

FDR OUTLINES PLAN FOR NEW CROP CONTROL

New Taxes Necessary If Cost of Program Increased

Washington, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Chairman Jones (D.-Texas) of the House agriculture committee, made public today a letter from President Roosevelt saying new taxes would be necessary if the cost of a crop control program is increased by the special session of Congress.

The president outlined his plans for crop control legislation in letters to Chairman Smith (D.-SC), of the Senate agriculture committee and to Jones.

"It is, of course, especially important that any new legislation should not unbalance the expected balancing of the budget," the President wrote.

"In other words, no additional federal expenditures from the general funds of the treasury should be made over and above existing planned expenditures. The only exception to this would be the incurring of additional obligations on the part of the treasury, backed 100 per cent by additional receipts from new taxes.

"In other words, whatever goes out must be balanced by an equivalent amount coming in."

Congress appropriated about $500,000,000 for soil conservation during the current fiscal year.

In making public the President's letter, Jones said "I feel confident that legislation can be worked out embodying these principles." He added he was "hopeful that we may have a bill ready for consideration in the early part of the session.

The President's letter warned against a repetition of the Republican Farm Board experiment with control of farm surpluses.

NEW DEADLOCK ON NEUTRALITY

Impasse Reached On Withdrawal Of Volunteers

London, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Europe's main powers were arrayed today in a new deadlock over Spanish neutrality, particularly on the procedure of clearing foreign troops from the warring country.

The latest of almost countless impasses in this wrangle resulted from refusal of the Fascists block, Italy, Germany and Portugal, to agree to be bound by figures on foreign soldiery to be tabulated by two proposed international commissions of inquiry in Spain.

The commissions would take a census of foreign soldiers and supervise their evacuation under the now threatened plan before the nine-nation sub-committee of the London non-intervention body.

Another problem was Soviet Russia's opposition to the granting of belligerent rights to the warring side in Spain until all foreign fighters had been withdrawn.

Ivan Maisky, envoy of Russia, which sympathizes with the Spanish government, heightened the tension in a bitter debate with Italy's ambassador to London, Count Dno Grand, when the sub-

Accused Slayer and Victim's Widow Trial

As the trial of Margaret Drennan (left), 23-year-old girl charged with the murder of Paul Reeves, was in progress, Mrs. Paul Reeves, (right) the victim's widow, sobbed outside the New Brunswick, N. J., courtroom. Recalled to the stand after the defendant's testimony, Mrs. Reeves, looking squarely at Margaret, cried: "Oh, it's low, Margaret. Please tell the truth." This accusation followed the weeping girl's testimony of how she shot Reeves to prevent him from assaulting her a second time. Late Friday the jury acquitted Miss Drennan.

PRESIDENT OFF FOR HYDE PARK

Again Asserts United States Favors Pol- icy Of Peace

Washington, Oct. 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt left Washington today for a 10-day visit to his home in Hyde Park, N. Y.

He will vote in the local election at Hyde Park November 2 and return here the following day.

Earlier the chief executive took occasion in an Armistice Day proclamation to express again the United States' "wish to pursue a policy of peace."

He said international "lawlessness and strife" which "now threatens international security and even civilization itself" make it particularly fitting it should be expressed again at this time.

The President added the world situation also made it appropriate for this country "to adopt every practicable means to avoid war, to work for restoration of confidence and order among nations and to repeat that the will to peace still characterizes the great majority of the people of this earth."

Meantime at Washington executives of the class one railroads of the nation, granted a $17,500,000 freight rate increase, indicated they would ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve a further increase of possibly ten times that amount.

Railway officials accepted the higher rate announced yesterday by the commission of only a fraction of what they need to meet higher operating costs.

Other developments: North Carolinians purchased about one per cent of the United States savings bonds, popularly known as "Baby Bods" sold by the treasury from March 1, 1935 to last September 14.

A treasury report places the state's total at $14,879,000 out of sales of $1,238,816,000 for the period.

BLACK GOLD

It was reported here this afternoon that Mrs. W. G. McKean, matron at Wilson Hall, East Carolina Teachers College, had resigned her position following an offer of $400,000 for lands in Louisiana, owned by her, on which oil has recently been found.

An effort to contact Mrs. McKean at the college here this afternoon revealed the fact that she was called away from the city a few days ago and had not yet returned.

President Meadows could not be reached for a statement regarding Mrs. McKean's absence or resignation, but another source at the college declared Mrs. McKean had not resigned her post and at present the college was operating on a temporary basis until her return.

SLIM HOPE OF TRACING BILL

Ransom Note Trailed Back to Suburban Chicago Bank

Chicago, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Hopes of tracing a $10 ransom bill to the lair of Charles Ross' kidnapers dwindled today when the trail led to the First National Bank of Blue Island, a southside suburban district.

Recovery of the bill, part of $50,000 paid in a futile attempt to effect the release of the 72-year old retired manufacturer had been considered the most promising lead in the 28-day old mystery.

The trail of the $10 note led from Mrs. Clara Ludwig, 41, to Florence Gagliuto, 20, a roomer at the Ludwig home, thence to William Warnecke, an insurance collector, and finally to the bank. Bank officials said it would be impossible to trace it farther.

Serial numbers of the 5,250 ransom bills were made public Tuesday. Investigators expressed the opinion many of the bills are already in circulation, inasmuch as the ransom apparently was paid on or before October 8.

WAR MAY CUT LEAF EXPORTS

Strife Casts Gloomy Shadow Over Prospects

Washington, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The conflict between Japan and China, important buyers of American tobacco, casts a gloomy shadow over export prospects in the far east, government trade experts reported today.

From Shanghai, Barnard Gibbs, tobacco specialist, informed the Bureau of Agricultural Economics as long as hostilities continue the demand from the Orient for American leaf tobacco would be "very small." Military operations, he said, have impeded marketing and distribution of domestic crops and factory production especially in China.

In the 12 months tobacco season that ended with September China imported 37,000,000 pounds of American flue-cured, Manchuria 12,000,000 and Japan 7,000,000.

Gibbs said the flue-cured crop in China this year was about 22 per cent above last year while that of Japan, including Chosan and Taiwan, was about 25 per cent larger.

About half the large Chinese cigarette factories closed at the start of hostilities, he said, while some of the plants and tobacco stocks have been destroyed.

Pneumonia Fatal To Editor Of Magazine

Philadelphia, Oct. 23.—(AP)—George Horace Lorimer, editor who guided the development of the Saturday Evening Post from a small, obscure magazine into a gigantic publishing enterprise, was dead today.

The noted editor died late last night of pneumonia at his suburban Wynecote home. He was 69 years old.

Lorimer, who for 38 years occupied the editor's chair of the Post, had been seriously ill since last Thursday.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at the home in Wynecote. Burial will be private.

BATTLE RAGES FOR SHANGHAI BY MOONLIGHT

Both Chinese and Japanese Admit Heavy Casualties

Shanghai, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The great battle for Shanghai swayed madly back and forth in the moonlight tonight in a maze of small creeks and meandering canals north of Tazang, six miles northwest of Shanghai.

Both sides admitted several losses as the Japanese fought desperately to smash the Chinese lines and open the way to Nanking. Just as desperately the Chinese battled to hold Tazang, loss of which would compel retreat from Chapel and Kiangwan, their strongholds on Shanghai's northern fringe.

Both sides tossed heavy reinforcements into the battle and each claimed success.

A Chinese army spokesman declared the Chinese had definitely checked the Japanese threat to Tazang after 70 hours of combat.

A Japanese spokesman asserted details did not matter because the Japanese were slowly, but surely pushing the Chinese back and gaining their general objective.

The struggle surged through scores of thatch-roof farm villages driving their oxen and pigs before them.

Military spokesmen admitted it was impossible to designate the exact position of the front line. Possession of a dozen specks on the map was in dispute.

North of Shanghai, the center of fighting shifted from Tazang to Kwangfu, well to the rear of the Chinese 25-mile front.

At Wwangfu Japanese forces apparently were trying to smash the Chinese lines to capture Nanzang, China's powerful "winter line."

LOYALS ALLIED FOR ASSAULTS

Reported Rushing Re- inforcements To New Fronts

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The Spanish Republican government was reported today to be rushing reinforcements to the Teruel and Aragon fronts to meet assaults of vastly strengthened insurgent forces against either Valencia or Catalonia.

Government ministers at Valencia, temporary capital, awaited an order to move to Barcelona, capital of autonomous but allied Catalonia, following affirmation of an accord between the two allied regimes.

While the insurgent chieftain, Francisco Franco mopped up north west Spain in a victory sweep that would liberate most of 100,000 soldiers for a tremendous drive at either the present of future capital of the government other developments added grim drama to the 15-months conflict.

Government sailors taking refuge at Arcachon, France, reported insurgent bombing planes sank the government destroyer Ciscar in Gijon harbor Wednesday, the day before Gijon capitulated to the insurgent's seven-weeks northwest-

The teachers were welcomed by Dr. J. M. Barrett and Miss Evelyn Rogers responded.

Changing from the usual procedure, each teacher introduced herself and her partner.

Several interesting and amusing contests were engaged in.

Mrs. George Knight, who is leaving shortly with her husband to make their home in Tuscaloosa, Ala., was a special guest.

Again Honored

Mrs. J. B. Spilman of Greenville and Raleigh has just returned to the latter place from Washington, where she was elected vice-chairman for the Fourth Region of the Unemployment Compensation Commission.

The fourth region embraces Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina. All 48 states were represented at the meeting.

Mrs. Spilman is the only salaried woman member of the Unemployment Commission in the United States.

Alumnae Homecoming.

In spite of threatening skies, many "old grads" of East Carolina Teachers College returned to the campus today for Homecoming with its informal morning program, luncheon on the campus, football game and dance.

Informal visiting was the order of the day, with little groups of alumnae gathered in the corridors to exchange experiences and renew friendships with teachers and former students visiting together between classes in corridors and classrooms.

President L. R. Meadows opened the morning program by extending to the alumnae a welcome to their "old home."

Speaking briefly of changes some of them might find in conditions at home, President Meadows referred to certain changes in the plant—new shrubbery on the campus, and new floors and newly painted walls in various buildings.

He told also of other types of changes, mentioning especially the striking increase in number of students here, an increase of 55 per cent from 1933 to the spring of 1937, and of 68 per cent in this year's enrollment is taken into account.

He spoke also of growth in numbers in the faculty, though the numbers there, with 34 per cent difference in the past five years, had increased only half as much as the student body.

Dr. Meadows then showed the new needs created by this rapid increase, and suggested that the alumnae can help meet these needs by informing the public of them.

Mrs. L. L. Stancill, president of the Alumnae Association, introduced President Meadows, and later recognized various delegations from chapters of the alumnae.

Mrs. Kate B. Beckwith, scheduled to be present, was unable to come, and sent instead a message to be read.

The Boys' Glee Club of the college sang three numbers as a part of the program.

Other features of the day were the football game and the dance in the evening at the Robert H. Wright building.

Woman's Club Meets.

The Woman's Club entered upon the new season's work on Thursday when it met for the first time since May, at 3:30 p. m., at the club house, with a goodly number of old and new members in attendance.

Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, president, presided, and the meeting was opened with the repeating of the collect.

During the brief business session excellent reports were made by the members of the executive board and heads of the various departments.

Mrs. S. M. Crisp, first vice-president, gave an outline of the formation of definite plans for the year's programs, which gave indication that the regular meetings during the coming year will be the most interesting and successful of the organization's history.

Mrs. W. E. Hooker, president of the Garden Club, spoke briefly about the activities of this phase of club work and invited new members interested in gardens to join her department.

Mrs. J. R. Gullidge, reporting for the Literature Department in the absence of Miss Elizabeth Hyman, chairman, outlined its interesting course of study for the year under the general topic "History As Revealed in Literature," and likewise extended a cordial invitation to new members to join this active and very enjoyable department of the club.

Mrs. Moore announced that if enough interest existed, or should arise, in the formation of other study groups, newly-created departments might spring up.

Mr. J. Nat Harrison, in charge of the Pitt County Red Cross drive to be put on November 18th, stressed the importance of the work and asked for ten or twelve volunteer workers to help in this cause.

At the close of business, Miss Mary Woolard and Helen Settle sang two numbers, "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes," and "A Love Dream," accompanied by Mrs. H. H. Settle at the piano.

Mrs. Moore then introduced Miss Lucy Cherry Crisp of Falkland and Greensboro, poet, writer and guest reader for the afternoon.

Miss Crisp, to the delight of all present, read from her volume of Negro dialect verse, "Spring Fever," several charming poems that for the most part, she said, came right out of Pitt county. These were followed by a number of more recent lyrics written in pure English which showed very fine poetic and philosophical feeling.

Mrs. W. H. Woolard, membership chairman, presented the new members as follows:

Mesdames F. B. Johnston, A. C. Tadlock, H. H. Duncan, R. L. Hill-drup, W. S. Galloway, J. D. Aman, N. O. VanNortwick, D. R. Stull, W. A. Browne, H. L. Rivers, George F. Hadley.

From either end of the attractively decorated and appointed table suggestive of the Halloween season, Mrs. J. L. Fleming and Mrs. R. C. Deal poured tea. Dainty sandwiches, spiced cookies and potato chips were passed, and a very pleasant social hour ensued.—Recorded.

IOWA HAS ITS SHARE OF ABANDONED CHURCHES

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 23.—(AP)—For sale—300 former Iowa churches.

Abandoned by congregations which moved to new buildings, split or dwindled, old structures once used as houses of worship dot the Iowa landscape from the Missouri to the Mississippi.

What happens to abandoned churches.

One is now a theatre, another a warehouse, a third serves as a filling station and garage, the fourth is a poultry house. For the most part, however, the former church buildings stand empty, delapidated symbols of the simple architecture that marked churches before the advent of modern design in temples of worship.

Here Is What's Happening On Wall Street Today

(By The Associated Press Feature Service)

These are frantic days on the floor of New York's stock exchange. But however excited the brokers get—and from the gallery it sometimes looks like bedlam—operations follow a well defined routine. Here's how it works:

FILLING ORDERS

Specialists who handle deals in specific stocks have their definite posts on the floor. Traders with orders to buy or sell those stocks flock to the posts—stampede them on hectic days.

THEY FLIP

When rivals make bids or offers all at once, priority is determined by matching coins. It's just too bad when a client wanting to sell gets a wire from his broker: "Matched and lost." The coins often are handed from father to son.

KEEPING TRACK

The quotation boy (left) takes down latest bid and asked prices and relays them, by his portable head phone, to brokers in their offices. The ticker reporter (right) notes sales as they take place in his area.

TELLING THE WORLD

Operators like this one feed the stock news to the tickers that click all over the nation. They get their information on slips that speed from the ticker reporters through pneumatic tubes to this room.

Three other defendants were convicted of public drunkenness and were fined, taxed with the costs of court or both. Simon Perkins paid the cost on the charge. Herman Stokes was given 20 days. John Moore paid a $10 fine and costs and Thelma Harby, the only Negro tried at the session, was fined $10 and cost.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Oct. 23.—Perennially active Richard T. (Dick) to every filling station attendant in North Carolina) Fountain was here for the State Bar sessions bubbling over with enthusiasm and as active as a pair of crickets.

This correspondent asked Dick if he was going to appear on the Bar's program.

"No, I don't think so," he replied. "I'm not down for any speech, but if they get too hot after President Roosevelt, I'll darn sure get on the program in a hurry."

Queried about reports that he intends to run for governor again in 1940 radiant Richard refused to put himself in or out of the race.

"How can I tell now what I'll do in 1940?" he countered.

Still on the subject of the Bar meeting and politics, there were office seekers enough on hand to form a real "Battalion of Death" for any army.

It's been a long time since the Sir Walter's lobby buzzed with political palaver as it did while the lawyers were around. In their favor it must be said that they did stop talking politics long enough to go into their meetings and listen to the set speeches down on the program.

Missing from at least the first day's lobby activities was Sandy Graham, former lieutenant governor who hasn't yet let out a peep about the next office he'll seek, if any.

Perhaps Sandy was entirely sincere in statements that he intends to confine his activities to his law practice and the business of making a living, for a while at least.

Here's one reason lawyers are not altogether popular with news men; and perhaps a reason why there is unquestionably a lack of entire public confidence in the sincerity of their expressed desire to rid themselves of undesirables.

A committee from the Mecklenburg bar has for some time been filed with the Grievance Committee of the State Bar.

This correspondent called J. B. Chesire, chairman of that committee and asked him whether or not the report had been filed with his committee. It was expressly made clear that no question was being asked about the nature of the report or the names of anyone mentioned therein.

Mr. Chesire politely, but firmly and p... refused to say whether... had received any report.

Which... appears to be a very short-sighted, bull headed, policyuary of this year; low ratio of 48 to pursue. The public may not be was touched in June, 1932.

REP. HANCOCK WELL PLEASED

Declares Reaction To Senate Candidacy Encouraging

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Oct. 23.—Frank Hancock, Fifth District Congressman whose seat is in the Senatorial ring with that of Bob Reynolds, is "entirely satisfied" with the early reaction to his announcement for the Senate seat, he told this bureau's correspondent.

"It's much too soon to be making anything like a definite forecast of the race," he said, "but I am entirely satisfied with the early reaction to my announcement."

Since tossing his political bombshell in Asheville recently, Congressman Hancock has been skipping about the State at a lively rate and came into Raleigh Friday from Wilmington via many way entitled to know who has been charged with what until something has been done about it, but it is clearly entitled to know whether or not the State Bar has any intention of doing anything about it, if charges have been made.

A total of 176 revocations of driver's licenses this week brought the North Carolina total under the revocation law to 13,322.

The ratio of prices farmers pay for what they buy to the price paid them for their products stood at 91, according to the October issue of "North Carolina Farm Forecaster."

SPOT FIRST ROSS RANSOM BILL

Mrs. Clara Ludwig (left) of Suburban Blue Island, near Chicago, turned in a ten dollar bill to federal authorities which was identified as part of the $50,000 ransom paid in vain for the release of Charles S. Ross, kidnapped about a month ago. With Mrs. Ludwig are shown her husband, Frank, and Miss Florence Giaquinto who rooms at the Ludwig home. Miss Giaquinto obtained the bill from an insurance agent, and asked Mrs. Ludwig to keep it for her.

stations. Here he has been hobnobbing with the lawyers present for the State Bar meeting and has lost no opportunity to talk to everyone of the slightest political importance.

The Granville candidate smiled when attention was called to the fact that so many were surprised at the timing of his announcement and at the indisputable fact that he did not confer with the powers that be before entering the lists.

"I didn't have to make any survey of the situation," he said. "Others had already done that, and I simply used their results."

"I am confident that with the votes cast against Senator Reynolds and with the votes that are cast for me there will be no doubt of the result."

He scoffed at the suggestion that he was at a disadvantage because his previous races have all been within his district, with the result that he is not so well known throughout the State as is Senator Reynolds.

"The first time I ran for the House, I had never been to Winston-Salem and didn't know anybody there; yet I carried Forsyth by a big majority," he said.

and the emphasis this year has been put on the part the church should play in the Christian education of young folks.

Last Sunday the services in all of the local churches emphasized this need in present day life. As a culmination of various events in celebration of this week, a pageant is to be presented at the union services Sunday evening at 7:30.

This pageant is designed to show the unfolding of a child's life into Christian manhood through the slow moulding influence of Christian education.

The central figure in each episode is the boy, David, first a baby in his mother's arms, later passing through various experiences of childhood, boyhood, youth and manhood.

Young folks from all the various churches have the parts and work has been progressing on it. There is to be a large chorus of children and youths, trained under the able direction of Miss Ona Shindler, and it is hoped that all of the parents of Greenville will be present.

Phantoms Come From Behind In Last Minutes

After 48 minutes of rough, bruising football, the grid teams of New Bern High and Greenville High found themselves tied up 7-7 yesterday afternoon at Kafer Park in New Bern.

The Fighting Phantoms came from behind in the closing minutes to score and tie the count. The fourth quarter opened with the ball in Greenville's possession on their own 23-yard line. Aided by a penalty they made a first down on the 34 yard stripe. Clark took a shovel pass from Parrish and travelled to the 49 yard line. The Greenies made it another first down on the 39-yard line. Again Parrish made a shovel pass to Baxter Clark who ran 25 yards to the 14 yard line before being tackled.

Two line plays netted four yards but the Phantoms were penalized five yards. They gained this back but were again penalized 15 yards, this time back to the 25 yard line. Parrish then faded back and tossed a long pass which Captain Howard Hodges caught on the five-yard line and ran across the pay-off line. With the game balancing on the extra point, Parrish shovelled a pass to Clark who fought his way across the line for the extra point.

The Bears capitalized on a 15-yard penalty for clipping and scored early in the first quarter.

Topping the defensive play were those two fine ends of the Phantoms, Roberts and Hodges. Hardy, tackle, and Joyner, guard, who were making their first start, played a bang-up game. Bill Harris' cracking of the line and the running of Clark and Parrish were big points on offense.

Tyson, quarterback, was the most outstanding player for the Bears. He topped the offense and on defense he did a swell job backing up the line.

San Sebastian, Spain, Oct. 23.—(By Courier to Hendaye, France)—(AP)—A simple job of routing the last of the Spanish government's northwestern army of Asturian miners without firing a shot or charging a single trench occupied insurgents in Asturias today.

Having swept the entire Biscayan coast from Villaviciosa to Pravia, which flank Gijon east and west, the fourth column of Navarrese turned into territory south of Oviedo, the old Asturias capital and occupied all main centers with motorized troops.

NEW DEADLOCK ON NEUTRALITY

Only a proposal by British foreign secretary Anthony Eden, chairman of the sub-group, prevented what might have been a smash-up of the negotiations.

He may only have it postponed. He called for a recess until Monday, but today the next meeting of the sub-committee was postponed until Tuesday afternoon to give more time to obtain agreements from the governments involved.

Sport Slants

By PAP

The Horned Frogs of Texas Christian university have plenty of loyal and superstitious supporters who insist their favorites are destined to win the Southwest conference championship this year.

They point out that Mason Mayne, who along with Glynn Rogers captains the T.C.U. eleven, wears No. 14 and plays at guard.

It so happens that the two Horned Frog teams to win the conference title were piloted by guards wearing No. 44—in 1929, Mike Rumbelow, now line coach at T. J. U.; in 1932, Johnny Vaught, now assistant coach at North Carolina.

Just to make certain the charm works, the Horney Frogs elected Rogers, another guard, to act as co-captain with Mayne.

Mayne was a standout last year and this fall picked up where he left off last November. He is a powerhouse. Weighing 185 pounds, he is one of the most rugged forwards in the Southwest. He has plenty of speed, too. He earned all-state honors as a high school fullback.

Rogers, like Mayne, started as a fullback. But he switched to the line his senior year in high school. He is a pugilist of parts, having won the campus heavyweight title the past two years.

Sleepy Jim Crowley of Four Horsemen fame, now coach at Fordham, was asked what he thought of Davey O'Brien, the Horned Frogs' pint-sized successor to Sammy Baugh.

"Well," stated Crowley, "when you see him in the first period he looks like just another ballplayer. In the second period he sort of warms up and you have to notice him. You are fond of him in the third quarter. By the time the final period ends you love him."

O'Brien is not another Baugh when it comes to tossing passes. But then, who is? A Baugh comes along once in a coach's lifetime—if the coach is lucky. Still, for a 150-pounder, O'Brien does well enough. He can carry the ball as well as pass, and that makes him a constant threat. For the greater part the T.C.U. attack is built around this rugged little junior.

State Magazine Publisher Among Those Considered

By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, Oct. 23.—Carl Goerch radio commentator with a statewide audience and who is publisher of "The State", weekly news-magazine, is planning to be a candidate for governor of North Carolina in 1940, according to a reliable informant who has recently visited numerous points in the east, among them the city of Washington in the county of Beaufort—where Mr. Goerch once lived.

This informant told an interesting and circumstantial story only upon condition that his identity be not revealed. In substantiation of the reports, which he said had reached him in not one but almost a dozen spots and from at least a dozen separate and independent sources, he cited several events and circumstances which fit logically into a picture of Mr. Goerch as a candidate.

To begin with, he pointed out, it is not at all far-fetched for Mr. Goerch to envision his large radio following and the subscribers of his magazine as potential supporters in a race for political preferment. The commentator and publisher has never been a candidate for office, but he has actively interested himself in practically every race of state-wide importance within the last decade.

Mr. Goerch, according to the informant, has stubbornly refrained from accepting liquor advertisements for "The State"—a fact which would make his appeal to the dry voters much stronger.

He has not antagonized any of the conservative and financial interests of the state, being in general a strong supporter of the right wing of the party.

It has been noticeable that for some months the news man has accepted invitations to attend almost every meeting where there would be a large attendance.

FAVORS LIGHTS FOR HIGHWAYS

Lighted Roads Advocated by State REA Director

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Oct. 23.—Illuminated highways as a safety measure and an adjunct of the advertising program of the state, are advocated by J. M. Grainger, engineer of the State Rural Electrification Authority.

The state ought to, for example, illuminate Highway No. 1 all the way from the Virginia to the South Carolina border, in order to do two things," he said.

"First the experiment would, I believe, show that illumination of highways would save more than half the lives now lost in motor vehicle accidents. Next, such an innovation would be a tremendous advertisement for the state and its highways."

Mr. Grainger pointed to the fact that nearly one mile in every five of the State's roads now paralleled with a rural electric line. This he said, made his idea of illumination more practicable of accomplishment. Long stretches of highway in other states have been illuminated, he said, and in each instance there has been a tremendous decrease in the number of accidents on the illuminated stretches.

"Ten years ago, this idea of lighting rural roads would have sounded absolutely crazy," he said. "But highway illumination is coming just as certainly as general use of telegraph, telephone and radio came. The highways of the future—at least the arterial highways will be lighted."

Mr. Grainger said that more than half the highway deaths occur in accidents after dusk, and pointed out that "before" and "after" tests show that highway illumination saves forty per cent or more of night accidents.

"The big increases in recent years in automobile deaths have not been in the city, but in rural territory; not in the daytime, but at night," he said. "Night is a terribly dangerous time because motorists get such short notice of an obstruction. Most of the accidents occur in collisions between automobiles and some other objects. Two out of three victims die in collisions with objects that are not required by law to be well illuminated. Faulty car lighting caused only two per cent of the accidents."

"Something more than good headlights is needed. Proper highway illumination does a far better job than headlights perform. Headlights pick up a white object but fail dimly to give any warning of dark objects. Good highway lighting gives more light, light above, and light from behind the hazard.

"For example, a man in a black suit stands out sharply in silhouette on a lighted highway. The man would be practically invisible with the very best of highway lights, because his clothing is dark against a background of road. With highway lighting he stands out sharply. He is safe. The drivers of automobiles are likewise safe."

Referring again to the causes of accidents, Mr. Grainger pointed out that no other cause is responsible for nearly so many deaths as is speed driving at night, the deaths from this cause being due primarily to the failure of vision or the blinding caused by glaring headlights.

His plan is to tie together three of the state's principal current campaigns — rural electrification, highway safety and advertising.

It may be a long time before his dreams are realized, Mr. Grainger admits, but he sees a day when all the state's main roadways will be as bright at night as in the sunshine.

The fastest mile in horse race records is Equipose's one minute 34 2-5 seconds, raced at Arlington Park, Illinois, in 1932 under 128 pounds.

Commercial and private airports increased from 564 in 1930 to 552 in 1935 in this country, while municipal airports increased from 550 to 739.

BUNGO

HIPPO LIKES PYA POND BUT KNOWS IT ISN'T THE NILE

COMON IN
Bungo, pet hippo in the Washington zoo, tiptoes to the water's edge of his new PYA home, with murals of his old habitat, the Nile, in the background.

THE WATER'S FINE
Skeptical for a moment, Bungo decides he'll take a chance. It's water, all right, and there's nothink like a morning dip to brace up a sick hippo.

YOU'RE TELLING ME!
Bungo splashes and grunts with great glee. This certainly beats a cage any time. But it's not quite up to the Nile. No reason to be hippocritical about it.

CHEST BUDGET IS SUBSCRIBED

Subscriptions Totaling $4,497.23 Already in Hand

"So they tackled the job that couldn't be done—and did it!" That is what might aptly be said of the Directors and workers for the Greenville Community Chest. With subscriptions totaling $4,497.25 in hand, the budget of $4,360 has been over-subscribed and the work of the sharing agencies is now assured the necessary financial support.

While the actual budget has been cared for, there will be some unexpected needs to arise during the year and the directors properly feel that there should be an emergency fund to care for such needs, as far as they may at this time be anticipated. With the present over-subscription and additional reports, which for various reasons have not yet been turned in, it is confidently felt that a reasonable reserve fund will be set up by the time all reports are recorded.

That the people of the community may understand why the present amount of the budget is less than that set up at the beginning of the campaign, the Directors submit the following information: The refusal of National Headquarters of the American Red Cross to allow the local Chapter to participate in the Community Chest movement reduced the original budget by the amount of $500. Basing their estimates on the experience of other Greenville organizations, it was believed that a large proportion of the subscriptions, perhaps seventy-five to eighty per cent, would be covered by deferred payments extending throughout the year. This would have entailed both a considerable loss in unpaid pledges and cost in the collecting of those paid.

Contrary to expectations, a much smaller percentage of the subscriptions was covered by deferred payments, thereby reducing both the estimated loss and collection cost. As soon as the final figures are in and records completed a detailed statement will be published in the papers.

the golf course before his day begins at the capitol. Seems Father Wheeler has very clear ideas about the sort of people his children should be. And John, spokesman for the lot, says dad has little trouble getting what he wants. He wants them all down to breakfast. No lazy-bones permitted. At the other end of the day he wants them in by midnight. He wants them to realize that work comes first; that life should be lived simply and frugally. He thinks expenditures for entertainment should be cut pretty thin except when it comes to travel. But when a young Wheeler saves up pennies for a trip, then Father Wheeler plans the itinerary as enthusiastically as though he were going.

Son John says he can't ever remember seeing his father angry. "His technique is perfect," says John. "He never says, 'Don't do that.' Instead, he says, 'Let's explore the idea.' Or he just ridicules us out of a plan by making us see it's silly." Talk is the family's greatest pleasure. The dinner hour sees the senator full of the day's political happenings and his family full of questions about them. After dinner the senator usually has some challenging article he wants to read aloud, and the family settles down to listen. That's his way of leading his children's thinking. "Those after-dinner sessions are so interesting," says Son John, "that we've often broken dates just to stay home and listen. That's quite a dad, don't you think?"

Wheelers Like To See Congress End

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW

AP Feature Service Writer Washington—The Wheeler family is always pleased pink when congress closes shop and gives their father, Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, back to them. He's the best playmate they know.

There are six young Wheelers and Mrs. Wheeler. And from the sidelines it looks as though every last one of them, even the girls, wants to be as much like dad as possible. They are:

John Wheeler, who studied law (like dad) and is now with the securities exchange commission. He grins broadly and says "Thank you" when anyone says he looks like his father.

Elizabeth Wheeler, now Mrs. Edwin Colman. She's a member of the Washington league of women shoppers, which is fighting for better working conditions (like dad):

Edward Wheeler, at Harvard studying law (like dad).

Frances Wheeler, just graduated from Connecticut College for Women where she majored in political science (dad's business).

Richard Wheeler, at Dartmouth.

Marion Wheeler, in grammar school.

Mrs. Wheeler graduated from Oberlin. When her husband's at work, she follows his debates closely from the senate gallery. But she always finds time for a trip around

IT'S ODD But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (AP Science Editor)
Cleveland, Oct. 23.—For the average human eye to notice a change in light, the volume of illumination must be either doubled, or cut in half. This explains a lot of disputes about the office lighting. The eye can do better in tests when a person is trying. But under average working conditions it requires a doubling of volume before most persons notice any significant improvement in seeing. This finding is from the transactions of the Illuminating Engineering society. More difficult to measure even than change in light is glare. Another thing—increasing a window's height raises the amount of light in a room more than increasing window breadth by the same area.

The bodies of dead and injured were scattered 500 feet as the wooden bus burst like a crushed watermelon under the impact at a private crossing inside the yards of the Mason City Brick and Tile company.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coon

Hollywood.—For Tamara Geva, for a while, a leg will be something to stand on.

She stands on two of the prettiest the Broadway stage or Hollywood ever saw. But Hollywood—meaning the cameras—won't see them. Tamara, Russian-born dancer-actress, is hiding them as she makes her film debut.

Besides being something to stand on, a leg to Tamara is, also something one prefers not to discuss.

"I don't mind," she says, "but anything one says is so likely to be misunderstood. At present I wish to forget dancing for a while—to be seen as an actress—but if I said so, that, too, might be misconstrued."

Did Ballet Baroque.

Born on St. Patrick's Day, the daughter of a Tartar father and a Swedish mother, Tamara was trained in the Russian imperial ballet school and came to America in "Chauve Souris". Ziegfeld signed her for "Whoopee", and her other musicals on the stage included "Three's a Crowd", "Flying Colors" and "On Your Toes". In the last-named she added acting to dancing, and presented a burlesque of ballet—in a way a revenge for the weary hours of guelling practice ballet had demanded of her.

Tamara appeared in an acting role in an unsuccessful play, "The Divine Drudge", and this opened the dramatic field to her. Recently she did "Idiot's Delight" in summer stock. In pictures she wants to continue as a dramatic actress—and forget the dancing, and the legs.

In appearance a sort of exotic Margaret Sullavan, Tamara shied from film offers until she found Walter L. Ross, 18-year-old marine of Aberdeen, Md., is being held by military authorities in connection with the murder of Elmer J. Davidson, a Washington attorney. According to Virginia state police, Ross admitted shooting the lawyer in self-defense when attacked with a knife on a lonely road in Stafford county, Virginia.

one she considered suitable. She plays a temperamental opera star—but doesn't sing—in "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round."

Hates Onions and Liquor

She herself is not too temperamental. She loses her temper seldom, but when she does—you're supposed to duck. She never diets, except to eschew hard liquor. She likes a glass of sherry, has a few superstitions, loves to have her head scratched. She makes elaborate plans, usually abandons them for a spur-of-the-moment idea.

She hates to pack clothes, write letters, cook, give parties, sew or eat onions. Off the screen she wears little or no make-up. She has few close friends, but makes acquaintances easily. She is a good story-teller, a good listener, and a good conversationalist. Her accent is slight.

She has a lock of hair (light brown) on her forehead which never gets a chance to grow. She continually twists it while thinking. She has tried to break the habit without success.

She was formerly married to George Balanchine, now in Hollywood on the "Goldwyn Follies". They are divorced, but friendly. Both were pupils of the famed Diaghileff.

Virginia, Pennsylvania, North Carolina ranked one, two, three in population among the states in 1790. New York, now first, was then fifth.
