FAVORS POWER FIXING PRICES IN WAR TIMES

Plan Advanced By Assistant Secretary Of War

COMES OUT FOR LAW WITH TEETH

Declares President Should be Authorized Fix Prices Fight Profiteering

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, told national guardsmen today the nation needs a "law with teeth in it" to "attack the evils of inflation and excess profits" in time of war.

"To fight inflation the President should be authorized to fix prices in time of war," Johnson said in an address before the 1937 convention of the National Guard association.

"What I want to discuss with you today," Johnson said, "is a program of preparedness which would prevent profiteering, hold down prices, equalize the burdens of war and assure a united front behind the lines."

"The American Legion sponsors it. The War Department favors it. The military affairs committees of both houses x x x are behind it."

"What we need today is a law with teeth in it, with stringent penalties for violation, to become effective upon the declaration of war, that will attack the two evils of inflation and excess profits and minimize the possibilities of their ruinous effects. x x x

"Now is the very time to enact proper legislation," he continued. "In time of war, hysteria and haste may warp our judgment. Today we can be calm and deliberate and give reason and logic full control."

Pilot Lands Plane After Gears Lock

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—An American Air Lines transport plane successfully executed a belly landing at Newark, N. J., air port at 2 p. m. (EST) today after the retractable landing gear had jammed, the lines officials announced.

No trouble was encountered in landing the big ship, the company said, though one of the big wheels became stuck midway of its arch when the pilot tried to lower it into position on his arrival from Chicago.

The pilot cruised on, his motor shut off and with one wing high to place the strain on one side of the undercarriage. Minor damage was done to the plane.

The ship had been cruising over the airport for some time at 1:45 p. m., officials said, in an effort to unlock the gear. One side worked properly, they said, but the other jammed.

State Dean Selected Head National Group

Raleigh, Oct. 29.—(AP)—North Carolina State College announced today Dean Blake Van Leer, head of the school of engineering, had been appointed chairman of the two-year terminal program of the National Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education.

"The committee is composed of seven of the foremost leaders in engineering in this country," the announcement said.

Two Convicts Escape But One Recaptured

Raleigh, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Glenn Stewart, 17, and J. D. Buckner, 19, escaped from the Cary prison farm near here late last night, but Stewart was caught this morning after being trailed by bloodhounds.

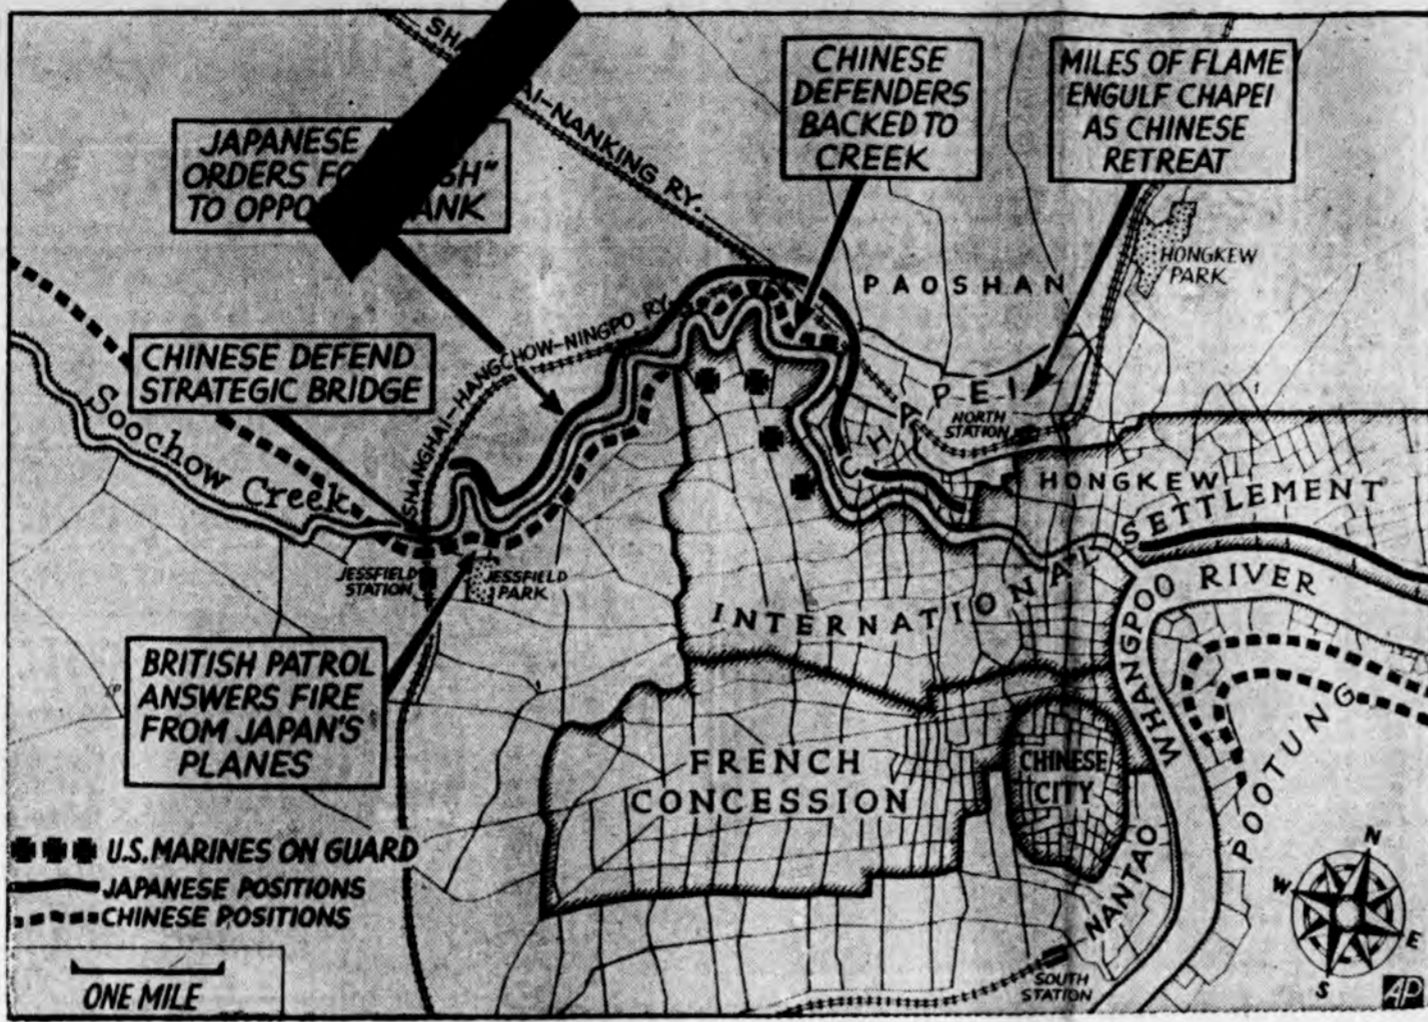

Stewart was sentenced to five years in Mitchell county for high-way robbery, house breaking and larceny, and Buckner was given two to seven years in Buncombe county for larceny and receiving.

HALLOWEEN

Greenville will celebrate Halloween tonight. With the holiday falling on Sunday night, J. H. Rose, city school superintendent, and city officials have made arrangements for the children to have their fun tonight.

Evan street will be roped off from Fifth to Fourth and the streets will be decorated. All children are invited to the party. Mr. Rose said it would be hard to work out any schedule for such an event and declared the entire celebration would be informal.

SHANGHAI DEFENDERS DIG IN FOR CRUCIAL BATTLE

With Japanese forces in possession of bomb-riddled and fire-ridden Chapel, the Chinese army defending Shanghai has dug into new defensive positions as indicated on this map. The defenders retreated from Chapel after one of the most destructive battles of modern history. While miles of flames swept the vast area, both sides prepared for the next major engagement which is expected to rage west of the international settlement.

FINANCE PLAN STARTED HERE

Water and Light Commission Is Local Agent for EHFA

The Greenville Water and Light Commission, which recently was named agent for the Electric Home and Farm Authority, a governmental financing agency, already has begun handling contracts for electrical equipment.

Under the plan monthly payments for such equipment will be billed purchasers along with their water and light statements.

Any approved firm dealing in electrical equipment may contract with the EHFA through the Water and Light Commission, to handle the financing of electric appliances. The EHFA pays the local firm for the appliances purchased and collects from the buyer through the water and light commission.

The announced aim of the plan is to provide low cost government financing for such purchases.

Greenville is the first city in the state with rates meeting the EHFA standard to be approved by the agency.

Five Greenville firms selling electrical appliances have been approved by the governmental authority and patrons may purchase from any of them and make payments along with their water and light bills.

The five are the Carolina Sales Corporation, City Radio and Electric Co., Smith Electric Co., Quality Electric Co., and V. A. Merritt.

Pitt Man Injured As Car Hits Tree

B. C. Norris, who lives between Winterville and Ayden, is in Pitt General hospital in a serious condition of injuries he received when his car skidded off the road and crashed into a tree near Conetoe yesterday afternoon.

Hospital attendants declared this morning that the injured man was possibly a little better, although he is still in a critical condition.

Witnesses declared that Norris lost control of his automobile when it swerved into a curve near the Pitt-Edgemore line. He sustained a crushed rib temple, crushed ribs and lacerations about the leg.

Contrast In Speakers At Women's Party Luncheon

By HENRY AVERILL. Raleigh, Oct. 29.—Speakers at the luncheon given Thursday by and for the Democratic women here for the "Reporter Plan" conference were particularly interesting because of the sharp contrast in which they stood to one another.

No two alike in appearance, in delivery, in tone of voice, or in thought—yet all are Democrats and all, ostensibly at least, will work together for the party's success.

The talkers were Mrs. W. B. Murphy's, North Carolina's state vice-chairman; Mrs. Thomas E. McAllister of Michigan, director of the woman's division, Democratic national committee; Mrs. Mae Thompson Evans, a North Carolinian and Mrs. McAllister's assistant; U. S. Senator Josiah W. Bailey, Governor Clyde R. Hoey, Congressman Frank

Non-Intervention Plan In Deadlock

(By Associated Press)—Germany and Russia forced the sub-committee on Spanish non-intervention into a new and tighter deadlock today.

Germany's Joachim von Ribbentrop again declared the granting of belligerent rights is an essential preliminary condition for the withdrawal of foreign volunteers from Spain.

Von Ribbentrop said Russia's insistence on withdrawal of the bulk of foreigners before such rights are granted meant the committee could not proceed further.

Ivan Maisky, Russian member of the sub-committee, delivering new Moscow instructions, declared the Soviets could not accept present Anglo-French proposals for getting fighters out of Spain "in their entirety."

Von Ribbentrop suggested some new plan be devised and Russia be persuaded to fall in line.

The Anglo-French plan, for which there had been some hope until today, contemplated sending commissions to Spain to arrange and supervise volunteer troops withdrawals.

Two other major world problems—one old and one new—came to the forefront.

Of no direct connection with the Spanish civil war, but like it tangled in the maze of European affairs, were: Germany's often voiced demand for return of her old colonies now backed by the voice of Premier Mussolini of Italy, and increasing indications that European powers were hoping for some sort of leadership from the United States in the nine-power pact talk on the Sino-Japanese war to start next Wednesday at Brussels.

AROUSSED OVER NEW INCIDENT

Great Britain Indignant Over Deaths of Riflemen

London, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Great indignation was manifested in official quarters today over the killing of three Royal Ulster riflemen in Shanghai—the latest on a lengthening list of British casualties attributed to Japanese gunfire.

The fact that the killings occurred so soon after a British sentry was machine-gunned to death Sunday at a British defense post in Shanghai increased the bitterness. It was unofficially stated, although formal comment was withheld pending an official report on the incident.

On the basis of past attacks on British lives and property, many members have demanded the imposition of trade boycott of Japan as a means of reprisal. Tom Williams, a Laborite, urged the application of sanctions.

The Tang dynasty, eighth and ninth centuries A.D. was the most glorious age of Chinese poetry.

Victim of Accident May Survive Injury

Fate Ross, 57-year-old Pitt county farmer, who suffered a fractured skull yesterday morning when he was thrown from his cart to the pavement when an automobile driven by Ralph C. Murray struck the horse-drawn vehicle, was reported as getting along satisfactorily by hospital attaches this morning.

The accident occurred on Bethel highway at the intersection of the catclow road, Murray, an automobile accessories salesman of Spring Hope, declared that he was unable to see Ross coming out of the Pictolus road, Murray is not being held under any charges.

NEGRO SHOT AT STILL BETTER

Allegedly Wounded While Fleeing From Raided Still

Jesse Heath, Negro who was shot in the middle of the back yesterday afternoon while allegedly fleeing from a still which was being raided by Pitt County ABC officers, was reported by hospital attaches this morning as a "little better."

Charles O'H. Horne, chairman of the ABC board, this morning reiterated his statement of yesterday in which he declared that if any of his men shot the Negro he was not aware of the fact. He said he was certain if any of his men fired the shot that hit Heath it was an accident.

"If we find that some of our men did shoot the Negro, we will be 'man enough' to take the blame," declared Mr. Horne.

Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst, meanwhile, was continuing an investigation into the shooting.

Heath was brought to Greenville yesterday afternoon by persons who declared he was shot while fleeing a still in Belvoir township that officers had raided.

It was declared that Heath had been cutting wood and was hailed by a man at the still and asked to have a drink as he passed the plant on the way home. Just as he finished taking the drink, it was stated, officers came up on the still and the men fled.

D. M. Ward, ABC officer who was on the raiding party, declared he was certain the Negro was not shot by any of the officers.

IN AGREEMENT ON FARM BILL

House Committee In Accord on 3 Major Features

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Chairman Jones (D-Tex.) said today the House agriculture committee had reached a "general accord" on three major features of a farm control bill.

It was generally understood, he told reporters, that: The present soil conservation program be continued, and an "oper normal granary" be established to those crops to which it is most applicable "ad any benefits paid be on a basis of tilled acreage rather than production.

Jones added that the committee was making progress on "getting together" but it had not reached agreement on any specific legislative language.

He said members would meet again Monday when drafts of some of the general provisions might be ready for consideration.

The question of marketing quotas, penalties and processing taxes have not yet been covered, he added. Chairman Fulmer (D-S. C.) of a sub-committee in charge of formulating provisions for cotton, told reporters he would recommend cotton farmers be given soil conservation benefits, a subsidy of three cents a pound and perhaps additional benefits to be paid from proceeds of a small processing tax.

CHIEF CALLS IN ADVISORS FOR BUDGET STUDY

Round of Conferences to be Held at Hyde Park

SEEK TO BALANCE TREASURY BOOKS

Funds for Financing Corn Loan One of Pressing Budgetary Problems Be Faced

Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt called his chief budget advisors to the quiet of his Hyde Park study here today for an extended round of conferences on balancing the treasury's books.

Secretary Morgenthau and Undersecretary Magill of the treasury were due from Washington this evening to pitch in with the President on the problem.

Mr. Roosevelt has said he hoped to bring income and outgo into balance during the fiscal year beginning next July 1. Morgenthau has said he did not believe anyone could tell at this time whether that could be done.

The two treasury officials will talk with the President this evening and probably tomorrow. Monday, Daniel Bell, the budget director, will join Morgenthau for continuation of the budget discussion.

A pressing budgetary problem before the President and aides is the financing of a proposed corn loan. The loan, similar to the 12-cent per pound loan and subsidy program for cotton, would permit farmers to hold their corn and avert, temporarily at least, selling at prices below production cost.

CHEST REPORT MADE IN FULL

Total of $4,759.75 Raised Here in Recent Drive

While a few cards remain unreplied, the Community Chest campaign committee today submitted the following report:

"The total amount pledged to the support of the Chest at this time is $4,759.75, of which amount $3,000 has been received in cash, approximately $1,400 in short-term pledges payable before December 31st, and $350 payable after January 1st. The contributions come from 387 individuals and groups and represents a larger number of participating citizens than in any other community-supported program of which we have the records. The amount received in cash insures 75% of the budgets of the participating agencies at the outset of the year's program, which in itself is unprecedented in Greenville. The directors of the Community Chest wish to express their sincere appreciation of the services rendered by the workers and the generous response by the people of our city.

"That there may be no misunderstanding concerning the work covered by the Community Chest contributions, it will be perhaps well to repeat statements made in former articles. The plan for the Chest, as they were originally made, called for one drive for funds to support the organizations making annual drives for funds, namely the Salvation Army, the Boy Scouts, and the Red Cross, plus the newly-organized Thrift Shop. When national headquarters refused to allow the local

British Riflemen Slain In Shelling Near Settlement

Held For Poisoning

Mrs. George Ledford (above) was jailed at Portland, Oregon, while authorities investigated the death of her stepdaughters, Dorothy, 15, and Ruth, 13. She denied poisoning them. Meanwhile officials exhumed the body of her first husband, John Matson, who died in 1932. District Attorney David Bennett said poison was found in his vital organs.

THREE KILLED BY JAP BOMBS

Several Others Hurt As Japanese Attack Hungjao, Spreading Considerable Damage Among American Mission and Other Foreign Property in Suburb Of Settlement

Shanghai, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Three British Ulster riflemen were killed and several wounded tonight during Japanese shelling of Hungjao, suburb to the west of the international settlement and home of many Americans and other foreigners, British military headquarters announced.

Artillery shelling and aerial attacks in the Chinese-Japanese war spread damage among American missions and other foreign property, and during the day British defense lines along the settlement frequently had been under fire.

Many Americans and other foreigners abandoned their magnificent homes in Hungjao to seek safety within the settlement, as the battle for possession of Shanghai centered in the suburban area.

Throughout the day shells exploded near posts manned by the Royal Ulster riflemen.

Royal Ulster riflemen west of Shanghai, the American Southern Methodist Susan B. Wilson School for Girls was set afire and nearly destroyed, an American home was demolished, the Southern Methodist Mission compound was damaged and its 60 occupants sought refuge in dug-outs during bombardment by 20 Japanese airplanes.

British army authorities blockaded Soochow creek with junk and cargo boats to forestall Japanese naval attacks on the Chinese "lost battalion," beleaguered opposite the international settlement.

British tommyes paced cobblestones along the creek while two Japanese naval launches withdrew. The launches had been halted when they steamed up the stream from the Whangpoo river toward the warehouse where the lone Chinese detachment has held off attackers since Chinese evacuation of Chapel two days ago.

FLOOD WATERS BEGIN RECEDE

Situation Eases Maryland and West Virginia

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 29.—(AP)—As the flooded Potomac river wearily bore its weakening crest down-stream today, Cumberland and its river-bank neighbors gazed with relief at evidences of inches high waters in their business and residential districts.

Assured finally that a repetition of the disastrous floods of early this year was not at hand, residents and National guardsmen began to tear away sand bags and river barricades. They had been thrown up hastily yesterday to ward off threatening waters.

Across the river at Ridgely, W. Va., at least 250 residents were prepared to return to their homes they left last night when flood waters swept into them. For the night they sought shelter in a school house and several high-land residences.

At Hancock, Md., several miles down-stream, state police reopened the bridge that had been closed yesterday when they expected the town to be isolated by flood waters. Normal traffic was resumed.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 29.—(AP)—A cold wave swept the western slopes of the Allegheny mountains, halting a three-day downpour as high waters raced on this steel city from southwestern Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia.

The Monongahela river was rising and government observers said the Ohio at the junction of the Monongahela and Allegheny probably would reach a crest of 27 feet, two above flood level at noon.

They predicted the first October high waters in the city's history probably would overflow sections of low-lying streets and flood cellars in river front homes.

Rev. Frank E. Morris New Pastor in Pitt

Rev. Frank E. Morris of Gravel Switch, Ky., who has accepted a call by the Ayden and Winterville Baptist churches, will deliver his first sermons on his new assignment Sunday.

He will preach at the 11 o'clock service at Winterville Sunday morning and will be at the Ayden church for the 7:30 o'clock service.

Germany Not to Meet In Peace Conference

Berlin, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Germany formally notified Belgium today she would not participate in the nine-power pact conference starting next Wednesday at Brussels.

The formal reason given was Germany was neither a signatory nor an adherent of the treaty guaranteeing China's territorial integrity.

ROBBERY FAILS

Tarboro, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Five yeggmen tried unsuccessfully today to crack a safe in Brasswell Brothers Wholesale Grocery here.

Nightwatchman Jesse Vick said he saw four men run out of the building about 3 a. m., and join the fifth in a car which sped away toward Scotland Neck, as he approached.

The safe combination had been knocked off and was had been stuffed into holes about the lock. Electric wires were found leading to an electric light socket.

Employers of the grocery said there was little cash in the strong box.

West Greenville P. T. A. Meeting.

The Parent-Teacher Association of West Greenville school met in the school auditorium Thursday with a very good attendance. The president, Mrs. R. E. Sellers, presided, and since our organization has recently joined the National and State Conference of Parents and Teachers, the time was devoted largely to placing literature in the hands of different committees and chairmen. The matter of acquiring more playground was again submitted, and the urgent need was forcibly expressed by facts produced by our local welfare superintendent and clerk of Juvenile Court. West Greenville is still looking forward to that time when dreams of adequate playground becomes a reality. Following reports from various committees, the president named the following standing committees to serve for this term:

Ways and Means—Mrs. H. A. Hudson, chairman; Mrs. L. D. Page, Mrs. G. A. Taylor.

Welfare—Miss Agnes Fullilove, chairman; Mrs. J. O. Duval, Mrs. R. C. Abee.

Program—Miss Laura Foley, chairman; Mrs. S. V. Morton, Mrs. Allen.

Membership and Hospitality—Mrs. Herman Duncan, chairman; Mrs. Helen Kirkpatrick, Mrs. M. E. Sutton, Mrs. R. V. Keel.

Publicity Chairman—Mrs. Arthur Denton.

Miss Fullilove's grade won the prize for having the most mothers present.

Auxiliary Meets.
Mrs. R. C. Stokes and Mrs. C. F. Bland were gracious hostesses to the American Legion Auxiliary on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Stokes on Elizabeth street. This meeting was due to be held Monday, October 25, but in memory of our most beloved co-worker and faithful publicity chairman, Miss Hennie Wichard, the Auxiliary decided to meet later. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. W. R. Jones, with the opening prayer, salute to the flag, reading the preamble. The regular routine of business was in order. Reports from the different departments.

The president reported having sent writing boards to five boys in Ward A-3 government hospital at Oteen. The rehabilitation committee was instructed to send cigarettes, fancy Christmas cards and stamps to this ward for Thanksgiving, so they can mail out their cards for Christmas.

Reports from the Fair: Mrs. J. Hicks Corey, chairman, and her committee, reported having cleared $75.00 during Fair week at their booth. A rising vote of thanks was given them.

After the appointment of chairmen for the different departments as well as a committee on resolutions, the Auxiliary adjourned to meet November 29th. The hostesses served piping-hot tea and a lovely assortment of delicious sandwiches.—Reported.

Tuberculosis Expert To Be Brought Here

The Welfare department of the Greenville Woman's club, under the leadership of Mrs. Hortense F. Moye, decided that since, according to the health officer, tuberculosis control was one of the most pressing health problems in Greenville, as well as in the county at large, the club could aid the County Health department program by bringing an outstanding man in tuberculosis work to address its members.

With this idea in view, the leader of the Welfare department took the matter up with the health officer, Dr. N. Thomas Eubank. As a result of this conference, Dr. P. P. McCain, superintendent of the State Sanatorium, has been secured to address the club on next Thursday, November 4th, at 8:00 p. m.

The club felt that it would be particularly appropriate to have the tuberculosis problem discussed just at this time since the annual Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale will begin about Thanksgiving.

The club is thoroughly familiar with the valuable tuberculosis control measures which the health department is able to put into effect with the funds secured by the Seal sale.

While the club desires to give its membership entertainment and cultural growth, at the same time it feels that the educational aspect of club's life must never be lost sight of. In this connection, it feels that the most useful type of education is health education and that education in the matter of the prevention and cure of tuberculosis is of vital importance to all of us.

Dr. McCain is the state's highest authority on tuberculosis, and is a gentleman of pleasing address. His talk will be illustrated with moving pictures.

The public at large is cordially invited, especially the physicians, officers of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association and the Christmas Seal Sale workers.

RHEUMATISM

N. C. Supreme Bar Will Hear Appeal Of Johnston REA

Raleigh, Oct. 28.—Another round in the perennial battle of public against private operation and control of power will be fought in the North Carolina Supreme Court next week when appeals of both parties in the famed Johnston county electrification row will be heard.

The cause was due for airing when cases from Johnston's district were up for review, but neither side was then ready and the matter has been specially set for the week during which cases from Wake and Franklin are normally the only ones on the calendar.

Facts in the case have been so often cited that they hardly need repeating. Original plaintiffs, nominally Johnston county farmers but in effect the Federal Rural Electrification Authority, claim directors of the Johnston cooperative "sold out" to the Carolina Power & Light Company in the matter of constructing rural lines. Judge Henry A. Grady refused them injunctive relief although he held the contract with the power company creates a monopoly and that "bad faith" was exhibited by the power company and co-op directors.

"It must be remembered that this contest is between those interested in reserving a cooperative for the benefit of a large community and those who believe that, having obtained control of the cooperative through membership upon its board they can, by majority vote, retire the cooperative from the field of operation if a private power company will furnish electric energy to substantially the same number of persons in the community as the cooperative proposes to serve."

MANY ARE DUE SECURITY FUND

Thousands of Dollars to be Had For the Asking

Rock Mount, Oct. 29.—Many thousands of dollars now due to workers are in the United States Treasury instead of in the pockets of workers because many to whom lump sum payments are due have failed to file claims under the old age insurance provisions of the Social Security Act. George N. Adams, manager of the Rocky Mount field office of the Social Security Board which serves this area, said today:

Only 1,712 claims for lump sum payments were filed in all of Region IV up to the end of September, Mr. Adams said. Region four comprises North Carolina, the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia. Of the total filed in the region, 389 have been filed in North Carolina.

Claims filed in the rest of the region numbered: District of Columbia 151; Maryland 501; Virginia 339; and West Virginia 332.

"The Social Security Board believes many eligible workers, or the estates or relatives of deceased eligible workers, to whom lump sum payments are due now under the old age insurance program, have failed to realize they must file claims with the Board before payment will be made," Mr. Adams said. "Lump sum payments are due to persons who have received wages for work done as an employee, in any employment not specifically excepted under Title 2 of the Social Security Act, since December 31, 1936, and before reaching 65 years of age, and to the estates and relatives of deceased eligible workers," Mr. Adams said. "A good many persons seem to be confused because monthly old age insurance payments will not begin until January, 1942. Lump sum payments, however, are due now to eligible persons who have reached 65 years of age since January 1, 1937. Every assistance will be given to claimants by field offices of the Social Security Board."

Tomorrow is Saturday, which means that numbers of people from this and other sections of the state will be traveling the highways to and from the football games, but the sad part of it is that some who start to the games probably will not get there and others who see the game may not reach home safely. During the fall football season the highway traffic is more congested and it seems the driving a little more reckless with its disastrous results for some of those who seek a day's outing at the game. A good plan to follow in connection with going to the game is "If you drink, don't drive," and if you stay sober and drive be sure that you hold your speed within reasonable bounds and don't take chances in the heavy traffic. It is better to take just a little longer to get to and from the game than to endanger your own life and the lives of others by trying to cut a few minutes off your driving time.

There are two highways in this immediate section that should be given consideration by the State Highway Commission. One of the projects is the extension of highway number 11 north of Bethel and the other is the paving of the stretch of road between Fountain and Falkland as a connecting link for a more direct paved route from Fountain to this city. The paving of these two pieces of road would prove a great benefit to the people residing in the communities through which they pass and to the traveling public in general.

Italy wanted peace only after it waged its unofficial war in Ethiopia and seized the land; Japan wants peace but is pushing ahead in its destruction of China and its seizure of the land and its resources; Germany is for peace but wants the return of its possessions lost during the world war; both Italy and Germany declare for peace in Spain but they are permitting their volunteers to remain on the Spanish firing line until the rebel forces with whom they sympathize can win complete victory. In other words, it seems that all the powers are quite willing to talk of their desires for peace but at the same time want peace from other nations while they march on unhindered until their own greed is satisfied. With so much greed in evidence it leaves us wondering just how long the nations of the world are going to be able to hold out against being drawn into another major conflict.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERETT

Refer to Bureau

Raleigh, Oct. 29.—Sgt. of U. S. Senator Josiah W. Bailey and District Congressman Frank Hancock seated on the same lounge in the lobby of the Sir Walter, in very earnest conversation, started tongues to wagging.

Reporters approached and asked if the Senator planned to support the Congressman. No direct answer was forthcoming.

"But I'll make the prediction that every voter in North Carolina will have his hand shaken and his back slipped at least twice between now and the primary," said Mr. Bailey. "It's hard to beat Bob Reynolds for a tivity and Frank here tells about quite a bit himself."

"Yes, I'm built to speed," replied Congressman Frank. On the lounge with Mr. B and Congressman H at the time of the conversation mentioned in the preceding paragraph was Secretary of State Thad Eure. While the reporters were talking with the group a photographer exploded a flashlight bomb. It was amusing to see the rapidly with which Messrs. Eure and Hancock went away from where they were.

It was noticeable that after the actual eating was over, smoke floated above the women Democrats gathered for luncheon Thursday in spouse. just about the same quantity as when men get together. There were no pipes or cigars, however. Addressing the women at the luncheon, Senator Bailey said it is a pity that the only way for a woman to get into the U. S. Senate is to "poison her husband" or "marry a man in bad health." He was referring to the suggestion of awarding the widow to succeed deceased husband on the actual business, if any.

TWO UNBEATEN ELEVENS MEET

Fordham - Carolina Squads Primed for Game Tomorrow

Chapel Hill, Oct. 29.—Two undefeated North Carolina and Fordham football teams are at full strength for their East-South inter-sectional attraction here tomorrow afternoon at Kenan Stadium. Kickoff is at 2:30.

Rated the nation's outstanding inter-sectional game this week-end, the celebrated Rams and vastly improved Tar Heels are meeting for the first time. Incidentally Fordham is making its first trip below the Mason-Dixon line.

The game is expected to develop into a gruelling duel between Fordham's famed "Seven Blocks of Granite" and North Carolina's "Four Backfield Horsemen." The Maroon's powerful Stone Wall, averaging 192 pounds and ranking as one of the best in the nation, has yielded only six points in a total of four games. High spots in the Rams' performance this season is a scoreless tie with Pittsburgh's Rose Bowl champs.

North Carolina's backfield, ranked on a par with Dixie's best, has amassed 1165 yards on rushing and has scored 93 points in five games to date. It is composed of Crowell Little, triple threat quarterback; Tom Burnette, punting and placekicking ace, and George Watson, blocking star, halfbacks, and Art Ditt, hard-driving 200-pound fullback.

Alexander "Woje" Wojciechowicz, All-America center in 1936, is the strongest Granite of the Seven Blocks. The other stalwarts include Henry Jacunski and Captain Johnny Druze, brilliant ends; Ed Franco and Al Barabarsky, hefty and aggressive tackles; and Mike Koehel and Joe Bernard, durable, steady guards.

Fordham's 170-pound average backfield, composed primarily of sophomores and juniors, is said to be considerably better offensively than the 1936 quartet.

Headed by co-Captain Andy Bershak, greatest end ever to play at North Carolina, and his team's outstanding candidate for All-America honors, the 138-pound average Tar Heel line is an improvement over the 1936 forward wall. The Fordham squad worked out in Duke stadium this afternoon and will come by bus to Chapel Hill shortly after noon tomorrow.

Several hundred Fordham students, a corps of New York sports writers, and the Maroon 80-piece band will leave on a special train from New York City early tonight.

The Rev. Robert I. Gannon, S.J., president of Fordham University, will also attend the game as guest of Dr. Frank Graham, president of the University of North Carolina.

SHOWDOWN ON RULES COMING

Southern Conference To Decide Status of Virginia

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Oct. 29.—Announcement of the University of North Carolina's 1938 football schedule with the University of Virginia still thereon as a Thanksgiving Day opponent is likely to bring a big showdown in Southern Conference circles.

The question is "How can the Tar Heels play the Cavaliers under the existing Southern Conference rules?" with another, with even graver implications "Will Virginia blow the lid off a bad mess of hypocrisy if the Southern Conference decides Cavalier teams cannot be played because they do not subscribe to the so-called Graham plan?"

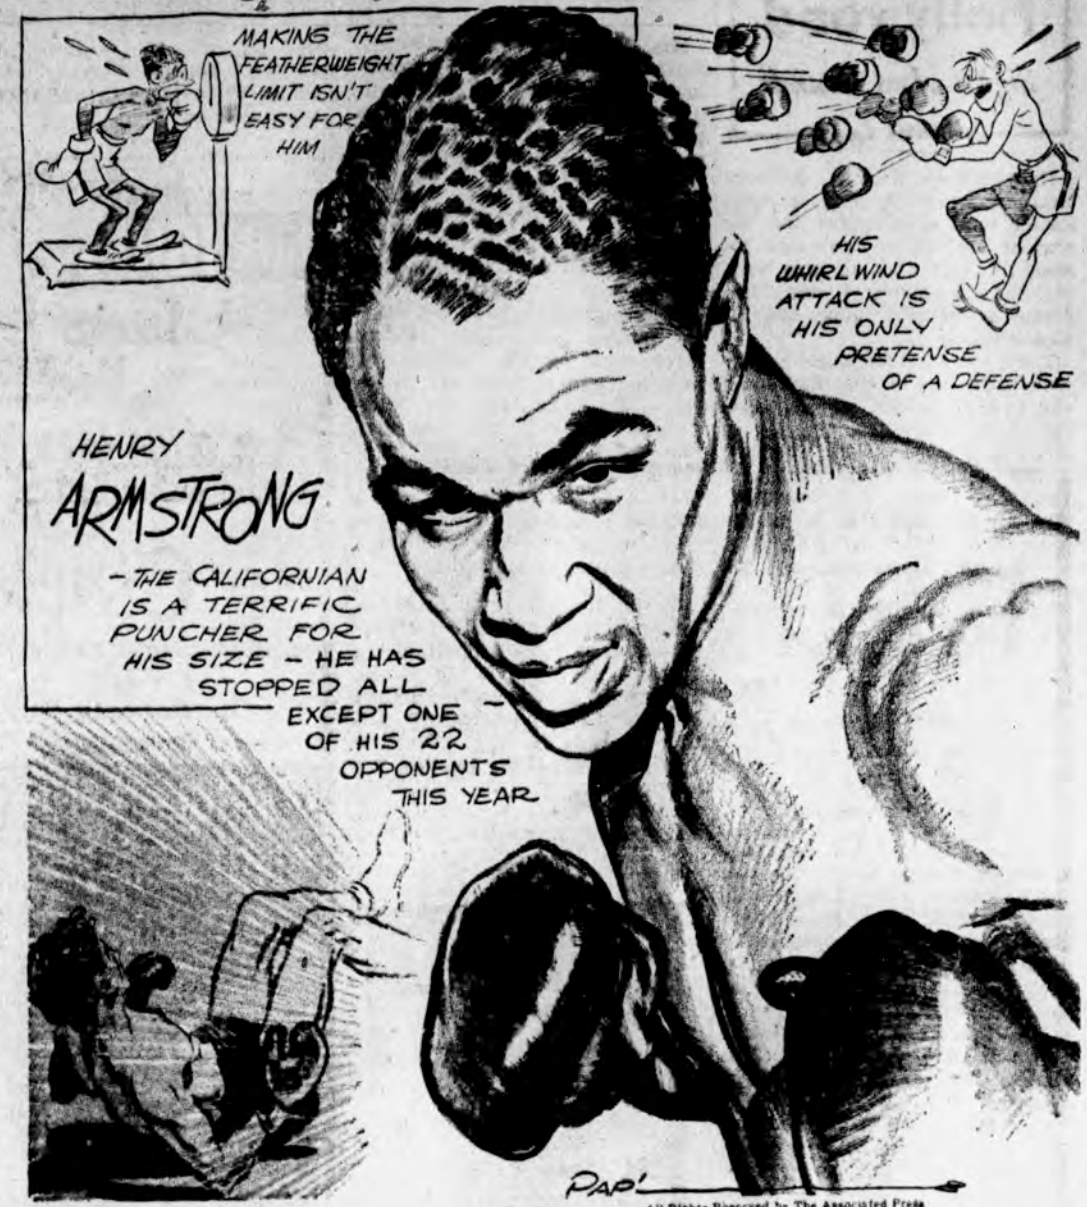

Present conference rules provide that members cannot play teams within their territory (Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina) which do not subscribe to the same eligibility rules as the conference. Virginia doesn't do this, having resigned last February and resumed liberty of action in the matter of athletic scholarships and aid to athletes.

No conference official nor any responsible representative of any North Carolina school has been willing to let his name be used, but at least three high in conference and scholastic circles have expressed the belief "off the record" that Virginia cannot be played under existing rules.

V. P. I. it is understood, was tendered a football contract by Virginia, asked the conference heads' opinion, and it was as at first voted not to sign. Later this action was reversed and the Techs executed the contract. Virginia expects to schedule six conference members in football next year.

If the conference now vetoes the Cavaliers as opponents, there is more than an outside chance that the Charlottesville folk will let out a loud yell that can be heard about as far as that historic spot, fired in Lexington back in 1776. And it is rumored that at least two schools which pose as being "simon-pure" have this fall offered at least two Virginia freshmen footballers greater inducements than they are receiving in the Old Dominion.

Watching Henry Armstrong batter an opponent with a whirlwind attack, it is difficult to understand that the little punching demon once aspired to study medicine. He planned to minister to his fellow-man, instead of trying to destroy him.

"I had to give up all thoughts of medicine," said Armstrong, "for there was no money for a college education. You see, I was the youngest of 13 children.

"My mother died when I was 5 years old. I sold papers to help support the family. I managed to graduate from high school.

"The first job I had was with a railroad 'section gang.' They handed me a sledge-hammer, so there was nothing I could do but swing it. Maybe it was a good thing. It did develop the muscles in my back. That may be the reason I can punch so hard today.

Armstrong's next job was setting up pins in a bowling alley. When C. C. Pyle conceived the idea of his Bunion Derby, Henry decided to enter in hopes of raising the cash to pay for a college education. He jogged 12 miles to work every morning.

"When my brother, Harry, showed his trainer and chief instructor, saw that I was so eager for real work he decided I ought to make a good fighter," Armstrong said. "He drilled me for months and then put me in with some amateur fighters.

"It wasn't easy getting started, and we had many lean days. My real break came when Al Jolson loaned Eddie Meade $10,000 to buy my contract from Wirt Ross.

"I've got to give Meade credit for bringing me to the top, but it was Harry who taught me all I know about fighting."

Armstrong is married and the father of a 3-year-old daughter. He still desires to study music when his fighting days are over.

N. C. WOLFPACK IN LIGHT DRILL

Team Works Out for Game With Boston Tomorrow

Boston, Mass., Oct. 29.—North Carolina State's Wolfpack ran through a light workout here late this afternoon in Alumni Stadium where tomorrow it meets the strong and favored Boston College team.

The State players and coaching staff arrived here this afternoon by train and have made their headquarters at the University Club. They left Raleigh last night.

Doc Newton, popular coach of the North Carolina team, announced the following lineup for the game:

Mickey Sullivan and Big Jess

Tatum, ends; Ed Coon and George Fry, tackles; Fred Mastrolia and Warren Wooden, guards; Louie Mark, center; Joe Schwerdt, Eddie Berlinski, Art Rooney and Kenneth Sands, backs.

Mastrolia is from East Boston and Schwerdt is from Everett, a city a few miles out from Boston.

State has come to Boston seeking revenge for the 7-3 defeat the Eagles handed it here last fall. But the Eagles are favored again as they have one of the strongest teams in the East.

Eddie "Little Buzzer" Berinski and Art Rooney, brilliant sophomore, will head State's offense. They rank among the South's best backs.

State's defense against the big and hard-running Boston backs will be led by Big Jess Tatum, Louie Mark, and George Fry, ranking linemen in the South's Southern Conference.

The North Carolinians will head back home Sunday night.

WOJCIECHOWICZ, BERSHAK ARE INDIVIDUAL STANDOUTS

Chapel Hill, Oct. 29.—Alexander (The Great) Wojciechowicz, Ram center, and Handy Andy Bershak, Tar Heel end, are the chief luminaries of the undefeated Fordham and North Carolina teams which clash here Saturday at 2:30 in Kennan stadium in the nation's outstanding inter-sectional game this week-end. Wojciechowicz made the All-America in 1936 while Bershak was on the Associated Press' second All-America team. Wojciechowicz is destined to repeat again this season. Bershak's superlative performances to date rate him a good chance of landing All-America this season.

IF GAME IS CLOSE THEY ARE WELL-PROTECTED

Chapel Hill, Oct. 29.—If the Fordham-North Carolina game Saturday should have to be decided by the extra point method, both the undefeated Rams and Tar Heels will be well protected for such emergencies. Fordham has its Captain Johnny Druze, stellar end, who has 7 conversions in 10 attempts this season. North Carolina has Tom Burnette, halfback star, who has made good on 7 of 11 tries. Last season Burnette rattled with the nation's best extra point craftsmen. He had 16 successful boots in 18 attempts.

Two's Company

By MARGARET CLION HERZOG

The Characters

Nina has married David, trying to escape her intense love for her stepfather.

Richard, the charming, well-tailored stepfather, tried to prevent her marriage.

Honey, Nina's gay, plump, youthful mother, is wild about Richard, her recently acquired husband.

David, a bright young auto salesman who adores Nina, strives to make her happy on his small salary.

Chapter 23

Dinner At Gracie's

"I HOPE they like me," Nina said rather timidly, for her, and backed away from his enfolding rumpling arms, in the nick of time. The very first thing she noticed, when Jack Knight opened the door, was that the two girls behind him were in evening dress.

The tall one, in black, had all the earmarks of a model . . . so chic and svelt was she . . . and the shorter one, in flesh-colored crepe, must certainly be Gracie, from David's description of her.

Nina felt like a sophomore from Peoria, in her simple, little Hatie Carnegie creation. And she had tried to be so thoughtful!

"Hi, there, David! and Nina . . . hello! Gosh, I'm glad to meet you!"

The shorter one, who was Gracie, came forward with a wide smile.

Nina relaxed a little. It was going to be easy.

Gracie took her arm and whirled her off to the bedroom . . . a tiny apartment, very taffeta and lacy. The bed was piled high with big dolls and little cushions.

Every chair had either a white fur cat, or a black fur scottie; and the dressing-table mirror was jammed with cards, clippings and snapshots.

It looked like the kind of room you see in the movies, where two pretty girls in black undies, plump themselves down on the bed, and "tell all."

From the moment she went in, Nina had the feeling they could have a lot of fun together.

Gracie was undeniably attractive, in a dark, pert sort of way. She had hard, bright eyes, and a comical little nose, and curves that could not fail to be pleasing to the masculine eye.

Her flesh-colored evening-gown was not calculated to conceal them . . . but it was smart and perfectly all right.

Nina might have chosen it, herself, if it had been her type. It had cost $16.50, she found out later.

Gracie stared at her, as she fixed her hair.

"You don't mind if I stare, do you, Nina? I've been so darn' curious about you. You know when David told us about going around with a new—twist, I knew you must be good . . . The boy's got eyes in his head . . . But I had no idea you'd be this good!"

"Hey, hold on! You'd better wait till you know me better, Gracie."

"Oh, we'll get along. I'm not worried about that. David's a great kid, isn't he, Nina? . . . Crazy about him?"

"Umhum. You bet I am!"

"Come on in, you look great. Jack's an awful ass, but you'll like him . . . and Francine and Bill are swell, too."

"The models for a wholesale house, and they're 'that way' about each other, like you and David?"

Nina felt sure she and Gracie were going to get on.

Jack, The Schoolboy

"GOSH! The victuals . . ." Gracie shoved her into the living-room and disappeared.

Her living-room didn't have as much definite character as her bedroom.

There was a red lacquer secretary, and a black velvet hanging on the wall, with a statue and a fountain painted on it, in oils; and the most ingenious collection of cigarette boxes and ash-trays, that Nina had ever seen. The rest of the room was nondescript. Sinky chairs, chintz curtains . . . just a cosy, comfortable room.

The windows looked out over the Hudson river, and that was the best thing of all.

The model, Francine, was languidly beautiful, and beautifully languid. Bill was just a nice young man; and Jack Knight . . . well, Nina knew that she was going to like him, too.

He was probably about 28, but remained—and would remain—the perennial schoolboy.

His thin blond hair receded in two great bays from his pink forehead. It came way down in a little pointed peninsula, in the middle. He was very thin, but for some reason, his neck and jaws were plump—extremely.

that he might fancy himself a bit of a playboy . . . but he wasn't. He was a schoolboy.

He was utterly natural, and in love with life.

"How about a little panther sweat?" he suggested, after the introductions had been made; and the party was on.

The biggest surprise of the evening was Gracie's perfectly delicious dinner . . . cooked and served by her own hand, from a kitchenette that made Nina's look like a ballroom.

They all huddled into an alcove, and Gracie meandered back and forth with one scrumptious dish after another . . . unhurried, at ease, keeping up a running fire of conversation all the while.

Nina marvelled at her.

Fruit cup. Cream of mushrooms. Chicken Maryland . . .

"How do you do it, Gracie?"

"Oh, it's nothing, my dear, nothing. Just a little something I picked up out of left-overs. No trouble at all . . . I've only been preparing this little snack for the last two weeks!"

She was wonderful.

"You know, Mrs. Day," began Jack.

"Why Mrs. Day? Have you any objection to Nina?"

"Not a one in the world! You know, Nina, you deserve to be congratulated . . . I'm not going to say anything nice about that mug of a husband of yours . . . I was going to be the first person who hasn't made some crack about 'Day and Knight' . . . Night and Day, get it?"

"Well, I had a narrow escape. It occurred to me, right."

"Nina, I put in Francine, 'would never think of being so—obvious.' It was pure luck," said Nina modestly.

Francine's Broad A

Francine had a slight tendency, at first, to be social.

"I saw young Willie so and so, the other night, at the Paradise. Amusing place to go, about once a winter, don't you think?"

But Gracie wouldn't let her get away with it.

"What are you trying to do, palisade? Impress Nina? . . . You live at the Paradise, you know you do! Put your broad A back in moth balls, kid."

Gracie smiled at Nina. His eyes said: "I told you she was great, didn't I?"

Nina went back at him.

"You should have seen us, Nina, reading all about you in the papers. The former Nina Stafford as the eye-compelling Ice Maiden, in such and such a pageant . . . Were you impressed? . . . How do you like cleaning David's razor, and putting the top back on the toothpaste, after him?"

"The boy," said Nina, "is next, next personified, and we have tuob tubes of toothpaste, I'll have you know!"

"What swank! . . . and I thought you were one of us!"

David said: "Nina is a wonder. Nothing about housekeeping fazes her. When she ran out of butter, one Sunday, she fried my eggs in cold cream. That's initiative for you."

When dinner was over, Gracie whisked up a screen, and the matter of dishes was not referred to. Nina's heart ached for her.

"Wouldn't you let me—help, Gracie?"

But her hostess told her: "When you've been poor a little longer, darling, you'll learn to treat dishes with a beautiful disregard. Right now, they're probably the biggest thing in your life. But you'll get over it."

Gracie said: "You've gotta get used to it, Nina . . . your Monte Carlo days are over, baby!" . . . If anything, Gracie rather harped on the subject of Nina's being poor now.

She sat by David, opposite Nina, and kidded her—all very good-naturedly, of course—about her steady losing.

"Here, here, bride! Them's pen-nies you're throwing around!"

She whispered with David a good deal, and constantly referred to amusing experiences they had had together, in the past.

Nina began to have a vague—and then a very definite feeling, that Gracie was not as friendly as she appeared.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coom

Hollywood — William Anthony McGuire is a movie producer now, but he must always have had the soul of one. Those stories of his from the days when he was writing Ziegfeld's shows — ne's film-producing "Rosaie" now—are always cropping up.

There was the time when he was being sued—one of the 'times—and was dodging process servers. One day he was trapped. A girl, a very pretty girl, stood on his doorstep, in her hand the fatal papers.

McGuire thought fast, ventured: "My, my, you ought to be on the stage. Ever thought of it?"

"I've always wanted to," she said.

"Well," and he cinched his case. "I'll make a bargain with you. You go in the next Ziegfeld show, and right now you forget that subpoena."

Proving that a McGuire keeps a bargain, she was a glorified girl for two years.

Butler Was Swapped

The penthouse of the pretender to wealth, George Murphy (in the movie, "You're a Sweetheart") is what Universal artist John Otterstrom, Jr., calls his first opportunity to spurge. He has spurged, effectively, through an elegant suite of five rooms and garden.

This was the setting of a scene in which David Butler, from 20th Century, was directing Alice Faye, also from 20th.

How come? "Well," said Dave, "I lent Alice Brady in return for Alice Faye, and swapped a story property for me. That makes me low man in the deal."

The story property, however, was "Danger—Love at Work"—and it may be a hit, which ought to elevate Butler's morale.

Ronald Got Socked

"Thoroughbreds Don't Cry" is the title of the movie in which Ronald Sinclair (formerly Ra Hould of Australia) has taken the role which normally would have been reserved for embattled Freddie Bartholomew. There was a scene in which it appeared that thoroughbreds might be socked, with or without tears.

Ronald had to get socked, ostensibly in the eye, by Mickey Rooney. Ronnie didn't know the technique of a successful movie sockee. He had to leave it entirely to Rooney, who of course knows how to hit painlessly.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Stocks went up the trail with lengthy strides in today's market and leaders posted gains running to seven points or so at the best.

Buying was spasmodic. Around noon the ticker tape fell several minutes behind. Most issues were around the top about the final hour.

Wall Street recalled that today was the eighth anniversary of the biggest stock market crash in history.
