Interior Division Assailed By Nevada Democrat

CROMWELL AIRS VIEWS ON TAXES

Social Security And Railroad Retirement Costs Exceed Income For Items

Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Senator Pittman (D.-Nev.) told the Senate today the Public Lands Committee had received "astounding revelations in regard to the laxity and inefficiency, if not criminal carelessness," in the Interior Department.

The committee has been holding hearings on the nomination of E. K. Burlew to be first assistant Secretary of the Interior. Testimony has shown Reno Stitely, an Interior Department paid clerk, defrauded the government of $84,000 of CCC funds.

Pittman, a committee member, addressed the Senate before Southerners resumed their filibuster against the anti-lynching bill.

The Treasury revealed meanwhile that the Social Security and railroad retirements costs, up to January 1, was $294,681,343 more than the income from the taxes imposed to finance them.

The total expenditures were given as $960,975,659 and receipts $666,294,316.

Other developments: James H. R. Cromwell, husband of the wealthy Doris Duke Cromwell, recommended to the House Ways and Means committee immediate reduction and ultimate repeal of all forms of income taxes.

He also advocated revision of estate and gift taxes and adoption of a manufacturers' sales tax on finished consumer goods.

He testified at hearings on proposals of a Ways and Means subcommittee for revising the tax structure.

President Roosevelt, reporting progress in his conference on his economic problems, called together the 50 members of Secretary Roper's business advisory council—the largest group he has met.

The chief executive told reporters he would talk on any subject the council wished to take up at the late afternoon meeting.

The President emphasized in a letter made public today America's reliance for military protection on "patriotic citizens calls to the colors when our peace and safety are threatened."

Federation Prexy Speaks In Wilson

O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau will discuss the relationship of the County Farm Bureaus to the job to be done in connection with the referendum to be held among the tobacco and cotton growers when the general control bill is passed by Congress.

The general control bill, which is in the hands of the conference committee, provides that a referendum be held among growers, and two-thirds of the farmers who vote in favor of the marketing quotas for 1938—otherwise marketing quotas would not be effective for 1938.

Jews Living In Rumania Seeking Havens Abroad

Bucharest, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Several thousand Rumanian Jews sought havens abroad today while 16 political parties launched campaigns for new elections that were expected not to affect the government's anti-Semitic course.

King Carol's dissolution of Parliament and orders for new elections March 3 gave Rumania a chance to approve or disapprove of the anti-Jewish semi-fascist policies of Premier Goga.

A coalition of other parties with identical anti-Jewish platforms was indicated, however, should Goga fail to rally parliamentary support. He controlled only nine percent of votes in the dissolved Parliament.

Efforts of Jews to organize an exodus from Rumania was accelerated as the government proclaimed new measures to restrict "unwanted foreigners."

Committees of Jews visited the Mexican, Brazilian, Italian, French and British consulates to ask about mass migrations to Mexico, Brazil, Ethiopia, Australia and Madagascar.

At consulates here and at Constantza, Rumania's chief court, the Jews asked two questions:

"Where may we go?"
"How?"
Several legations in Bucharest referred inquiries to their governments. But the problem of "how" has been made extremely difficult for would-be emigrants by a financial ministry order forbidding Jews leaving the country to take any money with them.

Planes Set Mark On Honolulu Trip

Honolulu, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Eighteen big navy bombing planes from California swooped down through bright tropical moonlight into the glare of spotlights before dawn today and alighted on Pearl Harbor, completing the greatest mass flight in aviation history in record-breaking time.

The first plane touched the water at 8:48 a. m. (EST), 20 hours and 30 minutes after the official take-off time from San Diego, Calif.

The second plane, the blue flame of its exhaust flashing in the darkness, alighted two minutes later and the other craft followed in quick succession.

The official flight time bettered the previous naval mark of 21 hours, 25 minutes, set by a squadron of 12 planes in another "routine transfer" from San Diego nine months ago.

Only 100 spectators lined the smooth waters of the harbor's channel to watch the planes roar high over Honolulu, head straight for the harbor and come down quickly in orderly fashion behind Lieutenant-Commander S. H. Warner.

Warner said the squadron flew through unfavorable weather the first third of the trip.

Fred Erwin Beal Arrested As Fugitive From Justice By Massachusetts Police

Col. Flanagan Undecided On Course For Politics

Being Talked for Gubernatorial Candidate in 1940

On the eve of his departure for a trip that will take him to Honolulu and Mexico City to visit Ambassador Josephus Daniels, Col. E. G. Flanagan declared today that the way he felt now he would not run for the State senate in the June primaries, but that if he did so it would be to protect his anti-slot machine act.

Looking further in the future, Senator Flanagan had little to say regarding his possible candidacy for governor in 1940, but admitted that he had received letters from all parts of the state encouraging him to make the race.

Friends from all sections of the state have been urging Col. Flanagan to seek the governorship in 1940 and he has been mentioned as a possible candidate by the state papers.

"All those letters are very encouraging and I appreciate them, but it is a little early to think seriously of entering the 1940 gubernatorial campaign," said Mr. Flanagan, who has never been defeated in a political contest.

In regard to announcement of his candidacy to succeed himself in the State senate, Mr. Flanagan said "I don't want to run and as I feel now I will not, but upon returning here circumstances may be so that I will change my mind and announce my candidacy."

Although "Colonel Ed," as he is known throughout the state—he was awarded the title by a Kentucky governor—has declared on numerous occasions that he probably was through with politics, many believe that he could be persuaded to make the race for governor, and especially so if he continues to receive letters of encouragement from all parts of the state.

Col. Flanagan, Mrs. Flanagan, and Miss Alice Lee Hooker will leave here tomorrow for Washington. From the national capital they will go to Chicago, where they will stop over for a day or so. They then will continue the trip by rail to the West coast, sailing for Honolulu on January 29. They will return to Los Angeles on February 24. Securing an automobile in California, they will motor to Mexico for a visit to Ambassador and Mrs. Daniels. The motor trip then will be continued home.

Additional Funds Approved By REA

The Rural Electrification Authority has approved an additional requisition of $20,348,77 for the Pitt-Greene Electric Membership Corporation and the money will be available for use as soon as the Treasury Department clears the voucher.

This makes more than $21,000 which has been advanced for the new line. Most of the money in the latest requisition is to be used for construction materials—poles, wire, transformers, sub-station, and the like. Some of it will be used for salaries.

Energetic Contestants To Earn Big Money

Just Think What You Could Do With $600 in Cash Handed You for a Few Weeks' Pleasant Work! This is Your Opportunity!

If you were approached with a proposition whereby you stood to make almost as much as $400.00 per month in your spare time during the next few weeks, you would stop short and think, wouldn't you? It doesn't make any difference as to your present position. The bigger it is the more you would think. You would consider it. Of course, you would.

Right now in these times when men and women are thinking of the necessity for getting money, when folks are trying hard to increase their incomes, $600.00 is to be desired, no matter who you are.

The Daily Reflector "Cash Offer" Campaign is just starting. It is only good business on your part to know more about it. Today you can get in, not on the ground floor, but in the sub-basement. The future is all here is to it. There isn't any past. Here is an opportunity in which the whole family can join, and by combining efforts can realize an income of $600.00 within the next few weeks.

NOW IS THE TIME TO ACT. This offer is meant for you. Are you big enough for the offer? Have you ability enough? Have you enough ambition? Or are you hiding behind the screen of "Not enough time" or "To busy on my present job" to make almost $100.00 per week in your spare time.

Of course you can accomplish nothing toward sharing in the big cash distribution until you get started. Cut out the nomination coupon in this issue and send or bring it to headquarters today. Once started, if you are of the ambitious sort, you can make one of the biggest awards yours.

REPORT WED. AND SAT. All Campaign workers are again notified that they must make their reports at least twice a week, on Wednesday afternoon and Saturday afternoon—either in person or by mail.

Solicitor Carpenter, However, Makes Plans to Extradite Fugitive to State

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Lawrence police today arrested Fred E. Beal, 41, labor organizer for Gastonia, N. C., police as a fugitive from justice in North Carolina.

The arrest was made by Police captain Daniel Killey and Sergeant John Casey of Lawrence on a North Carolina warrant.

Beal was sentenced in 1929 to serve 17 to 20 years for conspiracy with six others to murder Police Chief O. F. Aderholt of Gastonia. Released in $500 bail pending an appeal to the North Carolina Supreme court, he left the state and was missing when the high court denied his appeal.

Taken into custody early today at the home of a brother, William, Beal told police he would fight rendition to North Carolina. He said he had visited Russia after appealing his conviction and was unable to leave that country because of passport difficulties when the appeal was denied.

CHANGE SCENE OF LOCAL BALL

Dance To Be At College; Committee Chairmen Named

Announcement of committee chairmen for the Pitt county 1938 Roosevelt Birthday ball and a decision to hold the dance in the campus, or Robert H. Wright building of the college instead of in the armory attracted new interest in the affair today.

General Chairman W. W. Lee appointed D. J. Whitchard, Jr., vice chairman and selected J. W. Overton to serve as treasurer. Committee chairmen were named as follows: Publicity, K. W. Cobb; tickets and founders' certificates, J. B. Kittrell; floor, R. C. Deal; decorations, W. L. Nisbet; and entertainment, Miss Ramona Staples.

Members of the various committees will be appointed and announced by the chairmen at some date in the near future.

The ball will be held on Monday night January 31, birthday anniversary of President Roosevelt.

The fight against infantile paralysis is being unified under the National Foundation and in addition to dance tickets, founders' certificates will be for sale at one dollar for a single founder, two dollars for a sustaining founder and five dollars for a family founder. President Roosevelt, himself, is founder number one.

The Birthday Balls have proved profitable here for the past three more than 3ae etanio etainnum years, and during the past year more than 30 infantile paralysis sufferers were benefitted from funds derived from the dances. Local sponsors, however, are hoping to make this a banner year.

Miss Ramona Staples will present an entertaining film show for the occasion. Jimmy Livingston's orchestra will provide music for dancing.

Slayer of Ross

Announcing that Peter Anders (above), 30-year-old former logger, admitted slaying Charles S. Ross of Chicago two days after $50,000 ransom was paid, G-Men marked the kidnap-slaying solved. Anders, who was taken into custody at Los Angeles, also admitted killing his confederate, James Atwood Gray, federal agents said.

AGENTS GUARD KIDNAP-KILLER

Peter Anders Possibly Connected With Other Cases

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Federal agents kept grim close-mouth watch today over Peter Anders, brought here in a surprise move after his arrest on the west coast for the kidnap-killing of Charles Ross retired Chicago manufacturer.

Led by their chief, Edgar Hoover, the officers of the FBI swooped in St. Paul by airplane last night with their heavily manacled captive who was seized Friday near Los Angeles.

Anders, called by Hoover the confessed kidnaper and slayer of Ross and the killer of his associate in the crime, Atwood Gray, was transferred from plane to an automobile under cover of machine guns and then taken to the FBI office for safekeeping.

Beyond a short announcement that the prisoner, about 30 years old, was being taken to Chicago, Hoover refused to explain the stop here.

The FBI chief heightened the mystery surrounding the flight when, replying to questions, he denied Anders was a suspect in the kidnap-slaying of 10-year old Chas. Mattson at Tacoma, Wash., but said the prisoner was being questioned about "some other kidnappings." Hoover did not elaborate.

Stolen Automobile Used In Robberies

Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst announced today that the practically new automobile used in the robberies of the Aurora ABC store and the attempted robbery of the ABC store at Grimesland, was stolen from a Waynesboro, Va., showroom on January 13.

When abandoned in Grimesland early yesterday morning by four men who were frustrated in their attempt to rob the liquor store by Night Policeman Stanley Moore, the car had only 1,100 miles on the speedometer.

Sheriff Whitehurst also announced today that the West Virginia license on the vehicle were issued to E. I. Walston of Renick, W. Va., but added the plates were not issued for the car used in the robberies.

It was believed by officers that the license plates were stolen. They were attached to the car only by wire.

NEW DISPUTES FACE CABINET OF CHAUTEMPS

Labor Difficulties Harass Remodeled Government

CALLS MINISTERS TO CONFERENCE

Eighteen of 20 New Members of Reorganized French Cabinet Socialists

Paris, Jan. 19.—(AP)—New labor disturbances arose today to harass the remodeled government of Radical Socialist Camille Chautemps, and the Premier at once called a conference of his ministers to deal with them.

The labor issue and accompanying fall of the franc forced out Chautemps' previous People's Front Cabinet, which included Socialist ministers and had Communist support in Parliament.

Eighteen of the 20 ministers in the new cabinet are Radical Socialists. No Socialists are included, and Communist support apparently will be unnecessary to keep it intact.

Radical Socialist Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos and Defense Minister Edouard Daladier retain their posts assuring continuation of France's vast defense program.

Chautemps formed the government yesterday, the fifth day of the longest French cabinet crisis since the World War, when Socialists in the Chamber of Deputies assured him their parliamentary support.

The cabinet meeting was set for Thursday morning.

The recurring labor disturbances included a demand by Bordeaux municipal employees that the city council increase living allowances. The notice set January 27 as the deadline for completing negotiations before a general strike order.

Paris municipal employees gained increased living allowances by general strike last month.

Christian Science Church.

"Life" was the subject of the lesson-lesson in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, January 16.

The golden text was from John 1:4. "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.... In him was life; and the life was the light of men."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-lesson was the following from the Bible: "For to be carnally minded is death, but to be spiritually minded is life and peace." (Rom. 8:6).

The lesson-lesson also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The continual contemplation of existence as material and corporeal—as beginning and ending, and with birth, decay, and dissolution as its component stages—hides the true and spiritual life, and causes our standard to trail in the dust. If life has any starting-point whatsoever, then the great I AM is a myth. If life is God, as the Scriptures imply, then life is not embryonic, it is infinite."

How's Your Health?

Edited for the New York Academy of Medicine

By Iago Galdston, M.D.

The competent treatment of a sprained joint is a task for the expert. In practically every instance, however, the sprained joint requires first aid treatment.

When medical help is promptly available and the sufferer needs to move about but little, simple first aid will suffice. This should consist of heat applications. Immerse the sprained joint in hot water, or apply hot wet compresses or dry heat to it.

The heat treatment should be kept up during the first few hours following injury. Then it may be supplemented by gentle massage—the emphasis of course is upon the gentleness.

Massage should be avoided if it is suspected that a bone may have been broken. In the small bones of the hand and foot, the fracture or "chipping away" of bone is not as obvious as when one of the larger bones is affected.

When medical help cannot be brought to the patient and he must go or be moved to his physician, proper strapping of the injured joint with adhesive tape is desirable. Watch the following point in first aid strapping of a sprained joint:

Use preferably narrow strips of adhesive.

Do not apply the adhesive in such a way that it tightly binds the soft parts and interferes with blood circulation.

Strap the joint in the position of its greatest comfort in such a way as to strengthen and protect the weakened joint structures against further wrenching.

Apply the strapping over those parts which hurt most.

If the strapping is to cover a hairy portion of the skin, it will give the patient some comfort if the hair is shaved off first.

If medical help is not available for some hours, the patient should put the sprained joint through its full range of motion every two hours or so.

Massage and active motion promote blood circulation and the absorption of swelling.

It won't hurt to repeat this warning: These advised procedures are to be considered only as emergency first aid treatment. They are not an adequate substitute for the careful examination and competent treatment of the injured joint.

It's Odd But It's Science

New York—About 42,000 miles an hour is the speed of an electric spark jumping a gap.

This was found in motion pictures of sparks taken by T. E. Allibone and J. M. Meek and published in the English science journal, Nature.

The pictures showed that an electric spark is not a single flash. It always has two parts, sometimes half a dozen. It begins with a thin, hairline streamer, which scientists call the "leader." This forerunner paves the way for the main spark.

The leader's speed was shown to average about 42,000 miles an hour. The main flow of electricity follows the leader at a much higher speed. The leader in effect greases the air—or, technically, ionizes it.

Similar leaders have been photographed preceding flashes of lightning. But the English scientists discovered in their sparks a type of leader unknown in lightning. This was two leaders, starting from opposite sides of the gap, simultaneously! They met about midway, then the main spark flowed over the path they had made.

Big Turnover Certain In State Senate Next Year

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Jan. 19—There is certain to be a big turnover in the 1939 State Senate.

This is true of every new Senate because of the many "Gentlemen's Agreements" in effect throughout the state whereby a system of rotation is observed among the counties of many districts.

A survey of prospective candidates indicates that at least 11 senators from the first fifteen districts of the state (districts which furnish exactly half the membership) will be ineligible to stand for re-election by reason of parts of this kind. Thus only 14 senators from these fifteen districts have a chance to come back in 1939 and many of these will fall by the wayside either because they do not choose to run in the primaries or because they find they are not now as popular with their constituents as they were in 1937.

Looking over the first fifteen districts the situation is something like this:

First: W. I. Halstead, South Mills, and Jerry J. Hughes, Elizabeth City, will be candidates for re-election. Under the unwritten code of district they should come back unopposed, but there are rumors that precedent will not hold this time, and that there will be opposition, primarily to Senator Halstead. Senator Hughes has written this bureau he will be a candidate.

Second: Senator W. B. Rodman Jr. of Washington, writes "It seems a bit early to be talking politics, but presently my thought is to be a candidate." Senator R. L. Coburn says he is ineligible by reason of having served the two terms allowed by custom in this district.

Third: Senator A. C. Gay is out, as it is Bertie's turn this time.

Fourth: "Cousin Willie" Clark, Edgecombe, and Dr. T. W. M. Long Halifax, are eligible to run again, but neither answered a letter from this bureau asking their probable action.

Fifth: Senator Ed. Flanagan, of Pitt, likely will run again, to protect his Anti-Slot Machine Act, if for no other reason.

Sixth: Neither Senator from this district answered this bureau's inquiry. They are C. Eagles and Lee L. Gravelly.

Seventh: John D. Larkins, Jr., Trenon, says he will again be a candidate. This district, he writes, does not rotate, though it has six counties, Jones, Craven, Carteret, Greene, Lenoir and Onslow. Senator E. V. Webb, of Kinston, did not answer a request for information of his plans.

Eighth: Senator Edgar H. Bain, of Goldsboro, wrote that he will run again. "I heard Mr. Holt (the district's other senator, from Johnston) will not stand for re-election, but I cannot speak for him as I do not know what his plans are." Nothing has been heard direct from Mr. Holt.

Ninth: Neither Senator from this district, Jeff Johnston of Sampson or Roy Rowe of Pender is eligible to run this year. New Hanover and Dublin getting the Senate seats.

Harris Newman, Wilmington, a legislative veteran is out for the New Hanover place.

Tenth: Another district in which neither senator is eligible. James Hector Clark, Elizabethtown, and Wall C. Ewing, Fayetteville, must therefore, watch from the sidelines while Brunswick and Columbus elect.

Eleventh: Nothing was heard from Senator W. S. Britt, Lumberton.

Twelfth: Two new Senators will come from this district as Henry Ingram, Randolph, and Ryan McBryde, Raeford, gracefully retire to

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

Hollywood—Tricky business: In the Jack Holt film, "All Were Enemies" there's a scene in which Beverly Roberts' face must be "drained slowly of its color." To make her face "go white," she first goes blue. In her sky-blue make-up she is "lighted" with a series of color filters. These, changing slowly from deep magenta to pale vermilion, turn the trick for the camera. (It's a variant of the old trick on the screen—mixing colored lights by which blackface comics go white with colored make-up.)

Hellress Geraldine Spreckles acquired the screen name of Anna Johns and her release from contract about the same time. Chilli Boucher from England arrived and departed before the name-changers could get to work. . . . But Elen Clancy (who is pretty and looks exactly like Elen Clancy) now is called Janet Shaw. . . . Nice business.

Bea Clicks

Times have changed, or audiences. . . . One of the first Fox talkies was "Are You There?" It starred a famous British comedienne, whose name was—and still is—a byword in the theatre. . . . About the only release her picture ever won was at previews. . . . Whenever a theatre hereabouts needed a preview attraction and couldn't get a real one it showed "Are You There?" . . . Audience reaction was always the same: bewilderment. . . . But now Beatrice Lillie is one of the hits of the Bing Crosby picture, "Dr. Rhythm." . . . Audiences have caught up with the Lillie style, for she hasn't changed it.

James Cagney's first picture since he made up with Warner Bros. will be "Boy Meets Girl"—and if Marie Wilson isn't in the girl role she'll be broken-hearted. The nice child gets jittery every time there's a rumor to the contrary. . . .

Bette Really Worked

Larry Crabbe's hair has undergone so many dyes for various roles that they're calling him the "chameleon." . . . Sentiment lurks where you least expect it: Big Victor McLaglen was among those who simply had to rush home for the holidays. . . . Bette Davis, to work her way through school and preliminaries to a theatre career, at various times waited on tables (Cushing Academy), coached plays, did kitchen duty (Great Albin school) acted as secretary, was hostess in a tea-room, served as usherette in the Cape Cod Playhouse, where she hoped to act.

let Moore and Harnett counties have their turn.

Thirteenth: Wake may or may not return its Senator, L. Y. Ballentine, no ignored a letter from this bureau. The other Senator, Lee's J. C. Pittman courteously advised this bureau that Chatham gets the second senatorship this time.

Fourteenth: Nothing has been heard from Senator W. W. White, Manson.

Fifteenth: Senator J. W. Noell, Roxboro, wrote that he will be ineligible. Granville will name the 1939 senator from this district, he said.

SHIPS ON WINTER HOLIDAY GET BEAUTY TREATMENT

Southampton, England (AP)—Southampton's dry docks—beauty parlors for ships—are doing a rush business these days with liners which have come in to get the works.

Many of the big boats have to "turn around" in 16 hours during the tourist season and don't have time to knock off for a "tanning up" until the slack winter months arrive.

Examination and clearing of the underwater parts takes about two weeks. Southampton experts expect to handle a record total of 400,000 tons this winter.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

SYNOPSIS: A bolt-up of savage Dyak tribes makes the tropical waters of Balingong bay an unhealthy spot. Our trading vessel, the Linkang, is strongly fortified, but the Forrester's Avon is defenseless. It is a strange place to find an English girl of 20, and my uncle, James Clyde, is trying to persuade Christine, and her brother Robert, to leave. But they insist on remaining to "trade for pearls."

Chapter Two
WE KNOW WHAT WE'RE DOING

ROBERT FORRESTER stirred restlessly. "I assure you we quite know what we are doing," he said. "I point out to you that my father undoubtedly knew more about the native peoples of these islands than anyone else who has recently lived. If you will be generous, Captain Clyde, I believe you will admit that we have reason to know something about what we are doing."

"I knew your father," said Clyde shortly.

This was true, but it was unfortunate that his tone indicated clearly that he had not thought much of the man. Anthony Forrester, late owner of the Avon, had been a retired civil officer of the British East India Company. Upon his retirement he proved to have a sufficient fortune to devote himself exclusively to what must have been a completely insatiable curiosity. His passion was the Malay archipelago. The last years of his life, three-quarters croaked by fever and jaundice, had apparently been spent in frantically charting bits of unknown waters, drawing little pictures of fishes, and tabulating fragments of 20 island languages. Clyde considered him a putterer, and hence inexcusable. Even Forrester's little vessel, the yawl-rigged Avon, Clyde held in contempt, because she wasn't big enough to carry any real cargo.

"What you do," said Christine coolly, "isn't of the slightest importance to us."

Anthony Forrester had died at the end of the last rainy season, no more than two months before. A couple of his older offspring were somewhere in England; but these two, Christine and Robert, had presently cleared the Avon from Singapore, expressly for Bristol. This much we knew as everyone in Asiatic waters always knew uncomfortably much about every one else.

By this time the Avon should have been beating about somewhere off the Cape of Good Hope. She had no business here in the bay of Balingong, raising pure hell with James Clyde's very commercial plans.

"It seems to me," Clyde said now, "that you should have learned from your father a little something about what can happen in a place like this. Can't you hear those gongs and drums? Don't you know the war beat when you hear it?"

"Of course," Robert Forrester said, his tone reasonable. "I've known about these things all my life. It's a good many years since they were able to keep me awake."

Without Sanction
"AND so," he said at last, "you mean just to sit here, until you're caught."

"Granted that the Rajah Mantusen seems to be in difficulties with the Dyak tribes," Robert Forrester said exasperatingly. "I submit that people who go in for island trading must accept certain risks; especially in the lower archipelago. We're here on perfectly legitimate business, you know, and I see no reason—"

"I know nothing of the sort," Clyde said, his temper getting away from him. "I happen to know more about you than you think. In the first place you cleared Singapore for Bristol, and the fact that you're down here where you don't belong has no sanction whatever from your government, nor from the Dutch, either. In the second place, you know and I know that there's only one form of goods you could trade with Mantusen. You're thumbing your nose at whatever law there is in these waters, and you know it!"

Forrester flushed a little and there was a very uncomfortable pause. "Captain Clyde," he said, "I am certain that I must misunderstand your meaning."

"I am certain that you do not. I mean that you're running guns to the natives. You're an amateur, and don't know your business, nor the first thing about it; but that's what you're doing. If one of your own British war vessels would find you here, you'd be in the soup!"

Young Forrester's face was suddenly mottled with pale spots under the tan. It isn't good for a man's system to let his anger freeze that way, in the tropics.

"Captain Clyde," he inquired stiffly, "do I understand that you take me for a scoundrel?"

It sounded so silly that Clyde softened. "I'm only trying to tell you that you are in danger."

"I certainly cannot imagine my father giving weight to a consideration such as that."

"And I can't recall that your father ever brought your sister to a place like this," Clyde said. "Except for her I wouldn't bother to argue with you. There will always be people who can't see their own danger, and some of them will always be able to get hold of boats. But when you tow your sister into this, you—"

Cool And Serene
"CAPTAIN CLYDE," Christine Forrester said, "I can't be 'towed.' I came because I wanted to come."

My uncle checked. For a moment he met the straight eyes of the girl. His gaze seemed to fumble. He glanced again at Robert Forrester, and at the sailing master, Marvin Stocker. Then he swung about directly to face the girl. Perhaps he would have got farther, I thought, if he had done that in the first place.

"Look, Miss Forrester. Can't you see the position that I'm in? I can neither leave nor stay."

She said, "Why not? It isn't of the slightest importance to us what you do."

She looked cool and serene. Her delicately incised features were very young. And no one could have been more completely feminine. She was wearing white Indo-Chinese silk, loose and airy, cut low off both shoulders, and her skin was the color of cream. This in itself made her a marvel to men who had seen nothing but the bronze-fleshed island women for so long. I would not have supposed that I could have forgotten what women were like in my own part of the world, until I found myself staring at Christine Forrester. Then, more than ever, the shaded afterdeck of the Avon seemed a chip off another planet.

Yet there was something else about that girl which I had sensed from the first but had not been able to place. I placed it now. Cool and serene though she might be, Christine Forrester was sailing a chartered course. As yet I didn't have the faintest idea what this course was; but I was beginning to see that she knew it, and knew it well. You can sense that sort of thing in the swing of a ship's wheel—or in a woman's eyes.

Will Christine understand the risk she is running, tomorrow?

Mrs. Wohl Hoping To Stir Up Group Usually Inactive

Those Inclined to Scoff at Prospective Candidacy Overlooking One Distinct Angle

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Jan. 19—Those who are inclined to scoff at the prospective candidacy of Mrs. Helen Robertson Wohl for the United States Senate are overlooking one distinct angle of the situation.

It is the possibility that the Gulliver-reared Quaker may be able to stir up and get to the polls a tremendous number of North Carolinians who usually don't even take the trouble to vote.

If she gets into the race—and the odds are strongly in favor of her doing just that—the whole strategy of her campaign will follow that line. She is nobody's dumb-bell and is sufficiently acquainted with the political situation to realize that she hasn't the faintest chance of being elected anything by grace of the state's politicians.

They will be solidly against her, and she knows it; but in every part of the state—in every county and hamlet, there are literally thousands and thousands of citizens eligible to vote who never qualify to exercise their rights except under unusual circumstances. Many of them turned out in the Smith- Hoover campaign of 1928 when religious prejudice played such a part. Some of them turned out to vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

This group also has been known to boil over in prohibition campaigns and overturn wet candidates or wet counties.

Mrs. Wohl thinks she has an issue which will turn these habitual stay-at-homes into flaming crusaders for her cause. She plans to campaign on the Ludlow War Referendum platform. It's surprising what an appeal this issue has to a large group of citizens. If they can be worked into the proper frenzy of zeal, Mrs. Wohl may have something there.

And don't forget that she polled practically 100,000 votes as a beginner. As a seasoned campaigner she may make "Our Bob" and "Friendly Frank" lose a bit of sleep.

MORE CAMPAIGN NEWS

During the first period of the campaign 396,000 extra votes will be credited on each $30 in subscriptions. All business turned in up to this time will be applied upon it; 22,000 extra votes the second period; 255,000 extra votes the third period; double votes the fourth period; double votes and "protect you" votes and regular schedule plus 90 per cent the final period.

Right is also reserved to extend the campaign or to add extra prizes of any nature at any period of the plus 90 per cent the final period.

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the virus-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package.—(adv.)

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—A major factor im- pelling the United States and Great Britain to get together on a trade pact is that in recent years each has shut the other out of a fat share in its home trade.
 Each has followed an isolationist policy, the United States push- ing up its tariff walls steadily until they reached abruptly an all- time high in 1929 under the Smoot-Hawley act. The United Kingdom (the British Isles, exclusive of the dominions) which once had sold handily to the United States, buying largely in return, began taking its own protective steps, in which all the dominions shared in- terest.
 In 1932 at Ottawa, the British empire, including the islands, pos- sessions and dominions, went into conference and came out with an agreement to help each other in the matter of buying and sell- ing of goods, and let the rest of the world do the best it could.

Agreement Changed The Picture

Now the 60,000,000 residents of the British Isles always have bought principally food and raw products shipping and capital services.
 The immediate effect of that 1932 Ottawa agreement was to give the dominions an increasing share of the profitable food and material markets of the "tight lit- tle boxes." In return, they began taking a larger share of Brit- ish manufactures. Both reacted against U. S. trade. Other factors also influenced the shift, but the empire agreement played a big hand.
 Two brief tables show in part what happened. In 1929 the United States supplied the British Isles with 19.2 per cent of their grain and flour. By 1936 it supplied only 2 per cent. Here is how it ran:

	1929	1936
Grain and flour	19.2	2
Pork	18.8	1.6
Hams	82.1	50
Raisins	33.1	24
1000cc	98	79.1
Wood and timber	16.2	10.1
Raw cotton	50	38.2
	1929	1936
Grain and flour	31.4	58.1
Pork	52.2	77
Hams	9.8	44.4
Raisins	40.5
1000cc	1	12.8
Wood and timber	7.5	19.2
Raw cotton	14.5	20.2

These figures were taken from statistics compiled by the London

"Statist," an important British trade magazine. The magazine stated that in order to reach an agreement, both sides could expect to make sacrifices.

Negotiations Due

"In so far as tariffs are lowered on American manufactures the (British) manufacturers will suffer," said Statist. "Increased re- ports of foodstuffs will strike at the dominions."
 Only the islands and Canada have indicated they would come in on the negotiations. But all the dominions are looked upon as likely to come in presently. Negotia- tions open in March.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Jan. 19—There's a wide difference sometimes between "judicial" and "common ordinary" find- ings of facts.
 For instance, in his sweeping in- junction protecting the "Silent Sale man" slot machine, Judge Meekins found "as a fact" that "the complain- ant is engaged in the business of purchasing and selling candy mints."
 That was the judicial finding of what is done by the machines.
 A day or so ago your correspond- ent sat and watched a "Silent Sale- man" and the people who, accord- ing to the judge, would "as a fact" purchase mints therefrom. He counted exactly one hundred plays on the machine. Not one single solitary "customer" even attempted to get a package of mints from it.
 That was the "common, ordinary" finding of fact with reference to the "sale of mints" by the "Silent Saleman." It was certainly missing out on its purpose. If that's what its purpose is.

Harry McMillan, assistant At- torney General has a new title—be- stowed upon him by a correspond- ent. He just received a letter ad- dressed to him as "Chairman of the Old Age Pensioners."

The State Rural Electrification Authority is still trying to iron out difficulties and obtain electricity for many Chatham county dairy farmers whose business is in grave jeopardy unless something is done quickly. It seems that the Durham milk regulations have recently been tightened to the point where these Chatham folks must have electric- ity to obtain low temperatures for their milk or they will be unable to meet the city's standards.

Dare, Currituck, Chowan and Washington county fishermen ap- peared before the Board of Con- servation and Development in an effort to have the opening of the shad season advanced. They con- tended that shad in January are approximately five times as valu- able to them as shad in April, where few they wanted the season open- ed earlier.
 The board agreed that a season of from January 5 to April 15 for gill nets, and from January 15 to April 25 for pound nets would be preferable to the present regula- tions—February 3 to April 15 for gill nets and February 15 to May 1 for pound nets.

North Carolina's textile mills may not appeal to Massachusetts, but North Carolina's bonds do. With in the last few months, according to State Treasurer Charles M. John- son, the New England state had bought $780,000 worth of North Carolina issues.

This correspondent's compliment to himself on stirring up something in the Salisbury "backie" case has been confirmed by a letter from Charles L. Coggin, solicitor of the 15th Judicial district, who writes that he went into Superior court and secured an injunction against "Turfland" as a common gaming house and therefore a nuisance, after being shown this bureau's ar- ticle suggesting such a course.
 "I appreciate your interest in the matter," he wrote. He predicts that the case will go to the Supreme court of the state for a controlling opinion.

James Sermon, Forsyth Negro, will be the first prisoner to be put to death this year at State Prison unless the Governor changes his mind between now and Friday. His appeal for clemency has been de- nied.
POSTMAN'S HOLIDAY:
THERE'S NO WALKING
 Beatrice, Neb. (AP)—A postman's paradise might be the place where all the customers would come and get their mail instead of waiting for it to be delivered.
 David Kasting, rural mail carrier, dwells in such a heaven for one day.
 He hired the local fireman's hall, invited all his clients to call for their mail, and provided entertain- ment and refreshments.
 Kasting says he plans to make it an annual event.

Lawrence, Mass., of Fred Erwin Beal, wanted as a fugitive from justice from Gastonia, but added that regular procedure would be followed in preparation and approval of extradition papers, so far as he knew.

Gastonia, Jan 19—(AP)—Notified today of the arrest at Lawrence, Mass., of Fred Beal, Solicitor John Carpenter announced he would today forward to Governor Hoey a formal application for Beal's extradition to North Carolina to serve the sentence for his part in the murder of Police Chief O. F. Adersholt here in 1935.

"Carpenter said if Beal persists in fighting extradition he will go to Lawrence himself, if necessary, to represent North Carolina in requesting Beal's return if Governor Hurley of Massachusetts calls an extradition hearing.

tween the Norfolk Southern Railroad bridge and the highway bridge, Chowan and Washington county fishermen especially asked the change.

North Carolina fishermen may use purse seines and trawl for fish inside the three-mile limit under certain conditions and at certain places, under an amended rule, and changes were made in requirements for buoys on fishing nets.

The Board also refused to extend the commercial waters' designation on the Neuse river inland to Goldsboro.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The stock market resumed its slow motion performance today after a minor selling wave, pivoting on the rails, had knocked prices down more than two points throughout the list.

Many traders preferred to stay out of the market until they could judge more closely spring business prospects and the outcome of the White House conferences with industrial leaders, analysts said.

Mixed trends in commodities, with grains off, and further liquidation in many railroad bonds helped dampen speculative sentiment elsewhere.

REA Doing Much To Aid Conditions In Rural Sections

Interesting to Note Difference In Standards Where Farms Wired For Electricity

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Jan. 19.—Rural electrification is doing much to raise the standard of living of tenant farmers, and will eventually prove quite a factor in turning tenants into land owners, J. M. Grainger, engineer for the State Rural Electrification Authority, believes.

"It is very interesting to see the difference in the conditions under which tenant farmers live before and after becoming electricity customers," Mr. Grainger said.

"There is almost invariably a vast improvement in the condition of their places. Homes and farms which were ill-kept and unsightly before electricity was installed become neater and far more presentable."

He expressed the opinion that once the tenant begins to find what great advantages electric service gives, he begins to strive for other and greater comforts and improvements of all sorts.

"Somehow or other, it just seems to give them a desire to attain better and higher standards of living," he said.

Incidentally he declared that the reduction of rural power rates has been so marked within recent years that electricity is no longer an expensive luxury on any farm. Rates he said have been at least halved by repeated reduction.

At present the State RREA is vitally interested in certain lines in two counties of the state with extremely high tenant-farmer percentages—Greene and Pitt. Greene has a mark of 82.1 per cent tenant farmers, exceeded only by Edgecombe county, with something like 85 per cent. Pitt likewise is high up in the list, with 78.7 per cent. The RREA recently had application for electricity 300 consumers in these counties, with not to exceed 100 persons actually making the applications, so large is the percentage of landlords.

Mineralogists say there is enough salt in Texas to give a four-horse wagon load to every man, woman and child in the state and still have plenty left.

The New Zealand government has approved the appointment of a committee to investigate the suitability of the city of Wellington, as a base for overseas flying boats.

Meteorologists in India plan to use balloons about five feet in diameter to obtain data on monsoon air currents and facilitate weather forecasting.
