MOVE ON FOOT TO ELIMINATE PROFITS LEVY

Senate Foes of Business Tax Out to Defeat Item

ENCOURAGED BY SURTAX DEFEAT

Roosevelt Declares Public Interest Demands End to Internal Strife in TVA

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—Senate foes of the business levies in the administration's tax revision bill, heartened by the House's stand against a sur-tax on closely-held corporations, indicated today they would try to eliminate the undistributed profits tax.

Senator Vandenberg (R. Mich.) one of this group, grumbled good naturedly that "the house robbed us of the pleasure of knocking out the sur-tax on closely-held corporations."

He predicted the undistributed profits tax might be taken from the bill despite the administration's endorsement of its principles.

The House also declined, 201 to 182, to eliminate an excise tax on imported pork. Secretary Hull said it would seriously hurt the domestic corn and hog industry.

Both Senate and House had their usual Saturday holiday.

President Roosevelt, saying the public interest demanded an end to internal dissension, put two courses before TVA's embattled directors meantime: United support of the agencies' objective, or resignation.

In outspoken language he told them they should consider problems and policies impersonally and objectively and once a majority decision was reached, act harmoniously.

Other developments included: Farmers in 20 states voted on whether the Federal government shall limit this year's marketing of cotton and two types of tobacco.

More than 8,500 polling places were set up in school buildings, courthouses, filling stations and community centers for 2,500,000 growers of these crops to cast secret ballots.

Winterville Youths Entertain Fathers

The vocational department of the Winterville school held its annual Father and Son banquet last night with more than 90, including students, fathers and guests, present.

A summary of last year's projects was given by Claude Manning. Each boy taking agriculture is required to carry one or more projects. The 1937 projects consisted of the following, showing the receipts from each: 39 acres of tobacco, $12,249.83; 38 acres of corn, $4,770.24; 42 hogs, $3,124.92; two acres of peanuts, $111; three acres of sweet potatoes, $551.50; one acre of Irish potatoes, $95.25; 210 baby chicks, $75; and two acres of cotton, $85.70. Total receipts from the projects amounted to $21,067.94. The total cost was $7,510.98. After subtracting the costs from the receipts and adding the labor which the boys worked on the projects, a net profit of $14,527.25 was realized.

In addition to this, the boys' work shop made many valuable projects which were estimated to have saved the school between $500 and $1,000. Dallas Whitford gave a toast to the fathers and a response was made by Carroll Whitford, after which Morris Hines read the poem "Down on the Farm." The work shop report was made by Howard James and Graydon Jackson presented a resume of the class room work.

C. D. Ward, principal, introduced the speakers, the principal address being made by Arthur B. Corey. Others on the program included D. J. Whitchard, Jr., A. W. Ange, B. F. McLawhorn, C. L. Tyson, Lieut. Lester Jones, who spoke on safety; R. L. Little, Raleigh T. Harrison, John W. Lambert, J. H. Mobley, agriculture teacher at Winterville; B. A. Pope, Jr., agriculture teacher at Fountain; S. P. Peterson, agriculture teacher at Ayden, and J. H. Boyd, who discussed thoroughbred hogs and livestock.

Music was provided by the Avery brothers, Mitchell and Holton.

Dixon, Ill. (AP)—This advertisement appeared in the "situation wanted" column of a Dixon newspaper.

"My husband has held practically every kind of a job. He usually adapts himself quickly. He's 28, had several years of college—but I'm tired of having him around the house. I guarantee him to give sober, steady efficient service if you'll take a chance on him. I also agree to deliver him in good working condition, anytime, anywhere."

LUISE RAINER AND TRACY HONORED BY HOLLYWOOD

H. C. EDWARDS DIES AT HOME

Funeral Services to be Conducted Tomorrow Afternoon

Henry C. Edwards, 73, died suddenly at his home, 210 East Ninth street, this morning at 6:30 o'clock. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at the home by Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of Eighth Street Christian Church. Burial will follow in the family plot in Cherry Hill cemetery.

Active pallbearers will be Dr. S. M. Crisp, C. Heber Forbes, John Karsnack, Levi Wilson, J. C. Gaskins and Frank Savage.

Mr. Edwards was born and reared in the section now known as Simpson and came to Greenville in 1908 when he was 21 years old. Soon thereafter he engaged in the manufacture of buggies with the late Charles Cobb. The two men formed the Pitt County Buggy Company. Mr. Edwards later acquired Mr. Cobb's interest and operated the company until it was destroyed by fire about 30 years ago. After discontinuing the buggy manufacturing business, Mr. Edwards devoted his time to farming and large real estate holdings in the city and county.

In 1892 Mr. Edwards was married to Miss Mary Liza Garris of Pitt county, who died July 19, 1898. Of this union Clifton H. Edwards of this city survives. Later he married Miss Annie Cox of Grifton, who with one son, Henry Clay Edwards and a daughter, Mrs. E. R. Daniels all of Greenville, survive. A grandson, Clifton Hugh Edwards, also survives.

Most Americans do not realize how much further to the north England lies than does the United States. In the days of late spring and early summer, it is daylight there until nearly 11 p. m.

Little Man Needs Aid In Financing

By ROGER W. BABSON
Babson Park, Fla., March 11.—One of the big reasons why the 1937 prosperity did not "catch" was the death of new expansion and new enterprise. Building new factories, installing more efficient equipment, introducing novel products and the like, should offset the losses from decaying industries. Before these things happen, however people with money must be willing to risk it by financing such new industries. They must not prefer just to "salt" it away in government bonds. What the United States needs today is not that kind of salt, but the right kind of pep.

The necessary confidence to take risks was lacking in 1937. It has been lacking ever since 1929—and it is still absent today. There are many reasons why, but the principal one is the money and book-keeping policy of the Federal Government. New capital financing is practically nil at the moment. Underwriting profits are so small

Big Majority of Votes Cast in Favor of Control

Pitt county farmers took to the polls today to vote in the farm program referendum in numbers even greater than had been expected by county officials.

Reports from all 13 townships told of heavy voting, with only a "very small percentage" of the ballots cast being against the proposal to control tobacco and cotton yields this year.

The votes will be tabulated at the county agent's office tonight as soon as possible after the polls close at 7 o'clock. The returns will be made available to The Reflector as soon as they are compiled and will be posted on the window of the newspaper office. In addition to the Pitt county returns, The Reflector will endeavor to get results of the referenda in North Carolina and other states. These, if available, also will be posted on the window of the business office.

Pitt, the largest tobacco producing county in the world, is expected to poll an overwhelming majority in favor of control. Mass meetings were held in each of the townships and in addition a county-wide meeting was held at the college with Representative Harold Cooley, member of the House Agriculture Committee, as the chief speaker.

Lines formed at the court house, voting place for Greenville township, early this morning and continued to crowd the ballot boxes throughout the day. Reports from other township voting places also told of heavy voting, with only a scattering of negative ballots being cast.

MOONEY AGAIN IN HEADLINES

Wins First Step in His Newest Fight to Regain Freedom

Sacramento, Calif., March 12 (AP)—Tom Mooney won the first step of his newest fight for freedom from San Quentin prison today when the California Assembly adopted a resolution intended to grant him a legislative pardon.

Approval of the unique measure climaxed two tempestuous days in which Mooney and Police Captain Conrady Goff of San Francisco personally told the Assembly their different stories of Mooney's conviction in for the 1916 Preparedness Day bombing that killed 10 and injured 40 persons here.

Adopted by a bare majority, 41 to 29, the resolution still must be approved by the senate, which turned down a similar measure last year.

Doubts have been expressed to the legislature's authority to pardon Mooney, who is serving a life term.

HEALTH OFFICE MAKES REPORT

Clinics and Examination of Children Major Activities

The major activities of the Pitt County Health department for the month of February were general disease clinics, material and infant welfare work, physical examination of school children, and dairy and cafe inspections, the report of Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, health officer, read at the monthly meeting of the Pitt Medical Society, Tuesday.

The contagious disease situation for the month of February reads as follows: Diphtheria, two cases; measles, 140; whooping cough, one; no typhoid fever, no scarlet fever.

The attendance at the venereal disease clinics continues to grow. For instance the treatments in the Farmville clinic for December were 83, in January 145, and in February 189. The total patients at the clinics in January were 767, while in February there were 920.

The maternal and infant welfare work shows improvement also. Number of mothers in attendance in January was 47 and in February 66; number of babies in January was 31 and in February 38. Total patients in January was 78 and in February 104.

The health officer examined 889 school children during February. The school dentists inspected 1033 children and treated 469, referring 214 to private dentists.

School privy work under the WPA will be completed early in March, and J. H. Moore, Pitt county Sanitary Inspector, plans to put on a real privy program throughout the county.

J. T. Welch, the new inspector for Greenville city (paid solely by the city and the state) has made frequent inspections of the dairies this month and has made a laboratory examination of a number of milk samples. Mr. Welch has also given much attention to cafe inspection in the City of Greenville.

Mrs. Boland Farley resigned as secretary of the Pitt County Health department on February 16 and was

Adolf Hitler Triumphant In Return To Native Land

SETS OUT AIMS IN STATEMENT

Proclamation Issued by Fuehrer on Departure Sets Forth Reich's Intention To Aid Millions of Germans Living in Austria

Berlin, March 12.—(AP)—Fuehrer Hitler proclaimed today before leaving for Austria that "soldiers of the German defense force were marching over all the frontiers of German Austria," to carry on its Nazification.

Hitler left Propaganda Minister Goebbels to read the broadcast proclamation. Naming Field Marshal Goering as acting head of the German government during his absence, Hitler delegated Goebbels to tell why Germany went to what was termed the rescue of a suffering Austria, held in the grip of a small minority lacking even the slightest legal status.

"I have now decided to extend the aid of the Reich to the millions of Germans in Austria," Hitler proclaimed.

"Since morning soldiers of the German defense force have been marching over all the frontiers of German Austria."

"I, myself, as Fuehrer and Chancellor of the German people shall be happy again to be able to enter as a German and a free citizen this land which is my own land," Hitler's proclamation said.

"The world, however, shall convince itself that the German people in Austria experience in these days hours of deepest joy and emotion."

"The Austrian people see in the brethren who have hurried to their aid, saviors from dire distress."

"Long live the National Socialist German Reich."
"Long live National Socialist Austria."

FARM LEADERS ADDRESS MEET

Agricultural Committee Presents Kiwanis Program

Just about this date a year ago J. E. Winslow, president of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, appeared before the Greenville Kiwanis Club and outlined organized aims for securing a farm control bill.

Last night Mr. Winslow again appeared before that body and reviewed efforts since his last appearance.

Much work has been done during the past year and last night Mr. Winslow addressed the Kiwanians and 40 invited agricultural leaders from all sections of the county on the eve of the referendum, in which farmers will decide for themselves whether or not they want controlled production.

And much of the work which brought to the farmers an opportunity to vote was done by Mr. Winslow and the organization he heads. The Farm Bureau president's remarks were brief, but up to the point. At the outset of his talk he asked four men he termed "the four horsemen," W. H. Dall, Jr., Roy T. Cox and E. F. Arnold, to rise.

He declared, with these men in the backfield and the representative farmers attending the meeting on the line, efforts to effect a farmers' organization met with success. He recounted efforts looking toward the enactment of a farm program and said that now the farmers themselves are to decide the question.

Mr. Winslow was introduced by Kiwanian B. B. Sugg and another staunch supporter of the Farm Bureau and crop control. Mr. Sugg recalled that the Kiwanis Club was one of the first organizations to pledge support to Mr. Winslow and his group. He said that the Greenville Warehousemen's Association, of which he is a member, went on record as endorsing the 1938 farm bill immediately upon its enactment and later warehousemen in other sections voted to support the program.

GERMAN AND ITALIAN SOLDIERS AGAIN MEET

Rome, March 12.—(AP)—For the first time since the World War German troops today stood at Italy's frontier, at the historic Brenner pass, and made friendly contact with Italian border guards.

Five truck loads of German Infantry, under a lieutenant colonel, part of the legions marching into Austria to make sure Reichsfuehrer Hitler's Com-ination, arrived at the strategic Alpine portal.

In Rome it became apparent Hitler had given Premier Mussolini advance information that he was sending German troops into Austria.

The commander of the German detachment at Branbar pass immediately called on the Italian commander of the foreign garrison.

Britain May Aid France To Save Czechoslovakia

Would Protect Nation From Fate Which Befell Austria

London, March 12.—(AP)—The British Cabinet considered today the possibility of armed British aid to France in protection of Czechoslovakia from the fate which has befallen Austria.

The cabinet views on this grave issue were communicated at the close of a tense session to Charles Corbin, the French Ambassador, but no decision was announced.

Whether a decision was reached was undisclosed, but Prime Minister Chamberlain was known to have been bitterly angered by the latest display of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's "naked fist"—the imposition of a Nazi yoke on Austria.

The stiff tone of his communique at the close of the cabinet meeting was warmly welcomed in Paris and Praha.

The vigorous protests Britain and France made yesterday to Berlin, it was evident, came far too late to save Austria.

Chamberlain, his new "realistic" policy of trying to appease the dictators through friendly chais all but destroyed, retired to his country house for the customary week-end.

Soviet Prisoners Plead For Mercy

Moscow, March 12.—(AP)—Object pleas for mercy were made today by the 21 political prisoners arrayed in the Soviet union's latest "blood purge" of its confessed enemies.

One by one they stood up in the dock and reiterated admissions of guilt, blaming others in part for their dire predicament.

Prosecutor Vishinsky, in a blistering summation of treason and murder charges had demanded death for 19 of the 21.

Avowing piteous repentance for their acts, they asked that their lives be spared.

N. N. Krestinsky, once the first assistant farm commissioner, in his plea for leniency pointed to his 20 years as an "honest revolutionary."

He blamed Leon Trotsky for everything.

V. Ivanoff, former chief of the Soviet timber industry, turned on another prisoner, N. Bucharin, trying to blame his confessed treason on the ex-editor of the Government newspaper.

Alexis Rykoff, who for nearly 10 years was premier of the Soviet union, seemed on the verge of collapse.

In state legislatures in 1937 there were 140 women in 35 states.

AUSTRIA UNDER NAZI CONTROL

Nation Learns With Mixed Feeling What It Means to be Under Nazi Rule as Columns of German Soldiers Swing Through Austria

Vienna, March 11.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler returned in triumph to his native Austria today while the Austrian nation, with mixed feelings, began to learn what it means to be under Nazi control.

Hitler made his entry into Linz at 4:13 p. m. (10:13 a. m. EST), a few hours behind his troops and airplanes.

All the villages of upper Austria through which he passed, turned out to a man as the Austrian-born leader of Nazidom moved toward Vienna.

Scores of German bombers and other military planes brought German soldiers into the suburbs of Vienna.

They remained there awaiting Hitler's triumphant entry into the capital of the state which has come under his power, expected tonight.

At Reid, near the frontier, thousands of peasants and townspeople, many weeping for joy, gathered to salute the Reichsfuehrer, who also has become the Fuehrer for many Austrians.

Columns of German soldiers were swinging through Austria.

At Salzburg, Innsbruck, Kufstein and Linz, where German soldiers arrived early in the day, Austrian military joined the ranks of the invaders, greeting them cordially.

Austria overnight became German and Nazi.

Hitler's close friend, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, was the new Chancellor, as well as War Minister and Minister of the Interior with both the nation's army and police under his control.

State In Receipt Of Big Tax Check

Raleigh, March 12.—(AP)—North Carolina already has received a check for the biggest single income tax return—"upwards of $2,000,000"—Revenue Commissioner A. J. Maxwell said today.

Deadline for paying the income tax and tax on intangibles is midnight Tuesday. The Revenue Department has increased its force to take care of the rush.

Maxwell said it seemed "almost inevitable" this year's income tax returns would be less than the return on 1936 incomes—over $11,000,000.

Figures showing this year's payments will not be available before Thursday or Friday.

Three Defendants In Police Court Session

Three defendants were tried at the regular Saturday morning session of City police court.

B. J. Jones, white man, was given 30 days on the roads upon conviction of drunkenness.

Ed Williams, Negro, was convicted of trespassing and was ordered to pay $30 for damage to property of D. J. Rose and also pay the costs. The defendant was charged with stealing lumber and using it for fire wood.

Joe Moore, Negro, was fined $5 and taxed with court costs upon conviction of engaging in disorderly conduct and with assault.

Rain Of Rumor
Denver, (AP)—Somebody started a rumor and the weather bureau switchboard was flooded with dozens of calls.

"When the army air corps school in Denver is opened next week will it bring rain?" the callers asked.

"Decidedly not," replied Albert W. Cook, assistant district forecaster. The rumor was that when the air corps began practicing with aerial bombs the explosions would cause clouds and bring rain.

Talk Of Maxwell For Governorship

By HENRY AVERILL
Raleigh, March 12.—Enterprising reporters can't pry a Reynolds-Hancock prediction or expression of opinion out of any state office with a crowbar, but within the last week your correspondent has been twice sounded out by high ranking state officials on how a "Maxwell for Governor in 1940" campaign would be received by the general public of this sovereign state.

And so it seems safe to assume that sometime between now and then—probably a good deal nearer now—there is going to be a real trial ascension, with a balloon bearing that slogan.

Both soundings were "off the record" and so your correspondent cannot reveal the identity of the sounders—suffice it to say that neither is particularly close to the so-called "Hoey-Gardner Machine." Nor are they closely allied to each other, politically.

They both reason that the present Commissioner of Revenue would be the strongest possible candidate for the governorship because he is known, by reputation at least, to be practically every voter in the state as the outstanding tax expert in North Carolina. They admitted, when pressed, that Dr. Ralph McDonald probably doesn't agree in this estimate of Mr. Maxwell, but that's neither here nor there.

Both point to the fact that Maxwell made a strong race for the governorship in 1932 and both expressed the opinion he has gained rather than lost in public esteem since then. They cite his sportsmanship in accepting defeat with a smile and a willingness to work along in harness and harmony with his successful opponent, J. C. B. Ehringhaus.

Both concede that Maxwell hasn't much "color" and that he would not go over big with the "hip, hip hooray" section of the voters; but both maintain that he stands head and shoulders above any of the candidates so far mentioned as 1940 possibilities.

Mr. Plopper is on furlough from his work in China where he is a colleague of Mrs. Ryan's sister, Miss Grace Bauer. He will bring a message of intelligent appreciation and sympathetic interpretation of the Oriental situation.

Because of the difficulty encountered in trying to lift the relevant material from the confusing press reports, it will be a relief as well as a pleasure to receive first-hand information from one whose message will come from first-hand contacts. Vesper Services.

Mrs. A. S. Gillespie, missionary to China, gave an illustrated talk on the life of a missionary at the vesper service of the Young Woman's Christian Association last night at the college.

"Perhaps many of you," began Mrs. Gillespie, "have considered going to a foreign country as a missionary. That means giving up home, family, friends and country for a strange home in a heathen land."

The speaker continued by reading a verse of Scripture which tells of Jesus' promise to the missionary—those who give up home, family, friends, or friends, for His sake, shall receive homes, brethren, new countries, many friends in this world, and eternal life in the world beyond.

"And," continued the speaker, "the promise is coming true."

She told of her interest in China, her love for the Chinese people, her pride in her students, and her interest in all countries.

In listing some hardships, she mentioned: Separation from family, loneliness for American friends, terrible diseases, fear of bandits, lack of conveniences, and the absence of a Christian Christmas.

"Perhaps these may not seem like persecutions to you," she said, "but perhaps you are more heroic than I am."

Mrs. Gillespie concluded by saying that these hardships are insignificant when one realizes the greatness of the reward—eternal life.

After her talk, Mrs. Gillespie showed the audience many articles she had brought from China, including a lace table cloth, a child's costume, a lady's costume, an embroidered table cloth, a woven picture, a hand-painted picture representative of Chinese Art, and a pair of chop sticks.

Too Many Marys.

A one-act play, "Too Many Marys" was given at the college assembly yesterday by the Play Production Class, one group in the class serving as production staff and one as cast.

Three members of the production staff, Miss Evelyn Baker, Miss Clara Williams and Leo Burks, are Greenville students.

The play is concerned with an amusing mix-up over roommates in a boarding school.

Aunt Sarah, who will pay niece Sally's expenses at college if she is satisfied with her ability to adapt herself to other people, comes to see how she is getting along with the roommate she has insisted on; and three school friends and the Irish maid all attempt to pose as the roommate, who had failed to materialize at the beginning of the term.

Miss Doris Hollowell, Princeton, took the part of Sally; Misses Hatie Laura Britt, Clinton; Louise Tadlock, Greenville; and Mary Lyon Shotwell, Stovall, were the school friends; Miss Margaret Guy Overman, Elizabeth City, played the Irish maid; and Miss Louise Britt, Colerain, was Aunt Sarah.

The play was under the direction of Miss Bertha Lang, Farmville, with Miss Irene Uzzell, Mayesville, as assistant director.

Miss Ina Mae Pearce, Micro, was stage manager, with Miss Evelyn Baker, Greenville, as assistant.

Miss Mabry Hodges, Washington, had charge of costumes; Leo Burks, Greenville, looked after the make-up; and Miss Clara Williams, Greenville, was assistant in make-up.

This is the second one-act play to be given by the group this term.

Those who produced the play this time were the actors in the first one—"The Rector," by Rachel Crothers—and the actors this time were the producers for "The Rector."

Better Homes

A second meeting of the better homes committees was held Monday afternoon. Arrangements are going forward for clearing of all back yards and streets in Greenville. Their actual work is starting March 21 and will continue through April 2. Various sections of the county will use the time best suited for their purposes. All parts of the county are to be reached. Will you do your part and urge all your neighbors to help?

Recipe

The following is the recipe for "Citrus Fruit Marmalade" exhibited in club meetings this month:

1 orange, 1 grapefruit, 1 lemon.

Wash fruit and cut into thin slices with a very sharp knife. Sharpen knife frequently. This amount of fruit will measure one quart. Add 3 quarts of water to fruit and boil for 30 minutes. Stir frequently with a wooden spoon during the cooking. Let stand overnight in an enameled preserving kettle. Next morning boil 20 minutes and let stand until cool. Measure. (It should measure one and three-fourths quarts). Add an equal amount of sugar (3-1/2 pounds). Cook rapidly until the jelly stage is reached. Cool for two or three minutes before filling jars, to keep the fruit from rising to the top.

Washington Bureau Agrees To Train State Agents

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, March 12.—Federal pork grading service, a goal toward which H. W. Taylor, extension swine specialist at State College, has been working for the past year, is slated to become a reality in North Carolina soon.

One of the most serious problems in swine marketing at the present time is soft and oily pork, a result of feeding the hogs soybeans and peanuts over too long a period.

Taylor declared that during the winter more soft and oily hogs are being produced than in several years past, and that buyers have been complaining because they are getting more pork of this type than they expected.

In some instances, growers have complained that buyers have graded their hogs too strictly, and that they have lost money as a result.

With both buyers and sellers dissatisfied with the present situation, Taylor conferred with representatives of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics, asking that they furnish Federal graders in this state.

As there were no graders available at the time, the Washington group agreed to train some of their personnel in hog grading, especially from the soft and oily pork angle. These inspectors will be stationed in North Carolina as soon as they go through the necessary training period.

"We have approached this soft and oily pork situation slowly and carefully," Taylor said, "because we want to be absolutely sure that the grading service which we secure will be done by well-qualified men."

During the past twelve months, Taylor has been in constant contact with U. S. Department of Agriculture specialists and representatives of packing houses in attempting to improve the situation.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

The half-billion dollar plan to improve the Tennessee river valley through a federal corporation known as the Tennessee Valley Authority has been beset by court fights and internal squabbles for the five years since its inception. Just what is this idea? How big is it? And where will it lead?

Washington — One thing a thorough-going congressional investigation of TVA might accomplish would be to acquaint congress and the public with the gigantic nature of the enterprise.

TVA is a tremendously complicated undertaking, and you could count on your fingers the number of senators and representatives who have more than the most casual knowledge of it. It is rarely debated comprehensively in either house.

Forgotten Dam

A sample of that arose last year. There was extensive debate in committee over the advisability of TVA building Gilbertville Dam near Paducah Ky. Now Gilbertville dam is no longer job. It contemplates an expenditure of $112,000,000.

But last year when the debate arose as to whether the Gilbertville dam on the lower Tennessee should be started, several senators had to ask what authority Congress ever had given to build the dam. Senator McClellan of Tennessee, who probably sleeps with a TVA blue print in his pocket, reminded them they had authorized it in the rush of 1933.

Actually, Gilbertville is only one of a minimum of 11 dams which the TVA project calls for. The first, Wilson dam, was started during war times when the country was excited about its supplies of ribbons for gunpowder. It cost about $77,000,000 and TVA values it now at $91,000,000. Ten more dams in the program calls for outlays of $370,000,000.

The rounded out cost of the project, which is sprawled along about 700 miles of the Tennessee river as it runs through Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and a corner of Georgia, is a half billion dollars.

The Big Money

A half billion dollars is big money, even in these days. Of this half billion, about $200,000,000 has been appropriated over the past five years. $40,000,000 is asked for the coming year, and the completed program calls for like sums over several years in the future.

In its brief life TVA has spent as much as the reclamation service spent building western irrigation projects in 30 years before the New Deal. Since then of course, both have had a go at the big money. Congress has never balked much at continuing TVA. It threw out the Florida ship canal and the Passamaquoddy tide harnessing project, but mostly has let TVA have its requests.

It has been reasonably easy to defend TVA's flood control purpose; almost as easy to defend its project of opening up 600 miles of river to connect Knoxville with the Mississippi, but defending its third purpose, power development, has been a pig in another poke. At that point, its widespread purpose bumped into privately operated utilities—and the war between the New Deal and business has been endless.

That, however, is tomorrow's story.

Board Releases Another Question and Answer List

As another service to its readers, the Reflector each week will give authoritative answers to questions on the Social Security law. By special arrangement with George N. Adams, manager of the Social Security Board office in the Municipal building, in Rocky Mount, the Social Security Board has consented to pass on the accuracy of answers to questions on Social Security which may be asked by employers, employees, and others, through the Reflector. Address inquiries to The Editor. Answers will be given here in the order in which questions are received. This is an informational service and is not legal advice or service. In keeping with Social Security Board policy, names will not be published.

Question: Is it possible to file a claim for lump-sum payment under the old-age insurance provisions of the Social Security Act if the person filing the claim has no record of the Social Security account number under which the claim is to be filed?

Answer: If the person filing the claim for lump-sum benefit does not know the account number of the deceased worker, he should apply to the employer by whom the worker was last employed. If the employer has no record of the deceased worker's account number he is required to file an application for such a number, in accordance with Treasury Decision #704. Full information regarding this can be obtained by applying at your nearest Social Security Board Field Office.

Q. Can a person who was 65 years of age before the Social Security Act went into effect and who worked in employment covered by the old-age insurance provisions of the Act at that time, draw any old age insurance benefits?

A. No. The old-age insurance provisions of the Social Security Act went into effect on January 1, 1937. Under these provisions, when an employee reaches the age of 65 he is entitled to file an application for a lump-sum payment based on wages earned after January 1, 1937 and before he attained age 65. A person who was 65 years of age before January 1, 1937, therefore, would not be eligible.

Q. On the other hand, no tax deductions are made from the wages of those persons who were 65 years of age at that time.

Q. Will the amount paid to an employee as unemployment compensation be deducted from the amount due that employee under the old-age insurance provisions of the Social Security Act when he reaches the age of 65?

A. No. There is absolutely no connection between payments made under any State unemployment compensation law and benefit payments which will be due to employees under the old-age insurance provisions of the Social Security Act when they reach age 65.

Big Legal Lights Clash Before N. C. Highest Tribunal

State and Federal Lawyers Argue Extent of Federal Jurisdiction Over Cherokee Lands

Raleigh, March 11.—Assistant Attorney General Ray Nagle, from Washington, and North Carolina's Attorney General A. F. Seawell, exchanged legal thrusts and parries for more than two hours here on Thursday in an argument before the state's Supreme Court.

When they had finished, Chief Justice Walter F. Stacy remarked: "I'm wondering if any decision we might make is going to settle anything at all," to which Mr. Seawell who then had the floor, replied: "Frankly I don't think it will." The case was the appeal of A. M. Adams, Federal Farm Agent on the Cherokee Indian Reservation in Graham county, from a $25 fine imposed upon him upon conviction of illegally destroying a bridge on a cartway through a part of the Indian lands.

It involved far more than the question of Adams and the $25, however, both sides agreeing that the real question at stake is the extent of Federal jurisdiction over Cherokee lands.

As Mr. Nagle put it: "Whether or not Indian lands held in the name of the United States can be condemned by the state without the consent of the United States and without notice to the Federal authorities."

The Federal assistant attorney general argued that any condemnation proceeding for establishment of a cartway or other right of way are completely null and void unless the United States has not only been notified, but has given its consent.

Mr. Seawell contended that the lands in question are different from the usual Indian lands in as much as the state had complete and entire jurisdiction over them and that the title held by the United States is as trustee only and as trustee for only specific purposes—allocation of the lands to the Indians in severalty.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, March 12.—Just after entering the ground floor door of the Highway Commission annex building, any visitor is brought up short with a regulation Highway "Stop" sign, with the familiar lettering on the familiar metal background. It's just outside the door of an office wherein labor a goodly part of the employees of the Statewide Highway Planning Survey.

Below the "Stop" is printed the following appeal: "Please! These men are busy. Ask questions at the elevator next door."

Arthur Simmons, who recently announced his plans to be a candidate for United States Senator and consequently an opponent of "Our Bob Reynolds" and "Friendly Frank Hancock" has repeatedly been referred to as coming from Alamance county.

The Burlington Daily Times-News emphatically declares that Mr. Simmons' home is in Guilford, not in Alamance.

The "N. C. Labor Journal," which declares on its front page masthead that it stands for the "Principles of the A. F. of L.," has been vigorously and violently disowned by C. A. Pink, president of the North Carolina Federation of Labor, an A. F. of L. affiliate.

In a front page article in the Salisbury Post, Mr. Pink emphatically disclaims any connection with the publication and warns all advertisers who may be approached that the Federation has absolutely no connection whatever with it.

Add to your list of Sherlock Holmeses, Charles Chans and Philo Varnes the name of Bob Thompson, Governor Hoy's private secretary. He got in by the following marvelous piece of inductive—or maybe deductive—reasoning. Three postmasters were in the governor's office. "I think they must be there on something connected with the postal service," quoth Bob.

The grandson whose arrival was recently heralded in Justice Heriot Clarkson's eighth, the genial Supreme Court member brags lustily.

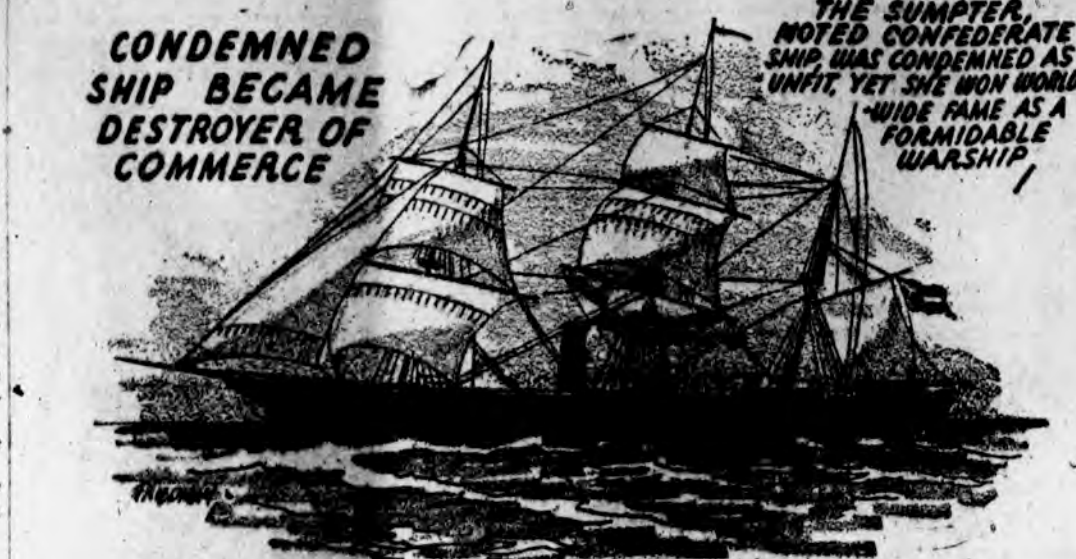

In the Statewide Highway Planning Survey offices they've received some automatic tabulators, which can do just about everything except play the bass fiddle.

"They're entirely too technical for description, but your correspondent was assured by James S. Rureh, engineer of statistics and auditing, that by use of the tabulators it will soon be possible to find out in less time that it takes to start 'em just how many cars there are in Murphy or Manteo; how old they are; how many— to a gallon (they'll make, and all sorts of other useful information what is their pickup in blondes to the mile.

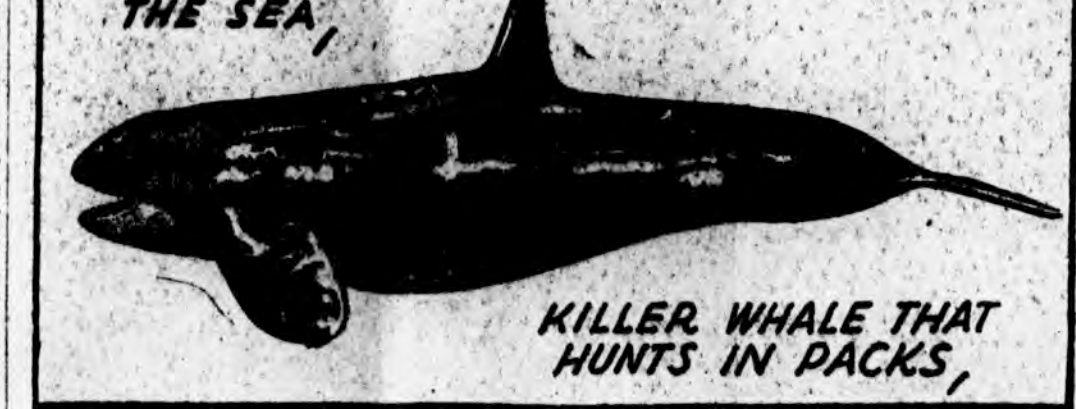

If there had been any doubts about it beforehand, a visit to the outer office of W. Kerr Scott Friday would have convinced your correspondent that spring is here. It seemed that the attractive Social Security had gone in for horticulture on a large scale. She was certainly sitting pretty almost completely surrounded by beautiful blossoms, including jinquilla, hyacinths, japonicas, spirea (maybe that's the way to spell it) and pansies.

Among recent deservative candidates to announce for re-election is H. L. Joyner, of Northampton for the House. Willie Lee Lumpkin one of the anti-administration wheelbarrows, wants to swap his Franklin House seat for one from the same county in the State Senate. Worth McKinney of Asheville has announced for solicitor of the 19th Judicial, composed of Buncombe and Madison.

CONDEMNED SHIP BECAME DESTROYER OF COMMERCE

WOLF OF THE SEA, KILLER WHALE THAT HUNTS IN PACKS,

Although condemned as being unfit by a board of naval experts, the SUMPTER, under the command of Raphael Semmes, became famous all over the world as a formidable war ship, bringing terror and destruction to Federal commerce during the War Between the States. This made-over battleship, which had been a small propeller steamer, had the distinction of becoming the first ship of war to fly the new Confederate flag on the high seas, and also the first battleship propelled by steam.

INVESTIGATION OF THE TVA, which looks as a possibility because of reported disension among Tennessee Valley Authority directors would involve, left to right: Arthur E. Morgan, chairman; Harcourt A. Morgan, vice chairman; and David L. Lichtenhal, director. An official report to the White House, signed by Harcourt A. Morgan and Mr. Lichtenhal are asking that Chairman Arthur E. Morgan retire to private life was recently made public by President Roosevelt.

COOMBS BEGINS SHAPING TEAM

Coach Has Five Vacancies To Fill On Devil Nine

Durham, March 11.—Coach Jack Coombs, the old master of Duke University baseball, has five big holes to fill in building a 1938 team to defend the Southern conference title and to try to carry on a record of 886 victories in 100 games during the past four years.

The five boys lost were all important members of the 1937 championship team—Wayne Ambler, second baseman; Herb Cheek, first base; Hugh Ennis, right field; George Barley, pitcher; and Hans Wagner, catcher. Wagner and Ambler are now with the Athletics and Barley, who won 24 of the 26 college games he pitched, is with the Yankees.

The Duke mentor thinks he has a possible successor to Ambler, who hit .472 last season, in Crabb Davis, the former Gastonia American Legion star. Bill Rue is slated to step into the right field berth occupied by Ennis. It is not to be expected that a pitcher will be found that had such a record as Barley. The first base job is wide open while the catching post is a battle between Husky Joe Brunansky, the football star, and Midget Sid Truesdale.

Sixteen conference games are listed. The opening contest will be with a conference rival—Richmond at Duke on March 30. Other conference foes will be Maryland, N. C. State, North Carolina, Wake Forest and Davidson.

IT HAPPENED on the DIAMOND

JOHNNY ALLEN, Cleveland, had the highest percentage of victories for an American league pitcher—.938—in 1937, this being an all-time league record as well. Only Detroit beat Allen last season. John won 18 games, four of them from the St. Louis Browns.

International Aids Giants and Yanks

By DILLON GRAHAM (AP Feature Service Writer)

The Yankees may have to credit the International league with an assist if the Bronx Bombers win another world championship.

For New York dug into the Newark roster for replacements it needed to carry on. The Yanks lifted Joe Gordon into the second base slot Tony Lazzeri vacated and then brought on Joe Beggs, Atley Donald, Steve Sundra and Spurgeon Chandler to bolster a pitching staff that possibly might crack sometime.

No rookie will make his debut under more pressure than Gordon, the former Oregon university youngster who flashed brightly last season. Although he hit under .300 for Newark, Gordon was a competent lead-off man and a long hitter. His fielding was fancy.

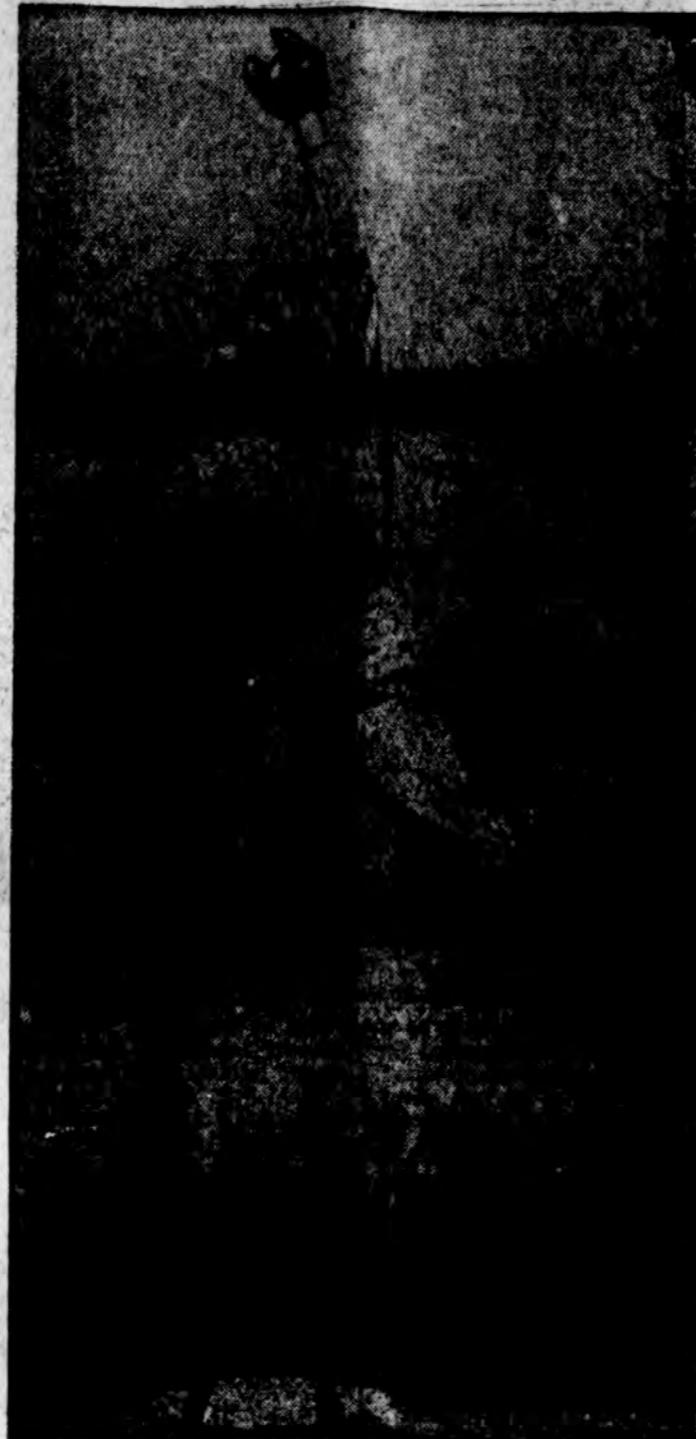

Beggs, who won 21 games, and Donald, who copped 18, figure prominently in the Yankee battle plans. Chandler went well for the champions last spring before an injury shunted him back to the minors. McCarthy expects much of him again.

New York also took Catcher Warren Rosar and Infielder Babe Dehlgren from the Bears.

Newark contributor Catcher Willard Herberberger to Cincinnati and First-Baseman George McQuinn and Pitcher Vito Tamulis to the Saint Louis Browns.

The Giants, national league titleholders, may also vote a grateful assist to the Internationals come September. They pilfered three twirlers, Bill Lohrman and Hy Vandenberg from Baltimore and Moose Mekell from Jersey City. Lohrman bagged 20 victories for the Jersey Giants last season.

Terry's eye may shine for the Reds. Terry wanted Harry Craft.

The Chicago Cubs may find a spot for Jim (Big Train) Asbell from Jersey City. Asbell banged Southern Association fences for the Knoxville Smokies most of last season, galing a .382 average before moving to Jersey City. The Chicago White Sox admire a peppery third-baseman from Baltimore, Smoky Joe Martin.

Other clubs and their recruits:

Cincinnati: Outfielder Arnie Moser, Syracuse. Philadelphia Phillies: Infielder Gene Corbett, Buffalo. Pittsburgh: Pitchers Marvin Duke, Montreal, and Rip Sewall, Buffalo. St. Louis Cardinals: Infielder Bernie Cobb, Montreal. Cleveland: Outfielder Myron McCormick, Buffalo. Detroit: Pitcher W. W. Davis and Infielder Don Ross, Toronto.

We are trying to do all in our reach to have by April 30th everything that looks like trash, old cans, old boxes, bags, stoves and even old stoves and barrels that one will never find use for, done away with. Do all you can to make the yard look like you have moved to a new place. With a little paint, one can have all new furniture in the home, with a few packages of dye one can have new drapes for the windows. I am ready to help and will help you in any way I can to make "Better Homes Week" for a better home.

Eastern Carolina Bids For Project

The Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce with headquarters in Kinston, which serves 47 counties in the eastern part of the state, has called to Secretary Henry A. Wallace's attention the fact that North Carolina in general and Eastern North Carolina in particular, can offer vast agricultural resources why one of the regional research laboratories should be established in this state and in the eastern part of the state itself, according to a statement made by Secretary N. G. Bartlett today.

A direct communication was sent to the Secretary of Agriculture with the request that this section be given an opportunity of proving its claims for the establishment of one of these institutions. It is a recognized fact according to the regional organization's officials, that North Carolina is possibly the best balanced state in the Union and that agriculture is more diversified and better apportioned in this state than in any other state. Practically all of the basically commercial crops are grown in this state and so far as material is concerned it is the belief of the sponsors of North Carolina's advantages, this state offers more than any other agricultural state. The outcome of this project will be awaited with a great deal of interest by the people of this section.

Telephone officials report that the United States holds 65,000,000 telephone conversations a day, one for every two persons in the country.

New York, March 12.—(AP)—Tension over war prospects lessened in the stock market today and leaders generally retrieved parts of their recent losses.

Steels, rails, and specialties succeeded in getting up fractions to a point or so after a slight flop at the opening.

Transfers were around 350,000 shares.

Bonds were ragged.

It's Odd But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE AP Science Editor

New York—Perhaps the man you see returning home at daylight acting as if he had been thrown out of a night club is an amateur astronomer.

Even professional astronomers don't escape misinterpretations. Charles H. Smiley, Brown university astronomer, tells a story about last June's eclipse in Peru in the Telescope. Harvard's scientific journal.

He and two other Rhode Islanders, Harry A. MacKnight and Donald S. Reed, made a Schmidt cam-

FORD VISITS CARVER AT TUSKEGEE

Henry Ford is shown as he was greeted by Dr. George Washington Carver, the celebrated Negro scientist, upon the automobile magnate's arrival at Alabama's Tuskegee Institute for a "personal return visit to Carver's laboratory." A year ago Dr. Carver, chief of research at Tuskegee, visited Ford's plant at Dearborn, Mich. Both are interested greatly in progressive farming.

Carolina To Have Full Time Federal Labor Conciliator

Decision To establish Permanent Agency in State Does Not Indicate Fear of Trouble

Raleigh, March 12.—A full-time labor "conciliator" from the United States Department of Labor will be stationed permanently in North Carolina within the next 60 days, Commissioner of Labor A. L. Fletcher today told this bureau's correspondent.

Headquarters of the conciliator will likely be in Charlotte, Major Fletcher said, as his work will probably cover both North and South Carolina.

The first transcontinental railroad built on the American continent was the Panama railroad, finished in 1855, running from Colon to Panama City.

Spain's American colonies already had established five universities when Harvard, the first in the United States, was founded in 1636.

"I am confident that a full-time Federal conciliator right on the ground, prepared to act at a minute's notice will go far toward preventing labor disturbances in the state, and toward shortening such strikes as may develop from time to time," he said.

"It has been my experience and observation that when conciliation efforts can be commenced before the disputants have begun to 'throw eggs,' either literally or figuratively.

Mr. Cox, a former Kiwanian, thanked the club for inviting the farmers and declared it revealed a "fine spirit of cooperation." He said that Mr. Winslow had done more for the American farmer than any other man ever has or ever will. He added that he regretted that his health had prevented him from doing more.

Mr. Dail then spoke briefly, asking the business and professional men to support the referendum being held today. "Don't say you don't know," he told them, "speak out for it, encourage the farmers to vote for the bill." Mr. Dail told the business and professional men they "did not know" they "did remember 1932."

E. F. Arnold, former county farm agent for Pitt and now executive secretary of the Farm Bureau state organization, declared he was glad to return here and visit the people at one another, the results are generally satisfactory.

Decision of the Federal Department of Labor to establish a permanent conciliation agency in the Carolinas does not mean that there is an unusual threat to labor peace at the present time, Major Fletcher emphasized.

The move is in line with the department's efforts to establish regional conciliators, with headquarters in the center of each of the country's industrial areas, he said.

As a matter of fact, Major Fletcher declared, relations between employers and employees in North Carolina's industries offer no threat just now, and there have been comparatively few strikes or threats of strikes recently.

Asked about recently reported C. I. O. victories in textile mill elections he guardedly replied that all he knows about them are what he has seen in the papers.

he know and worked with for 60 long.

E. S. Askew of Congressman Kerr's office in Washington, was a guest of the club. His home is in Windsor, but he lived here at one time. C. Green of the News-Leader staff, also was a guest of the club. Mr. Green is a former secretary of the New Bern club.

Last night's meeting was in charge of the Agriculture committee, composed of Chairman Sugg, S. A. Whitehurst and B. W. Moseley. Secretary D. C. Moore, Jr., presided over the meeting, in the absence of President D. H. Conley.

$250,000—but they cannot get either from commercial banks or from investment bankers. Commercial nowadays prefer to make loans of only 30, 60, or 90 days. They do not want to lend substantial amounts for four or five years. The depression taught them that commercial banks should make only short-term temporary loans. Many of these small businessmen do not realize it, but what they really need is more permanent money rather than temporary borrowing. This additional capital should be secured by issuing and selling more stock in their concerns.

Cannot Sell New Securities In the money market, however, the small corporation finds such financing almost impossible. Under the Securities Exchange Act, most new securities cannot be issued without filing a great mass of detailed data with the Commission. Furthermore, the issue has to be okayed by the Blue Sky authorities of each individual state in which the securities are to be sold. Hence legal and accounting fees wipe out the meager investment banking profits on small issues. Furthermore, underwriters in New York City or Chicago are not crazy to sell a new security issue of a pants company in Oklahoma, Mississippi or a mining outfit in Bureka, California.

With the closing of these two major avenues for new capital—commercial banks and capital markets—small business has only two alternatives left. One is the loan shark, who specializes in loans to little companies and who charges a tremendous rate of interest. The other is the time-honored and most sensible approach—by selling bonds or stocks to local businessmen and investors who know the company's management, history, and character. Local people, however, are so frightened by President Roosevelt's attack on business, that they will not now invest a penny in new enterprises or expansion.

Little Help From RFC Hence local financing is not feasible now, particularly when the loan is between $100,000 and $250,000. This is a sizeable fund to be picked up locally even in normal times and outside aid must be sought. It was situations of this type that the Administration had in mind when it recently threw open the $1,500,000,000 assets of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to small business. The regulations concerning both Federal Reserve Bank and R. F. C. loans, however, are restrictive. The former, for instance, are limited to five years for "working capital" rather than fixed capital purposes. Hence, a big portion of the applications for loans by small business must be rejected.

The latest proposal is for Investment Trusts to (1) this financing void. They do so in England. The plan would be for the Investment Trusts to divide themselves into 100 classes; One group would confine its investments to "conservative" seasoned securities. The other group—frankly termed "speculative trusts"—would provide new capital for small companies by buying their newly issued stock or bonds. Such Investment Trusts would act as a pool of "new money" for little corporations who cannot now finance through other channels.

Financing Trust Ideal Sensible This sounds like a sensible scheme to me. It offers a more practical solution than having Uncle Sam, through the R. F. C., become a partner in, or creditor of thousands of small concerns. These trusts would do for little businesses what S. Z. Mitchell did for the little utilities when he organized Electric Bond and Share over 30 years ago.

The only better solution would be the passage of needed recovery measures by Congress and the speaking of a few friendly words to business by the President. The resultant return of confidence would then break the dam holding back new capital so that small businesses could get their needed funds from local sources.
