JAPS EXPLAIN NEW INCIDENT WITH BRITISH

Declare threat invade concession "Misunderstanding"

BRITISH FORCES AWAITED CLASH

Japanese Advancing Along Tientsin-Pukow Railway Claim Another Success

Shanghai, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Shanghai British circles received word today the Japanese forces at Tientsin had explained a "misunderstanding" a threat to invade the British concession...

The First Lancashire fusiliers' only 850 fighting men, had stood ready to repel the threatened invasion, authoritative British circles here declared. Their version of the incident was:

Yesterday Japanese warned they would enter the British concession territory unless Chinese suspected of anti-Japanese activities were expelled. The threat was understood to be virtually an ultimatum expiring at 3 p. m.

The British troops waited for the zero hour, under orders to fight back even though such action might have meant annihilation since Japanese have thousands of men at Tientsin.

The supposed zero hour passed and nothing occurred. Then the incident was settled with the assertion it was a misunderstanding. Japanese advancing along the Tientsin-Pukow railway asserted they had occupied a place 53 miles northwest of Nanking and were pushing through a blizzard toward "little chicken river."

The cold caused acute suffering among thousands of war refugees who found some consolation in the fact that it slowed Japanese invaders.

In Shanghai police of the International Settlement and French concession rounded up 98 Chinese men and women suspected of acts of terrorism against Japanese.

Dairy Inspection Service Attacked By Wilson Citizen

Druggist and Former Dairyman Blames Trouble on "Crowd Doing the Inspection"

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Jan. 20.—Troubles of North Carolina dairymen can be laid largely to the "crowd doing the inspection," in the opinion of A. Roy Moore, prominent Wilson drug store proprietor who was once in the dairy business.

In a letter to W. Kerr Scott, Commissioner of Agriculture, written as the result of this bureau's story following up the commissioner's Pinehurst speech, Mr. Moore said something of his experience while in the dairy business and expressed freely his opinion of the present inspection methods of those in charge.

Commenting on the fact that North Carolina dairying has actually decreased in importance in the past 20 years, he wrote:

"The matter is not one that cannot be easily remedied, as I see it, because a great deal of the trouble comes from the authority delegated to the crowd doing the inspection.

"Every effort should be made to select people to do this work who are honest, conscientious capable and sympathetic with the dairying people.

"Work for constant improvement always, but not too quickly. Changes should not be made so rapidly as to drive them out of business, but in a helpful way. A great deal of the requirements which are so easily brought on by coming along and demanding one thing and a few weeks later coming along and requiring something directly opposite all of which is done primarily for show and front and with no sincerity of purpose."

He commented acidly on a report of the Wilson county inspector showing that local producers had been reduced from 23 to 6, remarking "this is appalling. We need more sources of clean, cheap milk, not less."

He prefaced his letter with the statement that he feels himself unprejudiced because "I have nothing to lose any more—having long since found that an unsympathetic inspection service made it impossible to ever hope to receive any remuneration."

Many Florida cities offer free open-air concerts for their winter visitors.

CHILD ESCAPES SLAYER OF SIX

Roger Leflay, 4, here is embraced by his mother, Mrs. Marvin Leflay, as she lies injured in a Lake City, Minn., hospital. Roger's father was shot and his mother was beaten with a pistol by his uncle Lawrence Leflay who, according to Sheriff Victor Selme, slew his wife, their two small children, a niece, a nephew and himself. Roger alone escaped without harm. Lawrence Leflay left a note confessing the killings, the sheriff said.

NOE REMOVED FROM POSITION

Action Comes as Clergyman Appears Be Weakening

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Bishop James M. Maxon ordered the removal of fasting Dean Israel Harding Noe today.

The Bishop, recovering from a serious illness, sent a lengthy written communication to the deanery today in which he notified the clergyman he was taking over the duties of St. Mary's Episcopal cathedral.

This step had been urged for several days by some leaders of the church. It came at a time when the dean apparently was getting much weaker.

The dean, fasting to prove the fact of immortality, made no immediate comment.

"For the first time, I am well enough x x x to be advised of what has transpired during the past two days," Bishop Maxon wrote.

"At the outset I wish to say that I am writing this letter in all kindness and love.

"I regret to advise that it is convincingly evident that you must be removed as dean of St. Mary's Cathedral. This removal will take place at once. However, your stipend will continue for the next six months and you will be permitted to occupy the deanery for that period."

The Bishop's message besought Dean Noe to discontinue the fast, which has been broken only by wafers and sips of wine at communion services since January 2. All last year, Dean Noe said, he lived on oranges alone.

Burned To Death As Truck Wrecks

Raleigh, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Harry B. Heater, about 21, of Cary, burned to death today, highway patrolmen said, when an oil truck overturned on the Wendell highway.

Johnny Reeves, about 37, of Raleigh, suffered painful burns, but the full extent of his injuries had not been ascertained at a hospital to which he was rushed.

World Crises A Boon To Career Of U. S. Diplomats

By MORGAN M. BEATTY (AP Feature Service Writer)

Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The world crisis is giving Uncle Sam's career diplomats the biggest break they've had in years.

In the midst of the turmoil, the Roosevelt administration is turning more and more to experienced men who have made foreign affairs their life work.

This is not mere accident. The career men have shown their ability to take trouble in large doses where the casual political appointees sometimes has not known how to stand the gaff.

Even now a shake-up is under way. Hugh Wilson, the quiet-spoken Chicagoan who started at the bottom of the ladder, is headed for Berlin, to succeed Dr. William E. Dodd, resigned, as ambassador to Germany, one of the four most important posts. Norman Armour, a naturalized Englishman who has seen service in nine capitals, is on the way to Chile.

BUSINESS MEN LOOK FOR RISE IN CONDITIONS

Survey Shows Most of Manufacturers In Accord

SUB-COMMITTEE APPROVES REED

U. S. Chamber Commerce Representatives say Further Tax Revisions Needed

Washington, Jan. 20.—(AP)—A business leader told Congress today that two-thirds of the country's manufacturers expect a business rise some time in 1938.

The informant was Colby Chester, chairman of the National Association of Manufacturers, who testified at the Senate Unemployment inquiry. He based his statement on a cross-section survey of 40 manufacturers.

A representative of another large group of business men, the United States Chamber of Commerce, expressed the opinion to the House Ways and Means Committee that "go far enough." He said the undistributed profits tax should be repealed at once.

The filibuster against the anti-lynching bill was resumed, meanwhile, in the Senate and the House continued debate on the $553,000,000 naval appropriation bill.

A Senate Judiciary sub-committee approved unanimously the nomination of Stanley Reed to the Supreme Court. The nomination will be reported to the full committee Monday with Senate confirmation expected early next week.

The sub-committee vote was taken immediately after the committee concluded a brief hearing on Reed's qualifications.

Senator Logan (D.-Ky.) said there was no question of Reed's qualification by committee members.

The brief hearing was attended by Reed, now Solicitor General, and Attorney General Cummings.

The latter praised Reed's legal ability and said the nomination of the 53-year-old Kentuckian was a "great personal satisfaction."

Heber R. Anderson Dies of Pneumonia

Heber Roy Anderson, 36, died at his home near Pateolis at 4:45 p. m. yesterday from a short illness of pneumonia. He was reared in Beaver Dam township of this county and had lived in Pitt county all of his life.

Funeral services were conducted from the late home this afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. Walter Nobles, Free Will Baptist minister of Winterville. Burial was in the House graveyard near Greenville.

Surviving are his wife and eight children, Aubrey Anderson of the CCC camp at Buxton; Estelle, Sallie, Mary, Otis Ray, Alton, Dallas and James, all of the home; his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Anderson; four brothers, J. H., F. J., B. S. and Z. C. Anderson; and three sisters, Mrs. A. C. Forekey and Mrs. Roy Everett of Bell Arthur; and Mrs. Ed Harrison of Greenville.

Education Groups Appointees Named

Raleigh, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Governor Hoy announced today the appointment of adult education councils for the white and Negro races in North Carolina.

Included in the 33-member council for the white race were: Dr. Clyde A. Erwin, superintendent of public instruction, Raleigh; Jonathan Daniels, editor, Raleigh; Hugh Horton, chairman legislative education committee, Williamston; Dean W. C. Jackson, Woman's College, University of North Carolina, Greensboro; Dr. Frank Graham, president University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill; Senator L. L. Gravelly, adult education committee, Rocky Mount; the Rev. John Barclay, public forum, Wilson.

Salaries Up To $17,500

Other career men already are carrying the load in trouble spots. Ex-Lion Hunter Joseph C. Grew is heading the fact in difficult Tokyo the deft William Phillips of Beverly, Mass., is our diplomatic contact with Mussolini; and that veteran of the Far East, Nelson T. Johnson, has been snatching quick and forth through China during the Sino-Japanese war.

The 60-odd men in important diplomatic posts are known as heads of missions. Some of them, the ambassadors, make $17,500 a year, and others, the ministers, get $10,000 a year. All of them get a few extra dollars for some of their expenses.

In times past, political leaders, prominent men, and patronage seekers have regarded diplomatic plum as their particular fruit. Some such men proved to be corking good ambassadors, such as Benjamin Franklin, John Jay and Charles Francis Adams, but many

The Daily Reflector is not attempting to decide the most popular man or woman. The "Cash Offer" campaign, provided of course the members get off right at the beginning and show a determination to finish in the list.

The start, however, is the important thing and it cannot be impressed too forcibly upon the minds of those who expect to enter the race that an early start means victory. People like to vote for winners, and folks who enter now and demonstrate that they are in to win merit the support of their friends.

SHOWMAN SLAIN OVER EXOTIC BIRD

This South American cockatrice, part of the stock of an itinerant Austin, Texas, showman, proved a bird of ill omen for its owner, his wife and an employee of the show, according to the story given by the employee, a 20-year-old youth (right) who first gave his name as Clarence Fairbanks, but later admitted that his real name was William Fairbanks, of Baltimore. Police said the youth confessed the killing of Steve Good, the showman, and wounding Mrs. Good with an axe as the result of a quarrel at Henderson over Good's treatment of the bird.

CHIEF REFUSES ACCEPT ORDER

Local Police Head Free to Confiscate Slot Machines

Chief of Police George Clark said today that an attempt had been made to have him accept service of papers restraining him from interfering with the operation of slot machines, but added that he had refused to sign the papers.

Chief Clark declared that he was not obligated to accept service from anyone but a federal officer of the court, making him a party to a suit originated in Elizabeth City in which peace officers there were restrained by Judge I. M. Meekins in Federal court from interfering with the operation of the machines.

If any slot machines make their appearance in Greenville they will be headed for the trash heap, declared the Greenville chief, although officers in some cities and counties have been made parties to the suit and are powerless to interfere with operation of the "one-armed bandits."

Chief Clark declared that the machines now making their appearance under the state are almost identical to those in operation before the Flanagan anti-slot machine act was passed by the 1937 General Assembly.

"Of course," explained Chief Clark, "if a United States marshal serves the papers I will be forced to accept them and then will become a party to suit and bound by its provisions."

The chief expressed the opinion, however, that no such procedure would be followed and said he did not believe the slot machine owners would put the case to a test, "but are merely trying to pull a bluff and getting by with it in some places."

Chief Clark declared that so far as he knew there were no slot machines in operation in Greenville at the present time.

Sheriff Whitehurst was out of the city this afternoon, and it was not known whether an attempt had been made to make him a party to the Elizabeth City suit, thereby preventing him from interfering with the operation of the devices.

San Francisco, (AP)—An eight months' study of airline accidents has been completed by the Commonwealth club. Primary causes of plane crashes were listed as pilots' errors, too much dependence on blind flying and failure or inadequacy of ground personnel.

The latter item included both private and government weather services.

They were published by the North Carolina Division of Highway Safety, Arthur Fuik, director, in cooperation with the Department of Public Education, Clyde A. Erwin, superintendent.

The purpose of the book is to teach young motorists and future motorists the fundamentals of safety on the highways.

To Execute Negro At Prison Friday

Raleigh, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Final preparations were underway at Central prison for the execution by gas tomorrow of James Sermons, Negro sentenced to die for the murder in Forsyth county of Carlisle Miller.

Deputy Warden John Bray said Sermons had declined to talk to prison officials and other officers about his conviction or criminal record, but had expressed a desire to talk to Parole Commissioner Edwin Gill.

Unless Governor Hoy changes his position and intervenes, which he said he will not do, Sermons will be gassed shortly after 10:30 tomorrow.

MRS. GODWIN ACCEPTS TERM

Lillington, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Attorneys for Mrs. Sina Pope Godwin said today they had decided to abandon the appeal of the Harnett county woman from the two to five years prison sentence imposed upon her after her conviction of manslaughter in the death of her husband.

The attorneys, J. R. Young, Jesse Jones and Charles Ross, said they had concluded "service of the sentence is better than to prolong the suspense and uncertainty."

Clerk of Court L. M. Chaffin said Sheriff W. E. Salmon had left here this afternoon with Mrs. Godwin for Raleigh for her to begin her prison sentence. She and the Sheriff, the clerk said, were accompanied by Young and her daughter, Miss Hortense Jackson.

Young said Judge Henry Grady in Greenville today voided the probation order he issued upon condition Mrs. Godwin pay about $700 in court costs. Her counsel previously said withdrawal of the order would not be protested if an extension were given in which to perfect the Supreme Court appeal.

Solicitor Claude Cannaday agreed to a five day extension for the state and defense.

Schools To Teach Books On Safety

One hundred and fifty highway safety textbooks have been received at the offices of the Pitt County Board of Education and will be distributed in the various schools this week.

The books, entitled "Man and the Motor Car" will be taught in each school in the county system. They will be used largely in conjunction with the civic classes and be studied by students in the eighth grade.

The book was edited and bears an introduction by Albert W. Whitney, consulting director, National Conservation Bureau, vice president in charge of Education National Safety Council.

They were published by the North Carolina Division of Highway Safety, Arthur Fuik, director, in cooperation with the Department of Public Education, Clyde A. Erwin, superintendent.

The purpose of the book is to teach young motorists and future motorists the fundamentals of safety on the highways.

Vinegar was first obtained by the natural souring of wines.

Many Western Senators To Be Missing In 1939

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Jan. 20.—Approximately half the state Senators from the west will not be candidates to succeed themselves in the 1939 General Assembly, practically all of them because of rotation agreements within their districts.

The same situation prevails in the East, making it certain that the next legislature will have a lot of faces not seen in the 1937 gathering.

Of the Senators who have written this bureau of their intentions regarding 1939 only one, John Sprunt Hill of Durham, has said he will not run because he had enough of the legislature. The others who will not be candidates are barred by gentlemen's agreements.

COUNCIL ASKED BY ROOSEVELT

Plan of Cooperation Suggested by Chief Executive

Washington, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Organization of a continuing all-embracing council was put forward today by President Roosevelt as a simple method of helping the administration formulate national economic policies.

Consumers, investors, credit men, farmers, laborers, distributors, transportation men, financiers and big and little business men—all these should have a voice, Mr. Roosevelt told 49 prominent industrialists late yesterday.

Stephen Early, White House secretary, emphasized this did not point to a revival of the NRA.

Elsewhere preliminary maneuvers in the congressional election campaign are placing some ticklish political problems before the President and other Democratic leaders.

The election, to be in November, involves 34 Senators, 34 Governors, and all members of the House. Announcements of candidacies are being made nearly daily.

Developments this week have foreshadowed tough renomination battles for two administration supporters in the Senate, Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky, and Senator Dietrich of Illinois.

Local Nurse Elected Eighth District Head

Miss Mary Lea Smith, assistant Superintendent of the College infirmary, was chosen president of the Eighth District of the North Carolina Nurses' Association at a recent meeting of that organization in Wilson.

The Eighth is a large district, consisting of the twenty-three counties that make up Eastern North Carolina.

The district association meets once a month in the various towns of the territory, with a program furnished by the town where the meeting is held.

Miss Smith is a graduate of the Moore-Herring Hospital in Wilson, and has had wide experience in private nursing. She has been on the infirmary staff of the College for a number of years, and has on various occasions served as acting head of the institution over considerable periods of time.

She follows Mrs. James Evans, also of Greenville, as president of the district group.

Jury Ponders Fate Of Winston Grocer

Winston-Salem, Jan. 20.—(AP)—A jury of farmers and business men today deliberated the fate of 63-year-old John Hartle, bespectacled groceryman, charged with the "unwritten law" murder of Walter Lee Smith.

The case went to the jury at 1:19 this afternoon at the conclusion of Judge Donald Phillips' charge.

Demanding "the supreme penalty" for the slaying of Smith, Forsyth Superior Court Solicitor Ernie McMichael continued his argument to the jury when court convened today.

The prosecutor said the defense attorneys had "argued everything, Mosaic law, unwritten law, even the Bible."

"But you have taken an oath to apply the law justly and impartially," he told the jury.

Smith was fatally shot November 26 when he was found in a darkened room of the groceryman's home, allegedly with Mrs. Hartle.

Hartle, pleading "unwritten law" contended on the witness stand he shot Smith because he thought the barber was going to attack.

UNITED STATES TANKER SEIZED BY INSURGENTS

Official Report Of Incident Sent To Washington

ADMIRAL LACKEY BEEN ADVISED

Commander of European Naval Forces, However, not Asked Take Any Action

Paris, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Information of the seizure of the American tanker Nantucket Chief by two Spanish insurgent warships off Barcelona was forwarded from the United States Embassy today to Rear Admiral Henry Lackey, commanding American naval forces in European waters.

At one office of the Embassy's naval attaché, however, it was said Admiral Lackey had not been asked to take any action. He is aboard the cruiser Raleigh at Genoa.

An official report on the seizure also was forwarded to Washington.

American and French naval authorities sought further information about the Nantucket Chief. News of her plight reached Paris in a message from the French destroyer Vauquelin, which reported seeing her being escorted toward Palma, Mallorca, by two insurgent warships today.

The French navy minister and the American Embassy said it was not determined whether the tanker was taken in Spanish territorial waters.

The Vauquelin sighted the tanker and the insurgent gunboats in the Mediterranean, 50 miles north of the Balearic Islands.

The Vauquelin message confirmed that the Nantucket Chief was flying the American flag and declared she had an American crew.

The Nantucket Chief was reported reliably to have been carrying a cargo of oil from Russian Black sea port to Barcelona.

THE PLAIN TRUTH
Matters The Business Men should Consider

The Reflector does not frequently mention the need of a Board of Trade and factories just to have something to talk about, or simply to fill space. But it is evident that if Greenville does not do something that will make business come into other channels besides mercantile lines, the town will lose ground and cease to be progressive.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

SYNOPSIS: A hot-up of savage Dyak tribes makes the tropical waters of Balingong bay an unhealthy spot. Our trading vessel, the Linkang, is strongly fortified, but the Forrester's Aton is defenseless. It is a strange place to find an English girl of 20, and my uncle, James Clyde, is trying to persuade Christine, and her brother Robert, to leave. Cool and serene, Christine insists that they know what they're doing.

Chapter Three The Immovable Object

"I THINK you are sincere, Captain Clyde," Christine Forrester said. "But I was surprised to hear you speak of warships, and law. I don't think from what I've heard of you, that you care very much for either one. I thought at first that you wanted to get rid of us merely because we were embarrassing your plans."

"That's nonsense," James Clyde said shortly. "What cuts into my plans is this Dyak revolt. I never in my life knew so many Dyak tribes to get together in one war before. There are praus here from every river on this side of Suman-tang, from the Mukunjan to the Tomarrup."

"And farther than that," Christine Forrester murmured.

that she wanted to get rid of us even more keenly than we wished to be rid of her.

"There are some things it takes much more than canvas to change, Captain Clyde," she said presently. "I will tell you this, quite frankly. If we do not succeed here, there is nothing waiting for us in England, nor any place else in the world. It's true that my father was a wealthy man when he left the East India service. But he was not wealthy when he died. He left us very little more than this boat and an uncompleted plan. His plan was carefully studied, and he had put into it every resource he could command. There is nothing for us to do but to try to complete his project if we can."

"I don't know what your father's project was," Clyde said, and his tone—doubtless against his will—implied that whatever it was, he didn't think much of it. "But you'll have to lay it by. Six months from now, or even three, everything here will be different."

"Unhappily, it cannot be postponed."

The irresistible force had met the immovable object, and Clyde was not used to that. He did not always have his own way, any more than anyone else; but what he never could stand was a situation he couldn't get his teeth into at all.

He shot to his feet now, his tem-

The sweat began running down my ribs.

He shot her an estimating glance. "I admit I came here with a purpose," he said. "But that's been spoiled by the picnic party ashore. Neither you nor I nor anybody else is going to be able to do a nickel's worth of business here. What I am trying to make you see is that you must do just what I'm going to do—give it up—make new plans—get out of here for a while, and wait for this thing to clear up."

"We expect to wait," the girl said. "And we expect to wait here."

I thought Clyde would blow up at this. But he took a deep breath, and swung his exasperated gaze away from the girl and out across the Avon's rail toward Suman-tang.

Over there, the gongs were still ringing. The mud-flats of Balingong beach were beginning to show, glistening and deserted. Balingong town you could not see. It was two miles up the sluggish, ugly Siderong, whose mouth poured wide from between walls of marsh jungle.

"My bet," Clyde persisted, "is that Balingong is already down. There never was much of a garrison there. The Rajah mantusen is probably wiped out—if he wasn't, he would have got a messenger to me by now."

"You are speaking of your problems, Captain Clyde; not my own."

It was the first time she had said "my" instead of "our," and he looked at her sharply again.

"In any case," she said, "there is certainly nothing for me anywhere else. I may as well tell you, Captain Clyde, that we are here because we have to be; you may have your choice to go or come, but we have none. I tell you this because I believe your solicitude for us to be real."

"You have canvas and an offshore breeze," Clyde said stubbornly. "That's all it takes to get out."

Old Captain Stocker gave off an incomprehensible humming grunt at that, as if it jarred his fever-sluggish mind to an instant's wakefulness. Robert Forrester, busy holding his attitude of stand-off courtesy, said nothing at all. Neither did the girl.

per cracking, and shouted at her exactly as if she had been a man. "I tell you, it must!"

Christine Forrester remained aloof, composed, and said nothing.

She simply stood up, and remained standing, making it next to impossible for Clyde to sit down again.

Mystery Of The Avon

BACK aboard the Linkang, we went to the far side of the deck-house from the Avon, stripped off, and had ourselves sluiced over with buckets of tepid salt water; then, barefooted and in dungarees, we lounged under our own awning, which was a little different from the Avon's. Ours was a jury-rigged bit of rotted fores'l, and instead of tea things we had a half cooled tar bucket, and a line of washed-out clothes hung up by our China-boy.

It must have been just as hot aboard the Avon, but somehow there I had not noticed the heat, in spite of the necessity of wearing clothes. Now as I lounged barefooted on the Linkang, the sweat began running down my ribs before I was dry of salt water. My uncle paced and fretted; he did not seem to perspire, but instead seemed simply to smoke.

"At first," I suggested, "I thought the yawl was sent here to spy on us."

"Spy on us!" my uncle snorted. "Who'd ever send that outfit in place to accomplish anything?"

He made the idea seem much sillier than it really was. Granting it unlikely that a vessel with a girl aboard should be sent into these islands to spy upon a gun-runner, the thing was nevertheless possible. The British can sometimes be unbelievably unwise about any such performance, mystifying their competitors by the sheer clumsiness of their devices. And the Avon was one vessel which was supposed to be accounted for at this moment in an entirely different part of the globe.

"It's a funny thing they lay-to just a day ahead of us," I argued. "With a thousand islands to choose from, they have to come and spoil our plans here. There has to be a reason."

Dismissal

SHE was looking straight into Clyde's eyes, cool and self-possessed. Suddenly it seemed to me

Still Coughing?

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

PLAN CONCERT AT GOLDSBORO

Westminster Chorus To Be Presented February 9

A number of music lovers of Greenville are expected to go to Goldsboro on the evening of February 9 for the concert by the famous Westminster Chorus directed by Dr. John Finley Williamson.

The concert will be presented in the auditorium of the Goldsboro high school, beginning at 8 o'clock.

The East Carolina Symphonic Choral Society, which has active units in Goldsboro, Ayden, Farmville and Snow Hill, is sponsoring the appearance of the Westminster group in Goldsboro.

The concert in Goldsboro is in connection with a "colonial tour" which the chorus is making. Durham is the only other city to be visited in North Carolina.

Dr. Williamson, director of the famous chorus, lays great emphasis upon the physical fitness of his singers. Before every tour, the thirty-two members of the chorus—which includes men and women—are required to go into a period of intensive physical training. While on tour, such things as diet, rest and exercises are carefully regulated.

Dr. Williamson believes that vitality in tone is essential to good choral singing, and that this is only possible when the singers themselves are in perfect physical shape. This Spartan discipline has stood the chorus in good stead on both its European and American tours.

Scheduled to fill forty-two concerts in forty-nine days, and those in eleven different countries during a recent European tour, the chorus kept its health one hundred per cent and returned to give a concert at Carnegie Hall, New York, which brought cheers from a packed house.

In the Seventeenth, T. J. Gold, High Point, has announced he will stand for reelection. The other member, J. Benton Stacy now has a state job and will be ineligible.

In the other districts from Eighteenth to Thirty-third, the story is about like this:

Eighteenth: L. A. Martin, Lexington, and J. A. Patterson, Laurinburg, wrote that they cannot run this time because Richmond and Montgomery are entitled to the Senators this term.

Mr. Martin gained statewide recognition for the magnificent, the losing, fight he made in the 1937 Senate as leader of the dry forces battling for a statewide referendum on the liquor question. He has announced he will this year be a candidate for the House from Davidson, a post to which Representative R. L. Pope will not again aspire.

Nineteenth: Senator H. P. (Pat) Taylor, of Anson, who headed the calendar committee in 1937, says he will be a candidate again only if he has assurance that he would have no opposition. The district's other senator, C. S. Massey will be out because he will be Stany county's turn.

Twentieth: J. A. Bell, Charlotte, and John A. McDaniel, Concord, is looked on as likely to run for reelection. Ed Tonison, of Charlotte, is a rumored opponent for the Mecklenburger.

Twenty-first: Nothing is known of Senator E. C. Gregory's plans, as he is in Rowan which has a senator all by himself.

Twenty-second: H. M. Ratcliff, Winston-Salem, will likely run.

Twenty-third: S. Gimer Sparger has an "out" job and besides, it's not his to name the Senator.

Twenty-fourth: This bureau has just news from Senator B. C. Brock, Mocksville, one of the two re-elected in the 1937 Senate.

Twenty-fifth: Senator B. B. Blackwelder, Hickory, must yield to a Senator from Lincoln this time, but he writes that "I have made so many warm friends in that I hope to visit there several times during the General Assembly, is in session."

Twenty-sixth: Senator J. H. Seppark has left this bureau in the dark.

Twenty-seventh: Both senators, C. E. Acock and P. P. Byon are out as Cleveland and M. D. will get the Senators.

Twenty-eighth: Senator L. M. Abernethy, Granite Falls, writes that Burke gets the senator. He says he may run for the house.

This bureau received no replies from R. T. Greer, J. Boone D. J. H. Hutchins of Marshall, Mrs. E. L. McKee of Sylva or Kelly Bennett of Bryson City, Senators from the 29th, 30th, 32nd and 33rd districts.

A. Hall Johnston, from the 31st is now a superior court judge.

WORLD CRISIS A BOON TO CAREER OF U. S. DIPLOMATS

Backing up ambassadors and ministers who didn't know their international onions were the foreign service career men—consuls, secretaries, aides, and the like. All of them were unknowns merely trying to make a living, and doing a poor job of that when social demands got too heavy.

Most of the career men rose to minor posts through sheer merit and knowledge of foreign affairs. And yet, the government offered them little incentive, because their jobs were constantly menaced by the patronage grabbers. Besides the good posts always went to persons of political importance.

About 25 years ago Congress decided to do something about all this, and passed a law protecting career men from the political whims of the party in power.

Then, in 1916, Democratic President Wilson gave the career men the welcome surprise of their lives when he appointed one of their number to the hot spot of the hour—M. xco City. Further than that, Henry Fletcher, the man he selected, was a Republican.

Some Posts Costly

Successive administrations have leaned more and more heavily on the experience and judgment of career men, until now 25 out of our 60 ambassadors and ministers are career men.

That doesn't mean career men want to hog all the good spots. In the first place, they know competition, from keen minds in the business and professional world is what they need to keep them on their toes. In the second place, few career men, if any, could afford the expense of the London and Paris posts, the two most important of all.

The government of the United States simply won't pay the bill in those cities, and, outside of salary, the social pace often requires $100,000 a year out of the ambassador's personal pocketbook.

Incidentally, the business of putting wealthy and influential men in important embassies, regardless of their ability, has occasionally proved irksome to a President.

HE SELLS TOBACCO TO THEM ALL

But Branch Bobbitt, like so many other independent experts, prefers Luckies...

"AT AUCTIONS in my warehouse in Farmville, North Carolina," says Mr. Branch Bobbitt, "the higher the tobacco sells for, the better my profits. So I'm always glad to see Lucky Strike buyers in there bidding. They know what they want and they'll keep bidding right up until they get it."

"Well—in a cigarette—it's the tobacco that counts. I know tobacco and I know what tobacco is in what cigarettes. So that's one reason I've smoked Luckies for 5 or 6 years."

Mr. Bobbitt represents the "aristocracy" of tobacco experts. He judges the tobacco that the growers grow. He's impartial, not connected with any cigarette manufacturer.

Many other experts agree with Mr. Bobbitt. Sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all the other cigarettes combined.

NCS PREPARES FOR BIG WEEK

Lectures By Famous Engineers To Feature Air Affair

Raleigh, Jan. 20.—Lectures and talks by three nationally famous engineers will feature a week of engineering activities and study at N. C. State College, starting Friday, January 21.

Scheduled to give a series of six lectures before the annual Institute for Surveyors and Institute for Engineers, Dr. Donald C. Jackson, professor emeritus of electric engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and president of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, is expected to arrive in Raleigh Thursday afternoon. His first lecture will be given Friday evening, January 21, at 8 o'clock. The subject will be "Civilization, Engineering and the Barbed Wire." Dr. Frank Graham, president of the Greater University of North Carolina, will preside.

Dr. C. B. Steinman, consulting engineer of New York City, and one of the most brilliant men in his field, is to speak before the North Carolina Society of Engineers at their meeting on Friday afternoon, January 23, at the Sir Walter Hotel in Raleigh.

Capt. Fred E. Davis, chief test pilot and director of instruction for Eastern Airlines, is to arrive by plane Tuesday afternoon, January 25, to fulfill a speaking engagement before the first winter meeting of the N. C. State College Institute of Aeronautical Sciences.

The Institute for Surveyors opens officially Monday morning, January 24, with registration. From that time on will follow an intensive study program of lectures and laboratory demonstrations on surveying problems and principles. The lectures will be not only on technical subjects, but will also involve legal and socio-economic relations.

The surveyors will attend classes for three days, the "term" closing Wednesday evening, January 28. Members of State College's civil engineering faculty and guest lecturers will conduct the courses.

The Institute for Engineers will be a one-day session, featured by lectures and demonstrations, opening immediately following the close of the surveyors' institute. The status of engineering in North Carolina, given by Dr. W. C. Riddick; some recent developments in physics as related to engineering, by Prof. C. M. Heck; structural and technical stress, by Prof. A. F. Greaves-Walker; air conditioning, by Prof. L. L. Vaughan; and North Carolina's mineral resources and geological engineering, by Dr. J. Stuckey, are the subjects to be treated during the regular class period. Dr. Jackson will speak on the inseparability of engineering and civilization the same evening, to close the engineers' institute.

The following day, the North Carolina Society for Engineers will open its twentieth annual convention at the Sir Walter Hotel. With board of directors' meetings and technical sessions, the annual banquet and ball for the society is also scheduled for January 26. The banquet will be featured by a speech by Eugene O'Brien, editor of the Southern Power Journal and president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Friday afternoon, Governor Clyde R. Hoey will give the address of welcome, to open the afternoon session. Dr. C. B. Steinman will speak on "Bridges of Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow," immediately following.

Dr. Jackson's final lecture will open the last day of the convention Saturday morning at State College. The meetings of the technical divisions of the society are scheduled for the rest of the morning. The convention will close after the afternoon meeting of the North Carolina Registration Board, whose secretary is Prof. C. L. Mann, head of the State College Department of Civil Engineering.

SHORT SHOTS
By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Jan. 20.—A day or so ago Raleigh's morning paper cracked down on the Department of Agriculture for what it termed a "locked door" policy. Yesterday your correspondent came face to face with the problem in especially aggravating form.

Hastening to see Louis H. Wilson, publications head of the department, your correspondent almost broke his glasses and his nose on the Wilson door. It was locked and didn't open as expected.

Mr. Wilson was out at lunch. That's how the "locked door" policy of the Department was really discovered.

If all the people are sincere who are expressing great satisfaction with the appointment of Stanley Reed to the United States Supreme Court, then we have indeed discovered the perfect judge. To believe the comments on his appointment, Mr. Justice Reed combines all the good qualities of conservative and liberal, Fascist and Communist, leftist and rightist.

Some are going to wake up soon to find they aren't glad as they think they are.

A man who saw the Wright brothers make their original airplane flight, wants very much to see the plane in which they flew back in the United States and back at the scene of man's triumph over the air. Captain W. J. Taate, Kitty Hawk, at whose home the Wrights stayed while making preparations for their great adventure, was author of a resolution passed by the State Board of Conservation and Development asking Congress to get the Wright plane back from Kensington, England, where it is now on display.

Exact copy of a letter, written with some sort of stenciling machine, received by the State Veterinarian:

I Have Bin Apointed By The State & County Board of Ottawa Co. To LODAY-VACCINATE DOGS * For caldwil MT CREEK TOWN SHIPS YO want be Due 50 c tax If Your COPY, Insen Slen By ME Begin Feburary. The 1 Dr.

(Charitable deleted)

Across the bottom was scrawled in pen-ill: "The ruling of the County Board is this other man cant make dates and vacante here. I am vacante does for 40 cent."

Now Doctor Moore, the state veterinarian, is wondering what it's all about. He is particularly anxious to know who is "this other man" who "cant make dates."

IT'S ODD
But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (AP Science Editor)

Rochester, Minn.—Some of the things the wild waves of the brain are saying have been identified here at the Mayo clinic.

These waves are pulsations of electricity. They flow naturally from every living head and with modern apparatus trace waves on a moving paper.

Not all the waves are wild and that is the significant point of the Mayo investigations, which are reported by C. L. Yeager, M. D., and E. J. Baldes, Ph. D.

From the brains of normal persons the waves were invariably symmetrical, well-ordered, rather attractive to look at.

The wild ones, by comparison, are monstrous in irregularity and sharp corners. These wild waves always come from disordered brains, when the cause of disorder was within the brain.

And this—in the matter-of-fact language of the medical report—is what the wild brain waves said the patients had—parkinsonism (shaking palsy), postencephalitis, Huntington's chorea (hereditary St. Vitus' dance), traumatic psychosis, arteriosclerosis, senility, mental deterioration, brain tumors and those schizophrenics who were in "asylum coma."

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Jan. 20—(AP)—Mild rallying efforts in today's stock market failed to follow through generally.
With industrials in the lead, recoveries of fractions to a point were widely distributed at the opening. Profit selling, however, later reared its familiar head and the advancing column backed away substantially. Small gains and losses were about even near the fourth hour.

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 20—(AP)—Option opened four to six points higher. Trade buying and scarcity of contracts offset disappointing cables.
May recovered from 8.57 to 8.60 shortly after the first half hour, leaving quotations three to five points net higher.
Around midday May had reacted from a high of 8.62 to 8.59, leaving prices generally three to seven points net higher.

J., Friday night and St. Joseph's at Philadelphia Saturday night.

Dilworth, only sophomore to break into the starting lineup this winter has registered 24 field goals and six foul shots for a grand total of 54 points. Ruth has 52 points—one ess field goal and the same number of fouls.

The Tar Heel record to date shows victories over Atlantic Christian College, 47 to 25, Guilford College 60 to 16, Davidson 37 to 35, Wake Forest 31 to 26, V. P. I. 38 to 32, V. M. I. 31 to 17, and Washington & Lee's Southern Conference champions 34 to 31.

The week-end games mark the only time that North Carolina will play in the East this season. The annual New York University contest will take place in Chapel Hill Saturday, February 5.

Against Princeton and St. Joseph North Carolina probably will start the same quintet that figured so prominently in the success of the recent Virginia trip. It consists of Andy Bershak and Pete Mullis, forwards; Dilworth, center; Captain Ruth and Foy Grubb, guards.

The Tar Heels broke even, against Eastern opposition last season. After losing to NYU in Madison Square Garden 37 to 30 on a Friday night, North Carolina journeyed to Philadelphia and stopped the long-winning streak of a crack St. Joseph's outfit 36 to 34. The loss was the first for St. Joseph on its home court for four years.

Roberts featured at the guard positions. Tneima Bland scored 12 points for the losers. Her several field goals kept them in the game thru the route.

The locals dominated play and led through the entire game after overcoming a two point lead grabbed by Bethel in the early moments of play.

The loss was the first of the year for the Bethel sextet.

Greenville Colored Girls Score Victory

The Greenville Industrial Lassie (colored), won their toughest game in the Class "A" division last night at Rocky Mount, 13-8.

During the entire first half the locals were only able to find the net but once and that on a free throw by D. Morris, the stellar forward for the locals, while Rocky Mount piled up five points in the first half.

At the half the locals gathered courage by remarks from the coach and the score was tied six minutes after the half. Rocky Mount completed its scoring in the third period while L. Gorham, Daniels and Morris began to connect with the net at long range. The locals will play the following "A" division schools at home this season:

Wilson, Feb. 10; Henderson, Feb. 17; Rocky Mount, Feb. 23.

The following girls made the trip to Rocky Mount: M. Daniels, D. Morris, M. Whitfield, B. Whitfield, L. Gorham, M. Wilkes, M. Cioman.

Wilsonians Here Tomorrow Night

Boys' and Girls' Both Scheduled to Play Basketball

The Greenville high school basketball quint will engage the Wilson high team in the local high school auditorium tomorrow night at 7:30.

This game will be the first feature of a double-header between the two schools.

The girls' game will be played immediately after the boys' game. In a previous contest the Green Phantoms were victorious over Wilson by a score of 28-14. The game tomorrow night promises to be more exciting, however, because Wilson beat Rocky Mount, the only team that has defeated the Greenville boys.

A large "pop" meeting is being planned for that game and much enthusiasm is expected for the event.

The local team will probably use the same line-up they have used all season with Simpson at center, Lautares and Sakas, forwards, and Parrish and Hodges, guards. Gaylord is also scheduled to see much action.

The Wilson quint will probably consist of Pruitt, center; Cockrell and Young, forwards; and Benton and Graves, guards.

The Phantoms of Greenville W. Godette, Lola Cherry. Summary of points in last night's game, for the locals: D. Morris 7; L. Gorham 4; M. Daniels 2.

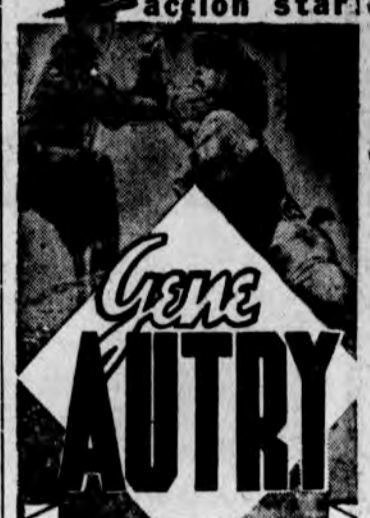

for the championship. Another win over Wilson would restore much prestige to the locals.
