WOMAN LEADS FILIBUSTER ON LYNCHING BILL

Mrs. Caraway Denounces Measure As Insult To South

EXPRESSES FEAR OF BAD FEELING

House Appropriations Committee, Meanwhile, Turns Out the Treasury-P. O. Bill.

Washington, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The Senate's only woman member, Mrs. Hattie Caraway, of Arkansas, denounced the anti-lynching bill today as a "gratuitous insult to the South."

Wearing, as usual, a simple black dress, and reading from a prepared speech, Mrs. Caraway said she had never "approved or condoned lynchings," and she had "always been sick at heart" on reading of executions without trial.

She added, however, the bill was unconstitutional and designed to destroy Southern influence.

"I am a bit resentful and fearful that bad feeling engendered by such legislation as this may retard the good work being done to help and uplift a people which have my sympathy," she said.

The House Appropriations Committee meantime, approving budget cuts and making some of its own, turned out a Treasury-Post Office Department appropriations bill that was $60,862,722 less than the previous one.

The committee said, however, it should be borne in mind several deficiency appropriations might be necessary for the current fiscal year and it would correspondingly diminish the saving.

The bill, carrying a total of $1,515,552,286 for the two departments during the fiscal year beginning on next July 1, won the committee's approval and went immediately to the House floor for debate.

Other developments:

The suggestion that President Roosevelt might appoint to the Supreme Court Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) one of the prominent opponents of his court bill last year, came from a Senator who declined to be quoted.

The Securities Commission announced plans the Louisiana Gas & Electric Corporation, one of the largest electric and gas utilities systems in the country, had registered under the holding company act.

Board To Arrange To Complete Data On Feeble-Minded

Welfare Department to Gather Comprehensive Information on Insane in Various County Homes

Raleigh, Jan. 13.—The State Board of Charities and Welfare plans to gather comprehensive data on all insane and feeble minded inmates of county homes throughout North Carolina.

This information will come as an incident to a thoroughgoing survey of the homes to be made in February, a survey which will give the state board an individual file and ledger sheet on every man and woman in the homes scattered through the 100 counties.

Armed with complete information about the number and whereabouts of the mentally sick who are not now being cared for by the State, board officials will be able to present the problem fully to the 1939 General Assembly, the only body which can do anything effective to relieve the present situation, which finds every state institution crowded beyond its assigned capacity and which yet leaves hundreds of insane and feeble minded to be cared for by the counties.

The county home survey will also enable the Board to determine how many inmates are eligible for old age assistance, how many dependent children who should be getting assistance from that source and how many of the inmates are so defective in vision as to be entitled to Federal and state assistance for the blind.

Cards for the survey have been prepared and it will be the task of authorities at each county home to see that the cards are filled out for every inmate.

Data on each inmate will include date and place of birth, sex, race, citizenship, marital status, physical condition, mental condition, vision, education, financial condition and reason for County home care.

This average, the report said, was $1.08 a hundred above the 1936 figure for the corresponding time.

W. H. Rhodes, department statistician, said with an "estimated crop of 593,745,000 pounds produced last year" 33 per cent of the 1937-38 crop had been sold in the state by the end of last month.

He said the Asheville market, opening last month, had sold 2,119,000 pounds for $24.25 a hundred compared with $27.43 average for the opening month last year.

Total producers tobacco auctioned in December, the report showed aggregated 24,098,973 pounds for $17.79, compared with 27,458,988 pounds for December 1936 at $18.32.

Inside Story Related On Alleged Snub Of Bailey

Raleigh, Jan. 13.—Foes of United States Senator Robert R. Reynolds are using Assistant Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman, who they alleged "snubbed" Senator Josiah W. Bailey and Representative Hancock, as a "whipping boy" a prominent Democrat, who was an official of the victory Dinner drive, declares.

This official who preferred not to be named in connection with the affair, contends that Mr. Chapman's mention of Josephus Daniels and Senator Reynolds alone of all North Carolina was not a deliberate "snub" for anyone and was not a calculated effort to boost Our Bob's campaign.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "Mr. Chapman didn't even know that Reynolds is having opposition this year."

According to the story, Mr. Chapman's prepared speech had the Daniels reference, but none to any other North Carolinian. The Interior department official, it appears, discussed his speech with your cor-

CHIANG PLANS LEAD DEFENSE FOR RAILROAD

To Direct Counter Offensive Against Invading Japs

ROAD SERVES AS CHINA'S LIFELINE

Friction Again Caused by Action of Japanese Forces Now In Control of Shanghai

Shanghai, Jan. 13.—(AP)—General Chiang Kai Shek flew to Suchow today, Chinese sources said, to direct an attack on Japanese invaders threatening the Longhai Railway, China's east-west lifeline.

With General Fu-chu, commander of anti-Japanese forces, Chiang was said to have outlined a major counter offensive along the railway which meets the Longhai at Suchow, about 300 miles northwest of Shanghai.

For a week Chinese armies have been massing in the area. A stretch of 150 miles along the Tsingpu was still in Chinese hands. Suchow itself has been the goal of a two-day Japanese push.

Chinese yesterday lost Tsining, 120 miles south of Tsinan, but said their forces threatened to trap Japanese there twenty miles northwest of Pukow Chinese attacks from the west yielded three towns.

In eastern Shantung province, however, Japanese reported gains.

Once again friction resulted from action of Japanese forces at Shanghai. British naval authorities protested to Japanese because twelve British owned lighters and five tugs commanded by Japanese December 15 had not been returned. Japanese promised to give them back.

Large Cash Prizes Creating Interest

Still Room For Many Wide-Awake Workers To Enter Reflector Cash Distribution Campaign; Now Is The Time to Start

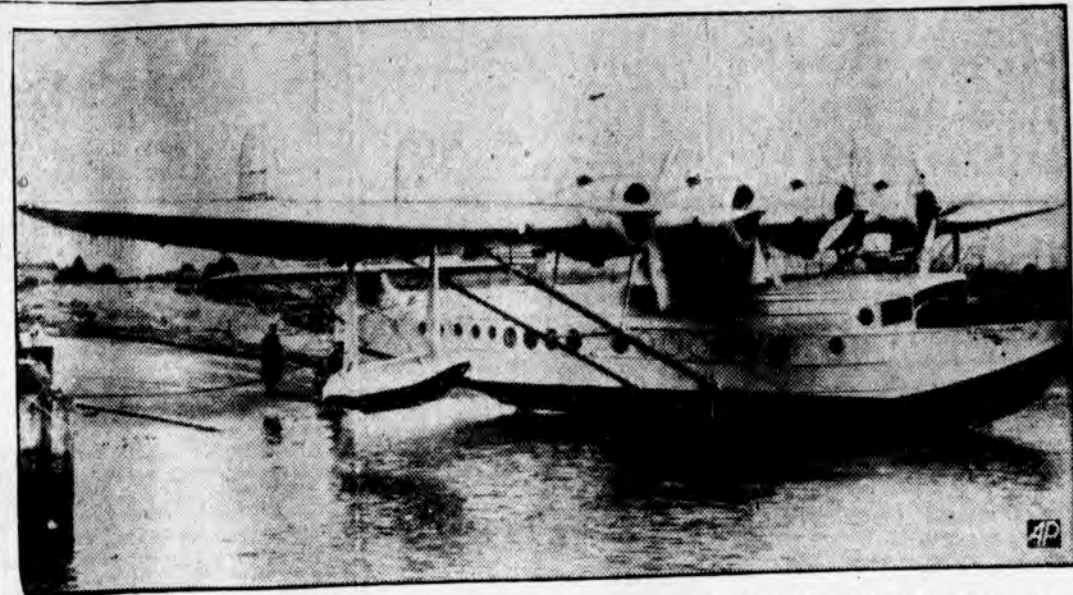

Only three days have elapsed since the announcement of the "Cash Offer" Campaign, a surprising amount of interest is being manifested in the awards offered by The Daily Reflector. With prizes ranging in value from $600.00 down to $50.00 cash, or a liberal commission, it is to be expected that at least fifty persons will enter the race and make a determined effort to capture one of the awards.

The plan of the Campaign is such that everyone who takes an active interest will be paid handsomely. The reward is in direct proportion to the effort put forth and results secured.

$100.00 Per Week Think of winning an award of $600.00 in such a short time. The person who wins will be paid at rate of almost $100.00 per week. Each and every award in the list is worth many times the amount of effort that will be required to win it.

EXPLOSION BLAMED FOR CLIPPER TRAGEDY

Charred fragments of the ill-fated trans-Pacific Samoan clipper clearly indicated that the plane was destroyed at sea in a fire and explosion. Captain Edwn Mussick and six other members of the crew perished, but the giant craft carried no passengers.

TRAGEDY LAD TO EXPLOSION

Indicated Clipper Was Victim of Fire and Explosion

Pago Pago, Samoa, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Clear indications that the giant Samoan Clipper and her crew of seven were destroyed in a fire and explosion was brought to Pago Pago today by the minesweeper Avocet.

The naval craft returned to port with charred fragments of the flying boat after an all day search of the oil slick 12 miles off Pago Pago, where the all-metal trans-Pacific plane crashed, in flames yesterday.

Every item recovered showed signs of an internal explosion. All were charred, burned and covered with aluminum powder.

Because of the condition of the fragments, no hope was held of recovering the bodies of Captain Edwin Musick, Pan American Airways ace, and crew of six from the Shark-infested waters. The Clipper carried no passengers.

The plane caught fire while dumping excess gasoline before landing at Pago Pago to repair a broken oil line after starting out on a flight for Auckland, New Zealand.

THOSE DARNED HOPPERS ARE AT IT AGAIN

St. Paul, Minn.—(AP)—Grasshoppers threaten Minnesota with millions of dollars of crop damage this year, says A. G. Ruggles, state entomologist.

Southern Minnesota, he reports, shows the heaviest infestation of grasshopper eggs ever recorded. More than one third the crop acreage in three counties have light to heavy deposits of eggs, with others ranging down to seven per cent.

Although the situation is such that with no control methods crop losses would range up to fifty per cent in the worst infested areas, Ruggles says the farmers have been organized and are prepared to keep losses to a minimum.

He entomologist puts last year's crop losses in Minnesota from grasshoppers at $1,002,413.

World War Naval Engagements Described in Argument

Washington, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Congress received today a description of World War "naval engagements" off the North Carolina coast in support of a plea for a new coast guard air base at Elizabeth City, N. C.

The record of hearings made public today disclosed Representative Warren (D. N. C.) recalled the unfriendly visits of two German submarines to the coast of his state during the World War while urging a House Appropriation subcommittee to approve $1,131,000 for the base.

Warren declared establishment of the station was important as an aid to national defense.

"In 1918 the World war came to the Atlantic coast and it struck furiously for two days in this very vicinity on the coast of North Carolina," he said. "A German submarine destroyed the great lightship anchored on Diamond Shoals off Cape Hatteras."

"It was a wanton violation of international law."

"Had there been a coast guard air base located in the vicinity the area would have been protected."

FARMER SLAYS WIFE AND SELF

Edgcombe Man Suffered Mental Disorder, Friends Say

Tarboro, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Walter Barnes, 38, Edgcombe farmer, ran amuck at his farm on the Bethel highway today, killing his wife, threatening her sister, and finally inflicting a fatal shotgun wound on himself, Dr. J. G. Raby, county coroner, reported this afternoon.

He called his wife, Lessie Barnes, into his house and as she approached he pulled a single barreled 12-gauge shotgun and shot her in the lower abdomen, with the words "I'll kill you." Her sister, Miss Mary Coley, also in the room, was threatened with the gun, but rushed from the room as he yelled after her "I'll kill you, too."

Neighbors of Barnes stated that the husband had been nervous and had had a mental disorder for some time. The act today was not unexpected.

FRIENDS FEAR FOR MINISTER

Clergyman Nears End Second Week Without Food or Water

Memphis, Tenn. Jan. 13.—(AP)—Friends of the Very Rev. Israel Harding Noe waited fearfully today, helpless to act, as the 46-year-old clergyman neared the end of his second week without food or water.

Although the dean of St. Mary's fashionable Episcopal Cathedral has been carrying on a full schedule of work, including church school lessons, funerals, and sermons, physicians among his friends have expressed belief his collapse may come at any hour. He has told them what he is doing a spiritual demonstration beyond their comprehension.

Friends said Dean Noe had subsisted all of last year on oranges alone, starting from December 23, 1936. Since January 2, the first Sunday of 1938, he has taken only of the unly wafer and sip of wine of the communion service he holds three times weekly.

A man of unusually robust health at the time he began his demonstration, he is now only a shadow of the heavy-set, rosy checked clergyman of former years. Associates said his face is drawn and his mouth is becoming dry.

Dean Noe, whose fast has become a matter of concern to hundreds of friends and followers here, is a native of Beaufort, North Carolina.

Woman Considers Making Issue Of Peace Referendum

Mrs. Wohl Nearer Entry in Senate Race as Result of Defeat of the War Referendum Measure

Raleigh, Jan. 13.—Mrs. Helen Robertson Wohl, only woman ever to run for a statewide office in North Carolina, is a step nearer entry in the United States Senate race as a result of defeat of the Ludlow War Referendum amendment to the United States Constitution.

Mrs. Wohl, ardent New Dealer in politics, Quaker in religion and active campaigner for the United Dry cause, sees the "Keep America Out of War" movement just beginning and declares she is giving "grave" consideration to the "approaching issue" of peace or war.

"Should I offer and be elected, the people of North Carolina would have an unyielding champion for the cause of popular government and world peace in the upper House, a representative safeguard against the causes of war that would extend four years beyond the expiration of the term of our beloved President Roosevelt," she said in a statement to this bureau.

"The approaching issue is grave and my decision to enter or not to enter is equally grave. I respect the convictions and eminent public services of Senator Reynolds, Congressman Hancock and other Democrats announced or to announce for the United States Senate. I consider them all my personal friends. I would campaign for a definite ideal and a definite goal. I shall take the people of North Carolina into my confidence at all times and I shall give them my decision at the earliest possible moment."

Mrs. Wohl characterized the right of the people to decide between war and peace as "the most important before the country" and quoted with approval the words of Mrs. Caroline O'Day, Representative from the state of New York at large. "It may be defeated today, but it will not die, and those opposing it may yet live to see it triumphant, not in these United States alone, but throughout the civilized world."

"My traditional opposition to war and all excuses leading up to it is a matter of public record, and upon this conviction many suggestions have been made to me that I enter the field for the Democratic nomination for United States Senate," she said.

SHARP DROP IN FRENCH FRANC BRINGS ACTION

Cabinet Places Problem Before Chamber of Deputies

LABOR SITUATION ALSO IS THREAT

No Cabinet Resignations Although Political Circles Speculating on Such Action

Paris, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Members of the Cabinet announced today that Premier Camille Chautemps had decided to take the government's grave labor and monetary problems before the Chamber of Deputies.

The announcement came after a special session that lasted almost three hours.

Although political circles speculated on chances of a cabinet resignation, the ministers declared there had been no decision to resign.

"We are all still ministers" said Marx Dormoy, Minister of the Interior.

The Premier had called his ministers in session especially to consider France's plague of strikes and falling currency. Pierre Fournier, governor of the Bank of France, was called into the meeting shortly before it closed.

One informant reported Finance Minister Georges Bonnet had suggested a resignation to permit a break with Communist supporters.

At noon the Franc had declined to 29.75 to the dollar against Wednesday's closing quotations of 29.5375.

London, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Informed British financial quarters said today the French and British stabilization fund had entered the foreign exchange market in an effort to check the franc's fall.

How's Your Health?
Edited for the New York Academy of Medicine
By Igo Goldstein, M.D.

If your head aches and you are in a healthy condition, you probably only casually interested in their structure and function. You aren't aware of them or much concerned with them.

But when acute or chronic inflammatory processes affect the sinuses (that is, when sinusitis develops), the resulting pain and constitutional disorders almost certainly make you keenly aware of these air spaces.

A knowledge of the structure and location of the sinuses will help you to understand why they frequently become inflamed, why they do not always drain themselves clear and why certain treatment procedures, such as puncturing and washing out the sinuses, are sometimes necessary.

A sinus is an air cavity in one of the cranial (head) bones. The four para-nasal sinuses (called "para-nasal" because they surround and open into the nose) are placed symmetrically on either side of the nose. They are arranged on three tiers. The largest and lowest one is antrum. The second is the ethmoid sinus (divided into two parts, anterior and posterior). Behind the ethmoid is the sphenoid sinus, and above the eye orbit is the frontal sinus.

The para-nasal sinuses vary in size and shape in different individuals. And what shape is more significant, they vary in size and shape on the two sides of the face. For this reason, one side only may be affected.

Each sinus is connected with the nasal cavity through a small opening. The position of these openings varies. Sometimes the opening is so located as to make it difficult or impossible for the sinus to drain itself clear.

The para-nasal sinuses are lined with the mucous membrane which is continuous with that of the nose. Under normal conditions, the mucous membrane lining the sinus secretes a small amount of mucus which is continuously being swept out from the sinuses by the whip-like projections (cilia) of the cells forming the lining membrane.

The function of the para-nasal sinuses is apparently that of resonance boxes for the human voice. The sinuses also "lighten" and strengthen the bony structure of the face.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

Hollywood—It's getting so the movie studios keep their jail sets standing. Movie iron bars do not a prison make, but they take up a lot of real-estate.

Carole Lombard looked through them in "True Confession," Gladys George in "Midnight X," Phyllis Brooks in "City Girl," Edward G. Robinson in "The Last Gangster," Robert Taylor and Victor McLaglen served three-year sentences in "This Is My Affair," which probably was a record penalty outside of "San Quentin" and "Alcatraz Island," which were entirely about prison life.

In "Wise Girl," Miriam Hopkins gets Ray Milland juggled to make him work as an artist, and in "Happy Landings" Ethel Merman for similarly romantic reasons sends Don Ameche to the hoosegow. "The Prisoner of Zenda" offered a more romantic type of jail, and "Love Is News" and "Second Honeymoon" is both had prison stuff for laughs.

Even good old Charlie Chan went to jail for his Monte Carlo screen adventure, and half of George Sanders' dual role in "Lancer Spy" was confined throughout the film. This would beat the Taylor-McLaglen record except that half a role can't surpass two, and then McLaglen did another stint in "Nancy Steele is Missing."

There's no well-defined reason for the popularity of jail sets, unless it's that jail is pretty dramatic, representing a serious "obstacle" or pretty funny—if the inmate is somebody else.

Box-Office Race.
Last season the colony's hit-leader was Metro, turning out such attractions as "Labeled Lady," "The Great Ziegfeld," "Born to Dance," "After the Thin Man," "Maytime," "The Good Earth," and—in a freak box-office sense—"Saratoga."

This new season it looks like United Artists, where between David O. Selznick and Sam Goldwyn they've put out "The Prisoner of Zenda," "Stella Dallas," "Dead End," "The Hurricane," "Nothing Sacred," and reams of publicity on "Gone With the Wind." Figured for big money likewise are the unreleased "Tom Sawyer" and "Marco Polo" and "Goldwyn Follies."

For Metro, this far in advance "Rosalie" looks like a best bet, with

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Jan. 13—Your correspondent is more or less patting himself on the back for having started something with an article on the acquittal of "bookmakers" in Salisbury and other cities of the state.

Of course the article, which pointed out that the bookies might be prosecuted under the common law for running gaming houses,
may not have had anything to do with the fact that the solicitor for the district in which Salisbury is located has proceeded along the lines suggested and has obtained
an order from Judge Wilson Warren ordering the bookies to show cause why they should not be permanently enjoined from carrying on their practices.

Nevertheless, the fact remains that this action did follow the article mentioned.

It would be quite interesting to have the matter taken to the Supreme court of North Carolina. At the risk of running afoul of the very gambling laws under discussion, your correspondent would wager a cookie or even a pack of cigarettes, that the bookmakers
would get scant comfort there.

Speaking of the Supreme court,
attaches they are enjoying "time out," so to speak, between the Fall and Spring terms. Next decisions will be handed down February 2, the court and the groundhog coming out of hibernation on the same day.

Thereafter the Spring term will begin with oral arguments of cases from the First, Twentieth and Twenty-first Districts in the week-of February 8. First decision day of the new term will be March 2.
Others following on March 23,
April 13, May 4 and 25.

Troy Barnes, Wilson, first candidate to pay his entrance fee for a 1938 primary race, faces no small task in his campaign to unseat Congressman John Kerr in the Second Congressional District.

In his announcement for the race, Mr. Barnes fairly exudes confidence and there is no gaining saying the fact that he is a strong vote
getter down his way.

On the other hand, Judge Kerr knows his way about the political jungle also, as A. O. Dickens, Barnes' fellow townsman can testify. The incumbent is no setup for anybody. He has played his cards skillfully and has steered a careful course between the "radical"
sentiment which exists in Wilson and some other counties and the "conservatism" of Northampton and other counties in the northern part of the district.

It should be a great scrap.

It has just come to light that there was all sorts of a mixup in meeting Oscar Chapman, assistant secretary of the Interior, who made the principal address at the Jackson Day or was it Victory
dinner here last Saturday night.

It seems that Mr. Chapman was expected to arrive on a train reaching here about 4 p. m. Governor Hoey's limousine with the No. 1
state tag was duly sent to the station. No Chapman.

After much scurrying and hurrying,
Mr. Chapman was located at the Hotel Sir Walter. He had arrived two hours earlier, by plane,
and had gone to his room unattended and unaccompanied.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Granger

Washington—The Maritime Commission, the Navy Department and the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey have arranged a contract for building 12 new tankers good for use in peace and war, but before they completed the deal they took definite steps to learn how Congress would receive the idea.

Of course the Maritime Commission has full authority to contract with substantial shipping interests to build ships. But it will be remembered that authority had been given to the Maritime Bureau and the Post Office department in recent Republican administrations to subsidize shipping by award of fat mail contracts. When the nature of these ocean mail contracts
was made public in an investigation by Senator—now—Justice
Black, a dark brown smudge arranged which has eluded around the shipping business to this hour.

Old Wounds Remembered
For long weeks before this latest contract was let, representatives of the oil company, navy and Maritime Commission discussed
the project, both as to its terms
and as to its effect upon the public of Federal dealings with the oil company. Oil has had its public difficulties from time to time and none of the parties was especially willing to share any responsibility for the "direct approach" method of learning congressional sentiment is not known to us but at any rate Admiral Land, sort of headmaster of the Maritime Commission when Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy is away, arranged to present the plan directly to the senate commerce committee. Along with Land, who is not now in the navy, went Captain R. E. Ingersoll of the navy war plans division.

This is the plan they outlined:
The navy needs oil tankers scurry enough to keep up with the fleet. The ships also would need certain military features necessary to a navy busy at sea.

In turn, Standard Oil Company
and perhaps some of the other oil companies, could use some new tankers. They do not need high-speed tankers nor expensive military features.

Looked Like A Bargain
The plan is for the government to pay the difference between the cost of ordinary low-speed tankers
and the cost of high-speed tankers with features necessary in event of war.

These extra features added
about $800,000 a ship to the cost,
making the proposed new tankers
cost $1,129,000. Thus, for an outlay of $10,560,000 the navy could establish a war reserve of 12 tankers
whereas regulation navy-style tankers
cost from $6,000,000 to $8,500,- 000 each. Twelve would cost at least $72,000,000.

The plan sounded good to Chairman Copeland of the senate committee but three Republican members present refused to be committed. They were Senators Mc-Nary of Oregon, Vandenberg of Michigan and Nye of North Dakota. They argued that it was not the committee's business to pass on such contracts.

However, navy and maritime officials were convinced that they had made a case to the extent that they went ahead with letting the contract for the ships. Some committee members, while declining to be committed publicly, said it would be hard to make a fuss about getting 12 tankers for use in war at a cost of $10,560,000
when otherwise the cost might be $72,000,000.

Fishermen Report Good Catches For Season To Jan. 1

Morehead City Reports Best Season
in Many Years, Both for Food
Fish and for Fertilizer

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Jan. 13—Fishermen in the Morehead City area had the best season up to January 1 they ever had in many years, both in their catches of food fish and of Menhaden or "fatback" which they sell to the fertilizer plants which cook them up into "fish meal" and accumulated scrap after extracting the oil, according to Captain John
A. Nelson, State Fisheries Commissioner, with headquarters in Morehead City.

At least 125,000,000 pounds of Menhaden or "fatback" have been taken by the fishermen in the Morehead City area or by the fish scrap plants which operate their own fleets of Menhaden boats.
Captain Nelson estimates. One plant near Morehead City has already processed about 32,000,000 pounds of Menhaden, another has used 25,000,000 pounds and still another at least 30,000,000 pounds.
Captain Nelson said. Several other plants have handled from 1,000,000
to 12,000,000 pounds of Menhaden.
If the fish scrap plants in the vicinity of Southport have handled anything like as many pounds of Menhaden as have the Morehead
City plants, this should be a banner year. The largest catch of Men-haden caught and processed in North Carolina was in 1918, totaling 180,000,000 pounds, while in 1928 the catch was 173,000,000. The 1934 catch was about 106,000,000 pounds.

It is estimated that this year's catch will yield the processing plants approximately $5,000 per 1,- 000,000 pounds of "fatback" handled which would make a total yield of approximately $625,000 from the 125,000,000 pounds processed in the Morehead City area.

WHIZZER STARTS ON COURT

By LOUDON KELLY

DENVER (AP)—Basketball starts a new athletic experiment in the Rocky Mountain section.

The mile-high country's new college league, formally christened the Mountain States intercollegiate conference, but popularly hailed as the Big Seven, gets its first test of its effectiveness with the cage season.

The seven colleges which seceded from the 28-year-old Rocky Mountain conference will play a double round-robin schedule. This will give each a 12-game conference slate.

The Big Seven has no defending cage champion. Montana State, 1937 title winner, is one of the five colleges excluded from the new circuit. Utah, Colorado and Wyoming appear to pack the strongest punch for the forthcoming M. S.-I. C. C. race.

Byron (Whizzer) White, Colorado's all-America grinder, is counted on to play almost as important a part in the basketball scramble as he did in the football campaign. He was good enough last season to be chosen an all-conference guard, scoring 63 points in 10 games.

Utah has eight lettermen. Wyoming's team shapes up as its best since the spectacular outfit which was runnerup in the National A. A. U. tournament in 1934 in Kansas City.

Brigham Young and Colorado State should battle at about the same pace, with Utah State not far behind. Denver University figures to wind up sixth or seventh.

The Rocky Mountain conference, reduced from 12 to five members, will continue to function. Montana State is the favorite.

TAR HEELS OFF ON 3-DAY TRIP

Meet VPI Thursday; VMI Friday, W & L Saturday

Chapel Hill, Jan. 12—The University of North Carolina basketball squad left here late Wednesday afternoon on a three-day invasion of Virginia.

On the swing through the Old Dominion the Tar Heels will engage with V. P. I.'s Gobblers at Blacksburg Thursday night, V. M. I. Cadets at Lexington Friday night and Washington and Lee's Generals at Lexington Saturday night.

In six games (two each) with the three Virginia institutions last season the Tar Heels were victorious four times. V. P. I. was defeated twice 38 to 26 and 41 to 24 and V. M. I. took two likings 56 to 29 and 44 to 32.

The result with Washington and Lee was decidedly different. In a casual play the Generals defeated the White Phantoms 29 to 19 while in the finals of the Conference Tourney they had little trouble disposing of the Tar Heels 44 to 33.

Bob Spessard, all-Southern center, was the big gunman in the Generals' tourney triumph. The 6 feet, 7 inch pivot performer ran wild, scored 25 points, and played a bang up floor and defensive game. Spessard will be matched against the Tar Heels again Saturday along with his buddy and all-Southern forward, Earl Carson. Captain Norman Ier, All Southern, and Gene Woodard, guards, were lost by graduation while Bill Borries, star forward, will be unable to play due to injuries.

Captain Eri Ruth, All Southern guard, and Foy Grubb, Pete Mullis and Andy Bershak, forward standouts, are Tar Heel holdovers from

HIGHS TO MEET COAST CAGERS

Greenville - Wilmington Contest to Begin at 7:30 Tonight

The basketweavers of Greenville high school will entertain the Wilmington cagers tonight in the high school auditorium at 7:30 o'clock. Greenville has won four conference games in as many starts and is favored to continue their winning streak in tonight's contest.

The line-up for the home team will be John Lautares and George Sakas at forwards, Dubse Simpson at the center position, and Howard Hodges and Tom Parrish at guards.

Richard Gaylord has shown much promise in previous games and will probably see much action tonight. Earle Helen, Trotman Nobles and Tom Skinner are also expected to get into the game tonight.

Wilmington brings a team never played by Greenville before and probably will display a good game of basketball.

The champions at Greenville high will also meet Rocky Mount here on Friday night at 7:30.

last season who will get another shot to avenge the W & L defeats. Bill McCachren, another letterman, will probably be on the sidelines due to an injury.

Following the Virginia trip the Tar Heels will return to Chapel Hill and begin immediate preparations for a return game with Wake Forest next Tuesday night, and their only invasion of the East in which they will meet Princeton at Princeton on Friday, (January 21) and St. Joseph on Saturday (January 22).

QUINN'S QUINS (5 OLD MEN) MAY STING BEE OPPONENTS

Boston (AP)—Bob Quinn of the Boston Bees has ransacked the leftovers on the bargain counter again.

And he's dug up 32-year-old John Niggeling, another minor league relic who's been given the go-by for years by other major clubs.

Quinn now has some quintuplets of his own. Five pitchers past 30. The National league's greybeard hurling corp.

And if his luck of last year holds lagoon these quins may boost the Bees into the first division come September.

For a year ago, Quinn picked up at basement annex prices a pair of old timers from the lower circuits, Jim Turner and Lou Pette. No one wanted them. Quinn could not get the ones he desired, so he gangled on Jim and Lou.

To his utter amazement, and to the chagrin and astonishment of rival owners, both won 23 games and were the "rookie" sensations of the year.

So, Quinn went hunting some more for knuckle-balers hiding behind whit whiskers. He brought up Lou Pette late last year from Scranton and bought Niggeling to team up with Turner. Pette and his other oldster, Danny MacFayden.

Quinn's Bees will get in quite a bit of stinging if all these aged twirlers click. Niggeling, obtained for around $750 from Newark, is a knuckle-ball tosser. Like Pette and Turner, he pitches more with his head than with his arm. He has no fast ball, nor is there much of a break on his curve.

But the Old Folks Home team may offer some surprises.

TALC DEPOSITS FOUND IN N. C.

First Detailed Report Ever to be Made on Subject

Raleigh, Jan. 13—The first detailed geological report ever to be published on North Carolina's world-famous and valuable talc deposits appeared in the December 1937 issue of Economic Geology, international geological semi-quarterly journal.

Under the authorship of Dr. J. L. Stucky, head of the department of geology and geological engineering at North Carolina State College, the work is the product of a study which began in 1929. It gives the history, distribution, origin, and present supply of the highest grade talc to be found in the nation.

There are two kinds of talc—that associated with marble, and that associated with basic igneous rock, rock which once existed in the molten state and later hardened as a result of the cooling of the earth's surface long before plant or animal life appeared. North Carolina has both kinds of talc. The marble talc is by far the more valuable. Dr. Stucky's study was made on the only marble talc deposit in the state.

The North Carolina marble talc deposit appears on scientific maps as a thin vein running along the eastern borders of Cherokee, Graham and Swain counties, with an outcropping in the north eastern part of Macon County. This talc deposit originated, according to Dr. Stucky, through the "replacement" process. Originally, the deposit contained talc mixed with marble. Hot solutions of other minerals, formed through geological phenomenon, came into contact with the solid mixture, dissolving the marble and leaving the talc behind, in a more or less pure condition.

This deposit has been mined since 1859, the report states. The first processors who mined the mineral hauled it in wagons to Ducktown, Tennessee, where it was purified and used with other materials for furnace linings.

Now there are three plants operating in the area. The supply, Dr. Stucky states, is still sufficient to last for another 50 years, at least, though it cannot yield the material on a large scale. The annual tonnage is at present between 15,000 and 20,000 tons.

Dr. Stucky is well known in both national and local geological circles, and his reputation has spread in foreign countries through his publications in the international journal, which uses only the most valuable of the geological papers submitted. Comparatively few geologists have had the honor of having their work published in this journal.

frere seized his other arm. There was a terrific struggle. The orchestra maintained a steady two-four time. A third waiter organized a surprise flank attack in the rear and caught the young man around the middle lifting him off the floor. The young man's face was livid. All the waiters continued to smile, but it didn't take too critical a gaze to see that they really weren't very much pleased. By this time the young man had been hustled off the scene. The orchestra continued to sob out the romantic strains of old Vienna.

What happened to the young man? In this specific case I am not sure. But the accepted custom in such cases is to get him off the floor as gracefully as possible, take him out into the alley, and slug him insensible. Probably this is what happened.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—Dining at a major hotel on the Park the other night, I was attracted by an atmosphere of excitement that seemed to pervade the restaurant and the lobby, a part of which could be glimpsed from my table against a wall not far from the entrance. The waiters wore an amused smile, and certain of the guests left their tables and hurried to the door, where they gumped a vignette that caused them such merriment that they giggled happily and came back with much excited talk.

This was too much for my tortured curiosity and so I arose and strolled out into the lobby. It was far better than I had hoped. There sat John Barrymore, legs crossed, staring pleasantly across the lobby, wearing a Tyrolean hat. After a minute or two he strolled over to a newsstand, bought a magazine, and disappeared into an elevator.

I returned then to what turned out to be an exciting meal. The orchestra was playing a medley of Viennese waltzes. Suddenly one became aware that all the dancers had left the floor except one young man who had just entered by a side door. He wore an overcoat and a felt hat. He was swirling and dancing all by himself, quite drunk.

A waiter hurried to him, a persuasive look in his eye, and touched him lightly on the sleeve. "Such conduct was not permitted... would the gentleman be good enough to leave?" The gentleman was good enough to slug the waiter in the jaw. The waiter retaliated with much aplomb. A con-
