Farm Legislation Passed By Senate On Vote Of 56-31

BILL NOW GOES TO PRESIDENT

McAdoo Describes Control Measure as "Reactionary"

KING CALLS FOR PARLEY ON ARMS Supreme Court Upholds S. C. Law Limiting Weight-Width Of Trucks

Washington, Feb. 14.—The administration's new farm program received Senate approval today after weeks of congressional controversy.

The bulky measure now goes to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature.

The President's approval will make effective the huge effort at production and marketing controls for five major crops on which Congress began work last fall.

The bill, which sponsors predicted would be signed promptly by the President, provides for continuation of the present Soil Conservation program and for establishment of marketing quotas for wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco and rice when supplies are heavy and growers approve in referendum.

The Senate approved by a 56 to 31 roll call vote this measure.

Washington, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Senator McAdoo (D-Calif.) describing the administration's crop control bill as "revolutionary," said today its enforcement would create "such a hub-bub" that the legislation would be repealed at the next session of Congress.

McAdoo spoke as opponents of the vast proposal to put production and marketing controls on five major crops carried on an 11th hour attack before the vote on the measure.

"It is fundamentally wrong agricultural economy, in my opinion," McAd said.

He read from a section of the act which would permit the Secretary of Agriculture to identify farm products that could move in commercial channels free from penalties.

"This bureaucratic control will be offensive to the freemen who live on the farm," he said. "They will show their resentment."

Before the Senate resumed farm bill debate, Senator King (D-Utah) introduced a resolution calling on President Roosevelt to convene an international arms conference.

Representative Fish (R-N. Y.), suggested before the House Naval Committee, meanwhile, that any new armament conference should grant Japan naval equality with the United States.

Elsewhere the Supreme Court held that provisions of a South Carolina law limiting the gross weight of trucks to 20,000 pounds and the width to 90 inches can be applied to vehicles operating in interstate commerce on standard concrete or asphalt highways.

Justice Stone delivered the decision on another of the many controversies over the boundaries of Federal and State power.

The 1933 state statute was intended to preserve the highways and promote safety. Illinois, Kentucky and Texas had filed briefs contending states had the right to regulate the use of their highways. Florida attacked the South Carolina regulation.

David Ashley Smith Is Claimed By Death

David Ashley Smith, 60, died Sunday afternoon at 6 o'clock at his home near Falkland. He had been ill several months.

Funeral services will be held from the late home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. Charles A. Lawrence, Presbyterian Minister of Falkland. Interment will follow in the Greenwood cemetery in Tarboro.

Mr. Smith was a member of the Presbyterian Church at Tarboro. Surviving are his wife and a son, David, Jr., Baltimore, Md.; two daughters, Mrs. Johnnie Deans of Macleesfield, R. F. D.; his mother, Mrs. Sarah Smith of Macleesfield, Greenville, R. F. D.; a brother, J. S. Smith, Falkland. Mr. Smith spent his entire life in the Greenville and Falkland communities, where he was engaged in farming.

Beaten By Rebels

Captain John E. Lewis (above), master of the American tanker, Nantucket Chief, told newspapermen he was daily beaten with a rubber hose during the 16 days he, his vessel and crew were held prisoner by insurgent Spanish at Palma, Mallorca.

PLANE WRECKS WHILE LANDING

Charlotte Visitor To Greenville Escapes Injury

An airplane owned and operated by Dabney Coddington of Charlotte, crashed about 6:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon while attempting to land at the airport across the river from Greenville.

Mr. Coddington escaped serious injury, suffering only a slight bruise on the head. The plane nosed over when it struck a soft spot while the operator was applying the brakes.

The ship turned all the way over, damaging the propeller, wings and tail of the plane.

Mr. Coddington was flying alone from Wilmington, where he had been to inspect his plantation, and was landing following his arrival here when the plane crashed. He was unfamiliar with the landing field and this was believed responsible for the accident.

The ship was damaged to the extent of $600 or $700.

Mr. Coddington was coming here to spend a few days with Lee A. Folger, formerly of Charlotte.

Order Persons In Wrecks To Court

Hereafter persons involved in traffic accidents in the city limits of Greenville will be ordered to court if a policeman arrives on the scene before those involved leave. It was indicated at police headquarters today.

H. E. Wooten, traffic officer, explained that he was through trying to settle accidents on the scene and hereafter would cite all persons involved to Mayor's court. Mayor M. K. Blount, in police court this morning, took occasion to comment Patrolman Wooten for ordering persons involved in wrecks to appear and have the case settled in court. Two such cases were aired this morning.

Canada Increases Tobacco Acreage

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Feb. 14.—North Carolina growers "have virtually lost" Canada as an export market for flue-cured tobacco, W. P. Hedrick, tobacco marketing specialist of the State Department of Agriculture, said today.

HITLER SPEECH AWAITED WITH MUCH ANXIETY

Jittery Europe Faces Third Consecutive 'Hitler Week-End'

SECREC Y GUARDS SUNDAY MESSAGE

Reports Circulated Reichsfuehrer's Big Surprise to be Return of Colonies

Berlin, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Jittery Europe is facing its third consecutive "Hitler week-end."

The German Fuehrer, weighing events of a feverish fortnight, maintained strict secrecy today on the message he will have for the nation and the world in his speech to the Reichstag next Sunday.

Speculation as to just what Hitler will say agitated diplomatic quarters, but secrecy, as usual, was his watchword. Official silence likewise surrounded results of Hitler's talks Saturday with Austria's Chancellor Schuschnigg at Hitler's Bavarian retreat.

There were reports in diplomatic circles that his big surprise for the German people Sunday will be return of Germany's lost war colonies. It was said Britain and Germany were negotiating on an important colonial concession for the Reich, but that certain conditions would be required.

One of these conditions, it was said, would be a clarification of Germany's relations with Austria, assuring against any sudden aggression in that sector.

Premier Mussolini of Italy, who was said to have urged the Schuschnigg-Hitler meeting, was described as favorable to a settlement by which Hitler would get colonies and Italy would get British recognition of the conquest of Ethiopia.

CIVIL SESSION STARTED HERE

Judge Grady Presiding Over 2 Weeks Special Court

A two weeks' special term of Pitt Superior Court for hearing civil cases was started here this morning with Judge Henry A. Grady of Clinton, presiding.

A large number of cases appear on the calendar, but few of them are of general interest.

The grand jury chosen at a recent term of criminal court has been holding hearings since and it is probable that the body will report at this term of court. The grand jury may make its report during a civil session, although no bills of indictment can be returned except during a term of criminal court.

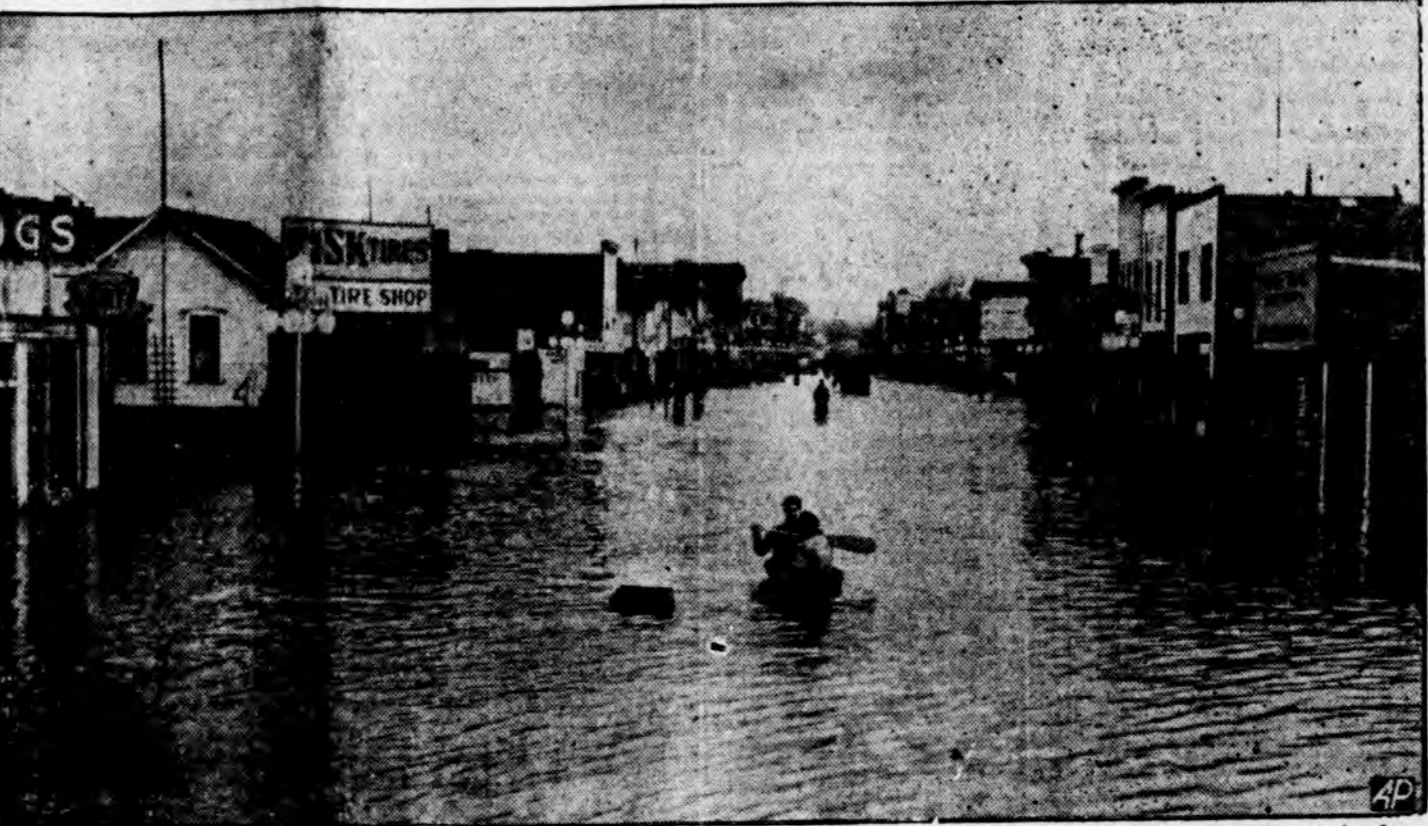

Sessions of court are scheduled for the next two months. A two week mixed term is scheduled for March, to be followed by two weeks of criminal court during April.

J. F. Harrington, clerk, has declared the criminal docket to be in good shape and added he believed the two weeks during April would be sufficient to dispose of pending cases. With this the situation, it was indicated both weeks of the March term may be devoted to civil cases.

Two-year-old Prince Edward, son of the Duke of Kent, is said to show an instinct for engineering.

Japan Wages One Of Greatest Battles In History Of World

FLOOD WATERS FORCE SHOPPERS TO USE BOATS

The Pajaro River, fed by 16 days of torrential rain, swept over the main street of Watsonville, Calif., and forced many shoppers, who were caught in stores, to wade or use boats. The town of Pajaro, across the river from Watsonville, was also inundated, and 1,000 persons fled to the safety of higher ground.

MANY TRIED IN POLICE COURT

Mayor Disposes Of Unusually Large Number Cases

The city court room was filled almost to capacity this morning by defendants, witnesses and spectators as a large number of cases was disposed of by Mayor M. K. Blount.

Thomas Williams, Negro, was bound over to County court under bond of $300 on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

David Lee Clark, William Dye and Louis Morris, three young Negroes, were bound over to Superior court under bond of $400 each on a charge of larceny of an automobile.

James Carney, Negro, was taxed with the cost of court upon conviction of drunkenness.

W. R. Robbins, white, was sent to the roads for 30 days for drunkenness.

Robert Joyner, Negro, paid the costs of court upon conviction of a traffic regulation which resulted in an accident Saturday night at the intersection of Pitt and Fifth street.

Ben Green, Negro, was placed under bonds of $200 each for carrying a concealed weapon and a whiskey charge.

LeRoy Saltsburg, Negro, was taxed.

Oscar O. McIntyre Claimed By Death

New York, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Oscar O. McIntyre, newspaper columnist to whom millions of Americans looked for their impressions of New York City, died today in his Park Avenue apartment.

One of the most famous newspapermen of the nation, he came to New York from a small Ohio town, and always boasted that he never lost the native curiosity of the "home-town boy." For a quarter of a century his daily column, "New York Day by Day," gained increasing popularity and in recent years was published in more than 500 newspapers.

McIntyre, who would have been 54 on Friday, died at 2 o'clock this morning. Cause of death was not known immediately, but his health had been good for some time.

McIntyre's friendships ran thru all classes and types of people—Broadway's great, the Big City's ordinary people each alike claimed his attention.

He lived much alone in recent years, doing his work in his richly furnished apartment, aided in great measure by his wife, formerly Myrtle Hope Small of Gallipolis, Ohio.

Friday also would have been McIntyre's 30th wedding anniversary.

The first man to write a syndicated New York column, forerunner of the many present day Broadway gossip writers, McIntyre began his newspaper career on the Gallipolis journal in 1902.

Broadway was still far from his debt pen. He left Gallipolis to become feature editor on the East Liverpool, Ohio, Tribune, then managing editor of the Dayton, Ohio, World and later assistant managing editor of the Cincinnati Post.

The "Big Town" lure finally brought him to New York as associate editor of Hampton's magazine in 1912.

McIntyre took pride in being a "small town boy" who was forever fascinated by the passing scene of the "Big City."

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. ROUSE

Funeral Tuesday For Wife of Farmville Publisher

Farmville.—The death of Mrs. Myrtle Dail Rouse, 52, wife of G. Alex Rouse, editor of the Farmville Enterprise, a member of a prominent Greene county family and held in highest esteem here, occurred at 4:45 o'clock this morning at the home.

Mrs. Rouse had been in declining health for several months.

Funeral services will be conducted from the residence on South main street Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock by her pastor, Rev. D. A. Clark of the Methodist church, assisted by Rev. C. B. Marshburn, Christian minister, and Rev. H. M. Wilson of the Presbyterian church. Interment will be made in the family plot in the Episcopal church yard in Snow Hill.

Active pallbearers will be relatives and floral bearers will be members of the Farmville Junior Woman's club.

Mrs. Rouse was the daughter of the late W. Haywood and Mrs. Mary Virginia Dail of Snow Hill. She had been a resident of Farmville for the past 25 years.

Surviving are her husband, a daughter, Miss Mary Frier Rouse; four sisters, Mrs. T. S. Boyd of Mooresville, Mrs. J. W. Dixon, of Raleigh, Miss Minnie Best Dail of Snow Hill and Mrs. G. M. Holden, of Farmville; three brothers, W. H. George, F. M. and Fred Dail of Greenville.

Mr. Adams stated that Social Security account numbers issued up to the end of January in the United States totaled 37,349,905.

Youth Accused Of Murder In Wayne

Goldboro, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Walter L. Jones, 41, died in a hospital here today of pistol wounds, said by Deputy Sheriff Roy Percise, to have been inflicted by Jack Ward, 16, Saturday night.

The deputy quoted the boy as saying he shot Jones because the latter struck his aunt, Miss Estelle Ward, in a dispute over a former filling station partnership.

Ward said also, the deputy related, that Jones had knocked him down a few minutes before the shooting.

Well Known Pitt Man Dies At Rural Home

K. R. Lewis, 54, well known farmer of Farmville, Route 1, died at 6:30 p. m., Saturday. Funeral services were conducted at the residence Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and burial was in the Farmville cemetery. The Rev. J. B. Roberts, Primitive Baptist minister, officiated.

Mr. Lewis is survived by his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Yelverton Lewis; 13 children, Penelope, Martha, Chlo, Mary, Vivian, Etta, Grace, Frances, Alfred Reddini Grimes and Bruce Lewis, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Lewis Lang.

ARMY FOLLOWS TRAIL OF KAHN

Battlefields of Old Reverberate With Modern Warfare

HONAN CAPITAL FEARED DOOMED

Bitter Struggle Is In Prospects as Japs Must Cross Yellow River Under Fire

Shanghai, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Japan's Rising Sun warriors, following the trail blazed by the Mongol hordes of Genghis Khan 700 years ago, fought one of the world's greatest battles today in the conquest of Central China.

The same battlefields in Honan province, where the great Khan's horsemen struck terror into the heart of Asia reverberated with the din of modern conflict as the Japanese invaders drove desperately, fighting Chinese troops southward toward the Lungshai railway.

The Japanese already have captured the lower stretches of the Yellow river and have reached the middle section of that great waterway, the division of North and South China.

Swift drives southward put the Mikado's armies astraddle the Pingnan and Taming highway. They seriously threatened the present capital of Honan province.

The Japanese advance guard was reported on the North bank of the Yellow river, after having shattered resistance of 15,000 Chinese troops and forced them to withdraw across the wide waters.

A bitter struggle was in prospect, as the Japanese must cross the river under fire. Bridges were blown up in the withdrawal of the Chinese.

Tokyo, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Japanese Foreign Office spokesman intimated today that Japan might be willing to provide naval construction information if the request was made unofficially.

Expressing his personal opinion, the spokesman said "it would be better if the powers would approach Japan unofficially." If they did so, he added, it was possible "they might have better success with Japan."

Governor To Open Farmville Affair

Governor Clyde R. Hoey has accepted an invitation to deliver the opening address at the Farmville Post American Legion, exposition week to be held in that city the week of February 28-March 5.

The exposition will be opened formally at 8:30 o'clock Monday night with an address by the Governor.

On Wednesday night U. S. Senator Robert R. Reynolds will act as master of ceremonies at a style show.

Friday night a queen's ball will be held with Thad Eure, Secretary of State, crowning "Miss Pitt County."

Escape Injury In Sunday Accident

Dr. Guy V. Harris of Sanford miraculously escaped serious injury yesterday afternoon when his automobile and one driven by Mrs. Leon Smith of Greenville collided at the intersection of Evans and Ninth streets.

Occupants of both cars escaped injury, although Dr. Harris' automobile turned over.

Among the other wrecks in the city over the week-end was one Friday afternoon on Ockinson avenue. Vehicles driven by Mrs. K. W. McLawhorn and Mrs. J. L. Atkins collided, one of them crashing into a car owned by A. C. Averett, which was parked. The Averett vehicle was the only one to be damaged to any great extent.

Extra Cash Prize Offered Workers

For the week beginning Monday, February 14, and ending Saturday, February 19, an extra cash prize of $25.00 is being offered the workers in The Reflector's "Cash Offer" Campaign. Here is the offer: To the candidate who turns in the largest number of NEW subscriptions from Monday, February 14, to and including Saturday, February 19, will be awarded an extra prize of $25.00 in cash. In order for a subscription to count on this offer it must be for a period of six months or more. The extra cash prize will be awarded on or before the closing day of the campaign.

The field has hardly been scratched so far as a full quota of new subscriptions are concerned. Here is a great extra offer, given as an inducement for workers to sell new subscriptions to The Daily Reflector and whereby some worker will benefit to the extent of $25.00 in extra cash. The extra cash prize is in addition to any prize or commission a candidate may win at the end of the campaign. It is for one week only.

Peace Action
PLAN TO WITHDRAW MARINES FROM SHANGHAI

The Navy has announced plans for withdrawing approximately 1,200 marines now stationed at Shanghai. This group is not to be brought to the United States at present. Hawaii will be their stopping point for the time being. The idea behind this move is to remind Japan that we are ready to go back to China if trouble continues. The withdrawal, even under these conditions, will be welcomed by the peace forces as a step in the right direction. The hope is that we will get all of our troops and vessels out and stay out of the war zone in the future.

CAUCUS MEETINGS
A WELCOME SIGN

The reaction to the President's national defense message is mixed. It is fair to say that a majority of the members of Congress are willing to go along with the President. On the other hand, there has been a stiffening of many Congressional backs to the President's policy. Everyone admits that the situation is full of dynamite and a considerable membership in both Houses are convinced that the Administration is following a mistaken and dangerous policy. This opposition sentiment is reflected in the calling of special caucus meetings of peace supporters in both the House and Senate. This is the first session which has had such meetings in recent years. The latest move is a caucus of those House members opposing the President's super navy program. Such meetings are a warning that the situation is serious. The caucus meetings are a welcome sign to those interested in the peace question for they indicate the existence of a real opposition to the war drift.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

SYNOPSIS: Savage Dyak tribes are on the wild loose at war with the Malays on tropical Sumatran island. Christine Forrester, a young English girl, is behind the revolt, completing a plan of her dead father for Dyak freedom. Rajah Mantusen thinks my uncle, James Clyde, controls the Dyaks and offers him the governorship of Balingong. While Christine tries to convince Clyde that this means unlimited opportunity for wealth and power, I (Paul Thorne) go back aboard the Linkang and wait.

Chapter 25
More Millions Than One

CLYDE was gone until late in the afternoon. I had no ballast to shift, of course. The crew loafed under their awning, forward, some of them half-heartedly playing cards, some getting in their routine grumblings; but mostly they just scratched and sweated, and speculated about what was going to happen. I talked with Blair under the other awning, aft; I wrote up the log, and tinkered with a sextant I was trying to make; but mostly I was wondering what Clyde was getting himself into.

Clyde came back aboard the Linkang as the sun was lowering. "Will she move out yet?" "No." "I suppose we can kidnap her out of here, if it comes to that." Clyde snorted. "Take her where?"

Clyde's mind couldn't stay away from it.

Hold her how long? No use taking her away unless you can keep her away. Don't be a damned fool!"

I got bandages up, soaked away the ones he had, and put on fresh. After he was bandaged he went below and presently brought up some old account books, and a batch of loose paper. He sat for a long time at his table under the awning, thumbing through the accounts, striking off a few notes, and making sketchy computations. "I suppose it might be done," he said at last, gloomily. "If I could legally get the raj, even in tribute to both Massin Ali and Mantusen, and get the thing organized on that kind of basis—it might pay out. There's more millions than one in the cargoes in there—if they could be got at."

"You couldn't hold the raj if you got it."

"I MIGHT. There's no real reason it couldn't be held. We're well armed. Conceivably, we could pick out enough men to use the weapons. Balingong could be made smoky-hot for anybody to walk into."

"Tanyalang, huh?" "I don't think much of the Tanyalang. At least, not in the sense that she does," he said. "But who's going to attack? Some hill-tribe raiders. Some Dyak pirates. If I couldn't whale the stuffings out of any bunch of Dyak pirates afloat I wouldn't be here now."

I was trying to draw him out to see how far he had come from his first conception. I saw what was bothering him. First, last, and at heart, James Clyde was a trader. A chance—even a bad and hopeless chance—at a tremendously rich monopoly, under his own military control, was something his mind couldn't stay away from.

"Even if Mantusen, as a last resort, pretends to sign over his raj," I said, "Massin Ali will repudiate. You know he will."

"And lose his revenue? What for? If I didn't pay the revenue the title would default back to him, anyway. Any Sultan of Saramba ought to be tickled to death to have a white man running something for him, for once, instead of against him."

"And he ought to know what would happen next," I argued. "He ought to know that the British, or else the Dutch, will surely gather us in if we succeed. Where'll he be then? Sitting on the corner with a tin cup—that's where he'll be. And I have no doubt he knows it."

"Don't even know it myself," said Clyde obstinately. "The raj of Balingong has a lot of stuff—that's what interests me. It has ginger, it has chincona. I don't see why it couldn't pay for itself as it goes. Even if we got booted out later, we ought to be ahead—way ahead. I don't want to stay here forever."

"You mean you just figure to make a clean-up and run?" "Of course I want to make a clean-up! What else? I can run when I have to."

"THIS girl," I cautioned him, "is getting you in deeper than that. This girl has held over a lot of her ideas from her father. And her father was a reformer. I can see that now—I can see it plain. He wanted to uplift these Dyaks. Bring in soap. Make 'em wash with it. Build a courthouse and lock 'em up in it. All that kind of vanilla. The plans that girl has would break the bank of England."

He stared at me blankly. "Don't talk so much." He went back to his figuring.

But when next he threw down his pencil he took a different tone. "The whole thing is unsound and unsafe," he said disgustedly. "I'll take my ship in where anybody will, and I'll take some awful chances to get a cargo. But this

COL. O'HAGAN IN INTERVIEW

Says Country No Better Off Than Five Years Ago

An interview with Colonel Charles J. O'Hagan, native of Greenville, which was printed in the Los Angeles Times recently and reprinted in the American Police Patrol, a policeman-owned paper published in Burbank, Calif., declares "It is impossible for any government to live and prosper that is not operated on these three fundamental principles: rugged honesty, hard work and economy."

Col. O'Hagan, widely known and popular democratic leader in California, is a possible candidate for governor of the Pacific coast state.

Col. O'Hagan declared: "After listening over the radio to all the leading speakers last night at the Jackson Day banquet, somehow I arrived to the unavoidable conclusion that we are really not any better, if as well off, as we were five years ago."

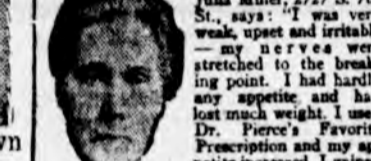

"We all know we are more in debt and many of us fear we are in a depression that may last longer than the one five years ago which we tried to stem and avoid by false stimulation.

"The best way out of depression caused by inflation, and most all are caused by that, is by rugged honesty, economy and hard work—three vital things the American people seem to have forgotten.

"I cannot see why everyone does not know that the government is run by the people and paid for by the people and that it is the people who must ultimately pay its debts and expenses.

"It is impossible for any government to live and prosper that is not operated on these three fundamental principles: rugged honesty, hard work, and economy."

Durham Meets Greenville In Return Match Tuesday

BULL CITY FIVE HEAD OF GROUP

Durham Leads East And Salisbury The West

Chapel Hill, Feb. 14.—Durham in the East, and Salisbury in the West, both undefeated will begin the final two weeks of the Class A high school basketball competition Tuesday night and are favored to emerge champions.

Sassoury, with a string of eight victories, runs into its sternest opposition of the season when it faces Charlotte, biggest obstacle in the way, Tuesday and Friday nights. All of Rowan boys to put a clincher on the Western championship, is to break even in the two-game series. Charlotte, beaten once, probably would win the title by beating Salisbury twice although it still has Winston-Salem to play.

Durham tackles the only clubs with a mathematical chance of winning the Eastern title—Greenville Tuesday night and Fayetteville on Thursday night. The Bulldogs are top-heavy favorites to win both games. After that, the Tobaccoists should have smooth sailing against the many times beaten second division teams.

The complete class A schedule. Tuesday: Wilson at Raleigh, Durham at Greenville, Rocky Mount at Fayetteville and Wilmington at Goldsboro; Thursday: Fayetteville at Durham; Friday: Raleigh at Greenville, Goldsboro at Rocky Mount and Wilmington at Wilson. Last week results were as follows:

Eastern—Durham 30, Greenville 16; Rocky Mount 36, Goldsboro 20; Raleigh 24, Wilmington 19; Greenville 27, Raleigh 23; Durham 35, Rocky Mount 19; Fayetteville 34, Wilson 28; and Goldsboro 21, Wilmington 19; Western—Salisbury 21, Winston-Salem 18; Charlotte 21, Greensboro 15; Salisbury 35, Gastonia 15; Greensboro 26, Winston-Salem 16; Charlotte 36, High Point 28.

Play has narrowed down to the semi-finals in the class B divisions. The four Eastern District champions are Conway, First Beulaville, Second Apex, Third and Deep River Fourth. In the Western B. Division Pilot Mountain meets the winner of the Burlington - Leakesville (Tuesday game) for the first district crown. Richfield and Mocksville are leaders in the second district while Paw Creek already has won the Third District consolation.

Schedules for semi-final and final games in the Class B. Eastern and western groups will be made this week.

The North Carolina High School Athletic Association is sponsoring its second doubleheader Class A and B final games here on Tuesday March 1. The double bill affair met with the hearty approval of the fans last season when it was first inaugurated.

The Class A standings:

Eastern
Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Durham	9	0	1000
Greenville	9	2	.818
Fayetteville	7	2	.778
Rocky Mount	6	4	.600

TEE PARTIES ONLY ONE ITEM ON GOLF WIVES' CALENDAR

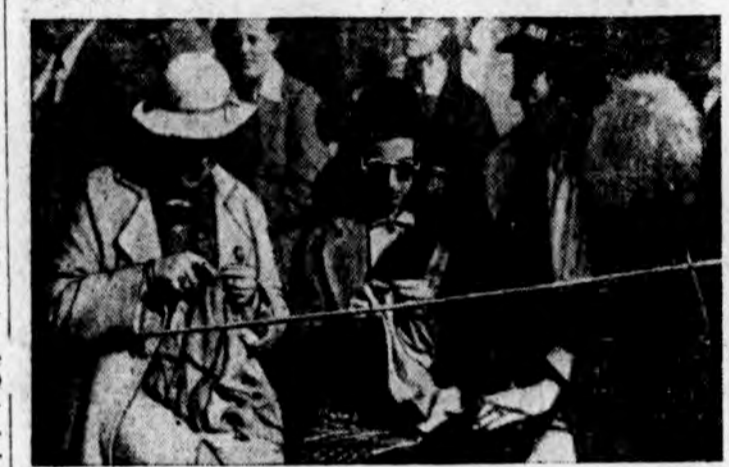

A GOLFER'S WIFE . . .

What a life! enviously sighs Miss Average Girl as she reads of the country-wide resort - to - resort tour of the professional golfers and their wives. But Mrs. Golf Professional will assure her it's an exacting life. Mrs. Jimmy Thompson clips a story for the scrapbook. That's only one of her jobs. Golfing wives are valet, pal and counselor.

WASHES SOCKS . . .

Mrs. Thompson, the former viola Dana, star of the silent films, packs and unpacks in the hurried moves. Like other wives, she personally hand-laundered her husband's golf socks. Let them go to a laundry? Never! They might shrink or a thread might pull and knot up to distract Jimmy's attention from that all important putter.

KNITS AND GOSSIPS . . .

Some golfers want their wives to tramp along in the gallery. Others find their wives' presence makes them more nervous, and these "golfing widows" sit around the club house, knitting and gossipping. They live under a strain, too, for the matter of a missed putt decides whether they'll get that new fur coat. Shown knitting are Mrs. Abe Espinosa (left), Mrs. Ben Hogan and Mrs. F. J. Old McSpaden.

BUT DOESN'T PLAY GOLF

However, its not all high tension. Here are Mrs. McSpaden (left), Mrs. Neil Christian, Mrs. Hogan and Mrs. Byron Nelson enjoying an outdoor bridge tea. There are dances, movies and dinner parties at night. And at resorts, where most winter tournaments are played, there is tennis and horseback riding for the girls who enjoy these sports. Few of the wives play golf and none are good at the game.

GAME SET FOR 7:30 O'CLOCK

First - Second Place Teams To Meet Second Time

The first and second place Conference teams of Durham and Greenville high schools will clash tomorrow night in the local high school auditorium at 7:30. Durham is still undefeated and the Phantoms will be attempting to avenge their defeat at the hands of Durham last Monday night.

The game played at Durham was very close until the final minutes of play when the Bulldogs got hot and scored 8 points quickly. They defeated the local quint 30-16. Many fans said that the game was the best played this year in the Class A conference.

Tomorrow night's game promises to be equally as thrilling. Coach Siove's boys have been working out hard for the game and are expected to show the visiting team a few things. If Greenville wins the Phantoms still have a chance at the Conference championship.

The Greenville team is now in fine shape and will be fighting tomorrow night for revenge. They are expected to make the game closer and more thrilling than the last meeting between the two teams.

Headway Made By Anti-Diversionists In North Carolina

State Wide Campaign Against Using Highway Funds for Other Purposes Gains Support

Raleigh, Feb. 13.—A statewide campaign against diversion of highway funds to other purposes appears to be making great headway in the state, and it now seems certain that anti-diversionists will be in position to wage an aggressive and probably successful, campaign in the 1939 General Assembly to submit a Constitutional amendment banning future diversion.

The recent blast of State Highway Chairman Frank L. Dunlap at what he said would be Federal diversion of the President's road fund cut proposal were followed; the strong campaign of the North Carolina State Grange against diversion; and the continued and aggressive campaign of the North Carolina Petroleum Industries Committee, headed by State Senator S. Gilmer Sprager, appear to be having effect on sentiment.

The anti-diversionists start with the advantage of their strong show

WFC-DAVIDSON CLASH TONIGHT

Two Hard Luck Fives Of State To Face Each Other

Wake Forest, Feb. 14.—When the basketball teams of Wake Forest and Davidson meet here tonight, the two hard luck teams of the Southern Conference will be brought together. The Cats, in particular, have lost some heart-breakers, losing to Carolina and the Citadel in overtime contests and to State by one point. Wake Forest, too, has had its share of heart-breaking defeats, having not been beaten by a greater margin than 9 points all year.

Against Davidson the Deacons will be up against the same problem they have faced all season. In Iverson and Cowan the Presbyterians will have a considerable height advantage, the lack of which Wake Forest has felt keenly all year.

These same two players, Iverson and Cowan, are the Davidson leaders, each having scored consistently all season. Teaming up with them will be the veterans Bill Kelswetter and Johnny Tice and J. D. Hicks. The game will mark the first appearance in Wake Forest of a Davidson club under the direction of Norman Sheppard, former Carolina star.

Wake Forest will rely on the same players that have carried the burden all year—Waller and Carter at the forwards, Owen at Center, Sweel and Captain Apple at guard positions, with David Fuller and Smith Young ready for early substitutions. The game will see Jim Waller in an effort to add to his already imposing lead in the conference scoring race while Davidson is certain to make a great try to halt the agile left-hander.

A game between the freshmen teams of Davidson and Wake Forest will start the evening's proceedings at 7 o'clock with the varsity contest to follow immediately thereafter.

ing in the 1937 legislature. Only once during the session was the state Administration majority in danger of losing its viselike grip on the House and that was when it sought to push through the revenue bill permitting almost unlimited diversion of highway funds.

On that occasion, Representative Con C. Johnston, of Iredell, as staunch an Administrationist as in the House and chairman of the committee on Roads, broke away completely and led a revolt which had the Administration forces groggy and on the ropes. Only a clever parliamentary maneuver which brought a recess saved the day. During the recess a compromise was reached permitting limited diversion and then only if only all other sources of revenue should fail to match appropriations.

With that as a starting point, opponents of diversion have worked continuously ever since adjournment of the 1937 session and it would not be a surprise should they be able to muster the two-third majority needed to submit a Constitutional amendment in 1939.

Received Premium Peanut Producers Up To $8 Per Ton

Inspection and Grading For First Time on Large Scale Show Farmers Paid Good Prices

Raleigh, Feb. 12.—Inspection and grading of peanuts "on a large scale" for the first time in the history of the state this year reveal that growers who did not dig their nuts prematurely received a price premium from $4 to $8 a ton, A. B. Harless, supervising inspector for the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, said today.

"It is unfortunate that a few farmers whose peanuts were included in the stabilization-diversion program of the Peanut Stabilization Cooperative did not allow their peanuts to become more mature before digging and therefore suffered a loss on their product," Harless said. "Had they waited until the peanuts were mature before digging and then thoroughly dried them, State Department of Agriculture inspectors would have been privileged to raise the grades from Classes 'B' and 'C' to 'A'."

Under the diversion program, Class "A" peanuts brought $65 a ton, Class "B" peanuts, $51 a ton, and Class "C" peanuts $37 a ton.

Harless said that "for the past several years there has been a growing tendency on the part of the commercial picker to get bags of peanuts through the machine, overlooking quality," adding that "peanuts showing excessive dirt or other foreign material are not only penalized under federal standards, but by the millers who also penalize the grower." Of the 4,400 tons (101,223 bags) of peanuts graded by the State Department of Agriculture inspectors prior to sale by the stabilization cooperative at Edenonton recently, 74 per cent was graded "Class A," 21 per cent "Class B" and five per cent "Class C."

IT'S ODD, But It's Science
By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (AP Science Editor)
Toronto (AP)—The pink color of the salmon is a chemical relative of the pink in a carrot.
But it belongs to the marine branch of the pinks and does not do the same health job for man as the pink of carrots, or the yellow of corn, another of the carotene pigments.
The nature of salmon pink is reported in the journal of the biological board of Canada by Basil E. Bailey of the Pacific fisheries experimental station. He extracted the pink coloring matter from salmon with alcohol.
Chemistry showed there were two red pigments, both apparently varieties of astacin, a carotene pigment common in marine animals.
In human diet the principal value of carotene pigments is to form vitamin A. The pigments are "precursors" of the vitamin. This means the body chemically transforms the pigments into the vitamin.
Bailey reports that neither marine astacin nor salmon pink appears transformable to any extent in mammalian bodies.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Feb. 14.—J. E. Johnson, Greenville's belligerent beautician, is back in the ring again, this time with a tremendous blast of eight typewritten pages at Mrs. Annie L. Williamson, chairman, and the other members of the North Carolina Board of Cosmetic Art Examiners.

Mr. Johnson, whom it seems the board charges with working an "unlicensed" operator, accuses the board by innuendo at least, of every form of malfeasance, misfeasance, and non-feasance in the calendar.

Unless a newcomer turns up from somewhere, the 1939 State Senate will be without a "Lady from Anywhere."

Mrs. Gertrude Dills McKee who was highly ornamental as well as useful in the 1937 session, writes your correspondent that a "Gentleman's Agreement" gives her district's membership to Haywood county this time; though why she should be bound by a pact between "Gentlemen" only, we don't know.

Anyhow, the only feminine member of the 1937 group will stay home in Sylva or come to the legislature as a visitor only.

Incidentally Mrs. Charles Hutchins, Yancey's bid for beauty and legislative fame, has not yet said whether she wants to come back or not.

So far, Mrs. Sally C. Parker of Hertford, is the only lady yet mentioned as a possible General Assembly candidate and it's not at all sure that she will run.

Last week's activities brought the state's total of drivers' license revocations to 15,346.

Warning against too much enthusiasm as the result of the color and variety of seed catalogue flowers is issued by J. G. Weaver, floriculturist at State College.

Before ordering seed that will produce the summer flower garden, one should keep several points in mind," he said. "Too many of the new novelties or so-called 'All-American' selections should be avoided until they have been tested locally."

Owners should not attempt to wire their own homes nor should they allow "jack-leg" electricians to do so, warns D. E. Jones, rural electrification specialist at State College in referring to a problem now common in rural North Carolina as a result of the rapidly expanding network of rural power lines.

"The safety factor is highly important," Jones said. "The difference in price between safe and unsafe wiring is too small to enter the picture."

Local organization of oil men have been perfected in 51 North Carolina counties, according to State Senator S. Gilmer Sparger, secretary of the North Carolina Petroleum Industries Committee.

WHAT IT MEANS: Government In Business

By MORGAN M. BEATTY AP Feature Service Writer Washington—The easiest way to make sense out of the latest act of Congress and of recent constitutional decisions of Federal courts is to ignore the political log for the moment and take a cash register view. What actually is happening is this.

The federal government is making strides into economic territory that has been reserved for a hundred years or more for private citizens and corporations.

No Gobbling This does not mean state socialism or communism is just around the corner. Nor does it imply that the federal government is going to gobble private business.

So far, the government has given to the public services which the Supreme Court says are "affected with the public interest" or it has gone into business fields that are not profitable for private companies.

Can't Be Bothered Now turn to the Supreme Court's January decision upholding the constitutional right of the federal government to lend, or give, money to cities for power plants, public buildings, sewer systems and the like.

Couple with that decision the lower court ruling that approved the Tennessee Valley Authority—one of the biggest real estate developments launched anywhere that decision opened the whole scene including the right of the government to produce and sell water power in the valley.

A Governmental Trend Nevertheless the enlarging powers of the government to go into business other than such fundamental activities as national defense, the courts, and law making, is a clear reflection on the trend of the times. This is the way the Hoover committee on social trends put it, back in 1933.

RALEIGH LAST WEEK

By HENRY AVERILL

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Feb. 14.—Nothing happened in Raleigh last week which in any degree modified the already prevailing opinion that this springs Senatorial primary will be completely overshadowed by Congressional, Judicial and local contests.

The visitor from the other planet wouldn't get any very straight and authentic version of what's going to happen in these balliwicks, however, as there seem to be just as many opinions about that as there are persons to express the opinions.

In the Eighth retirement of Lambeth hasn't been known long enough for there to be real crystallization of sentiment. So far one John Brasley, editor and publisher of the Moore County News is the only avowed candidate. Others will be popping hot and fast this week.

On the judicial fronts there has been plenty of action, with J. M. Sharp of Rockingham county putting up his $85 ante from the 21st District and Judge Hoyle Sink laying his coin on the line to show he will seek to succeed himself in the 12th. Hector Clark of Elizabethtown also chipped in to the pot as evidence of his serious intentions in the 9th, where Judge N. A. Sinclair, Q. K. Nimmocks, Jr., and Robert H. Dye, all of Fayetteville, have let it be known they want the robes.

With an even dozen Superior Court judges to be named this year it seems a sure thing that there will be scrambles in at least nine, and possibly more districts for the posts which pay $6,500 salary, with perquisites enough to make the post worth a minimum of $8,050 per annum.

It's more than three months until voting time, but already there are near a hundred announced candidates for the 1939 House of Representatives in the General Assembly.

By counties here are a few of them, with the incumbent who seek to succeed themselves marked with an (X).

White, reference being made to said map recorded in Map Book 1, at Page 79, in the Registry of Pitt County; the aforesaid lot or parcel of land fronts 84.87 feet on Pitt Street, beginning at the corner of lot owned by _____, running thence east 87 feet, thence south-east 21.8 feet, thence south, with the line of an alley to Pitt Street. Said parcel of land also includes a lot 25 feet by 242 feet located immediately behind the foregoing lot and adjacent to the same. The foregoing is the same property conveyed by N. O. Warren and others to Mrs. I. F. Lee, by deed dated December 1, 1919, recorded in Book L-13, at Page 29; and being the same property described in that certain Deed, recorded in the Registry of Pitt County, in Book B-19, at Page 182.

The foregoing sale will be made subject to any liens existing prior to the lien of the aforesaid Deed of Trust. This January 14, 1938. CALE K. BURGESS, Trustee. Burgess & Baker, Attorneys at Law, Raleigh, N. C. Jan. 18-11w-5wk.

New York Stock Market New York, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Stock market leaders pushed a little higher in languid trading today, but profit taking held gains to fractions in many instances. An early half-hearted rally in steels sent some shares upward by a point or more, but near the fourth hour they had slipped back from the day's highs. Frequently the ticker tape was motionless.

Moore Publisher Retires From Race

Carthage, Feb. 14.—(AP)—John Beasley, publisher of the Moore County News here, withdrew today from the race for representative in Congress from the Eighth District in favor of his uncle, Rowland Beasley of Monroe.

The Carthage publisher, who announced his candidacy last week after Representative Walter Lambeth had publicly said he would not seek re-election, said his Monroe kinsman, "would make a better Congressman anyhow."

At Monroe, Publisher Beasley of the Monroe Journal, declined to make any statement. In 1914 he ran for Congress but was defeated by Robert N. Page. He later served as State Commissioner of Public Welfare at Raleigh and for several years was superintendent of Union county schools.

Another Shake-Up Seen For Rumania

Bucharest, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Rumanian government was reported tonight on another swift reorganization providing for a crown council to outline broad national policies.

Dr. M. Cristea, Patriarch of the Rumanian Orthodox Church, and key man of the new government which evolved from last week's shakeup, would preside over this powerful crown council, according to unverified reports.

Ex-Premier George Tatarescu was favored to replace Cristea as Premier, in charge of administration details.

As no change from the present course of Dr. Cristea was foreseen, the spreading reports if impending reorganization caused no nervousness. Meanwhile Octavian Goga, the anti-Semitic former Premier, whose government was dissolved last week by King Carol to make way for the Cristea regime, departed with his wife for Switzerland for treatment of heart and circulatory ailments.

Peanut Legislation Urged By Arnold

Washington, Feb. 14.—(AP)—E. F. Arnold, secretary of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, today urged immediate enactment of peanut control legislation based on the principles of marketing quotas.

Arnold, here to confer with Assistant Farm Administrator J. B. Hutson, said North Carolina peanut growers feared over-production of that commodity when control programs for cotton and tobacco went into effect.

He declared the peanut diversion program of the Agriculture Department would not take care of the situation.

He said a conference of peanut growers would be held Friday in Raleigh, with representatives from Virginia and North Carolina in attendance.
