turn to current children's literature. She will have with her a number of the new books to which she will refer in her talk.

By courtesy of the Sheppard Memorial Library there will also be on display in the Woman's Club building Saturday afternoon an extensive exhibit of new books for children which were loaned to the library here by the State Library Association.

These books will be at the Woman's Club for examination only in connection with this A. A. U. W. program. This has been arranged for the convenience of out-of-town teachers, as well as parents and teachers in town, who may wish to combine in one afternoon the opportunity to hear a speaker of such importance in her field and the opportunity to look over this State Library exhibit.

During the remainder of their time in Greenville the state exhibit will be on display at the public library. Preceding the program, from 3:00 to 3:30, the A. A. U. W. is holding a social hour for its guests, at which those who will attend the program are invited to meet the speaker.

Vesper Services. "The Sentence of Life" was the topic of an enlightening talk at the Young Woman's Christian Association vesper service, Sunday evening, by the Reverend Clarence Patrick of the Immanuel Baptist Church.

"If I had to choose a topic for my talk tonight," began Mr. Patrick "it would be 'The Sentence of Life.'" He centered his address about the verse "Jesus said, 'What are these people like?'" In giving the answer, "They are like children," he quoted from the great poet, Francis Johnson.

"Jesus," stated the speaker, "never lost his interest in childhood's enchanted realm. He knew and loved little children." Yet even though Jesus love children so much, he realized the pity of childhood and knew the sorrow that comes when people do not mature.

There are certain regulations laid on us as human beings. First, growth—which is the first law of life; second, fellowship—which comes only to mature people; and third—a contribution to life.

"In the spring," continued Mr. Patrick, "can you look back over the year and see that you have grown, that you have acquired fellowship, that you have made a contribution to life? He concluded by saying 'If Christ were here tonight, might he not say that we too are like children.'"

Special music was a vocal solo by Ralph Hutchinson, accompanied at the piano by Mary Evelyn Thompson.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT In the afternoon of October 20 at 4:30 o'clock, and seemingly in the midst of life, death the reaper, came and with his sickle keen, cut the silver cord of life that bound the gentle spirit of Hennie Whitchard to earth and took her home to Heaven.

The blow was sudden and the memory of her cheery smile, the kind and genuine cordiality with which she saws, greeted us will ever remain with all who knew her.

The American Legion Auxiliary, of which she was a faithful member, we bow our heads to the Master's will in humble submission and say God's will, not ours, be done.

RESOLVED: That the members of the Auxiliary herewith desire to place on record their appreciation of the services and character of our departed member. Her niche in the world was more than filled by a character that radiated goodness, patience, faith and unbounded loyalty to her ideals of right living. Her mission on this earth was helpfulness without consideration of self. She spread sunshine in the dark places of other people's lives.

In her passing our Auxiliary has sustained a great loss, but what an example of true service her life has been. We shall always cherish living memories, knowing our lives have been greatly blessed by our association with her.

RESOLVED: That the Auxiliary extend to the sorrowing mother, sister and brother and family their heartfelt sympathy and may the faith that sustained her throughout her life comfort and sustain them.

RESOLVED: In token of our respect for her and appreciation of her real worth, and that this Resolution be spread upon the records of the Auxiliary and copies be sent to her mother and family and The Daily Reflector.

Against N. C. Law Break Quarantine The local health department last week warned the citizens of Pitt County of the prevalence of diphtheria. The health officer stated that diphtheria is present in all sections of Pitt County and he feels that this spread is in part due to the lack for the observance of the quarantine regulations.

For the information of those who have been breaking quarantine he called attention to the fact that, according to the state law, it is a misdemeanor for a person to break quarantine; this means that the person is subject to a fine or imprisonment or both.

Quarantine means that not only the sick child, but all other children in the home are under quarantine and must not leave the premises.

STROUD HEADS CLUB PROGRAM

Classification Committee in Charge of Meet

No Damoselian dagger to secure poise or Demosthenian stones or waves to secure sureness and range, no Euphumi needed to be summoned to contribute semblance of smoothness when Jonathan Overton and Staunton Harvey addressed in serious terms the assembled Greenville Rotarians last night meeting in executive session. To state it plainly those boys "went to town" for the ideal of Rotary was their inspiration and the facts were their medium. Rounds of applause succeeded each speaker proving spontaneous hearty approval of man, method and message.

The program was put on by Lawrence Stroud, chairman, and his fellow classification committee members. Staunton Harvey, Jonathan Overton and J. B. Kittrell. Visiting Rotarian Charlie Ward, of Roanoke, Va., was a guest of the club and Sam Underwood was too. Herbert Waldrop doth dwell underneath some potent sidereal body, Zodiac, or equivalent, for come Monday night and the whirling wheel of fortune to determine attendance prize winner and it is Herbert who gets the "spotted pup," whether Wesley Harvey is giving it as he was last night or some one else.

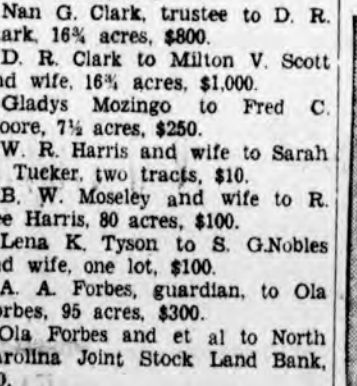

The significance and importance of the lecture on tuberculosis to be given by Dr. P. T. McCain at the Woman's Club Thursday night of this week at 8 o'clock was forcefully presented to the Rotary Club by Rotarian Tom Ennett. Declaring that education alone can control tuberculosis, he insisted it behooved every citizen of Greenville to attend the lecture which is to be illustrated with moving pictures.

Orthopedic Clinic Scheduled Friday

The Pitt County Health Department today called attention to the fact that the next monthly orthopedic clinic would be held Friday of this week. The clinic is held every first Friday from noon until 3 o'clock in the health department offices.

The Pitt County Health Department wishes to call attention to the regular, monthly State Orthopedic Clinic held every first Friday, from noon till 3 o'clock p. m., in the Health Department offices, 215 West Third street, Greenville. The next clinic will be held on Friday, November 6.

This clinic serves not only Pitt County, but Beaufort, Hyde, Pamlico, and Carteret as well. The clinic is open to both white and colored.

All types of cripples are received into this clinic for examination, without cost, and, where eligible, are given free treatment.

Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Pitt County health officer, requests that, where practical, all patients bring a note from their family physician.

The health officer extends a special invitation to all physicians and all welfare officers to visit the clinic.

This is an open meeting and the public is invited. Special invitations have been extended to the physicians of the county, to the officials of the town and county, to the superintendents of the county and city schools, principals and teachers, to the officials of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association, and to the Christmas Seal Sale chairman.

While this meeting is sponsored by the Greenville Woman's Club, the Health Committee, in arranging for the meeting, has had the active cooperation of the County Health Officer, Dr. N. Thomas Ennett.

Specialist On TB To Speak In City

The Health Committee of the Woman's Club, headed by Mrs. Hortense Moye, is busy making preparations for Dr. P. T. McCain's lecture at the club on Thursday night of this week.

Dr. McCain is head of the tuberculosis work in North Carolina and is one of the outstanding authorities on tuberculosis in the country.

In view of the fact that tuberculosis, according to health authorities, is again on the increase, this opportunity to learn more about control of tuberculosis, is considered timely.

This is an open meeting and the public is invited. Special invitations have been extended to the physicians of the county, to the officials of the town and county, to the superintendents of the county and city schools, principals and teachers, to the officials of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association, and to the Christmas Seal Sale chairman.

While this meeting is sponsored by the Greenville Woman's Club, the Health Committee, in arranging for the meeting, has had the active cooperation of the County Health Officer, Dr. N. Thomas Ennett.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PAROLE Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, convicted in the Recorder's Court of Pitt County on July 20, 1937, of trespass for the purpose of peeping, and sentenced to one year on the roads, will make application to the Commissioner of Paroles for a parole.

All persons objecting to said parole are invited to file their protests with the Commissioner of Paroles without delay. This the 2nd day of November, 1937. LEROY PURVIS, W. J. Bundy, Atty. 11-2 law 2wks

Two's Company

The Characters

Nina impulsively married David and is trying to forget her intense love for her stepfather. Richard, the charming, well-tailored stepfather, shamelessly talks of love to Nina.

Honey, Nina's gay, plump, youthful mother, is wild about Richard, her newly acquired husband.

David, a bright young auto salesman, adores Nina and strives to make her happy on his small salary.

Chapter 28

Encounter With Richard

I happen to know that Challenger hasn't a cent over $3,000 a year. Tony was saying "I also happen to know that two of his bills last year, in London—a tailor on Bond street, and a sporting goods store—amounted to exactly that figure."

Three thousand dollars! And Honey's meagre cost her at least $20,000 a year.

Her mother had said, that day in the blue and white room: "Richard is perfectly sensible and broad-minded about letting me share expenses..." But according to Tony's figures, "sharing" was hardly the right word, was it?

Tony went on: "Now mind you, I don't say he doesn't pay his bills, and I don't say he procures an additional income, by any shady means. I simply say that he spends every cent on his back and for his own personal amusement, and lets his numerous friends (and now, probably, his wife) look after his living expenses."

Nina did, actually, feel a little shocked; but she managed to persuade herself that the standard David had taught her, that had seemed only self-respecting and right in his case, did not apply to Richard at all. And the very fact that she was kept over heels in love with him, kept her from realizing that it was love coloring her judgment.

Well, that was that. Nina went on up to her room, and devoted every ounce of her considerable skill, to making herself look as lovely as possible for the evening.

She came hurrying down the great stairway, in little skirts. Her lettuce green evening dress was of silk net, with taffeta polka dots applied to it in charming profusion. It floated after her like a foamy wave, trying to catch up with her; and her fair curls bobbed up, and then bobbed back into place again, like the good little curls they were.

"Nina..." It was a low murmur. At the curve of the landing, Richard was waiting for her, loitering at the window, with a cigarette in his hand, so as not to attract notice.

"Nina..." again. He stepped in front of her. "My crazy, impulsive sweet!"

"Richard?" Or had she said, "darling?"

"Why did you do it, Nina? Why... loving me...?"

"Please... I'm happy. Let me go, Richard."

She didn't mean, down the stairs; she meant, let her go free of him.

"You don't mean that, darling?"

"I—must."

"You don't want to have this thing over between us, any more than I, Nina... precious, it needn't have been. You and I..."

"Hush. We mustn't talk this way, Richard. Please."

"Mustn't—your talk as though love could be turned on and off at will!"

"Don't come so close. We must turn it off, Richard."

"We... can't."

"Someone is coming."

"We love each other."

"Help me, Richard... darling. Help me to be good."

"I... can't, Nina."

"Someone is coming!"

There was the inevitable talk of horses, and the recent meet, and more horses.

Mammoth Hippodrome Coming to Greenville

An opportunity to see one of the greatest educational exhibits of all time will be given the people of this vicinity next Wednesday, November 10th, when the Mammoth Marine Hippodrome arrives in Greenville for a one-day engagement.

One of the features of the exhibit is a huge sea monster weighing 68-tons and is over 55 feet long. In a perfect state of preservation, and just as it appeared when encountered off the coast of San Clemente several months ago, in addition to the sea monster the exhibit will include over 40 other specimens of marine life, such as the octopus, pilot fish, man eating sharks, sword fish, and a modern type of harpoon gun used in the capture of whales.

SOIL PROGRAM AIDS FARMERS

Benefits Determined by What "You Put In It"

Marshall, Nov. —"The agricultural conservation program is like life itself—the more you put into it, the more you get out of it."

That's what George W. Miller, Madison county farm agent of the State College extensive service, tells local growers in urging them to look up the fertility of their land.

The program, he said, is not designed to see how much money the government can dish out to farmers. Its primary purpose is to aid farmers in improving their soil.

The AAA payments are intended to defray as far as possible the expense of carrying out soil-building practices, he continued, and to compensate growers for limiting their production of soil-depleting crops.

And the grower who cooperates with the program to the fullest extent will find that in the long run the benefits to his farm are worth far more to him than the cash payments he receives from the government, Miller said.

The program is asking farmers to do only those things which good farmers would try to do anyway in working out a good cropping system that will yield them a profit and at the same time enrich the land and protect it from erosion and exhaustion.

The attempt to regulate the production of cash crops is also aimed at price stabilization so that stock the price will sag and the receipts will be diminished.

Will he, nevertheless, sell this block of safe stock, turn over to the government 75 per cent of the gain in its value, sustain a further loss on the thin market, and then risk the remainder in a speculative business that may or may not pay out for several years or not pay out at all?

Problem Recognized

And the treasury official replied that the rich man probably would keep his money in the sound stocks.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Without much talk about it, the treasury is studying the problem of reducing income tax rates in the higher brackets, revising the capital gains tax and modifying as well the tax schedule in the 1938 undistributed profits tax.

A primary reason is the complaint reaching treasury ears with increasing force that the man of large means cannot operate in the market because he is fenced in so effectively by taxes that he prefers to sit tight. It has been called a "capital strike."

When the rich man stays out of the market, does little speculating to earn fat profits and otherwise pulls his neck under his shell, his outlay for taxes is less. And further, his capital is idle, or partly so. The result is that the long chain of new business that fresh capital starts when invested in industry is absent. And that means more taxes the government doesn't get, and less recovery for the country.

Just Suppose

To one treasury official we proposed this proposition: Take a rich man. His earnings already are so high that if he makes any more money it will fall in the 75 per cent bracket of the income tax law. In other words, 75 per cent of his next earnings will go to the government.

During the summer—before the recent market drop—there comes to that rich man an opportunity to invest in securities to expand a certain business. If successful, the expansion promises in a few years to pay good dividends and the securities will increase in value. If it is a flop, he loses money.

In order to raise capital to invest in these new securities, the rich man must sell some stocks he bought several months earlier. They have increased handsomely in value. If he sells them, 75 per cent of this increase will go to the government. Moreover, so "thin" is the buying power of the market that if he offers a large block of

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Nov. 2.—Raleigh, official and unofficial, had a quite recovered Monday from the shock of Fortham's defeat of the Tar Heels over at Chapel Hill Saturday. The capital had worked itself into the frame of mind where it expected a Carolina victory.

There is, however, a still prevalent impression that the Wolf-coached Carolinians constitute a better than "fair to middling" football team and all hands are awaiting the Duke-Carolina imbroglio with bated breath.

It looks like Southport is trying to infringe on Kinsten's unofficial copyright on freak stories. From the Brunswick capital comes this tall tale:

Captain Crawford Rourke and the crew of his shrimp trawler were ready for supper yesterday afternoon when the trawl brought up an unopened 60-pound bag of grits from the bottom of the ocean.

"Now what the hell was that sack doing there?" inquired the skipper.

He is still wondering, and Captain Victor Cox is still wondering who lost the hat with a ten-dollar bill inside the band that his trawl picked up. As far as that goes, Sam Watts, Jr. is wondering if there are any more good five-dollar bills floating around on the trawling grounds. His boat recently dragged up a perfectly good one at a point where the water is 19 feet deep.

William C. Lassiter, young Raleigh attorney who won the "Are Carrier Boys Employees or Independent Merchants?" case for North Carolina's publishers, has been named counsel for the North Carolina Press Association.

Browsing about a bit in the Hall of History, this correspondent was quite intrigued by an advertisement of the Exchange Hotel on Hillsborough street, Raleigh, clipped from a newspaper of 1864.

Under the head "Rates of Board" were listed:

"Per day, either in bacon, 10 pounds.
"Per day, either in lard, 10 pounds.
"Per day, either in butter, six pounds.
"Per day, either in flour, 30 pounds.

"Per day, either in currency, $40.
"Single meal, or lodging, $10.

Item about unusual events and things in North Carolina says:

"Durham: Eight miles from here a large tree was cut down, the stump hollowed out, and four men were served a real around a table inside it."

Just have been the Big Apple

North Carolina's revenues, except those from the inheritance tax, continue to rise, it has been revealed by the monthly statement of comparative collections issued by the Department of Revenue. Items which showed substantial increases in October were privilege taxes, from $163,219.40 last year to $182,637.37; income taxes, from $81,113.75 to $87,812.63; sales tax, from $922,694.27 to $992,345.28; beverage tax, from $93,280.61 to $144,506.09; motor vehicle license fees, from $60,800.04 to $81,622.09; gasoline tax, from $1,938,550.72 to $2,040,149.44.

Propose Highway Of Crepe Myrtle

Raleigh, Nov. 2.—Plans are being made for a "Crepe Myrtle" scenic highway, 90 miles long from Washington, in Beaufort county, to Englehard, in Hyde.

The project was conceived and initiated by Fred Latham, prominent Bellhaven farmer, who has agreed to furnish the myrtles.

Last week Mr. Latham and highway beautification experts conferred at some length about the matter and actually went over the road along which it is planned to plant the myrtles.

Mr. Latham has proposed a five-year program for planting and developing the route. He hopes to interest civic organizations, 4-H clubs, etc., in the matter and to receive cooperation from them in putting the project over.

What It Means:

CONGRESSIONAL CONFUSION

By MORGAN M. BEATTY

(AP Feature Service Writer)

WASHINGTON — With a special term of Congress in the offing, all is confusion.

Congress plans to balance the budget, yet the deficit is mounting every day.

The administration wants to avoid new taxes on the eve of next year's election campaigns, yet treasury experts debate a scheme to increase income taxes for people who make between $5,000 and $50,000 a year.

Retail business continues bright, but the stock market is jumping around like a skeleton on a tin roof.

A long-awaited permanent relief program for the farmer is about to be sprung, but it would a couple hundred millions more than the present soil conservation program.

Another law to protect labor against exploitation is ready for a vote in Congress, but some labor leaders doubt that it will give the workers a free hand to bargain collectively.

What does it all mean?

January Headlines

Primarily, it means that events have conspired to put Congress on an uncomfortable spot—more uncomfortable, perhaps, than any it has known since it had to face the prohibition issue 17 years ago.

And all these puzzling events have occurred in a scant nine months.

Last January the lawmakers met in the rosy afterglow of a Roosevelt landslide. Gone was the depression, and the first frenzy of the New Deal to stop the disaster and care for the destitute. Government had settled down to a more or less steady undertone, the orderly confusion of any big business.

The three big headlines of the month tell the serene story:

1. Depression Fades; Boom In Sight.
2. President Predicts Balanced Budget.
3. Democrats Organize Huge Majority.

Then what? On February 5, the President proposed to extend the New Deal by enlarging the Supreme Court; income taxes failed to reach the optimistic estimates of the treasury, and the budget went out of kilter in April; Senator Joe Robinson died in July, and the President's own Democrats sabotaged his court plan; and to top it all off, the stock market nose-dived in October.

Now look what's happened to the three big headlines of January:

1. Stock Market Slump Puzzles Business.
2. President Predicts Bigger Deficit.
3. Democratic Split Unhealed.

The whole trouble is that unforeseen developments have cast a haze over the national horizon to replace the roseate glow of January.

Congress was eager then to face the future and make a record for itself. Quite willingly it stepped into the spotlight of national affairs.

But now, the picture is different. Some kind of tax revision is almost inevitable—somebody's pocketbook may have to suffer. And who wants to tackle the stock market crisis?

Arkansas Didn't Help
Crop-control and subsidy must take precedence because it has been $700,000,000, and at the same time promised. But who is eager to vote impose the processing tax required to pay the bill?

Labor legislation likewise has been promised, but will the wages and hours bill make friends or enemies for congressmen?

And that October election in Arkansas did not help solve the dilemma. It gave congressmen no answer to the question, "Which way shall we jump, when the spotlight is turned on?" A dyed-in-the-wool

RED INK ITEMS FOR THE TAXPAYER

Here's an unofficial itemized account, indicating what the federal taxpayer may expect to put out for the coming session of congress if it lasts six weeks, from November 15 to January 1, the date for beginning the next regular session:

Printing	$412,000
Mileage for congressmen	220,000
Stenographic reporters	10,000
Extra light, heat, power, etc.	5,000
House and senate page boys	9,500
Total	$656,500

The special session won't cost anything for salaries of congressmen or their office staffs since these items are already on an annual basis. The only extra salaries will be those for pages.

New Dealer lost the late Joe Robinson's seat to a Democrat who says some New Deal plans and good and some not so good.

In the middle of the mess, the President is preparing to state the problems in broad terms, then switch the spotlight to Congress.

And there will stand Congress—with politically dangerous questions to handle—and a congressional election just around the corner.

Small wonder that 531 congressmen will bring 531 headaches to Washington on November 16—headaches that will endure until next November's elections are over.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—Personal notes off a New Yorker's cuff:

"Sometime ago," writes a gentleman from Hamilton Field, Cal., "I read in your column in the Oakland Tribune that you were intrigued with a street which bore the name of Lord Kitchener Road. Try this on your guitar—Sir Francis Drake Boulevard! It's in San Anselmo, Calif., about 10 miles from here."

Thank you sir, I like it very much. Sign on a down-town bank:

"There is only one difference between you and your ambition. Save the difference!"

Fifty-fourth street scene: Anita Page, Will Hays, and Burns and Allen climbing into the elevator in the St. Regis lobby.

Forty-second street scene: Pickets marching in front of a restaurant, screaming: "The sign on that window is a lie!" The signs says: "These pickets have never been associated with this restaurant in any capacity." Now somebody is lying.

The vast success of newsreel theaters has caused another of the swanky variety to be erected near 83rd street. These are the intimate little theaters which show nothing but current news events on the screen. Usually the admission is 25 cents and the show lasts an hour. Lauritz Melchior is perhaps the town's most noted newsreel devotee. This huge operatic star can't pass one without slipping inside to see the latest horror scenes from China.

On several occasions this practice caused him to miss important engagements. However, he doesn't mind. Next to singing Wagner he'd rather shoot wild boars. And after that, he'd rather spend his time in the newsreel houses.

One of the better known columnists issued a recent screed denouncing police dogs as vicious and untrustworthy. He doesn't know it, but three of his friends have arranged to have a pair of them tied to his Christmas tree. Frank Martin, on a busman's holiday, has gone to Havana. He used to be proprietor of El Toreador, Cuban nightclub.

Ben Collada is expert at wing shooting... Sheila Barrett, the mime, has impersonated successfully every well known character on the stage and screen... Her latest is satirizing nightclubs.

There is a motorman on a cross town street car whose name is a question. It is Mr. Will I Ride?

Most of the bands in New York have a definite football touch. Their medleys are all centered around college gals, who steal the hearts of gridiron heroes and play havoc with the coach's plans on the eve of the big game. In the last two weeks at least four new football songs have come out.

Despite high ballyhooing the theatrical season is dragging. At this time last year more than twice as many plays had been premiered. However, between now and Christmas the first night excursions will be frequent and tastier.

CITADEL GAME NEXT FOR NCS

Bulldogs Come to Raleigh Functioning Perfectly

Raleigh, Nov. 2.—Topping North Carolina's grid slate this week is the State-Citadel game in State's Riddick Stadium Saturday afternoon.

The kick-off has been set for 2:30 and the second largest crowd to see a game in the stadium this fall is looked for.

The setting is right for a colorful game. Both clubs are much stronger than last year. Citadel lost a heart-breaker to South Carolina on last Saturday while State was defeating a favored Boston College eleven.

The Citadel Bulldogs will come here Saturday hitting perfectly on all 11 cylinders as a result of that loss and State's Wolves, anxious to continue their winning ways, hope to be at their best. Freakish breaks of the game enabled South Carolina to win over Citadel as the Bulldogs completely outtrused the Gamecocks.

Citadel has the best team it has had in 17 years. It is noted especially for its fine forwards who, according to Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite, of Richmond University, are more powerful on offense than the Dukes of Duquesne University. Richmond has played both teams. It lost to Citadel, 26-0, and to Duquesne, 24-0.

Andy Sabados, 203-pound center, tops the Citadel forwards. At one time Sabados was a line smashing fullback and then was converted into a center. Last year he was selected as the best player in South Carolina.

Sabados faces another great center here Saturday in Louie Mark. Mark's magnificent game at Boston College last Saturday drew the applause of the 12,000 spectators, radio commentators, and sports writers.

State's Steve Sabol of a few years ago never played a greater game at center than did Louie Mark on Saturday.

Rivaling the Mark-Sabados battle will be that expected backfield duel between Citadel's Kooksie Robinson, 134-pounder, and State's Little Buzzer, Eddie Berlin, now regarded as one of the nation's best backs. Berlin has not been outplayed this year in six games. He scored both of the touchdowns against Boston—one on a 72-yard run from scrimmage and the other on a 24-yard pass from his backfield twin, the amazing Art Rooney.

BIG BOY BLUE —By Pap

Alma Mater Gives All For Her Boys —When They Fall In Her Defense

(By the AP Feature Service)

College Station, Texas (AP)—Nothing is too good for the modern college player out "doing and dying" for old Alma Mammy. He gets the best hospital beds, the best leg splints, the best looking nurses.

At Texas A. & M., home of one of the southwest's strongest teams the annual budget carries a $1,000 allotment for hospitalization and treatment of injured grid heroes—exclusive of the trainer's salary or expenses of the team physician. Also allotted is about $400 for training room items, chief of which is adhesive tape.

Last year Dick Todd, the Aggies' potential All-America halfback, received a whack on the head in the

WHEN A PLAYER DOESN'T GET UP—
The trainer checks his eyes, pulse, and gives him a 5-minute examination for broken bones. Dilated eyes may mean a head injury. Weak pulse means a call for the doctor. Here Texas A. & M.'s Dick Todd is attended by Dr. R. Henry Harrison, Trainer Lil Dimmitt.

ONCE THE DOCTOR IS CALLED—
You may scratch the name of the injured gridder off the program. The trainer handles minor injuries. Sometimes the player is winded, needs no more than a moment's rest. If the trainer has him walk around, it is no more than a minor leg injury.

IN THE TRAINING ROOM—
Where Todd is getting a leg massage from Trainer Dimmitt are heat-ray machines and diathermy equipment, the latter to help create heat within body tissues and relieve pressure. Here each athlete gets his ankles bound with tape before each game.

THE MEDICINE SHELF
Partial contents: Zinc oxide (cuts); toe itch mixture (athlete's foot); itch mixture (rubbed spots); ichthyol (boils); skin toughener, talcum powder; wooden tongue depressors; cotton; disinfectants; rubbing alcohol; adhesive tape; gauze bandage.

Southern Methodist game. He was in the hospital for days. The $250 bill was passed as a routine matter through athletic office records.

A knee operation, which may bob up every year or so, may cost as much as $500. It is figured as an obligation of the college to the player.

It isn't the major injuries that plague a football team, however. The Aggies have only one broken bone in three years. It's the injury that keeps a player out of the game and break up the team spirit that keep Trainer Lil Dimmitt and Dr. Henry Harrison, team physician constantly alert.

The Aggies left the field after their 1937 game with Mississippi State with a 14-0 victory and with nine first-stringers on the casualty list. All nine were ready for Texas as Christian the following weekend. But it took daily trips to doctors, osteopaths and anyone else Trainer Dimmitt could find.

Knees and ankles are most frequently hurt, with many shoulder ailments, also. Colds, boils, bruised muscles, pinched nerves and cuts of all types stand high on the routine list. Athlete's foot is frequent and no misnomer in a grid camp.

Dimmitt's big job is not to treat injuries but to prevent them. Aggie football players weigh before and after every practice. The weight chart is an excellent health barometer.

Aside from his regular playing equipment, which includes protective devices galore, each Aggie goes to his daily workout with his ankles securely wrapped either with cloth binding or adhesive tape. He usually wears about nine yards of 3-inch tape on his ankles on game day.

On the 11th Dimmitt keeps his

Sport Slants —By PAP

Our personal nomination for the greatest back roaming the collegiate gridirons is Clint Frank.

The Yale Captain won all-America honors a year ago. This season he has shown enough improvement to deserve rating as a football genius.

There isn't a phase of the game at which he is not proficient. A great passer, he is just as effective at carrying the ball. He has drive through the line. In a broken field he is elusive and hard to stop. His 190 pounds are spread over a solid frame. He has speed.

He runs the team on the offense and defense. Few men are more adept at diagnosing plays and ferreting out weak spots in an opponent's armor. A deadly tackler, Frank seem to sense the plays and manage to be on the spot in time to break them up. At the despised task of blocking, he is thorough and effective.

Last fall, when Larry Kelley was riding to fame on the touchdown passes he caught in spectacular fashion, Frank went along doing his chores extremely well—but without fanfare. Those who felt that Kelley was making him look good must by now be convinced that it was Frank, and his soft, floating passes, that paved the way for the success Loquacious Larry enjoyed. The way other ends have been taking Frank's passes this fall is evidence of Frank's ability as a passer. It isn't the Yale team that makes Frank great. It is he who has molded the Elis into an efficient machine.

Dr. Maj Stevens, a former Yale player and once head coach of the Blue, calls attention to the work of Yale's Coach Ducky Pond. "Pond deserves more credit than has come his way," says Dr. Stevens. "Contrary to the general impression, it is Ducky, and not one of his assistant coaches, who has been coming up with smart defensive setups to thwart opponents' attacks. He's a fine coach and is doing a great job at Yale."

THIS BOY MUSICIAN "HAS PERFECT PITCH"
Olivet, Mich. (AP)—Instructor at Tanglewood Farm, a school near here, have enrolled a 10-year-old "musician with perfect pitch."

He is Don Howe, one of 25 children who attend the school. Instructors say the boy can identify every chord struck on the piano in an adjoining room, can name accurately by every minor or major chord, and add flats and sharps to his specifications.

He has had only one year of piano instruction.

TWINS PLAYING ON LSU ELEVEN

Fool Coach, But Never the Opposing Team

Baton Rouge, La. (AP)—Louisiana State University's football team has twin brothers in its line this fall but opposing players don't have to worry.

Dick and Jack Gormley are as little alike as a hockey stick and a baseball bat.

You never would guess they're twins. In fact, their high school coach at Tyler, Tex., didn't know it until after they graduated.

"We don't even think much alike," said Jack, regular end for the Southeastern conference champions. "We don't room together, double-date or take the same things in school."

"Why Dick's gone with one girl since we've been in college. As for me, why I go out with lots of girls."

Both are Juniors but Dick, a center, is taking up engineering, and Jack physical education.

Jack likes to play golf, but Dick had rather go fishing.

Jack is taller and heavier. He stands 6 feet 1 inch tall and tips the scales at 190. Dick weighs two pounds less and lacks a half-inch of bein six feet.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

Hollywood — Strange it may be, but the person most vitally concerned in a movie love scene is neither of the principals, but the director.

Your stars, unless they're very new at the business, may be quite blasé about exchanging osculations and embraces for the camera, but your director never is. His realization of the importance of sincere and beautiful love scenes to his pictures makes him, for the time, a Lotherio without portfolio. He knows so thoroughly the mood he wants that you are sure, watching his sideline excitement, he could give a better performance than his stars.

Some Find Ridicule Useful
Sometimes he does, too—better and funnier. That is when he undertakes to "show them how." Archie Mayo frequently acts out scenes to demonstrate the effects he wants. Archie weighs around 230, unless he's reduced some more. He did not take Gary Cooper's place with Sigrid Gurie in the "Marco Polo" rehearsals, but he would recite the love lines to himself, and the replies, emphasizing the desired inflection. Archie thinks inflection is the big thing in movie love passages.

Michael Curtiz, excitable Hungarian, does not "act out" movie romances. He comments, criticizes, suggests. "That kiss—she would not melt butter. Don't hold her like she was a hot potato. Crush her. Maybe you break a rib. That is all right if we get a good scene!"

DeMille hawkeyed on every scene, is the same when his players must make love. Sometimes he uses ridicule along with blandishments to spur them into the "mood." Another showman-director Von Sternberg, has found ridicule useful.

NO MARKETS

New York, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The New York stock and commodity markets were closed today on account of the local election.

APPROVAL OF REA GIVEN PROJECT IN WESTERN N. C.

are frankly pleased to see something started.

The $10,000 approved is for use of the Rabun Land and Water Company, of Atlanta, Georgia, a property of J. B. McCrary, utility and real estate man of the Georgia capital. It calls for construction of 31 miles of line to serve approximately 100 customers in Rabun County, Georgia and Macon County, North Carolina. The McCrary concern already has a hydro-electric plant operating in the territory, serving 77 families. The company plans to add $3,000 to the federal loan. It is predicted that many customers in the vicinity of Otto, Macon County, will be using electricity by next summer.

REVEAL SET-UP FOR ROLL CALL

"The plan was no sooner mentioned than it was adopted with enthusiasm, and the organization reported today, consisting of these 14 principals, is complete in every particular.

"We must have an objective at which to direct our aim, and the amazing total of 1,115 has been accepted by the 13 chairmen in the county outside of Greenville. Greenville has not yet spoken, but it would not be surprising if the implied challenge was accepted, to give member for member to those from without, marching on together to a figure never before realized.

"And so we end where we began—do not forget November 15th—and join, join, join to make it a day long to be remembered in Pitt county."

Following is a list of the various local Roll Call chairmen:
James W. Webster, Bell Arthur; W. M. Jenkins, Ayden; Harold H. Deaton, Belvoir; Otto H. Boettcher, Dethel; Newman Lewis, Chocoma; James T. Lewis, Falkland; John H. Moore, Farmville; John Guy, Fountain; Henry C. Oglesby, Grifton; V. M. Muholland, Greenville; John P. McBryde, Grimsland; Rufus H. Forrest, Pactolus; Gabriel P. Carr, Stokes; Claude D. Ward, Winterville.

STUDY-OR-PAY PLAN PROPOSED BY TEACHER

Pittsburgh (AP)—Lazy students who fail to complete high school within four years should be charged tuition for additional instruction, in the opinion of Myrtle E. Wylie, Allegheny high school teacher. Such an arrangement, she estimates, would save $140,000 annually to teachers in Pittsburgh alone.

306 Eggs For One Hen
Fort Atkinson, Wis. (AP)—A white leghorn hen owned by the Mueller-Cory Hatchery, under state supervision, produced a total of 306 eggs in a first year record. The eggs average nearly 20 ounces per dozen. The hen weighs four and a half pounds, and during the year laid eggs weighing more than ten times her body weight. Only 12 Wisconsin hens have laid more than 300 eggs in a year.

Issue Eighty-Five Permits to Marry During One Month

Total for October Far Ahead of Both September and August; 16 Licenses Issued Last Week

October proved a good month for Dan Cupid, 85 marriage licenses having been issued as compared with 57 in September and 40 in August.

Sixteen permits to wed were issued last week, nine going to white couples and seven to colored.

White couples issued license to marry during the week were:

W. D. Baker and Wilmond Gibbs both of Greenville; Dallas Stokes and Ethel Woolard, both of Greenville; William Kitchin McDowell of Scotland Neck, and Frances Morton of Greenville; Johnnie J. McCoy and Martha C. Wiggins, both of Lenoir county; J. W. Wilson of Winterville, and Mary Barnes of Greenville; Jesse McCoy Body and Mary Ethel Dixon, both of Chocoma; Charles V. Graham of Greenville, and Mary Louise Clark of Bridgeport; J. W. Leggett of Lenoir county, and Evelyn K. Martin of Greenville; Rudolph Manning and Inez Cox, both of Ayden.

Colored couples, James Hines and Martha Williams, both of Farmville; Charlie Williams and Mary Joyner, both of Farmville; James Kelly and Mary Taylor, both of Lenoir county; David H. Tucker and Martha Short, both of Greenville; Oliver King and Bessie Reaves both of Greenville; LeRoy Jackson and Sarah Holmes, both of Greenville; James Bennett and Leona Morris.

Colored News

The Negro county agent left Monday for Raleigh to attend Negro agents' recreation and planning week. He will return November 6th.

The 4-H club of Simpson had an old-time corn shucking. The corn was raised on the 4-H club plot. The 4-H club parents were invited and songs were sung by the leader, Prof. G. W. Whitfield. Had one chance to pass by they would have thought an old-fashioned corn husking was in progress.

A new 4-H club was set up in the Farmville high school October 29. The children were very anxious to become 4-H club members and much interest was shown in the re-organization of the club. So anxious are the 4-H club members of Ayden to have gardens that many of them plant in their back yards. Since harvest time is drawing to a close the farmers should look back and say well done. But during the time of plenty let us not forget the rainy day.

DRAGONS ARE FOOLED BY CAMOUFLAGED FOOD

Philadelphia, (AP)—Officials at the zoo have asked public cooperation in fooling a pair of dragons by contributions of half-shells left over from breakfast eggs.

The dragons, recently arrived from the Dutch East Indies, prefer two or three dozen eggs a meal and won't eat the hamburger offered on the zoo menu. Dietary strategists discovered that hamburger camouflaged in egg shells was devoured with relish.
