Diplomatic Relations Between Two Countries Restored First Time Since 1920

Mexico Expropriates Foreign Oil Properties Valued at $400,000,000

Stroke Designed To End Labor-Capital Conflict

LABOR EXPECTED SUPPORT MOVE

American Companies Await Official Word Before Announcing Plan of Action

Mexico City, March 19.—(AP)—President Lázaro Cárdenas expropriated American and British oil properties, valued at more than $400,000,000, today, in a bold stroke designed to end a two-year conflict between labor and foreign capital.

Simultaneously the Central Bank of Mexico suspended dealings in foreign currency and the President indicated devaluation of the peso was under official consideration.

Operations were suspended in the oil industry at one minute after midnight last night as union oil workers, going ahead with a threatened "folded arms strike," forced a shut down.

It was believed, however, union headquarters would order the syndicate's 18,000 members back to work promptly in an effort to help Cárdenas while he tussles with the admittedly difficult situation.

Rev. Cary Adams To Speak In City

Tomorrow morning the local Presbyterian Church will have as its guest preacher the Rev. P. Cary Adams, president of Presbyterian Junior College for Men at Maxton.

President Adams, a graduate of Hampden Sidney College, Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, and the University of Grenoble, is one of the more forceful and attractive speakers among the younger ministers of the Southern Presbyterian church.

Supervised by the Synod of North Carolina, P. J. C. under Mr. Adams' presidency has had marked success, being especially well known for the unusual opportunity it offers at low cost for training for business employment.

FIRST PICTURES OF BALEARES SINKING IN SPANISH SEA BATTLE

This picture, one of the most dramatic ever taken of a battleship disaster, shows the 10,000 ton cruiser, Baleares, Spanish Insurgent vessel, going to the bottom early in the morning, March 8, after a sea battle with the Government destroyer, Lepanto, 70 miles off Cape Palos, near Cartagena, Spain. The Baleares was struck squarely amidship by a torpedo from the Lepanto. Six hundred men lost their lives when the ship went down, and 200 were saved by the British destroyers Boreas and Kempenfelt. Note heads of the men struggling in the water at left. This picture, first of an exclusive series, was taken by a British officer from the deck of the Kempenfelt. To make connections with the Europa it was carried in a dramatic race from Gibraltar to Tangier by chartered tug, thence flown to Fes and carried by another chartered plane to Ocran, from there the pictures were relayed to Marseilles for transshipment by air to London. Other pictures of this incident on page three.

DECLARES AIM TO AMEND BILL

To Seek Exemption 16 Agencies from Reorganization Act

Washington, March 19.—(AP)—Opponents of the Government reorganization bill, defeated in their effort to eliminate sweeping authority for the President to shift bureau heads, proposed today the exemption of 16 agencies from any change.

Senator Clark (D. Mo.) offered 16 separate amendments, on the theory that each agency he listed had enough Senatorial friends to assure its retention in present form.

House and Senate were in recess. Maurice Wertheim, New York investment banker, told the Senate Finance committee, meantime, a "sit down strike" of capital "certainly will be here very shortly unless our tax laws are changed."

The Federal surplus commodities corporation announced elsewhere in the capital it would purchase surplus power-cured and dark air-cured tobacco for diversion into by-product uses.

Under the new program supplementing last November's plan, tobacco purchased by the corporation will be donated to Federal, State and other governmental agencies, colleges, universities and non-profit organizations for research purposes.

The uses to which these tobacco products will be put will include developments of methods of recovery of constituents of tobacco, and determination of their insecticidal value; and developments of weed killers with less after-effect on desirable plant life.

New York, March 19.—(AP)—American oil companies, taken by surprise by the action of the Mexican government in expropriating foreign oil property, awaited word today from the agents before announcing a plan of action.

Spokesmen for several companies said that they expected the government would place intervenors—virtual receivers—in the companies to supervise receipts and expenditures, but had not foreseen the drastic move by which President Cárdenas declared the holdings were the property of the republic.

The fourteen American-owned companies and three British, with Mexican properties valued at $100,000,000 accounted for three-fourths of the country's petroleum production.

Some of the purposes of Better Homes Week are as follows: To provide citizens with information on the standards of home building, home furnishing, and equipment.

To encourage families to study their housing needs and to plan, build, and furnish their houses in accordance to their needs.

ROSS KIDNAPER SENTENCED DIE

Notice of Appeal Filed By Attorneys for Seadlund

Chicago, March 19.—(AP)—John Henry Seadlund, 27, Minnesota mechanic, today was sentenced to die in the electric chair April 19 for the kidnaping of Charles S. Ross, 72-year-old retired greeting card manufacturer.

Federal Judge John Barnes passed sentence after denying motion of defense attorney F. Burnham and F. Thompson for a new trial and arrest of judgment.

Seadlund, manacled to two deputy marshals, was led before the bench. "Have you anything to say before sentence is pronounced?" the judge asked.

"No," Seadlund answered, shaking his head. Judge Barnes then read the formal sentence directing that Seadlund be held in the custody of the United States Marshal and on the 19th day of April the defendant shall be put to death by electricity.

Execution of the sentence was stayed, however, until May 19, at the earliest, after the judge granted defense attorneys 60 days in which to effect an appeal.

Apparently unmoved by his fate, Seadlund, still wearing the blue suit he wore throughout the trial, chatted with his counsel several minutes after the court's pronouncement.

The Russian nihilists were responsible for the murder of the Czar Alexander II in 1881.

Two Weeks' Criminal Sessions Scheduled for Pitt

A two weeks' session of Superior court is scheduled to convene here Monday morning with Judge Henry A. Grady of Clinton, presiding.

The calendar, revealed this week by Solicitor D. M. Clark, shows 54 defendants listed for trial during the term.

During the two weeks Superior court is being conducted the regular Tuesday session of County court will be dispensed with, the next session of the recorder's tribunal being scheduled for April 5.

Babson Discusses Business Decline

Babson Park, Fla., March 19.—Business this month is the worst in three years. Activity is now back to the level of the Spring of 1935. It is 28 per cent below a year ago, although still about 33 per cent above the depression bottom of March, 1933.

My New Year forecast called for a bad first quarter—at least 15 per cent below a year ago. We are having it all right. The drop is averaging even more than I predicted. It is about 23 per cent.

As 1938 opened there were signs of a turn-up. Business did move ahead two or three per cent between mid-January and mid-February. During the last four weeks, however, things have slipped off again. Business now is two per cent lower than a month ago. There has been a sharp drop in retail sales of all kinds. Despite big bargains in most lines, those with good incomes are afraid to buy. Moreover, others have no money to spend. Four million people have lost jobs since a year ago. Payrolls have been slashed nearly $100,000,000 weekly. Farm income has held up well, but it, too, has fallen from earlier levels.

CHARLES ELKS DIES AT HOME

Funeral For Pitt Farmer To Be Held Tomorrow

Charles Franklin Elks, 69-year-old Pitt county farmer, died suddenly at his home on the Farnville highway near Red Oak Church this morning at 11:05 o'clock.

Mr. Elks died of coronary thrombosis following an operation and declining health.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. M. A. Woodard of Winterville, Free Will Baptist minister. Burial will follow in the family cemetery near the home.

Active pallbearers will be Raymond, Peraan, Leon and N. S. Tyson. F. P. Manning, Jarvis Tripp, Laura Coward and Sam Pollard.

Mr. Elks was born and spent his entire life on the farm where he died. He was a member of the Piney Grove Free Will Baptist Church and was well known in the section of the county in which he lived.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sudie Elks; four sons, James P., Thurman, Johnnie and Lyman Elks, all of the home; four daughters, Mrs. J. W. Jones, of near the home place, Misses Louise, Mamie Ruth and Verna May Elks of the home; three brothers, Alonzo, James and Daniel Elks, all of Pitt county; three sisters, Mrs. J. P. Craft of Wilson, Mrs. Forest Craft of Duplin county, and Mrs. Alf Tripp of Greene county; and four grandchildren.

State Revenue Adequate To Ward Off Diversion

Raleigh, March 19.—Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell's statement that the state's receipts for the current fiscal year will equal or exceed estimates made during the General Assembly session of 1937 indicates that there will be no necessity for diversion of highway funds to other purposes during the first year of the fiscal biennium, at least, for which the last legislative session made provision.

To that extent opponents of the practice of spending highway money for general purposes are well pleased but they view the continuing business "recession" (as it is courteously called) with more than a little alarm over prospects for the next fiscal year, when they fear the outcome will not be so fortunate.

Meanwhile they are pressing their campaign for a Constitutional amendment forbidding diversion; and they have high hopes that there will be the necessary two-thirds majority in both houses of the 1939 General Assembly to submit such an amendment. They fear however, that if revenues should show a marked shrinkage the Assembly would look more to the necessity of raising revenues for schools and other functions than to the principle of the diversion problem.

Elizabeth City Man Dies Result Wreck

Alleged Slayer Of Officer Captured

Elizabeth City, March 19.—(AP)—Three hours after his car smashed upon the Windsor-Edenton highway last night, injuries proved fatal to W. B. Newbern, 46, of this city. He suffered a broken pelvis bone, ruptured bladder and numerous contusions.

His Negro chauffeur, Junius Betts, and Elton Holly, Edenton Negro, driver of the truck, were injured seriously but were expected to live.

Corporal C. I. Dail of the State Highway Patrol, said the sedan in which Newbern was riding, was backing up on the pavement 150 feet north of the Colerain route junction, when the Edenton truck rammed through the rear. Both car and truck were headed north.

Washington, March 19.—(AP)The treasury announced today its agents and local posse had captured George W. Tatum, 31, of Marion county, Tenn., who the department said, shot and killed William P. Berry, an alcohol tax investigator.

Berry was killed in a raid on a still yesterday.

Tatum was arrested near his farm home near Chattanooga a treasury field report said.

Only Three Cases In Mayor's Court

Two wreck cases and one charge of public drunkenness were aired at the regular Saturday morning session of City police court.

John Rivers and Jim Haddock submitted to traffic law violations and the costs of court was divided.

Julian Hardy pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was fined $5 and taxed with the costs of court.

Bert Taylor and Edward Wingate were bound over to County court on charges of careless and reckless driving.

All of the defendants at the session were white men.

By ETHEL NICE, E. D. A.

Winterville 4-H Club—The Winterville 4-H health examinations were given Monday morning. Mrs. Lloyd Allen, the 4-H sponsor for the Home Demonstration Club, was present.

Grifton 4-H Club—Forty-six Grifton boys and girls reported for health examinations Monday morning.

Red Oak 4-H Club—The Red Oak Club met Wednesday night.

County Health Examinations—In a few weeks the county health elimination contest will be held. The highest scoring boys and girls will be notified. In the meantime each one should do everything possible to raise his standard. Good posture and grooming cannot be over-emphasized. A trip to your dentist would be a splendid investment.

Stokes H. D. Club—Seventeen women assembled Monday afternoon in the Home Economics room for the March Home Demonstration meeting. "Flower Arrangement" was the subject. A committee was appointed to arrange for the club tour next month. Much merriment was enjoyed with a contest.

Pierce H. D. Club—The Pierce Home Demonstration Club met Thursday afternoon in the club rooms. Mrs. Joe Sumrell was hostess. During the social hour each member was asked to list five things she liked and five things she didn't like. As these were read by the hostess, guesses were made as to whose paper it was. They will have a tour in April.

St. John H. D. Club—The St. John Home Demonstration Club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. L. B. McGlohon. They will have a called meeting at the church next Friday afternoon to decide on their clean-up program. In the meantime different members are delegated to contact the mayor of Grifton, school principal and ministers to solicit cooperation.

H. D. Council—Mrs. Tyer conducted a snappy and very business-like council meeting Wednesday afternoon. Thirty-two women were present and several important items of business were executed.

Choral Club—The fourth meeting of the Choral Club was held Friday night in the library. The next meeting will be April 1. These rehearsals continue to be very interesting and helpful. We can have a large Choral Club if members will come regularly. Don't miss unless it is absolutely necessary as it means the entire group must go back and review—or you will miss what has been given before. Don't wait until the last meeting to catch up.

Better Homes—Every club president is to have a called meeting very soon to outline the part their club will take in the Clean-up Campaign. This should not be overlooked. Directions have been sent to each president. Have you noticed the Greenville swimming pool has already been cleaned? Charles Carraway, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Carraway, has prepared the soil in their front yard this week for better grass than they have had.

Herbert White Lee Host At Dance.
Last night from eight until twelve o'clock, Herbert White Lee entertained the younger social set at a masquerade dance at the Country Club. Masses of brilliantly colored spring flowers provided a lovely setting for this colorful affair.

Dancing was enjoyed throughout the evening. At ten o'clock balloons were given as favors and a grand march was formed, led by the host with Miss Barbara Ruffin of Wilson. Prize for the most attractive girl's costume was awarded to Miss Anne Skinner who went as Mae West; prize for the most attractive boy's costume went to Sidney Johnson who was attired as a Russian. Refreshments consisting of punch, wafers, and salted nuts were served. Approximately one hundred guests attended the dance quite a few of whom came from out of town.

Announce Grades of Students.
A Greenville student, Miss Marguerite Rogerson, was among those who stood high in scholastic records at the college during the fall term of this college year according to figures just released by the Registrar's office. Miss Rogerson, who is a senior, made a grade of all of her subjects of either "1" or "2." The highest grade given is "1."

Three students tied for first place with a record of all "1's" except in one subject each, and a "2" in that. These students were Miss Gladys Ippock, Ernul, sophomore; Miss Martha Morrison, Dillon, S. C., junior; and Miss Barbara Louise Smith, Atlantic, freshman.

Miss Allean Davis, Fremont, senior came next, with a record only slightly lower than that of the first three. Miss Mary Frances Hardy, Snow Hill, freshman, and Miss Lucille Lewis, Wilmington, junior, also tied, with four "1's" and two "2's" each.

Others on the list, all of whom had made at least half "1's" and the remainder "2's" were Miss Annie Hart Rouse, Pendleton; Miss Irene Mitcham, Goldsboro; Miss Frances Nance, Bonlee; Miss Sue Speed, Franklin; Miss Dorothy Tait, Spring Hope; and Miss Rosa Womack, Broadway.

These students form this year the list which Dr. McGinnis makes up each year, and which he calls the "All-American" list.

State In Need Of Better Facilities For Tourist Trade

Raleigh, March 18.—More adequate facilities for handling tourists, better protection of scenic and recreation resources and the raising of standards for hotels, restaurants, tourist camps and tourist cabin accommodations are among the things most needed in North Carolina and in other southern states in the opinion of the members of the Southern Highlands Recreational Committee which met recently in Knoxville, Tenn., under the auspices of the National Resources Committee, according to T. S. Johnson who represented the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development. Mr. Johnson is a member of this committee, also head of the water resources division of the department.

"The committee was of the unanimous opinion that this highlands area in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee possess tremendous possibilities for recreational development, and that it can draw visitors from a very large area in the eastern United States," Mr. Johnson said. "It was also of the opinion that the people in this area must be informed of these possibilities and that they must cooperate in providing more adequate facilities for tourists and to protect their scenic and recreational areas against exploitation."

"Perhaps the most important thing needed in North Carolina and these other states in the sections where tourist travel is already increasing, is more adequate roadside control stations and eating places and for higher standards among the hotels, restaurants, tourist camps and cabins, the committee agreed. A movement was set on foot to secure the cooperation of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, through the Extension Service, to distribute interested persons, through county agents and others, pamphlets on approved tourist camp designs and operation.

Choral Club
The fourth meeting of the Choral Club was held Friday night in the library. The next meeting will be April 1. These rehearsals continue to be very interesting and helpful. We can have a large Choral Club if members will come regularly. Don't miss unless it is absolutely necessary as it means the entire group must go back and review—or you will miss what has been given before. Don't wait until the last meeting to catch up.

Better Homes
Every club president is to have a called meeting very soon to outline the part their club will take in the Clean-up Campaign. This should not be overlooked. Directions have been sent to each president. Have you noticed the Greenville swimming pool has already been cleaned? Charles Carraway, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Carraway, has prepared the soil in their front yard this week for better grass than they have had.

SURVIVORS OF BALEARES BOMBING RUSHED TO MAJORCA

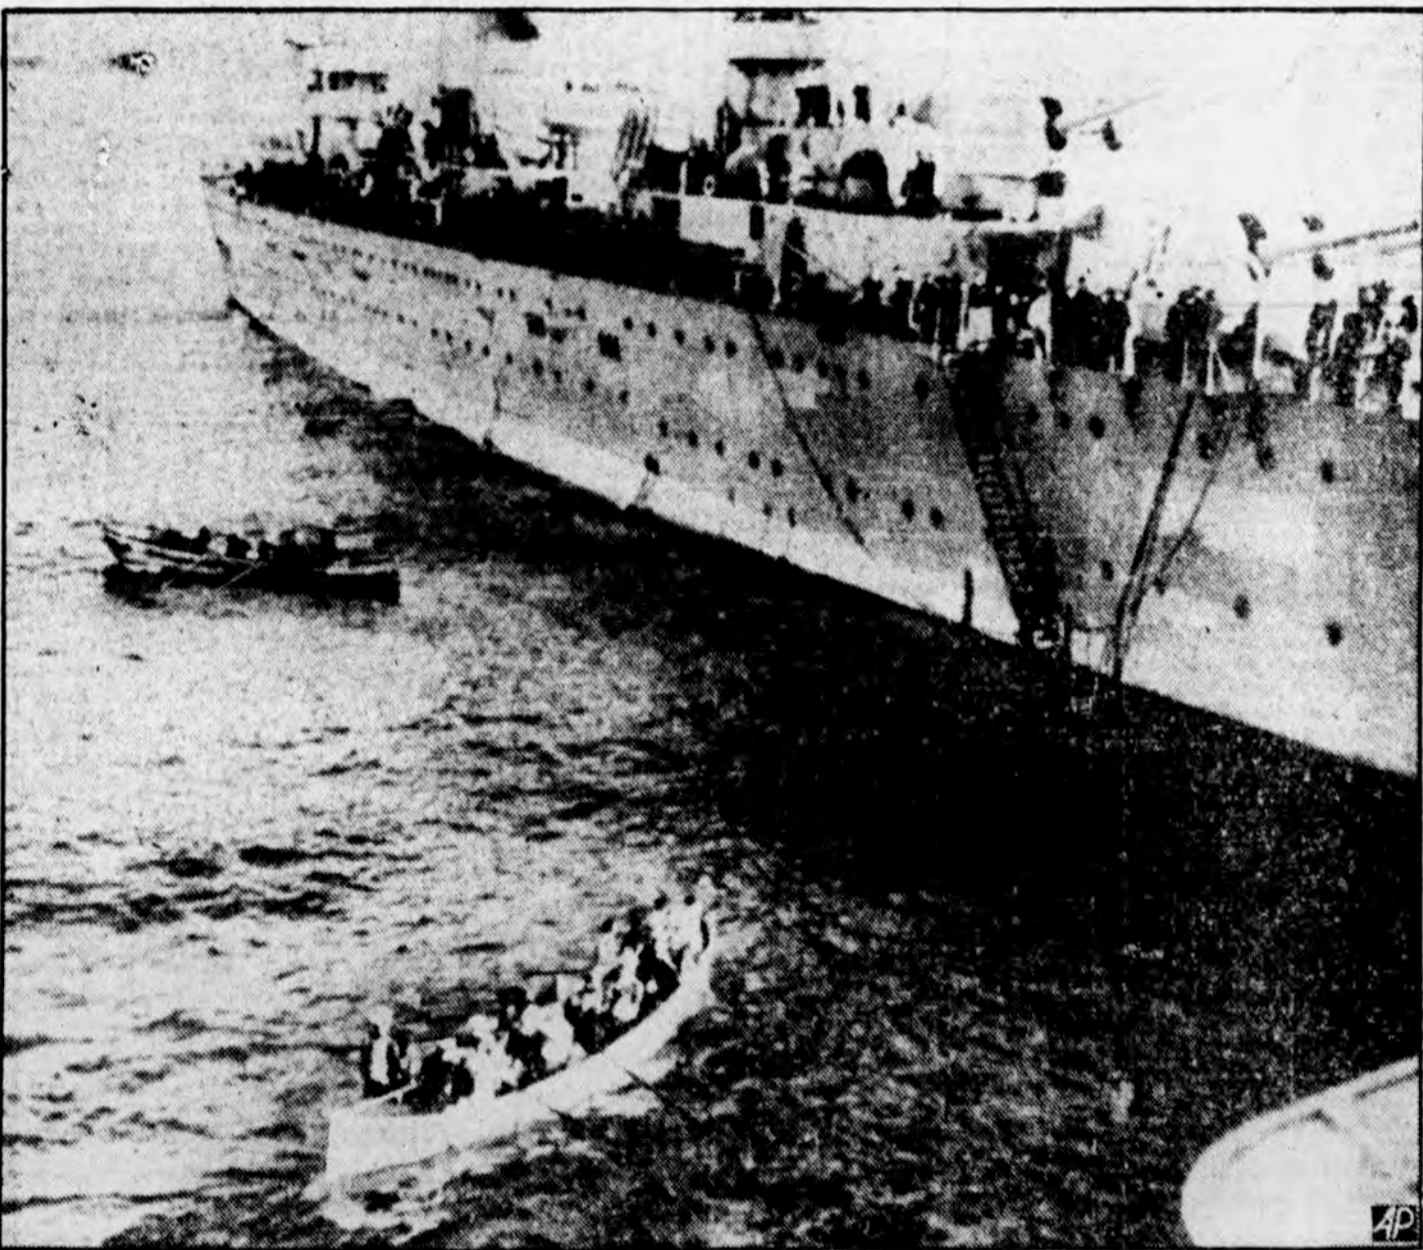

This picture, taken at Palma, Majorca, shows some of the 200 survivors of the Baleares sinking after they were rescued by British naval vessels and rushed to the first port of haven. Six hundred men lost their lives in the tragic naval engagement off Cape Palos, near Cartagena, Spain, March 6, when an unerringly aimed torpedo from the government destroyer Lepanto found its mark and blew up the munitions magazines on the Spanish Insurgent cruiser Baleares. Turned into a raging inferno, the Baleares sank quickly, taking with it its terrific toll of lives.

BRITISH SEAMAN KILLED IN SPANISH NAVAL BATTLE

After the Baleares, 10,000-ton pride of the Spanish Insurgent navy, had received her death blow from the Government destroyer, Lepanto, the British destroyers Boreas and Kempenfelt, on non-intervention duty in the Mediterranean, steamed up to pick up survivors. At that time, though, Government planes let loose a hail of bombs on the Baleares, sinking her and almost getting the Boreas, shown at right. One British seaman was killed. This picture is one of an exclusive series taken by a British naval officer from the deck of the Kempenfelt. The battle, in which 600 lost their lives, took place March 6 about 70 miles off Cape Palos, near Cartagena, Spain.

BRITISH LIFEBOATS BRING BALEARES SURVIVORS TO SAFETY

A majestic survivor of the major naval engagement of the Spanish civil war off Cape Palos, near Cartagena, Spain, the Insurgent cruiser Panarlas stands untouched by bombs as survivors of the sunk Baleares are rowed toward the starboard gangway in boats from the British destroyer Boreas. This picture of the dramatic rescue is one of an exclusive series taken for the Associated Press by a British naval officer. Six hundred men went down with the Baleares; 200 were rescued.

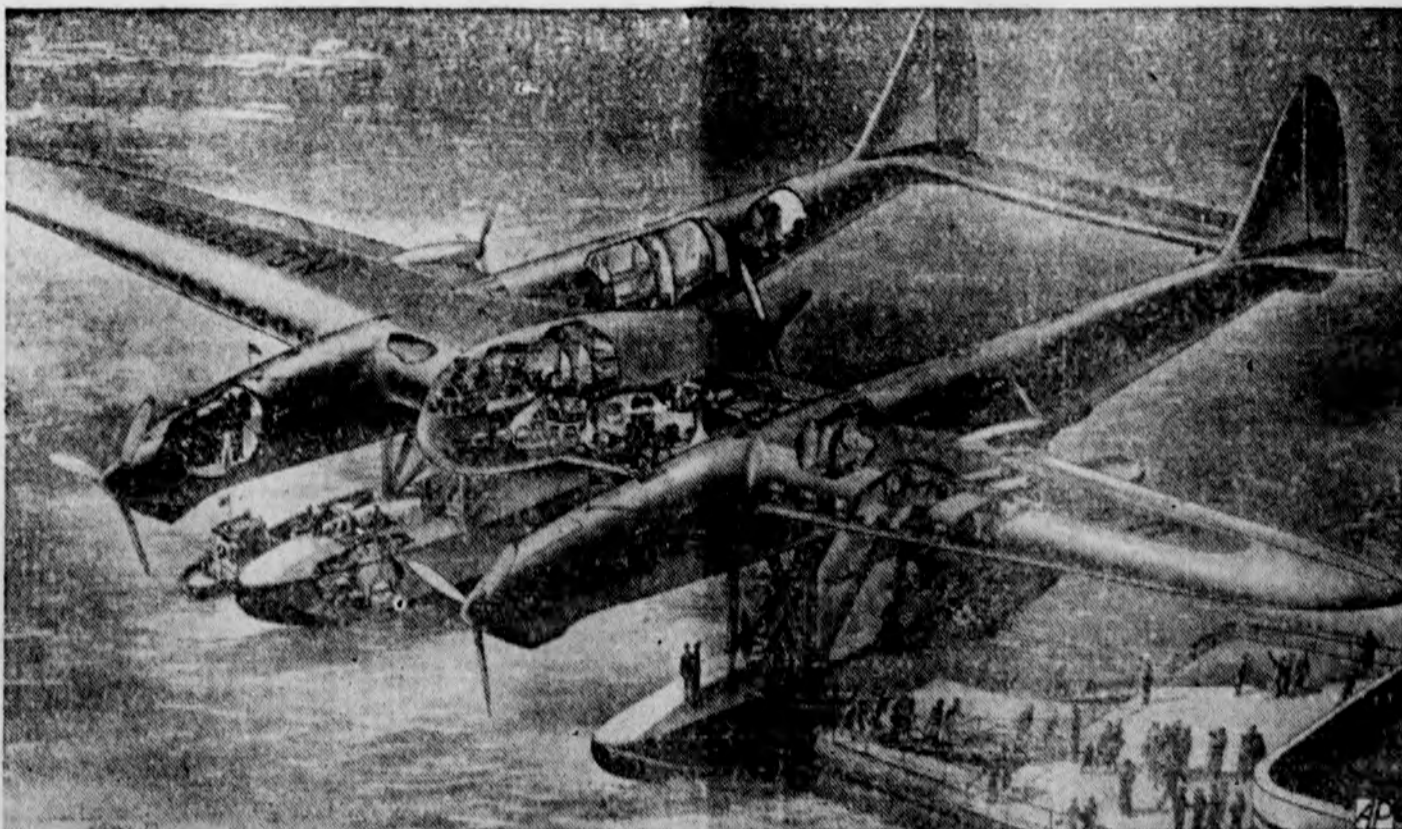

BLAZING FIERCELY, THE BALEALES CARRIES 600 MEN TO DEATH

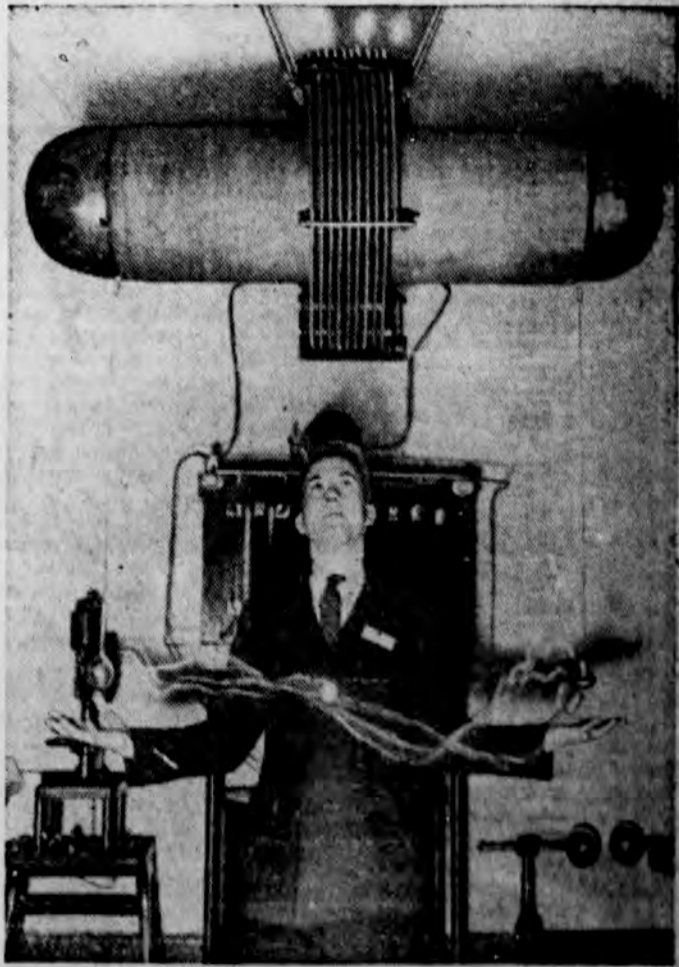

Blazing from stem to stern, with 600 men either drowned or screaming in agony from the raging fire, the Spanish Insurgent cruiser Baleares heads for the bottom after its tragic encounter with the Government cruiser Lepanto. This exclusive picture was taken for the Associated Press by lieutenant Milse-Holm from the quarter-deck of the British destroyer Kempenfelt, in foreground. After the Lepanto's torpedo, which caught the doomed vessel amidship, had set the magazines afire, six air bombs were dropped to finish off the job. The Kempenfelt's searchlight reveals a horrible sight. As the Baleares burns and sinks panic-stricken men can be seen lining the deck and sliding down ropes. Down below are seamen bobbing in the water as they strike out for the two British ships standing nearby. Of the 8000 men aboard only 200 were rescued.

IN PEACE—A 'FLYING YACHT'; IN WAR—A 'DREADNAUGHT' is claim for this Seversky-designed, 120-passenger plane shown in artist's drawing. Ship would weigh 300,000 pounds and have top speed of 300 miles an hour. For war purposes, the plane could carry ten 2,000-pound bombs 12,000 miles, says Seversky Aircraft corporation of Farmingdale, N. Y.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington - The President has inaugurated a new style of national inquiry to operate alongside Senate investigations, but his own personally conducted questioning of TVA directors lacked considerably the drama of a full-fledged Senate investigation.

It was behind closed doors, and even though the presidential corps of stenographers kept a stream of copy pouring from some upper recess of the White House, the play-by-play transcript of proceedings lacked the furious give-and-take that goes on in a congressional committee.

In the first place, when the President of the United States tells a witness to answer the question or say nothing—as he did Chairman Arthur Morgan of TVA—the witness just about has to mind. After all, the President is the President of the United States. There are Senators who consider their dignity equal to that of the President, but might few witnesses share the view and they get up and trade verbal punches in a way that makes the Presidential type of inquiry stack up like—well, like a strictly amateur performance.

Press Conference

But there is nothing that puts the President in such a purring mood as when he has an opportunity to spring a new turn. That was the case when he inaugurated the "White House investigation" of torn and tattered TVA. He held a brief press conference before calling in the sparring directors, and so assured was his tone that he bubbled like a Scotch and soda. It contrasted with the press conferences in weeks preceding, when the President seemed less buoyant.

In each press conference there seems to be a reporter or two primed to act as end man to give the President a running start. So it was this day.

A Few Questions

"Can you say," said Mr. Bones, "why some Senators who are always complaining that there are too many bureaus are afraid now that under the reorganization bill you will abolish too many?"

"That," said the President, "is one of the mysteries of Washington."

That sugary-sweet exchange caused considerable impatient whiffing among the reporters, as did the next one. A reporter asked the President if under the reorganization bill he would become a dictator. The President, in a sort of Sunday school tone, replied that any of the reporters coming to his press conferences could answer that one.

This tone of sweetness and light, probably as noisome to the President as to most of his questioners, ended abruptly when some twill-cums-back in the room asked: "Do you need permission of congress to become a dictator?"

The President threw back his head and laughed. He laughed again when a gal reporter, noting an army officer sitting near the chief executive, asked: "Has the army been called in for this conference, or for the next one?" (with TVA directors).

Capital tabloid

All the fifth-rate dog and cat shows, juggling acts and half-man-half-woman freaks that tag along on the outskirts of the circus trade are drifting back through Washington on the way from the South where winter living costs are less. They settle for a day or two in a ninth-street store room and show you the whole works for a dime. Pretty sad stuff.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, March 19.—It seems fairly safe to predict that the 1939 House member from Surry county will be dry voting.

This sort of forecast can be made on no less an authority than Lon Folger, Democratic National Committeeman from North Carolina and generally conceded to be boss of Surry county politics.

Asked what stand Surry's representative would likely take on the liquor question, Lonnie grinned and said:

"Why, if he was wet before he was elected, he'd be dry when he got to Raleigh," he said.

Explaining, he said that sentiment is so overwhelmingly dry in Surry that any representative, no matter what his personal convictions, would vote dry in response to the wishes of his constituents.

Incidentally, it seems all fixed up for Henry Dobson to represent Surry in the 1939 House. The 1937 member, N. J. Martin, is in bad health and unequal physically to the task. He will not be a candidate for re-election.

The forest fire control unit of the forestry division had plenty of work on its hands the first week in March, when several extensive forest fires developed in Beaufort, Onslow and Pitt counties, according to Assistant State Forester W. C. McCormick in charge of the fire control forces of the Department of Conservation and Development. These fires were finally stopped without any very extensive destruction of timber, although the Onslow fire would probably have destroyed several thousand acres of timber if immediate action had not been taken to check it.

The shad season is just getting started and indications are that it is going to be better than in several years, according to Captain John A. Nelson, commercial fisheries commissioner of the Department of Conservation and Development.

"No very large catches have been reported so far, but the fishermen tell me that they are catching more shad than they did last season while some report they are catching twice as many," said Captain Nelson.

Drivers' licenses revoked in North Carolina rose to a total of 15,883, according to lists issued by the motor vehicle division.

The American Petroleum Industries committee reports that while automotive taxes have been levied on the ethery that if 10,000,000 families can afford to buy new cars they can afford to pay taxes, even if excessive, more than one-third of the families in the country have been purchasing and operating used cars and have been paying the bulk of the automotive tax bill.

Following the lead of Salisbury, where the first conviction of the kind was obtained, Greensboro has secured guilty verdicts against ten men who operated a bookmaking joint in the Guilford capital. They were proceeded against on the common law gambling theory, and not—as has been futilely tried—upon statutes against lotteries.

The simile used to be "As changeable as a woman's mind," but as a result of the backing and filling over an open Sunday in Charlotte it's now "As changeable as the Charlotte council's mind (if any)."

Increase Shown In Children's Diseases

Raleigh, March 15.—An increase in deaths from diseases prevalent among children is noted in the February report of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Board of Health, of which Dr. R. T. Stimpson is director.

There were 21 deaths from measles in North Carolina last month, as compared with 4 in February, 1937, while deaths from whooping cough totaled 21, against 7 the corresponding month last year, the report reveals.

Pneumonia took a heavier toll than in February, 1937, the 1938 total being 395. Last year's total for February was 347.

Deaths from automobile accidents reported through this source dropped from 70 to 55.

The birth rate continues its upward trend. During February of this year the total was 6,271, as compared with 6,159 last year. The death rate, too, went up this February's total being 2,918, as compared with 2,865 last year.

There were three deaths from tetanus, lockjaw, in North Carolina last month. None occurred in February, 1937. Tuberculosis deaths dropped from 161 to 156; cancer increased from 145 to 147; pellagra jumped from 347 to 395.

Maternal deaths numbered one less while infant deaths under one year dropped from 441 to 419. Syphilis deaths numbered 41, as compared with 34 a year ago.

World wheat supplies for 1937-38 are estimated to be about 55 million bushels larger than last year.

STATE REVENUE ADEQUATE TO WARD OFF DEVERSION

(Continued from page one) the budget authorities to demand in order to meet general fund expenses, if and when there is no balance in any other fund sufficient to meet them. The commissioner's subsequent reassuring statement that income tax receipts and others would exceed legislative estimates on which the budget was based allayed these fears for the time being; but there is still some doubt whether diversion can be escaped next year.

BARBON DISCUSSES BUSINESS DECLINE

(Continued from page one) been sound. There has been no speculative pyramiding of real estate or stocks. Banks are not loaded up with questionable securities and loans. Prices of raw materials are back at attractive levels and inventories of goods have been thor-

Danger Point Near

Business is constantly moving one way or another. It does not stay at a standstill very long. Most of the recession came before the New Year. Since then there has been only a minor decline. We are now at a critical point. The sharp drop in purchasing power is a danger signal. Depressions are nothing more than a continuous downward spiral in buying power. Prosperity is the opposite process. Once the spiral picks up momentum it is mighty hard to stop. Business has been very slow for six months and the spiral has been getting a good start. We will not be in a major depression, however, until pay-cuts and lay-offs are the word everywhere. The order "to cut" has not yet been given out wholesale.

I liken the present situation to a run-away freight train coming down the mountain. There are plenty of opportunities to switch it off on a spur track before it wrecks a passenger train in the station in the valley below. The train has already passed several of these cut-offs. But the yard-men apparently cannot decide which cut-off to use. They are standing around arguing among themselves over some petty railroad red tape. Meanwhile the freight slides on toward the village below. In my analogy, business is the run-away freight, while our Congressional leaders are the blundering yard-men.

Nero Fiddles

Since the "recession" started, Congress has been in session nearly four months. Only two important Acts have been passed: The Housing Act and the Farm Act. Both are "Recovery Measures," but neither one gets at the root of our trouble. The Housing Act would step up building if union labor would help. But it can do little under current conditions with labor costs exorbitantly high. The Farm Act is so complicated that few people even understand it. The feeling is that it will aid somewhat—but largely in the direction of more "hand-outs."

Two Reasons For Bullishness

I have not turned bullish, however! There are still two possibilities which can yank us out of the current slump— 1. Fundamental conditions are sound. Many industries are stabilizing. Financial factors, such as bank deposits, are improving. Spring buying can help business wriggle out of the clutches of pessimism despite Washington. Remember we are not yet in a major depression

Industrial Advertising Producing Good Results

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, March 19—Results are beginning to become apparent from the industrial advertising placed in industrial, trade and business papers by the State Advertising Committee, according to J. T. Anderson, industrial engineer in charge of the division of commerce and industry of the Department of Conservation and Development.

Letters from out of the state inquiring, seeking information concerning locations for specific industries have been so numerous in the last few weeks, Mr. Anderson said, that additional help has been sought in taking care of them.

The industrial engineer is also getting more and more calls from industrial executives asking him to accompany them on inspection tours of possible industrial sites.

This decided increase in interest being shown by industry in North Carolina is attributed by Mr. Anderson to the following factors:

1. The unsettled labor conditions in the North and East and the attendant high cost of operating.
2. The lower cost of operating in the South due to the milder weather, proximity to raw material, and superior intelligence of native-born labor.
3. The state's advertising campaign and the stories sent out by news bureaus telling of the advantages which the state offers, both from the standpoint of its fair attitude toward industry, its natural resources and its strategic location with regard to distribution and markets.

AYDEN WAGING WAR ON RATS

quill bait is pretty nearly fool-proof, in that cats and dogs, chickens and other domestic animals and fowls will not eat it but rats and mice will. As it is a slow poison, acting in five hours to four or five days, red squill makes an animal eating the squill bait, sick but such an animal will vomit the material before serious damage has been done to its internal anatomy. Rats and mice, it has been found, cannot vomit. That is the secret of the situation.

Two years ago, good results were obtained in the Ayden city-wide campaign of baiting. As now, the city paid for the red squill powder, the food materials, fish and hamburger meat, and the labor involved. The Federal government furnished Mr. Lay's services gratis, as this is his main work from Virginia to Florida—rat control. Mr. Lay drove down yesterday from Greensboro, where a city-wide campaign is now under way and where he started the work off with newspaper publicity and radio talks.

Baits will be placed as carefully as possible, so that rats and mice find them but so other animals will not. This saves bait, to do the job intended. B. F. Peterson, vocational teacher in the Ayden schools, was instrumental two years ago in getting the first rat campaign put on and, since then, the public has backed the idea effectively.

It is expected that the baiting will be completed in Ayden Monday but, if more time is needed, Tuesday will also be used for this purpose last night at 6:30, Mr. Lay met with the Rotary Club of Ayden and talked on the forthcoming campaign; he also told quite a number of his "Believe-It-Or-Not" animal stories. Mr. Lay is the brother of Mrs. Charles A. White, of Greenville and spent Saturday night here.

MINNIE'S SMILE IS STILL ONE OF IVORY AND GOLD

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, March 19—Minnie is not her real name, but it is the pseudonym adopted by a Negro Division office of the North Carolina State Employment Service to designate one of their registrants who incidentally, is an excellent cook.

Minnie entered the Employment office with a list of woes about as follows: She was out of work, ineligible for compensation benefits, the rent due on her house, and her groceries reduced almost to the irreducible minimum.

Minnie was informed that there were no openings at the moment for cooks no matter how well qualified or how well recommended.

"Then that settles it. I want a favor, please. Tell me where I can sell these," she said.

Whereupon the carefully dumped the contents of her ample handkerchief on the desk.

New Applications Filed with N. C. Employment Service

Raleigh, March 19—Nearly 17,000 new applicants sought jobs through the North Carolina State Employment Service during the month of February, it was reported today by R. Wayne Albright, director. Over twice this number made application in January, the first month, during which applicants could file claims for benefits.

Placements made by the Service showed a 20 per cent increase over January placements, indicating a revival of industrial activity, Albright said.

Of the placements made in 16 different types of industry during the month, 50 per cent were in textiles and 34 per cent in tobacco.

Unemployment was more evenly distributed among the various industries during February, according to Employment Service registrations. Manufacturing, which accounted for 65 per cent of the job applications made in January, supplied only 49 per cent in February. Of these, textiles represented 57 per cent, a smaller proportion than in January when textiles furnished 70 per cent of the applicants.

Registration of women was three per cent lower than in January. Negro registrations represented 33 per cent of the applicants in February as compared with 27 per cent in January.

The number of persons appearing at the offices of the Service in February totaled 336,551. The number of claimants filing benefits for the first time declined 49 per cent while claimants filing continued claims to show that they are still out of work and available for work rose from 100,240 to 209,992 as of February 28.

A decline in the number of continued claims filed in 18 offices indicates a return to work of many claimants.

A drop of 58 per cent in registrations during February is reported for this district. As in January miscellaneous manufacturing, largely tobacco, was the chief contributor among manufacturing.

Offices comprising the Rocky Mount district are Rocky Mount, Goldsboro, Greenville, Kinston, Wilson and Roanoke Rapids. The number of persons actively seeking employment through the Employment Offices in this district is now 15,938.

In January, the Greenville office led the entire district in the number of private placements, making 70 during the month. Greenville was third place in the district in the number of private placements for February with 41.
