President Recommends Cost Of Farm Program Be Kept Within Limit

Would Keep Federal Expenditures Down To Income

Washington, Nov. 27.— (AP)— President Roosevelt suggested today expenditure under the new farm program be kept within $500,000,000 in an effort to bring Federal spending within income.

In a letter to Senator Barkley (D. Ky.) the democratic leader, the President took note of Senate discussions on possible costs of the farm program now being debated. "It is obvious," he said, "that a constant increase of expenditures with an equally constant increase in revenue can only result in a continuation of deficits."

"We can not hope to continue on a sound basis of financial management affairs unless the regular annual expenditures are brought within the revenues."

"I feel that every effort should be made to keep the new farm program within the 'present appropriation limit of $500,000,000 per annum.'"

If this is found impossible, Mr. Roosevelt said, "I then urge that steps be taken to provide the necessary increase in revenue to meet any expenditures under the new farm program in excess of this sum. Meantime, secrecy-bound printers took first glimpses of at next year's federal budget, but economic developments in the next weeks may decide whether it can be balanced."

The figures, to be public early in January, will disclose treasury prospects for breaking even on receipts and expenditures in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

No One Badly Hurt in Truck-Auto Collision

Willie Hurkley, Ayden Negro, is charged with careless and reckless driving following a highway accident at an intersection on the edge of Stokes this morning in which drivers of two vehicles barely escaped serious injury.

Lieut. Lester Jones of the State Highway patrol investigated the wreck and declared that Hurkley was driving a loaded log truck owned by the Woods Lumber company of Ayden at a fast rate of speed by an intersection when the truck and an automobile driven by W. R. Hardison, Stokes white man collided.

Both the truck and car was damaged and a log crashed thru the cab of the truck and Hurkley barely escaped serious injury. Both men were slightly injured.

Drunkenness Charges Heard In City Court

Four cases were tried in City police court this morning, each defendant being charged with public drunkenness.

John Dixon was taxed with the costs of court; W. R. Robbins was given a 30-day sentence; Jesse Hardee, Negro, paid the costs; and Clifton Miller, Negro, paid a five dollar fine and court costs.

Comes To City

George W. Coan, Jr., State WPA administrator, is scheduled to deliver the presentation speech at the dedicatory exercises at the Armory here Wednesday. Governor Hoey will deliver the principal address. The local Armory was constructed at a cost of $46,000, of which $8,500 was provided by the county and city.

LAUNCH PROBE INTO AIR CRASH

Lieutenant Killed As Ship Falls Into Trees

Greenwood, S. C., Nov. 27.—(AP)—An investigation was launched today into a U. S. army airplane crash near here last night that cost the lives of Lieut. T. C. Morson and L. C. Woods, of Randolph Field, San Antonio Texas.

The plane, flying low, circled a CCC camp south of here and disappeared into a woods. Camp enrollees heard a crash and an investigation was begun.

Parts of the craft were found scattered over a wide area. Woods was found dead at the controls. Morson was found in his cockpit. (Continued on page eleven)

Six Are Injured In Highway Collision

Truck Runs Head-On Into Auto- mobile After Turning to Left to Avoid Hitting Wagon

Lumberton, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Police said today William McLean, 67 year-old Negro, was the driver of an unlighted wagon which figured in a highway collision last night in which six persons were hurt. McLean was taken to a hospital this morning for treatment of his injuries.

Sergeant F. R. Bell said a truck driven by Andrew Smith, Lumberton carpenter, came on the unlighted wagon near here and turned to the left to avoid a crash. His truck then struck one driven by Jack Lamb, 26, of Wilson, who was proceeding in the opposite direction. The wagon was demolished.

Smith suffered a skull fracture and his son-in-law, Dixon McNeill, 47, suffered a broken rib and lacerations. Smith's companions, Fulton Hayes, 30, and Henry Mitchell, of Lumberton, suffered minor hurts as did Lamb.

ARRESTS MARK BUS STRIKE IN 16-STATE AREA

Violence Continues In Scattered Cities Affected

Cleveland, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Arrests mounted today as violence continued to mark the strike of union drivers on Greyhound bus lines operating in 16 states.

Stoning of busses in scattered sections of the 16-state strike area brought an announcement from Ivan Bowen, counsel for the eight Greyhound companies involved in the strike, that he was holding the union responsible for damage.

"I have formally notified the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen it would be held financially responsible for any damage to the companies in the strike," Bowen said.

The announcement followed a flare-up at Syracuse, N. Y., where two busses were stoned and police were hard pressed to handle a crowd they estimated at 300 persons, which tried to halt bus movements. One man arrested was identified as a truck driver.

Eleven men were held by Washington police after a bus driver was forced to a curb and beaten. Two Cleveland strikers were arraigned on disorderly conduct charges.

Nine men were taken in custody in Springfield, Ill., where the first violence in that state was reported. Five of the men held including Daniel Duboice, president of the Springfield local of the drivers, were arrested, police said, following an attack on the driver of a Chicago-St. Louis bus.

Four others held in Springfield were charged with vagrancy, pending investigation of complaints by striking bus drivers that the men were "strong-arm" guards employed to ride busses.

SPECIAL TERM CALENDAR SET

More Than 100 Cases Scheduled To Be Heard

The calendar for the special criminal session of Pitt Superior court to convene here Monday morning with Judge J. H. Clements of Winston-Salem presiding, sets 103 cases for trial, with four listed for grand jury action.

A majority of the cases charge the defendants with liquor, with a number charging prostitution and gambling. Most of these cases resulted from the recent undercover campaign against illicit liquor and vice. Several defendants are facing more than one charge.

Solicitor D. M. Clark warned that any case on the docket that is not definitely set for trial on the calendar is open for trial, if called, at any time during the term.

The calendar follows:
The following cases for grand jury to be tried whenever called during the term: Ben Roberson, prostitution; John Bailey, embezzlement; Ernest Whichard and Solomon Pridgen, arcey; Alex Gray, prostitution.

The following cases for disposal on day set or thereafter:

Great Britain To Insist Her Rights In Shanghai Not To Be Regarded

Frustrated Love

"I was crazy about her!" That was the statement police attributed to W. B. Cassidy, business man of Socorro, New Mex., following his arrest for the mutilation and slaying of pretty Rose Garcia, 19, a housemaid. Officers said he signed a confession that he killed her because of frustrated love.

Indicated France and United States To Follow

(By Associated Press)
Great Britain today acted to warn Japan British rights in the complex Shanghai situation must be considered and London officials indicated they expected the United States and France to follow suit.

The British Ambassador in Tokyo was instructed to leave the Japanese government "in no doubt whatsoever" that British insisted on its right to be consulted about any changes Japan contemplated about the Chinese Maritime customs and Chinese communications facilities in the conquered Shanghai area.

Britain (the United States and other foreign powers are interested in the Chinese custom because their revenues are largely pledged for payment of foreign loans. Since conquering the Shanghai area the Japanese have greatly increased their power in the customs and have taken control of all Chinese communications facilities there.

Britain's growing concern over the Shanghai tangle competed with her European anxieties and it was indicated in London that the Far East might take a prominent place in impending talks between British and French statesmen.

The Japanese legions continued their drive toward Nanking, China's evacuated capital, thrusting westward along several avenues north and west of Lake Tai.

JURY DECREES WOMAN GUILTY

Mrs. Godwin Given Two to Five Years For Slaying Mate

Lillington, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A jury returned a verdict of manslaughter today against Mrs. Sina Pope Godwin, 39 year old Dunn widow, in her second trial on a charge of murdering Furman E. Godwin, her third husband, in the summer of 1936.

The jury recommended mercy and Judge Henry A. Grady sentenced the defendant to serve two to five years in State's prison. A year ago, upon her first conviction, she was given a 10 to 15 year sentence, which was nullified when the Supreme court granted her a new trial. When the jurors announced their (Continued on page three)

Gairys Made on Aragon Fronts After Insurgent Bombers Blast Communication Lines

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Spanish government today claimed victories on the upper and central Aragon fronts after an Insurgent bombing squadron blasted at communication lines between Madrid and the Eastern coast.

A Barcelona communication said that government militiamen defeated Insurgent infantry and seized a considerable quantity of war materials in Northeastern Spain. Government field guns damaged Insurgent fortifications.

Farther south government forces engaged the foe in a hard-fought skirmish in which the Insurgents were driven back with a loss of several men. On the lower tip of the 200-mile Aragon line, government gunners maintained general fire on Insurgent positions.

Taxicab In Collision With Car Of Officer

An automobile driven by Gus Stokes, Greenville township constable, and another used as a taxi and being operated by Mack Diggins, Negro, collided at the intersection of Fourth and Pitt streets last night, but no one was injured in the wreck.

One witness to the wreck declared that the taxi struck the constable's car after the latter was almost all the way across the intersection. It was not known whether any charges would be preferred as a result of the collision.

Cox Being Returned To County Of Crime

Raleigh, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Sheriff Paul Garrison of Wayne county, was to return late this afternoon to Goldsboro with Leslie Cox, Negro charged with the slaying of a highway patrolman.

The sheriff said early in the afternoon that he would take the prisoner to the Wayne county jail "as soon as possible." Time of Cox's trial will be set "according to his physical condition," the officer said. (Continued on page three)

Hagerty-Gaylord.

At ten o'clock this morning, in the Eighth Street Christian Church, Miss Mattie Moye Gaylord and Harry Edward Hagerty were married in a ceremony of exquisite simplicity. The Reverend W. A. Ryan performed the marriage rites.

White candles against a screen of long leaf pine framed the setting for the ceremony. The platform was banked with pine up to the organ pipes. Just below the platform, in the center, was an altar of white satin with white satin cushions. On either side of the altar and on the back of the platform were tiers of white candles tied with white tulle. The choir loft was decorated with long leaf pine and ivy. Two silver five-branched candelabra were on the console of the organ.

Prior to the wedding, the organist, Mrs. G. E. W. Hadley, wearing a blue hat and dress, and a corsage of talisman roses, played "Venetian Love Song" by Nevin; "Liebstraum" by Liszt, and "Indian Love Call." Mrs. Walter Hastings of Muncie, Indiana, aunt of the groom, sang "Because," and "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Hastings was gowned in black and wore a corsage of red roses.

At the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin," the ushers, Charles King, uncle of the bride, and Tom Wilson, came forward and lit the candles. After the candles were lit, the other ushers, Richard King, uncle of the bride; Howard Waldrop, and Billy Brown, all of Greenville, proceeded down the aisle. They were followed by the groomsmen, Louis Gaylord, Jr., and Richard Gaylord, brothers of the bride. The ushers and groomsmen formed a semi-circle across the platform. Then the maid of honor, Miss Julia Woodson Gaylord, sister of the bride, entered and took her place on the left of the altar. Miss Gaylord was gowned in a forest green dress and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums tied with yellow ribbons. The dame of honor, Mrs. L. W. Gaylord, mother of the bride, came next, and took her place on the right of the altar. Mrs. Gaylord wore a romance blue crepe dress with dubonnet accessories and carried bronze chrysanthemums. The flower girl, little Miss Virginia King Perkins, cousin of the bride, came down the aisle carrying a basket of mixed autumn flowers. Her dress was of gold crepe.

The bride entered with her father, by whom she was given in marriage. She was gowned in a Mainbocher brittany wool suit of mahogany trimmed with beaver, with accessories of brown. Her bouquet was composed of talisman roses and lilies of the valley. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Major Guy I. Hagerty, his father, Rev. W. A. Ryan performed the ever-impressive ring ceremony. Schubert's "Serenade" was softly played during the marriage rites.

The bridal party retired to the strains of the Reccessional from Mendelssohn.

Mrs. Hagerty is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Gaylord. She was born and reared in Greenville and has spent her entire life here. Mrs. Hagerty is a graduate of the Greenville schools and attended East Carolina Teachers College. Mr. Hagerty is the only son of Major and Mrs. Guy I. Hagerty of Muncie, Indiana. He is a graduate of the Muncie schools and of Depaw University, and is a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. At present he holds a responsible position with the General Motors Insurance Corporation.

JAMES AND HIGGS SHOW

The Boys Had A Circus On Thanksgiving Day.

A few weeks ago a small show stranded here and their tent and paraphernalia fell into the hands of the sheriff for license. The boys took the notion that they wanted this circus outfit and they got it. They hauled the tent to a lot in South Greenville and tugged away at it until they got it up and in good shape. Then they let it out that they would give a performance on Thanksgiving Day.

In the early afternoon they gave a street parade that nothing but the ingenuity of a boy could originate and carry out. It was amusing and it was fetching, and it drew a large crowd of spectators to the tent to see what the clever young show folks were going to do next.

The admission fee was five and ten cents and for a while the nickels and dimes rattled lively into the ticket wagon. The circus was under the management of David James and Bennie Higgs. Under the canvas Prof. James did a tight wire act and Bennie Higgs and Walter Wilson were the impersonators of John Lowlow and other clown celebrities. Profs. Argal Vick, Burt James and Frank Skinner held up their end on the trapeze and acrobat performance.

The acting was right creditable for the little fellows. They made about $11 on their show.

U. S. Nine-Power Parley Delegate Pal Of Potentates And Plain Folk

(By Alexander R. George)
AP Feature Service Writer

Washington—Tennessee's homespun Norman H. Davis hoonchs with potentates, premiers and gold-braided diplomats but he wouldn't look out of character at a gathering of cracker box philosophers in a crossroads country store.

An engaging simplicity of speech and manner, a soothing southern drawl and a patient toleration for the other fellow's viewpoint has won for Uncle Sam's ambassador-at large the good will of statesmen in other countries, politicians at home and plain folk wherever he has gone.

The deliberate, pipe-puffing banker-business man, who enjoys his job as the government's roving envoy, will represent the United States at the Nine-Power conference on Sino-Japanese hostilities in Brussels, October 30.

The unaffected candor of this plain, little man, with whitened hair and quizzical blue eyes, masks what his associates in the foreign service describe as a "photographic knowledge" of the intricate interrelations of all the principal countries.

Wilson's Adviser

Patent and conciliatory, he has been rated highly effective in preventing international friction at parleys from reaching the explosive stage. But back of his easy-going manner is a stubborn perseverance and a zest for work which keeps him plodding toward an objective when others have long since abandoned hope of its attainment.

During the peace negotiations, Davis was financial advisor to Woodrow Wilson. He vigorously opposed the heavy reparations which were being imposed upon Germany and predicted they would sow the seeds of future discord in Europe.

Two years ago while Italo-Ethiopian warfare was raging, Ambassador Davis said: "We cannot remain at peace just by hoping to do so."

This statement, scarcely noticed then, becomes significant now in view of President Roosevelt's recent declaration that peace "cannot just be wished for or waited for, it must affirmatively be reached for. Therefore, America actively engages in the search for peace."

Title Unofficial

The Ambassador at large title which so well describes his activities is unofficial. His real title is chairman of the American delegation to the disarmament conference, a permanent organization. He has an Ambassador's commission, however, being appointed by President Roosevelt who also made him head of the disarmament delegation.

During the World war he visited Spain, France and England as a special adviser on financial affairs and at the end of the war became United States finance commissioner in Europe. The supreme council of the Allies named the "candid American" chairman of its financial section. President Wilson successively appointed him assistant secretary of the treasury and under secretary of state.

At the conclusion of the Wilson administration he returned to private business but in 1927 was appointed a member of the American delegation to the International Economic conference. His appointment to the disarmament delegation and other economic missions followed.

Ambassador Davis is a golf enthusiast and a topnotch bridge player.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Buying enthusiasm swept the stock market today and leaders went forward one to seven points at their best.

Building material and other heavy industrial issues buoyed by expectation of a near-term revival in construction, led in a strong rally.

The short Saturday session was extremely active with many large blocks changing hands. At times the ticker tape was behind transactions.

Steels, motors, rails, coppers and utilities were in demand. Merchandising stocks moved briskly on better predictions for the holiday trade.

Wall street apparent gave secondary importance to the usual business indices, placing its hopes on expected action at Washington.

The President's housing message to Congress on Monday was eagerly awaited. Belief that it would outline a strong program brought out speculative and investment buying. Utilities were sought not only because of the expected "price" in the industry, but because of the benefits it was thought they would receive through a building boom.

They have eight children, all married. Roving Envoy and Mrs. Davis are in their best form when these children and a flock of grandchildren join them in family reunion at the big country home at Stockbridge, in the Berkshire hills of Massachusetts.

New York Cotton

New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, up seven to nine points on mixed cables.

March sold up from 8.12 to 8.16 and July from 8.12 to 8.16.

These levels attracted a little realizing, but prices were holding within a point of the best.

Futures closed steady, eight to 14 higher. Spot steady, middling 8.22.

WOMAN GUILTY

(Continued from page one) verdict. Mrs. Godwin wept and sobbed loudly. Her 17-year-old daughter by a former marriage, Hortense, who had sat by her side through the week's trial and had testified for her, also broke down.

Judge Grady denied a defense motion to set aside the verdict. Mrs. Godwin's attorneys then served notice of appeal and she was allowed to remain free under $3,500 bond pending a decision upon the appeal.

COX BEING RETURNED TO COUNTY OF CRIME

The sheriff presented a habeas corpus ad prosequendum writ from a Superior court judge to the office of U. S. Marshal Ford Worthy.

Cox was arrested in New York by Federal officers on a charge of fleeing state jurisdiction. He escaped while being brought here, and in jumping from a railroad bridge suffered a broken leg, fractured spine and other injuries.

He has been slowly improving at the Wake county jail.

Roasting hints: chicken and duck require thirty minutes' roasting to the pound; turkey and goose require twenty-five minutes' per pound. Fowl should be placed in a roaster and covered with a white cloth and basted every fifteen minutes. The cloth should be rinsed in warm water every half hour and then replaced. The lid always should be placed on the roaster.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Nov. 27.—This week's Mooresville Enterprise carries a comedy dispatch from one of its rural (very rural) correspondents, in which there is really a great deal more truth than comedy.

"The present mayor will stand for re-election with no platform as in the past. He says he has never stood for nothing and he hopes to win on that status just as he always has. He do not talk much, and when he do talk nobody can understand what he means. He is noncommittle so he says, on all national subjects. He attends to his bizness and he wants the voters to attend to theirs ansoforth."

With the exception of the fact that many of our leading office holders do not even "attend to their business," this is a pretty good picture of a large number of successful politicians.

"Varieties of American Greatness" will be the subject of the address of Dr. Dumas Malone to the State Literary and Historical Association in Hugh Morson high school auditorium at the Friday night meeting, it has been announced by Dr. C. C. Crittenden, secretary of the association.

Former editor of the Dictionary of American Biography, known to scholars as one of the finest cooperative works of American scholarship. Dr. Malone is expected to follow the biographical approach to his subject. It is promised that he will pay attention to the great men of North Carolina and the South.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde Erwin is taking a holiday over the week-end, giving him several days out of his office.

Henry L. Stevens, former National Commander of the American Legion, has been strutting around prouder than two peacocks of late.
Not because he had fallen in love with himself for any accomplishment of his own, but because his son had been made an Eagle Scout, the only one in Duplin county.

If ever there has been a proud parent, Mr. Stevens was it.

Word from Washington reaching here is that the Federal Bureau of Fisheries will soon start a project for enlargement of the hatchery at Edenton.

There appears to be no truth to the canard recently circulated here that liquor sales in Wilmington mounted $1,100 while the Baptist convention was in session there.

Thad Eure, secretary of state with reputed ambitions to become governor of North Carolina some of these days, continues to get about and to

Acquittal On Charge of Unlawfully Discharging Girl Regarded As No Setback

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Nov. 2—Acquittal of a Wilson employe on a charge of dismissing an employe who had testified against her in a maximum hour law violation case is not regarded by Major A. L. Fletcher as a setback for the state's new labor law which authorizes prosecutions for such dismissals.

"When the Wilson recorder dismissed the charges against Mrs.
Fred Maroon, he was exactly right said Major Fletcher. "Our evidence didn't sound as strong from the stand as it did before we went to trial, and the defense was able to show that the laying off of Mrs. J.
H. Nixon was due to a business slump rather than to any animus against Mrs. Nixon for having testified that employes of the dress shop were worked overtime."

"This was no more of a setback for the new labor law than an acquittal on a murder charge is a setback for the law against killing."

The labor commissioner emphatically declared that prosecutions will be instituted in every case where the department is satisfied that provisions of the law have been violated.

DIXIE HIGHLIGHTS

"FATHER OF VIRGINIA"
 ALMOST HANGED
 A GALLOWS WAS ERECTED TO HANG CAPTAIN
 VIRGINIA HERO,

It seems strange, but CAPTAIN JOHN SMITH, who did more than any other to establish the first permanent English settlement in America, was really under arrest when the colonists landed and founded Jamestown. Moreover, had he not escaped he would have been hanged before he even saw Virginia! The expedition, which consisted of 3 ships, left London in December, 1606, and made first for the West Indies, reaching Dominica on March 24, 1607. It was at Nevis, their next stopping place, that a gallows was erected by his enemies to hang Captain Smith on a false charge of conspiracy, but he had the good fortune to escape. Later, when the plotters were all at his mercy, he spared them. For 13 weeks Smith was under restraint, but he challenged the charges against him and so established his innocence that he was adjudged to receive 200 pounds as damages. Later, September 10, 1608, when all others had failed, the presidency of the colony was actually forced upon him.

The greenish wax obtained from boiling the fruit of the BAYBERRY tree was used by the early Virginia colonists to make candles. They were highly esteemed for their greaseless qualities and their ability to stand up in hot weather.

ACE JUDGERS OF STATE COLLEGE

For the second time in three years, a North Carolina State College judging team has returned from the Eastern Intercollegiate Poultry Judging Contest with another first prize trophy to add to its collection.

Coached by N. W. Williams, professor of poultry at the college, the team swept aside seven competitors from leading land grant colleges and universities in the East to walk away with first place. The North Carolina boys scored 2,936 points out of a possible 3,600. The nearest rival was Massachusetts with 2,740 points.

In addition to winning first prize as a team, the State College judges also came out of the contest with the highest individual scorer, J. C. Pierce, Jr., of Grassy Creek. This was the first time the Raleigh institution has captured first honors in both team and individual competition.

The contest was held in New York earlier in the month and marked the twentieth time that eastern teams have competed against one another in this annual event.

Members of the State poultry judging team are: front row, left to right, J. C. Pierce, Jr.; James McGinnis, Lincolnton; P. L. Brawley, Mooresville, alternate; back row, G. C. Alexander, Matthews, and Coach Williams.

Besides winning silver loving cups and a plaque for team placements, the individual members were presented gold medals.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE

HE BARKED HIS WAY TO GLORY and a bright red medal. Early one morning in Chicago, Tober, a little terrier, smelled smoke in the room. So insistent a barking and whining he set up, that his master and mistress and many other residents of the apartment building awoke in time to extinguish a fire. So the Illinois Humane Society awarded him the badge.

HERE'S A SOCKET FOR THE LARGEST EYE in the world. Workmen are rushing to complete construction of this observatory atop Palomar Mountain, San Diego county, Calif. It will house a 200-inch telescope mirror in a structure 128 feet high, 135 feet in diameter.

FOR RUSSIA'S FLYING VOLGA BOATMEN this monster clipper ship, largest ever constructed in America, was launched at the Glenn L. Martin company's Baltimore plant. Room for 46 passengers is provided in the air leviathan whose 63,000 pounds are borne on a wing span of 157 feet. Its four 1,000 horsepower motors are capable of carrying the ship at a speed of 140 miles an hour from New York to Moscow non-stop.

SPEED WAS THE WATCHWORD, but little else as Capt. J. H. Wylie (left) and a mechanic tuned this 34-year-old Wolsley automobile for a race against more than 80 veteran vehicles of the days of goggles and linen dusters. Course of the run was from London to Brighton, England.

ALL LANDINGS ARE THREE POINTED with this Stearman-Hammond plane recently acquired by Royal Dutch Airlines to teach pilots use of tricycle landing gear, soon to appear on a leading American-made airliner.

HE FELL DOWN BUT HIS LUCK STOOD UP when a pair of teammates filled in at a critical moment for Goalie Beveridge of Montreal's Maroons in a hockey game with New York's Rangers. Beveridge fell after a daring leap for a save. In rushed Robinson (No. 15) to join another Maroon in blocking the puck from the net. Fourth from the left is Shibicky of the Rangers whose effort at scoring was stopped.

The Characters

Nina, ex-debutante, impulsively married David, hoping to end her love for her stepfather. Now she loves David and is disgusted with Richard.

Richard, the suave, handsome stepfather, proposed secret love to Nina.

Honey, Nina's gay, childish mother who is wild about Richard, develops a heart ailment.

David, a bright young auto salesman with a small salary, begins to support Nina.

Grace, an old girl friend of David, still pursues him.

Atlantic City Heat

Nina made up her mind that if David didn't say something definite in a day or two, about plans—she would have it out with him.

She would say: "What is it, darling... what has come between us? Let's be open with each other. Do you love me less? Don't you want to go on?" And then, if it seemed best, she could tell him everything... Yes, that was what she would do.

But right on the heels of this decision came word from Dr. Fellows that Honey's condition had improved to such an extent that he felt she could come to his office and submit to further tests. But, here again, Nina's help was needed. Honey must not be left alone... allowed to brood or worry. A nurse would only alarm her; and, strangely enough, she didn't seem to want Richard about, very much, when she was not well.

So it was Nina who spent long hours in specialist's offices, in consultation rooms. Stayed with Honey while she sat in electrically equipped chairs with her hands and feet in salt water, and the beats of her heart flashed—like a movie—on a screen at the end of the room; waited while she stood in front of X-ray cabinets... while doctors bent over her plump form, on white enamel tables... listened to the same diagnosis over and over again; an unusual cardiac, that needed watching...

It was Nina who laughed with her mother, as though Dr. Fellows was a dear, silly old alarmist—but who urged her to follow his instructions, just the same.

One afternoon, they got back so late—from way up at the Medical Center—and Honey was so bored and tired and nervous, that she begged Nina to stay with her. She didn't want to have dinner alone with Richard, so that he would see her, all upset as she was.

When Nina called David at the salesrooms, he said: "Oh sure—stay there, Nina. I'll get a bite over here, with some of the boys..." and she had so wanted him to come, too...

The evening was a nightmare of avoiding Richard. After tucking Honey up in bed, Nina stopped, deliberately, in the living-room, to speak to him, on her way out.

Richard's face lit up, as she appeared in the doorway, and as he smiled that peculiar, amused smile of his, Nina would red how in the world she had ever thought it so fascinating.

She said: "You don't seem to realize, Richard, that I meant what I told you. I am as honest with you as if you didn't exist... Up till now I haven't exactly blamed you for—well, let's say—your attitude; but now I do both blame and lecture you, for pursuing me, when you know how I feel."

He came to her quickly. "But Nina... sweet..." She backed away. "Where's your sportsmanship, Richard? You might at least admit—defeat like a gentleman... if you know how."

And she left him, while he was still answering her.

A Date With David

If Honey stayed in bed until noon, now, she could get up for the rest of the day, provided she remained fairly quiet. Nina divided her time between the 74th street house and sporadic attempts at apartment hunting—lest the Melton thing fall through.

The Days had less than two weeks, now, in which to make their plans... but still the opportunity for a serious talk with David did not present itself. He suggested going out, he brought people home, it was as though he deliberately avoided being alone with her. And Nina, harried, distressed, still loved him more with each moment that went by!

"David, darling," she said, at last one morning, desperately, when they had only 10 more days to go in the apartment, "couldn't we plan to be alone together, tonight? We must talk about our plans... decide things... I'm so interested, there's something I..."

He cut in: "Right-o. That's a date then."

He laughed and kidded a lot these days. It seemed to Nina, that whenever she tried to get—close to him—he turned her off with a joke; but his gaiety was impregnable as stout armor. She couldn't seem to get through it—to David.

She had not seen her mother that day before Aunt Carrie had taken her for a drive, and relieved Nina's companion.

Nina was planning to go there this afternoon, however, and then she had to wait for a long evening. Her heart was at the window, there would be no more standing around in a mist of uncertainty, after tonight...

She didn't finish her housework and her marketing, and the package until after three. She glanced at the clock, then, and saw that Honey would soon be waking up, so she went to get ready to go to her.

The phone rang, and when the operator said she had a call from Atlantic City, Nina wondered who in the world it could be.

After a minute, Richard's voice came over the wire. "Hello... Nina?"

"Yes, Hello, Richard... what is it?"

"Now don't alarm yourself, my dear, but Honey and I hopped on a train, late yesterday, quite unexpectedly, and came down here for a rest and a breath of sea air. Today, however, she doesn't seem to feel so well... nothing definite, you understand... but I thought it might do her good if you joined us... I'm not very handy at nursing, you know..."

Nina said quickly: "Of course I'll come, Richard. I'm glad you called on me. Don't alarm her. When I get there we'll say it was a surprise."

"Right... There's a 5 o'clock train you can catch that will get you here at 8:05 this evening. There's a diner."

"All right. Is there any definite symptom I could report to Dr. Fellows?"

"No, my dear... no. Nothing at all. She just seems tired. We have all her medicines here..."

"Then I'll hang up now, and pack. You can expect me on that train. I'll get a cab to the hotel... The Ambassador, you say?"

A Jolt At The Hotel Desk
Nina called David, as soon as Richard had hung up, but he was delivering a car out of the city, and was not expected back.

After that, she called Dr. Fellows, but he, too, was out on a consultation with several other doctors at Rye. Nina knew the office nurse, of old, however.

"Miss Bishop, do you know if Dr. Fellows gave his permission for me to go to Atlantic City?"

"Now, let me see. Mrs. Day, dear... I can hear him talking with her today... but, if I'm not mistaken, I thought she asked him if he couldn't meter to Tuxedo with a friend... Mrs. Van Amburgh... I think it was... and spend the night."

"Well, she didn't, Miss Bishop. She went on the train to Atlantic City—if you can imagine anything so naughty—and now she's out of town. Naturally, I'm going down to see her. She has her digitalis with her—should I take anything else?"

"No, I'd add two drops to her regular dose, for a day or so. I think that will be all that is necessary. Of course, you can always call us..."

After her conversation with Miss Bishop, Nina packed a bag with enough things for three or four days, and then wrote a note to David, explaining her sudden departure.

She was awfully upset over Honey's rash act; and she was sick with disappointment over missing her evening with David.

Nina waited till the last minute that was safe, in hopes that he might call, or come home early, but he didn't. At 4:30 she had to leave. The cross-town traffic would be heavy at this hour, and she dar-did not risk missing the train. She telephoned the apartment once from the station, but he had not returned. There was nothing to do but settle herself in the parlor car. She opened a magazine, and tried to concentrate.

"North Philadelphia, next stop!" Heavens, were they only that far? She had to change trains here she found, and that gave her something to do, anyway.

The last hour seemed interminable, but it went by somehow, and finally Nina was riding toward the Ambassador, in an Atlantic City taxi.

There were two other people ahead of her at the hotel reservation desk, so she had to wait.

When her turn came she said: "Will you kindly give me the number of Mrs. Challoner's room? I'm expected. Mrs. Richard Challoner... And I'd like a single room with a bath, please, as near hers as possible."

The tuxedo-clad room clerk was going over his lists. He was an innocuous-looking young man, but as he answered her, Nina felt cold and a little faint, all of a sudden. She put her hand on the marble counter to steady herself.

"Mrs. Challoner, did you say, Miss?" he inquired. "I don't seem to see... We have a Mr. Richard Challoner of New York, registered... but..."

BUS RATE WAR LOOMS IN N. C.

May Result From Greyhound Plea To Raise Rates

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Nov. 27.—Possibility of a real knock down and drag-out bus rate war in North Carolina is seen as the result of the petition filed by the Greyhound Lines seeking higher rates in the state.

The chance for war exists because the other companies, operating in North Carolina apparently do not intend to follow suit. Should the Utility Commission grant the Greyhound plea, then the fighting would be on. Of course if the petition is dismissed then things will go on as they now are.

Bus rates in North Carolina are now approximately one and one-half cents per mile. The Greyhound seeks permission to increase them to about two cents per mile.

Since the Utility Commission's recent decision the railroads have had authority to increase their intrastate passenger traffic tariff to two cents per mile as against the one and a-half cent fare which has been in effect ever since several southern roads cut rates in an effort to revive a service which had virtually gone to pot during the depression.

If the bus rates are left lower than the rail, there is a high degree of probability that the motor carriers will get most of the local traffic, but if the Greyhound is successful in getting an increase, then the public will have only Hobson's choice in the matter of expense.

The fact that the Greyhound's petition was filed alone indicates that the other companies will not seek the increase, as it is quite customary for the Southeastern Bus Association, of which the Greyhound and all other lines in this state are members, to act for all in cases in which there is unanimous agreement as to the ends sought.

TO RETAIN SUM FOR DIVERSION

Three Per Cent Of Gasoline Sales To Be Kept

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Nov. 27.—Three percent of every gasoline sale made in the state must be held for possible diversion to uses other than highway purposes.

Thus a large sum is piling up in the state treasury which cannot be expended for any purpose until it is determined that there will be no necessity for supplementing general fund moneys with receipts from the gasoline tax.

It comes about from the act of the 1937 General Assembly in passing a revenue measure authorizing the use of highway funds up to $2,000,000 for the biennium, if there shall be a deficit in general funds.

After passage of the act there was some question whether or not the gasoline tax money could be spent for highway purposes until this amount subject to possible diversion had been accumulated.

According to Frank Dunlap, chairman of the Highway Commission it was ultimately ruled that the regular sales tax rate of three percent should be figured against every sale of gasoline and this amount withheld in order to meet the possible necessity for diversion.

"I am of the opinion that there will be no necessity for using any highway money for other purposes this fiscal year, at least," Mr. Dunlap said. "But we will not be able to spend the sums set aside until it is mathematically certain there will be no deficit during the biennium."

While the state is thus holding out some of its highway revenue, the North Carolina Petroleum Industries Committee is waging a statewide fight against any form of diversion.

Each Saturday demonstrates that it's going to be difficult to overlook Marshall (Biggie) Goldberg when All-America honors are handed out.

Goldberg had his moments last fall—as an in-experienced sophomore. This year he has developed into a brighter and more consistent backfield performer.

As a junior, the Pitt sparkplug has blossomed out as a passer. Some will insist the Panthers have no passing game, but Notre Dame knows better and, too, Goldberg's added experience has made him more adept at defending against air attacks. He has become more effective as a ball carrier. He has learned to make use of his blockers.

The back-breaking schedule played by Pittsburgh has supplied Goldberg with a real test. Except for Fordham, no team has been able to stop him with anything like consistency. Coach Jack Sutherland has made good use of the youngster's talents and has gone a long way toward developing them to the fullest.

Pitt seems to have developed a habit of coming from behind to win in the late stages.

The Panthers came from behind to defeat Carnegie Tech, 25-14. They did the same thing with Notre Dame. Trailing the Irish at the end of the third period, 6-0, Pittsburgh went wild and pushed over three touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

Against Nebraska it was the same story. Two last period touchdowns wiped out the 7-0 lead the Cornhuskers had established in the third quarter.

To date only Coach Jim Crowley of Fordham has been successful in devising a defense to hold the Panthers for the full 60 minutes of play.

What It Means: THE FAR EASTERN SITUATION

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer

Washington—The far eastern military terms and Chinese labels galloping through the newspapers these days can be translated into one simple English sentence:

Japan has hands on about all of China—she wants, or can hold, for the time being.

Now let's see what that means to China, Japan, and the map of Asia.

We will have to go back to 1931 when Japan took over Manchuria and renamed it Manchukuo. That brought a half million square miles under Japanese influence.

The recent foray into the five provinces of North China has given the island empire another half million square miles.

It's easy enough to add these two chunks of territory. They total a million square miles of Mother Earth. In United States mileage that would be the eastern half of the country, from the Atlantic ocean to the Mississippi with Louisiana and Arkansas thrown in.

There's a reason why Japan probably will stop where she is. Most competent authorities will tell you a million square miles is all any modern nation can digest in a couple of gulps. That would mean you could charge off all the blood and thunder around Shanghai and Nanking as so much mopping up.

That leaves Japan with the problem of keeping her wings over Manchukuo and the five North China provinces—Chahar, Hopei, Shansi, Suiyuan and Shantung.

Yardsticks Of The Future What has she gained?

I asked that question the other day—of a man who has spent his life in important posts in the Orient and in Washington. Here's what he said:

"Japan does not know what she has gained because all her newly won ground is relatively undeveloped. But of course, there are yardsticks to indicate what the future holds.

First, the political yardstick. Japan will be responsible for the welfare of 110,000,000 or more people, who for many years have been bled white by war lords. Frequently the countryside has been overrun by soldiers. Business has been stunted, mines have been shut down, transportation tied up.

Japan already is beginning to bring order out of chaos in Manchukuo. The point is, can she complete the job, and do the same thing for North China in the near future? Nobody knows. But it's pretty clear that she can give North China stable government, and stable government is the key-stone of development and progress.

Next, the military yardstick. Japan has driven a broad wedge into Asia between China and powerful Russia. By taking Manchukuo, Japan cut off Russia from year-round rail and port connections with the Pacific leaving her only Vladivostok, a port that clogs with ice in winter.

Wealth Of Natural Resources
With the conquest of North China, Japan separated Russia from the Caravan routes into China from the heart of Asia.

These routes all merge at North China's Kalgan—the cross roads of China and Mongolia. Caravan goods strike the railroad at Kalgan and move south to Peking.

Thus Japan has created a huge buffer against Russia, and in addition has effectively separated communist Russia and the communist elements of China.

Finally, and most important, the economic yardstick.

In Manchukuo, Japan acquired a rich piece of topsoil—some 28,000,000 tillable acres—and with it a large underpinning of coal reserves running close to three and a half billion tons.

Then there's the port of Darien at the tip of the Manchukuoan peninsula. Darien handled $240,000,000 worth of goods in 1935, most of which came from Japan.

As for North China, Japan really has something there. The coal deposits in Shansi province are too vast to estimate. One authority says there's enough coal in Shansi to supply the world "for thousands of years.

It Won't Be Easy

In the port of Tientsin, Japan has a potential money maker like Shanghai. Undeveloped as it is, Tientsin is the second most important port in China, bowing to Shanghai alone. Goods worth $150,000,000 pass through the port each year, one third bound for the United States.

Chances are the last hot dog you ate was wrapped in sausage casings imported from Tientsin, and it's a 10 to 1 bet that you brushed your hair this morning with brushes from North China. Then there's cotton, furs and wool.

Moreover, North China produces the nearest thing there is in the Orient to fine quality American-type cotton. Japan has her eye on that cotton. In the last year she has acquired five of the seven cotton mills in Tientsin.

But Japan will have no easy path in North China. In politics she will meet the same bland opposition she has always known in China; in a military sense, she will have to keep big armies on hand to cope with guerrillas, and the constant threat of Soviet Russia; and economically, she's got to find the money to develop her virgin territory.

Moves By Britain Puzzle To Europe

London, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Great Britain's confidential talks with Germany on one hand and France on the other kept an excited and trouble Europe guessing on the diplomatic outcome today.

The visit of Viscount Halifax to Germany last week and the forthcoming visit of French leaders to London were seen by some observers as a British move to wipe out long-standing friction between Germany and France in the hope of easing European tension.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain assured the House of Commons last night Britain was contemplating no agreement with Germany, which threatened the security of France or any of her allies. This he quoted fears Halifax's talk with Hitler might result in a secret pact at the cost of French friendship.

In Few Lands Would Censors Let The Stage Razz The Government as it Does in the Current Broadway Hit 'I'd Rather Be Right'

The Supreme Court is unanimous—at least, in its chorus work

Secretary Morgenthau

The President

(By the AP Feature Service)

In few nations of the censor-ridden world could a stage play lampoon the ruling regime as "I'd Rather Be Right," just opened on Broadway, lampoons the New Deal. Imagine what would happen in Italy if a tap-dancing George M. Cohan stuck out his chin in a caricature of Il Duce; or in Germany if some Groucho Marxian swastika-bearer tried to couple the Nazi salute with the Bronx cheer for Der Fuehrer.

It might happen in France but it is doubtful if even the French take their political problems lightly enough to allow a song-writing writing team like Richard Rodgers and Larry Hart to put in the mouth of their local James A. Farley a lyric like this:

I keep my popularity
Forever hale and hearty
By giving jobs to everyone
In the Democratic party.

Nor could one quite imagine an English buffoon, appearing for the moment as Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, singing, as does Cohan in the role of President Roosevelt:

If I'm not reelected,
I'll never fear for hunger,
I'll never fear for thirst;
I have one son with DuPont,
Another one with Hearst.

As sharply barbed, too, are the dialogue darts which Playwrights George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart have let go at the New Deal as when the President imperiously shouts: "Cummings, fake down a law," or "McIntyre, bring me a fire-side, I feel a chat coming on."

There is that suggestion, too, that the United States Supreme Court cease its chorus work long enough to declare the Constitution unconstitutional.

In the pictures are the members of the Supreme Court, paired with ladies of the chorus; Bijou Fernandez, as Secretary of Labor Perkins; Taylor Holmes, as Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau; and Cohan as Mr. Roosevelt.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds By Robb Coon

Hollywood—Leo Carrillo is so serious about this governorship business that he's taking in campaign slogans and stump phrases while waiting for the voice of the peepul to gather strength... Says Leo: "The script of state government needs rewriting, the cast changing... and the direction... We must balance the human budget... The politicians may say I do not know politics—but I have made my career by knowing people, what would make them laugh and cry, what they think about, what they need... Why should I care about politics?... We must preserve California's first and almost forgotten asset: her romance and tradition..."

Leo would be "so honored" by a nomination that he would cheerfully give up the money he makes in pictures, which is as much in two weeks as he would get in a year as governor—$10,000... But he'd have to be coaxed.

Flash-Bulb Nobility

you can gauge an actor's importance by the number of flash bulbs exploded for him at a large party. ... If it's a small party the news camera crowd will gang up on any kind of celebrity... At a big blow-out they'll take a short or two of the featured players but it's the stars that use up the bulbs... At the Eddie Cantor festival— hearts, flowers and Jack Benny—I counted five flashes on Deanna Durbin to every one on the very cute Dixie Dunbar, sitting nearby with Joe E. Brown, Jr... And at Mrs. Borzage's anniversary fling for Frank (who'd been directing stars for 20 years) the photos made plenty of heat lightning all the time until Joan Crawford walked in with Franchot Tone—and then it was like the brilliant breaking of an electrical storm.

HECKLERS STORM DOCK AS HITLER'S AIDE ARRIVES

While Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, Hitler's personal adjutant, smiled on the New York skyline from the S. S. Europa, a hundred anti-Nazi pickets gathered on the dock to protest his arrival. The captain, however, solved the problem neatly by remaining on board nearly an hour after the ship docked, and then disembarked without being recognized—and without even a heckle. He is shown in the picture at left with Princess Chlodwig Hohenloce-Schillingsfuerst. At right are two of the women pickets parading with their banners.

BLONDIE "WORDS OF SILENCE" By CHIC YOUNG

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

Hollywood — Fernand Gravet, of Belgium and France, really has something to worry about. He fears for professional reasons, he will become "too American."

He is a borderline case now. As a foreign star he is expected to look foreign and he doesn't. He is also expected to speak with an accent, but after a fellow's gone to school in England and traveled around as much as Gravet, his accent's on the thin side. Right now you can't peg him as American, British, Continental or anything in particular other than a bright fellow who's been around and has a multitude of interests.

Changed Name Twice
So Fernand Gravet, here for his second picture ("Food For Scandal" with Carole Lombard) won't stay. He'll skip just as he did after his first, "The King and the Chorus Girl."

"I could be wholly American in very short time if I stayed," he says, "and—there are many American actors here."

Other compelling reasons for quick departure are an aged mother in France and Gravet's desire to retain his position in French films. (France is less and less cordial to its actors who run off to Hollywood and stay.)

Gravet will be 29 his next birthday, which is Christmas Day. His real name is Mertens, changed later to Gravey, in Hollywood to Gravet. Mertens, a German name, was impractical in Belgium after the war. Graavey sounded too much like grave when rendered in English. Gravy isn't romantic—and Mervyn LeRoy, who signed him, has Gravet in his "romance and charm" department.

Lives Modestly
He has been married for 10 years to Jane Renourdt, for three years his co-star on the French stage. They have a 5-year-old adopted son in France who rides, his father er declares proudly, like a veteran. One of Gravet's obsessions is horses. In Hollywood he has found no horses trained for "dressage" and the haute école. His other favorite sport is skiing. He goes to St. Moritz every winter.

He brought eight trunks of wardrobe to Hollywood, not knowing what his picture would require. He learned on arrival that his only costume would be a full dress suit, except for one other—livery—which he proceeded to design himself. That's another hobby: designing miniatures of historical hats, uniforms, boots and tin soldiers. Of the latter he has about 32,000. He says it's a small collection; he knows a man who has nearly 500,000.

He resembles at times Robert Montgomery and at times the Duke of Windsor. He has black hair and light brown eyes—but the eyes actually change color. He and Mrs. Gravet live modestly in Westwood. He has gone out into Hollywood society seldom.

The other day I had lunch with him—he ordered ham and eggs, a telling sign that Americanism is getting him—and he had a wire whose sender he could not identify offhand. As the lady who thus tendered him an invitation is one of the town's "social leaders", I believe that Gravet really does stay home.

Camera Coverage Of The World

A LIBERAL IN WAR, torn by forces which surround her family, is portrayed by Actress Ethel Barrymore in a new Broadway play, "The Ghost of Yankee Doodle."

DOING BUSINESS AS USUAL, despite the inconvenience of a barbed wire barricade, this Chinese clerk obliges troops by selling them cigarettes across a fence separating the French concession from a native area. For merchant and customer alike it required a long stretch across the entanglement. Later advancing Japanese forced retreat of Shanghai's defenders as they pushed ahead toward Nanking.

FOR TIRED EYES, strained by hours of scanning volumes at London's famed Sunday Times book exhibition, Diana Mannering, beauty winner, offered relief.

FOR PEACE efforts and ardent work in organizing the League of Nations, Viscount Cecil of Chelwood was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for 1937.

AFTER SHANGHAI IT'S THE 'SHAG' or the 'Big Apple' of Japanese dancing that amuses these soldiers of the Rising Sun who rest on Shanghai's outskirts as Chinese retreat toward Nanking. Here's a guard detachment resting in the grass and getting a hearty laugh out of the performance of a buddy. But most troops did not wait long before pushing ahead on a wide front as defenders of "the good earth" took up a new stand.

AMERICA'S DANCE as done by the Indians will be performed by Chippewa Chief Little Moose at a 35-day dance festival in which 40 nationalities will join in New York.

BACK HOME in the U. S. is Screen Actress Marlene Dietrich after a tour of Europe in which she omitted Germany, where she was described as a "traitor."

WILLING HANDS OF MERCY came to the assistance of this wounded Chinese girl, a non-combatant casualty of Sino-Japanese fighting in Shanghai. French and Chinese Sisters of Mercy bandaged wounds of the child whose agony is written on her face.

THE BAD EARTH of a 400-foot bluff slowly settling at Elysian Park, Los Angeles, caused this crack and fears of a landslide.
