FARM CONTROL IS THREATENED BY WRANGLING

Behind-the-Scene Struggle Holding Up Measure

WAGE-HOUR BILL ALSO IN DANGER

Threat Made to Strike Cotton Provisions From Bill to Force Vote on Labor Act

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—A behind-the-scenes struggle over crop control and wage-hour bills threw House members today in such turmoil that some legislators said both measures might be endangered.

Representatives of urban and industrial districts indicated they would try to strike cotton provisions from the farm bill unless Southern colleagues heap get a vote on the labor standards measure.

The labor bloc arranged to organize last night, but postponed the meeting until tonight on the plea of Chairman Norton (D. N. J.) of the Labor Committee.

She preferred to see how many of 24 necessary names could be added today to a petition to wrest the wage-hour bill from the Rules committee and bring it before the House in a fortnight. The Rules committee had prevented House consideration every since the Senate passed the bill last summer.

Although Norton said a "double-edged sword" might kill farm and labor bills, House leaders declared they were not worried about either.

In corridor conferences, however, the movement to scuttle the farm bill picked up momentum.

The Senate, continuing debate on farm legislation, heard today an argument that cheaper money would increase agriculture prices and halt the downward trend in economic indices.

Senator Thomas (D. Okla.) asserted the farm program is a price problem and outlined his proposal to give the Federal Reserve Board authority to hike prices by cheapening the dollar.

The board would be expected to establish the price level at a point not lower than the 1926 level.

Meantime Senator George (D. Ga.) inserted in the Congressional Record a telegram complaining the farm bill tobacco section would be "unfair to Georgia producers."

The message, sent from Valdosta, Ga., was signed by G. W. Varn, whom George described as "one of the best informed men in the Georgia tobacco belt."

Barnes said Georgia producers would be penalized by basing acreage allotment on the last three years, planting because many have reduced their acreage while those in other states planned more than in previous years.

College - Hospital Establish School

Raleigh, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Dr. C. C. Carpenter, dean of the Wake Forest Medical School, announced establishment today of a Wake Forest-Rex hospital school of medical technology here and at Wake Forest.

The degree of Bachelor of Science in Medical Technology, Dr. Carpenter said, will be awarded on successful completion of two years of training in the new technical school, one year in the hospital and one spent in practical work.

Enrollment now will be limited to four well-qualified applicants.

With the facilities of the new Rex, Dr. Carpenter said, the new setup would be unsurpassed by any similar-sized medical center in the South.

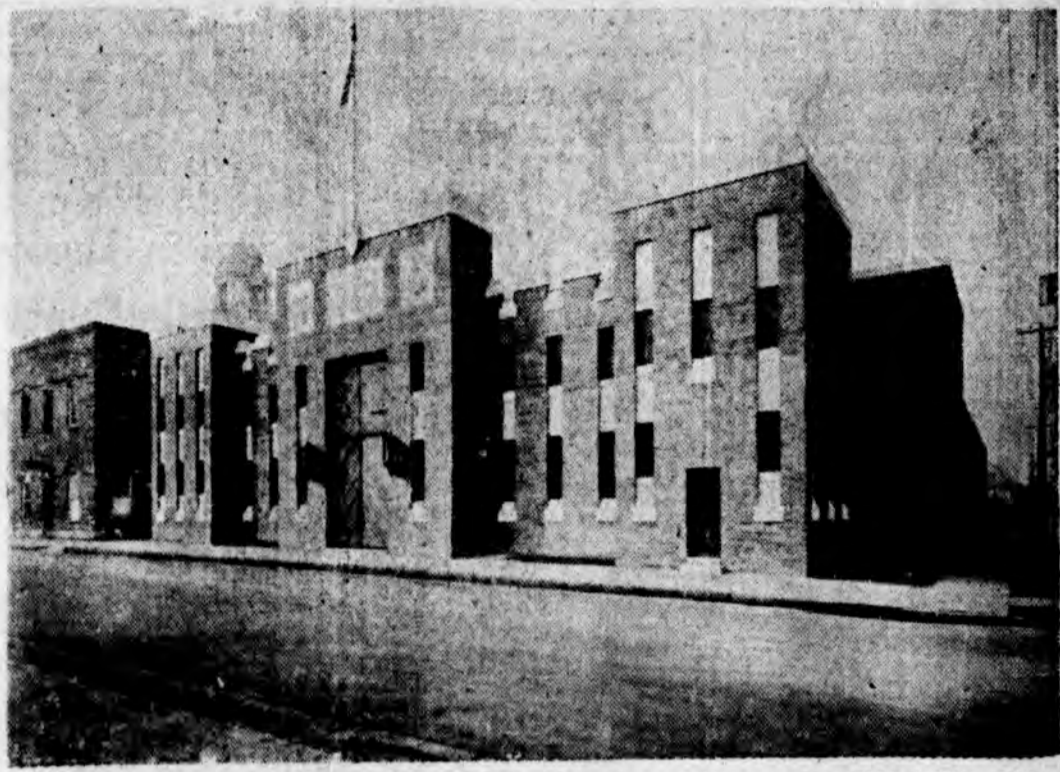

No Charge Preferred Against Mrs. Tyson

City Patrolman H. E. Wooten said today no charges had been preferred against Mrs. Preston Tyson of Wilson, who was driving a car yesterday which figured in the injury of a little seven-year-old Negro boy, David Earl Barrett. Patrolman Wooten said the Negro boy evidently ran into the side of Mrs. Tyson's car as it was traveling on Evans street. She took the boy to the hospital, where he is suffering a fractured skull.

19 SHOPPING DAYS TILL CHRISTMAS

Governor Hoey's Address Officially Opens Armory

DEDICATED AT CEREMONIES HERE TODAY

The new City-County Armory, which will be used to house Battery A, 113th Field Artillery National Guard was constructed at a cost of $46,000, of which $8,500 was provided by the sponsors, Pitt county and Greenville. The remainder of the cost was furnished by the Works Progress Administration. It is one of 21 such buildings erected in the state by the WPA. Keys to the building were turned over to Capt. J. H. Waldrop, commanding officer of the local National Guard unit.

HOPES BRIGHT FOR HOSPITAL

Two N. C. Representatives Look For 'Break' Shortly

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Two representatives seeking approval of a proposed 300-bed veterans' hospital for Eastern North Carolina said today they were told "something may break" in a short time.

Representatives Doughton and Barden, both democrats of North Carolina, said the project awaited action by the budget bureau and President Roosevelt.

Budget Bureau officials informed them a new public works program which would include the project was still under consideration and final approval probably would await the President's return from Florida fishing trip.

The hospital, estimated to cost around $2,000,000, was recommended by the Veterans' Bureau some time ago.

Although the North Carolina delegation has been more active in seeking definite assurance the hospital would be built than in trying to specify its location, bills are pending to establish it in two districts.

Rep. Barden has introduced a bill to locate the proposed institution in Wayne county, which lies within his district. Rep. Clark (D.-NC.) has another measure pending to locate such a hospital in his district.

Other developments:

The War Department has set next March 28 as the date for receipt of a report on proposed improvement of the Neuse river from New Bern to Johnston county.

The report was being prepared by Major Ralph Mills, district engineer at Wilmington, who conducted a hearing on the project last month in Goldsboro.

The project proposed improvement to the river in an effort to alleviate floods in Eastern North Carolina, estimated to cause $500,000 damage yearly.

Senator Bailey (D.-NC.) said in a statement he would "heartily support" President Roosevelt's proposals to boost housing construction.

End In Sight For Greyhound Strike

Cleveland, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Settlement of a 16-day strike of Greyhound bus drivers was reported imminent today.

A company official who refused to be quoted predicted settlement within a few hours.

A. P. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen also said settlement was imminent. Bus drivers affiliated with the union went on strike Thanksgiving day, demanding wage increases and a closed shop.

Conferences were continuing this afternoon. The noon deadline which Greyhound had set for drivers to return to work or lose their jobs passed without company comment.

Anyone Lost A Shoe? Patrolman Finds One

City Motorcycle Patrolman H. E. Wooten is in possession of a woman's new right shoe, but not having the left one it is of no use to him and he would like to return it to the rightful owner.

Patrolman Wooten found the shoe on the streets yesterday and has it at police headquarters. Inquiries at several shoe stores produced no light on the owner.

New Hanover Man Dies In Accident

Wilmington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—John J. Furlong, Sr., 67, former Wilmington police chief and one-time New Hanover court recorder, died in a hospital here early today of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile last night.

J. E. McWatty, 25-year-old brick plant employee, told officers Furlong walked in front of his car at Third and Dock streets as he drove at a slow rate of speed.

McWatty was being held under bond while Coroner Asa Allen investigated.

Furlong and P. Q. Moore, former Wilmington mayor, received widespread attention in 1932 when they were convicted and sent to State's prison for conspiring to extort money from Mrs. Jessie Kenan Wise, wealthy Wilmington resident. Moore was sentenced to three years, Furlong two. Both served their sentences after appeals were rejected.

Negroes Held For Larceny Charges

Two cases were tried in City Police court this morning, both defendants Negroes, being charged with larceny of clothes.

James Redmon, accused of the larceny of a top coat from T. A. Smoot, was bound over to County court under bond of $300. Redmon is alleged to have stolen the coat from Smoot's automobile.

Charlie Harris was ordered held under bond of $300 for having appeared in Superior court on a charge of the larceny of a suit of clothes from the home of Henry Smith.

Out of a potential electrical power of 16,000,000 kilowatts on the Mississippi river and its tributaries, only 2,000,000 have been utilized.

FILE CHARGES AGAINST FORD

Complaint Alleges Unfair Practices at St. Louis

St. Louis, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The National Labor Relations Board issued a complaint today charging the Ford Motor Company with unfair labor practices in its St. Louis assembly plant. A hearing was set for December 16.

Charges against the company were filed with the board October 25 by the UAWA, which called a strike at the plant a week ago, alleging discrimination against its members.

Milton Johnson, plant manager, served with the complaint by Miss Dorothy DeSchweitz, National Labor Relations Board regional director, specifically denied each of the union charges.

The complaint alleged that the company has "interfered with, restrained and coerced its employees in the exercise of their right to self-organization" by:

- 1.—Threatening to discharge employees who wore union buttons in the plant or showed other evidence of union membership.
2.—Threatening to discharge employees who refuse to sign a statement that they were satisfied with working conditions and the company's labor policy.
3.—Preparing and disseminating "loyalty pledges" and urging and compelling employees to sign them.
4.—Threatening to close the plant and move it to another city unless employees halted labor activities and drop any union affiliation.
5.—Keeping all union and organizational activities under "strict surveillance."
6.—Using armed guards for the intimidation of employees seeking to exercise the right of self-organization.

Teachers To Gather Here Next Wednesday

Approximately 50 History and Geography teachers from Pitt, Greene and Beaufort counties will gather here Wednesday, December 8, for a meeting sponsored by the State Department of Education.

The session, scheduled to start at 3:30 P. M. and continue until 6 o'clock, will be held in the High School building.

MOVING DAY IS ON AT PENDERLEA PROJECT

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Moving day has hit Penderlea, one of the administration's early subsidized homestead projects in North Carolina.

The farm security administration, now in charge of the project, informed Representative Graham A. Barden (D.-NC.) that a number of families would leave Penderlea before next planting season. Some already have moved.

Barden said he was informed some of the families were being moved because they had not properly applied themselves in their new surroundings, while others have been attracted by the lure of employment elsewhere.

PRAISES SPIRIT OF COMMUNITY

High State and Military Officials In Attendance

The $46,000 Armory was officially opened here this afternoon at dedicatory exercises marked by an address by Governor Hoey and the presence of high state and military officials.

The program got under way with a parade down the main business streets shortly after 4 o'clock. At the completion of the parade in front of the new structure, the Colors were raised over the Armory for the first time and the program was continued on the inside of the WPA built Armory, the cost of which was shared by the city, county and WPA.

Capt. Frank Dean, chaplain of the 120 Infantry of the North Carolina National Guard, made the invocation, after which George W. Coan, Jr., State WPA administrator, turned the keys to the building over to Mayor M. K. Blount, who in turn presented them to Capt. J. H. Waldrop, commanding officer of Battery A, 113th Field Artillery of the National Guard, the local unit which will be housed in the new building.

A number of visiting dignitaries were introduced after which Roy T. Cox, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, introduced the Governor.

Governor Hoey praised the "United Community spirit and enterprise" in North Carolina as he spoke at the dedication exercises.

The Governor said the people of the state more than ever before realize the benefits of co-operative efforts.

"The construction and dedication of this armory building represents a worthwhile community achievement," the Governor said. "It is more than a home for your splendid military unit. It is capable of becoming much of a community center and consequently a community asset."

"In this day we are thinking in terms of community life. During recent years we have made substantial progress in broadening our view and enlarging our horizon above and beyond merely our personal interests or material needs, and we are constantly thinking in terms of our community, our county, state and nation. Every community undertaking tends to unite us in service to each other and recognition of the value of united action and effort for the accomplishment of things of value to the whole people."

"We realize the importance of co-operative efforts in education, agriculture, business and industry and the more we work together and understand the problems to be dealt with and solved in each line of activity, the better conditions will become and the greater success can be attained."

"There is no reason for hostility between laborer and employer, farmer and manufacturer, business man and mechanic or any other profession or calling. We are all comprised in the term community life and the more contribution we make in thought and effort into solving community problems the more unity and harmony will exist among all elements of the community."

"North Carolina has no large cities, but a great many prosperous and growing cities, towns and villages and in addition to these, many rural communities where the real life of a great people finds expression in community activities in promotion of the common good. The peace and harmony prevailing throughout the states in towns and country is more gratifying and is largely the result of united community spirit and enterprise."

Directs Sale

Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Pitt county health officer and executive secretary of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association, is directing the sale of Christmas seals here this year. Dr. Ennett is serving as general chairman for the entire county.

TO BEGIN SALE OF SEALS HERE

Mrs. J. H. B. Moore To Conduct Campaign in City

The sale of Christmas seals by the local Tuberculosis Association will get under way officially tomorrow morning, with Mrs. J. H. B. Moore conducting the campaign in the city. She will be aided by an able corps of workers.

All purchasers of seals will be given a double barred bangle in with the request that they wear them so that they will not be so-called again.

Mrs. Moore declared that with such a "fine group of workers there can be little question about the success of the sale."

Mayor M. K. Blount issued a statement in which he urged the citizens to buy generously of the seals "to the end that we may, to the best of our ability, eradicate the 'great white plague' from our midst."

The statement follows: "As the Holiday season approaches, our thoughts again turn to the annual Christmas Seal sale. 'Notwithstanding the fact that the death rate from tuberculosis has declined remarkably within the past twenty-five years, this disease is still the leading cause of death between the ages of fifteen and forty-five, killing 70,000 persons in our nation last year, and whereas the citizens of Greenville have generously supported the Seal Sale in the past, and whereas further progress in the control of tuberculosis can be made only in proportion (Continued on Page Five)

1,000 Persons Idle In Durham Strike

Durham, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Walk-out of 50 bobbin men, 25 on each of the eight-hour shifts, threw 1,000 Erwin Cotton mill employees out of work at the No. 4 plant here today. The No. 1 and No. 6 mills here and the plants at Cooleemee and Erwin were unaffected.

Conferees between mill officials and an employees' committee this morning prompted the committee to summon a meeting of workers for discussion of the situation after which another employee-employer conference will be held.

The mill gates opened as usual this morning and the 500 day shift laborers went to their posts, but the lack of bobbins kept the great looms idle.

W. H. Ruffin, secretary of the Erwin Manufacturing Co., explained larger bobbins had been introduced in keeping with competitive change. "Running longer," he explained, "the bobbins necessitated fewer changes and made it possible for the bobbin-changers to tend more looms. No reduction in wages was suggested nor any change in hours. By reason of the larger bobbin, the workers' load remains the same and the few surplus workers were to be retained in other departments of the mill."

A similar change was made at the No. 1 mill recently without incident.

SEVERAL MORE ARE CONVICTED

Alleged "Big-Time" Bootleggers Face Trial Here

Several more alleged "big-time" bootleggers were convicted in the special criminal session of Pitt Superior court here this morning and yesterday afternoon. Judge J. H. Clement has reserved judgment in each of the liquor cases which have been tried this week. Up to the noon recess today 21 liquor cases had been tried, 21 defendants having been found guilty. Not a single one of the several tried yesterday afternoon and this morning was acquitted of the charge.

Defendants who faced liquor charges in the latest sessions follow: Alice Winston, Freeman Finch, Bill Harrington, Charlie Atkinson, Robert Forbes, liquor and gambling, Dewey Forbes, Jim Gray, Moses Ham, L. A. Randolph, Viola Jones, Henry Manning and Warren Bell. Just before the noon recess was taken today Herbert Cox, who is charged with selling liquor, went on trial. He was convicted.

NINE PERMITS FOR BUILDINGS

Total Of Last Month For Work to Cost $30,900.00

Nine building permits were issued for new construction or alterations in Greenville during November to cost a total of $30,900. Permits were issued for several expensive dwelling houses, the cost of one of which was estimated at $9,000.

During October only seven permits were issued for construction to cost $7,715.

Issued during November were the following permits:

R. M. Garrett, one-story, five room frame dwelling on Broad street between Long and Wade, estimated cost $1,500.

B. T. Clark, one story, one room brick repair shop on Clark street between Atlantic and Pitt, $4,000.

Lawrence Anderson, alter two-story dwelling on Pitt between Green and Clark, $500.

Paschall Norfleet, one story, six room wood dwelling on Fleming between Davis and Third, $1,350.

W. B. Shoe one story, 10 room brick dwelling on Chestnut between Dickinson avenue and Myrtle, $6,500.

T. S. Wagner, two story, eight room brick dwelling on Fifth street in front of the college property, $9,000.

AMERICAN FLAGS ALSO GIVEN BACK

Assertion That Banner Had Not Been Thrown In Whangpoo Are Confirmed

Shanghai, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The Japanese navy returned to its owners today with apologies an American-owned launch, seizure of which by Japanese sailors yesterday drew a protest from the United States Consul General.

Apparently disturbed by strong reaction in the United States the Japanese returned two American flags with the vessel.

They also handed back to their owners two Italian vessels with apologies that their seizure yesterday was "all a mistake."

Japanese assertions that Japanese sailors had not thrown the United States flag into the Whangpoo river when they took over the vessel were confirmed by United States consulate officials.

The William Hunt Steamship Company, owner of the launch, had reported the alleged disrespect to the flag to American Consul General Clarence Gauss who protested yesterday against seizure of American property and discourtesy to the flag.

Japanese forces had seized a number of Chinese vessels to transport supplies and troops to the interior for their drive against Nanking. Reinforcements moved steadily forward.

Japanese reported capture of Kiangyin forts, where Chinese had blockaded the Yangtze approach to Nanking with a boom of sunken junk.

81-Year-Old Man Claimed By Death

Jesse Mumford, 81, died at his home at 202 East Ninth street, this morning at five o'clock from a lingering illness.

Mr. Mumford was reared in Pitt County near Gritton and had spent his entire life in the county. He moved to Greenville three years ago from Ayden. Mr. Mumford was a member of the Ayden Christian Church.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Christian church in Ayden tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock by his pastor, Rev. W. F. Bronson, assisted by Rev. R. H. Pittman, of Ayden.

Burial will be in the Ayden cemetery.

The George B. Singletary Chapter of the U. D. C. will meet Thursday afternoon at 3:30 with Mrs. F. C. Harding.

International Party.
French and Irish peasants, Hawaiians, Gypsies, Americans, Spaniards, Mexicans, Italians, Chinese and Japanese were among the national groups portrayed by the young people of the Eighth Street Christian Church at an International party given in the church Tuesday night.

Besides those from the United States there were one other nation represented by a native daughter, Mrs. Wyatt Brown, who was born in Scotland. In her dress of Stuart plaid and accessories of the native Scottish dress, Mrs. Brown brought the interest of the party to a climax.

The affair began with the March of the Nations, as the forty-odd party-ites marched to musical airs from England, Japan, Scotland, Italy, China and the United States played by Betty Forrest. An international atmosphere increased as games were played and folk songs from England, the Smoky mountains and Czechoslovakia were sung. Margaret Moore, Hazel Garris and Ann Garrett composed the committee that planned the party.

Reception For Bridal Couple.
Close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barrett and members of the college faculty were entertained last night at a reception in honor of the newly married couple, from eight-thirty to ten-thirty, by Ragsdale Hall members, in the beautifully decorated parlors of the Hall.

Miss Mamie E. Jenkins and Miss Frances Wahl received at the door; and Miss Alice V. Wilson and Miss Lucille Charlton ushered the guests to the stairway, where girls guided them to the cloak-rooms.
Mr. and Mrs. Burke Stancill presented the guests to the receiving line, composed of Miss Ola Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett, President and Mrs. Leon R. Meadows, Miss Sue Barrett, Alton Barrett and Miss Sallie J. Davis.

At the end of the receiving line, guests were met by Miss Emma Hooper, Miss Mary Dormer, and Miss Elizabeth Brown, who directed them to the room where the wedding gifts were on display.
In the gift room were Miss Dora Coates, Miss Lois V. Gorrell and Miss Laura Rose.
From the gift room, the callers went to sign the guest register, in charge of Miss Ellen Bowen, Miss Lucille Norton, Miss Rosaline Ivey and Miss Mary Caughey.
They were directed to the refreshment table by Miss Lucille Turner, Miss Annie Newell, Miss Velma Lowe, Miss Parmelia Gwynn, and Miss Lena Ellis.

At the table, Miss Kate Lewis, Miss Ann Redwine, Miss Cleo Rainwater, and Miss Helen Spangler presided.
The dainty refreshments were served by Miss Lucy Nulton, Miss Louise Williams, Miss Kathleen Plumb, Miss Hazel Willis and Miss Lois Grigsby.
The rooms were decorated with baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums, and baskets and sprays of green. The central stairway railing was covered with ivy.
The centerpiece for the table was a wedding cake of several tall layers, with a wedding party in miniature of tiny dolls dressed appropriately.
The guest list was restricted to close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Barrett and members of the college faculty and staff.

Junior Woman's Club Meets.
Members of the Junior Woman's Club held a delightful meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. F. Evans, Jr.

End of the Century Book Club.
Mrs. E. B. Ficklen charmingly entertained the End of the Century Club Tuesday afternoon at her home on Fifth street.
Mrs. J. S. Ficklen, president, conducted a short business session, at which time the club voted to provide Christmas cheer for some needy family.
Mrs. C. A. White had charge of the program for the afternoon and gave an excellent interpretation of Walter Damroch's life.
Although he called himself an "American" musician, he was born in Breslau, Prussia, of German parents, and came to America at the age of nine. The story of his life is a thrilling account of a child reared by a talented father and an understanding mother, in a home that was poor as far as money was concerned, but rich in culture and traditions.
His accomplishments are too numerous to mention, but any account of his life would be incomplete without a word concerning him as a great Philharmonic conductor, as a writer of operas and as a teacher of music appreciation over the air.
All of these points and many others were clearly outlined by Mrs. White who has had the privilege of listening to this great musician many times.
At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Ficklen assisted by Mrs. J. S. Ficklen and Mrs. R. M. Garrett, served a most delicious salad course.—Reported.

Clio Club.
Mrs. Jesse R. Moyer was gracious hostess to the Clio Book Club on Tuesday afternoon at 3:45. In the absence of the president, Mrs. W. W. Morgan, vice-president, presided.
After the usual routine of business a most enjoyable program on the life and works of Zona Gale was given by Miss Helen Spangler and Mrs. Aubrey Shackel. Miss Spangler presented in a most interesting manner the life of Zona Gale. In her talk she brought out that not only is she known for her poems, novels, newspaper work, short stories and ballads, but she is also known for her beauty. At one time she received the Pulitzer Prize for her play "Miss Lulu Bett."
Mrs. Shackel very ably reviewed a play "Mr. Pitts," a short story "Exit Charity," and a novel "Bordala," by Miss Gale.
After current events and distribution of the tuberculous Christmas seals the hostess served a delicious salad course with coffee.—Reported.

Memorial Baptist Church.
The mid-week service of fellowship and praise will be held tonight at 7:30 in Memorial Baptist Church. The service will be in charge of the Women's Missionary Society, and they will present the program of the Week of Prayer for World Wide Missions at this time. ## SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Dec. 1.—This is almost another "Believe It Or Not" culled from a letter written by John A.
Castle of Watauga county, to the Division of Agricultural Statistics of the Department of Agriculture, for which he has been a crop reporter for 28 years:

"My wife and I were married the eighth month, the eighth day of 1908. We have eight children, the oldest 23, the youngest eight, one born on the eighth. I have been reporting for 28 years. My age is twice 28."

And here's an item society editors can crib if they wish. Thursday night at the Women's Club in Raleigh a reception will be held for members and guests of the State Literary and Historical Association, the North Carolina Folk-Lore Society and the State Art Society. The reception will follow addresses of Dr. W. T. Laprade, president of the association, and of LeGarde Blithe, literary editor of the Charlotte Observer.

In the receiving line will stand:
Dr. C. C. Crittenden, secretary of the association and Mrs. Crittenden;
Dr. and Mrs. Laprade; Mr.
and Mrs. Blithe, Dr. Hubert Mc-Neill Potat, first vice-president of the association, and Mrs. Potat; Miss Nell Battie Lewis, second vice-president; Mr. George McCoy, third vice-president, and Mrs. McCoy; Mrs. Katherine Pundleton Arrington,
president of the Art Society; Dr. George P. Wilson, president of the Folk-Lore Society, and Mrs.
Wilson.

Burnham Standish Colburn, who will announce the Mayflower Cup award Friday night, is a direct descendant of Miles Stanish, of the Pilgrims who was immortalized by Longfellow.

Although he is in the hospital receiving treatment for an ear ailment, Senator Robert R. Reynolds is continuing his letter to weekly papers of North Carolina.

In this week's letter he has this to say of crop control legislation:

"It is already evident that a farm bill alone will not help the farmer unless there is along with it better control of marketing and distribution. It is here that the farmer has been really hurt. It has resulted in the grower who nurses a farm commodity from seed to sale, getting far less for his commodity than the middleman who sells it. In addition, it is also realized that any permanent help for agriculture will include a plan whereby the farmers will not buy in a protected market and sell in an unprotected market.
This, of course, involves tariff changes, always a highly controversial legislative subject."

Governor Clyde R. Hoey isn't going to pick a successor to Capus Waynick as director of the Division of Purchase and Contract without giving the matter very serious consideration. Says he:
"I'd rather think a long time now about whom I shall appoint than think a long time afterward that I wish I hadn't made a hasty choice."

One of the last batches of stuff on which Mr. Waynick will receive proposals (December 9) includes cheese, shortening, flour, toilet tissue, paper towels, corrugated metal pipe, concrete pipe, lubricants, structural and miscellaneous steel and wiping rags.

North Carolina's 380 flocks (70-829 birds) of demonstration layers produced 11,894,698 eggs during the past year, according to C. F. Parrish, extension poultry specialist at State College.

Night Club Eyes Convent.
Warsaw, Poland.—(AP)—Proposed transformation of an old convent, here into a modern night club has brought frowns from the city fathers.
Authorities protest the convent is too valuable historically to be rebuilt.

Profitable crops cannot generally be grown without irrigation where the annual rainfall is less than 15 inches.

SANTA THE WHITE FOX

By SIGRID ARNE

THEY STARTED DOWN FAST AS THE WIND

The story so far: Santa has told the doll of the North, to make up a new game for the toyshop because she has saddened the toys with a song she sang.

CHAPTER THREE
The Strange Little Man
Helga didn't sleep very well that night. "Game" she thought to herself. "What's a game?"

You remember Santa had told her at bedtime that she must think up a game for the toyshop to play the next day.

She rose and went to the window. Like magic it slid open just high enough for her to keep outside. Suddenly from above her a bright flash of light fell from the sky and stopped right in front of her. There stood a slender little man who gleamed as bright as a thousand candles.

"How do you do?" he asked.

"This is strange," said Helga. "Who are you?"

"I'm the North Star," said the man. "Santa made you from materials I gathered."

"Then maybe you can tell me why I feel so strange in the toyshop. The other dolls are so giddy."

"That I can," said the little man. "You have something of the lone-some spirit of the North. From our people came all the men who sailed the Seven Seas. They were alone so much they grew to like it, and so did their children's children."

A New Game
"Seat!" said Helga, her eyes flashing. "What are they like?"

"Just like water and sky," said the Star. "I see them every night when I cross the heavens."

A CHAMPION FROM CAROLINA TELLS 'EM HOW!

GRAND OPERA LURES LIBBY

Libby Holman, the torch singer and widow of the late Smith Reynolds of Winston-Salem, and Colonel Lucius Beebe were among the well known New Yorkers who trooped to the cocktail lounge on opening night at the Metropolitan Opera House. Of course you can't see it in this picture, but Libby appeared without stockings—with toenails polished very, very red.

little girl." said Helga. "That's what's worrying me. Santa said I must teach the toys a game."

The North Star broke into loud laughter. "I'm sure you don't know what a game is."

"I don't."

"Just what I thought. People of the North are usually serious. Well, a game is something that's fun."

"Like going to sea?" asked Helga.

"No. But like skiing."

"What is skiing?" asked the doll.

Big Surprise
"Wait, I'll show you," said the Star. He flashed off across the top of a nearby hill, and then suddenly returned, half flying and half walking. He was sliding on two long, slender bars of silver. He turned swiftly in front of Helga and came to a stop in a flurry of snow.

"So. Lady. That's skiing. Here's a pair for you," he said.

Helga stepped onto tiny skis like his, and he tied them on her feet. Then the Star led her to the top of a hill and they started down the other side fast as the wind.

"Let's not stop," cried Helga.

So they skied all night until the red sun colored the horizon. When they returned to the toyshop there was a big surprise for Helga. Stacked against the door were enough tiny skis for the whole toyshop, and two large pairs for Santa and Mrs. Santa.

"Oh, thank you," said Helga. "Come back tomorrow night so I can tell you what happened."

NOTICE OF ADVERTISEMENT OF SALE OF LAND FOR NON-PAYMENT OF TAXES
North Carolina—Pitt County Superior Court.
Town of Greenville
-vs-
J. F. Lavenport and wife, Blanche F. Davenport.
By virtue and in pursuance of three decrees of the Superior Court made in the above entitled causes on November 8, 1937, the undersigned, a commissioner appointed for the purposes therein named (it being a suit to foreclose the lien on the hereinafter described land held by the county for the non-payment of taxes) will expose for sale to the highest bidder, at public auction for cash on Monday, the 20th day of December, 1937 at the court house door in the city of Greenville, North Carolina, at 12 o'clock, M., the following lots of land situated in the County of Pitt, State of North Carolina, described as follows:
That certain lot or parcel of land lying on the South side of Fifth Street in the Town of Greenville, N. C., adjoining the property of Mrs. Nannie D. Holloman, and the Moye property and others, and being well known as the home place of the said J. F. and Blanche F. Davenport.

Still Coughing?
No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

The Characters

Nina, ex-debutante, impulsively married David, but really loved her stepfather. Now she loves David and loathes Richard.

Richard, the suave, handsome stepfather, tried to entice Nina into a secret love affair.

Honey, Nina's gay, childish mother who is wild about Richard, develops a serious heart ailment.

David, a bright young auto salesman with a small salary, belatedly suspects Nina of caring too much for Richard.

Chapter 51

David's Note

AS NINA walked back to the Ritz, she was trying to be a Pollyanna, and think how she might have gone on just thinking how cunning and gay David was, and how much she liked the color of his hair, if there had been no Richard to compare him with. How she might have missed really—appreciating him... and his love.

She took a taxi and drove to the station.

Seven fifty-five.

It was damp and smelly. Unexpected puffs of steam came out from under the engine as she walked by, on the wet boards to her parlor car; two cars bumped up against each other with a crash and locked, and Nina jumped nervously.

All her fears came back. She shivered, and was miserable.

"North Philadelphia, next stop!"

Heavens, were they only that far? And she realized it was the same cry, and the same conductor, and the same thought on her part, as the evening before.

At 10:55 they pulled into the Pennsylvania station. At 11 she was on her way home.

Would David, by some happy chance, have overlooked, with no Nina to tug him into unreasonableness? Was there any possibility that he might still be at home?

"Button," she called, "Darling Button, are you here?"

But she didn't mean that, because she was suggesting Button close. She meant David.

And when she spoke to the dog, she said: "Good—old David. There, there, David..." and didn't know what she was saying.

She was sobbing, too, and she didn't know that either.

Now that the ordeal of getting herself back was over, she seemed drained of all strength.

With one hand on Button's bony head, she went to the telephone. She had dialed the number of the saleroom, and the operator was just answering, when she saw the note. She put the receiver down, and stared at the white envelope.

She could see: "Nina" written across the front. It was propped on the mantel—where it stood out against the blue walls.

"Nina."

Not scrawled—hastily—the way David scribbled down telephone messages—or memoranda—or the way he tore off a note to her, if he had gone out unexpectedly.

But "Nina." The letters were formed with precision. The whole underlined.

Even before she read it, her spirits had reached a new low mark. Her heart had never been so near to standing still.

"This is the End"

"NINA..."

"You will understand why this is the end of you and me, as a team—if we ever were one—when I tell you that your mother called this morning... from the 74th street house. Don't worry—I didn't give you and Richard away, but she told me of her own accord that she had decided not to go to Tuxedo, but that as her husband had run down to Atlantic City for a day or so she would like you to come and stay with her if you could... Well, that's the story. It pretty well covers the situation, as far as I can see, and it pretty well washes us up, doesn't it? I've tried not to see what was going on, Nina, because I loved you pretty terribly, and... anyway, I just hung on, like a fool. But I'm through, now. Exit David, and so forth... Do what you like with the furniture we bought—I've cleared out my own personal things. I'll send you a check in a day or so—and later on we can get together on what are the necessary arrangements? Well, that's that, I guess, but no, there's one question I'd like to ask you... Would you have really taken that new apartment? Let me sign up for another year of this sort of thing? Do you call that... oh, Lord, what the hell? What difference does it make—now?..."

Something else was started, and when it had been crossed out, it was just signed: "David"...

way down at the bottom. It was the one thing that wasn't written quite—steadily....

"I'm sorry, Mrs. Day, Mr. Day is in conference with the manager."

"In—conference?"

"Yes, Mrs. Day. I'll have him call you."

Cordelia, bubbling with tears, burst in on Nina, tomorrow.

beautiful of the 21 erected throughout the state by the WPA.

Following a brief respite after the official ceremonies, a dinner was to be served to members of the National Guard, visiting and local dignitaries.

Between dinner and time for the dance members of the local unit of the National Guard and officials were invited to be guests of the State theatre, where an appropriate picture, "Twenty-three and One-Half Hour Leave" was being shown.

The program will be brought to a close with the dance in the Armory, scheduled to start at 10 o'clock. Joe Haymes and his orchestra will furnish the music. The dance is being put on as a script affair, but a number of high officials and the National Guard will be invited guests.

What To Do— If Caught In A Severe Lightning Storm

1. If there's a choice of shelter, run for:

A. A large metal or metal-frame building—because it's grounded.

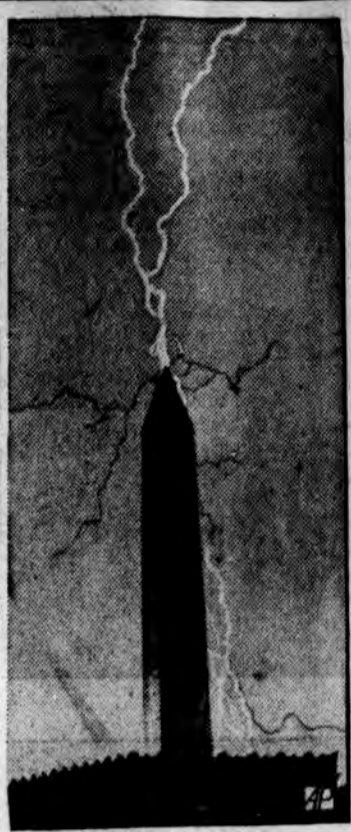

B. A building protected by independently grounded lightning rods.

C. A large unprotected building.

D. A small unprotected building.

2. Once inside, keep away from the radio, telephone, overhead wires, electric light circuits, screened doors and windows if open, stove, fireplace, lightning conductors, downspouts, bath tub.

3. If unavoidably out of doors, stay away from isolated trees, wire fences, hill tops, wide open spaces, small sheds in exposed spots. Best bet: head for thick timber, a cave depression in the ground, deep valley or canyon, or vicinity of steep cliff.

Lightning kills about 500 persons a year in the United States and injures an estimated 1,300. But actual danger from it is small, says W. H. Cameron, managing director of the National Safety Council in Chicago, except when a person exposes himself to the out-of-doors danger spots listed above. And he usually can avoid these.

Lightning clips nine-tenths of its victims in rural districts, rarely anyone in a modern home or office.

It's a good idea to stay out of swimming pools during a storm. And, contrary to many folks' impression, you're no safer in a car than walking along the ground.

When lightning does strike someone, call a doctor and start immediately the same artificial respiration used on a drowned person.

Slot Machine Arguments Heard By Supreme Court

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, Dec. 1.—Another chapter in the apparently interminable slot machine controversy has been written in Supreme court with argument of the case of Joseph Calcutt, trading as the Vending Machine Company against N. H. McGeachy, sheriff of Cumberland county; Barney McBryde, chief of police of the city of Fayetteville; and A. A. F. Seawell Attorney-General of the State of North Carolina.

Appearing for the plaintiffs, Kenneth C. Royall, member of the law firm of Ehringhaus, Royall, Gosney and Smith contended that the legislation against the machines is unconstitutional and void for a number of reasons.

The plaintiff's counsel summarized their contentions briefly:

1. As to coin-operated amusement machines which give no return of any kind, the Legislature cannot enact a total prohibition of their manufacture, sale, possession and operation.

2. The Legislature cannot total-

Taxes Highest In History But Still Being Boosted

Raleigh, Dec. 1.—Total state and local taxes in North Carolina were the highest in history for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1937—and they are still going up.

When the total tax bill of the state reached $106,534,960 for 1936-37 it was the second time in history that it had passed the hundred million mark, according to figures compiled by Henry Brandis Jr. of the Institute of Government and published in the November issue of "Popular Government," magazine of the Institute.

This "total tax bill" includes taxes actually collected by the state and taxes levied, whether collected or not, by counties and cities. It can be seen, therefore, that the tax receipts of all agencies was something short of the imposing total mentioned.

One of the interesting features of Mr. Brandis' figures and table shows the general trend of centralization of activities the state with a consequent increase in the percentage of the total tax bill claimed by the state.

For instance in 1929-30, the first occasion on which the bill passed the hundred million mark, the state collected $36,776,963, or 36 per cent of the total of $102,131,265, while county taxes amounted to $37,325,572 district taxes to $10,951,262 and city taxes to $17,077,462.

Against this the huge 1936-7 bill was made up of $68,686,326 or 64.5 per cent, in state taxes, $21,330,270 in county taxes, only $3,043,824 in district taxes, and $13,494,540 in city taxes.

Thus it appears that only the state claims more taxes now than seven years ago.

As a matter of fact the proportion of state to local taxes has almost exactly reversed since 1930.

DRAW REQUEST FOR REHEARING

State To Continue Fight in Tuckertown Power Case

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, Dec. 1.—The State of North Carolina will continue its fight against the principle of federal control of water power laid down in the recent decision of the Federal Power Commission in the now-famous Tuckertown case.

Assistant Attorney General Harry McMullan is preparing a petition for a rehearing which will be filed with the Power Commission within the next two weeks. Under rules of the Commission any party deeming itself injuriously affected by one of its rulings has thirty days in which to petition for a rehearing.

The Tuckertown decision was rendered November 16. It required the Aluminum Corporation to get a Federal license before beginning a proposed $6,000,000 power project including a hydro-electric power plant dam on the Yadkin river.

Under Federal law, filing of a petition for rehearing is a condition necessary before appeal can be taken to court. If after the rehearing plea is made, there is no decision, or an adverse decision by the Commission within sixty days, then any party injuriously affected may appeal the Commission ruling to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the district wherein the utility affected is located, or to the Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Two-Way Television Set To Be Exhibited

Durham, Dec. 1.—A demonstration of two-way television, an addition to the television set, was demonstrated by Dean Blake R. Van Leer, of North Carolina State College, and three technical papers, will be features of the fall meeting of the North Carolina section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, at Duke University on Friday.

Papers to be read at the afternoon session will be by J. P. May, transformer engineer of the General Electric Company, Atlanta; George O. Basson and Albert Mil-mow, of Charlottte; and Harold L. Flowers, Duke electrical engineering student. The television demonstration will be following Mr. Flowers' talk. Afterwards the Duke electrical engineering laboratories will be inspected.

Prof. Walter J. Seeley, of Duke, is chairman of the section and will preside over the sessions. Prof. Otto Meier, Jr., also of Duke, is section secretary. New officer, will be elected.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The stock market plugged along in the doldrums today, with price changes tending to the off-sides, but mostly by fractions.

Toward the final hour many leading issues were unchanged or down on trafficking margins.

Bonds were DOWN and mixed.

New York Cotton

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, two higher to three lower, with steadier Liverpool cables offset by larger private crop estimates and Wall street liquidation.

March sold off from 7.97 to 7.90. Shortly after the first half hour that delivery was selling at 7.92 and the list was net unchanged to five points lower.

March sold up from 7.90 to 7.97 on scattered buying and around the midway the list was about net unchanged to one point higher.

HEAD OF COMMUNIST PARTY
TO SPEAK AT UNC THURSDAY

Chapel Hill, Dec. 1.—Earl Browder, head of the Communist Party, will speak at the University of North Carolina in Memorial hall Thursday night at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Carolina Political union, non-partisan student organization, which brings to the campus from time to time speakers representing different shades of political opinion.

Mr. Browder began labor activities when an active member of the Socialist Party. One of the many campaigns in which he took part was the fight to keep America out of the World War. For refusing to register in the United States army he and his brother served a year in jail. Re-entering the Socialist party he founded the "Workers World" weekly.

NATIONAL GUARD OFFICIALS

Shown above are four officers of the 113th Field Artillery of the North Carolina National Guard, who took an important part in the Army dedication exercises here this afternoon. Capt. J. H. Waldrop, commanding officer, is shown at top left. He received the key to the building in behalf of the unit. Top right is shown Capt. Worth Wicker, Chaplain. First Lieut. Leon Brock and Second Lieut. Howard Moye are the two other officers shown. Second Lieut. William S. Tyson is not shown in the picture.

For a reasonable relish put three cups of cranberries through a food chopper. Follow these with one orange which has been cut in half and freed of seeds. (The rind and pulp are used, however.) Add one and a half cups of sugar and let the combination chill for several hours. Half a cup of crushed pineapple may be added.

To save time in making starch for a large family wash first make a very stiff starch. Put articles requiring the most starch—such as collars and cuffs—into this. Then dilute the mixture with warm water and starch the rest of the laundry.

Carpet has come out from under the bed!

A new idea
for the floor around your beds—at moderate cost

Here's an innovation for that hard-to-handle floor space around your beds—a smooth, tailored unit of Bigelow Lokweave Broadloom carpeting... especially designed to give you carpeting where you want it and not where you don't need it. It's economical because you pay only for the carpet used—not for the "hole in the doughnut"!

Come and let us tell you more about this new Lokweave idea—let us figure the cost of custom-fitting it around your bed or beds. And let us show you the way we can work in a design motif—one of ours or a special one for you!
