DENY REQUEST OF RAILROADS TO BOOST RATE

Petition Had Asked For Increase of 15 Per Cent

DELAY FEARED IN FINANCIAL HELP

Ruling Comes Shortly After Roosevelt Asked Commission Preserve Solvency

Washington, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission overruled today a petition by the nation's railroads for an immediate 15 per cent increase in freight rates.

The action was announced by Commissioner Clyde Atchison at the outset of this afternoon's hearing on the carriers' request for a permanent rate increase in that amount.

The announcement came shortly after President Roosevelt said the commission should seek to preserve the solvency of the nation's railroads with a view to retaining them under private management and private ownership.

Discussing the financial situation of the carriers at a press conference, the President said the quick final determination was reached on the roads' application for higher freight rates the better it would be for all.

Disappointed railroad leaders expressed belief that the commission's refusal to grant the temporary request might mean a delay in obtaining financial relief until next April 1.

Mr. Roosevelt said the administration had no definite plan to help the railroads, adding that the Interstate Commerce Commission was the only Federal agency authorized to deal with the problem.

He said he wanted to avoid government ownership, but at the same time railroad receiverships would not continue without some steps being taken to adjust their financial organization.

Hanes Chosen For Securities Group

Washington, Dec. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt named John W. Hanes, formerly of Winston-Salem, N. C., and Jerome Frank of New York today to be members of the Securities Commission.

Hanes is senior partner of the New York Stock Exchange firm of Charles G. Barney and company. He has been with the concern 29 years and is a former governor of the New York Stock Exchange. Before joining the Barney company he was with the American Tobacco Company.

Fire of undetermined origin caused approximately $25 or $30 damage to the mill section of the Bount Fertilizer company early this morning.

The alarm came in at 12:15 A. M. The blaze started upstairs and Fire Department Chief George Gardner said he was unable to determine the cause.

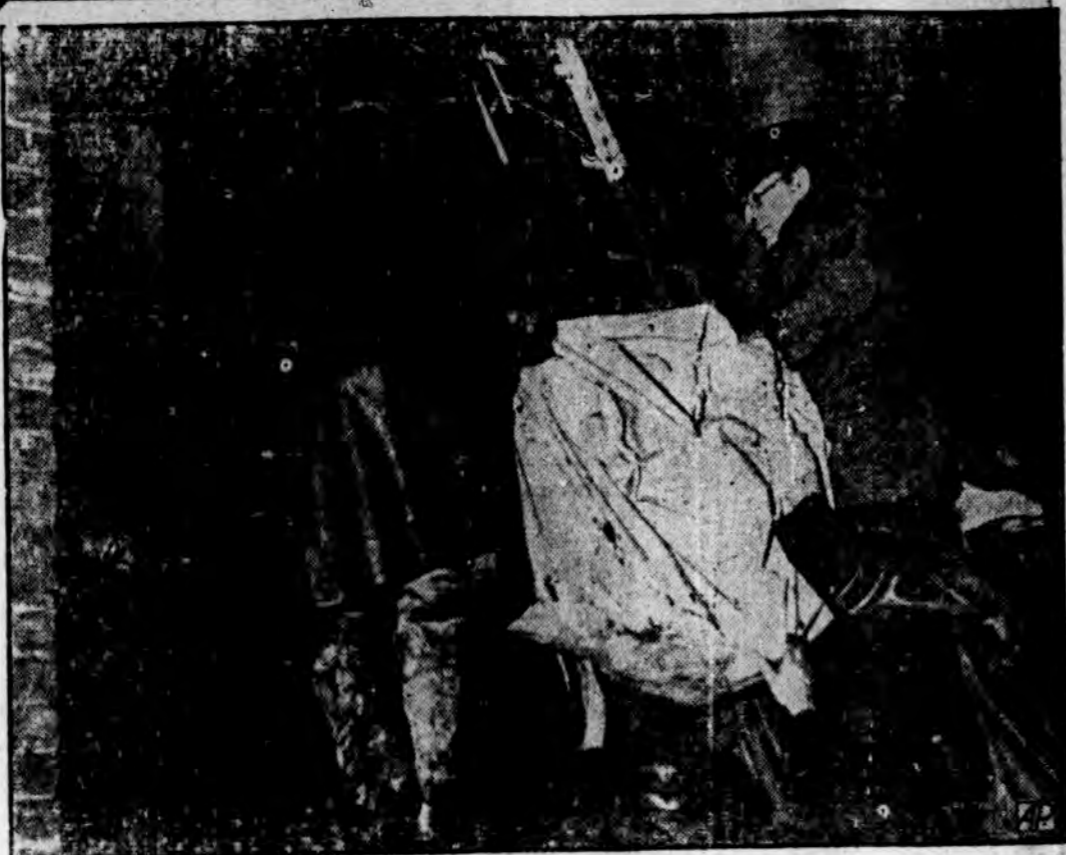

Firemen were called out again this morning at 8:30 when the chimney of George Cherry's house at the corner of Grand and Chestnut burned out. No damage was caused, however, Chief Gardner said.

Greenville Market Closes With Average Of $26.35

HOUSE BUSY ON CROP CONTROL

Several Amendments Pushed Aside Speed Final Vote

Washington, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The House rejected a Republican proposal today to compel use of civil service employees in administering the pending farm program.

The proposal came from Rep. Luce (R-Mass.) and brought from Rep. Treadway, also Republican, of Massachusetts, a word of caution to Democrats not to send requests for $25 contributions "to further the administration of the Roosevelt administration" to civil service employees.

Luce's was one of several minor amendments the House swept aside in the push toward a final vote.

Chairman Jones (D-Tex.) pleaded during the debate for members to vote for or against the bill, but not send it back to committee.

Ministers Select Officers For Year

At the meeting of the Greenville Ministerial Association Wednesday officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Rev. Robert C. Grady; Secretary-Treasurer, Rev. Clarence Patrick.

It was voted that, since such congregation will have certain activities connected with the Christmas program of the church which will be largely congregational and denominational, that the Sunday evening of December 19, be used, as far as possible, for such activities, taking the place of the usual Union singing service.

Final announcements were made concerning the service on December 25th when the Singer of Psalms Jesse P. Robertson, will present a Christmas program. Mr. Robertson will be remembered for his visit to Greenville last year when a capacity audience heard his reverent interpretations of Hebrew customs and characters.

New Dealer Being Sought For Jackson Day Speaker

Raleigh, Dec. 10.—Democratic Party leaders are seeking a "New Dealer" as speaker for the Jackson Day dinner scheduled to be held here January 3.

From National Committeeman, A. D. (Len) Folger down they want no repetition of the notorious Victory Dinner speech of Senator McClellin in which the Marylander never once mentioned the name of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, whose election he was supposed to be celebrating.

First choice of the committee in charge of the Jackson Day event was Senator James Byrnes, of South Carolina, but it has been learned that the Palmetto state senator will be unavailable.

Efforts are being made to secure Senator Arthur Smathers, of New Jersey, who is Tar Heel born and Tar Heel bred though he has resided in Jerseyland for quite a spell.

Money Paid Out Exceeds That for Any Previous Year

The Greenville market today concluded the season's auction sales after 2,509,184 pounds of the golden weed had been sold for $15,551,487.30 had been paid farmers for an official average of $26.35 per hundred pounds.

The season just concluded was considered one of the most successful in the history of the market. The sixteen and one half million dollars paid out here exceeded the sum for any previous year since the mart first started auctions.

Low much of this money went to Pitt county farmers was promotional, but with this the largest tobacco producing county in the world, it stands to reason that a good portion of it was kept at home. Bearing out this is the fact that the local banks report the largest deposits in their history.

The largest amount of money ever paid out here before this year was in 1934 when farmers selling their tobacco here received $18,677,632.78. Only in these two seasons was as much as $16,000,000 paid out by the Greenville market and in only one other year was as much as $15,000,000 paid farmers, in 1919 when the leaf averaged 152.90 a hundred.

The more than $2,000,000 pounds sold here this year was exceeded in only three years, 1928, 1930 and 1933.

Although much of the tobacco sold here this season was grown in this and surrounding counties, farmers from more than 35 counties and three states sold their leaf on the floors of the 16 local warehouses.

The market here opened August 28, on which day an average of $23.62 per hundred was paid. The daily average continued under the $25 figure for several weeks, but toward the middle of the season, when the bulk of the crop was being sold, it jumped to above $30 and with more than a million pounds being sold each day at good prices the average steadily climbed.

The official average of $26.35 struck this season has exceeded only seven times since the market was established, the latest year being 1934, when an average of $31.24 was paid. The next recent year when this season's average was exceeded was in 1925, when farmers received an average of $28.32 per hundred pounds.

Senator Smathers is one of the most ardent and loyal supporters of F. D. R. and the New Deal. Even in the Court fight when so many previously staunch henchmen left the President, the New Jersey man stood firm.

Mr. Smathers is not available to the committee's next choices are, in order, secretary of War Harry H. Woodring and Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson, both these are former national commanders of the American Legion. Both were appointed by and have been faithful to the President.

R. L. McMillan, chairman of the Jackson Day committee and of the Committee trying to raise $12,500 in $25 contributions for the Congressional campaign of 1938, is expected to return to Raleigh today from Nebraska, where he has been trying to prove to a court that a group of clients is entitled to a large share in a fortune.

Santa Claus to Parade Through Streets Friday Night

At a meeting of the Merchants Association this morning, called by President L. A. Stroud, final plans were made for the Christmas shopping season.

CHIEF OF GANG GIVES SELF UP AFTER FLIGHT

Described as 'Brains' in Abduction-Death Syndicate

ONE ACCOMPLICE ALSO BEING HELD

Brooklyn Dancer Listed as One of Victims Slain by Unmerciful Paris Gang

Paris, Dec. 10.—(AP)—"Scarface" Million and Jean "The Little One" Le Blanc, sought by police as accomplices in the slaying-kidnaping gang which numbered among its victims Jean DeKoven, Brooklyn dancer, surrendered to police today.

Million, Paris police said, gave himself up in Paris. Le Blanc surrendered at Versailles.

They had been sought by police throughout southeastern France after sudden departure from Nantua hotel last night. With them then was said to have been a blonde French woman, identified by police as Million's mistress.

Paris, Dec. 10.—(AP)—The asserted scar-faced chief of an abduction death syndicate, whose "expert" in murder" slew Jean de Koven, Brooklyn dancer, escaped a police net and was sought today by patrolmen along the highways of Southeastern France.

With him, police said, were his mistress and a third suspect. Judiciary police said that the three fled last night from Nantua. Authorities identified the alleged leader of the band that sought to build an efficient, profitable business out of kidnaping and death as Roger Million, a Frenchman. His mistress, police said, was a blonde French woman.

Authorities believed Million to be the man who employed Eugene Weidmann, 19 year old German convict as killer for the gang. Weidmann has confessed killing Miss de Koven and four men, one of them a member of the supposed syndicate.

The strangling of Miss de Koven and the shooting of Weidmann's former associate, Fritz Frommer, broke from his guards, climbed to the top of a 30-foot cell block and dived off. His head and shoulder crashed against the concrete floor.

The 33 year old University of Washington graduate's trail to the death house started in Tacoma November 23, 1935. He kidnaped his secretly-wed wife, Mildred, who had obtained a divorce decree. He fled eastward into Idaho.

Van Vlack shot two Idaho State policemen who tried to stop him, then ran his car into a ditch and dragged his wife into a culvert. He forced her to stay there overnight and then shot her.

Allow Youngsters To Hunt And Fish Without License

Children Under 16 Years of Age Exempted by North Carolina Game-Fisheries Division

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Dec. 10.—Youngsters who like to fish or hunt have been given a "break" by recent rulings of the Game and Fisheries Division of the Department of Conservation Development.

The division has ruled that youngsters under 16 need no fishing license of any kind whatsoever in order to take fish from any of the state's waters. Of course this does not authorize them to fish on vested private property or in reserves of the state, but it does release them from purchase of any license.

Young hunters under 16, the division has decided, need no licenses of their own, but in order to avoid running afoul of the law any youngster who a-hunting goes must have in his possession the license of his parent or guardian.

There are a number of little known regulations and statutes in connection with the game laws. — or instance there is no open season for Buffalo—the Code of North Carolina specifically says so. The fact that there are no buffalo doesn't seem to have occurred to the law makers at all.

Then there is no closed season of skunks, presumably because the legislators felt the little black and white "kitties" can take ample care of themselves.

It is unlawful to hunt from any automobile or airplane, according to Section 2141 of the Code.

It is also unlawful to hunt on Sunday; though there seems to be little effort made to enforce this provision of the law.

The Washington naval agreement of 1924 limited the size of aircraft carriers to 27,000 tons.

Japanese Reported To Be Entering City Of Nanking After Taking One Of Gates

Landon Tells Newsmen He Will Not Run Again

Would Not Accept Nomination If It Were Offered

Washington, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Former Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas said today he would not be a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1940 and would not accept the nomination should it be offered to him.

The 1936 nominee made the announcement to newspapermen upon arrival here for the Gridiron club dinner.

Landon emphasized, however, that his statement did not mean he was withdrawing from politics. "I am taking this step so I can be more active in Republican party affairs," he said.

AIR SQUADRON BOMBING PATH

Invading Forces Striking from all Sides in General Attack Declared by Japanese Spokesman to Have Put Ancient Walled Chinese Capital in Process of Falling

Tokyo, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Domei (Japanese) News Agency correspondents sent word from the Nanking front tonight that Japanese troops had captured the city's southeastern gates and were entering the city.

Squadrons of Japanese planes were said to be concentrating their bomb attacks on Nanking's 18 gates to blast open a path for Japan's armies.

Shanghai, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Japanese forces struck from all sides of Nanking in a general attack which the Japanese spokesman declared tonight had put the Chinese capital "in the process of falling."

The attack was launched when the Chinese commander refused to heed to Japanese general's ultimatum to surrender the city by noon or face a general assault.

Four hours later Japanese asserted that the 100,000 troops encircling the city had captured Purple Mountain overlooking Nanking. Chinese positions on the hill previously had kept Japanese from a frontal attack.

Six hours later the Japanese spokesman said he "assumed" that Japanese troops already had penetrated Nanking's Great Wall and were engaged in "mopping-up operations" which he explained meant street fighting.

Earlier today reports from the front said better hand-to-hand fighting was in progress outside Nanking's walls.

There was no report on whether Americans inside Nanking were safe. Last reports were that 16 Americans were inside Nanking's walls and 15 to 17 on board a U. S. gunboat which reported that all communications with the inside of Nanking were severed.

More than 50 Japanese airplanes supported ground troops in their assault on Nanking during the afternoon.

The Japanese spokesman said the airmen bombed Chinese troops both inside and outside the walls and strategic buildings in the city at length.

Toy Matinee Here At Pitt Saturday

The annual "Toy Matinee" to which children will be admitted to the Pitt theatre by bringing a toy will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

"Captain's Kid" starring Sybil Jason is the picture to be shown. Toys assembled will be turned over to the Salvation Army, which organization will distribute them to the needy children at Christmas time. Badly damaged toys will be turned over to the local firemen for repairs. The Boy Scouts also will aid in the movement, serving as ushers and helping in general at the theatre tomorrow morning.

The plan is carried out each year by the Pitt theatre, Salvation Army firemen and Boy Scouts, and proved unusually successful last year.

The worship of fire is still practiced by some primitive tribes in Africa, Asia and America.

Commits Suicide To Escape Noose

Triple-Slayer Dives to Death from 30-Foot Cell Block

Boise, Idaho, Dec. 10.—(AP)—A sensational suicide plunge before the eyes of his sorrowing parents cheated the hangman of triple-slayer Douglas Van Vlack's life. 15 minutes before his scheduled execution today.

Van Vlack, convicted of killing his wife was to have been hanged at 12:10 A. M., mountain standard time. Four hours before his parents Mr. and Mrs. Carl Van Vlack of Tacoma, Wash., came to bid him goodbye.

Van Vlack kissed his mother, broke from his guards, climbed to the top of a 30-foot cell block and dived off. His head and shoulder crashed against the concrete floor.

The 33 year old University of Washington graduate's trail to the death house started in Tacoma November 23, 1935. He kidnaped his secretly-wed wife, Mildred, who had obtained a divorce decree. He fled eastward into Idaho.

Van Vlack shot two Idaho State policemen who tried to stop him, then ran his car into a ditch and dragged his wife into a culvert. He forced her to stay there overnight and then shot her.

"It looks like next Wednesday will be my time," observed the camp superintendent.

Powell Prepares To Pay Benefits To Unemployed

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Dec. 10.—Preparations for paying unemployment benefits to eligible unemployed workers after January 1—the first checks will probably be actually delivered on January 23—are being made in the office of the North Carolina Unemployment Compensation Commission, Chairman Charles G. Powell said today.

In a few days employers in the State will receive blanks which they are asked to fill out and return to the nearest state employment office, showing what workers are dropped from their payrolls and the date. These are called separation reports, and are intended for use when more than one employee is dropped or when a large number is dropped in designated mass separation.

Employers are asked to send in these reports for workers who have been dropped entirely, or if their working hours have been decreased, as much as 30 per cent or more, except that if a worker receives as much as $18 in pay for a part-time week no report need to be made for him.

TWO EXECUTED AT N. C. PRISON

One Negro Dies For Criminal Attack; One for Murder

Raleigh, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Walter ("Preacher") Caldwell went to his death on his 37th birthday today for criminal assault, and William Perry, 18, died for murder in a double gassing at Central prison. Both men were Negroes.

It was 13 minutes and 22 seconds after the gas was turned on before Caldwell was pronounced dead. The chamber was then cleared of gas, Perry was brought in, and in 11 minutes and 400 seconds later was dead.

Caldwell was sentenced in Iredell county for criminal attack. Perry died for the slaying in Chatham county of Mrs. W. T. Hamlett.

Caldwell entered the gas chamber at 10:33, the eleventh man to be executed this year. The gas was started two minutes later. Caldwell appeared to pray before losing consciousness.

Perry walked into the chamber at 11:14 and again in two minutes the gas started for the last execution of 1937. Perry turned his eyes toward the ceiling and prayed, then lowered his glance and smiled at the witnesses. His lips showed he was saying "good bye" and attempting to wave his hands.

Both men had confessed their guilt and expressed a willingness to die, said the prison chaplain.

Greenville Students In Play.

In "The Arrival of Kitty," a play presented by the Sophomore class of East Carolina Teachers College, tonight at 8:30 o'clock in Austin Auditorium, five roles are taken by Greenville students.

Gerakinde Harris, who graduated from Greenville high school two years ago, plays the title role of Kitty.

Miss Harris had experience on the stage in her high school days. She played the leading role in an operetta "The Count and the Coed."

Aside from her high school experience, Miss Harris appeared last year in a play presented by the Freshman class.

In taking the part of Kitty, a very noted actress, Miss Harris is expected to excel any of her past performances.

Many people will be interested in Aunt Jane, who is a typical old maid making one last attempt to get a man.

This role is ably played by Ethel Gaston, another graduate of Greenville high school. Miss Gaston's experience in high school drama has been varied and she is a favorite of her audiences.

In lesser roles, Harvey Deal takes the part of Benjamin Moore, an "aldish" man who wants very much to get married. Deal also had experience in plays and operettas in high school.

Leo Burks takes the role of Mr. Tinglepaugh, the bellhop, who is managing a summer resort in the absence of the boss.

Three years ago, Burks appeared as a detective in a class play in his senior year in Greenville high school.

He was also in an operetta given by the Junior High School which he attended in Owensboro, Kentucky.

John David Bridgers plays the part of Sam, a bungling colored porter.

Bridgers, Greenville high school graduate of class of '37, took part last year in the senior play of the high school.

F. D. R. AND AL SMITH ARE PAIRED AT BOOK SALE

New York—(AP)—Book sales like politics, make strange odd-lot packages.

In a current one, at the Anderson Galleries here, former Governor Alfred E. Smith is paired with President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The books are a signed copy of "Up To Now," Smith's autobiography, published in 1929, and "The Happy Warrior," a biography of him written by Roosevelt in 1938 with a signed letter by the President inserted in it.

"The Happy Warrior," a phrase from the poet Wordsworth, was the title bestowed on Mr. Smith when his name was placed in nomination for the presidency by Mr. Roosevelt.

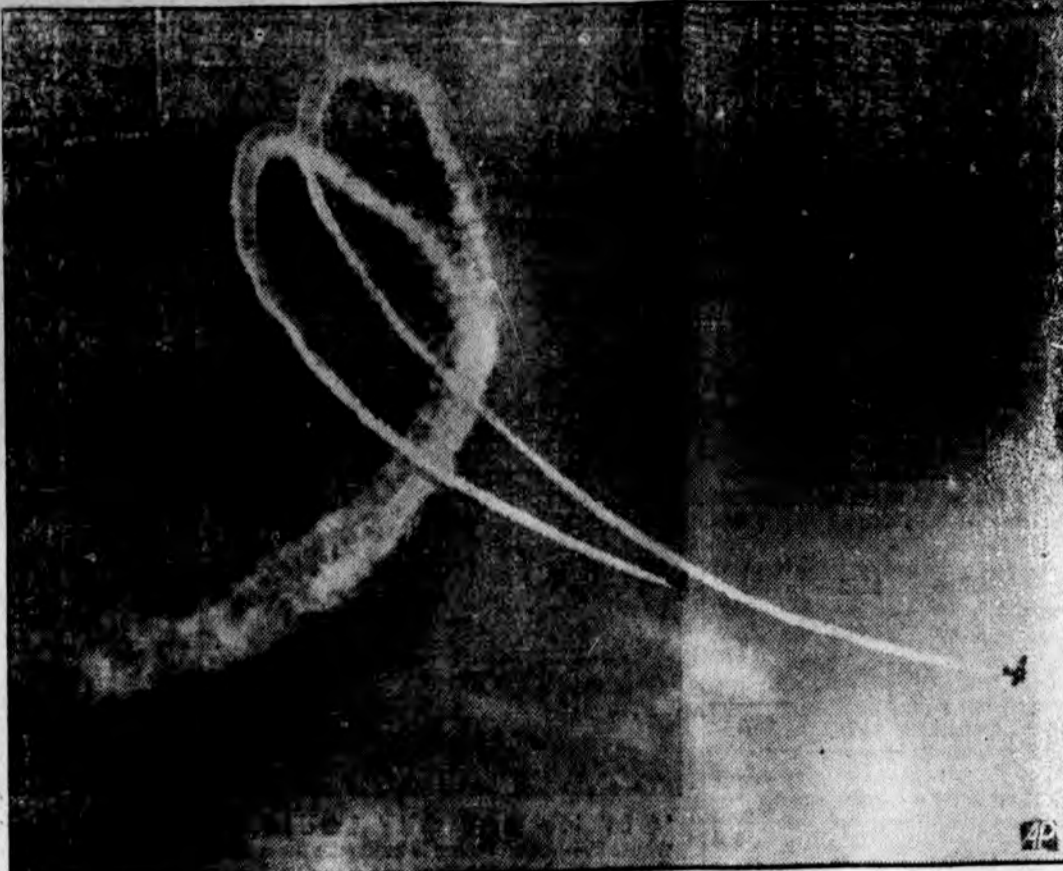

Under the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program, co-operating farmers may earn a part or all of their conservation payment by thinning their timber or otherwise a timber stand improvement at the rate of $4 an acre, says R. W. Graebler, State College Extension forester.

This gives the thrifty landowner a chance to earn an immediate profit and a future profit from the increased growth of better timber on his farm.

Tunton, England—(AP)—Mrs. Emma Coates, Britain's oldest woman, who has just celebrated her 107th birthday, says modern girls miss a lot of fun because they're "too refined."

(P.S.—This sounds too simple; must be at each in it somewhere. Guess we'd better ask Mr. Hull.)

Senatorial Curtsisies

And up in the Senate—to change the subject—we long have been disturbed by the Oriental kowtowing which debating members exact from employes and fellow members.

Whenever a member or employe passes between two Senators exchanging chatter about the agricultural bill or the Panama canal, he must bow. Few bow gracefully. From Vice-President Garner to the lowliest page, they sort of duck—as if somebody had chivvied a snowball at them.

Supposedly the idea is to get out of the line of debate, but it stalls most debaters dead to have a member suddenly tuck his head between his shoulder blades and scuffle out of the way.

Last year the annual report of the Resettlement Administration was a landmark in exuberance of color and swing-time photography. It is a dull affair this year as it issued under the aegis of the Farm Security Administration.

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia will be 80 years old January 4.

"You look mighty well," we told him.

"Aw," he retorted, "everybody tells me that just because they come around expecting ix to look like the devil—and find I don't."

the burns of the other degrees, the damage suffered is of mounting magnitude.

The constitutional reactions to a burn will depend largely, of course, upon the depth of the burn and the spread of tissue affected. But every burn, except possibly those of the first degree, threatens further difficulties because of complications.

The common complications are infection; hemorrhage following the sloughing (falling off) of the burned tissues; scar formation following healing, with skin contractures and tissue adhesions.

Burns of more than first degree severity should be promptly treated by a physician. Particularly hazardous are burns about the head and face, chest, abdomen, fingers and hand and burns which involve the tissues about joints, such as the wrist, elbow, shoulder, knee and ankle.

Organs under the burned area sometimes suffer inflammation of the abdominal viscera.

Where there is deep destruction of the skin, the resulting scar tissue may cause contractures. Such contractures when located about a joint may seriously interfere with its movements.

THE STORY SO FAR: None of Santa's friends in the North Land feel they can help him rescue Helga, the doll, from the dangerous white fox. But then something unexpectedly happens.

Chapter 11 THE SAILOR DOLL

As Santa and all his friends sat and wondered how to save Helga from the white fox, something strange happened. The toyshop door opened and in flew a little lady no taller than a teaspoon. She had a tiny bright star tied high on her soft brown hair and her eyes were very blue.

She flew to the arm of Santa's chair and smiled up at him.

"Good," said Santa. "I've been wishing for you."

"Yes, I heard you wishing," said the fairy. "So I came. I know what the trouble is."

"Dear me, yes," said Santa. "Have you any ideas?"

The little lady—and I'll tell you who she was: she was the Queen of Fairies—twirled on her toes and laughed so gaily that even Santa, worried as he was, grinned sheepishly.

"Santa, you're a dear," said the Fairy Queen. "You make a doll of the North, and then you expect her to be a simple little toy."

"What do you mean?"

"You heard her say she wanted to go to sea" said the fairy. "She'll never be a Christmas gift."

Song Of The Sea Shell

Santa frowned a minute, and then said, "Maybe you're right."

The fairy smiled up at the ceiling, and from the spot at which she looked in the rafters there fell a small rope ladder down which scrambled a pert sailor doll. He was brown as a maple leaf in the fall, and his wavy yellow hair had red lights in it. His shoulders were good and square, and he wore a sailor's white shirt and some blue dungarees. He grinned mischievously and reached into his pocket for a tiny sea shell. He listened to it a minute, looked surprised and put it back in his pocket.

Santa simply couldn't control his curiosity.

"What is it?" said Santa.

"Would you like to hear?" asked the sailor.

"Certainly, certainly," said Santa and he listened very closely. This is what the sea shell said:

Who is it that combs his hair with a tree,
Who is it you hear but cannot see?

'It's Dangerous'

Santa looked puzzled and stared questioningly at the sailor. But the sailor only grinned. "Come now," said Santa. "What's the answer?"

"Let me go look for Helga?" asked the sailor.

"Yes, but why do you want to go?" asked Santa. "It's dangerous."

"That's the very reason," said the sailor. "And the answer to the sea shell's question is this: it's the wind. He combs his hair with a tree, and you can hear him but you can't see him."

Santa threw back his head and shouted with laughter.

"I guess your trip is going to be more dangerous for the white fox than for you," he said. "We'll help you get started tomorrow."

Washington Daybook

Washington—It occurred to us while rambling that it might ease a lot of international growing pains if the United States should give the Philippines to Germany. Germany wants a colony or two. The United States has divided it does not—at least not the Philippines.

Germany used to have a host of little island possessions east and north of the Philippines. They were scattered over the western Pacific like leaves on a mill pond. The Far East and Japan got them in payment for her assistance to the allies. Japan aided the allies by taking a piece of China which Germany held before.

The idea of Germany owning the Philippines suggests many excellent possibilities. Japan is allied with Germany in an anti-communism bloc and ought to be glad to have her ally close at hand for aid in emergencies. It is doubtful that Japan really would want her ally so close at hand, but under the circumstances what could she say?

Might Please Everybody

England should be pleased to have Germany in the Pacific as a sort of associate brake on Japan. Except for the last war England has been on friendly terms with Germany about as long as with any other country.

The Philippines would make a fine colony for enterprising Germany. The islands are packed full of raw materials—coconut oil, timber, hemp, sugar, gold and, very likely, oil. And Germany has been trestly in recent days about her lack of raw materials.

The Filipinos might object—but not unanimously. They do not want freedom unanimously, nor do they want to remain with the United States unanimously. Perhaps Hitler

Burns And Scalds

Among the more common home accidents, burns and scalds are two big hazards.

They can and frequently do menace life. Children, aged persons and those weakened by disease require special care when burned or scalded. Seemingly small and insignificant burns sometimes cause severe constitutional reactions.

Shock—as noted in the sufferer's collapse, weak pulse, subnormal temperature and shallow breathing—is a serious sequence to burns if they develop suddenly, and requires urgent and expert medical treatment.

Burns are classified as of first, second, third and other degrees, depending upon the depth and spread of the tissue injuries. In a first degree burn, only the superficial skin is involved and little more than an inflammatory redness results. In a second degree burn there is deeper involvement of the skin, and blister form in.

ANOTHER MILE POST

The Reflector today begins its 44th year as Pitt County's daily newspaper.
For nearly thirteen years prior to entering the daily field The Reflector served this community as a weekly and semi-weekly, so in reality we are today nearing the completion of 56 years continuous operation as a newspaper. Even prior to the establishment of The Reflector
as a weekly in January, 1882, the forebears of the present operators of the Reflector were active in the operation of the Greenville Express in the early 1870's, so the family has been closely identified with newspapering here since the town had its first newspaper.

That three score or more years is a long time in the life of a community is emphasized by the fact that there exists today in Greenville but one business concern that was in operation when the founders of The Reflector first entered the newspaper field here in the 1870's, that concern being the John Flanagan Buggy Company which is being carried on by Col. E. G. Flanagan, son of the late John Flanagan, founder of the business. There is only one other business concern in Greenville still in operation that dates back prior to the time The Reflector entered the daily field 43 years ago, and that is Frank Wilson,
"The King Clothier," who carried a front page advertisement in the first issues of The Daily Reflector. We congratulate these two concerns on their long years of service, in their respective lines, to the people of this community and we take pride that we, too, have been permitted to be of service to the community during this long period of years.

One of the first essentials of a newspaper is service to the community in which it operates and it is our hope that during these years of our existence we have measured up in this respect. Our files reveal a word picture of the growth of Greenville from a small village to one of Eastern North Carolina's leading cities and one of the world's largest tobacco markets. It has been our desire during these years not only to grow with Greenville but to strive at all times to be of service in the way of helping our city and county achieve greater things and this is still our purpose and hope for the future years to come.

The growth that this paper has made during these years we owe to the people of this community who by their patronage have made possible our continued existence, but we sincerely hope that in return we have rendered even more than value received in the way of service to Greenville and Pitt County. But the years now passed are history and we do not wish to spend too much time in reflection on the past except to gain from it inspiration to carry on for the future.

In these years gone by,
Greenville has made wonderful strides but the future with even greater opportunities is ahead of us. Let us all resolve that in a spirit of hearty co-operation we will strive harder than heretofore for even greater achievements for our city and county in the years that are to come.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Dec. 10—Some time ago this correspondent wrote a paragraph in this column which read
"A poet of the coast country will read, etc."

A day or so ago came a letter criticizing a clipping from the column as it appeared, reading: "A poet from the coast country will read, etc."

Sender of the clipping said:
"Ma be the printer inadvertently caused you to state a fact."
Which is causing your correspondent considerable worry wondering whether it was a slam at the "poet" or at your correspondent.

This is the day of scientists and detectors. Everybody used to believe the old saying "An apple a day keeps the doctor away." Now, according to Professor M. E. Gardner of State College, the doctor comes and brings an apple with him.

"Baby specialists in Europe and this country have found that scraped apple pulp is good for treating disturbances of the digestive tract," he says.

Here's a story picked up from Carl Goersch's "The State."
It seems that the husband started on a journey and forgot some very important articles of under-garment. Whereupon he wired his friendly wife, at home: "SOS BVD LOD P.A.Q."

Governor Clyde R. Hoey is so well liked because he has the human touch. He likes his well-known soft drink (named deleted as advertising) and if you give him a piece of one's leg gum he bears down on it like nobody's business.

Your correspondent, hard pressed for something to write a story about, met Len Folger, Democratic national committeeman and also a candidate for Congress from the Fifth District, on the street.

"What's the news, Lonnie" said the correspondent. "Tell me something to write about, even if it isn't true."

"Well, you wouldn't really expect a candidate to tell you the truth, would you?" countered Mr.
Folger.

Come to think about it, we wouldn't.

Supreme Court Justice Her'ot Clarence says the folks over his way (he comes from Charlotte or thereabout) are mostly Scotch by descent and like a row. They fight, "In season and out of season, with reason and without a reason," he says.

State Senator Archie Gay, of Northampton, started an awful row in his home county not so long ago by causing adoption by the State School Commission of a resolution regarding routing of busses to schools at Jackson and Weldon.

He has found an infallible way to keep from stirring up any such trouble again. He just didn't attend Thursday's meeting of the commission here.

Incidentally, they do say that Archie is casting covetous eyes on

Banking Commissioner Gurney P
Hood has gone to Winston-Salem to attend a meeting of the Research Committee of the N. C. Bankers Association. He says that rates for surety bonds of bank employees have gone so high that in many cases it now costs a bank more to insure itself against dishonesty of its employees—and then only to a very limited amount—than it does to insure its every deposit of $5,000 or less in the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The research committee hopes to do something about it, though Mr. Hood didn't seem to know what. Saturday he will go to Asheville for a meeting of Group 10 of the Bankers association.

In his message to Congress, the President asked for charges in the housing law to reduce fees paid to FHA for insuring mortgages. That would mean a saving of $15 a year on a $6,000 house.

If the bars go down, and the average man can build a $6,000 house, what can he get for his money?

He can have a one or two-story house with three bedrooms, a home considered adequate for a family with two children. It will have gas, electricity and at least one bath.

It will vary in different sections of the country. Labor costs are higher in some sections. Contractors' prices vary. Houses in the South don't need central heating and basements. Some people can get along without a garage.

Moreover, personal preferences have to be considered. The man's who's too lazy to shovel his own coal is glad to put extra money into an automatic heater but he has to pinch elsewhere in the house.
Some people insist on porches, and they cost money.

For a Family of Four
But the $6,000 home seems adequate for the average family of four. Federal housing authority architects point out that three bedrooms will provide a room for the parents and two bedrooms for the children, regarded as "a necessity

Leila's Plans
 "I ALWAYS wash the dishes," Laura Sweeney spoke up from her seat beside Uncle Ham. She helped herself to more stew as she continued. "Most nurses won't go near the kitchen at all or do anything except take care of the patient."

Leila's plump body stiffened and she looked as if she was about to say something caustic. Stan nudged her arm, and she set her lips in a tight line of strained patience.

A wave of nostalgia swept over Nella as she thought of the quiet seclusion of her room in the sorority house that she had shared with Claire Best. Jewel Campbell was probably moving her belongings into that room at this very moment. Nella pictured the girls flitting about in bright lounging pajamas, carefree, happy... talking about her.

She rose abruptly from the table, threw on her coat and went out into the softness of the winter day. The cool breeze did nothing to ease her hurried thoughts. Her dark eyes and the delicate line of her eyebrows were the only color in her face. Cinders followed all her heels.

She walked past the tank house toward the old adobe barn which somehow had resisted the rigors of the countless seasons that had passed over it. At the corral gate she paused, for the ground was soft and muddy where it has been churned by the hoofs of the cow since the winter rains.

As she gazed at the peeling walls of the old barn Nella's imagination wandered to that romantic day when her ancestors had lived on these acres in regal splendor. The Estrados once owned vast stretches of land, she'd been told. Their ranges were stocked with cattle. The men lived in the saddle, Indians did most of the heavy work and in return had only to be fed and given a small piece of coarse cloth and a belt.

Nella drew mental pictures of the parties once held here—the feasting... the laughter... the wine... the thrumming of stringed instruments... the dancing... the click of castanets... wedding festivities that lasted a whole week... fascinating serenades in velvet bodices with high combs in their hair, flirting behind lace fans.

It was all gone now. The great Estrado estate was shrunken to 100 acres and a few decaying buildings. The best paying part of the ranch was the apple orchard at the west end. There were 65 acres of unplanted land around the house.

Divided!
 The sound of a light step made Nella turn. Candy was coming toward her.

"Got sum'pin' to tell you," the child said.

"Mother says this place's jus' gotta be divided."

"Divided!" A fear fluttered in Nella's heart. It seemed to her she was standing on the rim of a breaking world.

"What's it mean when you're on your own, Aunt Nella?"

"Why?"

"Mother says Daddy's jus' gotta go on his own an' you can look after Grandma and Uncle Jack."

"It means—well, that you're on your own, that's all."

"Oh," the child said bewilderedly.

Nella turned back to the house. She'd hoped Stan would be a help to her in taking care of her mother and keeping Jack in college. But she should have known better. Stan had always been a leaver. He'd never had a job outside his father's store. It was typical of him that he would let some one else break the news of the proposed division of the farm.

It was hours before Nella could go to sleep. She awoke early and with a start. Where was she? Back at school in a twin bed with Claire Best in another beside her?

No; those stained walls, those deep-cut windows where the morning light was creeping into the room were home.

At the breakfast table, over her second cup of coffee, Leila fired at Nella the same words Candy had uttered the night before.

"This ranch has to be divided!" "But Leila—" The protest that sprang up in Nella died under the determination in Leila's square face.

The two were alone at the table. Stan had eaten early and gone to the orchard to burn brush. The other members of the family were not up yet.

"You and Jack can have the buildings and the land around them. Stan and I will take the apples," Leila declared.

"Why—the apples are the only income of the ranch!" Nella put her hands to her head, as if the gesture would help to clear her troubled mind.

Lettuce Or Something
 "WE'LL have to go into debt to build a house, won't we? You can raise lettuce or something."

"All I know about lettuce is that it goes with salad!" Nella's eyes were deep and shadowy in the lovely oval of her face.

"You've got to learn to run this place by yourself," Leila went on inexorably. "You know there are only 35 acres in the orchard. And no house!"

Nelda imagined the old splendor of the rancho.

Although Leila was bemoaning the fact that they would have to build a house, Nella divined that her sister-in-law wanted the apple orchard so she could have a modern home.

Out of a long silence Nella said, "I'll have to talk it over with Jack."

"Oh, I've already written him. There was a smugness in Leila's tone that chilled Nella and filled her anew with discouragement and fear for the future. "And," Leila went on, "he wrote back that he would be satisfied with whatever arrangements you and Mother made."

Nella stared at her. It was as if she had never seen her sister-in-law as she really was, as if she had never seen the line of the square face grow hard, the pale blue eyes grow sharp. Pulling herself together with an effort, Nella stood up.

"It's not that I don't want to give you the orchard, Leila. It's... well, I don't know what to do with land." The pale morning sunlight, streaming through the windows, gave a transparent glory to her skin.

"Stan will take the matter into court if you don't give him his share," Leila announced stubbornly.

Nella felt a sense of nausea. This was the first time in her recollection the family had ever been involved in a controversy over possessions.

WAKE DEACONS WORKING HARD

To Open Season Monday Night With Roanoke College
 Wake Forest, Dec. 10.—With their opening basketball game of the season only a few days off—Monday night here against Roanoke College—the Deacons of Wake Forest are striving hard to be ready for this initial tilt. And as daily practices go forward, Coach Murray Greason is having his worries and plenty of them.

Gone from last year's club are three lesser men—Long Morris, George Massey and Preston Campbell. All three of these boys were important cogs in the Wake Forest cage outfit that finished third in the seasonal standings of the Southern Conference and went into the semi-finals in the conference tournament.

Morris and Massey, both standing over six feet, took with them practically all the height the Deacons had, and with their departure, Wake Forest has two of the finest players in the top when the going was the toughest. No doubt, there is ample cause for Coach Greason's worry. He is left without a player six feet tall on his club and there will hardly be a team on the schedule which will not be larger than the Deacons man for man.

There are six lettermen on hand for the Deacon mentor to build around. Three were regulars last year—Jim Waller, all-Southern forward in his sophomore year last season, and Rex Carter, forward, and Captain Stan Apple, guard. Dave Fuller, center, Steve Aderholt, forward, and Smith Young, guard, are the other monogram boys. Of this group of lettermen, only Aderholt is a senior.

Several sophomores are out for the club and it is possible that one or two may break into the lineup. The septis are Bill Sweet, Virgil Payne O. Barnes, Bob Tasscher, Kyle Ownbey and Jack Roberts.

Tonight at seven o'clock the East Carolina Teachers College Pirate basketball team will open its season against the well known Unique Furniture Company team of Winston-Salem.

This year's basketball team is made up of football players and Coach Alexander is puzzled and bewildered over the outcome. He is wondering if his boys can shift from the tactics of the field to those of the floor. Starting tonight's game for the Pirates is Bill Snell and Earl Smith, forwards; Kelly Martin, center; "Bruiser Jim" Johnson and Felix Cecot, guards. The Pirate clinch-up squad finds Clark Guthrie and Adrian "Jew" Jones, at forward ends. Evert Perkins, elongated Stokes freshman at center; and Joe Hatem and Robert Johnson, guards, with Fodie Hoog as utility man. Starting for the Deacons are the Dunn twins, Fred and Frank, at forwards; Herb Brock, center; Jack Brock and Herb McCracken, guards.

Opponents for tonight's game are Reynolds May and Boley Farley, former Duke basketball stars. The game will be called at seven o'clock and will be followed by the Sophomore play "The Arrival of Kitty."

WRITERS PICK ANDY BERSHAK

Tar Heel Player Named on Another All-America Team

Chapel Hill, Dec. 10.—Andy Bershak, North Carolina's brilliant end, has just been named on another All-America team.

According to an announcement in the Daily Tar Heel, Bershak was named All-America by the Intercollegiate Sports Writers Association, comprising 83 college newspapers in 40 states.

The poll was released by Robert A. Kunkel of the University of North Dakota.

Bershak previously had been named on the first teams of the Newspaper Enterprise Association and the North American Newspaper Alliance.

Pittsburgh led the way by placing three men on the first team selected by the college sports writers. Fordham and Alabama each placed two, while North Carolina, Colorado, Yale and Texas A. & M. each had one representative.

The team: Andy Bershak, North Carolina and Bill Daddio, Pittsburgh, ends; Ed Franco, Fordham, and Tony Matasi, Pittsburgh, tackles; Leroy Monsky, Alabama and Joe Routh, Texas A. & M. guards; Alexander Wojciechowicz, Fordham, center; Clint Frank, Yale, quarterback; Marshall Goldberg, and Byron (Whizzer) White, Colorado, halfbacks; and Joe Kilgore, Alabama, fullback.

A second team was also elected. It consisted of King, Minnesota, and Sweeney, Notre Dame, ends; Kinard, Mississippi, and Toll, of Princeton, tackles; Stockton, California, and Twedell, Minnesota, guards; Herwig, California, center; Luckman, Columbia, quarterback; Bottari, California, and Isbell, Purdue, halfbacks; and Davis, Indiana, fullback.

Henry Bartos, All-Southern tackle. Crowell Little, All-Southern quarterback and Tom Burnette, All-Southern halfback, were other Tar Heels to receive All-America votes.

In the poll the sports writers were not allowed to vote for men from their own college or university.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—A fine bit of irony has been uncovered on the theatrical front. Two of the newer plays one of which is a failure, were written by an ex-hod carrier and a college professor. Which of the plays do you think is a success? You're wrong—it's the hod-carrier's.

The partying manager of Charles E. Bedaux, until recently the Duke of Windsor's emissary, is one of Greenwich Village's points of interest at the moment. It's a bizarre sort of place that lends itself to individual decorative schemes and can be made to suit the mood and the motif of any occasion.

Another Village "pride" is the self-made home of Tony Sarz, which is wedged snugly between the dowdiest pair of walls you have ever glimpsed.

The man with the oddest title in New York is William F. Carey, and he, officially, is the town's snowplaster. At the wink of an eye, from him $7,000,000 worth of equipment will swing into action. But before he winks it will have to snow—and plenty. Carey's job is to rid the streets of all snow and ice immediately after, or on the instant, of precipitation.

The town has changed so much, nocturnally, that residents of a decade ago hardly recognize it. The biggest factor in this is the absence of white lights. More than percent of Gotham's illumination now comes from neon tubing.

I don't see so many chestnut vendors as usual. Time was when a body encountered them on every corner—scarcrows of fellows with cold stuffy faces and icicles hanging from their noses.

This is carrying art too far.... At the Coq Rouge a magician was set to astound his guests with feats of magic.... The orchestra played an eerie, fascinating number, and—the magician himself disappeared.... The boss of the club, who was some put out—until he remembered that the magician's contract had expired the night before.

And this week's gas aren't too amusing, but it's what they're guffawing over in the Pubs Anyway.

WHEN YOU BUY INDIAN, YOU'LL KNOW IT NOW
Gallup, N. M.—(AP)—Tags are to be used on Indian works of art to assure purchasers they are genuine Indian handiwork.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes has just approved a plan which Indian officials say is necessary to eliminate "undesirable" products from the market.

The tags will certify that the article was made of Indian produced materials, by Indian workers on traditional Indian implements.

Trade in Indian goods totals hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

STOCKMEN TELL ARTIST HOW TO DRAW A BULL
Wichita, Kans. (AP)—John Stewart Curry's preliminary sketches of murals for the state capitol at Topeka may have to be revised because of the stance of a bull.

The bull is in one mural "Kansas Pastoral", and is standing with his legs advanced, right legs extended backwards.

"It's like the way a horse stands and not a bull," commented the first stockman to see it. "Dirt farmers" joined in the discussion the stockman started, but some of them contend a bull "can stand any way he pleases."

Stockmen say a bull, while grazing, stands with one foreleg forward, the other extended backward and with his rear legs in just the opposite position.

TO LAY PLANS OF CENTENNIAL

Many To Attend Luncheon at University Tomorrow

Durham, Dec. 10.—Saturday, which marks the thirteenth anniversary of the Duke endowment, has been selected as the day on which plans for the forthcoming centennial celebration of the origin of Trinity College, around which Duke University is built, are to be disclosed.

Upwards of 500 persons, representing the university faculty and administration, the board of trustees, alumni, friends and students will attend a luncheon beginning at 1:30 p. m., to hear the proposed centennial program and an outline of its objectives.

Dr. W. P. F. W. president of the university, will speak of the significance of the centennial celebration, and A. S. Brower, executive secretary of the centennial, will outline the formulated plans. Brief talks will be made by representatives of the attending groups.

Presiding at the luncheon will be T. Austin Finch of Thomasville; Willis Smith of Raleigh, a member of the board of trustees; and Dr. W. T. Laprade, representing the faculty, will be heard. Two student representatives, Gilbert Matthews, president of the men's student government, and Miss Mary Brent Holland, president of the Woman's College government, will speak.

Coinciding with the annual "Duke University Day" celebration, the luncheon is expected to inaugurate another significant phase in the university's life, as did the signing of the indenture of trust by James E. Duke 13 years previously, which had its beginning in 1838 as Union Institute in a remote section of Randolph county.

The luncheon will mark the conclusion of a series of dinners and meetings held during the past six weeks with Duke alumni, friends, and parents of students in all parts of the country attending. Fifty-three such "Duke University Day" meetings were held, with an aggregate attendance of nearly 3,000. They were held in every section of this and in 14 other states.

PRESENT FOUR PLAYS AT UNC

All Were Written By Students of Play-writing Class

Chapel Hill, Dec. 10.—Four new plays written this quarter by students in Dr. Frederick H. Koch's playwriting classes in the University of North Carolina were presented by the Carolina Playmakers last night as their second experimental production for this season.

The plays were: "Pennies For Their Thoughts," a domestic comedy of an author, by Noel Houston of Oklahoma City, Okla. Lubin Leggett of Tabor City, N. C., directed the comedy with the following cast: Robert Nachman, Webster Groves, Mo., Virginia Kibler, Morgantown, N. C.; Mary Louise Greene, Rock Hill, S. C.; Rose Peagler, Homerville, Ga.

"Kunstbelsener" (Student of Art), a play of an artist's conflict, by Thad Jones of Chapel Hill, was set in old Vienna in the year 1900. Eugene Langston of Danville, Va., directed the play. Those in the cast were Robert Nachtmann, Jordan Barlow, Trenton; and Virginia Kibler.

"Washed in De Blood," by Rieta Winn Bailey of Cochran, Ga., was a Negro play with music and dancing which required a large cast, including Marguerite Lipscomb, of Washington, D. C.; Lois Latham, Rainbow Springs, N. C.; Dorothy Browning, Chapel Hill; Bill Morgan, Chapel Hill; Burr Leach, Keansburg, N. J.; Madeline Haynsworth, Greenville, S. C.; Holman Milhous, Fayetteville, Tenn.; Virginia Kibler; Tom Fearing, Manteo, N. C.; Rose Peagler, Chapel Hill; Bowling Brown, Summerville, Ga.; Jane Hunter, Cullowhee, N. C.; Nell McIntyre, Savannah, Ga.; Francis Roughton, Old Port, N. C.; Virginia Giddens, Tallahassee, Fla.; Blanche Bullock, Autryville, N. C.; Rebecca Jordan, Chapel Hill; Margaret Jordan, Chapel Hill; Emy Hertz, Chapel Hill; Eugene Langston, Danville, Va.; John Turner Roughton, Old Fort, N. C. The play was directed by Ora Mae Davis and the author.

"Hello, Hanging Dawg" was the second comedy of the Carolina mountain people written this fall by Lois Latham of Rainbow Springs, N. C. Miss Latham directed the play herself with the following actors: Donald Rosenberg, Asheville, N. C.; Francis Goforth, Kings Mountain, N. C.; In z Mease, Hayesville, N. A MESSAGE TO MOTORISTS ABOUT THE NEW GASOLINE LAW

THE State of North Carolina, under a new law which became effective December 1st, prescribes certain minimum quality standards for gasoline.

It has been Gulf's practice in the past—and will continue to be so in the future—to set its own standards of quality, and to raise those standards as rapidly as advances in technology permit.

These quality requirements were set in view of the needs of today's motors. Yet several years ago, That Good Gulf Gasoline was stepped up well above these new state standards—and has continued so ever since.

To this end, Gulf maintains nine modern laboratories, staffed by able scientists, whose aim is constantly to better every previous best. This is why the Sign of the Orange Disc, displayed by all Good Gulf dealers of North Carolina, is a reliable guide to fine motoring products.

Gulf's premium gasoline, No-Nox Ethyl, exceeds the new state minimum requirements by the widest margin in motoring history.
