids for the crown, Mrs. Page never had managed to get further than the third round. She was beaten at that stage at Cannes, Brook N. J., last year by Beatrice Barrett, after having taken the medal with employment offices.

The October 4 report showed 1,000,967 wholly unemployed, 191,737 temporarily stopped, and 36,500 normally casual employment making a total of 1,329,204. This was an

Dr. Dumas Malone To Address State Historical Ass'n.

Editor and Historian Now Living in England to be Principal Speaker December 3rd

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Oct. 21.—Dr. Dumas Malone, author, editor and historian, will address the State Literary and Historical Association in Raleigh on the evening of Friday, December 3, it was announced today by Dr. C. C. Crittenden, Secretary of the Association. An accomplished speaker and a scholar of wide interests, Dr. Malone is expected to create wide interest by his appearance.

Though now living in New England, Dr. Malone is a native southerner. Born in Mississippi forty-five years ago, he received the larger part of his education in Georgia, graduating from Emory University in 1910. He pursued graduate studies in history at Yale University, and by that institution was awarded the degree of doctor of philosophy in 1923.

After serving on the faculty first of Yale University and later of the University of Virginia, he went in 1925 to Washington, D. C., to become Assistant Editor of the Dictionary of American Biography, under the editorship of Allen Johnson. After Johnson's death in 31 Malone became editor, and remained in that position until the task was completed last year. Though he has written and edited a number of articles and volumes, his most distinguished accomplishment has undoubtedly been the Dictionary of American Biography, generally recognized as one of the finest achievements of American scholarship.

The regular annual session of the State Association will be held this year in Raleigh on Thursday and Friday, December 2 and 3. In addition there will be a joint session of this association and the Southern Historical Association in the Washington Duke Hotel, Durham, the evening of Thursday, November 18.

Colored News

Pitt county teachers in four groups met at their centers and in each group discussed "Teaching Health in the Grades."

Monday, October 11, the Falkland group met and after a prepared contribution from a teacher in the primary grades there followed after each contribution open discussion. Plans for the next meeting were made. The next meeting will be held at the Fountain school and the parents in the schools of this group will be invited to attend.

Tuesday, October 12 the Ayden group met and after a short business session the program committee presented an address from the primary and grammar grades, after which open forum was held and many contributions were made to improve our knowledge of Health Habits.

Wednesday, October 13 the Bethel group met and after opening and business, the teachers planned a program for the next meeting. The program committee made plans for entertaining the county wide meeting also.

Thursday, October 14 the Grimesland group met. A teacher from the primary and grammar grades read a prepared paper, after which a discussion followed on "Ways To Teach Health in the Grades."

The supervisor spoke at the close of each meeting of the different clinics that are being held by the health department, the P. T. A. in each school, the daily schedule, etc. The program for each group next month will be "Supervised Play and the Recess Hour."

Each group is organized and each program is planned by a program committee and aside from the speakers who come to deliver worth while information, the teachers themselves are putting forth efforts to better the conditions in the schools by attending each meeting and giving and gaining information.

While attending these meetings is in some cases difficult there is seldom one absent. Through a small monthly contribution each group finances each project they undertake. Once during the school year each group has as guests the parents and someone to deliver an address on something worth while to parents.

Last year these meetings were largely attended by the parents. The teachers feel that the parents can assist the teachers better by getting along with the teachers the benefit of the information imparted in these meetings, therefore several groups voted to move the place of meeting each month and invite the parents to attend.

In each P. T. A. the parents are asked to make a representing fee of ten cents to the State P. T. A. Congress which meets in Raleigh and we are hoping to have a number of parents to attend the meeting.

The subject next month for each group will be "The Recess Hour, Supervised Play." The supervisor spoke at each meeting on the recess, the lunch, length of the school day, etc.

"Skat" Frightens Bear. Superior, Mont., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Mrs. M. W. Pelarske got up early to find out who was taking potatoes, turnips and carrots from her garden. At dawn she discovered a big black bear pawing at the rows. "Skat", she said, and the bear fled.
