Payne And Turner Plead Not Guilty To Murder Charge

Pair Arraigned In Buncombe Superior Court

COURT APPOINTS FOUR ATTORNEYS

Two North Carolina Desperadoes Being Tried in Death of Patrolman Penn

Asheville, N. C., Jan. 24.

—(AP)—Judge Felix Alley ordered today a special venire of 250 Buncombe county talemans for the trial of Bill Payne and Wash Turner here tomorrow after the pair had been arraigned on charges of murder in the death of George Penn, State Highway patrolman.

Sheriff Laurence Brown said the venire, selection of which was begun immediately after the arraignment would be on hand at the opening of court in the morning.

Payne and Turner, who appeared to take little interest in the proceeding, pleaded not guilty to the charges.

Judge Alley also signed an order formally appointing four attorneys to defend the pair.

The two desperadoes were in the court room 20 minutes and after the arraignment were taken upstairs to the county's skyscraper jail.

Prices On Burley Continue Decline

Louisville, Ky.—Severe decline of the season hit the burley tobacco market driving the statewide average down $1.04 a hundred pounds to $16.70, new low and $19.16 below the season's high. Sales volume for the day totaled 7,475,639 pounds with five markets withholding reports.

The decline occurred as growers over the state were holding mass meetings to select delegates to a statewide meeting this morning at Lexington to discuss remedial measures.

Declines in the dark-fired tobacco markets of Western Kentucky, which opened only recently, have developed a situation similar to the burley market slump.

Drastic curtailment of the 1938 crops, Federal grading at every auction floor in the state and ending of the present selling system were among proposals at the county meetings.

Winter Waterfowl Inventory Started

Charleston, S. C., Jan. 24.—(AP)—The annual mid-winter waterfowl inventory of the U. S. Biological survey began today under the direction in this area of Harold Peters, "flying biologist."

Peters, with a group of workers, will fly north from the Santee river in a private plane to cover the coast as far up as Beaufort, N. C., while another group will fly south toward Savannah, Ga.

Murder Case Delayed

Goldboro, Jan. 24.—Leslie Cox, Negro, charged with the murder of State Highway Patrolman Ike Moore last June, will not be physically able to undergo trial at the current term of Superior court, Sheriff Garrison said today.

Papers Served On Officials In Pitt

A restraining order signed by Federal Judge I. M. Meekins in Elizabeth City recently was served on three county-wide officers and the mayors and chiefs of police of the various towns in the county today, forbidding them from interfering with the operation of certain types of slot machines.

The papers were served by Deputy United States Marshal B. F. Buck, making it mandatory that the officers accept service.

Chief of Police George Clark, who last week declared he had refused to accept service by an attorney and would not sign the paper until presented by a marshal or a deputy federal officer, said today he would continue to seize the devices if they were operated in violation of any state law. He explained that any

ONE FATALITY; MANY INJURED

Dense Fog Saturday Night Cause of Several Wrecks

One person was killed and several others critically injured during a heavy fog Saturday night which made even the most careful driving hazardous.

Herman Wood, 19-year-old Ayden Negro, was almost instantly killed when the car in which he and several others were riding crashed into a bridge abutment near Ayden about 10:15 o'clock Saturday night. Joe Cannon, said to have been the driver, James Anderson, Ed Hardy and James McCoy, all received injuries and were brought to Pitt General hospital for treatment.

A car driven by J. G. Blow of Vanceboro ran into three men walking along the Falkland highway about one mile from Greenville, injuring all three seriously. Alford Simmons, the most critically hurt, suffered a fractured skull. Lee Locamy suffered a fractured thigh and lacerations, and Floyd Matthews was badly bruised. No charges were filed by Corporal L. L. Jackson of the State Highway patrol force, who declared the pedestrians were drunk.

Automobiles driven by Miss Lucy Rodman Wynne of Washington and Carl Crawford of Greenville were involved in a wreck at Service station on the edge of the city, but no one was injured and no arrests were made. Dense fog was given as the only cause of the wreck.

An automobile operated by M. A. Coward of Mount Olive collided with one occupied by Jasper Darden about three and one-half miles South of Greenville last night but no one was arrested and no arrests were made. Corporal Jackson reported that the Darden car was parked when it was struck by the one operated by Coward.

Pender Grocery Store Entered During Night

The Pender grocery store located on Dickinson avenue was entered and a small amount of cash and several cartons of cigarettes stolen last night, it was reported at police headquarters this morning.

According to officers the robber or robbers entered the back door and then cut the screen wire on the front door to make passage through that entrance.

About 35 cents in cash was taken from the cash register and 20 cartons of mixed brands of cigarettes were stolen.

BELIEVE NOE WILL RECOVER

Fast of Clergyman Forcibly Ended at Hospital

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 24.—Irral Hargis Noe slept fitfully in a hospital today, his fast to attain immortality ended against his will, while medical friends undertook to restore strength to his wasted body.

The 47-year-old ousted dean of St. Mary's Episcopal cathedral was rushed to the hospital last night for feeding by force when he fell into what doctors described as "a deep sleep" at the end of 22 days of absolute abstinence.

Physicians began forcing sweetened liquids into his body. Intravenous feeding was to be started as soon as his condition permitted. The physicians said he was being kept under sedatives and in seclusion.

Hal Buchanan, attorney and a member of the cathedral chapter, visited the former dean last night and said he talked "intelligently" but expressed opposition to the forced feeding. Buchanan said he did not appear to be in a dying condition.

Physicians said they considered his condition "grave" but not hopeless and that it might require three months to restore him physically.

Home of C. C. Skinner Entered Last Week

The home of C. C. Skinner on West Fourth street was entered some time last week, it was revealed today by relatives, who said they were unable to tell what, if anything, was taken.

Mr. and Mrs. Skinner is in Huntington, West Va., where he is working on the tobacco market.

Louis Skinner, a brother, said the house had been ransacked. Although practically all cabinet drawers in the house were pulled out and the contents scattered, he said he was unable to say what was missing, and expressed the belief the thieves were after money more than anything else.

DYNAMITE INTENDED FOR JAPANESE LINER

It's timing device stopped by leaking water one-eighth of an inch from the contact point which would have caused it to explode, this crude bomb, consisting of 369 sticks of dynamite packed in a suitcase with an alarm clock switch, was found by police on the Seattle, Wash., waterfront. Discovery of the bomb followed the arrest of a youth, who, according to police, admitted knowledge of a plan to sink the Japanese liner Hiye Maru.

APPROVE REED IN COMMITTEE

Unanimously Endorsed By Senate Judiciary Group

Washington, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The Senate Judiciary committee unanimously approved today the nomination of Stanley Reed to the Supreme court.

The President's second Supreme Court nomination was quickly approved at a brief executive session of the committee, attended by only about half of its members.

Members said no objections to the nominee, now solicitor general, were made and the sub-committee's favorable report, also unanimous, was ordered forward to the Senate.

Reed is expected to be confirmed in time for him to take his post as associate justice when the court reconvenes a week from today.

Reed will succeed Justice Sutherland, who served his last day on the court a week ago, retiring after 15 years on the high bench.

Little Jack Minges Expected to Lose Eye

Jack Minges, young son of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Minges of Greenville, is believed certain of losing his left eye as a result of having been shot accidentally Saturday afternoon.

The boy was taken to Duke hospital yesterday afternoon, where an effort was to be made to save his sight, but latest advices bear little hope of saving the left eye.

He was accidentally shot with an air rifle while shooting birds with his brother, Hoyt, in the yard of the Minges home.

JUDGE PARKER VOIDS VERDICT

Sets Aside Conviction Of Robbery Against Showman

Washington, N. C., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Judge R. Hunt Parker at the regular session of Superior court here this morning set aside the jury's verdict of guilty on a robbery charge against James E. Strates, Breesport, N. Y., carnival owner and showman for the past 16 years, with the pointed assertion:

"I don't believe a word of Horton Dickerson's testimony. Evidence presented in this case has shown Continued on page 6

MASS MEETING HERE TONIGHT

To Discuss Proposed Athletic Field For Greenville

City officials, representatives from the two civic clubs and others interested in the proposal will attend a mass meeting at 8 o'clock tonight at the city hall to discuss the needs of an athletic field and playground park for Greenville.

All persons interested in the project are urged to attend the session as sponsors hope to get started on a program.

It is pointed out that with the city growing at such a rapid rate it is essential that steps be taken at once to secure lands for the purpose of establishing an athletic field and playground.

At present the only facilities are at the various schools and these are considered entirely inadequate and too congested.

Several months ago when such a project was under consideration an option was secured on the old fair grounds at a price of $6,000. The belief is expressed by many that this plot should be purchased at once, even if it is impossible to proceed with other work at the present.

The meeting tonight is for the general public and everyone interested in such a project is invited to attend.

FRANCE SENDS PROTEST NOTE TO INSURGENTS

Aerial Warfare Laps Onto Territory of France

ARMY HASTENS BORDER DEFENSE

Anti-Aircraft and Artillery Batteries Being Rushed on Spanish Frontier

Perpignan, France, Jan. 24.—(AP)—French army authorities today hastened installation of new anti-aircraft and artillery batteries on the Spanish frontier to fight off insurgent airplanes after Spain's devastating aerial warfare had overlapped onto French territory.

At least 80 persons were killed and hundreds wounded in the fury of week-end assaults on a dozen Spanish cities and towns, both insurgents and Government striking and receiving punishment on return.

France sent a formal protest to the insurgent regime against the frontier bombings.

An official survey showed no serious damage was caused by 11 insurgent bombs that fell just inside French territory yesterday when Pulguerdá, Catalan railroad was bombed with between 21 and 30 fatalities.

French officials, who already had been preparing to erect anti-aircraft defenses on the unfortified border, said placements near Pulguerdá were being hastened and the number of batteries increased.

Automobile Damaged While Parked In City

An automobile owned by J. T. Bland was damaged to the extent of $25 while parked in front of White's store on Dickinson avenue yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bland said he parked his automobile about 4 o'clock and when he returned two hours later found someone evidently had backed into it, smashing the front fender, the grill and two horns.

NOTED ACTRESS SUICIDE VICTIM

Ermine - Wrapped Body of Rosamond Pinchot Found

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—The ermine wrapped body of Rosamond Pinchot, known to millions as the nun in Max Reinhardt's biblical spectacle "The Miracle," was found today in a closed automobile on the Harry Alexander estate here.

The death of the tall, golden haired actress was listed as a suicide in an official report filed with the Nassau county police by Deputy Medical Examiner Lewis Elmore.

Miss Pinchot was the daughter of the socially prominent Amos Pinchot and the niece of the former Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

She had been dead since about 6 A. M.

Her body was found in a sedan parked in a garage on the Long Island estate which she had leased. She was seated in the rear seat of the car.

Ten Defendants In City Police Court

Ten defendants faced Mayor M. K. Blount in City police court this morning, two of those tried being white women.

Mrs. Helen Sutton and Mrs. Maggie Godley were the two white women. Mrs. Sutton was convicted of engaging in riotous and disorderly conduct and was fined $10 and taxed with court costs. Mrs. Godley was convicted of assault and was also fined $10 and taxed with costs.

The arrests followed an argument between the two women, who live in the same house.

Joseph Bradley, Negro, convicted of parking on the left, was taxed with costs of court.

Henry Purvis, Arthur Clark and Hubert Tucker, all Negroes, were fined $50 and costs upon conviction of engaging in disorderly conduct.

JURY CHARGED AS TO DUTIES

Judge Grady Instructs Body to Investigate Offices

J. I. Morgan, Jr., of Farmville, was named foreman of the new Pitt County Grand Jury as a week of criminal court got underway here this morning with Judge Henry A. Grady of Clinton, presiding.

A large number of witnesses and spectators filled the court room shortly after the session was convened.

In charging the Grand Jury, which will serve for six months, Judge Grady told members they formed a grand inquisitorial body invested with more power than the presiding judge himself.

Judge Grady devoted much of his charge in instructing the jury as to its duty in relation to investigation of various public offices. He declared it was as much the duty of the body to make "sweeping investigations into the affairs of the county" as it was to consider bills.

He prefaced his remarks by saying that the instructions should not be construed to mean that he had any reason to believe any office in this county was not being conducted as it should, but added it was his legal duty, as well as that of all other Superior court judges, to instruct the Grand Jury to make thorough investigations.

"Every office, clerk of court, register of deeds, sheriff, treasurer, auditor, county superintendent of schools, constables, and all other elective and appointive offices," should be investigated, declared Judge Grady.

"It is your duty to see that these offices are being conducted as they should be, that all records are kept and that all duties are discharged properly," continued the presiding jurist.

With Mr. Morgan as foreman of the grand jury, others selected on the body were: Jesse R. Smith, L. D. Whitehurst, J. B. Smith, T. L. Albritton, C. G. Little, J. L. Bedford, G. E. Beckman, D. H. Bowens, Louis Ayres, Henry Jones, M. W. Smith, E. C. Beaman, W. T. White, C. W. Hearne, W. J. Coward, C. W. Harvey, Jr., and W. C. Tucker.

Herman Sheppard Succumbs at Home

Herman Sheppard, 40, died this morning at 1:52 o'clock at his home near House Station, after several months of critical illness.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Rainbow Church in Lenoir County six miles south of Snow Hill.

Burial will follow in the church yard.

Mr. Sheppard is survived by his wife, Mrs. Cassie Wells Sheppard; four brothers, Roland, George, Elijah and Preston all of Lenoir County; one half brother Reuben Spear also of Lenoir County; and three sisters, Mrs. Fannie Tyndall, Mrs. Joe Hill and one other sister whose name is not known at this time.

Mr. Sheppard came to Pitt County from Lenoir County about 6 years ago and has made his home here ever since.

Empress To Convent

Jerusalem, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The Empress Menen of Italian-conquered Ethiopia today arrived at Haifa on her way to Jericho where she plans to live in an Ethiopian convent on the shores of the Dead Sea.

Seek Disposition Of Lynching Bill

Washington, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Democratic Leader Barkley side-tracked the conference report today to give the anti-lynching bill debate the right of way.

Anxious to dispose of the lynching measure, which has tied up the Senate for almost three weeks, Barkley said he would not call up the privileged housing bill report, but would hold the Senate to debate on the anti-lynching bill throughout the session today and tonight.

The Senate was called into session an hour earlier than usual with prospects for a continuous 11-hour session.

Locomotive Sheds, Freight Trains, Barracks Hit

JAPS PUSHING TOWARD SUCHOW

Mongolian Troops are Reported Within Few Miles of Rail-head Held by Japs

Shanghai, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Japanese airplanes today bombarded defenses of Suchow, the center of Chinese resistance along the main East-West railway, the Lunghai.

Japanese spokesmen said locomotive sheds, freight trains and nearby troop barracks were destroyed in the attack.

Japanese pushing toward the city from the north and south fought indecisive engagements.

A few miles to the south and southeast of Shanghai Japanese infantry and air attacks were credited by the spokesmen as cleaning out all Chinese guerrilla opposition in Pootung.

A force of about 1,000 Chinese had clung to barricades in Pootung across the Wangpoo river from Shanghai, challenging complete Japanese occupation of the Shanghai area.

At Peiping there were new reports of activities of troops of the Soviet-inspired Republic of Outer Mongolia in Western Suiyuan province.

Outer Mongolian troops were said to be within a few miles of Paotow, railroad of the line to Peiping, occupied by Japanese garrisons. North China travelers said Japanese railways which Chinese cross at will, troops were distributed thinly along the line.

Chinese asserted their troops had attacked Wuhu, Yangtze River port, 60 miles upstream from Nanjing, and Japanese admitted Chinese had conducted air raids near Wuhu, but said little damage resulted.

Five Japanese airplanes attempting to raid Lanchow in Kansu province were said by Chinese to have been driven off by Chinese aircraft. Far to the South Japanese again bombarded points along the Canton-Hankow railway and the Canton-Shamsuj railway.

Jackson Funeral Widely Attended

A large number of friends and relatives attended funeral services here Saturday afternoon for N. W. Jackson, 68, who died at his home here Thursday night.

Mr. Jackson is survived by one son, W. Ferrell Jackson, and five daughters: Mrs. Paul Scott and Mrs. Sallie Evans of Greenville; Mrs. E. E. Scarborough of Hickory; Mrs. Wilbert Whitehurst of Elizabeth City and Mrs. W. A. Simmons of Washington, all of whom were here for the funeral. He is also survived by six grandchildren.

Mrs. Whitehurst will remain in the city for awhile.

Low Water.

The water in the river has kept lower through the fall and so far during the winter than has been known in years. Fishermen think not many shad will come up the river this spring unless there is a rise of water soon.

COLLEGE NEWS

Peace was the theme of a stimulating program brought to the Vesper services of the Young Woman's Christian Association of the college Sunday night by a deputation team from State College.

The members of the team were Robert Coleman, Owens Smith, Tom Baess, and one other member whose name was not secured.

The chairman of the group opened the program with "The Unknown Soldier Speaks," a beautiful plea for peace, in which the Unknown Soldier tells how he and his thousands of comrades were drafted and ordered to kill in vain, names some of the world's greatest martyrs for peace, and begs the world to worship them instead of war.

After prayer, led by one of the student visitors, the audience sang "Holy, Holy, Holy," and another member of the delegation read a poem called "War."

Slides showing pictures and clippings which told the cost of war, and the causes of war, were shown; and the question was asked—"What will the United States do?"

Osa Johnson, explorer, world traveler, fearless hunter with the camera, who will appear on the entertainment program at the college on Tuesday night at 8:30, remains a fastidious woman who always puts her best foot forward, even to meet a charging lion.

Never at Lake Paradise, the site of the permanent camp established eight hundred miles from civilization by the Martin Johnsons, or even on their frequent long safaris for "shooting" game with the camera, did Mr. and Mrs. Johnson allow themselves to "go native."

Mrs. Johnson declares that always she took as great care of her hair, her skin, and her finger nails as she would have in the United States, and kept her clothes in perfect repair.

The greeting of a friend, upon her return from several years in Africa testified to the success of that care.

"I just can't believe it!" a school chum exclaimed. I can't believe that you can come back from years in the wilds looking as though you had been in New York all the time."

With the enthusiasm which characterized her every venture, Osa Johnson always threw herself into "an orgy of civilization," to use her own words, when they came back for a few months. She bought pretty clothes, she danced, she went to the theatre, she drank deeply of the life that New York could offer, but she found that that kind of life soon palled.

"Martin, let's hurry back to Africa," she would plead, "I'm so tired."

Never in Africa was she tired, never was she bored.

She had every day "plain, good food, plenty of exercise, and as many laughs as the law allows."

In Africa she felt herself "queen of all she surveyed," a queen in khaki shirt and shorts, a queen with a sunburned nose.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Johnson thought Africa the most wonderful country in the world.

There was nothing of the "dark continent" about it to them. Africa was a land of blue skies, of beautiful scenery, of hot days and cool, refreshing nights.

To the Martin Johnsons, Africa came to mean "home."

An informal tea was given at the college Sunday afternoon from 4:00 to 5:30, one of a series of such teas, with the English Club this time as hostesses.

The president of the club, Miss Fannie Brewer, of Clarksville, Tenn., stood at the head of the receiving line.

New Dance Frocks Billow Foamly Around The Feet

SPRINGLIKE—Printed flower garland bands give color to this spring evening frock designed by Maggy Rouf.

By ADELAIDE KERR (AP Feature Service Writer)

Wide-skirted frothy frocks are skimming over New York's smartest dance floors these evenings.

They billow around their wearers' feet like foam, and appear in hues which make the smartest supper clubs as colorful as flower gardens. The best are of pleated chiffon or net, are nearly always very décolleté and are often topped by brief boleros. Some slender-skirted frocks are also seen.

If you are choosing a new party frock to put zip in your spirits and wardrobe, try one of the new color schemes. Have a full net frock which alternates panels of fuchsia and blue, a pale blue pleated chiffon banded in wine velvet ribbon or a gray chiffon with pink roses massed on the bodice.

Use your imagination in selecting accessories. Carry one of the new gleaming gold apple compacts and wear a gold necklace and bracelets instead of the pearls that have served you so long.

When your dance costume is ready give a thought to your manner on the dance floor or in the night club. Leo Reisman, whose jazz orchestra plays in one of New York's smartest supper rooms, says dance manners are as important to success a dance frock. Here are some of his suggestions:

Give most of your attention to your own man. Don't smile too much at the others. More incipient romances have been spoiled in night clubs by a woman's flirting with another man than by any other cause.

Don't act in a way to attract attention. Draw it by your appearance and poise, not by an over-vivacious manner.

Don't dance cheek to cheek or kick your heels backward.

Look as though you were having a good time. Smile.

Don't powder your nose on the dance floor or in the club. Go to the powder room.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robb Coon

Hollywood — The kid with the million-dollar smile isn't asking much of the movies. Just a chance to save a million dollars, that's all Wayne Morris wants.

He has started. The other day he checked over his assets. Cash in bank, cash in pocket, payments already made on a 20-year annuity—total $3,000.

When his salary increases (with future option-lifts) he expects to save more and faster. At present he puts aside about two-thirds of his earnings, says it doesn't cost him much to live.

He has worked more or less regular at one thing or another since "I'm not extravagant. Never could afford to be before and I don't expect to change now. See this suit? It's tailor-made and it cost me $60. That's more than I usually pay but it will wear a long time."

Romance Might Change It
"A million is a nice, easy number to remember. That's why I'm aiming at that figure. . . Of course if I got married, I don't know. Marriage might put a crimp in my financial plans. Maybe I'd have to reduce my objective to half a million. That's still a nice, round sum."

It was about three weeks ago—back in 1937—that Wayne Morris said he didn't "expect to get married—not this year at least." But Priscilla Laane (of the sisters) is wearing a diamond from Wayne as 1938 stretches ahead.

Football Stars
Sam Wood has probably been to movie college more than any other director. Wood, a director since 1919, was the one who introduced Red Grange to the screen in "One Minute to Play."

If he could have his way, more actors would be recruited from Annapolis and West Point. Says those boys know how to follow and obey instructions better than the fellows from private and state universities. But he also thinks all college boys are fun to direct—especially the football players.

Author of The Week

STUART CHASE has gotten out of the world of economics into the world of words. He has written a book called "The Tyranny of Words" which proves, among other things, that nearly all conversation and nearly all books mean nothing, because words don't mean to you what they mean to me, and vice versa. This is both valuable and shocking; for example, he asked more than 100 people what fascism meant, and no two agreed.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

SYNOPSIS: A widespread revolt of savage Dyak tribes makes it impossible for my uncle, James Clyde, to run guns to the besieged rajah, his client. A further complication is the presence of the Forrester's jawl, the Avon, in tropical Balingong bay. Christine and her brother, Robert, blankly refuse to leave because they are completing a "plan" of their dead father. Unwilling to quit the island with the young English girl in danger, we are attempting to reach Rajah Mantusen up-river.

Chapter Six Up The Siderong

THAT first slow, unearthly approach into the mouth of the Siderong was like nothing in my past experience in the islands.

Since I had been with James Clyde we had felt a few breaths of action. There had been a couple of dark nights in uncertain anchorage, when I waited on watch, suspecting every shadow on the water—with good reason. There can be a great tensing in that, while you wait, trying to make your eyes do more than they were able to do in do to defend ourselves if the Dyaks should close upon us. In actual effect our weapons could not accomplish much. At stern and bow where Clyde and I could reach them, lay three rifles apiece, muzzle-loading cap-lock guns, good for only a single shot. Once they were fired there would never be time to load them again. With these we could hope to pick off three or four of the chiefs.

There were also a couple of double-barreled shotguns, loaded with enough lead to blow them up, and eight pairs of the new cap-and-ball six-shooters, slotted in racks under the thwarts so as not to disturb the caps. Most of the Dyaks were getting used to firearms by this time, but a lot of their first dread of them remained, and some of them could be counted on to break and flee before the explosion of the guns.

If they did not break and flee, then we were through. A hundred shots will not clear a river that is suddenly swarming with 100 war praus. Each of our men had between his feet a parang, or a hangar, or a kris, but these were only for that queer comfort which comes from feeling that at least you are not completely helpless as the finish comes. If the Dyak praus

"Chuck-A-Boom"—A Gag Becomes A Dance!

1—Eleanor Powell was "rehearsing" when a drum-roll caught her fancy. Her drummer said the row was named "chuck-a-boom." It went from a gag to a step, from a step to a song. Eleanor starts it with four hops forward on the left foot.
2—Next, she hops forward on the right foot four times, then hops backward four times, still on the right foot. Then she repeats the whole thing with the left foot. All this time the music is going Chuck-a-boom, chuck-a-boom, chuck-a-boom, chuch-a-boom." Some fun, eh? But do you think you can stand it?
3—Now! Jump with both feet in an imaginary square, then chuck a-boom all over again. Eleanor says you don't have to jump this high, but the chances are you'll be leaping all over the place when this turn comes.
4—This is the chuck-a-boom sign, like truckin's pointed finger. As in other goofy steps, chuck-a-boom is done in the middle of ball-room dancing.

Against those Dyak spears our blades would be as useless as a bunch of mops.

the heavy hot dark. A few random shots had come of those nights, followed by a great flurry of defense out of proportion to the actual danger. Or was it out of proportion? We never knew how many enemies there had been; or how easily they might have taken the Linkang. But never before anything like this...

Out here at the anchorage the water was deep and blue, with the living, electric blue that you never see anywhere except in the tropics. But the mouth of the Siderong—it slid brown and heavy into the bay, faintly discoloring the water all about it. It was like the river laid of polished teak.

Its first reach was broad and lake-like, ending in a blank turn. After that the river belonged to the jungle. There was something terribly still and empty—something weirdly bleak and unwholesome, like the sad, empty ante-room to a torab, about that vast first reach.

We moved with a steady, even rhythm, workmanlike and unhurried. Nondescript scum though they might be called, those men had a firm deep grip upon the essentials of the work that they did. Methodically, they put the whale-boat toward the mouth of that unfriendly river—simply because James Clyde told them to do it, and it was James Clyde who paid their wage.

Hundreds Of Eyes
WHEN I was not watching my course, my eyes were upon James Clyde's face. He was looking at the Avon. I wanted to turn that way too; but I stiffened, and would not permit it. Watching my uncle's face, I could all but sense the moment when Christine Forrester came to the rail of the Avon. I could not entirely read the veiling of James Clyde's eyes, and the quick droop of one corner of his mouth; but I knew that she was there. So did the rest; every ear in the boat was inevitably very much aware of her. They stroked more cleanly and pulled harder because they knew that a girl was looking on.

Clyde said, "Keep to the middle of the stream, Mr. Thorne. No man will lay hand on a weapon unless I give the word. Cut down your stroke; I want no hurry."
We pulled across Siderong bar, and up that first long lake-like reach; and gradually, as we did this, the insistent clamor of the agongs died away. We saw no one yet, but we knew that hundreds of eyes must be watching us nevertheless.
I kept calculating what we could

Touring North Carolina Becomes Popular Practice

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Jan. 21—The tour of North Carolina, conducted last fall for writers and editors in the interest of the state's advertising campaign, appears to have started a "fad," or something.
At least, touring North Carolina seems about to develop into quite a popular practice, with two such junkets by large groups already in prospect for 1938.
From Kansas comes word that a group of approximately 100 farmers, business men, bankers and industrialists have about decided to include this state in a 1938 industrial tour now being planned by the Kansas Chamber of Commerce.
From New York, it is learned that a party of school teachers from that state, headed by Miss Isabelle K. Hart of the geography division of the State Normal and Training School of Oswego, is planning to make a study tour of North Carolina about the middle of July, according to a letter recently received by the Department of Conservation and Development.
The state department is extending its full facilities and cooperation to both groups.
It is hoped that the Kansas tourists, who will travel aboard a special train will spend several days in North Carolina.
The tour is in no sense an effort to ballyhoo Kansas, but rather to seek information as to what other states are doing and to study the types of industries which have been developed in other agricultural states. Harold C. Place, who wrote asking information, said.
The New York teachers have expressed particular desire to visit Kitty Hawk Manteo and Old Fort Raleigh, indicating that last year's Roanoke Island celebration was successful in advertising that section in many quarters.

That formidable-looking word is defined in the WPA's "1938 Almanac for New Yorkers," as "an invitation to a brawl."

Chinatown To Turn New Year Party Into War Relief Aid

(By the AP Feature Service)

When Japanese troops began to head toward Canton, Chinese living in the United States really were aroused. They had been eager to send help to the folks at home, but that eagerness has redoubled. For most of the 75,000 Chinese in America come from Canton or its vicinity; nearly all of them have relatives there. The latest program to help win the war involves the Chinese New Year's Day, January 21. Instead of burning up their money in firecrackers and eating it at feasts, according to the old Chinese custom, the colonies of Celestials in an Francisco and Los Angeles have announced they will send the cash home for food, clothing and medical supplies.

The San Francisco group, largest settlement of Chinese outside of the homeland, has led in supporting the troops. Early in the conflict it raised $450,000—an even million and a half in Chinese currency. Now that Canton is being threatened they are out to raise $600,000 more. Here's how they're doing it:

THEY MARCH . . .

The Chinese love a parade. At the opening of the refugee relief campaign 1,000 marched while 19,000 lined the streets to watch them. These boys are pupils of Nan Kue Academy, a private school in San Francisco, with their banners.

THEY SEW . . .

Here's a pile of flannel jackets all packaged for shipment to China and destined to comfort some of China's wounded.

THEY EAT . . .

Business houses are enlisted in the campaign. This sign says the shops sell rice gruel, will devote part proceeds to war sufferers.

THEY DANCE . . .

These Chinatown beauties further the cause by helping advertise a "mammoth dragon dance" for benefit of China's defense.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Jan. 24—Henry Dwire, for 22 years editor and publisher in North Carolina and now head of the Public Relations Department at Duke University is in grave danger from the purists who insist that this year's name has four syllables. Despite the fact that Mr. Dwire has been exposed to the pedagogic atmosphere of Duke for years and years, he was no less than twice (the only named the state twice) during his speech at the Press Institute dinner Friday detected saying "North Carolina".

Incidentally, everyone present agreed that Mr. Dwire's talk was one of the finest made during the three days of orating, declaring and otherwise using the vocal chords which marked the press session.

No body seems to be particularly wrought up over the approaching Senatorial race between Frank Hancock and Isob Reynolds, but there are unmistakable signs that the local contests throughout the state are going to be full of fire and brim stone.

There a veritable stampede to get into the judicial races all over the state, with the high note so far struck in Judge N. A. Sinclair's district where there are already four openly avowed candidates—the incumbent Robert H. Dye, a Fayetteville lawyer, Q. K. Nimocks, Jr., also of the Cumberland capital and Hester Clark, of Bladen. And the end is not yet, by any means.

Wonder if the opponents will drag up the somewhat ancient incident when Judge Sinclair was nabbed by Federal agents with liquor in his brief case. He was exonerated, but

The High Point Enterprise recently called attention to the unusual fact that residents of the immediate environs of the Furniture City vote in no less than four of the state's 11 Congressional districts—the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Eighth.

Down in the southwest corner of Guilford (Sixth District) High Point is so close to the intersection of three other counties that many who work and gain their livelihood in the city have their voting residence in other districts.

To the dead south is Randolph (Fourth District), to the south and west is Davidson (Eighth) and to the northwest is Forsyth (Fifth). And so people living within a mile or so of each other within a few miles of each other as Frank Hancock (Oxford), Harold Cooley (Asheville), William Umstead (Durham) and Walter Lambeth (Thomasville).

A four-year scholarship at State College will be given the farm boy selected as North Carolina's most outstanding club member in 1938. It has been announced by L. R. Hill, state club leader.

In addition, a scholarship to the 4-H short course which is held at State College each summer will be awarded the boy selected as the most prominent member in each county.

If you want to keep down the insect pests on your farms, help the birds, advises Ross O. Stevens of the State College Zoology Department. The birds are the farmers' most valuable allies, he said.

The Highway Safety division is making an intensive educational drive in the schools of the state. Ronald Hocutt, of the division, says that cooperation and assistance will be given every school which wishes to conduct safety classes.

During the first period of the campaign 300,000 extra votes will be credited on each $50 in subscriptions. All business turned in up to this time will be applied upon it; 252,000 extra votes the second period; 255,000 extra votes the third period; double votes and "project your votes and regular schedule period; double votes the fourth plus 90 per cent the final period. Right is also reserved to extend the campaign or to add extra prizes of any nature at any period of the campaign.

RALEIGH LAST WEEK

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Jan. 24—Raleigh's grim central prison saw its first execution of 1938 when James Sermons Winston-Salem's so-called "one-man crime wave" was asphyxiated for the murder of a merchant in Forsyth holdup. There was some doubt whether he confessed or not. Prison officials said he maintained his innocence to the last. A Winston-Salem constable said he confessed shortly before entering the gas chamber.

Two other doomed men, also Forsyth Negroes, gained new leases on life of at least three weeks when Governor Hoey granted them one day reprieves to allow their attorneys to present what they said was newly discovered evidence. The senential delay of one day automatically sets a new execution date three weeks off.

In addition to saving temporarily at least, these two lives, the Governor was as active as usual—even a bit more active—in his speech-making here, there and yonder. Perhaps his most important address was at the South Carolina Press Association in Columbia where he was proposed as a 1940 Presidential candidate by William Elliott, president of the State, Columbia daily.

"Pima" was written to the court battle of Mrs. Sina Pope Godwin, of Harnett county, to escape prison for the slaying of her husband. Judge Henry A. Grady revoked an order placing her upon probation, the widow abandoned her appeal to the Supreme court and entered prison to begin service of a two to five year term.

Governor Hoey's office received extradition request for Fred Beal, convicted of the conspiracy-murder of Gastonia's Police Chief Aderholt and forwarded them to Massachusetts where Beal was picked up. Commissioner S. J. Ferguson, of Raleigh, died suddenly Friday morning of a heart attack after suffering a slight stroke Thursday afternoon.

It is inadequate to meet the emergency that might arise. As to the quality of the hospital, a good judgment basis is whether it is accepted by the American Medical Association or by the American College of Surgeons—or whether it meets the standards which these governing bodies have set up.

Balloon ascents with passengers were made in both France and the United States in 1783.

Blondie: Of course this contention is as hard to prove as to disprove. But either side can find many pertinent facts for its argument.

When American women began to have their babies in hospitals instead of their homes, the innovation was hailed as the solution to the problem of America's high maternal death rate. But experience has been disappointing. The maternal mortality rate did not shrink, and there is abundant evidence that a hospital confinement is not necessarily a safe confinement.

So far the argument seems to favor one side. But the "opposition" points out that hospitals must not be lumped together as if they were all alike, and also that the maternal hospitals have a higher maternal death rate simply because they get more difficult cases to handle.

In addition, cases which start at home and run into trouble are brought to the hospital and add to the hospital death figures. So much then for pro and con. But what the prospective parents would like to know is the answer to the questions: "home or hospital?" and "if hospital how can we be sure it is a good one?"

The decision as to home or hospital must be as much with the obstetrician as with the family. Much depends upon the locality and availability of good maternity hospital service. It is easily appreciated that economic factors also influence the choice of a place for delivery. With adequate and competent pre-natal care (medical supervision of the woman during the period of her pregnancy), the physician can easily judge whether the case is suitable for home delivery. The home is safe for the normal

Agriculture Department Would Save White Pines

Raleigh, Jan. 21—Visitors to the mountains of Virginia and North Carolina see forests of dead chestnut trees standing like gaunt ghost sentinels, grey arms stretched heavenward. These once-great trees were victims of a strange tree malady, called "chestnut blight," for want of a better name. Today 11 per cent of the white pine trees in the Shenandoah National Park area, of Virginia, have been infected by an equally destructive source, "white pine blister rust."

Fearful that the fate of the chestnut is about to overtake North Carolina's majestic white pine forests, the Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the United States Forestry service, is moving against the menace. A Federal appropriation of $11,000 has been made available for use of the state department, and its entomology division is planning an intensive campaign to save the pines, primarily, of course, because of their economic value, but in a measure in an effort to preserve the scenic attractions of the mountains.

and it is along these lines that the department is preparing to proceed.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (AP Science Editor) Ithaca, N. Y.—Science now has solved the problem of which side of the bed to sleep on in the case of a Cornell professor.

In the winter the side of the bed facing the north wall of his home always has seemed colder than the other side. The north wall is cold, not so much because it faces north, as because it faces outdoors. His wife preferred the south side of the bed. So did the professor, but he let her have the warm side. Then scientific study of radiation of walls showed the north side of the professor's bed actually was colder. Its heat radiator into the

Greenies Trailing Durham's Cagers

'Bull Dogs' Leading Eastern A Conference With Four Wins and no Losses; Green Phantoms Have Six Wins and One Loss

Chapel Hill, Jan. 24.—Ten Class A and 38 Class B games are listed on this week's schedule, the fourth in the winter basketball competition of the North Carolina High schools.

Nearing the half-way point in the Class A program, Durham is leading in the east with four straight victories and Salisbury in the West with two consecutive wins.

This week's schedule: Eastern—Tuesday: Raleigh at Wilmington and Fayetteville at Goldsboro; Friday: Wilmington at Durham, Wilson at Goldsboro and Raleigh at Rocky Mount.

Western—Tuesday: Charlotte at High Point and Salisbury at Gastonia; Friday: High Point at Gastonia, Greensboro at Charlotte and Winston-Salem at Salisbury.

Salisbury took over the leadership in the Western A race by beating Greensboro's strong contingent 17 to 11 Tuesday night. On the same evening Winston-Salem took a ding-dong 21 to 20 scrap from High Point. Greensboro earned an even break in the week's play Friday night by swamping Winston-Salem 37 to 7. Charlotte got off to a fine start with a 28 to 21 victory over Gastonia Friday night.

While Durham's highly-touted Bulldogs rested, Greenville scored its sixth victory in seven starts by beating Wilson 30 to 17.

In other Eastern Class A games Fayetteville romped over Raleigh 42 to 15. Wilson conquered Rocky Mount 21 to 17. Goldsboro beat Raleigh 24 to 18 and Rocky Mount walloped Wilmington 35 to 17.

A total of 38 games are booked in the Class B. division this week, 20 in the East and 18 in the West. The Class A standings:

UNC TO ENGAGE STATE TUESDAY

Carolina Seeking 9th Straight Win Over Techs

Chapel Hill, Jan. 23.—North Carolina's basketball team will seek to protect as well as to break a record here Tuesday night when it faces N. C. State's crack contingent at 8:30 o'clock in the Tin Can. Freshman teams of the two institutions will clash in the preliminary attraction at 7.

In the matter of protection the Tar Heels will be striving to keep intact a record of eight consecutive victories over the Red Terrors. Not since the early part of the 1934 season has State defeated Carolina.

On the other hand a victory over State would spoil Tech's perfect record in Big Five and Southern Conference competition this season. State has Big Five wins over Davidson 25 to 24 and Wake Forest 45 to 44. Besides the Deacons and Wildcats, the Techs hold Conference victories over South Carolina 37 to 27 and Clemson 33 to 31.

North Carolina has tasted defeat once in Big Five and Conference circles. By losing to Wake Forest 44 to 34 in a return game last week the Tar Heels lost to State leadership in both the Conference and Big Five leagues.

The White Phantoms have registered wins over Davidson 37 to 35, and Wake Forest 31 to 26 in Big Five contests and also holds Conference triumphs over V. P. I. 38-32, V.M.T. 31-17, and Washington and Lee 34-31.

Headliners in the fine play of the Red Terrors are Bill Mann, star forward, and Captain Connie Mac Berry, brilliant center. Mann engineered 24 of the 45 points in defeating Wake Forest. Both Berry and Mann have been hitting the basket with deadly accuracy this season.

Captain Earl Ruth, All-Southern guard, and Ben Dilworth, sophomore center, are Carolina's chief point-getters this season.

The offensive duel between Berry-Mann and Ruth-Dilworth is expected to be the high spot in the game Tuesday night.

WILL EXHIBIT CATTLE, SWINE

State Fat Stock Show At Rocky Mount In April

Raleigh, Jan. 21.—Some of the finest fat cattle and swine ever grouped together east of the Piedmont will be seen when the first annual Eastern North Carolina Fat Stock Show opens in Rocky Mount April 7. L. I. Case, of the State College, said today.

For years Western North Carolina farmers have been holding a fat stock show at Asheville, but this marks the first time that such a show has been scheduled for the eastern counties.

Case said a premium list amounting to $1,000 has been made available for exhibitors of prize-winning animals. On April 8, the second and last day of the show, an auction sale will be held at which all show animals will be offered.

Any person living east of and including Halifax counties will be eligible to make entries, Case said. Hogs and beef cattle of any breed or of mixed breeding may be offered. All animals will be judged on conformation and market conditions.

Each question counts 20; each part of a two-part question, 10. A score of 60 is fair; 80 good. Answers on page 51.

1. Who is this utilities head? What would he like to sell to the government?
2. Did Herbert Hoover say recently that we (a) should defend the Philippines at all costs, (b) should not include them in our defense plans, or (c) ask them what they'd like us to do?
3. How did the former head of Russia's Hollywood try to pep up "Treasure Island"?
4. General Franco's insurgents hold a little less than half of Spain. True or false?
5. Is Gandhi, although little heard of, as active as ever in India's politics?

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 24.—(AP)—While selling pressure was definitely lacking in today's stock market, the general drift was downward.

With the ticker tape lately moving, fractional declines were widely distributed near the hour's close. The opening hour's column of 150,000 shares was the smallest for this period in months.

Trading forces seemed disappointed at word from Washington the long-awaited Presidential message to Congress on naval rearmament had again been delayed until later this week or next.

Wall Street continued to look for something constructive to come out of the many White House business conferences; but the tendency to withhold sizeable buying commitments in stock was apparent pending announcement of a concrete anti-recession program.

The most encouraging factor from the standpoint of the brokers was that important legislation thus far has not been offered.

Bonds, commodities and foreign securities markets were quiet and uneven. The French franc pushed higher in terms of the dollar, as prospects for the new Chauvets government brightened.

New York, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened higher to one lower. Steady Liverpool cables were offset by lower Bombay cables. Prices moved up a few points on trade-fixing and scattered buying, and shortly after the first half hour May, which had recovered from 8.51 to 8.56, was selling at 8.53.

The market became quiet later in the morning, but the undertone was steady. By midday May was 8.54 and the list was two to four points net higher.

Increasing Use Being Made Of Records Gathered at Gauging Stations in North Carolina

Raleigh, Jan. 24.—Increasing use is being made by industry of the records on stream flow, volume and velocity gathered at the stream gauging stations in North Carolina. According to Theodore S. Johnson, chief of the Water Resource and Engineering Division of the Department of Conservation and Development, information is being constantly requested by industries considering locating in the state.

There are 96 such stations maintained by the division. In several instances, Mr. Johnson said, special requests have been made for information about specific streams.

The U. S. Geological Survey cooperates in the gauging work, which is being carried on with increasing efficiency.

Assistance is also given by the U. S. Engineering Corps the Tennessee Valley Authority, the Soil Conservation Service and by private and municipal corporations.

A new station has been established on Little River while the station on the Cape Fear at Fayetteville has been re-established on the new highway bridge.

All 96 stations are in good condition at present. They are inspected at regular intervals.

Evaporation stations are being maintained at Chapel Hill and Lake Michie in order to measure the rate of evaporation at given points, and reopening of the evaporation station on Badin Lake is contemplated. In cooperation with the Aluminum Company of America, which owns the lake.

Preparations are being made to publish a report on stream flow, based on records from the measuring stations. This work has proceeded rather slowly due to the large number of calculations which must be made. The report is expected about July 1.

HINTS TO HOUSEWIVES

Scrub eggs in a cool, dry, clean place. Wipe off any stains carefully and gently with a damp cloth. Do not wash eggs in water unless they are to be used at once—it will remove the delicate outside film which serves to preserve them.

To remove the smudges from utensils used over an open flame rub with crumpled newspapers, then apply a few drops of kerosene to the paper and rub the kettle until it's clean. Wipe with more dry papers. Do not let any of the kerosene get inside of the kettle. If the smudge is not too thick it can be removed with a metal wire pot scraper.

White wine is served with fish and light meats, while red wine accompanies dark meat and game. Both are served at room temperature. A sparkling wine is chilled. Never add ice to the wine as it will dilute it, impairing the flavor.

Scald the coffee pot daily after it has been washed and every week soak it well in strong washing powder and hot water solution, and then rinse in quantities of boiling water. Invert to dry or wipe out carefully with a soft cloth.

The Brontosaurus of prehistoric times attained a length of 70 feet and weighed up to 30 tons. It lived on a vegetarian diet.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—A newspaperman from Georgia who became an editor in New York was ambled about his house one winter's night about a year ago. Outside the wind moaned and snow fell so thickly that the corner street lamp was all but obliterated.

"Come, Hamlet," said the editor as he grew cold. Let us to the basement and toss more coal on the fire.

Hamlet, a trusting, obedient, four months old puppy, scrambled to his feet and followed his master down into the basement. While he fell to gnawing an artificial bone his master heaved shovel after shovel of fuel into the already well-crammed furnace. The steam gage nudged up a little higher. Outside the winter's night beat angrily against the roof, making the panes rattle and causing an involuntary shiver to travel up and down the Georgian's spine.

"I guess we need another shovel, Hamlet."

Several minutes later occurred a terrific explosion. The hot water tank burst like a huge shrapnel. The man staggered back, covered with soot. Hamlet, by this time, was three miles across the prairie and traveling at a rapid pace. So frightened was he that he never came back. His master advertised in the newspapers and inquired everywhere for him, but Hamlet was not to be found.

The other night as the bearded editor sat down to his smoking hot dinner of fried chicken, stuffed dumplings, candied sweet potatoes, baked ham, carrot, peas, cornbread, hot biscuits, salad and coffee, to say nothing of several large helpings of dessert, there came an eager scratching at the door.

"None shall seek admittance and be reused on a night like this," quoth our editor, excusing himself and making for the door. As he drew it open a great beast of a dog roared into the house, wagging his tail vigorously, whining eagerly, leaping happily on one and all.

"Why, it's Hamlet," everybody gasped. Yes, the markings were the same. He had a white blob on his brown shoulder. But a year is a long time.

"I will settle this," said the editor, making for the basement. "Come, Hamlet, let us to the cellar and dig more coal on the fire."

The dog readily followed—until he reached the bottom of the cellar stairs. Then remembrance warned him. Catching sight of the open furnace door and the new hot water tank he emitted a howl of terror and bounded up the stairs, where he fell trembling into a corner of the kitchen.

"Yep," said ye ed, "this is Hamlet. This is the melancholy Dane, no doubt about it."

So there was great rejoicing in this modern Elsinore that night, and there still is rejoicing.

But, Hamlet doesn't sleep in the cellar any more. He has the range of the house.

The "oldest" play on Broadway is a medieval gallop from England, "The Shoemaker's Holiday," which was "acted before the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty on New Years day and night last," in 1600. It's about the bawdiest piece to hit the street in some time.

Extra Vote Offer Creates Interest

nature of your business. Extra Vote Offer

The big 3000,000 Extra Vote Offer on $30.00 Clubs of subscriptions which is in effect until Saturday January 29, is made to enhance the winning possibilities of every Candidate and as a special inducement for more members to enter the race. This is positively the biggest extra vote offer that will be made during the entire Campaign and full advantage should be taken of it by any member who is making a try for one of the biggest awards.

All Candidates are requested to make a cash report of all subscriptions on hand each Wednesday and each Saturday during the Campaign. This is one of the most important rule of the campaign and must be adhered to strictly. If it is possible we advise each Candidate to bring their reports to the office on these days, but if it is not convenient, out of town members may mail them. Provided they bear the postmark of these two days. The Campaign office will be open until 6:00 P. M. on Wednesday for the convenience of Candidates making their reports.
