JAPS PROVOKE NEW INCIDENT IN SETTLEMENT

American Chairman Protests Repeated Attacks GUNS TRAINED ON FRENCH SOLDIERS Japanese Attack Russian Who Intervened To Save Chinese Woman from Beating

Shanghai, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Japanese guns were trained on French troops within the French Concession for an hour today as an American official of the Shanghai Municipal Council protested repeated Japanese assaults on settlement police.

The international incident was the second in two days in which Japanese forces attacked police in the foreign areas. A French Concession policeman of Russian nationality was struck in the face by a Japanese soldier. The policeman had intervened to prevent the soldier from beating a Chinese woman trying to escape from Nantao into the French Concession for water.

Then Japanese soldiers tried to drag the policeman across the boundary into Nantao when he fled the Japanese-ranged rifles and machine guns along the Concession border. French armor cars were brought up to reinforce the frontier.

The Municipal Council's simultaneous protests were lodged with Japanese Consul-General Okamoto by Cornell Franklin, its American chairman. After two British policemen were beaten yesterday, the British commander, Major-General A. P. D. Telfer-Smollett protested to Japanese authorities, warning that a recurrence might lead to "gravest consequences."

French officials were strongly considering a formal protest against today's incident. In Paris, however, a foreign office spokesman said France was "not alarmed" by the incident.

Chinese press reports, meanwhile, said Wharves, the railway station and public buildings had been destroyed by Chinese forces at Hsichow, Kiangsu province, eastern terminus of a trunk railroad carrying out China's "scorched earth" policy of leaving the Japanese only ruins.

Eight Arrested In Dynamiting Case

Elizabethtown, Tenn., Jan. 8.—(AP)—Eight persons were jailed here today, two on murder charges in the investigation of a dynamite blast that wrecked a home and killed three children.

Sheriff's deputies arrived here early this morning from Pikeville, Tenn., with two men Sheriff J. M. Moreland said are charged with murder. The sheriff named them as White Tollett and Lee Walker and said a murder warrant had been issued for Crave Tollett, a brother of White.

Five other men and a woman also are being detained for questioning, but no formal charges have been placed against them and their names were not disclosed.

The sheriff said he was working on a theory the dynamiting yesterday of the Harmon Gouge home, near here, was linked with a slaying in 1933 in connection with which Gouge, father of the victims is awaiting trial.

The sheriff ordered a $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of those guilty of the dynamiting which left the Gouge home a pile of splintered wood and killed three of the Gouge children.

To Consider Request Extend REA Project

Raleigh, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The next meeting of the North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority will be held here January 24, Director Dudley Bagley said today.

Among business for consideration, he said, is the application of the Pitt-Greene Membership Corporation for a loan to add 25 miles to the 61 miles of power lines it already had planned.

1,480 CLAIMS FILED IN WEEK

All Persons Entitled To Benefits Urged To Apply Now

Up through yesterday the local office for handling unemployment compensation claims had interviewed 2,666 applicants and filed 1,480 claims. Several of those who sought to file a claim had no grounds for receiving the payments and the claim was withdrawn.

The branch in Farmville was operated yesterday and 175 persons placed their claims there. The Greenville office yesterday handled 259 applications, making a total of 434 for the day.

The local office continues busy, with a steady stream visiting the office, although the force is not as rushed as on the first three days of the week.

W. G. Cherry, in charge of the local office, declared today a great majority of those filing claims so far were persons employed in the tobacco industry and were included in a mass lay-off.

He added, however, that "obviously" there are people who were employed in stores, offices and other places who are now unemployed and who have not filed application for unemployment benefits.

He urged that every unemployed person who thinks he is eligible file a claim at once.

He pointed out that extra workers were here at the present to help take care of the rush and added that he would like to complete the original filing as soon as possible.

Only Two Noted Escapees Still At Large In State

Raleigh, Jan. 8.—Only two convicts who participated in North Carolina's three noted prison breaks of 1937 are still at large.

Capture by Federal G-Men of Bill Payne and his companion, Wash Turner, leaves only Paul Edwards and James Everett "on the loose" of the more than a score who made their getaway in the Caledonia, Central Prison "Tunnel" and Sanford breaks.

Warden Hugh H. Wilson, at Central Prison, said that he expects fewer and fewer breaks as the prison system, now in vogue works out.

"There never has been a prison built yet from which escape is impossible. Not even Alcatraz is impregnable and even the deep, dark dungeons they used in the Middle Ages could keep men who were figuring twenty-four hours a day on how to get out."

SEN. REYNOLDS HOLDS SWAY ON SENATE FLOOR

Leads The Filibuster Against Anti-Lynching Bill DENOUNCES ISMS AS FOES OF U. S.

Introduces Two Bills To Put Teeth in Argument for Laws Curb Propaganda

Washington, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Southern Senators, filibustering the anti-lynching bill with oratory on almost every conceivable subject, turned today to Communism, Fascism and Nazism for new targets of eloquence.

Senator Reynolds (D-NC) not only denounced what he called these "subversive" influences in America, but introduced two bills to put teeth into his argument that there should be laws against the dissemination of foreign propaganda in this country.

One of the measures would cancel the citizenship of any naturalized citizen who advocated "political doctrines subversive to the best interests of the United States." It would also provide for the deporting of such an individual.

The other would make it a criminal offense to "advise, advocate or teach principles of government based in whole, or in part, in opposition to or discrimination against people of any particular race or creed."

The handful of senators who comprised Reynolds' audience appeared in festive mood. Several smiled knowingly as the speaker rambled from subject to subject.

The House was in recess today. Other developments: Congressional farm leaders said they hoped to have an "ever-normal granary" bill ready for final action in a week or 10 days.

They said the last week's conferences on the separate bills passed by the House and Senate had brought agreement on provision for rice and tobacco. Provisions of the two bills respecting these crops differed little.

John Biggers, director of the unemployment census, reported to President Roosevelt the November voluntary count of jobless showed 3,200,000 persons were partly employed and wanted more work.

The United States and Great Britain moved toward the final stages of a significant commercial accord, climaxing Secretary Hull's foreign trade program.

The proposed pact which Hull formally proclaimed last night his intention of negotiating with the United Kingdom, will involve a globe-girdling market.

Senate Race Holds Top Place in Point Of Interest

Raleigh, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Its election year in North Carolina and political activity is picking up five months before the first primary.

Each of the 100 counties in the state has its jobs that must be filled by local elections, but the race for United States Senate, now held by Robert Reynolds of Asheville, is expected to top all contests in general interest.

Reynolds already has announced opposition from Rep. Frank Hancock, Jr. of Oxford, now Congressman from the Fifth district, and from the Rev. A. A. Johnson of Buncombe county.

The state's 11 Congressional seats all are at stake in this year's contests, as is the post of state utilities commissioner. Two Supreme Court justiceships also must be filled by election as Associate Justices M. V. Barnhill and Wallace Winborne are serving by appointment until the next general election.

Superior Court judgeships in the First, Second, Fifth Sixth, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Twelfth, Fourteenth, Sixteenth, Nineteenth and Twenty first judicial districts will be at stake as will the 21 solicitorships and the 170 legislative seats.

Announced candidates for various Congress seats include: Second, Congressman John Kerr of Warrenton and Troy Barnes of Wilson; third, Congressman G. A. Barden and C. L. Abernethy, Jr., both of New Bern.

Senator Edgar H. Bain of Goldsboro has announced for re-election from the eighth district for the state senate.

Candidates for Congressional and state offices must file by March 26 while county and legislative candidates have until April 23.

House Speakership Used As Campaign Propaganda

Raleigh, Jan. 8.—From now until the primaries next May frequent announcements candidacy for Speakership of the House in the 1939 General Assembly can be expected.

Not all those who announce themselves, or allow their friends to boost them, for the post will have even the remotest idea they can or will be chosen. In many cases it will be campaign ammunition, pure and simple.

It's an old political custom. A House member who wants to go back to Raleigh for another session finds he is likely to face formidable opposition in his own constituency. He figures that he will have a better chance if he can distract his constituents' attention from direct comparison of his record with that of his opponent by injecting extraneous matter into the fight. Too, he thinks, he can catch some votes on the theory that the voters will think he's a big shot and that they will be doing themselves a service by

What was considered the most important meeting of the series was one set for 8 o'clock Wednesday night at City Hall. All merchants and other business men of the city are urged to attend the session, at which the problem of standard closing hours again will be discussed.

Mrs. Powell said the meeting was for all merchants, whether they are members of the association or not. The meeting will take the form of an open forum and persons present will be urged to express their views. Any problem other than the closing hours will be open for discussion, Mrs. Powell said, if any merchant desires to bring up a topic.

On Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the association will be held in the post office building.

Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock, a dinner meeting will be held at Respos for all grocers and market operators in the city are invited. It was emphasized that the Thursday night meeting is for all grocers, whether members of the association or not.

INSURGENTS IN TERUEL DRIVEN TO SURRENDER

Forced Desert Stand By Thirst, Hunger And Cold

RESCUING ARMY UNABLE TO HELP

Insurgents Attempting Save Besieged Troops Encounter Stiff Opposition

Madrid, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The agonies of thirst of hunger and of cold in embattled Teruel today forced the surrender of more than 2,000 insurgent soldiers and their wailing and weakened women and children.

For 17 days they stood against government guns, fire and dynamite in guerrilla warfare, from building to building in the narrow and twisted streets of the old provincial capital, 160 miles east of Madrid.

A reinforced insurgent army outside the city fought in vain to come to their rescue and they bowed at last to the hardship of siege against their hideouts in Asuncion hospital and the dynamite-wrecked Santa Clara church.

The unsuccessful rescuing army itself was meeting trouble. 230 Insurgents were captured during the battle outside Teruel, the Government said.

The capitulation was in sharp contrast to a previous dramatic siege when about 1,700 insurgent troops and their kin were rescued by comrades after nearly 10 weeks of Government siege against their fortress, the Toledo Alcazar, in 1936.

A Government communique announced surrender of the Teruel garrison, trapped in the city by a sudden offensive of the Madrid army December 21. Teruel had been an important insurgent base for most of the nearly 18 months of the civil war.

Lieut.-Col. D'Harcourt, commander, led 1,500 of the troops and 500 women, children, aged and wounded from the hospital. Thirty-four insurgent soldiers surrendered from Santa Clara church.

Local Ex-Soldiers At District Meet

Members of the Pitt County Post No. 39, American Legion, who attended the district meeting in Wilson last night declared the session to have been a most successful one.

After being advised that Eastern North Carolina is practically assured of getting a veterans' hospital, Legionnaires of the Fifth District passed a resolution urging that it be located in Wilson. No real fight has been waged over location of the hospital, pending assurance that it funds for it would be approved.

The main address of the meeting was made by Col. Edgar H. Bain of Goldsboro.

Ex-soldiers from Greenville attending the meeting included Dr. A. M. Schultz, Arthur B. Corey, J. Hicks Corey, H. H. Duncan, S. M. Woolfolk, C. W. Williams and Paul Scott.

Investigate Story Of Local Hold-Up

The office of Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst today continued their investigation of an alleged robbery here Wednesday night.

J. W. Daniel of Greenville, was quoted as saying that he was invited to have a ride while walking down Dickinson avenue late Wednesday night. He said he declined and two men jumped from the car, dragged him into the vehicle, took him several miles out on the Farmville road, robbed him of $15.95 and put him out to walk back home.

Daniels said that two of the men were masked. He declared, however, that he would be able to identify either. He gave a complete description of the trio he alleges robbed him.

Mrs. Powell to Leave for State-Wide Meet

At the close of the program, Mrs. Moseley invited the guests into the dining room. Mrs. Deal, seated at the table, beautiful in its appointments of lace, crystal, endelabra, and white spers, poured tea, while the guests were served refreshments suited to the occasion.—Reported.

Improvements At The Carolina Grill. The Frozen Delight has been combined with the Carolina Grill and Nick Basheer, manager, declared the grill, located on Dickinson avenue, was prepared to handle all kinds of private banquets and parties.

The grill is being enlarged and will have one of the most attractive private dining rooms in this section. The Frozen Delight was operated under the same management as the Carolina Grill. When the former had to move at the expiration of its lease, the proprietors decided to combine the two and make one modern up-to-date eating place.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Jan. 8.—Announcement that every North Carolina man opposed to the Ludlow resolution requiring a vote of the people before any declaration of war by the United States will probably not be as unwelcome to Mrs. Helen Robertson Wohl, who has been considering a race for the United States Senate for some time.

Mrs. Wohl, a Quaker, is conscientiously opposed to war in any form and is a firm advocate of the Ludlow resolution. On the other hand she has been looking for an issue upon which to make the Senate campaign and the peace proposal may give her just exactly the sort of plank she would like to stand on.

Against Charlie Johnson, Mrs. Wohl polled more than 100,000 votes in the state treasurer's race of 1936. She probably hasn't a chance in several million of beating Bob Reynolds or Frank Hancock, for that matter, but her entrance into the race would make for a lively time.

In his radio address reporting on his stewardship as Governor of North Carolina for a full year, Governor Hoy listed as one of the accomplishments of his administration "Distinct advance in prison supervision and care."

He can probably get quite an argument over that from those who do not like the recent shakeup in medical personnel at Central Prison here. The contention of this group is that Dr. Coleman was fired as regular prison doctor because he voted for McDonald and because a fellow townsman of High way Commission Chairman Dunlap needed "taking care of." Also, they insist, Dr. Ben Lawrence was made consultant surgeon not by reason of any outstanding ability as a physician, but because of his political activity.

Governor Hoy planned to make his trip to Washington for a conference with President Roosevelt short enough to get back here for the Jackson Day dinner in Raleigh tonight.

After showing a decided decline during the week ended December 26, measles again broke out rather virulently during the week ended January 1, according to the report of Dr. J. C. Knox, director of the division of epidemiology for the State Board of Health.

A total of 568 cases were reported, against 224 for the previous week and only 38 for the corresponding week of 1937. Sampson county alone reported 224 cases, with Stanly in second place with a total of 90 cases.

North Carolina State Employment Service reported a day or so ago that its placements have reached almost an all-time low, but even in that report there were a few shortages of workers noted.

The up-to-date minute news of January 7, 1938, was that George W. Connor, of Wilson, had won the democratic nomination for Speaker of the North Carolina House. Ten years later a Selma episode won front page recognition. A young lady brazenly smoked a cigarette on the street.

The state Supreme Court will hand down no more decisions before February 2, so regardless of its decision Edgar L. Smoak, Wilmington man under sentence of death for poisoning his young daughter, is certain to spend at least a year on "Death Row." He was brought there early last February.

Washington. — Excitement over the sinking of the Panay has driven most over phases of the Chinese war off page one—but here is the status of the battle up to this point.

Draw a circle, and it represents a rough map of China. From near the top of the circle draw a line straight down so as to cut off about the right one-third of the circle. This one-third is the important part of China. It is the part the Japanese evidently are intent on controlling.

At the top or north end of that up-and-down line is Peiping—the Japanese now call it Peking again. Halfway down the line is Hankow. The temporary capital of China. At the bottom of the line, on the south coast of China, is Canton. A railroad runs the full length of that line, from Peiping through Hankow to Canton.

Northern Conquest Completed. Now about one-third of the way down this rich piece of China we are talking about, draw a line across to represent the Yellow river. Virtually everything north of the Yellow river in the rich segment of China is already in the hands of the Japanese. They control the three railroad lines which drain it. They are setting up Japanese "advisers" to manage the local government.

As in Manchoukuo, far to the north, they likely enough will monopolize all commerce, simply by freezing out British, American and other competition. That part of the military campaign, so far as Japan is concerned, is already finished. The territory is conquered.

Now draw another line across this rich segment of China, about midway down. That line will connect Shanghai, on the east coast, with Hankow, 500 miles inland and the important north-and-south railroad. The cross line will roughly follow the line of the Yangtze river, passing through Nanking, the abandoned capital, and Wuhu.

Southern Threat. Already the Japanese have penetrated inland from Shanghai, thru Nanking and Wuhu, a distance of 200 miles. There is a temporary calm while the Japanese reorganize and supply their offensive army. No students of the situation here doubt that Japan will go straight on to Hankow, another 300 miles. Then it will control the north half of this major north-and-south railroad.

There is a large segment of unconquered territory between the Yellow river on the north and the Yangtze river in the middle, but commercially it is largely dependent for outlet upon Shanghai and Peiping.

Now let us move into the southern half of this rich one-third of China. Already the Japanese have begun an enveloping movement southward from Shanghai. The plan is to take the nearby important city of Hangchow (not Hankow) at the head of the Hangchow bay.

Reliable reports also indicate that the Japanese are sending a fleet of troop ships south along the coast in the direction of Canton.

Capture of Canton would shut off the important British port of Hong Kong from access to the inland trade territory. When (or if) that is done, Japan will control every important outlet from the Chinese interior.

Backlog For U. S. In Event Of War Seen In Vast National Resources

This is the last of three articles analyzing America's defenses. By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE, AP Feature Service Writer. Washington.—The United States has a thirdline war defense which is by far the most formidable in the world—national resources.

This country possesses nearly one-half of the world's total supply of essential raw materials, raises practically all of the foodstuffs it requires and boasts a virtually unlimited manufacturing plant capacity.

It has an abundance of such important materials for military requirements as iron and steel, lead and copper, oil and cotton. Nickel needed for toughening steel could be obtained from friendly Canada, world's greatest source of supply.

The United States is tops in number of manufacturing plants, in transportation facilities, in number of inventors, technicians and skilled workers. In the event of war the production of fighting planes, tanks, guns, high explosives and other weapons and munitions could be almost unlimited.

War Experience Cited. War department plans looking to a swift mobilization of resources at any outbreak of hostilities provide for rapid stepping up of the output of military aircraft. These plans include estimates of the speed with which planes could be built and put into service but the figures as well as other mobilization details are a secret.

Aviation observers, however, cite the vast American production of planes during the World war when aviation was in its infancy as indicating that this country could produce as many planes as it would need.

A Secret Plan. For soldiers this country can tap a virtually inexhaustible reservoir of manpower. When we entered the World war there were 2,000,000 men in the American army, one-third of them national guardsmen. Nineteen months later the United States had an army of 4,000,000 men. Some 2,000,000 had been transported 3,000 miles across submarine-infested seas and 1,300,000 had fought in France.

Since the World war, military experts and key men in industry and transportation have been working on a secret, master defense plan for orderly mobilization of troops, materials, industrial Table with 5 columns: Country, Iron, Cotton, Oil, Machinery. Rows include Great Britain, United States, Japan, France, Italy, Germany, Russia.

In addition to the resources shown on the chart, all seven nations produce all the coal they need except Italy, which has none. Counting colonial sources, all have access to adequate food supplies except Germany, which produces about 75 per cent of her requirements (Estimates from Washington sources) plants, capital and labor. It provides for the setting up of governmental boards to control industries, to co-ordinate railway, highway and airway service, and the drafting of industrial and technical experts into government service.

For the job of harnessing industrial power to military and civilian needs, a war resources administration would be created along the lines of the 1917-1919 war industries board but with broader powers and jurisdiction.

Some Products Needed. The President would be empowered to fix prices of commodities particularly food and fuel and to commandeer manufacturing plants and other establishments under certain conditions.

One of the first moves would be to divert labor and raw materials from the production of non-essential items to the production of those necessary to defense needs. We are not completely self-sufficient in military requirements according to the experts. Rubber would be one of our largest import needs although we could reclaim a large quantity in civilian use for military purposes.

The nation is dependent on outside sources for manganese, iodine and tungsten. A coffee famine might irk soldiers as well as civilians. An expanded sugar beet acreage, however, would go far in providing the nation with a normal supply of sweets.

BUSINESS ACTIVITY Steep Decline Registered in December

NEW YORK (AP)—Industrial activity slumped sharply in December. The Associated Press seasonally-adjusted index averaged 76 per cent of the 1929-30 level, compared with 85.1 the month before. The latest figure is 30 per cent under the peak for the year touched in May.

Boys Lick Goldsboro; Girl Phantoms Lose 17 To 13

The "Phantoms" Greenville high school's Eastern Championship basketball team, defeated the boys' quintet of Goldsboro last night by a score of 20-13. The game was played in Goldsboro and was the second attraction of a twin bill between the two schools. The "Lady Phantoms" of G. H. S. were downed by a score of 17-13 in the preliminary.

Overcoming many handicaps the defending champions battled a fighting Goldsboro quint which threatened to take the game when they came back in the last half. A field goal and a free throw put the game "on ice" for the "Phantoms" Greenville started fast and racked up a 9-1 lead. Goldsboro failed to make a field goal in the first half, but counted three free shots. At the half the champions led by a score of 12-3.

The game became rough in the last half and some said it strongly resembled a football game.

Potter and Hollowell made four points a piece to lead the losers.

Simpson and Sakas were best for the winners with 4 points each. A field goal shot by a Goldsboro player into Greenville's basket, also went to Captain Simpson. Richard Gaylord, substitute forward proved his worth to the "Phantoms" by making 3 points for them. Parrish and Latham scored 3 points for Greenville, also.

TECHNICALITY NO HELP HERE

High Court Brushes Aside Error In Language

Reflector Bureau

Raleigh, Jan. 7.—Those who contend that courts are too technical in their rulings will get little comfort for their arguments from the decision of North Carolina Supreme court this week in affirming the death sentence passed on Tom Linney and T. J. Jefferson, Forsyth Negroes, for the holdup-murder of Herman Pogleman, white insurance salesman.

In this case the justices had a splendid opportunity to be technical. There were ample precedents some of them quite recent. But the court chose to go to the substance and not the form.

Indicting Linney and Jefferson, the grand jury brought in a bill which said that the two Negroes of his malice aforethought, did kill and murder etc.

Defense counsel vigorously contended that this was a fatal error in that the singular pronoun "his" made it entirely indefinite as to whose "malice aforethought" was meant.

Less than two months ago a Louisiana court upset a death sentence for the very same reason. Way back in the early days of North Carolina, a Supreme court tossed out a capital conviction because the fatal wound was described as inflicted in the "breast" instead of the "breast" of the doctor.

But in the Linney-Jefferson case Justice W. A. Devin wrote: "Informalities and refinements in the language of the bill may be properly disregarded; if the criminal offense be sufficiently described to inform the defendant of the charge against him."

Incidentally, almost every reporter wrote about the court's decision in the case of Henry Mosley, another Forsyth Negro under sentence of death, was wrong about the result of the court's ruling. They had the Negro losing his last chance at judicial victory because the case was recorded for a correction of the record. As a matter of fact, Mosley is now in just the same position as he was after conviction in Superior court. The entire appeal will come again before the Supreme court just as soon as the record is corrected.

"Snake" Henry Signs To Pilot Tarboro Club

Tarboro, Jan. 8.—Fred (Snake) Henry was signed yesterday by the Tarboro baseball club for 1938, John Youngblood, president said. Henry signed his contract at noon, and will start assembling his players sometime in April. Henry last year gave Tarboro its first team in seven years in the first division.

Southern History Should Repeat

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Repetition of a 2-year-old struggle between Washington & Lee and North Carolina for Southern conference basketball supremacy is in prospect for the 1938 season.

ANDY BERSHAK Forward for North Carolina

The W. & L. Generals nosed out the Tar Heels in the finals of the 1937 championship tournament to win the title. The same two teams figured in the 1936 finals with North Carolina annexing the crown.

Both universities boast powerful squads again this season and will be heavy favorites despite a general improvement in the quality of the teams in the 15-member circuit and uncertainty as to the effect of the new center-jump rules.

Washington & Lee's hopes of remaining on the throne are centered around two all-Southern performers, giant Bob Spessard, center, and Earl (Kit) Carson, forward. Spessard, a 6 foot 7 inch star, tallied 298 points in 18 games last season.

Five lettermen are available at North Carolina together with a promising band of sophomores. The veterans include Earl Ruth, all-Southern, and Foy Grubb, guards; Andy Bershak, Pete Mullis and Bill McCachren, forwards.

South Carolina has the brightest outlook of the four Palmetto state entries with all of last year's regulars back. The Gamecocks lost only six of 20 games with Guy Lipscomb, lanky center, leading the attack.

Wake Forest, Richmond and Duke are other squads which may cause trouble.

Eight teams are selected on the basis of conference records to participate in the annual tournament to be held at Raleigh in March. North Carolina State should win a berth in the title event, leaving Virginia Military Institute, Maryland, Davidson, Virginia Tech, Clemson, Furman, The Citadel, and William and Mary to battle over the remaining spot.

Minnesota becomes BASKETBALL MINDED

New York (AP)—The success of Minnesota's basketball teams the last two years lies in the fact that the state finally is getting basketball-minded in the opinion of Coach Dave MacMillan.

MacMillan, a member of the original Celtics, experienced many lean years before the Cougars tied Illinois for the Big Ten championship last season. Now, however, he is receiving players coached by men who played for him in his early days at Minnesota. Every member of the squad, with the exception of Gordon Spear, a lanky lad who could not make his high school team, hails from Montana.

"I thought the freshman squad of two seasons ago was the best I ever had," said MacMillan. Last year's was even better and the one I've got this season tops them both."

DARE TO DREAM

BY ALICE MARIE DODGE

The Characters

Nelda, makes every effort to market her lettuce crop during a strike, even to driving a truck herself.

Bill, is another lettuce farmer. Their common bond drives Nelda and Bill together.

Reek, a wealthy playboy, and Nelda's fiancé, considers Nelda's farming a whim.

Jack, Nelda's younger brother, is in the hospital with injuries inflicted by picketers.

Chapter 29

'They're Laying For You'

THAT night the countryside rang with details of the strike activities.

Mass picketing. Driver of truck severely beaten... another hit on face by gas bomb and temporarily blinded. Making dormitories of packing sheds for strike breakers... packing will be carried on in barricaded sheds Citizens' welfare league being formed... strike costing seventy-five thousand dollars daily... citizens sworn in as deputies to keep order... parley on between shed owners and union... no hope of mediation.

All of the lettuce did not mature at the same time, so another week would have to elapse before the next cutting of Nelda's field. She told the family nothing of her intention to drive her truck to the packing shed, for fear they might try to stop her.

Stan, upon hearing of Jack's plight, urged his sister to give up.

"Why, there's a lot of people around here who are not trying to market their lettuce!" he said. "It's too dangerous."

She was in no mood for arguments, so she changed the subject.

When the day for the next cutting arrived she arose at four-thirty and was out in the field at five-thirty. The cutters had been there since daylight. They worked only in the early morning so that the lettuce would not be warm when they packed it. They swarmed over the field, a crew of 40 little brown men, looking like goblins.

She reached the packing house and delivered her load without being molested. A small group of pickets who were patrolling the road in front of the barricaded sheds looked amazed upon seeing a girl at the wheel of the truck. She had passed them before they recovered enough from their surprise to try to stop her.

On the way home she met Bill who was headed for town with a truckload of lettuce. They stopped abreast of each other.

"How'm I doin'?" she asked pertly.

"From the expression on your face you look as if you're doin' swell."

"I delivered the first load without a speck of trouble."

"I hope your good luck continues."

"It has to. So long, Bill."

She went to the house to look in on her mother before starting out with the next load and, therefore, lost a little time. Just as she was leaving the field, Bill came along in his empty truck. He waved for her to stop.

"You can't take that in," he said.

"Why not?"

"Trouble at the sheds."

"But you delivered yours!"

"Barely did. Listen, Nelda. The strikers think you are a boy dressed up in girl's clothes and they are laying for you."

"Let 'em! I'm going to take this load in or die in the attempt!"

"Of all the obstinate—let me take it in for you."

Escort To Lettuce

"AND you with a crop of your own to deliver! Bill Langdon, you're acting as chivalrous as if you were in love with me."

"Course I'm not!" he returned quickly. "It's only that I hate to see a girl mixed up in this trouble. I don't believe you realize how serious it is."

"Yes, I do. Isn't my brother in the hospital?"

"I'll go with you."

"No, Bill. This is something I'll have to face for several more cuttings. Besides you've got to get your own crop to the shed, so I might as well—"

"I'm going with you on this trip anyway." He put his foot on the running board. "Move over and let me drive."

"You must haul your own lettuce."

"Stop looking a gift horse in the mouth," he admonished.

"Well—since you insist. But only as escort for this one trip. I'll drive."

He laughed shortly and climbed in beside her.

"If you want to put down odd experiences ride escort to a load of lettuce."

PIRATES SCORE 46-33 VICTORY

Defeat Louisburg College Quint in Thrilling Game

Coach Joe Alexander's Pirates of East Carolina Teachers College opened their cage schedule here last night in grand style by defeating the Louisburg College Trojans 46-33 in a game packed with thrills from start to finish. The game was the third consecutive loss for the Trojans and the second consecutive win for the Teachers.

Erl Smith, Teacher's forward, led the scoring in last night's affair, making a total of 19 points. Jimmy Johnson who held down the other pivot position followed close behind with a total of 12 points. Harold Troutman, the Trojans' center, led the losers with 11 points.

The Teachers displayed an excellent passing attack last night which completely baffled the Trojans. The first half was marked by close defensive play of both teams and ended with the Teachers leading by the score of 17-10. However, the Teachers led throughout the entire game, and were never seriously threatened by the visitors. The Teachers went to town in the last few minutes of play and featuring the work of Smith and Johnson, forwards.

Prior to the Trojan-Teachers game, the second string aggregation of the Pirates engaged the cagers of Chicod high school and won easily by a 48-14 score. The Teachers had a very easy time in this affair and led at the half 30-9.

REFEREE'S SHIRT LOSES A GAME

Denver, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Everett Shelton, coach of the national A. U. champion Denver Safeways basketball team, can smile now as he tells how a referee's shirt cost one of his teams a ball game.

Shelton was coaching the Sterling Mills team of Oklahoma City. In a game with the Kansas City athletic club, the referee wore the same color of shirt as Shelton's players. They were constantly throwing the ball to him.

Finally one of the Milkmen asked the arbiter to change his shirt. The referee decided the player was impatient and awarded the K.C.A.C. captain, Buck Weaver, a free throw.

"Aw, make it two," growled the player. Weaver got another. "Make it three," roared Shelton's boy. Weaver did make it three. Finally the count reached six.

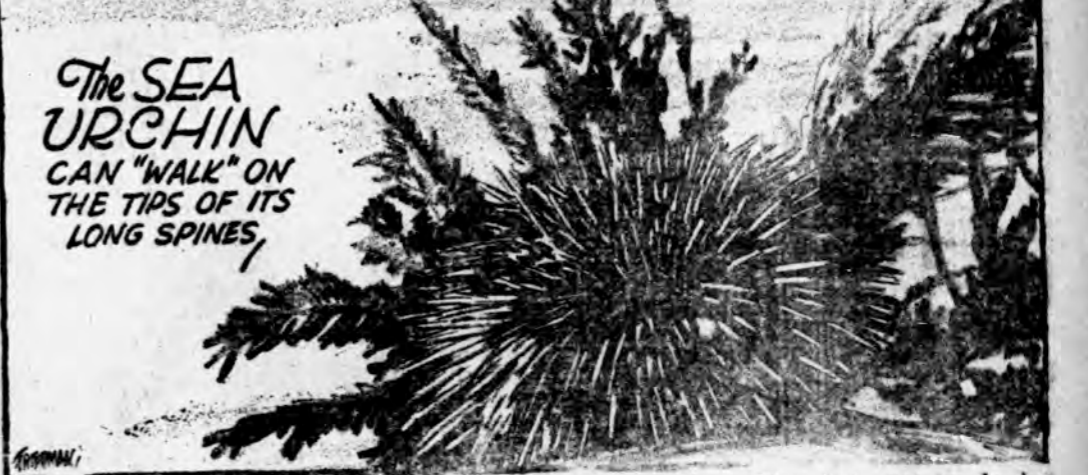

Weaver declined a seventh free toss, but by that time, his team was four point ahead and stayed there for the rest of the game.

DIXIE HIGHLIGHTS

FIRST AIRPLANE FLIGHT LASTED ONLY 12 SECONDS, FIRST SUCCESSFUL FLIGHT IN HISTORY IN WHICH PLANE CARRIED A PASSENGER OCCURRED AT KILL DEVIL HILL, N. C. DEC. 17, 1903 AND EXTENDED A SCANT 100 FEET.

The SEA URCHIN CAN "WALK" ON THE TIPS OF ITS LONG SPINES.

While the first successful airplane flight, in a heavier-than-air-machine, made by Orville Wright at Kill Devil Hill, North Carolina, covered an insignificant distance it made aviation history! It was the first official airplane flight in the world! The Wright brothers' plane, forerunner of the modern air cruisers of today, was a curious looking contraption. It had a wing spread of 40 feet, and while there was a twin propeller, the machine was so constructed that a spectator could hardly tell which end went first. In guiding the craft on its epochal flight, Wright had to lie on his stomach with the engine flanking his right. By using his hands and twisting his hips, in a movable cradle, he was able to balance the plane at that memorable occasion. The last was made by Wilbur Wright, who flew 852 feet in 57 seconds. The historic site is marked by a handsome national monument known as the Wright Memorial.

One of the strangest animals that inhabits the waters of our Atlantic coast is the SEA URCHIN. It usually moves about by means of long slender tube-feet, traveling at the rate of about three inches per minute, but it can also actually "walk" on the tips of its long spines, which are fastened to its shell by ball-and-socket joints. The Sea Urchin feeds on seaweed and various other vegetable matter, which it scrapes from the rocks with its remarkable dentary apparatus. It enjoys one of the longest of all zoological names—Strongylocentrotus drobachiensis.

WOMAN CITY MARSHAL IS NO GUN TOTER

Crowley, La.—(AP)—Although associates of Mrs. Beulah O'Pry Sigur, woman city marshal, say she has had some "tough cases," she uses verbal persuasion instead of a pistol to enforce the law.

Her policy proved so popular that when election time came around she was able to defeat five opposing male candidates by a majority of 139 votes.

Mrs. Sigur first became marshal by appointment a few days after the death of her husband, Marshal Alexander Octave Sigur.

KNUDSEN PLEADS FOR GREATER CONFIDENCE IN BUSINESS

Testifying before the Senate Unemployment committee in Washington, William S. Knudsen, president of General Motors, said his "one hope" for immediate stabilization of work was his belief that people would generally feel more confident of the future. Knudsen, whose company recently laid off 30,000 men following what he said was the severest sales decline in its history, explained that more assurance all the way down the line was necessary. Shown in this general view of the hearing while he was on the stand are: Senator Carl A. Hatch (D-NM) (1); Sen. James F. Byrnes, D-SC) (2), committee chairman; Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., (R-Mass) (3); Sen. James E. Murray (D-Mont) (4), and Knudsen (5).

Secret Of Rose's Success: Glorify Wholesomeness

Billy Rose His shows cost more than Ziegfeld's did

By CHARLES NORMAN (AP Feature Service Writer) NEW YORK — You are backstage in a big Broadway night club. You watch the chorines go thru their paces — blondes, brunettes, redheads, they prance like colts. One, two, three, tum-tum—lightly their feet patter over the stage as the lines break and swirl to the walls.

The side of girls sweeps past two men talking together. The shorter one is wearing a grey coupe-breasted suit with black stripes. The jacket is open, revealing a sweater. A light green felt hat sits back-ward on his head and a cigarette dangles at an angle from his mouth, as if it were a cigar. You recognize Billy Rose, the impresario. He looks young for a fellow who has put on "coastal" shows in Fort Worth, Cleveland, New York. You decide to ask him how old he is—among other things.

"Did he think he had something like the late Ziegfeld didn't have?" "The girl-show formula," he replies, "doesn't change. Ziegfeld remains unsurpassed. The only thing is, I spend more on a show. He spent $200,000—I've spent $500,000. It doesn't mean my shows are better—they're just bigger. That's my credo—make it novel and then do it bigger than anybody else."

An "Old Kid" "I owe a lot to John Murray Anderson, my director, and Carlton Winckler, my stage director. You see, these daily reports of mine are only possible with tremendous technical help.

"Mr. Rose was getting voluble, and at this point your correspondent nearly put an end to the conversation by saying:

"What about Fanny Brice and Eleanor Holm Jarrett?" "No comment," said Rose, clamping down on his cigarette.

And the future? "I'm an old kid at 37," he says. "By 40 I ought to be washed up. It's a silly business for a man over 40. After that? Maybe it will be a song-world's fair on wheels."

Board Determined Safeguard Timber In North Carolina

Conservation and Development Group Aware of Dangers in Rapid Growth of Pulp Industry

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Jan. 8.—The State Board of Conservation and Development for many months has been aware of the danger which speedy development of the wood pulp industry in North Carolina might bring to its forest resources and for some time has had a committee whose duty it is to watch this development in order to see that it does not endanger the supply of timber. It was pointed out this week by Roy Hampton of Plymouth and J. L. Horne, Jr. of Rocky Mount who with Pierce Carter of Asheville are members of this committee.

As a result of the close contact being maintained by this committee with wood pulp industries already operating in the state and those which are considering locating plants here, the people of the state may be reassured that the conservation board is going to safeguard the timber resources in North

TAR HEEL - WFC GAME TUESDAY

University Team Then Takes to Road for Two Weeks

Chapel Hill, Jan. 8.—Renewal of rivalries with two strong and colorful foes—Wake Forest and Washington and Lee—will monopolize the limelight during the University of North Carolina's second week of basketball competition.

The contest with the Demon Deacons here Tuesday night will afford fans an opportunity of seeing the White Phantoms in action for the last time on the home court for nearly two weeks. Following the Baptist scrap the Tar Heels will invade Virginia Wednesday for games with VPI at Blacksburg on Thursday, VMI Friday and Washington and Lee Saturday, both at Lexington.

The Virginia invasion is the first of only two out-of-state trips for the Tar Heels this season. On the following Friday and Saturday (January 21 and 22) the White Phantoms will journey into the East for games with Princeton at Princeton, N. J. (Friday) and St. Joseph at Philadelphia (Saturday). All other Carolina games are at Chapel Hill or at nearby Wake Forest, Raleigh and Durham.

The Carolina-Wake Forest menu last season was most relishing to the fans. Three times the teams clashed on the hardwoods. Twice the margin of victory was only one point.

It took only two tallies to decide the third canto. Wake Forest won the first affair at Chapel Hill 24 to 23. Carolina took the second decision at Wake Forest 31 to 30. Meeting in the semi-finals of the Conference tournament at Raleigh the Tar Heels nipped the Baptists again 37 to 35 despite a breath-taking 14-point spurt by Wake Forest in the waning moments.

The Carolina-Washington and Lee games were equally as well played but not as close. The Generals won both times 29 to 19 and 44 to 33. The White Phantoms will be striving to regain some of their 1936 prestige when they beat W. and L. 50 to 45 in the tourney finals in one of the greatest games ever played in the state.

Several of the same stars who have been playing for the past two years will be back.

Carolina. "The location of additional wood pulp industries in North Carolina will be of value to the state, only if these industries do not need more pulp wood than the state can supply without depleting its forest resources and only if these industries will cooperate in preserving and renewing these resources," Mr. Hampton said.

"Accordingly, this committee has conferred with the officials of the pulp companies now operating in North Carolina, asking their cooperation with the conservation board and urging them to cut their pulp wood in such a manner that the land will not be denuded, but so a new crop of timber will grow every 15 to 20 years. Not only are the pulp companies willing to cooperate, but most of them are going to help us educate the smaller landowners from whom they buy pulp wood to follow the same practice.

The committee is also contacting officials of the pulp companies showing interest in coming to North Carolina to build new plants and urging them to locate only in territory where there is ample pulp wood rather than in areas in which pulp plants are already operating. Mr. Hampton said. Only reputable concerns which will cooperate with the Conservation Department in the preservation of its forest resources are being encouraged to locate in North Carolina, Mr. Horne said.
