JAP VANGUARD CLOSING IN ON CHINA LIFE LINE

Reported Only Ten Miles North Lung-hai Railway

ATTEMPTING TO BOTTLE UP FOES

Southern Baptist Mission Damaged During Bombardment; No Americans Hurt

Shanghai, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The vanguard of a Japanese army fighting its way into Central China was reported today to be only 10 miles north of China's life-line railway, the Lung-hai.

The advance patrol was said to be on the North bank of the Yellow river opposite Kaifeng, Lung-hai railway point nearly 300 miles inland from China's eastern coast.

Japanese columns from North and South have been fighting to cut the Lung-hai and bottle up a Chinese army of 400,000 deployed along the Lung-hai corridor, which separates Japanese conquered portions of North China and the Yangtze river valley.

Capture of Kaifeng would choke off the railway and give Japanese a base for a drive southward 300 miles to Hankow, temporary Chinese capital.

The advance guard was part of a Japanese army of 60,000 men which pushed across the plains of North China to reach Fungku, just north of the Yellow river.

Fifty miles to the west another Japanese column threatened Sinsiang, 45 miles north of Chengchow, important junction of the Peiping-Hankow railway, with the Lung-hai.

A Japanese naval spokesman announced that naval planes had bombed Chenchow, damaging the railway station, Chinese military headquarters and a number of freight cars.

The Southern Baptist mission received word that one of its hospitals was damaged in the bombardment. No Americans or other foreigners were reported injured.

Interesting Data Found In Reports

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Feb. 15.—The composite liquor sale figures for the 8 months from May to December, 1937, inclusive, can certainly be made to adorn a tale, though it is questionable whether or not they point a moral.

Perhaps the most outstanding feature of these figures, which show that the ABC stores of 27 counties sold $4,446,541.36 worth of hard liquor, is the fact that on a per capita basis, Durham citizens spend more than five times as much per head as do the inhabitants of what Representative Wayland Spruill loves to call "Imperial Bertie."

Durhamites, if it could be assumed that the Durham stores sell only to Durham county citizens, spent no less than $10.36 each on hard liquor in the eight months period, while in Bertie, the average was only $1.85.

All of which, in fact, only goes to show that Durham sells most of its liquor to thirsty visitors from legally arid bailiwicks, to those who come to football games at Duke and to thrifty bootleggers from other counties who get their supplies at the nearest source.

When the liquor expenditures are figured on a per capita basis, it is obvious that those wet counties bordering several ostensibly "dry" units are the chief beneficiaries of the revenue from liquor. On a per capita basis the first county entirely surrounded by other wet units is Edgecombe, which stands tenth on the list. The last nine all touch one or more dry counties and all of them except Vance are adjacent to at least three.

The state liquor board's figures for the 8 months sales, when divided by the population of the respective counties give the following per capita amounts spent for liquor:
Durham $10.36; New Hanover $6.74; Wake $6.92; Moore $6.25; Dare $6.74; Lenoir $6.01; Vance $5.93; Pasquotank $5.63; Johnston $5.60; Edgecombe $5.25; Wilson $5.25; Pitt $5.14; Halifax $4.99; Cumberland $4.94; Martin $4.52; Franklin $3.65; Warren $3.38; Beaufort $3.27; Washington $3.23; Nash $3.13; Craven $3.11; Chowan $2.77; Onslow $2.42; Tyrrell $2.29; Greene $2.10; Bertie $1.85.

To Equip Own Shipyards to Construct War Craft

EFFORTS BALKED TO BUY VESSELS

Foreign Experts Say Soviets Will Have to Go Far to Match Great Powers

Moscow, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Soviet Russia has set herself the ambitious task of outstripping all other nations in the naval armaments race.

The announcement that bigger ships would be built as soon as shipyards were equipped to turn them out tended to confirm reports abroad that Russia had been balking in efforts to order battleships abroad, including the United States and was buying machinery to build her own battleships, these reports spoke of possible 35,000-ton craft.

Foreign experts agreed that Soviet Russia still had far to go to match the navies of the great powers. It was indicated that the U. S. S. R. was trying first to outstrip her potential enemies among the naval powers, Japan, Germany and Italy.

Russia's present naval strength, like her planned strength, is a closely guarded secret.

The Soviet naval needs are as complex as those of almost any other country. Its fleets must be scattered in the Pacific ocean, the Black sea, the Baltic and the Arctic with great distances separating them.

BEAL DECIDES TO FACE TERM

Action to Save North Carolina Time and Expense

Raleigh, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Attorney General A. F. Seawell issued a statement today saying "it is impossible to tell how much time and expense has been saved" by the decision of Fred Erwin Beal to return to the state from Massachusetts to begin a 17 to 20 year prison term without a protracted legal fight.

The statement said that George Roever, counsel for Beal, had expressed himself February 10 in Boston as "wishing to surrender Beal without the necessity of a prolonged hearing."

An extradition hearing had been set for that day, but Seawell and Assistant Attorney General Harry McMullan agreed to a continuance until tomorrow.

"We have never doubted that Beal would be returned by the Massachusetts authorities in due time," Seawell said, "but of course after the rendition warrant by the governor it might have been protracted through the courts for a very long period of time."

Many Prospects Yet To Be Seen

The prospect of winning $25 in cash in addition to the big regular cash awards offered by The Daily Reflector which lies before the candidates this week bringing home to them a realization of the good things which are to occur to them for their aid in helping to increase the circulation of this newspaper.

The $25 Cash Prize will be awarded the candidate turning in the largest amount of money for new subscriptions to The Daily Reflector during the week period from February 14 through February 19.

Candidates are cautioned against making the serious mistake of thinking that all the territory has been canvassed. There are hundreds and hundreds of people in the field covered by this newspaper, some who are already subscribers and some who are not, who are potential subscribers for one, two or three years and who have not been approached for a subscription.

Don't assume that the other fellow has beaten you to it. Leave no stone unturned, and you will be surprised at the increasing number

RELIEF FUNDS TO BE SOUGHT

Committee Requests House Approval Of $250,000,000

Washington, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The House Appropriations Committee asked the House today to approve immediately a $250,000,000 emergency relief appropriation for the next four months.

It suggested this action because of the "drastic change which has taken place in private employment" since last September and indication that the situation will not improve immediately.

The appropriation, if approved, would be used to keep at least 2,000,000 persons on relief rolls the next few months. Without it Works Progress Administration officials said, about 500,000 persons would have to be denied help and 200,000 now on the rolls would be laid off.

The committee said that WPA rosters increased from 1,464,000 in October to 2,000,000 today. The entire $250,000,000 would be earmarked for WPA.

Will Devote Term To Criminal Cases

The regular two weeks mixed term of Pitt Superior court scheduled to convene here Monday, March 21, will be devoted entirely to the trial of criminal cases. Clerk of Court J. Frank Harrington declared today.

It was stated in yesterday's Reflector that the term possibly would be devoted to civil cases as the docket at the conclusion of the last criminal court was regarded as being in good shape. This, however, was several weeks ago and since a large number of cases have been added both weeks will be consumed in hearing criminal cases "in order that the criminal docket may be cleared."

Judge Henry A. Grady, who this week is presiding over a term of civil court, will preside over the March term.

Another two weeks of criminal court is scheduled to be held during April.

Officials Prepare To Start At Once On Farm Program

Arrange To Begin Work Minute President Signs Bill

15,000 PERSONS WILL HAVE PART

Agriculture Secretary To Prescribe Limitations on Five Major Commodities

Washington, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Agriculture Department officials, jubilant over congressional approval of the crop control bill, arranged today to begin the new half billion dollar program the minute President Roosevelt signs it.

More than 15,000 persons, they said, will have a part in carrying out provisions of the measure, which the Senate passed late yesterday and sent to the White House.

These persons included more than 3,000 employees of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and the members of some 2,950 state and county committees.

Two Republican Senators, Capper of Kansas, and Frazier of North Dakota, joined with 53 Democrats and Senator Norris, Independent, of Nebraska, in approving the measure.

"This is the best farm bill that has ever been enacted by the Congress to deal with a great problem of American life," said Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky.

Republican Leader McNary of Oregon, however, commented "this bill does only one new thing for farmers. It puts new restrictions upon them and blankets them with compulsion. It will make every farmer a vassal of the Secretary of Agriculture."

The measure, written by a Senate-House committee from separate bills passed in December by the two chambers, establishes a system under which the Agriculture Secretary, working with farmer committees, may prescribe limitations on the quantity of wheat, corn, cotton, rice and tobacco grown or marketed.

BACK TO LAND PROGRAM IS APPLIED TO INDIANS

Dania, Fla.—(AP)Uncle Sam is making good progress teaching the Seminole Indians to clear and cultivate land, build fences, plant trees, drill wells, build roads and make a living from the soil.

Superintendent F. J. Scott announced 158,000 acres of land in four Florida counties is now in use in a Seminole rehabilitation and development program.

The result of the program, he said, is that the Indians are "clothed better, nourished better and have better prospects for a happy and prosperous future than have any similar group of Florida Seminoles during the past century."

It was stated in yesterday's Reflector that the term possibly would be devoted to civil cases as the docket at the conclusion of the last criminal court was regarded as being in good shape. This, however, was several weeks ago and since a large number of cases have been added both weeks will be consumed in hearing criminal cases "in order that the criminal docket may be cleared."

Report Reveals Banks' Resources

Abstract On Condition of North Carolina Institutions, Just Released By Commissioner Gurney P. Hood, Presents Mixed Picture; Resources of Commercial Banks Slumping From 1936 High.

Year	Commercial	Industrial
1928	$327,622,875.76	$19,080,494.40
1929	341,750,696.55	20,157,329.33
1930	262,623,287.66	20,764,852.02
1931	222,818,940.82	19,599,072.13
1932	212,156,020.75	14,726,937.89
1933	203,295,400.56	11,176,416.67
1934	263,092,471.83	11,396,896.59
1935	305,051,061.88	13,267,784.05
1936	344,008,321.40	14,695,461.96
1937	336,892,322.12	17,289,358.22

Raleigh, Feb. 15.—Annual abstract of the condition of all North Carolina state banks, just released by Commissioner of Banks Gurney P. Hood, presents a mixed picture, with total resources of the commercial banks slumping from their 1936 high, while industrial bank resources rose to the highest point they have touched since 1932.

As of December 31, 1937, state commercial banks showed total resources of $336,892,322.12, a decrease of $7,115,999.29 from the all-time high of $344,008,321.40 as of the end of 1936. Industrial banks, however, increased their resources to $17,289,358.22, a jump of $2,368,017.78 from the $14,695,461.96 as of December 31, 1936.

It was noticeable, too, from details of the abstract that the commercial banks increased their resources notably between June 30, 1937, and the close of the year.

In the middle of the 12-months period, for example, demand deposits had fallen to $104,000,000 (in round figures) from $125,000,000 as of December 31, 1936, but by December 31, 1937, deposits had climbed back to $121,500,000, approximately.

JURIST HOLDS SLOT DEVICES TO BE ILLEGAL

Judge Meekins Dissolves Order Protecting Machines

FIRM IS ALLOWED TEN DAYS GRACE

Company Given Until February 25 To Remove Machines from Eastern Carolina

Elizabeth City, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Judge I. M. Meekins today handed down a decision terming the "silent salesman" a "gambling machine" and dissolving his previous injunction against confiscating the machines in Pasquotank county.

The John Morris Confection Company is granted until February 25 as 10 days "of grace" to "remove all his machines from the Eastern District of North Carolina" without threat of confiscation by officers of the law.

Morris during these days of grace, however, "must not permit the machines (any one of them) to be operated between now and the 25th day of February, 1938, other than to sell candy mints exclusive of and apart from vending of tokens redeemable in merchandise or otherwise in connection with such sales."

Sum Allotted For Rural Power Line

The Rural Electrification Administration has approved another requisition from the funds available for the Pitt and Greene Electric Membership corporation project, this time for $43,843.

The money will be made available for use as soon as the Treasury department clears the voucher. The additional sum makes a total of more than $46,000 which has been advanced for the project. Most of the money in today's requisition is to be used for office expenses, salaries and supplies.

The Pitt and Greene Electric Membership corporation proposes to erect 262 miles of power lines to serve 292 customers in the two counties.

Mabel Beaman arranged the games. Mr. R. L. Coleman, superintendent of the Young People's Department, enjoyed the evening with the young people.

Christian Science Church.
"Soul" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science Churches and Societies on Sunday, February 13.

The golden text was from Psalms 25:9. "My soul shall be joyful in the Lord; it shall rejoice in his salvation."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Oh that I knew where I might find him! that I might come even to his seat! But he is in one mind, and who can turn him? and what his soul desireth, even that he doeth." (Job. 23: 13).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The proper use of the word soul can always be gained by substituting the word God, where the defile meaning is required. In other cases, use the scientific signification. As used in Christian Science, Soul is properly the synonym of Spirit, or God; but out of Science, soul is identical with sense, with material sensation."

RED OAK NEWS

The young people of Red Oak community celebrated Valentine night in a big way Monday night. The Sunshine Class had a Valentine party in the "Little Log Club House."

It was decorated in a very festive manner with red and white streamers overhead and with red hearts. Games and contests were enjoyed by the boys and girls. Miss Inez Allen and Mrs. Lennie Edwards led the group in singing some rounds and some new songs. Misses Bettie and Sarah May led in two games which were thoroughly enjoyed. Miss Virginia Lee Allen led two games also. Mrs. Travis Crawford conducted a contest, using the word "Valentine" which was very enjoyable.

Delicious refreshments consisting of Valentine hearts, red apples and home-made candy was served by the teacher, Mrs. B. L. Tyson, assisted by Mesdames Travis Crawford and Sam Pollard.

Mrs. Fennel Allen also entertained her class of boys, and Miss Mamie Ruth May's class of girls, at a Valentine party at her home Monday night. The Valentine idea was carried out in the decorations.

The boys and girls enjoyed several games and contests, after which they were invited into the dining room. Each one found sandwiches, lemonade and a favor at his place. One young fellow expressed the sentiments of all present when he remarked, "I had the best time I ever had in my life."

We are glad to know that Mrs. Mamie Gladson, Mrs. Jim Tucker, Mrs. Lula Valnright and Mrs. N. T. Stokes who have been sick for some time, are very much improved.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

SYNOPSIS: Savage Dyak tribes are on the wild loose at war with the Malays on Sumatung island. Christine Forrester, a beautiful young English girl, is behind the revolt, completing a plan of her dead father, James Clyde, my uncle, and master of the sun-running Lintang, is blamed by his client, Rajah Mantusen, and imprisoned. Although he escapes, Clyde quizzically refuses to suit from Balingong boy while Christine remains. (I am Paul Thorne.)

Chapter 24 Two Stubborn People

CHRISTINE looked at Clyde a long time. "I like that—in a way," she said. "We are two very stubborn people, you and I."

"And you wish I would go away," Clyde said with a shadow of a grin. "Well, I wish I could. I don't see how things can go on much longer, or get much worse. Mr. Thorne has probably already explained to you what I expect from the Malays. It just adds on to what I already expected, from the Dyaks. Now we'll probably get them both. I don't know why they haven't struck already."

"I know why," Christine said levelly. "Didn't Mr. Thorne tell you anything about—about what my father has done here?"

"He said something about—some Dyak gun clubs of some sort."

"Of course you don't believe any of it."

My uncle stirred restively, and his eyes cast up and down the shoreline. "I didn't at first," he admitted. "It isn't an easy kind of story to believe. But I'm beginning to believe it now. Part of it, at least."

"Polite of you," Christine murmured. He shook his head. "Mantusen knows something that I don't. If he didn't know any more than I know, he would have come boiling down that river before now. Granted that he would rather work by treachery where he can, this is no time for it. His chances of dealing with me are so slim they're ridiculous, and he ought to know it. But apparently Mantusen has decided that the river can't be forced. Something has happened to that jungle. Your father's rifles may or may not be holding the river, but it begins to look to me as if Mantusen believes that they are."

"I thought Christine Forrester angered a little then, for she said, 'I'm flattered. It seems that I am not to be believed until I am corroborated by a Malay!'"

Clyde smiled a little at that, but he didn't answer it. There was a long silence between them then.

"What has Mantusen offered?" Christine asked at last.

"Well—in a sense it's a kind of extension of a deal I had with him before," Clyde faltered, as if he were trying to translate something pretty difficult out of some native tongue. "You see, my original deal with Mantusen called for a five year trade monopoly in the Siderong. It was a good proposition. It was good for us both. He went on to explain what sort of thing he had expected of it, in a general way."

"In effect, he wants to revive that deal; offering better terms if I will let up on him now, but still trying to save something for himself."

"Let up on him? How can you let up on him?"

This Is Surrender?
"YOU'RE forgetting something. None of the natives are able to believe that there is a split between these two white ships. Your Dyaks probably think that I'm working for you. Mantusen thinks you're working for me, and your father too. That's what got me into trouble in the first place."

"But if you already have an alliance with Mantusen, why does he suppose you would attack him?"

"He always knew I distrusted him. Probably he admired me for distrusting him. Certainly he knew best that I had good cause."

"He thinks you try to make sure of your monopolies by taking Balingong—with Dyaks?"

"Well, it's reasonable. Suppose I really had armed the Dyaks, simply to hold them over Mantusen as a threat. White traders have always tried to keep their balance by holding certain natives hostile to certain others."

MODES of the MOMENT

Personals
Misses Emma and Ella Taft have returned from a visit to Georgetown, S. C.

Notices
Odd Fellows meet tonight. The boys were out in swam Monday night and kicked up quite a noise.

The Fireman
Hope Fire Company held its monthly meeting Monday night in the new firemen's building with almost a full attendance of the members. One new member was welcomed.

Slight Fire
About half past one o'clock this afternoon a message was telephoned down town that the foundry building on Dickinson avenue was on fire. The fire department started to the scene by information that the fire was out and they returned back to the engine house. Only slight damage was done. It is fortunate that the fire was easily put out, for with the high wind prevailing it would have been disastrous had it once got good headway.

at the right of the man of the highest rank.

From then on, it is the best to seat the guests in the fashion which will be most congenial to everybody, although the tendency is to place the least important guests near the center.

At a large public banquet, important guests are, of course, placed by S. O. Worthington, G. H. Pittman at the center table. The master of ceremonies is in the center, the first guest at his right, the second at his left. His wife may be at the right of the first guest, with the first guest's wife on the left of the second guest.

The fact that a guest is at the extreme end of the table does not necessarily mean, however, that he or she is lowest in rank. It may mean he's a close friend of the person next to him—or that he's a good conversationalist.

Husbands And Wives
When there is no host, as in the case of a dinner given by a widow, the hostess sits at the head of the table. The man of highest rank or honor is at her right and the second at her left. The woman of honor may be at the right of the man of honor—or opposite the hostess.

Husbands and wives may sit opposite each other—as at a dinner for four, where the woman guest sits at the right of the host, the hostess sits opposite her husband and the man guest is at her right.

At a dinner for four where one of the couples is unmarried, however, the women may be seated opposite each other, leaving the wife at her husband's right and the woman guest at the right of her companion.

GERMAN ENVOY TO VISIT U.N.C.

Ambassador Dieckhoff To Speak Tomorrow Night

Chapel Hill, Feb. 15.—Hans Dieckhoff, German Ambassador to the United States, who will speak at the University of North Carolina Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall, has been envoy from Germany since May, 1937. Under the auspices of the Carolina Political Union, non-partisan student organization, he will speak on the aims of Germany's foreign policy. The public is invited.

Last March 3, the first reports filtered out of Berlin that Dieckhoff had definitely been selected to take over the position recently vacated by Hans Luther. It has never officially been explained why Dr. Luther was replaced. However, the embassy in Washington was most embarrassingly picketed on several occasions, and there were rumors that Dr. Luther had finally tired of playing the goat for anti-Nazi demonstrators.

Ambassador Dieckhoff was counselor of the Embassy in Washington from 1922 to 1927 during which time he gained an excellent command of the English language.

In 1920 he was put in charge of the Anglo-Saxon department in the Foreign Office in Berlin, and in 1925 he became head of the political department. He had handled the Under-Secretary of State's duties for a year when he was appointed as his country's chief representative to the United States last spring.

Following his address the Ambassador will be entertained at an informal reception in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

RELIEF PROBLEM IS FOUGHT WITH HEALTH PROGRAM
Baton Rouge, La. (AP)—Louisiana is digging into the roots of the relief problem with a $1,000,000 health program.

The theory is that a man, given back his health, may find himself a job and cease being a public burden. Another idea is that his children will have better chances of growing into useful, self-supporting citizens if their health is guarded.

Accordingly, the state already is building one hospital for relief clients and is considering two others in addition to a $12,000,000 charity hospital being constructed in New Orleans from charity funds and still another charity hospital now in operation.

W. A. Hudson and W. I. Bisette, committee.

The present controversy over Baton is a result of a contract made last fall by the County Commissioners in which the National Bureau of Investigation was employed to investigate crime in this county.

Following a large number of raids and arrests by the investigators, a mass meeting of citizens on November 17 commended the ABC board and the commissioners for their action in having employed the investigators and urged a continuation of the campaign against vice in this county.

In the Pit county Grand Jury in its regular December session likewise took notice of the campaign and in its report commended the two boards for their action.

Eight Fights On Tap For Teachers' College Boxers

TO MEET A. C. C. ON WEDNESDAY

Home Schedule to Be Opened Here Tomorrow Night

The E. C. T. C. boxing team opens its home schedule against the Atlantic Christian College team Wednesday night in what promises to be a thriller. Eight fights will be fought beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

In the 115-pound division Billy Daniels meets Boles in a fight that will bring down the house as both boys are dead game and do not mind mixing leather for all it is worth.

Vernon Tyson will meet Roebuck in a scrap that will rival a professional match for action and enthusiastic fighting. Tyson won a decision over the A. C. C. entry in the previous meet and should come through in fine shape again. Ever Perkins will meet Lewis, former Golden Gloves champion in the 135 pound division in a match that will have much action. Perkins is out to redeem his previous loss to Lewis and will give the fans plenty to talk about. Perkins is a Pitt county boy and has many followers in this section.

In the 145-pound class Johnson will fight George D'Jovanlidis, E. C. T. C. scrapper in a grudge bout that will supply a natural. Neither boy makes any effort to box defensively and both can really take the punching. They simply stay in there and fight. Joe Williams, probably the best boxer on the E. C. T. C. squad will fight Holliday of A. C. C. in the 155 pound division. Williams won a clean-cut victory over McGill of Duke in the Duke Frosh match and has lost none of his pep and strength in cutting his weight down to the 155-pound level.

Ken Ournell, former football tackle and one of the toughest lads ever to wear a Pirate suit, will meet Bourbon in the 175 pound division. David Breece will supply the action in the 145-pound class when he meets Couzens in the highlight of the evening as both are former Raleigh High School boxers and both are experienced scrappers. Breece is fast, shifty and aggressive and the odds are that his man will not last three rounds.

Jack Daniels' opponent is not known in the 123-pound division but it is a clinch that the former Wilmington scrapper will really turn on the steam in his home bout. Carl Lansley, Pitt county's second entry in the 155-pound class, will scrap but his opponent has not been announced. Lansley really turned on the heat in the Duke Frosh event and was given an ovation by the fans for his gameness, despite losing a close decision to Marley of Duke.

IT'S ODD, But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, AP Science Editor

Washington—Dr. N. H. Heck, U. S. coast and geodetic survey, wants this country to go extensive hunting in the Rocky mountains.

The hunt he says, would save property and lives. The Rockies are still growing. But says Heck, there is only one seismograph per 100,000 square miles in the mountains, not enough to discover the sources of the shakes.

With enough seismographs, geologists could determine the centers where slipping rocks of the growing mountains set up the tremors. Next they could determine the nature of the geological formations, surface and buried about these centers.

With that information, they could begin to make blue prints to save lives. They could figure the vibration periods of the quake regions. The period is the rate of vibration. In some soils it is about three a second, in others one each half-second or one a second.

Putting up buildings that vibrate at a different rate he explains is a matter of life and death. The structure whose natural vibration period happens to be the same as that of the quake, is very likely to collapse.

Forest Fires Smaller In 1937 Than in Years

The average size of each forest fire in acres in 1937 was 44 acres the smallest average recorded for five years, according to the report of Assistant State Forester W. C. McCormick, in charge of forest fire control work, made to the Board of Conservation and Development.

The size of the average forest fire in 1933 was 69 acres; in 1934 it was 89 acres; in 1935 it was 48 acres, the nearest approach to the 1937 record; in 1936 the size of the average forest fire increased to 67 acres.

There were 3,404 forest fires in 1937 which burned over 150,552 acres as compared with 3,865 fires in 1936 although fire conditions were very similar during the two years and the fire fighting personnel slightly smaller in 1937 than in 1936, McCormick pointed out.

MEET DURHAM HIGH TEAM HERE TONIGHT

The Greenville basketball squad will be out tonight to avenge a previous defeat suffered at the hands of Durham High when they meet in the high school gymnasium at 7:30 o'clock. Front row, reading left to right: Parrish, Sikas, Simpson, Lautares, Hodges; back row: Nobles, Gaylord, Skinner, Hellen and Tucker.

Phantoms To Meet Durham At 7:30 O'Clock Tonight

Locals Out to Avenge Defeat Suffered in Bull City

The Green Phantoms of Greenville High will be out to avenge their defeat last week when they met the Durham High Bulldogs in the high school auditorium tonight at 7:30.

The Bulldogs are undefeated this season and have racked up nine Conference victories. They are practically "in" as the champions and the locals would like nothing better than to knock them off.

Coach Paul Sykes will bring one of the best high school basketball teams ever to play on the local court. They are all tall and rangy and crack shots. Followers of the Bulldogs rate them the best team to represent the Durham school in a long time.

The Phantoms have piled up a fine record this season also. They have won 11 games and lost two. Durham and Rocky Mount being the only teams who have defeated the locals. Coach Stowe has done a fine job in his first season as coach and has built up a crack quint out of a group of small boys. He has been drilling his charges hard this week ironing out the defects in the Phantoms' game last week.

Coach Sykes will probably start Moore and Puckett, forwards; Gantt, center; Whitfield and Loftis guards. The Phantom lineup will be Lautares and Sikas, forwards; Simpson, center; Parrish and Hodges, guards.

REAR ADMIRAL GRAYSON DIES

The retired naval officer had been in poor health almost from the time his close friends, President Roosevelt, persuaded him to accept one of the world's foremost humanitarian jobs in 1935.

He contracted a cold during a southern visit last month and developed a bronchial infection after he arrived here.

Red Cross executives and high government officials joined in tribute to the character and ability of the Virginia-born admiral, who first won national prominence as personal physician to Woodrow Wilson.

THEIR CLAIMS IN STORK DERBY ARE ACCEPTED

These three Canadian mothers boomed all over to show their pleasure over a court ruling accepting their claims to shares of the $500, 000 stork derby prize. Each mother proved to the court's satisfaction that she had borne nine children during the ten-year period from October 31, 1926. Left to right: Mrs. Annie Smith, Mrs. Lucy Timlek and Mrs. Kathleen Nagle. A fourth mother, whose claim was accepted, Mrs. Isabel Maclean, did not come to court. The mothers are shown in Toronto.

Maniac At Large

Paul Harrison (above), described by authorities as a "dangerous hammer killer", escaped from the Illinois Security hospital at Chester and remained at large despite a far-flung search. Officers said he was adjudged insane after killing four persons in Chicago.

Nearly 10,000 Visit Fort Macon In Year

Almost 10,000 people signed the visitors' book in Old Fort Macon during 1937, and more than that number visited the park, since not all those who drive into the area go into the Fort proper, according to T. W. Morse, Supervisor of State Parks in the forestry division of the Department of Conservation and Development.

The actual number who signed the visitors' book in the fort was 9,283 for the 12 months period—in spite of the fact that the road leading from Atlantic Beach to the park was closed during most of the summer while it was being paved. This road has now been completely repaved for the roadside grading and planting. A much larger attendance is expected during 1938.

State Officers Travel 4,000,000 Miles During Year

Raleigh, Feb. 15.—North Carolina's highway patrolmen traveled more than 4,000,000 miles on the state's highways last year, and in January of this year the 127 patrolmen averaged nearly 4,000 miles apiece, according to reports of Major Arthur Fulk, head of the patrol.

Total mileage traveled in 1937 was 4,209,237, while for the first month of 1938 it reached 446,042 a rate which if continued will give more than 5,300,000 miles for the current year—an indication that recent instructions to patrolmen to do more patrolling is being carried out scrupulously.

Among their other activities the patrolmen last year investigated 2,464 accidents in which 332 persons were killed and 1,171 were injured. In January they investigated 150 accidents which caused death of 18 and injury of 102 persons.

On the law enforcement side the patrol was accountable for 24,000 convictions in 1937, while only 822 net guilty verdicts were returned in cases brought by its members. The offenders, if rolled into one, would not live to serve out the collective sentences even if he were Methuselah, as total sentences aggregated 921 years 9 months and 15 days.

January, 1938, arrests totalled 927, with 18,0 convictions and 57 acquittals. Sentences totalled 54 years 1 month and 0 days.

The visitors' book in the fort was 9,283 for the 12 months period—in spite of the fact that the road leading from Atlantic Beach to the park was closed during most of the summer while it was being paved. This road has now been completely repaved for the roadside grading and planting. A much larger attendance is expected during 1938.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Leading shares drifted listlessly to the minus side in today's stock market after profit realization halted an early rally.

Buying support, present at the opening dealings, was withdrawn near the fourth hour after gains of fractions to a point or more had been registered. Volume dwindled after the first spurt of activity.

Steels led the swings, both up and down. Coppers, aircraft, and heavy infantry shares failed to hold advantages gained at the opening. A break in grain prices in Chicago pushed farm implement issues lower. Commodities were mixed. Foreign markets were irregular, with American security issues tending a little higher. Bonds improved a trifle. Led by U. S. Government obligations.

New York Cotton

New York, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened eight to 11 points higher on passage of the farm bill, and the government's gold policy.

The market shortly after the first half hour was holding net gains of five to nine points, with May selling at 8.95.

Toward midday May had recovered from 8.91 to 8.96, leaving quotations generally four to 10 points net higher.

Many Carolinians Join Hospitality Movement In N. C.

Raleigh, Feb. 15.—A total of 1,097 North Carolinians are now officially engaged in the task of extending hospitality to visitors from other states.

This group of nearly 1,100 persons are members of 82 county committees, according to T. E. Pickard, executive secretary of the Governor's Hospitality Committee. Committees will soon be organized and will be functioning in all counties of the state, Mr. Pickard believes.

Each of these committees is now busy at work formulating a program designed to secure greater cooperation of the counties in the state advertising program and to impress upon the people the value of courtesy and friendliness in their contacts with visitors.

Some of the most active county Hospitality Committees, at present, are those in Mecklenburg, New Hanover, Anson, Rockingham, Chowan, Greene, Surry, Hyde, Cleveland, Caldwell, Buncombe and Forsyth, according to Mr. Pickard.

The Caldwell county committee, of which Ed F. Allen is chairman, is carrying on an educational campaign through the newspapers and the civic clubs are erecting attractive signs on all the main highways leading into the county, welcoming visitors and is publicizing the beautiful mimosa trees which abound there.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Feb. 15—In his regular letter to weekly newspapers of the state, Senator Robert R. Reynolds says that the crop control bill of this session gives the farmer "some promise of assistance where none prevailed before."

No one, he remarks, seriously contends that the new bill is all that is desired in the way of helpful legislation for agriculture, but there is general agreement that it does represent some gains.

He insists, however, that what is really needed to round out the agricultural program are changes in marketing conditions and tariff protection for farm commodities.

State Highway Patrolmen extend about as many courtesies on the road as they issue citations to appear in court, according to the reports of Major Arthur Fulk, patrol commander.

In 1937, for example, the patrolmen extended 21,321 courtesies while citing 24,722 to court for violations of one sort or another. In the first month of 1938 they commanded 1,933 citizens to appear before a judicial officer, while they extended 1,682 courtesies.

Major Fulk has instructed his command to make themselves unofficial members or perhaps mem-

Members of the 1937 North Carolina House are virtually unanimous in declaring that their body will lose one of its most valuable members by reason of the fact that J.

come back to Raleigh in 1939. He was universally regarded as one of the really influential members of the 1935 and 1937 legislatures.

If "Our Bob" Reynolds and is grave danger that North Carolina votes will forget all about the fact that they are candidates for the

Washington Daybook
By Preston Grosser

WASHINGTON—Without public announcement, Senator Capper of Kansas evidently has given up hope of putting across his plan for uniform marriage and divorce laws this session.

The versatile Kansan, who knows more than one way of intriguing midwest sentiment, offered a constitutional amendment and a bill designed to abolish gin marriages, six-weeks divorces and child weddings in one swift blow.

Many things have arisen to claim his attention, so that now it seems unlikely even hearings will be held on his legislation. Capper's principal interest continues to be agricultural and he has worked long and painstakingly in the farm bill in committee, in the Senate and in Conference.

Also he has become a commander of the troops battling for the vote for Washington's voteless 500,000 residents, and with all the local newspapers whooping it up for the campaign he is busy no end.

South Again
But the thing which perhaps was most effective in scuttling Capper's marital legislation was the anti-lunching filibuster. Not only was much time consumed which might have been given over to such issues as the marriage bill, but the southern senators picked out the marriage bill for incidental potshots as they worried through the weeks. Senator Ellender pictured it as likely to weaken southern marriage laws so there would be a wholesale commingling of the white and negro races.

Senator Capper and the women's groups supporting his campaign never have contended it would be possible to enact uniform federal marriage and divorce laws without a constitutional amendment, but a bill has always been introduced right along with the amendment ever since the drive was inaugurated about 1923.

The bill contains many provisions which would irritate patrons of free the marriage must go right on. No longer would marrying New Yorkers be able to speed into Connecticut's Greenwich, for the bill provides a two-weeks waiting period after the license is issued. The license must be obtained in the county the woman lives in, the bill provides, but once the license is obtained a couple can be married in any county in the country. But they must decide on the county in advance so it can be written on the license.

Capper Still Hopeful
Parents must give consent for boys of 18 or girls of 16 to marry, the bill provides, and none may marry younger. Exceptions are provided where babies are involved.

For violations there is a penalty upon the couple, the license clerk or the person, ranging from $100 to $500. Moreover, the license must list the names of all previous mates of either party and how the marriage was ended.

As grounds for divorce, the bill sets up cruelty, abandonment, insanity, conviction of an infamous crime or adultery of one of the parties. If both are guilty of adultery, the marriage must go right on. No divorce trial may be held within two months of the filing of the suit, and a year must elapse before the parties may remarry.

The bill is designed to make divorces or marriages in one state legal in all others, regardless of what supplementary local laws there are, and that is part of what annoyed the southerners, most of whose states outlaw white-Negro marriages regardless of where they are performed.

Senator Capper expects that the activities of several women's clubs was the increase in savings bank deposits while almost every other form of commercial bank asset was falling off slightly, at least, from the previous year's figures. Mr. Hood said he was unable to give any explanation for this fact unless, perhaps, it was because people with small means were afraid to invest their savings in active ways and preferred to put them in the banks, where they are covered by Federal deposit insurance on accounts up to $5,000.

MOTOR ACCIDENTS LINKED TO BUSINESS DECLINE

Sacramento, Calif.—(AP)—Traffic accidents as a cause of business depression are receiving the attention of the California Department of Motor Vehicles. In California alone, such accidents cause losses of more than $100,000,000 a year, according to Victor W. Killick, chief of the department's bureau of statistics. Killick raises the question as to whether road hazards may not be curbing the sale and use of automobiles.

"If accidents are not curbed promptly," he said "this state and the nation are going to be confronted with a serious business crisis directly resulting from those accidents."

DR. REBARKER CLUB SPEAKER

Fellowship Obtained Only When Common Cause Faced

"One can have fellowship only when one is engaged in a common cause with another" declared Herbert ReBarker last night as he made a special application of the idea to "Ex-rotarians" and Rotarians at the regular weekly meeting of the Greenville Rotary Club.

Dr. ReBarker urged that his listeners revamp the old adage of "Work when you work, and play when you play" into "Play at your work and work at your play."

As entertainment Miss Boyce and Miss Cattle of E. C. T. C. sang two duets accompanied by Mr. Hutchinson at the piano. They sang in harmony with fresh young voices securing the rapt attention of the Rotarians.

John Lewis of the Farmville Rotary Club appeared to thank the Greenville Club for their wholehearted support of Irvin Morgan's candidacy for District Governor.

Richard Joyner of Farmville was a visiting Rotarian at last night's meeting. Guests of the club were Burney Warren, Withers Harvey and John Clark. On being presented to the club Burney took the occasion to refer to the beauty of face and voice of some of the "old timer" Rotarians; that is if he meant face when he said "mug."

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—It now seems patent that "Tobacco Road" is a Frankenstein bent on destroying its progenitors. This is an unlovely but exciting drama which is saved from the level of the cesspool by a glittering vein of buffoonery, and it has now entered into its fifth year on Broadway.

"Tobacco Road" was written first as a novel by Erskine Caldwell, who claims it to be typical of certain rural sections in the Georgia back-country. It relates the unsavory activities of a deprived Georgia family and is about as typical of "Georgia as the lunatic asylum at King's Park is of the state of New York.

After the novel came out Jack Kirkland dramatized it for the Broadway stage and, beating the odds of indifferent reviews, got it away in true dark horse fashion until it became a show-town legend.

In the original cast was Sam Byrd, who achieved great success in the character of Dude Lester, the half-wit son. Mr. Byrd made a name for himself and a lot of money, and he was deeply impressed with what appeared to be Broadway appetite for intimate details of rural family life in the Deep South.

With this in mind, and most of us probably would have obeyed the same impulse, Mr. Byrd left the cast of "Tobacco Road" and became a producer in his own right. He chose an unappetizing thing called "White Man," which dealt with a Negro who carried in his veins a strain of white blood. It was a tragic, unlovely drama and it was summarily dealt with by the critics.

Meanwhile, Mr. Kirkland, still drawing royalties from "Tobacco Road," tried his hand a second time with a novel by John Steinbeck. This was "Tortilla Flat," which was described by the critics as ruthlessly deprived and replete with uncalculated filth.

Regardless of whether the cotton was grown under the most satisfactory moisture and soil conditions or on the western fringe of the Cotton Belt under drought conditions, none of the 16 varieties varied more than 1/4 inch. In many instances, the variation was as little as 1-16 inch.

Unperturbed by these tokens of a changing public opinion and by the failure of his first venture, Mr. Byrd went back to the original form of his affluence and chose another novel by Mr. Erskine Caldwell, which similarly was concerned with low, deprived characters out of the rural South.

STATE GROWS HIGHER STAPLE

Losses From Inferior Cotton Becoming Smaller

Raleigh, Feb. 15—Losses caused by the production of cotton with a staple of less than 1/4 inch are becoming smaller each year in North Carolina to Paul Kime, agronomist of the State College Experiment Station.

In some states, the grade and staple report of the U. S. Department of Agriculture to December 1 indicated the amount of this short lint as high as 0.6 per cent of the crop.

The report shows that up to that time, North Carolina farmers had ginned 9,100 bales of cotton un-tenderable because of short staple. This represented only 1.3 per cent of the total crop for this State ginned to that date.

South Carolina was the only state in the Cotton Belt which grew less of the short lint than did North Carolina. The percentage there was 3.

Oklahoma ran up the highest percentage, the figure in that state being 0.6, or about one out of every five bales. Tennessee was second with a percentage of 1.8, and Alabama ranked third with 17.2 per cent.

A three-year study with 16 cotton varieties, conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with experiment stations in 10 states, indicated that the selection of a variety is the most important single factor in determining such cotton qualities as staple length and fineness, and to a certain extent the strength of the fiber.

Regardless of whether the cotton was grown under the most satisfactory moisture and soil conditions or on the western fringe of the Cotton Belt under drought conditions, none of the 16 varieties varied more than 1/4 inch. In many instances, the variation was as little as 1-16 inch.

Unperturbed by these tokens of a changing public opinion and by the failure of his first venture, Mr. Byrd went back to the original form of his affluence and chose another novel by Mr. Erskine Caldwell, which similarly was concerned with low, deprived characters out of the rural South.

Movie Of The Month: 'In Old Chicago'

Reviewer Picks

By ROBBIN COONS (AP Feature Service Writer) HOLLYWOOD — Three segments of American history dominated the preview screen in January. The cameras looked at Old Chicago, Old Louisiana, and Old California.

Hollywood Repeats History Chicago Burns Before Your Very Eyes

"In Old Chicago" is easily the Movie of the Month, with DeMille's "The Buccaneer"—a romanticized LaFitte the Pirate—pressing it closest even though LaFitte had no cow to kick a lantern.

For its 25 minutes of spectacular fireworks, I found "In Old Chicago" worth a second inspection, and would not mind a third. The only thing that could top this screened catastrophe for realism, terror and scope would be a filmed version of the end of the world—which some producer doubtless will undertake in the future, goaded by the success of Zanuck's blaze.

Aside from the fire, "In Old Chicago" offers a well-knit yarn of an interesting setting; the fictional O'Learys in a muddy, lusty, gaudy, hell-bent for election typically American town of the 1870's.

The picture catches the bustle and excitement and color of a big town a-growing, yet never forgets to keep the camera focused on its principals—as human beings—

For all the turmoil and restlessness of which they are a part. It flits from paths to comedy and back again with an agility that has never failed to please audiences, and yet manages to remain a smoothly flowing tale. Not a great story in the strict sense, it is still something more than an excuse to sound the historic fire alarm.

Miss Brady Acts The performances of Alice Brady and Alice Fay will surprise those who have forgotten that Miss Brady is an actress, those who never expected Miss Fay to become one. Tyrone Power and Don Ameche, Brian Donlevy, Tom Brown and Andy Devine deliver as expected—youth Power succeeds remarkably well in a character that must be pleasant while it is despicable. Shining in a large supporting cast is Madame Sultewan, playing Miss Fay's maid, Henry King, who directed, wisely let the story take its course, refrained from "touches," although that opening scene has a "feeling" to set it apart from many other introductions.

The California entry in the month's historical spree is "Gold Is Where You Find It." Photographed beautifully in color, it has its points, but not enough to lift it from routine movie lines. The box-office, however, should tell a different story.

Among the musicals, Goldwyn's

"Follies"—in color—ranks pre-eminent, the "touch" having proved lavish and fruitful. Sonja Henie was back, however, with "Happy Landings" and "Everybody Sing," a "nutty family" yarn, produced a novelty hit.

Robert Taylor also made news this month—"A Yank at Oxford" gave him his most virile role, in a pleasing, substantial piece of box office entertainment.

Also recommended: "Swing Your Lady" (terrible but funny), and "Paradise For Three" (pleasant and funny).

CHECK-UP Last Month's Best — "Snow White And The Seven Dwarfs" (RKO), a Walt Disney production.

This Month's Runner-Up—"The Buccaneer" (Paramount) with Fredric March, Francisca Gaal, directed by Cecil B. DeMille.

Best Musical — "The Goldwyn Follies" (United Artists) with Andrea Leeds, Adolphe Menjou, Helen Jepson, the Ritz Bros., etc., directed by George Marshall.

Star of The Month—Alice Brady as Mrs. O'Leary in "In Old Chicago."

Character of The Month—Akim Tamiroff in "The Buccaneer."

Landscape Artist

John Harris

Latest addition to the staff of the State College Agricultural Extension Service is John Harris as landscape specialist.

Formerly employed by the City of Greensboro as park superintendent, Harris, a graduate of the college and a native of Chatham County, returns to State College to assist in the program of more attractive farm homes. Most of his work will be conducted through home demonstration clubs and in cooperation with the county home agents.

The demand for home beautification work became so large in North Carolina that it was deemed advisable to hire a full-time specialist, Dan I. O. Schaub, extension director, declared.

Through a program of exterior improvements and the unification of farm units, it is hoped that farm homes will be made more efficient as well as more beautiful.

The 24-year old specialist was graduated from State College in 1937, receiving a B. S. degree in landscape architecture.

WHAT M.C. COBEN SAID TO HAROLD SNEAD, CHIEF PILOT OF TWA

"Do you find Camels really different from other cigarettes?"

Harold Snead gives his own answer—"Camels agree with me!" he says. And millions of other smokers agree with Pilot Snead, making Camels the largest-selling cigarette in America.

"There's a big difference, sir. I can tell the difference in the way Camels hit the spot and agree with me! I know most American fliers who have several thousand hours in the air. The majority are steady smokers and prefer Camels. Years of experience have taught them that Camel is a really different cigarette!"

"Some people say all cigarettes are alike, Mr. Snead... Can Camels really be so different?"

ON HIS SECOND MILLION MILES! Snead knows what he's talking about when he says: "In this line of work, healthy nerves are at a premium. I smoke—all I want. Camels don't get on my nerves."

A FEW of the instruments Snead has to watch. After a trip, Hal likes a Camel. "When I feel tired, I smoke a Camel the first chance I get," he says. "Yes, I get a 'lift' with a Camel."
