STOCK MARKET DANGERS CITED BY PRESIDENT

Warns People Against Engaging in Stock Speculation

COAL COMMISS'N MEETS WITH FDR

To Analyze Two-year Old Social Security For Recommended Changes

Washington, Nov. 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today the more dangerous stock market speculation becomes the less people ought to go in for it.

The President made his comment on stock market activities when asked at a press conference if he planned to take any steps to make stock speculation less dangerous.

He said there were two ways of looking at it—the more dangerous it is the less people ought to indulge in speculation.

He added if it were not dangerous everybody would make money. Asked if he considered the market dangerous, the President said that question did not make sense.

Meanwhile the seven members of the bituminous coal commission discussed their differences with the President at a lengthy luncheon conference during the day. The commission has been split into two factions over policies and personnel appointments.

When they came out of the White House the commissioners declined to talk to newspapermen. They said any statement would have to come from the President.

Clares Hosford, Jr., chairman, who announced Wednesday he would resign after the commission had completed fixing minimum prices for bituminous coal some time in December, did tell reporters, however, his resignation dated November 1 was still before the President.

Other developments: Twenty-four persons began an analysis of the two-year-old social security law.

Their purpose was to recommend changes if any seem advisable, to perfect the largest tax plan and the most sweeping insurance system yet projected by the American government.

Thirty-four million wage earners have a stake in these deliberations.

Phone Companies Choose Officials

Wilson, Nov. 5.—(AP)—W. C. Darrow of Tarboro, was re-elected president of the North Carolina Independent Telephone Companies Association for the next year at the annual state convention of the organization closed here this afternoon.

J. E. Blide of Elizabeth City, was named vice-president, and E. H. Dunner of Durham, was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

L. O. Dennmore of Charlotteville, Va., John Morris of Roxboro, and T. A. Tilden of High Point, were elected directors of the association.

The 1938 convention will be held in the western part of the state, at a place to be designated later.

Officers elected today will take office on January 1.

Still Destroyed By Pitt ABC Officers

J. M. Ward and J. L. Taylor, Pitt county ABC law enforcement officers, yesterday added another illicit distillery to the long list of destroyed plants during the past several weeks.

The officers located and destroyed a steam plant, 1,200 gallons of new beer and 12 gallons of whiskey. The still was situated in the Alpine woods in Belvoir township. It was in operation when the officers reached it, but two young white men attending the plant made their get-away.

Complete Canvass for New City Directory

C. W. Miller, representative of the Southern Directory company, which firm is printing a new city directory for Greenville, announced this morning that the canvass will be completed today and the publication ready for distribution about December 20.

Mr. Miller declared that any individual or firm who has not been called upon and who wishes to make changes, can have this done by calling the Chamber of Commerce offices in the postoffice building at once.

Twisted, smoking debris such as shown here was just about all that remained of Shanghai's Chapei section when the hard-fighting Chinese finally surrendered it to the Japanese. The Chinese were reported strengthening new positions despite current rumors that they might abandon the entire Shanghai front.

Minister Declares Aim To Seek Reinstatement

VOTE TO GRANT TAX DISCOUNT

One Percent To Be Allowed During Present Month

The Board of Aldermen, in regular meeting last night, voted to grant a one per cent discount on city taxes paid during the month of November.

Only one-half of one per cent is allowed during this month, but because of the delay in getting the printing completed this year, it was decided to extend the one per cent discount period through this month.

During December and January the flat rate will be charged with a one-half of one per cent penalty to be added monthly beginning February 1.

No action was taken on any important matters at last night's meeting, although several were discussed.

Renewal of the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph franchise, which has been up for discussion at practically every meeting for the past several months, was taken up briefly, but no definite action was taken.

Mayor M. K. Blount read a letter from Langley Field officials in regard to the establishment of an airport here, but no action was taken with the exception of continuing the local committee on the project.

Wahoo To You—Just 'Eim' To The Creeks

Jacksonville, Fla.—(AP)—The next time you feel frisky and want to shout "wahoo," try "eim tree" instead.

That's what the word, a corruption of "Uwau" meant in the original Creek Indian dialect from which it was taken.

This and other explanations of Indian and Eskimo names are to be found in recent books and U. S. Geological survey publications.

Adequate Marriage Laws Needed To Check Diseases

Raleigh, Nov. 5.—North Carolina's lack of adequate marriage law, the importance of such a law, and the declaration that an effort will be made to have one enacted by the next general assembly, was a vital part of the state's war on venereal diseases, as emphasized in a statement by Mrs. J. Henry Highsmith, assistant director of health education, State Board of Health.

Mrs. Highsmith says: "North Carolina has practically no laws for safeguarding marriage and the beginning of the home. On the statute books are two laws, neither of which are operative today, in the effort to enforce it. This is the opinion of one registered nurse who says that the present marriage law which requires the male applicant for a marriage license to sign an affidavit saying that he has no active tuberculosis or a venereal disease, and has not

UNITED LABOR FRONT ADVISED BY ROOSEVELT

President Favors Reunion of A. F. of L. and C. I. O.

WARRING UNIONS RESUME SESSION

Observers Interested In Ending Two-Year Dispute See Hopeful Signs

Washington, Nov. 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt told a press conference today he had always favored re-union of the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The President gave his comment in reply to the final question put at his first press interview after returning to Washington from a 12-day stay at Hyde Park. His first statement came a few hours before peace committees of the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. were to resume their session.

The President was asked if he favored action to bring the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. together. He replied he always had advocated that.

Asked if the administration had been taking an active part in trying to get the warring labor factions together, he replied not, that he knew of.

Asked next if Matthew Woll, A. F. of L. delegate to the peace conference, would call on him soon, the President said he would. He said the engagement had been planned for some time.

The labor conference meanwhile struck at the fundamental issue between A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. by agreeing to discuss which industry should have broad industrial union.

Observers interested in ending the two-year dispute between the two factions of organized labor called the decision a hopeful sign. Negotiators for both sides indicated for the first time there had been some actual progress.

United States exports of chemicals and related products were valued at $122,000,000 during the first eight months of this year, double the value of 1933 shipments.

FIRMS ENROLL IN RED CROSS

Send in Membership Fees for Each Of Employees

J. Nat Harrison, Pitt county chairman for the annual Red Cross Roll Call, revealed today that he had received letters from two Greenville business firms containing checks for 100 per cent enrollment of their employees.

Chairman Harrison declared the letters were voluntary and the memberships had not been solicited. He also added that the names of the two firms, the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company and Webb's Warehouse, were being printed without the knowledge of the two.

The 1937 Roll Call will be held Monday, November 15, and Chairman Harrison declared that he hoped to clean up the drive for new members in one day. The chairman had mapped his plans in detail and was absent considerable time on the Roll Call since he was selected as chairman.

John Hill Paylor of Farmville, has been selected as vice-chairman and also is aiding in making final preparations for the drive. Various local chairmen has been announced.

Hitler May Settle Strife; Brussels Reports Progress

FAIL TO DRAFT PEACE APPEAL

Despite Declaration By British Delegate at Conference That "Hopeful Progress" Made, Conferees Hit Snag in Wording of Peace Appeal To Be Sent to Japan

Brussels, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Conferees on the Chinese-Japanese conflict failed today to reach an agreement on the wording of a peace appeal to be sent to Japan. They adjourned until tomorrow.

The conferees decided not to appoint a contemplated committee of conciliation until they obtain from Japan an answer on the projected peace appeal. Preliminary discussion of the membership of this committee of conciliation had led to controversial debate.

Delegations to the conference, which is seeking amicable settlement of the Chinese-Japanese conflict on the basis of the nine-power treaty were preparing written amendments this afternoon to the draft of the peace appeal submitted by the Belgian foreign minister, Paul Spaak.

Tomorrow conferees hope to reach an agreement on the final text, British delegates said "hopeful progress" was made today.

The Chinese delegation objected to omission of China's complaint against Japan, in the present draft, which includes reference to Japan's complaints against China.

Spaak's draft, submitted to the conference today, emphasized the Brussels conference, under the nine-power pact to protect China, was not a child of the League of Nations as shown by the presence of a United States delegation.

The proposed communication pointed out Japan, a nine-power pact signatory, which refused to come to Brussels, had left the door open for the friendly offices of powers with interests in the Far East.

LEAF AVERAGE NOW AT $26.63

More Than $15,000,000 Already Paid Out By Market

At the close of sales for the week ended yesterday, the Greenville tobacco market had established a general season's average of $26.63 per hundred pounds.

The market continues to maintain an average of more than a million pounds a day. During the five sales days a total of 57,359,888 pounds of the leaf has been sold on the floors of the 10 Greenville warehouses. Farmers were paid a total of $15,274,067.66 for their offerings on the local market. Only twice in the history of the market has as much as $15,000,000 been paid out here during an entire year, in 1919, when $15,867,518.83 was paid out, and in 1934, when $16,077,692.78 was paid farmers.

Up to this date last year $0,792,180 pounds of the golden weed had been sold for 9,924,320.73, an average of $24.33.

During the five days ended yesterday 4,049,200 pounds of tobacco were sold for $1,082,131.93, an official average of $26.73 per hundred pounds. During the corresponding

Japs Score Major Victory On Creek

Shanghai, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Japanese troops in a surprise attack today drove Chinese defenders from four villages on the south bank of Soochow Creek.

This action, the first decisive engagement in the Shanghai fighting since Chinese troops evacuated Unapei last week, enabled the Japanese to move 3,000 men across the creek on a line two miles west of Rubicon village.

The Japanese attack, according to a Chinese spokesman, who admitted the set-back, occurred while Chinese troops were busy fighting off smaller Japanese units which previously had affected a crossing at Rubicon village about three miles west of Shanghai.

Heavy rains greatly curtailed Japanese air bombardments. One Japanese bomber crashed near Shanghai and another was shot down at Chengchow, on the Hangchow-Peiping railway.

Chinese officials said half of a Japanese force of 100 men tried to land on Hangchow bay and attack from the rear the Chinese troops entrenched in Pootung, were cut down by machine gun fire.

Japanese forces opened the 13th week of the Shanghai warfare with an offensive designed to drive Chinese south of their new defense lines along Soochow Creek.

The Japanese objective apparently was the Hungjao airbase three miles southwest of Rubicon village.

WOULD SERVE AS MEDIATOR

Preliminary Informal Requests From Both Japan and China to Intervene in Far Eastern Crisis Considered Bonafide Enough For Germany to Proceed

Berlin, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Germany fully expected today to steal a march on the Brussels conference, which she declined to attend, and settle the Chinese-Japanese war herself.

Preliminary informal requests from both China and Japan for Chancellor Hitler to act as umpire in their four-months-old conflict, were regarded by Germany as so bonafide that Hitler, according to a source close to the chancellery, ordered Diplomat Joachim von Ribbentrop to return post-haste from Rome to undertake preliminary negotiations.

German sources conceded considerable time might yet elapse before an official announcement of Hitler's role could be made.

They also admitted the fortunes of war might so turn that plans for mediation would have to be postponed.

But they were fully convinced if anyone could settle the Far Eastern difficulties as an impartial outsider, it was Germany.

Tokyo, Nov. 5.—(AP)—A Japanese foreign office source declared today Japan was "unable to accept any mediation whatsoever" in her conflict with China.

He made the statement when asked to comment on reports from Berlin that Chancellor Hitler had been asked to act as mediator in the hostilities. Despite his assertion that he learned Japanese and German diplomats recently had conferred with each other.

"Japan does not recede from her original contention that peace is possible only through direct negotiations between Japan and China, and then only if China changes her attitude," the source said.

William Tyson, 60, Claimed By Death

William Tyson, 60-year-old unmarried farmer of Greenville R. F. D. No. 4, died in the Pitt General hospital at 8:10 o'clock last night following a stroke of apoplexy suffered Monday night.

Funeral services were conducted at the Sylvant family burial ground between Maury and Hookerton in Greene county at three o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Tyson was a native of Greene county, but had made his home in Pitt county for a number of years. He made his home with one of his two surviving brothers, Charlie T. Tyson, for a number of years. His other brother is Sam Tyson of Greene county.

Several Boy Scouts Get Higher Ranking

Several Boy Scouts were advanced at the Board of Review held yesterday in connection with the Scout Leaders' training course.

Ed Rawl scored pathfinding, personal health and public health. Edgar Denton advanced in pathfinding, public health and personal health; Heber Adams in pioneering, Charley Worthington, of Stokes, passed two merit badges. Egon Tapper completed a part of the first class test.

This completes the Star Scout rank for Ed Rawl and Edgar Denton, leaving only two more steps to go before attaining the rank of Eagle Scout.

New Officers Elected To Direct Scouting

The Greenville District Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America met in the Guaranty Bank building at 5 o'clock yesterday. The following 12 new officers were elected for 1938:

D. E. L. Henderson, chairman; Dr. J. Whitehead, Jr., vice-chairman; Johnny Overton, treasurer.

Each man present, as chairman of a certain phase of Scouting, gave detailed reports of what the Scouts in Pitt county are doing, and the progress that is being made.

Both Chaucer and Villon wrote ballads requesting financial assistance from their patrons.

Tomorrow Is The Last Day

The Reflector's special offer of a full year's subscription to the paper for $3.50 will close on Saturday of this week, after which time no subscription will be accepted below the regular price of $5.00 per year.

Many subscribers, including many new ones, have taken advantage of the special offer, but there are many more who must act quickly if they want to benefit by the $1.50 saving.

After Saturday there will be no further reduced prices on the paper, for in view of the steadily increasing cost of producing the newspaper there will be no repetition of this offer. It is our desire for as many of our subscribers as possible to benefit by this generous price reduction, but after this week it will be too late to do so.

The offer is open for both new and renewal subscriptions.

To Complete Liquidation Of All N. C. Defunct Banks

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Nov. 5.—The State Banking Department will complete liquidation of all defunct state banks before the end of the year. That is, to all practical intents and purposes, though there may be a few tags left to tie up.

As matters stand there are only three institutions about which the banking department can do much except wait for court decisions on litigated items concerning five or six banks still unliquidated.

The three banks from which depositors may yet expect substantial dividends—substantial being used in the sense of from five per cent up—are North Carolina Bank and Trust Company, which has already paid 55 per cent; Page Trust Company, which has paid 30 per cent; and Bank of Duplin, Wallace, which has paid five per cent.

The other five banks, each of which has just one item of assets in litigation, are Bank of Stokes, Walnut Grove; Bank of Summerfield; Savings Bank and Trust Company, Elizabeth City; Bank of Vanceboro; and Farmers Bank and Trust Company, LaGrange.

Gurney P. Hood, commissioner of banks, said that these items are not very large and that no substantial dividends will be paid out even if all litigation is successfully completed. There are still substantial assets in hand, or in suit, in the case of the N. C. Bank and Trust Company, Page and the Duplin banks, he said.

Since 1927 the banking department has handled the liquidation of 195 defunct banks, every one of which failed prior to 1933, since when there hasn't been a single state bank failure in North Carolina.

Party For College Girls.

Last night at 5:45 o'clock, Memorial Baptist Church entertained at a Gypsy party in honor of its college girls. Motifs, suggestive of the fall season were used very effectively in the decoration; marigolds, chrysanthemums, corn stalks and ivy decorated the hall. The piano was banked with ivy and had a centerpiece of chrysanthemums. Most of the guests wore Gypsy costumes.

Directly after arriving an address of welcome was given by Mr. Fleischmann. Then supper was served buffet style. The supper consisted of coffee, slaw, rolls, weiners and doughnuts.

After supper little Misses Hennie Ruth and Mary Andrews Wilchard sang "Brahms Lullaby" and "Old Folks at Home," both of which were very enjoyable.

At the conclusion of several contests Miss Louise Golphin added to the fun by telling fortunes. Group singing was enjoyed by all the girls. When the party was over the girls voted a rousing vote of thanks to the church and to the people who had worked so untrudgingly for their entertainment.

Study Class.

Charles Rogers Watson was born in Cairo, Egypt, the son of United Presbyterian missionaries. He was educated there and in the colleges of the United States, chose the ministry as his life work, served as pastor at home and in Moslem fields. When it was decided to establish an inter-denominational Christian university in Cairo, Dr. Watson was selected to be its president. He has had unusual opportunities for close acquaintance with Moslem scholars and leaders. Among the books written by Dr. Watson is "What Is This Moslem World?" This one is to be used as a text by the study class of the Missionary Society of Jarvis Memorial Church. The class meets for four successive days next week, November 9-12, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons at 3 o'clock.

The class will be directed by Miss Zane Anne Davis, educational director and student secretary of the church.

Anyone interested in this study is cordially invited to attend any or all of the class sessions.

To Speak Saturday.

Those who hear Miss Nora Beust, A. A. U. W. speaker at an open program to be given Saturday at 3:30 in the Woman's Club building, with all the clubs of the town, teachers from city and county systems, and all other people who are interested, as guests, will hear a woman of national reputation in the field of library work and children's books.

The speaker, whom everyone is invited to meet in a social hour from 3:00 to 3:30, is not only a person of attractive personality, but a woman who stands out in her chosen field.

Just last summer, the United States Government, in need of a specialist to help the new Library Service Division of the Federal Office of Education formulate plans for library training to be used to recruit librarians, borrowed Miss Beust for a six-weeks period.

In 1936 she directed a conference on children's reading for school and children's librarians California as a part of the meeting of the California Library Association.

She is a frequent contributor to periodicals of various types.

People who are interested in the exhibit of new children's books which the public library has borrowed from the State Library Commission for the week, but have not been able to see them at the library, will find them on display at this meeting Saturday afternoon.

The A. A. U. W. is invited to this meeting all who have an interest in children's reading.

Announcement Party.
Stokes, Nov. 5.—On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. L. H. Roberson delightfully entertained members of her bridge club and additional guests.

The living room and dining room were thrown en suite, and beautiful fall flowers were used. Three tables were arranged in the living room for bridge. Members found their places by attractive tables.

During the game toasted pecans, minis and punch were served.

After four progressions scores were added, and high went to Mrs. W. F. Stokes, low to Mrs. T. G. Basnight and guest prize to Mrs. L. P. Hall.

Members of the club were completely surprised when teachers of the Stokes school entered as the Wedding March was played by Mrs. Hall. These guests were invited into the dining room where special tables were prepared. Mrs. Jake Johnson's place was marked by a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Delicious refreshments consisting of individual butterscotch pie with cream, cheese straws, olive sandwiches, and coffee was served.

On each plate was a small white chrysanthemum tied with a yellow ribbon and a tiny slip of paper hidden in the flower bearing the announcement of Miss Dorothy Willard of Greenville, on October 3, 1937.

Members of the bridge club present were Mesdames T. G. Basnight, G. M. Britt, G. P. Carr, Charlie James and W. F. Stokes. Invited guests were Mesdames T. G. Basnight, Jr., James Bowers, J. W. James, Dorothy Roberson and Mrs. Z. E. Brinson and Mrs. L. P. Hall of Tarboro.

POST OFFICE RELAXES CHRISTMAS MAIL RULE

Washington, Nov. 4. — (AP) — Christmas stamps, seals and labels to aid charitable objects may not be attached to the address side of mail under postal regulations. Mail bearing such stamps must be sent to the dead letter office or returned to senders under the rule.

Harlee Branch, second assistant postmaster general, has just informed postmasters, however, that as an exceptional measure these rules are suspended from November 15 to January 15 this season if, through inadvertence, senders have affixed such stamps to the address side. In previous year much Christmas mail bearing the stamps on the address side has been held up.

Farmville, N. C., Minister Wishes To Help Others

Rev. J. B. Roberts, well-known religious leader, says: "Five years ago I was on crutches from rheumatism and a prominent tobacco warehouseman told me about RUMA-BAN. After taking two bottles I recovered. Now whenever I feel a rheumatic twinge coming on, I take a dose. Soon the pain is gone, and I never lose a day."

"I urge anyone with rheumatism or neuritis to try a bottle of RUMA-BAN for I know it will help you." RUMA-BAN is on sale at all drug stores.

The Characters

Nina impulsively married David and is trying to forget her intense love for her stepfather.

Richard, the charming, well-tailored stepfather, shamelessly talks of love to Nina.

Honey, Nina's gay, plump, youthful mother, is wild about Richard, her newly acquired husband.

David, a bright young auto salesman, adores Nina and strives to make her happy on his small salary.

Chapter 29

'Please Don't Call'

"... WELL, then, would you walk in the park for a while? Bring Dutton... all very respectable..."

Nina took the hand-phone away from her ear and looked at it, frowning as though it were a person; and then she smiled at it, and lifted it back.

"No, Richard... You know it's—No."

"Precious," his voice came over the wire, low and vibrant, and faintly teasing. "Precious, why are all your little emotions so very—complex?"

"They aren't—complex, Richard; and I think I have only one strong emotion these days..."

He said quickly: "Darling..."

But she said: "... to get over you."

He didn't answer immediately, so she went on: "And you're not being fair, not helping me calling up every day..."

"I beg my dear—always talk about me and my fighting against this... this thing; but how about you? Don't you want to—play fair?"

"No," he answered, deliberately. "Tr. sorry... No."

"Then my determination will have to be strong enough for both of us... Goodbye... and would you please not call again? Please?"

"Goodbye, then..."

What was there in his voice? Resignation? Anger? But she noticed that he made no promises, just the same.

Nina had been waiting, but now she went over and sat down in one of the little spring-back walnut chairs. She thought and thought.

Which Did She Want?

AN hour later, she was still sitting there... the duster still in her hand.

It began like this:

Her sudden, impulsive marriage had been a ghastly mistake. Nothing had been changed by it. Richard, and their love for each other, was still there—only now she had dragged David into the tangle, as well. Honey and David. There were two people to deceive... two people to hurt, now...

And where were they all heading? What did she—really—want? Should she go on with her travesty of marriage, her travesty of loyalty to her mother? Could she? Or would they some day find out, or worse still, suspect... so that her suffering would have been for nothing?

Or should she be brave, as Hester had been? Face the world, admit her love... marry Richard, go away with him, anything—but only if...

Which was right... but no, first of all, which did she want? But Nina's answer to that question was all mixed up with what Richard wanted. And yet, surely, she knew.

That first evening, the only time he had kissed her, he had said: "This is our hour..." and an hour must always end. He had meant it, too, then, she was sure. But on the stairs at Harmony, he had said: "You don't want this thing over between us any more than I... It needn't be..."

It had changed his mind. He then, too, must have realized the power of this love of theirs that was holding them together... in spite of other ties, or right or wrong, or—anything.

When they had all been standing about in the upper hall, at Harmony, the night of Hester's elopement... Richard had not joined in the general conversation, he had simply looked at her, and with his eyes he had said: "That might have been you and I... Nina," as plainly as though he had spoken.

It might have been.

But Nina shied away from the thought, as she had trained herself to do.

Instinctively, in these days since her marriage when Richard had been pursuing her—telephoning—begging her to meet him... instinctively she had been saying: "No."

Virtually: "I love you. I want you... but I mustn't. No. Please don't call."

"We can't stop it, any more than we can stop the sun from rising..."

Well, if they couldn't, they ought to face it honestly; and if they could, they should.

Nina thought: "We should talk it out, once, fully. Not in furtive little snatches. When he calls again, I will see him."

But she must have sounded unusually determined in their last conversation, because Richard did not call for several days. Nina saw her mother in the afternoons and made a sincere effort to stay away from the 74th St. house in the evenings—because she did not want another encounter with Richard that would be full of meaning looks, and hidden hand clasps, and a furtiveness that got them nowhere.

In this resolve she was abetted by David, who had no desire to see more of her stepfather than was absolutely necessary. He was fond of Honey, liked to find her there when he came home, and took a fatherly attitude towards her, and her fluttery fears for Nina's happiness, that amused all three of them.

Her remarks, that first night after her return from the South, had been a key to her subsequent behavior.

"Are you nice, young man? ... Is he good to you, Nina?" ... She had gone right on in that vein, ever since.

She told David that she had offered to increase her daughter's allowance, and that she thought he was mean and foolish not to accept a little help.

She had sat like a little, irate, china doll, on the blue day-bed and scolded him, but David had shaken his finger, and scolded right back at her.

She was the foolish one to think he would allow it. She was the meany to try and dazzle her daughter with dreams of wealth...

It ended up in a laugh and a cocktail.

Yes, Honey and David got on beautifully... but Richard and David... that was something else. David never said anything, but Nina knew how he felt.

Worry Over Honey

ONE day, on 53rd St., Nina ran into a very tired, cross, Carrie Van Alstyne.

"Thank heaven I met you, child," said Horseface, taking her arm. "Now we can go round to Long-champs for a sport... I've had a wretched afternoon, getting a permanent. She was propelling Nina, briskly, along the street. "Now why do you suppose I'm silly enough to submit to all that torture? Nothing could make me look decent, anyway!"

Nina was tired, too, and worried. Richard had not called her, and—aside from missing the sound of his voice—she wanted to get things cleared up between them.

After having revived her with two old-fashioned, Horseface then proceeded to upset her all over again.

"Have you noticed, Nina, that your mother has been behaving lately as though she didn't feel very well?"

"Take that attack she called 'grippe' right after she came back from the South with me... was that grippe, Nina?"

Nina looked her alarm.

"Why, Aunt Carrie... I don't know. I had no reason to think it was anything else. Oh, dear, now I'm worried."

"Well, she told me she had a cold, and stayed in bed a couple of times on our trip, when I couldn't detect so much as a sniffle."

"Aunt Carrie, I'm going to call up Dr. Fellows this evening."

"Why don't you, child? We should both feel better. Let me know what he says, will you?"

But Nina's talk with the doctor was not wholly reassuring.

"Well, I'll tell you, Nina—he had been their family physician for a great many years—'your mother isn't actually sick... but I find her pretty exhausted, nervously.'"

"Oh—you've seen her just lately?" Honey hadn't mentioned it.

"Yes, yesterday, as a matter of fact. Her trip with Mrs. Van Alstyne didn't seem to do her as much good as I had hoped it would. Frankly, child, your mother has been living under a good deal of excitement the last few months... used up a lot of nervous energy, what with her new marriage... and yours, Nina... I've been thinking of that Mediterranean cruise she usually takes in the spring. Do you think you could persuade her to go on an earlier one this year? A long restful ocean voyage would be just the thing for her."

Nina's heart did a quick backflip.

A long ocean voyage—with Richard! Soon! How much good that might accomplish right now, aside from restoring Honey's health...

She said: "Well, here's the thing, Dr. Fellows. I think she would be persuaded all right, but I don't think I'm the one to do it..."

If it came as an order from the doctor, Richard would have no choice but to urge Honey to follow his instructions. If he thought it was her—Nina's—idea, he might...

Small Increase in Production Makes Big Difference

Raleigh, Nov. 4.—A small increase in crop yields can make a big difference in farm income, said R. E. L. Greene, assistant agricultural economist at the North Carolina experiment station.

In a study of 36 farms in Wilson County, he said, it was found that on farms where crop yields were 15 per cent above average, income was 57 per cent above average.

And on farms where yields were 15 per cent below the average, income was 72 per cent below the average, he continued.

This meant a difference of $1-362 a year between the average labor incomes of the farmers with the higher yields and those with the lower yields.

Greene attributed the big difference to the fact that crop production costs tend to remain about the same, and for a reasonable increase in yield, costs do not increase near as much as the extra products are worth.

The first step in getting high yields, he went on, is to buy or rent good land. It's cheaper to buy fertility in the land than in a 200-pound bag.

Improve drainage where needed, check erosion and conserve the soil where necessary, he continued, and plant only the better varieties of seed.

Maintain and increase the organic content of the soil through crop rotations and applications of manure. Apply fertilizer suited to the needs of the crop and of the soil.

Believe Presidential Bee Has Stung Senator Bailey

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, Nov. 4.—North Carolina's senior Senator, Josiah William Bailey, is giving a splendid imitation (if indeed it isn't the real thing) of a politician stung by the Presidential bee.

From up cold New England way come daily reports of what our solon is telling this, that and the other gathering and if he isn't doing all that talking to further what he thinks are his chances of being struck by presidential lightning, it's difficult to figure out what he does have in mind.

His theme song is opposition to President Roosevelt's agricultural policies and President Roosevelt's court plan and President Roosevelt's quest for what the senator conceives to be "absolute control."

It isn't the same song he sings when at home in North Carolina. Here he writes letters to the papers vigorously protesting against being classed as an opponent of the President.

During the last session of Congress when Bailey was one of the leaders in the fight against President Roosevelt's court plan, the North Carolinian was more than once spoken of as a possible presidential candidate in 1940. Republicans have been using his congressional speeches of the past trio of years as texts for the most virulent attacks on President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

In 1936, at the same time that he was endorsing President Roosevelt for reelection, G.O.P. speakers were using his words from hundreds of hustings. At the same time he was reasserting his loyalty to the Democratic party, opponents of the Democratic party were quoting him copiously in the campaign literature with which they hoped (vainly, the event proved) would defeat the Democratic party.

Group meetings were held at the following places this week: Monday, the Cherry Lane group met at Paeolus; Tuesday, Greenville; Wednesday, Farmville; Thursday, Winterville.

The subject discussed at each of these meetings was "Supervised Play and the School Lunch." In each group plans were made to meet with the parents next month. A

Winter Weather Bad On Farm Machinery

Raleigh, Nov. 4.—The wear and tear on farm machinery from summer's work isn't half so bad as the damage that winter weather can do to an idle machine left outside.

Properly cared for, oiled, and kept in repair, farm machinery can be used for years, said David S. Weaver, head of the agricultural engineering department at State College.

But exposure to the weather thru one winter can do more damage than many seasons of useful work.

He urged all farmers to see that their machinery is housed where it will be protected from rain, snow and dirt.

IS LOVELY LADY REAL, LIVING MERMAID?

"Sea-Tiny," pictured above, one of the feature attractions with the Mammoth Marine Hippodrome, that will exhibit here for one day only, Wednesday, November 10. This young lady is usually the center of interest aboard the exhibition car; in fact, has been known to "steal the show" from "Colossus," the 68-ton sea monster, also featured.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Nov. 5.—There is much speculation here about Governor Hoyer's action on the petition for pardon or commutation of sentence to be filed for Representative R. E. Sentelle, as a result of the refusal of the Supreme court to give a new trial to the Brunswick county legislator who was convicted in Montgomery county of driving while drunk.

The unusual severity of the sentence (30 days in jail and a fine of $225 in addition to the mandatory year's revocation of driver's license) leads many to feel that the governor will at least commute the jail term despite the fact that he will well know that a howl of "favoritism" will go up in many quarters.

While on the subject of the Supreme Court it might not be amiss to point out that Superior court judges didn't fare well in the batch of opinions handed down Wednesday afternoon.

The court decided 43 cases and the score was 22 reversals or new trials to 21 affirmed or "no error" cases.

Still on the court, no capital cases were included in the opinions handed down, although several have been argued.

Next week's calendar contains one capital case, that of Hudson Robinson, Charlotte Negro, convicted of killing a beer parlor proprietor in a row over the breaking of a show case.

North Carolina's 57,787 miles of highway represented an investment of $269,738,572 on July 1, 1935, according to "Man and the Motor Car" safety textbook which has been distributed to the state's schools by the Division of Highway Safety in cooperation with the State Department of Public Instruction.

Commissioner of Agriculture W. Kerr Scott admits, or rather he boasts, of being a "country boy," but he was among the very few State Department heads who was not taken in by Jack White "North Carolina Book" swindle. Despite use of high pressure tactics by White, tactics which netted something like $3,000 from supposedly canny state officials and hard-headed lawyers, Mr. Scott refused to be stampeded into paying anything for having his name and picture in the White book. And he wouldn't let White solicit D. of A. subordinates.

As a result there are no red faces in Mr. Scott's department.

Add synonyms for painting the lily or carrying coals to New Castle: Bluing the ocean.

Folks around the "Banks" have been greatly amazed at Department of Conservation and Development men who have been pouring bottles of bluing into the sea, but as in the case of a well known non-caffeine hot drink "There's a reason." By making little blue spots on the water, experts can find the velocity and direction of ocean currents.

While Sea-Tiny is at home in the water, and can travel about therein with much ease, when out of the water she remains a prisoner within herself, being unable to move about without assistance.

People who have visited the exhibition have come away thinking that perhaps there might be something to the legendary idea that "mermaids" really did exist. The exhibit has many other features, including living penguins from the Byrd's South Pole ship; "Frieda," known as "the little ray of sunshine," giant devil fish; 40 species of deep sea life; and dozens of other equally interesting displays. The exhibit, on a specially constructed railroad car, will be placed on a siding near the Norfolk & Southern Depot immediately on arrival in Greenville, and will be open to the public from noon until 10 p. m. Admissions ten cents.

Dentistry Expert To Speak In City

Chapel Hill, Nov. 4.—Dr. Albert John Irving, of New York, a well-known authority on restorative dentistry, will present the third lecture of a series in post-graduate dentistry that are being given in North Carolina towns under the auspices of the North Carolina Dental Society and the University Extension Division.

Dr. Irving's lecture, which will be on the subject of "Inlays," will be given in eight towns of the State between November 15 and 23.

The schedule for his itinerary include: November 22, Greenville, Greenville Country Club, dinner at 6:30.

Dr. Irving is a graduate of the University of Michigan School of Dentistry, and was at one time Associate Professor of Crown and Bridge-work at that institution. He was senior associate of the late Dr. William D. Tracy in New York City.

First Of Month Time To Sow Winter Crops

Raleigh, Nov. 4.—The first 10 days of November are a good time to sow wheat and winter oats in the coastal plain section of North Carolina.

State College extension specialists recommend sowing wheat at the rate of six pecks per acre, and two and a half bushels of oats to the acre, when the seed is broadcast.

When drills are used, less seed will be needed to produce a thick, even stand.

BAPTISTS WON 1ST DUKE GAME

Wake Forest Handed Devils Set-Back In 1889

Durham, Nov. 4.—With football teams of Duke and Wake Forest coming up for their 20th meeting in Duke Stadium Saturday, the historians have gone into their record books and found that the Deacons of 1889 handed Duke its first football defeat.

It was a game played in the spring of 1889 (football had started in North Carolina in the fall of 1888 with the North Carolina-Wake Forest and Duke-North Carolina games) and the boys like it so much they kept right on playing it the year around.

Duke had met and defeated North Carolina in the fall of 1888 by a 16-0 score. That was the only game the Tynity boys played that fall. In their first game of the spring of 1889, Duke defeated Carolina 25-17.

Between their game with the Tar Heels and their game with the Deacons, North Carolina had met and defeated Wake Forest right handily and that brought about the first case of overconfidence ever suffered by a Duke team.

The result was that Wake Forest handed the Duke boys a sound and thorough thrashing by 32-0—and it was the first defeat a Duke football team had ever suffered.

In the fall of 1889, Duke won by 8-4 and in 1893 took off a 12-6 victory. Then football was banned at Duke and was not resumed until 1920. Wake Forest and Duke met for the first time in modern history in 1921.

Those old games were of great interest in the state because it was "Methodists vs. Baptists" and this tradition carried through those 20-odd years of no relations in football and took up again in 1921.

Duke resumed relations by winning two in a row, 17-0 in 1921 and 3-0 in 1922. Then Wake Forest took 4 straight—the only time they have been able to win since football was resumed—by scores of 16-6, 32-0, 21-3 and 21-0.

That carried the series through 1926. In 1927, 1928 and 1929, Duke won by scores of 32-6, 38-0 and 30-0.

In 1930 when Jimmy D. Hart's last Duke team was having its great campaign, the Blue Devils went to Wake Forest to take them over and wound up with a 13-13 tie on the books.

Tar Heel-Wildcats Primed For Hard Battle Saturday

Chapel Hill, Nov. 5.—North Carolina's football squad, 34 strong, was to leave late this afternoon for Statesville where it will camp tonight preparatory to its 34th meeting with Davidson on Richardson Field Saturday. The squad will arrive in Davidson around noon tomorrow.

The feature of the Wildcats' Homecoming Day program, the contest will start at 2:30 o'clock. The Tar Heels completed drills here this afternoon and were pronounced by Trainer Chuck Quinlan in good shape.

On the basis of comparative scores, North Carolina will be favored, but history shows that scores mean little when these teams lock horns in battle. The Wildcats almost always play their best game of the season against Carolina. The outstanding North Carolina teams have always had trouble defeating the scrapping Wildcats.

From a psychological aspect the advantage is Davidson's. The Wildcats, vastly improved since the start of the season, will be playing before an expected capacity Homecoming Day crowd and will be doing its utmost to win. North Carolina has won 25 of the games, lost four and tied four.

The contest will probably develop into a spirited duel with Teeney Lafferty and Bill Davis of the Wildcats doing the pitching against Crowell Little and Tom Burnette of the Tar Heels.

Lafferty, a triple-threat field general and one of the nation's finest backs, is the key man in the Wildcat offense. He is Davidson's leading scorer this season with 18 points and has amassed over 200 yards on running. Lafferty has been out a good part of this season due to injuries, but is expected to be ready to go against the Tar Heels.

Davis, senior reserve halfback, had a big day in upsetting Furman Saturday. He's slated to see considerable action. Bob McClellan, Fred Dennis, and Bill Bolin are other fine backfield performers.

Little, triple-threat and leading Tar Heel point getter with 30 points, heads the Tar Heels versatile backfield of Burnette, punting and placekicking star; George Watson, outstanding blocker and broken field runner; and Art Ditt, battering ram fullback.

Handy Andy Bershak, finest end ever produced in Tar Heels, is North Carolina's outstanding candidate for All-America honors. Bershak is the chief pillar of strength in North Carolina's strong forward wall averaging 189 pounds. Steve Marone and Henry Bartos, veteran tackles, are other standouts.

Captain Bailey Williams and Ned Iverson, brilliant pass snagging ends; and Dave Warden, husky 190 pound tackle, are the bulwarks of Davidson's scrapping line averaging 185 pounds.

North Carolina will considerably outweigh Davidson but this advantage will probably be offset by the Wildcats' speed.

The Citadel squad arrived here this afternoon and planned to take a final workout late this afternoon in Riddick Stadium. The game tomorrow is booked as the feature conference game of the week and a large crowd is expected.

STATE TO PLAY CITADEL TEAM

Plenty of Color Promised For Saturday Afternoon

Raleigh, Nov. 5.—Eddie Berlinski vs. Kookie Robinson and Louie Mark vs. Andy Sabados is a pure promise of a colorful grid game when State College and The Citadel meet here Saturday afternoon in State's Riddick Stadium in a Southern Conference feature.

The kick-off is at 2:30.

State's Berlinski is heralded as one of the greatest backs of the season. His magnificent game against Boston College last Saturday when he scored all of State's points in its 12-7 win over Boston, was one of the best in the nation.

Berlinski will give Citadel plenty to worry about. The senior is right this fall. He is the most elusive runner in the South and the best in State's history. On his 72 yard run for touchdown against Boston, he left would-be tacklers strewn all along the way where they had dived at him only to tackle an arm full of air.

The "Little Buzzer" is in perfect shape. He will be hard to stop. Besides his natural ability, he has a remarkable competitive spirit. Berlinski loves the game.

Kookie Robinson is the backfield ace of The Citadel. He tips the scales at 134 pounds, but is the triple threat star of his team. He hopes tomorrow to match the speed, elusiveness and all round brilliant play of Berlinski.

Louie Mark is another in a long series of excellent State College centers. He has not been outplayed this year and is considered one of the most courageous players in the country. Because of a jaw broken in five places and a broken nose, he has to wear specially constructed headgear that is troublesome.

Mark may meet his match in Andy Sabados, the Citadel center. He is said to be the most powerful lineman in South Carolina and outweighs Mark 202 pounds to 178. It is doubtful, however, if Sabados will be able to match Mark's speed.

and spirit. Mark is a battle, from the start.

The Citadel squad arrived here this afternoon and planned to take a final workout late this afternoon in Riddick Stadium. The game tomorrow is booked as the feature conference game of the week and a large crowd is expected.

ECTC TO MEET HIGH POINTERS

Strengthened Teacher Eleven to Take Field Here

Coach Joe D. Alexander's Pirate footballers meet High Point College in the final home game of the season on college field Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in what promises to be a thriller.

The Pirates are determined to get into the win column and have a nice defense perfected and are showing considerable progress in offense. Bill Shelton's running, passing and kicking in the tough William and Mary game proved to the most skeptical that he really has something.

The presence of Fran Ferebee in the line-up will add materially to the Pirate strength. In the line Primmy Carpenter, guard; Ken Qurnell and Kelly Martin, tackles; and Felix Cecot, center, look good. Bill Dudash, quarterback, has recovered from a painful leg injury and will handle the signal post. The remaining halfback position will be played by either "Punch" Farley or "Indian Pete" Beck.

Coach Versil Yow of High Point, is bringing a squad of thirty men and has a well balanced team of experienced players. In Ruidisill, he has one of the best broken field runners in the state. Ruidisill is well known in Greenville, having played baseball here last year and year before last.

DUKE TO FACE EASTERN FOE

To Meet Pitt, Colgate And Syracuse Next Year

Durham, Nov. 5.—Duke university's turn to eastern football to get its gridiron rivals, which started with the scheduling of Colgate in 1936, took a step forward with Colgate and Pittsburgh on the 1937 card, reaches its climax next year when Syracuse will be added to the games with Colgate and Pitt.

The tough nine game card was announced yesterday by Director of Athletics Wallace Wade.

There will be four home games. Davidson comes to the stadium on October 1, Georgia Tech's Golden Tornado will be met in the Homecoming day special here on October 15, N. C. State will come here on November 19 and Pittsburgh on November 26.

Duke's invasion of New York

A feature of the card will be the return to Duke Stadium of Pitt's Panthers. Pitt will be met here November 27 and will have the corresponding date for 1938.

Syracuse replaces Tennessee on the slate. Washington and Lee will not be met and the annual clash with North Carolina is moved from the second week in November to the last week in October for the only changes from this year's layout.

The Blue Devils are slated to make two invasions of New York State, the Colgate game being scheduled for New York City on October 8 and the Syracuse game for Syracuse on November 12.

City for the game with Colgate will mark the first time they have played there since 1926 when the Blue Devils met and were defeated by Columbia.

The card will be opened by a night Southern conference game with V.P.I. at Greensboro.

The 1938 schedule:

Sept. 24—V. P. I. at Greensboro (night).

Oct. 1—Davidson at Durham.

Oct. 3—Colgate at New York City.

Oct. 15—Georgia Tech at Durham (Homecoming).

Oct. 22—Wake Forest at Wake Forest.

Oct. 29—North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Nov. 12—Syracuse at Syracuse, N. Y.

Nov. 19—N. C. State at Durham.

Nov. 26—Pittsburgh at Durham.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PARDON

NOTICE is hereby given that I intend to apply to Honorable Edwin Gill, Parole Commissioner, for pardon or parole from a sentence imposed by the Recorders Court at Ayden, North Carolina, for breaking out of jail. Any person desiring to oppose my application can submit the same to Mr. Gill.

This the 21st day of Oct., 1937.

adequate marriage laws needed to check diseases

50,000 other babies were born syphilitic but died in infancy or early childhood.

When it is known that children inherit blindness, feeble-mindedness, insanity, susceptibility to disease and premature death from syphilitic parents, and when it is further known that 90 per cent of these tragedies could be prevented through an enforced law requiring a Wassermann test of both man and woman before marriage and another law requiring the proper treatment of expectant mothers showing a positive blood test, does it not seem that public opinion would demand this protection for innocent, helpless childhood?

Fortunately, there is a growing sentiment today in behalf of these measures. A poll conducted recently by the American Institute of Public Opinion found that 92 per cent of those voting on the question, whether or not there should be pre-marital Wassermann tests, were in favor. Of all the votes cast in the Southern states, 94 per cent were favorable.

In connection with the campaign being waged against syphilis a number of states have enacted laws requiring, as a prerequisite for the issuance of a marriage license, evidence of negative Wassermann or similar blood tests. Connecticut enacted such a law in 1935 and, contrary to many predictions, it works and works well. As evidence that it has popular support, about 10 percent more laboratory examinations were made for prospective brides and grooms during the first five months of 1937 than for the same period in 1936. Illinois passed a bill in the spring requiring compulsory health examinations for all couples applying for marriage license, which went into effect July 1, 1937. Michigan has a similar law which went into effect October 29, 1937, and New Hampshire's law becomes effective October 1, 1938. New Jersey is preparing a bill patterned after the Connecticut law to be introduced in the 1938 New Jersey legislature.

North Carolina will also sponsor a marriage license law at the next session of the General Assembly, according to Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, Secretary of the State Board of Health and State Health Officer. He says a marriage law is a part of the State's program to control venereal diseases, and that he will press the passage of the bill when the Legislature meets in 1939.

"As evidence that such a law is needed, witness the number of cases of syphilis that are being reported daily to the State Board of Health—an average of 33 a day, 1,000 a month, or 12,000 a year. A fair estimate places the number of syphilitics in North Carolina at 300,000. Without restrictions for preventing the spread of the disease and proper means of treatment of those infected, this will mean that we will continue to have 100 new cases of infection every day, and the birth of ten new-born syphilitic babies every day."

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Stocks swung into a brisk, but short-lived rally in today's market under leadership of gold mining issues. Steels, motors, rails, utilities and many other recently depressed issues joined the opening push at a pace that for a brief interval put the ticker tape behind. Dealings soon slowed, however, and extreme recoveries running to three or more points were reduced or cancelled in numerous instances near the fourth hour.

Bonds improved in spots.
