OFFICIAL SAYS U. S. STEEL CO. PLANS EXPAND

President of Corporation Says $80,000,000 to Be Spent

AIMS PRESENTED TO SENATE BODY

Southern Senators Predict Anti-Lynching Measure Will Be Shelved Next Week

Washington, Jan. 22.—(AP)—President Benjamin Fairless said today the U. S. Steel Corporation planned to spend about $80,000,000 on plant modernization in the next nine months.

"In addition," he said in a statement to the Senate Unemployment Committee, "if business conditions warrant there will be undoubtedly other expenditures of considerable amounts during 1938."

Fairless was prevented by illness from appearing before the committee in person. He sent his statement instead.

Meantime important legislation began piling up on the Senate calendar, increasing the urgent desire of administration leaders to end the time-consuming filibuster against the anti-lynching bill.

Southern Senators who have been talking 14 days to prevent the anti-lynching measure from coming to a vote, predicted the necessity of getting on to other business would result in shelving the bill next week.

They called a caucus to decide on strategy in seeking to pigeon-hole the measure.

House leaders said President Roosevelt probably would send to Congress Monday his proposed legislation authorizing for a larger navy.

End Civil Session; To Begin Criminal

A week's session of civil court, with Judge Henry A. Grady of Clinton presiding, was completed here yesterday afternoon after most of the cases which were expected to have taken considerable time had been compromised and settled.

Three divorces were granted during the latter part of the week. They were: Rose Whitehurst vs Ernest Whitehurst; Queenie Mewborn vs Walter Mewborn; and A. C. Williams vs Lina Mae Williams.

A week of criminal Superior court is scheduled to start here Monday with Judge Grady presiding. The calendar, released some time ago by Solicitor D. M. Clark, shows a large number of cases scheduled to be tried.

May Abandon Dare Prison Camp

Raleigh, Jan. 22.—(AP)—R. G. Johnson, State penal director, said today J. C. Gardner, division one engineer, would determine whether the Dare county prison camp should be abandoned.

"The engineer says it will be cheaper to hire labor to do the same work the prisoners are doing because the per capita cost runs up at a small camp like that," he said. Gardner had said abandonment of the camp was being considered, but no action has been taken.

The camp population, if the camp were abandoned, would be distributed among other prison units in division one.

PLANS TO ADD TO WAREHOUSE

R. V. Keel Reveals Extensive Expansion Program

R. V. Keel, proprietor and manager of the Keel's tobacco warehouse here, today announced that an addition to the building which he plans to undertake immediately would make it one of the largest warehouses in the country.

The extension will cover the entire block, giving it a frontage of 300 feet and a depth of 330 feet. The warehouse is comparatively new, having been in operation only three seasons. The warehouse has sleeping quarters, showers and other conveniences and already is regarded as one of the most modern in the state.

Mr. Keel said the addition would be completed in plenty of time for the opening of the season. By enlarging the building it will be large enough to hold enough tobacco for 15 hours of sales, or enough for two days. Mr. Keel said he was hoping to operate a first sale on every day this season, but this will have to be determined later.

The addition will be built over the cafe now situated beside the warehouse, and will cover the entire block.

Complete Test

Athens, Ga., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Six yawning University of Georgia students completed 100 sleepless hours today and smilingly insisted they felt all right and planned various activities for the night.

The four co-eds and two young men ended their no-sleep grind at 11:30 a. m. EST, blinked heavy eyelids and expressed hopes their experiment had "done something" to show the effect of sleeplessness in a scientific way on the mind and body.

OIL COMPANIES CONVICTED OF PRICE-FIXING

Largest Case Ever Brought Under Sherman Anti-Trust Law

AFFECTS MOST OF MID - WEST FIRMS

Sixteen Companies and 30 Personages Liable to Maximum Fine of $5,000 Each

Madison, Wis., Jan. 22.—(AP)—A large part of the oil industry in the Middle West was convicted in Federal Court today in one of the biggest cases ever brought by the government under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

A jury composed mainly of middle-aged farmers and small town business men brought in verdicts of guilty against 16 major oil companies and 30 outstanding personages in the industry, who were charged with conspiring to raise gasoline prices in 10 Mid-Western states in 1935 and 1936.

Among the defendants were presidents of nine companies, three officials of a company that had been acquitted—Tidewater Associated Oil Company—and one man not connected with a major oil company, A. V. Bourque of Tulsa, Okla., secretary of the Western Petroleum Refiners Association.

The defense prepared immediately to file motion to set aside the verdict and for a new trial. Federal Judge Patrick Stone, who said he needed a rest badly, announced he would set a date later for hearing the motion, perhaps in two or three weeks, and would delay the question of sentencing until ruling on the motion.

Both the corporations and the officials are liable to maximum fines of $5,000 each and the individuals also faced possible terms of a year in prison.

Chief Counsel William Donovan said he had no statement to make, but other defense staff members said the case would be carried to the Supreme court if necessary.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 22.—(AP)—A speedy removal to Chicago and a quick trial for the kidnap-slaying of Charles Ross was the program marked out today for Peter Anders, the one-time lumberjack who hoped to execute the "perfect crime."

Anders was held under heavy guard at the offices of the Federal Bureau of Investigation after an eventual week in which he helped unfold details of kidnaping, slaying and bank robberies.

The slaying victims were Ross, the abducted Chicago manufacturer and James Gray, Anders' associate in crime. Federal agents forged one of the important links in the chain of evidence against Anders when the bodies were recovered from a cave in the northern Wisconsin woods.

Tokyo, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The Japanese government admitted today its need for more money and men to fight China, acknowledged the conflict would be a long one, and laid down as one of its basic aims an economically linked China, Japan and Manchoukuo.

Premier Prince Konoye outlined the economic objectives of the Far Eastern war, and with the Foreign Minister, Naval Minister and War Minister, presented to the Japanese Parliament a detailed account of the six and one-half months of conflict.

Their general conclusions were that China's General Chiang Kai-Shek had refused to make peace, therefore a new and favorable China government was necessary; that an end to the undeclared war still was far distant; and that the army must greatly increase its strength in China.

Shanghai, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The Japanese naval air force today resumed large scale bombardment of Chinese troops and irregulars throughout Central China.

Twenty tri-motored bombers tried to shatter a Chinese counter-offensive on a front 125 miles southwest of Shanghai, a Japanese spokesman announced tonight.

that at least 15 more workers will enter the race and compete for the big awards. The fact that those who do not win one of the regular awards will be paid liberal cash commission, makes the "Cash Offer" Campaign a sure thing for the workers right at the beginning. Prize winning becomes easier when there are many workers in the field as the work will be more evenly divided among them and the persons winning the big awards can do so with smaller scores.

It is highly important however that those who expect to compete and make a winning race, send in their nomination coupons at once. A good beginning means a good ending and as the time is short it is imperative that one begin now.

DIXIE HIGHLIGHTS

FIRST STEAMSHIP TO CROSS ATLANTIC WAS THOUGHT TO BE ON FIRE!

DEATH FOLLOWS SPAWNING!

THE SEA LAMPREY DIES SHORTLY AFTER HER EGGS ARE LAID.

When the SAVANNAH, first steamboat to cross the Atlantic, approached Cape Clear, off the coast of Ireland, the local authorities saw the smoke rising from her and thought she was on fire! The "Kite", a British cruiser, went to her aid from the harbor of Cork, but at full speed she could not catch up with "the ship that moved without sails." It was not until shots were fired as a signal that the Savannah slowed down and allowed the "Britisher" to come along side. When the English sailors were shown what caused the smoke on the strange craft they were greatly amazed. The "Savannah" made her epochal trip in 1819 from Savannah, Georgia to Liverpool in 26 days, 18 of which she used her side paddles. A single SEA LAMPREY may deposit as many as 236,000 eggs, after which she expires. The lower reaches of certain streams are sometime found to be thickly strewn with the decomposing bodies of

Worked

that at least 15 more workers will enter the race and compete for the big awards. The fact that those who do not win one of the regular awards will be paid liberal cash commission, makes the "Cash Offer" Campaign a sure thing for the workers right at the beginning. Prize winning becomes easier when there are many workers in the field as the work will be more evenly divided among them and the persons winning the big awards can do so with smaller scores.

It is highly important however that those who expect to compete and make a winning race, send in their nomination coupons at once. A good beginning means a good ending and the time is short it is imperative that one begin now.

Personals

Notices
Attend church tomorrow. The young folks had a party Friday night at Mr. B. F. Patrick's schoolhouse in South Greenville. There was a right good sprinkling of cotton on the market today.

Free Seed
The free seed distribution under the auspices of the Government is now in full blast. The noon mail today was loaded down with packages sent by Congressman Skinner to the people of this section. They serve as a reminder that it is getting time to be looking after the garden.

Lively Run-Away
A runaway horse created considerable excitement on the streets this afternoon. The animal was hitched to a short body cart and was left standing in front of Starkey's store. He jumped off for a run and turned the corner toward the post office, losing the wheels off the car and scattering a barrel of pork, a box of potatoes, and a lot of collars over the street. Another cart that happened in the way was run over and a wheel smashed off.

The following program conductors were in charge: Mable Glenn Allen, Red Oak; Alleene Johnston, Pactolus; Ashley Manning, Bethel Sr.; Dorothy Bunting, Bethel, Jr.; Betsy Hodges, Grifton; Helen Cannon, Winterville; Bart Dupree, Falkland; and Billy Hardison, Stokes. The best programs were given by Grifton and the Junior Club at Bethel.

H. D. Meetings
The Home Demonstration Clubs of Falkland, Winterville, Pierce, Littlefield and St. John held open meetings for their husbands and friends this week. The subject was "Planning the Farm Homestead." R. R. Bennett, Farm Agent, spoke at Falkland, and C. D. Griggs at the other meetings. The cooperation of all families in each community is desired in this program, as a community is just as prosperous-looking and orderly as its most disorganized home.

Home Demonstration Council Meeting
The first quarterly meeting of the H. D. Council was held Wednesday afternoon at Sheppard Memorial Library. Officers from Chocod, Falkland, Farmville No. 1, Farmville No. 2, Bethel, Red Banks, Red Oak, Winterville and Littlefield were present. Mrs. R. B. Each club was asked to appoint a 4-H sponsor for their local 4-H club if they had not done so. A County Demonstration Chorus will be organized at the library on the evening of February 4.

Miss Annie Carroll was elected secretary and treasurer. Each club was urged to send their Federation dues and the Jane S. McKimmon Loan pledge to Miss Carroll in the near future.

There are about 100 islands in the Virgin Island group, most of them uninhabited.

When the SAVANNAH, first steamboat to cross the Atlantic, approached Cape Clear, off the coast of Ireland, the local authorities saw the smoke rising from her and thought she was on fire! The "Kite", a British cruiser, went to her aid from the harbor of Cork, but at full speed she could not catch up with "the ship that moved without sails." It was not until shots were fired as a signal that the Savannah slowed down and allowed the "Britisher" to come along side. When the English sailors were shown what caused the smoke on the "strange craft" they were greatly amazed. The "Savannah" made her epochal trip in 1819 from Savannah, Georgia to Liverpool in 26 days, 18 of which she used her side paddles. A single SEA LAMPREY may deposit as many as 236,000 eggs, after which she expires. The lower reaches of certain streams are sometime found to be thickly strewn with the decomposing bodies of dead females.

Greenies Win Pair From Wilson High

Lady Phantoms Win, 20-6 While Boys Defeat Rivals, 30-17 at Local Gym Last Night

By BAXTER CLARK
The "Phantoms" of Greenville high school took their sixth conference win of the year by defeating the Wilson basketweavers by a score of 20-6. The game was played in the high school auditorium and was the first feature of a double bill between the schools.

The "Phantoms" returned to form and played a smooth brand of ball, defensively and offensively. Captain Dubose Simpson was high scorer for the locals with 10 points to his credit. Parrish made 6 points to follow Simpson and Lautares and Sakas scored 5 points each. Hodges and Gaylord, with 2 points each, completed the winner's scoring.

Cockrell led the losers with five points. Pruitt and Benton made 4 and 3 points respectively. Young and Graves made 2 points each to wind up Wilson's scoring.

The Wilson team used only five players the entire evening, using no substitutes.

Greenville grabbed the lead in the early moments of play and held it throughout the entire game. The score at the half was 19-7 in favor of the Greenies.

The girls' team of Greenville high school defeated Wilson last night in the high school auditorium by a score of 20-6. It was the second win in as many starts for the locals.

The game followed the contest between the boys' teams of the two schools. The local sextet played their best game of the year. Their guards played a brilliant defensive game, holding the Wilson forwards to only 3 field goals. Dorothy Merritt, Jane Harrison, and Nancy Roberts featured at these posts.

In a previous game between the two teams, the Wilson lassies grabbed a 11-8 verdict over the locals, but in last night's contest Greenville turned the tables and played a much improved brand of ball. Coach Mary Shaw Robeson stated that she has high hopes for her girls.

Myra Blount featured for the Greenies offensively. Coming into the game to play the final quarter, she scored 3 field goals in rapid succession for 6 points. Joy Flanagan with 6 and Frances Clark with 5 points took other scoring honors. Betty Tyson scored 2 points and played a good game, featuring with good ball handling and passing. Marjorie Sugg also played a good brand of ball at forward.

Hrrell scored 4 points to lead the Wilsonians. Other scoring for the losers was done by Barnes, who made 2 points.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

SYNOPSIS: A widespread revolt of savage Dyak tribes makes it impossible for my uncle, James Clyde, to run any guns to the besieged rajah, his client. A further complication is the presence of the Forrester's yacht, the Avon, in the tropical waters of Balingong bay. Clyde tries to persuade Christine, a young English girl, and her brother Robert, to leave the danger spot. Christine blankly refuses. She is completing a "plan" of her dead father.

Chapter Five Lower Away!

"I WISH," Clyde said with irritation, "that you would stop gabbling about 'her.' I see no reason to believe that Robert Forrester isn't running this show, just as he pretends."

This was so silly that it needed no reply. I said, "I still don't see your father as a gun-runner. I've read some of his monographs, and there isn't—"

"Of course Anthony Forrester wasn't a gun-runner. Anything so practical would have bounced off his head. But he knew the island of Sumanang—Heavens, he was in people's way around here enough so that he ought to have known it. Now this half-baked boy of his finds himself broke, and with the old man out of the way he thinks he'll make a quick use of what the old man knew. That's all there is to that."

"It still doesn't explain Christine's attitude," I insisted doggedly. "There's something queer about this business; it just doesn't fit together. She ought to be glad to join you, instead of shying off like she does."

"I've cleared up the whole thing in my own mind," my uncle said abruptly. "What makes it look queer is that they don't know their own game. Well, that's their look-out. To hell with them! Rout out your port watch, and get ready to lower away."

"You going back to the Avon?" "Certainly not! I'm going up that river."

Sooner or later I had known it would come and this was it. "If Rajah Mantusen is alive," I said, "he's boxed in; because if he wasn't boxed in we'd have heard from him by now. And if he's boxed in so his jungle runners can't get out, then we can't get in."

"How do you know we can't get in?" he shouted at me. "We'll feel our way. If the going gets tough we'll turn around and come back."

There you are. That was Clyde. It seemed to me that in all my life I had never heard a plainer plan of suicide. There would be log booms chained across the Siderong river; some of them would open for us—then close behind. There would be a rain of spears; 100 boats might be ready to close with us hand to hand. But Clyde was going in, and if he couldn't get through he planned to just turn around and come back. Maybe he was coming back.

Clyde's Orders

"SIR," I said, "if we go into the Siderong, I suppose you realize we're not coming out."

He looked at me with a brief quick widening of the eyes. "Mr. Thorne, you will remember your place. I've told you to break out your port watch. Now move!"

Silence, for a minute. Already we were getting accustomed to the everlasting hammer of the distant agongs; so that now what we heard was the little whispering of the sea upon the quiet reef. It seemed to me a beautiful sound, cool and free, and the open sea a homelike and desirable place. Who could want to leave it for the river, with its dark and sticky heat, and its myriad waiting blades to assure that he would never leave that hole again?

I stood up. A bosun's pipe isn't used in a place like the bay of Balingong. Why advertise to a hostile shore that you are about to do something? And besides, everybody is on deck, hunting a breath of air in whatever shade he can find. I hardly raised my voice.

"Port watch. Stand by to lower away."

Spawled figures began to move. The bosun jumped up with the cricket-like way of motion he had, and went around waking up some who had gone to sleep. I turned back to my uncle.

"What arms, sir?" "I had the arms stowed in the whaleboat while you were asleep this morning," Clyde answered grimly. "Mind your own duties, and try to keep up to scratch for a change; it'll give you enough to do."

The port watch began to struggle up—half a dozen common seamen as nondescript as any you would want to find. Not one among them that you would have marked, unless for outstanding drunkenness, slouching along any waterfront of the world. To us, though, they were individuals, intimately known, each useful within limits that could be accurately foreseen.

Riffraff
In a sense, that crew was the scrapings of every wharf in the Orient. Yet it had one great distinction—there were no Laskars in it, no Kanakas. Undoubtedly Clyde would have shipped a crew of Malays that would have been cleaner and better men, better seamen. But he doggedly stuck to one principle in his crews—that in a pinch a white man was of peculiar value in those seas.

"Get this tub over," my uncle said, and they moved to free the falls. "Come on and get your clothes on, Paul."

This was a new plan of suicide.

We put on shoes, shirts, and white jackets with plain brass buttons as large as a dollar. It was our standard uniform for dealing with the lesser rajahs, and we never used it for anything else.

As we came on deck, John Blair, the second mate, was standing by the falls. The whaleboat was already in the water. Blair's muddy-skinned face had a permanent grim, weary set to it, as of disgust.

"Any special orders, sir?" he asked.

"There's a first class chance you're about to get your throats cut," my uncle said. "Better drop a round shot across the bow of any war canoe that shows itself by daylight. At dark, draw your roundshot and load with grape."

"Aye, sir."

Clyde slung himself over the side, easy and loose-jointed, and I followed him.

"Smartly, now!" Clyde said. "Let's see you lift her in there as if you knew your business."

The crew bent to it, and the whaleboat began to creak the swing across the water, pointed to the mouth of the Siderong.

I was thinking, "He says to hell with her—them. But he can't bring himself to leave her here. This move is in her defense, whether he knows it or not."

Except for Christine Forrester, the Linkang would already have been on the open sea.

Only a few real workers are in the campaign at this announcement and the valuable cash awards can be won easily. Yet some of the best workers in this territory are still "lagging" in their decision to make an active start. Any one, even the leading business men will agree that this amount of cash is well worth the spare time of a business man and his family.

N. Y. Stock Market
New York, Jan. 22—(AP)—Selected gold mining issues put out a small rally by themselves in today's stock market, but many leaders were virtually at a standstill.
The few who had expected the list to nose-dive after the government's sweeping TVA victory in the Chattanooga Federal Court were agreeably surprised when even the utilities refused to give ground except in minor fractions.
Sales totaled 405,290 shares. Bonds and commodities were uneven.
