JAPS STALLED ON ONE FRONT, TURN TO WEST

Chinese Forces Struggling to Halt Japanese Drive

JAPANESE SEAL U. S. WAREHOUSE

Protest Made by Consul on Nipponese Assumption of Power in Settlement

Shanghai, Feb. 26.—(AP)—A major battle developed today at Lingshih in Shansi province, where 100,000 Chinese troops were struggling to halt a sweeping Japanese offensive along the extreme Western flank of the Central China war front.

The Japanese, stalled in their Central China campaign by stubborn Chinese resistance along the Yellow river, shifted their attack wide to the West in a flanking maneuver designed to effect a crossing somewhere near the great bend of the Yellow river.

Chinese military dispatches said defeat of the Chinese in the Lingshih battle probably would mean loss of the Southern Shansi province.

Meanwhile, United States Consul General Clarence Gauss protested against Japanese sealing of an American-owned warehouse in the heart of the International Settlement.

The protest, filed with Japanese Consul General Okamoto, raised vital issues about foreign property rights in the settlement.

The protest, filed with Japanese Consul General Okamoto, raised vital issues about foreign property rights in the settlement.

Japanese gendarmes and consular police precipitated the matter by sealing the warehouse of the Commercial Express Company. Half of the premises was occupied by a U. S. Naval warehouse.

Since the International Settlement presumably is neutral territory, not involved in the undeclared war between China and Japan, and Americans and other treaty nationals enjoy the status of extra-territoriality, the Japanese action was regarded as a serious assumption of authority.

Guest Speaker At Church Tomorrow

The guest preacher at the Presbyterian church tomorrow morning at the eleven o'clock service will be the Rev. Wallace McP. Walston, director of Young Peoples' Work of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., with headquarters in Richmond, Va.

Rev. Mr. Walston, who will speak also tomorrow night at 6 o'clock at the fellowship banquet of the Older Young Peoples' Group of the local church, is recognized as one of the ablest executives and preachers of the Southern Presbyterian church, though still in his early thirties.

Born in Decatur, Georgia, he graduated from Emory University in 1927 with the A. B. degree, receiving the M. A. degree from the same institution two years later. A graduate of Columbia Theological Seminary with the B. D. degree in 1931, he has also received the degree of Master of Theology from Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, while working in his present capacity as director of Young Peoples' work. Other graduate work has been done by him at Transylvania University, the University of Chicago and Columbia University.

Prior to entering upon his present work in 1935, Mr. Alston held brief pastorates at the Rock Spring Presbyterian church, Atlanta, Ga., and at Maxwell Street Presbyterian church, Lexington, Ky., going to his present post from the latter church.

The community at large is invited to hear Mr. Alston at the 11:00 o'clock service tomorrow, while his address before the youth group at the fellowship banquet is being restricted to those of the 18-25 age group, and will include delegations from youth groups of the Presbyterian churches in Albemarle Presbytery.

DR. TOWNSEND TO FIGHT SENTENCE

Changing his mind after returning to Washington, D. C., to serve a 30-day jail sentence for contempt of a congressional committee, Dr. Francis E. Townsend (left) said he would appeal the Supreme court instead of going to jail. He is shown conferring with his attorney, Elisha Hanson, as he announced his intention to "fight to a finish."

ORAL HYGIENE WORK STARTED

Extensive Program Is Being Conducted in Pitt County

An extensive oral hygiene program being conducted in Pitt county will be featured next week by the presentation of a puppet show in all white and several colored schools in the county.

The dental program underway in the county is one of the most comprehensive ever conducted in the state. Dr. M. J. Hoffman and Dr. A. D. Underwood of the oral hygiene department of the State Board of Health have been here several weeks and will remain until April. The campaign is being conducted on a 26-weeks basis through the cooperation of the state and county health departments and the County Board of Education. In addition to the two dentists working in the white schools, Dr. Barnhill is conducting a program for the colored schools.

The dentist goes to the school and sets up his equipment, making a complete workshop for himself. He examines the children and refers those who are able to pay for dental services to their family dentist for treatment and correction. The underprivileged children have any dental defects corrected by the dentist while he is working in the school. Many children are spared ill health and unnecessary pain by being given the advantage of this service.

Puppets are small characters of doll size that fit over and conceal the hands of the operators. The operators are called "puppeteers" and they stand behind a drop curtain to move the puppets back and forth in a manner that gives the appearance of midget characters playing on a very miniature stage, a stage that is correct in details of scenery and lighting. The two puppeteers speak the lines of the script in voices to suit each character. This manner of entertainment is quite unique and amusing to the children. The play itself interests the child in that it evolves around a little boy who had an adventure with a toothache. The real reason for the puppet show is to teach the children the importance of having good teeth and in caring for their teeth in a way to keep them healthy.

The puppeteers have been trained in the Carolina Playmakers Dramatic School at the State University in Chapel Hill.

Dr. E. A. Branch, director of the division of Oral Hygiene with the State Board of Health, is sending (Continued on Page Six)

COMMITTEE IN AGREEMENT ON TAX PROGRAM

Undistributed Profits Levy Retained in Measure

GOP HAD SOUGHT TO REPEAL TAX

Doughton Says Business Should Have No Fear So Far as Taxes Are Concerned

Washington, Feb. 26.—The House Ways and Means Committee reached a complete agreement today on a proposed tax revision program after defeating a final Republican attempt to obtain complete repeal of the undistributed profits tax.

Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.), said only the formality remained of introducing the bill, perhaps next Tuesday, and formally recommending it to the House.

The bill probably will be brought up on the floor Thursday, Doughton said.

The committee made no last-minute changes in the proposed legislation, which contemplates broad modification of the widely criticized undistributed profits and capital gains taxes, along with imposition of a new surtax on large income corporations controlled by a family or few individuals.

Doughton told reporters he felt deeply that "any cause for hesitation on the part of business to go forward so far as taxes are concerned, should now disappear."

Other developments: Charles Edson, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, told Congress the future peace of the United States depended directly on the maintenance of a defensive force "sufficiently strong and expertly trained that other nations will not risk a war with us."

Testifying before the House Naval Committee on behalf of the $1,156,000,000 naval expansion program, Edson said he was "thoroughly and sincerely in favor of it."

Senator Reynolds (D-N. C.), said the good-will trip of six "flying fortresses" to South America was "one of the most momentous flights ever made by army aviators of any country upon the face of the earth."

Chairman Frank McNinch of the Federal Communications Commission announced President Roosevelt had appointed an inter-departmental committee to study international broadcasting.

McNinch said the committee, of which he is chairman, will report the results of the study to the President.

DITCH DIGGER TO SING IN OPERA

Warrior Declared To Be Growing Weaker Gradually

CONFINED SINCE FEBRUARY 15TH

Heart Stimulants Administered at Mid-night Results in Temporary Relief

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Intense excitement around the hospital room of General John J. Pershing shortly after 7 a. m. (9 a. m., EST) today, indicated the weakening warrior had reached a new crisis and the end might be at hand.

A moment later Dr. Roland Davison sent out a bulletin announcing the General gradually was becoming weaker.

"He is unable to take nourishment or drink," the bulletin said. "His kidneys have ceased to function."

General Pershing had been unconscious during the greater part of the early morning hours, but Dr. Davison said at times he regained consciousness for brief periods.

The bulletin was brought from the patient's room by the General's nephew, Frank Pershing. Dr. Davison apparently was unwilling to leave the bedside. It was the first time he failed to appear himself.

Pershing had been under an oxygen tent most of the night, but when an assistant arrived to change the tank he was told no more oxygen would be needed. The statement was not amplified.

Heart stimulants administered to the 77-year-old commander shortly after midnight brought a favorable reaction.

Ill since February 5, the aged veteran has been confined to bed since February 15. Although his illness was first diagnosed as rheumatism, his physicians later announced he had suffered "acute damage" to heart muscles.

Sixteen-Year-Old Boy Dies In Pitt

Levie Johnson Dixon, 16, died at 10 o'clock last night at his home in Black Jack. He had suffered from a heart ailment for several years and developed pneumonia Thursday night.

Besides his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Heber A. Dixon, three brothers, Elmer, Jesse David and Mack Verner Dixon; his paternal grandfather and grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dixon, and his maternal grandfather and grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. F. Mills, survive.

Many Take Short Cut To "Beat" Red Light

Chief of Police George Clark declared today that many motorists had been found driving through filling stations to "beat" a red light and declared the practice was against the law and he had instructed city officers to arrest any persons caught making such short cuts.

The chief declared that he did not believe the people were familiar with the law, but added he was giving warning that it was strictly against the law to pass through a filling station without stopping and persons caught doing so would be subject to arrest and conviction.

Domestic Opposition To Britain's Plan Removed

Eden Promises Not to Lend Aid to Program Foes

London, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain's task of knitting Europe into a peaceful community of nations shook itself free from immediate domestic opposition today.

The departing Foreign Secretary Eden's graceful self-effacement to "await the verdict of history" removed the threat of Conservative party strife over the cabinet crisis which jolted Britain into sudden decision to play ball with Europe's dictators.

Eden, predicting failure in dealing with Germany and Italy, nevertheless, wished the Conservative government well in its task and made clear he would give no aid to Liberal and Labor party hopes of overthrowing the National cabinet.

Eden quit rather than yield to what he considered pressure from Italy in the Italian request that friendship bargaining begin at once and in Rome. Good Neighbor?
Six giant bombing planes of the Army Air Corps are now en route to Buenos Aires to take part in the inauguration ceremonies of the new Argentine President. The flight has been labeled as a "good neighbor" gesture by the United States. Most observers see it as an answer to a recent three-plane Italian flight from Rome to Rio de Janeiro last month. Incidentally, it is well to note that Argentina was Uncle Sam's best armaments customer during January, 1938. $2,382,500 in airplane equipment was purchased from American companies by Argentina in that month. There is no better way of demonstrating such equipment than to do it with the services of the crack army air force which is supported by the American taxpayers.

STUDENT LEADERS TO RECEIVE RECOGNITION
Ten student leaders from the present Senior class of East Carolina Teachers College have been chosen by the class to represent the college in the American College Yearbook, which will be in the nature of a Hall of Fame for 1938 college graduates the country over.

The leaders chosen from the E. C. T. C. Rebecca Watson, for her popularity and leadership as president of the Woman's Student Government Association, will be placed in this grand Hall of Fame.

Her scholastic record, logical to this publication. Margaret Davis, Student Treasurer was selected for her versatility, and especially for her fine work as editor of the Teacan.

Fannie Brewer, who has the distinction of being the only student to be president of two college organizations, was chosen because of the genuineness of her character, and her success in the leading role in the Senior play.

Josie Hall was voted the best all-around Senior, one who has remarkable influence among the students, and a girl of magnetic personality.

Leadership, poise, and sound judgment are the qualities that brought Elizabeth C. and president of the Young Women's Christian Association of this honor.

The Yearbook, edited and published by Harry E. Fry, an alumnus of Pennsylvania State College, who has had much experience in writing and publicity work, is a new venture; but Fry intends to make it an annual publication.

According to the editor, the purpose of the book is to give outstanding graduates the national recognition they deserve.

"Those honored by inclusion will receive favorable national attention which will be helpful in furthering their careers. Leaders in the professional, educational, industrial, and business world, ever on the alert to discover the most promising of the current year's graduates will scan this book eagerly," said Mr. Fry.

Unemployment Compensation Program Explained

J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Jr. of the North Carolina Unemployment Compensation Commission, Raleigh last night addressed the regular bi-weekly meeting of the Greenville Kiwanis club, at which time he explained the program and listed some of its aims.

"This is not a dole," the son of the former governor declared, "it is a plug to stop leaks."

Mr. Ehringhaus declared that the program was comparatively new, but that much progress had been made toward its goal.

He briefly reviewed the history of Social Security and the condition that necessitated its existence.

He stated that no one could anticipate the increase in unemployment which the state and nation has faced recently. He added, however, this state was only about two weeks behind in the distribution of checks, while some other states were as far behind as six months. He declared that much of the criticism aimed at the board was unjustified.

He related that at present there are 151,000 claims filed with the Raleigh office and estimated that approximately 60 per cent of these are bona fide.

He said that since January 28, when the first checks were mailed out, approximately 42,000 claims had been paid, totaling nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

At the conclusion of his talk, Mr. Ehringhaus invited members of the club to ask questions regarding the program and many took advantage of this opportunity.

Visitors at last night's meeting included W. G. Cherry, Jr., S. T. Cherry, Charles R. Flye and Larry Egg's of the local unemployment office and J. M. Johnston and W. H. Taft.

Dr. N. E. Ward had charge of the program.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

BY ALAN LEMAY

SYNOPSIS: Our love for a young English girl has kept my uncle, James Clyde, and myself (Paul Thorne) in tropical Balingong through a Dyak revolt and Malay defeat. Christine Forrester, visioning a great empire here, has made Clyde rajah. Rentongen, the sultan's Malay representative, promises trouble. One tribal rebellion is put down but others threaten. And we are faced with famine. Meanwhile, Christine and Clyde grow closer together.

Chapter 3 Weird Procession

I SUPPOSE the Avon would have remained at anchor indefinitely if Christine's brother had been able to hold his own.

Robert Forrester's illness was now critical. The increasing quantities of quinine we loaded into him no longer took any effect. Every morning, however, if he was not actually in the delirium of fever or being shaken to pieces by a chill, he had himself carried onto the rui, where he sat at Clyde's right hand while Clyde held audience. He seemed to cling seriously to the idea that he represented his father here, and that if he failed to appear in his place we would lose our hold upon the raj, and drop into quick disaster.

One day he toppled over in the place where he sat. With my help he was able to walk inside, but once out of sight of the natives he collapsed utterly. I carried him to his bed; and Balingong never saw him on his feet again.

Christine could delay no more. It was decided that the Avon should sail at once for Singapore; thence presently to proceed to England. From Singapore Christine would send us fresh medical stores, and certain other things we needed, such as coffee and tobacco. Possibly the Avon would make this trip. But the Forresters we would not see again; and when the Avon had touched at Balingong for the last time, even that reminder of Christine would be gone, and only the Linkang, would connect us with the world.

Since Captain Marvin Stocker was at all times, not only ready but anxious to sail, there was no reason for any delay when once this was decided. On the evening of the same day in which Robert Forrester had collapsed, we packed the Forresters into a couple of shelter-rigged bankongs and put off down the river in a driving rain.

For two months I had been urging Christine to leave, arguing with her, pleading with her. From week to week she had promised that soon the Avon would sail. But when the thing actually happened, it fell on me so abruptly that it was like the blow of a parang. It was very difficult for me to live near her without making love to her. And I could not make love to her. Even if I had not been convinced that she was more than half in love with James Clyde, the fact remained that I was going to be stuck in this jungle for a long time, and that there was no place for her here. Every white colony in the tropic Orient has its little graveyard thickly set with the headstone markers of European women and children who should never have come into that part of the world at all.

And yet—this place without her was another thing I did not dare let myself imagine. The night could hardly have been more desolate than I, as I supervised the rigging of the bankong shelter.

'A Black And Empty Place'

At the last minute an odd thing happened. An unexplained coolness arose between my uncle and Christine, so when the time came to carry Robert Forrester to the river she and Clyde hardly spoke. I thought then—though I do not believe it now—that my uncle, finding Christine Forrester wavering at the last moment, had taken some harsh way as had I, to make sure that she would leave. In any case, it was my bankong which conveyed Christine, while Clyde went ahead in the boat which carried Robert Forrester.

Half a dozen praus and canoes escorted us down the Siderong to the bay, and I have never seen a weirder procession. The rain was coming down in a fluctuating roar so that it was a wonder we could keep any lights; but seemingly the resin-loaded bamboo tubes, the natives make can practically burn under water.

Christine and I crouched awkwardly under the yard-high matting roof in the stern of our bankong, brought very close together by the narrow beam; but at the same time very far apart, at first, in our constrained silence.

By a slant of torchlight I saw that Christine was crying. Her face was set and still, and she did not hide it in her hands. It was a cruel thing to watch this girl proudly pretending to ignore her own tears.

I thought of Robert Forrester, lying up ahead under the rocking flares, and I said, "He'll be all right. He'll come out of it fast, once he gets out of here."

If she had whipped into some of that hot, impatient scorn I remembered from our talks on board the Avon and the Linkang, it would have been easier to bear. But her words whispered now, almost humbly. "It isn't that. You know it isn't that."

"Christine—" I could no longer keep from telling her this much—"the Siderong is going to be a very black and empty place when you are gone."

"You see," she said, "I know that too."

I did not stop to go into what she meant by that. "There's a pretty bad thing coming, up here, much sooner than we thought. That's why I'm desperately glad that you're going away. Christine, we're going to have to fight the Sultan of Saremba."

"Oh, no! You mustn't. You can't!" At least I had shocked her out of tears. "You must do anything to avoid that."

"We'll avoid it as long as we can, of course; but I doubt if we'll ever stand it off to the end of the rains. I can't make out whether Clyde is brave, or just cocky; he thinks we can beat the Malays whenever they come, and so does your brother."

"But, Paul, he can't!"

Malay Rascality

CLYDE keeps harking back to the situation Mantuser was in when we came. The Dyaks didn't have our support then, and only a few of the Tenyalang were armed; yet they had Mantuser absolutely backed against the wall. With our guns and the Linkang, and a white rajah, Clyde thinks his tribes can stand off anything in the islands. But I don't think so. If Mantuser comes again he'll come with enough tankongs to turn the river into a foaming hell. You can't stop Malays without destroying the whole mass of them outright—you know that.

"I do know it," Christine said very low. "We simply must have peace here, a fight with the Malays, and especially with Saremba must absolutely be avoided at all cost."

"And that's just about the smallest hope of any," I said. I told her now some of the things which Clyde had perhaps not told her in their full meaning. After all, I was the one who had done the greater part of the Dyak-chasing in the jungle, and I knew what was talking about better than Clyde.

Ever since Clyde's occupation the Malays had been filtering back into the raj, their arrogance unchastened by the Dyak success. This element of Malays had now returned to supporting itself in the usual way. A Malay would bundle together some worthless rag-tag of trade goods, then go and camp upon some unpopulated pangiran, who was supposed to supply him with the best of board and lodging without cost. At his leisure the Malay traded his stock for whatever the Dyaks had that he wanted. A refusal to make a trade that Malay suggested was an insult—and these people had long ago learned not to insult a Malay.

The thing was such an open robbery that it was hard to see why the Malays made a pretense that it was trading at all. Possibly even they had discovered that there had to be a closed season upon Dyaks; if they had always come with fire and sword there would soon have been no Dyaks left for seed, and the Malays would have had to go to work.

But that was only the first stage of Malay rascality. When a peddler's trading stock was exhausted, he moved down to another village this time representing himself as a tax collector, and repossessed himself of the articles he had traded there on his previous trip. They represented themselves as Clyde's special envoys, and proceeded with their usual extortionate taxation, in the white rajah's name. After my campaign in the Palowit, my name also was used even more often than Clyde's. Tuan Paul would come with his great guns, and personally blast any of the Dyaks who disobeyed the Malays!

In the face of the bitter complaints of Rentongen, Clyde was forced to penalize these practices as savagely as he could. It seemed impossible that he would ever entirely control them, for the Malays had no other means of existence, and could learn none. To try them with a view to imposing fines was out of the question, because no Dyak would testify against a Malay. Clyde now arbitrarily imposed heavy fines upon those traders whom he knew, by private information, to be the worst. Rentongen was sullen and ugly; he repeatedly threatened Clyde. His people, he declared, were being starved and robbed. His people were being humiliated.

And when Saremba found out what Clyde was doing, there would be a war to the bitter finish. (Copyright, 1938, Alan Lemay)

DIXIE HIGHLIGHTS

Aside from their glorious beauty as a veritable botanical paradise, the famous old MIDDLETON PLACE GARDENS, near Charleston, South Carolina, are steeped in the romantic history of early America. Here it was that Henry Middleton, who was later president of the Continental Congress, inaugurated the first landscape work in this country. As early as 1740, he sent to England for an experienced landscape engineer, under whose guidance 100 slaves worked for 10 years. Arthur Middleton, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, was a later proprietor of Middleton Place. He was followed by his son, Henry Middleton, governor of South Carolina and later Minister to Russia, who procured the first Camilla Japonica ever brought to America. William Middleton, who inherited the estate in 1846, embellished the gardens with the magnificent collection of Azalea Indica that, today, brightens the terraces each spring with a mass of flaming color.

The SEA CUCUMBER, so called because of its striking resemblance to a cucumber, possesses remarkable powers of expansion and contraction. Its external body, which is soft and leathery is supplied with very powerful circular and longitudinal muscles, which enables the strange animal to assume a great variety of shapes. When it is resting undisturbed on the bottom, its fine feathery tentacles are fully expanded and somewhat resemble a tuft of brown seaweed. It occurs along the Atlantic coast.

Stokes Enters Finals In High School Tourney

Dunn and Green Hope Girls To Contest for Title

By BERT MOYE
Semi-Finals Results
Girls' Division: Dunn 31, Beulahville 29. Green Hope 47, Bridgeton 34.
Boys' Division: Stokes 33, Bridgeton 28. Aurora 23, Lafayette 15.
Schedule of tonight's finals: 7:30 Green Hope vs Dunn (girls division); 8:30 Stokes vs Aurora.

The Green Hope sextet advanced to the final rounds of the E. C. T. C. basketball tourney play here this morning by taking a 47-34 win over the Bridgeton girls.

At the end of the half-way mark the Green Hope girls had a 26-12 lead, but the Bridgeton sextet fought back hard and at one time were within three points of the previous champions in tourney play here. Captain Margaret Rigbee of the Green Hope sextet with 19 points led her team to victory. She was followed closely by Ruby Herndon with 16 points. Miss Ruby Lewis led the attack of the Bridgeton sextet with a total of 12 points.

Due to a game which was postponed at the end of play last night by Coach Brown of the Lafayette boys team on the grounds that Coach Walter Latham had used an ineligible player in which Bethel won by the score of 32-16. Brown was upheld in his decision and the two teams met again this morning with Lafayette turning back the Bethel boys 24-18.

The game was marked by close play of both teams and at no time during the game did either have a lead that would assure victory until the final minutes of play when Bill Hobby, with one field goal and Rollins with two field goals broke the 18-all tie to give the Kipling boys their margin of victory. At the half Lafayette had a 12-1 lead. The lead from one team to another switched about a half dozen times during the game, but only for a few minutes of play. The score was tied twice during the last quarter, at 16-all and again at 18-all. Bill Hobby paced the winners with 10 points, while the scoring of Bethel was divided between Bob James with 5 points, and George Bullock and Roy James, with four points each.

Stokes Boys Advance to Finals
Stokes High School boys, the only Pitt County team remaining in the tourney play, advanced to final this morning in a well-earned game from the Bridgeton quint, defeating them by the score of 33-26.

Led by Harold Fleming, lanky center with 17 points, the Stokes boys at the beginning of the game run up a 4-0 lead and at the end of the first quarter the score was knotted at 8-all. Immediately after the opening of the second quarter, Ray Simmons shot a field goal to place his team in the lead, which they maintained throughout the rest of the game. At the end of the third period Stokes was leading 27-22.

Featuring on the defense for the Stokes boys was the work of Roy Simmons at guard, who played one of the best defensive games seen on the court during tourney play.

Hansen led the Bridgeton boys, scoring 14 of his teammates points. Lafayette Defeated

The boys' team of the Lafayette high school, champions of last year's tourney play, lost out in the semi-final play here this afternoon when the Aurora high school defeated them 23-15. Aurora played a fine brand of ball and not once during the entire game were they behind, leading at the half 12-8. Howell Jones, with 12 points led Aurora, while Captain LeRoy Hobby was best for Lafayette with 9 points.

As the third round of preliminaries ended last night, one team in the girls' division, namely the Dunn High School, had qualified for final's play, two girls' teams—Greenhope and Bridgeton—had qualified for semi-final's play, and four boys' teams—Bethel High School, Aurora High School, Stokes High School, and the Bridgeton High School—had qualified for semi-final's play, which was run off this morning and a write-up of same will be found in another story on this page.

While two Pitt County teams advanced to semi-final's play in the boys' division—the Bethel High School and the Stokes boys—two teams likewise fell by the wayside yesterday—the Bell Arthur boys' team, which lost in the only extra time tilt in the tournament.

How Bethel Boys Advanced
Coach Walter Latham's boys of Bethel advanced to semi-final play in yesterday's play by defeating the Lafayette boys team in the biggest upset of the tournament by the score of 32-16. Lafayette boys, who entered the tournament as favorites found the Bethel lads no match for them tonight as the Bethel lads took a lead in the early part of the first half and maintained it until the end. Bethel led at the half 12-5. Frank Bowers and Bob James proved the big attack for the Bethel boys scoring 11 and 8 points respectively. Leroy Hobby was best for Lafayette with 6 points.

However at this writing, it was understood that this game was protested by Coach C. R. Brown of the Lafayette boys, who said that Coach Latham played an ineligible player in the person of Eugene Carson at center. Following the protest Coach Joe D. Alexander, director of the tournament, wired to Rankin at Chapel Hill for information regarding the matter and a decision on the matter will not be known until sometime Saturday morning. Should Carson have found ineligible, it is not definitely known by the writer whether Lafayette will get the game on account of Bethel playing an ineligible player or

Phantoms Lose

The Greenville high school basketball team was defeated 25-26 by Fayetteville last night in the final game of the season for the locals.

It was the fourth conference defeat for the Phantoms this season, two games having been dropped to Durham and one each to Rocky Mount and Fayetteville.

Last night's contest was played in Fayetteville.

whether the two teams will play one another in another game to decide the matter. Should Bethel get the decision that Carson was eligible, then they play in semi-final's play against Aurora at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Bostic vs Bostic
Coach Margaret Bostic's sextet of Bethel high lost a thriller to Beulahville high sextet yesterday in the first over time tilt of the tournament, with Beulahville taking the game 38-35. Bethel led at the half 18-11, but this did not prove any handicap to the Lenoir county jasses for during the second half the score was tied at five different times—41-all, 39-all, 31-all and 35-all. It was at 35-all that the end of the official game ended and it was the shooting of a field goal in the last 30 seconds of play by Swaine Thippen of Beulahville that tied the score up at 35-all at the end of the game. In the extra five minutes of play Miss Dorothy Bostic made good a field goal and a free throw to give the Lenoir county jasses their victory and take Bethel from the running. Bethel was held scoreless in the extra five minutes of play. Praising for Beulahville was Dorothy Bostic who made 18 of her teammates' points, Thelma Hand led Bethel with 25 points. This game placed Beulahville in the semi-final play.

Stokes Boys Advance
Coach E. B. Tilley's Boys of Stokes High School defeated Trenton High School to advance into the semi-final's play, which was a well-earned victory by the Pitt county team.

All during the entire game with the exception of the first few minutes of play Coach Tilley's boys were leading. Only twice during the game was the score tied, this being at two-all and at four-all as the first quarter ended. At the half the Stokes boys were leading 16-7. Protivik big guns in the Stokes attack was the steady shooting of Linwood James and Eric Wichard, who made 7 and 6 points respectively, and the superb defense work of Harold Fleming at guard position who kept the Jones county boys from making many goals. Captain Holland led the attack of the Trenton boys with a total of 10 points.

Bell Arthur Loses
Coach Webster's boys from Bell Arthur lost a hard game to Vanceboro boys in yesterday's afternoon play by the score of 31-14. The Pitt County boys had a 10-5 lead at the end of the first half, but the Craven county boys just proved too much for them. Hamilton, led the attack for the Vanceboro boys with a total of 10 points. The 14 points of the Bell Arthur boys were well divided among the five players with Eugene Briley, Raymond Tripp and Isham Nichols, getting three points each.

Greenhope Girls Star
The girls of the Greenhope high school walked away with scoring honors for the day when they made 130 points in their two games played against the sextets of West Edgecombe and Deep Run. In their game with West Edgecombe they piled up a total of 70 points against their opponents 16. Captain Margaret Riggs with 28 points featured for Greenhope while Miss Cheewing with 7 points led West Edgecombe.

In their second game played against the Deep Run sextet they ran up a total of 60 points to their opponents 11. Ruby Herndon with 15 points led the Greenhope sextet. Miss Davenport with five points five points was best for Deep River.

Girls Semi-Final Game
In the first semi-final game of girls play last night the Dunn sextet defeated the Beulahville sextet 31-29 in a most thrilling game. At the half Dunn was leading 16-5 but the Beulahville girls came from an 8 point handicap to tie the score at 24-all in the final quarter. It was also tied at 26-all, 27-all and 29-all. A field goal by Dorothy Crumpler in final seconds of play gave Dunn its victory and a right to play in the finals tonight against the winner of the Greenhope-Bridgeton game. Featuring in this game was Mary Tart with 13 points for Dunn. Della Kennedy led the losers with 17 points.

Dunn earned the right to play in semi-finals play by reason of a 34-14 victory earlier in the day against the Plymouth sextet. Mary Lissiter Tart with 16 points led the Dunn sextet in this victory. Miss Edin won with 10 points was best for Plymouth.

Other Games Played
The Aurora boys easily defeated the boys from Caswell high 38-13. Aurora led at the half 29-4. Hamilton with 17 points led the winners Robert Pudeley with 9 points led the losers. This game placed Aurora in semi-final's play.

The Bridgeton boys also went into semi-finals play by reason of their 28-15 victory over Vanceboro who earlier in the day ousted Bell Arthur. Bridgeton led at the half 12-6. Edwin Hanson with 10 points proved the winners. Bill Purser with 8 points led Vanceboro.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Feb. 26—The Income Tax Division of the Department of Revenue is getting ready for a rush of business between now and March 2, but the Division of Accounts, where young Bob Ward holds sway, that is really going to be called upon to "put out" next month.

It is estimated that into the accounting office will rush a flood of 75,000 income returns, $30,000
sales tax reports, 60,000 intangible tax listings and $10,000 tax returns
of other sorts.

Practically all of these 175,000 returns will pile in over a period of ten days—March 15 to 25—though a few will slip in before hand and a few belated ones will show up afterward.

Just by way of comparison, it is likely that Mr. Ward and his distinction staff will have more work to do in two weeks than Charlie Powell's Unemployment Compensation Commission has had, or ever will have, in any two months.

Yet your correspondent is willing to lay a small wager—or would be willing to do so if it weren't against the law and he had anything to wager—that Mr. Ward's division will get through its task on time without calling for an extra assistant or doing an hours overtime work.

It's all in having a system.

Major Arthur Pulk, of the Highway Patrol and head of the Motor Vehicle Safety Division, is going to try out a new scheme next week.
He plans to have members of the Junior School Traffic Patrol, each wearing the emblems of his position,
board buses on Fayetteville street
at each stop and give passengers a few rules for walking in safety on city streets or country roads.

Revocations this week brought North Carolina's total of driving licenses taken away to 15,512.

Miss Beatrice Cobb, Morganton
publisher and a lady high in Democratic party circles, has announced
her candidacy for the state Senate from the 28th District.

She ought to have a better than fair chance of being elected. If she is successful she probably will be the only feminine member of the upper house, as Mrs. E. L. McKee of Sylva is prevented by a "gentleman's agreement" from making the race to succeed herself this year.

Tobacco warehousemen in session
here Friday plunked enthusiastically for tobacco acreage (or poundage) control. They plan actively to work for success of the compulsory control forces in the farmers' referendum of March 12th.

There are rumblings of discontent among some of the farmers at the quotas assigned them in previous years and there is a strong under-current of opposition which may enable foes of crop control to push more than the one-third necessary to defeat the workings of the new crop act.

There is more bitterness connected with the battle between Outlar
Moore and the Association of County Liquor Boards than has been manifested in any controversy in the state in quite a long time.

It seems Mr. Moore is definitely opposed not only to W. D. McMillan of New Hanover, who has just retired in the face of the Moore anger, but to the very idea of an Association of County Boards. He hasn't said so in that many words,
but it appears that the state ABC had felt that he is boss of the "hole shebang" and that the county boards should deal with him singly and as dependents, rather than a group.

On the other hand, Webb Wilson of Pasquotank and a member of the state ABC commission has regularly attended meetings of the county association, and while he is saying, exactly nothing at all publicly it is apparent from his actions that he believes the Associa-

"Odd Facts In Carolina"

By Carl Spencer

high costs? The answer is: Not much except to cut initial financing charges somewhat. Actually, I think a lower interest rate could have been made. Banks are choked with money. Better have it loaned on homes and insured by the government, at three per cent to create more jobs, than to give it away to men for raking leaves. Insuring loans up to 80 per cent of valuation does not necessarily mean that banks will take such big mortgage-payments, but it will not, all
by itself, produce a big construction boom.

So I feel that the new Housing
Act has done only part of the job.
President Roosevelt was on the right track when he called for an annual wage for building workers.
If some such scheme could be mapped out, maybe building workers would drop their unreasonable hair-shirt labor costs to much toward getting labor costs down to a level
on an annual wage) on public works projects and on homes built under government insured mortgages.

Yet, regardless of all this pulling and hauling, building is bound to increase over present levels. People will do what is the cheapest thing to do. Just as soon as it is cheaper to build than to rent, people will build. Ten years of abnormal construction have created a tremendous shortage of desirable rentals. Rents have risen 41 per cent since January 1934. Building costs have skyrocketed, too, but there has been a drop in the last several months. Hence, despite all the hindrances, I expect 1938 building to improve materially over the final half of last year and to come close to equalling the entire 1937
level.

MR. AND MRS. SUBSCRIBER

Your Favorite Gets Extra Votes
For Second Payments

Subscribers and their friends who have already given their favorite candidate a subscription
in the Daily Reflector campaign
can do a great service and help wonderfully in that member's work by giving her another year's payment.

Such payments entitle members to additional extra votes
and with the race so close it may be these extra payments which will decide the winner of that $600.00 cash award.

Help those who are helping themselves—give your favorite candidate a call and show her you are a real friend by giving another subscription. They are all working hard—help them along! Your encouragement may be just the incentive needed to win one of those valuable prizes.
Hurry, for vote values drop after tonight, and the campaign ends
Saturday, March 5th.

For which we disclaim any responsibility. If routers want to bet on their favorites that is not our affair. However, it indicates considerable interest in the Campaign and shows that candidates are busy everywhere.

ETIQUETTE

By JOAN DURHAM
(AP Feature Service Writer)

Inefficiency in household employees often is as much a reflection on the employer as it is on the employee.

Such inefficiency means the mistress uses poor judgment in engaging the employee or she lacks in qualities necessary to the smooth operation of a household.

"There are two things every housewife must accomplish in her employees and workers," says Mrs.
Richard Boardman, head of Scientific Housekeeping, an organization that has trained New York

Double Salesmanship

The first is efficiency. The second is a permanent desire on the part of the employee to remain in her job.

"The mistress must sell herself to her workers as well as the other way around," says Mrs. Boardman.
"The prevailing attitude must be one of mutual interest."

She advises a thorough-going interview when engaging new employees. There must be no misunderstanding on these eleven points:
Location of the employer's home.
Is it in the city of the country, a house or an apartment?

Duties. Will there be cooking, sewing, cleaning and laundry—or
is the laundry sent out?

References. No reference means much unless it's from someone known to the employer, although the latter should be able to judge fairly well if she has a personal talk with a former employer.

Day off. That must be absolutely regular. Make it Saturday of Monday—if you don't like Thursday.
But never break into it, unless for an emergency.

About Uniforms

Uniform. Will it be required? If so, what time? If the salary is adequate, the maid should provide her own uniform. But if the mistress wants costly uniforms she should provide them. Under nearly all circumstances she should provide accessories such as collars, cuffs and handkerchiefs.

Hours off duty. In many well-regulated households the hours between 2:30 and 4:30 in the afternoon are considered best.

BABSON PREDICTS GAIN IN BUILDING

have depreciated to almost nothing.
He has put his nest-egg in a
"wasting asset."

Prefabrication is Inevitable

The high material and labor costs of building, however, are the major handicaps today. Archaic production and distribution methods keep material prices at almost prohibitive levels. The answer to this problem is prefabrication. The small-like progress in this field is not a question of manufacture. This problem has been solved. But other costs such as real estate, building code zoning, and financing questions must still be ironed out.

Certainly, large-scale output of factory made houses right now would bring the prices of good homes down to the "mass-market"
level—between $3,500 and $5,000.
Until that time comes, however,
antique methods of building will prevail and will keep costs at a high level. Workers in building supply factories and in warehouses and lumberyards are now being organized in some cities. Hence, little reduction in material prices can be

Building Unpatriotic

The worst handicap of all, however, is the foolish and unpatriotic policy of building trade unions. I believe in collective bargaining. The entire nation can benefit from it.
While profits that benefit stockholders
in older industries that were organized years ago are less today, certainly their consumers have benefited. Why? Because managements were forced to become more efficient—to install labor-saving machinery. This, in turn, boosted the output per man-hour.

The unionization of textile, shoe,
coal, and other lines has lifted
man-hour output in these industries.
In the building trades, unionization
has not increased the man-hour production. Why? Because the leaders of the unions, have sabotaged
their own men and their industry
by stupid and uneconomic policies.
They have put artificial limits on the amount of work a man can do while at the same time they have held down the number of skilled workers.

Slow workers must be paid as much as fast workers. So the efficient lose their incentive to do more than the inefficient. Bricklayers in some cities get $13 per day,
while hundreds of jobless are excluded from the building trades by the unions. Furthermore, in highly unionized towns a man cannot give an unemployed neighbor a little handwork around his home without fear of bombing or beating. The result of these various union tactics has not only been a wage scale out of all proportion to the type of the job, but a tremendous cost-per-unit of work done.

PRIZE 'PROTECT YOU' VOTES

From beginning of campaign, and continuing until Saturday, February 26, the "Protect You" Vote offer will be in effect. Double Votes this week as per schedule announced at the beginning of the Campaign.

HERE IS THE PRIZE "PROTECT YOU" VOTE OFFER

Three "Protect You" Vote Ballots are offered candidates of The Daily Reflector Cash Offer Campaign from the beginning of the campaign through the present week ending Saturday, February 26. The "Protect You" votes will be awarded by the judges at the end of the campaign to apply on winning the prizes.

Here's How! The first "Protect You" Vote Ballot of 1,000,000 votes will be awarded to the Cash Offer Campaign candidate having to her credit the largest number of votes for both new and old subscriptions turned in FROM THE BEGINNING OF THE CAMPAIGN to and including Saturday, February 26.

The Second "Protect You" Prize Vote Ballot of 1,000,000 votes will be awarded to the Cash Offer Campaign Candidate having to her credit the second largest number of votes for both new and old subscriptions turned in FROM THE BEGINNING OF THE CAMPAIGN to and including Saturday, February 26.

FAR, FAR AWAY

SAN FRANCISCO is gathering superlatives. Here's its latest claim—"The most comprehensive signpost in the world." It tells how far you'd have to walk—or swim—to get to New York or Shanghai and points north and south. What good is it? Of course, it's a nice excuse to show Gaila McEntee and her cowboy shorts. But there seems to be an ulterior motive. The signpost has been erected on Treasure Island. That's the site of the San Francisco world's fair of 1939. It symbolizes world participation in the fair.

C. Weaver, secretary of the State Rural Electrification Authority and Agricultural Engineer at State College.

For 1937, North Carolina stood sixth in the Union in number of rural customers added, while it led its South Atlantic sister states by so wide a margin that its 8,852 new customers composed 37 per cent of the increase in the entire district composed of Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, the two Carolinas, Georgia and Florida.

Another interesting comparison is found in the increase in customers since 1935 in North Carolina and two of its neighbors, Virginia and South Carolina.
