Freight Rates

Washington, April 14.—(AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission denied today an application by the Eastern railroads for permission to increase passenger coach fares from two to two and a half cents a mile.

The Commission, in its order, said it found the proposed increase not justified.

Railroads had estimated the half cent increase would have added $30,000,000 to their revenues.

The eastern territory, in which the increase was sought, is bounded on the west by Lake Michigan, Chicago, Peoria and Springfield.

County Furnishes Ten Boys for CCC

Pitt County furnished ten boys for service in the April quota for the Civil Conservation Corps and this number was enrolled at Washington, N. C., Tuesday morning.

All enrollees for April are to have service in the Ninth Corps Area, which is Washington, Oregon and California. Pitt County boys and all boys received at Washington were immediately entrained to Fort Bragg for ten days seasoning before enlisting for the CCC camp on the West Coast.

They are enrolled on the condition that they re-enroll at the end of six months, which means that they must serve a year in camp. CCC authorities predict rather heavy enrollment for the next quarter in July but until that time no applications will be received for entrance in the CCC.

Scott Will Deliver Address At Grifton

The Grifton school will close the current season on April 29 with W. Kerr Scott, Commissioner of Agriculture, as the commencement speaker. While Mr. Scott is in Grifton he will be entertained in the home of W. I. Bisset.

The Grifton commencement begins tonight with the grammar grades of the school the operetta, "Snow-White and The Seven Dwarfs." On Friday night, April 24, the primary grades of the school will present the operetta, "Rose Dream."

The following Sunday the baccalaureate sermon will be preached by the Rev. Mr. Clegg of the Bethel Methodist church.

The public is invited to all of the exercises.

City Schools Close Two Days for Greenville students and teachers appear to be the only persons who will benefit by any Easter holidays, except, of course, the banks. The city schools will close this afternoon and will not resume work until Tuesday morning.

Both the College and county schools will operate as usual and the officials of the Merchants Association declared that no holiday was planned by the various business houses.

Baby Case

Wilson, April 14.—(AP)—Four persons were taken into custody today by Wilson police investigating the death of a newborn baby girl yesterday morning shortly after she was found abandoned on a street here.

On the police blotter they were booked as:

Mrs. Mittie Lucas, 43-year-old widow and mother of six children.

Jesse Hamilton, 42-year-old former policeman here.

Mary Fuller, 54-year-old Negro midwife.

Dr. W. A. Mitchner, Negro physician.

Mitchner posted $2,500 bond pending further developments, but the other three were held in the city jail. Mrs. Lucas later was removed from the jail to a hospital for treatment.

Police headquarters said Mrs. Lucas had signed a statement saying she had given birth to the baby and asserting Hamilton was the father.

RINGLING BARNUM SHOW GOES ON DESPITE STRIKE

Union employees of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus went on strike just before the opening of a night performance in New York's Madison Square Garden. But the "greatest show on earth" must go on—and it did. Here we see the circus giant, Jack Earle; the executive head of the show, John Ringling North (in front of Earle wearing light gray hat); a midjet, Major Harry Dowd, and other entertainers doing the work of the striking roustabouts. The strike was settled today.

HANCOCK BIDS FOR DRY VOTES

Only Surprise Contained in Opening Campaign Talk

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, April 14.—Frank Hancock's opening "Senatorial song" of Tuesday night continued only one surprise note—a somewhat subdued but none the less resonant strain call for the dry vote to rally to him against incumbent Robert R. Reynolds.

Twice in the ten by-annuendo attacks on Reynolds he slurred the Buncombe man's stand on liquor. His lead-off "promise" took a pot shot at "Our Bob" for making a Senate speech in favor of liquor sales in the District of Columbia.

His "fifth" was directed at a Reynolds bid which in Hancock's words provided that "liquor may be given to dumb animals."

There wasn't a mention of Reynolds' name in the entire speech, both Frank and "Our Bob" having adopted the opera bouffe, musical comedy stuff of refusing to recognize the other's existence.

But there is no doubt in the mind of any listener or commentator that the ten Hancock promises were ten definite attempts to dress Reynolds in the "accountments of the clown," and the fact that two of them referred to the well known Reynolds wetness—even though the (Continued on page eight)

Funeral services will be conducted at the home of her son tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. Mr. Ennis, Free Will Baptist minister of near Falkland. Burial will follow in the McGowan family cemetery near Cox's mill.

Mrs. Jones is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Jesse Brown, of Rocky Mount and Mrs. Nabe Mills of Greenville; two sons, J. R. Jones and Roy Jones of Greenville; one sister, Mrs. Jodie Mobley of Beaufort county; 26 grand children and four great-grand children.

Edwards Well Qualified To Hear Dawson Wrangle

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, April 14.—Jack Edwards, Esquire (as he is denominated in the Sinclair order appointing him), who will hear for the first time the merits of the John G. Dawson-Commissioner of Banks case, is an experienced lawyer, soldier and politician who ought to be well qualified to take care of himself and the opposing parties if the going gets too heated.

The Greenville attorney, named special referee to hear the case and report on both the law and the facts, hasn't yet set a date for a hearing, but when he does he is sure to hear plenty from the Commissioner of Banks and his attorneys, who claim Dawson is some $45,000 short in his accounts as receiver of the defunct Farmers Bank and Trust Company of La-Grange, which closed in November, 1920. He will also doubtless hear about as much from Dawson and

S. C. HOUSE IN LONG SESSION

Single-Handed Twenty-Hour Filibuster Finally Crushed

Columbia, S. C.—(AP)—The house of Representatives ended its longest session on record at 7:27 a. m. today closing a 20-hour filibuster and giving final passage to the hotly-contested truck regulation measure.

Doggedly determined on forcing a third reading vote on the measure to increase truck weights from 20,000 to 40,000 pounds and widths from 90 to 98 inches, a majority of the representatives held the house in session continuously from 10 a. m. yesterday.

Representative Marion Horne of Richland broke all house records for a single-handed filibuster when he held the floor for 20 hours and 32 minutes in an attempt to stave off the vote.

Obviously whipped down by his experience he gave up the floor a few minutes after 7 a. m. and the weary-eyed Representatives immediately forced a vote, which was 55 to 21 in favor of the truck measure.

Members and house attaches agreed the session broke all South Carolina records since the body did not halt the meeting for meals or anything else.

The truck bill came as a surprise amendment to a bill which would require 50-mile-an-hour governors or motor vehicles. The amendment, adopted on second reading after debate was shut off, was identical to the bill passed by the senate and pending far down on the house calendar for weeks.

The Governor feature was removed from the bill in the amendment adoption.

COUPLE TAKEN AT NASHVILLE

Sheriff Whitehurst Leaves To Return Pair Here

It was revealed at the office of Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst today that he left this morning for Nashville, Tenn., to return Randolph Brown and Miss Hilda Ward Taylor to Greenville, possibly to face charges, Greenville, possibly to face last week and were arrested in the Tennessee city for local officials, but the exact charge or charges brought against them could not be learned.

Mr. Brown, a married man with children, has been in the employ of Clark Maytag company, while Miss Taylor has been employed as cashier at Laureates candy parlor.

Sheriff Whitehurst left here after receiving a telegram from Elkins Lewis, chief of detectives at Nashville, that he had the couple in custody and that they had signed papers, agreeing to return here without fighting extradition.

Brown's home is in Elizabeth City, only having been here a few weeks. The couple is said to have left an automobile belonging to the Clark Maytag company in Weldon and to have gone from there to Tennessee via train.

CHINESE LOANS CONSIDERED BY GREAT BRITAIN

Gov't. May Make Recommendation to English Banks

CHINESE CARRY BATTLE TO JAPS

Artillerymen Strike From Vantage Point At Japanese Garrison at Shantung

London, April 14.—(AP)—The government "has under consideration" recommendations to British banks that they grant long-term loans to the Chinese government, the House of Commons was informed today.

Dr. Sun Fo, China's Ambassador at large who came to Europe to seek financial help for China in her war against Japan, has been in London the last two weeks urging British loans.

Financial Secretary to the Treasury Colville told Commons if British banks approached the government for permission to lend to China such requests would be "sympathetically considered."

He added the Chancellor of the Exchequer was considering action to "encourage" the granting of loans.

Shanghai, April 14.—(AP)—Yihsein rapidly was being reduced to a war-torn city today as Chinese artillerymen from Vantage points in surrounding hills bombarded the Japanese Garrison in south Shantung province.

Chiang Kai-Shek's warriors claimed to have scored a fresh success as they carried a small village commanding the gateway to Yihsein in the face of heavy fire from Japanese entrenched in the walled town.

Japanese, they said, had been reduced to receiving food supplies by airplane so severely were their fail communications crippled.

Yihsein is 25 miles north of Tairohwang, sup. railroad town north of the Grand canal, where Chinese last week forced Japanese to retreat from their advance down the Tientsin-Pukow line toward the Suhow junction with the east west Lunghai railway.

Negroes Strike As Whites Employed

Fayetteville, April 14.—(AP)—The Central Weaving and Spinning company, a silk mill employing Negro labor, was closed today after workers walked out when the management announced plans for the employment of some white labor.

The Negroes walked out last night when a small number of whites reported for duty and today the Negroes had formed picket lines. There was no violence, although officers were called to the scene.

Plant Manager M. Lefkowitz said it was not the intention of the management to replace Negro labor with white labor, but rather to increase the efficiency of the company by the employment of a few whites.

MEXICO SILVER SALE ALLOWED

May Be Sold to U. S. Through Means Of N. Y. Market

Washington, April 14.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today the Treasury had not barred Mexican silver from sale in this country.

Clarifying for the first time his announcement of two weeks ago that the Treasury was suspending its arrangements for purchase of 5,000,000 ounces of silver monthly from Mexico, Morgenthau said Mexico can still offer its silver for sale to the U. S. Treasury on the New York silver market.

"We buy all the silver offered us on the New York market at the price fixed each day," Morgenthau said. "That has always been our policy and we have no change in mind."

In effect, the only change made by the suspension of the Mexican silver agreement, he explained, was to eliminate the 5,000,000 ounce quota which gave Mexico advance assurance of how much silver it could sell the United States each month.

Britain's Royal Air Force reportedly plans to develop a corps of physical and mental "super-men" to fly 400-mile-per-hour fighting ships.

PLAN DEVISED AID BUSINESS

Chief Executive Declares Government and Business Must Work Together In Attack on Recession

Washington, April 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt proposed today a $7,000,000,000 recovery program, embracing $5,000,000,000 of Federal spending and lending, and a $2,000,000,000 expansion of bank credit.

Setting forth to Congress measures by which he said the government could "help to start an upward spiral," and summoning a "united national will" for a vigorous attack on the recession, Mr. Roosevelt told regulators who recently have dealt stunning defeats to major administration measures:

"Our capacity is limited only by our ability to work together. What is needed is the will."

"The time has come to bring that will into action with every driving force at our command. And I am determined to do my share."

The President declared that the will to cooperate places "on all of us the duty of self-restraint" and that "there can be no dictatorship by an individual or a group in this nation save through division fostered by hate. Such divisions there must never be."

The chief executive reiterated in a message read to the House and Senate that "improvement in government and business practices must go hand in hand with recovery," adding:

"The Congress and the chief executive can ill afford to weaken or destroy great reforms which during the past five years have been effected on behalf of the American people."

The President started his program, designed to start national income upward again, into three groups of measures. The first involved mainly additional appropriation for the fiscal year beginning (Continued on page eight)

To Hear Evidence on Proposed Radio

While hearings on the proposed radio station for Greenville will not get under way before the Federal Communications Commission in Washington until May 3, preliminary government investigation of the matter will get under way here tomorrow when federal representatives will take depositions at the office of J. C. Lanier, local attorney.

Both tomorrow and Saturday will be devoted to taking these depositions preparatory to the hearing in Washington in May.

Several months ago L. B. McCormick, of this city, filed application for a permit to erect a station here but his application was later withdrawn and the application now on file was made by J. J. White for the Greenville Broadcasting Company.

If the permit is granted work will get under way immediately thereafter for the erection of a 350 watt station that will serve a 100-mile radius territory. The station will use the most modern equipment and be up-to-date in every respect, Mr. White said this afternoon, in announcing that the taking of depositions will begin tomorrow.

Tarboro Fire

Tarboro, April 14.—(AP)—Fire swept the Tarboro cotton yards here today, destroying more than 225 bales of cotton and burnings up two warehouses stocked with merchandise. The damage was estimated unofficially at from $22,000 to $25,000.

Police Chief Robert Worsley said a Negro woman told him she saw two small Negro boys run from the cotton yards after she saw flames and smoke rising from the spot.

One firm, Rogers and Company of Tarboro and Norfolk, Va., reported loss of 185 bales of cotton, all insured.

The warehouses burned were used by the Morrow-Fitt Hardware Company and Murphy, Jenkins and Company, oil product distributors.

Before the blaze was controlled it threatened a broker's warehouse containing 25,000 bags of peanuts.

Government Resistance Declared Growing Weak

Militia Reported Surrounded East Of Gadesa

Hendaye, France, April 14.—(AP)—The Spanish Insurgent command at Irún reported today a "large force" of Government militia was surrounded east of Gadesa, freeing the sector from pressure.

The Government's troops retreat to Reus toward the coast was cut off, it was declared.

Insurgent field headquarters declared the movement was of great strategic importance, though war bulletins telephoned from the Catalonian front did not specify the exact area in which the encirclement was claimed to have been made.

Government resistance was reported "growing feeble" in the face of the relentless Insurgent attack in the San Mateo sector to the south, where General Aranda's (Continued on page eight)

Negro Gets New Coat But Has To Return It

Atlas Bynum, Greenville Negro, had the pleasure of wearing a new coat, but only for a short while.

The Negro is being held in jail on a charge of stealing a coat from R. Taylor. At police headquarters it was reported that Mr. Taylor pulled off his coat while he was shooting at the gallery on Dickinson avenue, and the Negro walked off with it. W. L. Patrick spied Bynum with the coat at the Negro picture show last night and took him to the police station.

Early April Showers Save State Forests From Fires

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, April 14.—Early April showers have been more welcome than pennies from Heaven to Assistant State Forester W. C. McCormick and his forest fire fighters who through February and March have battled the worst conditions in many years.

March reports have not yet been consolidated, but it is predicted that final figures will show more than 1,200 forest fires during the month, a near-record which followed right on the heels of the 875 reported in February.

Recent rains have done much more than insure the traditional May flowers—they have greatly lessened the danger of forest fires, have put out many small ones and are bringing out the foliage so that the danger of more fires has been greatly decreased, McCormick said.

The 45 days from the middle of February to April 1 were the worst we have had in years and taxed our forest fire fighting organization to the limit," he said. "In the first place, we had a very dry winter so that the woods were like tinder. Then came the warm, spring-like weather in February and March during which farmers and landowners started clearing and burning—which always means forest fires. High winds during March made the situation worse."

"Many of the county and district wardens frequently went 25 hours or longer without sleep, going from one fire to another. In one county 16 forest fires were burning at one time and in many others from ten to twelve fires would be located within a single day. No wonder we were glad to see rain come the first part of April."

The district and county fire wardens and the hundreds of volunteer and paid fighters who help them control and extinguish these fires deserve a great deal of credit for their work, McCormick said.

Returned Travelers Entertained.

Last night at her home on Fifth street, Mrs. Travis Hooker charmingly entertained at dinner in honor of her daughter, Miss Alice Lee Hooker, and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Flanagan, all of whom have recently returned from a tour of California, Hawaii and Mexico.

Red roses in profusion were used in the home. Place cards of Mexican featherwork marked the guests' places. A most unusual feature of the decorations was the centerpiece of the dining table, representative of a scene in Honolulu. Palms, grass huts, poi bowls, and small figures with leis around their necks were ingeniously arranged to present a most charming and natural scene. A course dinner was served.

After the dinner, interesting motion pictures of Mexican and Hawaiian life were shown. The movies also included interesting scenes of California. The honor guests were featured in quite a few of the scenes. Covers were laid for eighteen guests.

It looks like war now. Services in the Baptist Church tonight.

Time for the soldier boys to have a gun cleaning.

The rain Wednesday night was a trash mover while it lasted.

Cotton took a move back up today and wheat is getting out of sight.

Greenville was an excited town Wednesday night when The Reflector bulletined war news.

We hope Uncle Sam's soldiers won't get anything worse than Spanish needles stuck in their leggings.

Equivalent To War.

Washington, D. C., April 13th. 7:30 p. m.—After the most exciting scenes, personal encounters, etc., that have occurred since the Civil war, Congress rejected the minority report of the Foreign Relations Committee by a vote of 150 to 191.

The majority report was then adopted by a vote of 374 to 20. This is equivalent to a declaration of war.

The Spanish minister has been recalled and the French ambassador here will look after the Spanish interests.

Ill In Hospital.

Friends of James W. Sanderson, assistant manager of the Evans street A. and P. store, will be sorry to know that he is ill in Pitt General Hospital.

Health Officials Here.

The local Health Department was visited yesterday by J. M. Jarrett, consultant in sanitary engineering, division of State Health Department; B. L. Jessup, state director of community sanitation, and T. P. Williams, district supervisor of community sanitation, in connection with the W. P. A. privy program now being put on throughout the county and being sponsored by the local Health Department.

According to Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Pitt county health officer, not only the local Health Department, but the State Health Department, also is anxious that the citizens of Pitt county avail themselves of the opportunity to secure a sanitary privy by simply paying for the material, W. P. A. furnishing all the necessary labor, even furnishing the labor for painting the privies.

The health officer expressed the belief that as soon as the public in general learned about the terms on which they could get these sanitary privies, more orders would come in than could be promptly filled.

In commenting on the attractive terms upon which it is now possible to secure state approved privies, Dr. Ennett was hopeful that it would not be necessary to enforce the state privy law.

Pastel Easter Dessert.

Combine violet and yellow in your Easter dessert. Put a layer of Spanish cream in a mold. Top it with jellied grape juice. Chill. Serve plain or with whipped cream.

Taste Picker-Upper.

Add diced celery to your next dish of macaroni and cheese. A third of a cup of celery will be enough for three cups of macaroni and cheese.

Trade Exhibit Week.

In connection with plans being made in the graded schools of the city for observance of Greenville's International Trade Exhibit Week, April 18-23, Mrs. Edw. Batchelor, chairman of the committee handling such arrangements for the grades, reports, among other things, that the sixth grade at the E.C.T.C. training school, under the supervision of Miss Matheson, has just completed a large picture map of the world, 3 by 4 feet. The map is entitled "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men," and has on its border in colors small pictures of the different peoples of the world. These pictures show among their subject-matter: Reconstruction in the East, International Good Will Through Travel, International Peace Bridge Between the United States and Canada, etc. The map, being mounted, is to be shown to the different grades and put on public exhibition during International Trade Exhibit Week here.

Many pamphlets and booklets dealing with international good-will have also been procured for the libraries, and to be used by teachers and pupils. These pamphlets, etc., to be emphasized the week of April 18-23, will remain school property for use in teaching the value of co-operation between nations during the coming school year and beyond.

A few of these are listed as follows: "Peace Action," the N. C. P. W. News Bulletin; "The Peaching of Geography in Relation to World Peace;" "Notes on What Other Schools are Doing;" "The Whole World Next Door;" "Reproductions of Famous Paintings Reflecting the Spirit of Peace;" and "Portraits of Peace Makers;" "Games of Many Lands;" and "Youth and the New Patriotism."

"Our aim," said Mrs. Batchelor, "is to instill into the minds and hearts of the boys and girls in the elementary schools in some small way the necessity of world friendship and the true significance of the words 'Peace on Earth, Good Will To Men'."

World Peace—World Trade.

For farm prosperity, we are told, the United States should export at least 50 per cent of its cotton, 39 per cent of its tobacco, 34 per cent of its pork products, 40 per cent of its dried fruits, and so on, with other products of the soil.

For industrial prosperity, similar quantities of manufactured products must be exported.

But such exports must be paid for by imports to keep trade moving.

According to government figures for 1919-35, factory employment has increased, rather than decreased, with an increase in imports.

Likewise the income of the farmer in the United States has been highest when both exports and imports have been at their peak.

Free exchange of commodities between nations depends largely on the existence of friendly relations between them. Thus, world peace is a necessity for better economic life for all.

Easter Services At Black Jack.

J. C. Griffin, who will use as a subject "The First Easter Morning." Suitable hymns and prayers will accompany the sermon.

At 10 o'clock the regular Sunday school will be held. W. B. Harper is the superintendent.

At 11 o'clock the pastor will use as a subject "The Power of Christ's Resurrection." Special songs will be rendered during this service.

Greensboro College Alumnae.

The Greensboro College Alumnae met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. R. Taylor. The following officers for the local chapter were elected:

President, Mrs. J. R. Gullede; vice-president, Mrs. Murray Hodges; secretary, Mrs. F. P. Brooks; treasurer, Mrs. J. C. Galloway.

After other business was transacted, Miss Edie Taylor assisted her mother in serving tempting refreshments. Over the tea cups plans were made for entertaining the Greensboro College alumnae who may be in attendance upon the Methodist Woman's Missionary Conference which will be held in Greenville next week. The local alumnae will give a party for the visiting alumnae at the home of Mrs. F. P. Brooks Wednesday evening at nine o'clock.—Reported.

Mrs. Howard is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ratledge of Advance. For the past several years she has made her home with her sister, Mrs. W. F. Young of this city. She was educated at Salem College and N. C. C. W. Mr. Howard and Mrs. Howard left for a wedding trip to points South. Upon their return they will make their home in Greenville.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the wedding were: Mrs. Cyrus McCarty of Lexington, sister of the bride, and her daughters, Misses Margaret and Ann Heath McCarty.

Literature Department Meets. On Tuesday afternoon at her home on Johnston street, Mrs. K. T. Furtess delightfully entertained the Literature Department of the Woman's Club and a few guests.

Spring flowers were beautifully arranged in the home.

After a short business session, presided over by Mrs. J. R. Gullede in the absence of the chairman, the meeting was then turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. T. E. Hooker, who graciously presented the artists for the afternoon, Mrs. Hubert Haynes and Mrs. John Karsnak, who charmingly rendered two musical numbers, "I Met You in the Garden," and "May Magic." After that she presented in a few well chosen words, Rev. W. A. Ryan, who in a very gracious manner, reviewed in his own characteristic way, "Behind the Spanish Baracades," by John Langdon Davis.

The speaker reminded the members that in this day of rapid change in public thinking, conditions in Spain were of intense interest to us, as to all other peoples. "It can't happen here" is something which thinking people no longer believe about most of the things that are taking place in various countries.

Given a submerged social group, such as the peasants of Spain, or under-paid, under-nourished groups which exist in dire poverty while other groups live in luxury, and one has the making of a tinder-spark which may blaze forth into a general conflagration.

Guests for the afternoon were: Mesdames P. V. Johnston, Troy Rouse, Hubert Haynes, John Karsnak, H. M. Ballance of Elizabeth City, and Miss Margaret Sammon.

During the social hour, a salad course with sandwiches and tea was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Lamb and her little son, Jimmy.—Reported.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—Notes on statesmanship:

Just-around-the-corner note: Ultimately the country may become confident and prosperous by a process of elimination. A year ago prosperity was held back by the court plan. Now that's out of the way.
Then it was the wage-hour bill. And that seems to be canned for a while.
The taxes on undistributed profits and capital gains held us back but now the Senate has taken the first step toward eliminating them. More recently the reorganization bill was responsible. But Congress is paring that away. Soon nothing will stand in the way except those darn adverse economic influences.
Emphasis note: The Department of Justice building, with its steel and glass corridors, is as quiet as a tomb. Yet in one corridor, where G-man Hoover teaches stealth to up-country policemen, is this sign:
"Quiet please. School in session."

A Naval Joke

Navy officers still chuckle about this one. British, Italian and American fleets conducted a joint patrol of the eastern Mediterranean during the World war. Supply ship for the combined fleet was the British ship Dago. One day the commander of the American contingent flagged a message to a U. S. destroyer saying:
"Go alongside Dago for meat." The destroyer chuffed alongside an Italian cruiser.

Good-neighbor note: From diplomatic channels came this wry definition of the difference between the old and the new attitude of the United States toward the smaller American republics. In olden days, when a Latin-American country began seizing property of foreigners, this country would say: "You can't expropriate foreign property without paying for it." Now it says: "You can expropriate foreign-owned property, but you must pay for it." Smell the difference?

James's Metamorphosis

It seems that the first party of Swedes to reach Minnesota didn't go so well as those coming in later years. Alexander D. Fraser, associate professor of archaeology in the University of Virginia, relates that a party of Norsemen reached the present area of Minnesota by way of Lake Superior. An inscription found near Kensington, Minn., 175 miles southwest of Duluth, dis-closes that the party was attacked by Indians, meeting a tragic death about the year 1362. Viking axes and hatchets have been found in the neighborhood.

President Roosevelt is credited with telling familiar White House guests that when Jimmy Roosevelt first came to the White House as a secretary he nearly boiled over every time a newspaper or magazine writer gave him what he thought was an unfair going-over. He would dash into the executive offices saying:
"I'll sue him for libel." Now, the President relates, Jimmy just says:
"The so-and-so"—or words to that effect.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, April 14—When the Davis can showed up with three members of the 1937 North Carolina House (George E. Hyde, Roy L. or Dare and W. Bryan of Randolph) your correspondent raised an eyebrow in surprise that they outnumbered the Smiths, the Joneses or any of the other families with common names.

But now comes news which sends both eyebrows up in practical astonishment. In Carteret county eleven candidates have so far announced for office. No less than six of them are Davises—and to add to the confusion (or it is simplicity) there's another Davis in office who doesn't even have to run again this year.

It seems that the entire Carteret board of county commissioners is likely to get up and start for the phone if a clerk says "Mr. Davis, your wife's calling you." Three commissioner candidates are Davises—Cleveland, George and Raymond.
Then there's Earl C. who wants to come to the Legislature to replace Fred Seeley, a candidate for re-election. And there's M. Leslie who'd like to be solicitor of the county recorder's court.

Irwin W. has the laugh on the others. He's register of deeds and has more years to serve before coming up for approval of the voters.

Caesar's "All Gaul" was divided into only three parts, thereby taking a seat so far back from North Carolina that it just isn't in the running.

North Carolina is divided into 100 counties and no less than 1,855 voting precincts, according to records at the office of the State Board of Elections. And this year the cry is to divide many of these 1855 in smaller voting centers.

Frank Hancock charges Bob Reynolds with being a playboy and too fun-loving to accomplish anything for his state in Washington—but this very characteristic has, on one occasion at least, produced results where more serious minds failed miserably.

Folks with long memories may recall that North Carolina secured some half a million dollars or more to buy school buses some years ago when the depression was on in real earnest. Incidentally the state was the only one in the Union to get such a gift—it was later declared illegal by the Comptroller General, but that did no harm, because North Carolina had the money and had spent it.

Your correspondent has it on unimpeachable authority that "Our Bob" got this money for the state after Senator J. W. Bailey, Congressman Bob Daughton and other "weighty" minds had failed dismally to get to first base.

The story comes from a high-grade former state official, who incidentally is now supporting Hancock with all his might—so it isn't Reynolds propaganda. It goes about like this:

North Carolina school officials (our informant was one of them) went to Washington to try for the allotment of funds by PWA to buy the buses. They tried Bailey, Norris, Daughton, still no soap. As what was to them frankly a last resort, they went to Reynolds, told him that a certain PWA official had it in his power to approve the allotment—nobody else could. Could he help?

"Why sure," said Reynolds. "I've been on a party or two with him at the Mayflower. Let's go see him."
So they went.

Breeding past secretarial outposts with usual Reynolds spright-liness, the party entered the official's office. Bob laid the case before him. The PWA man looked highly important, hummed, hav-ed and began to make excuses and objections.

"Don't look at me like that," said Bob. "I want you to look at me like you looked at that blonde last night." That did the trick. The official loosened up, began smiling and in five minutes North Carolina had its bus money.

reminiscent of events of a few

ROOSEVELT CALLS LEADERS TO DISCUSS PROGRAM

moned leaders of Congress to the White House for a discussion of relief, public works and other adminis-
Garner, Speaker Bankhead, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, Democratic leader in the Senate, and Representative Rayburn, of Texas.

ALLOW FISHING DURING EASTER

Ban to be Lifted During Holidays in All Sections

Raleigh, April 14—Anglers who have suppressed their desires for an excursion to their favorite fishing grounds during the current closed season will have the opportunity of indulging in this sport with the temporary lifting of the ban during the Easter holiday period, J. D. Unalk, Commissioner, Division of Game and Inland Fisheries, Department of Conservation and Development, announced today.

The lifting of the closed season restriction will apply to all sections of North Carolina and to all species of fish found in inland waters of North Carolina, beginning Saturday, April 16, at midnight and extending to Monday, April 18, at midnight. The privilege applies only to legal methods of fishing in the inland waters.

Commissioner Unalk announced that the exception this year follows the custom of the past several years during which the sportsmen have extended a wholesome spirit of cooperation in the observance of the fishing and hunting laws. Fishermen who land any unspawned female fish during the period of grace are urged to release such fish carefully after dampening their hands. The taking of one fish which is not spawned, according to the Commissioner, would result in the destruction of possibly several thousand of eggs and many mature fish in future years.

"We sincerely hope," said Commissioner Unalk, "that the sportsmen of North Carolina will enjoy themselves during this period of grace. The people have shown an increased amount of interest in our game and fish laws and the Department has never in its entire history been given such fine co-operation. We believe this exception will reflect an even better co-operative attitude and that the fishermen will not abuse his privilege by taking unspawned female fish and that they will observe strictly the remainder of the closed season and other inland fishing regulations."

Maytag Dealers In Meeting Here Today

Approximately fifty Maytag Products dealers from various eastern North Carolina points were gathered in a district meeting here today with the Clark Maytag company of this city as host. Factory representatives at the meeting included F. L. Maytag, Jr., of Newton, Iowa, president of the company, and L. M. Green, of Philadelphia, division manager.

The opening session was held this morning and was featured by an address of welcome by Mayor M. K. Blount and a brief address by W. H. Woolard, on the outlook for business in general in this section of the state this year. "The Business Outlook as it Applied to Maytag Products" was the subject of the round table discussion of the morning session.

At one o'clock the guests enjoyed a luncheon at the Woman's club which was followed by another business session this afternoon. In addition, to addresses the afternoon session included demonstrations of the new Maytag washers and ironers.

The meeting will be concluded with a banquet at the Woman's club tonight in honor of the visiting company officials and other out-of-town guests.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

New York—Back in the days of David Belasco on Broadway there existed an almost wholly invariable rule that a man must stick to the job he chose and not invade other fields. With a few notable exceptions of actor-managers most every man in the theatre stuck to one job. But that isn't true on the Broadway of today.

George Abbott used to be one of the town's best actors, now skips from playwrighting to directing to producing and all with equally high facility. "Room service" and "Brother Rat" two current and delightful hits, were both produced and staged by him.

The Mercury Theatre, a successful repertory group, has for its director, young Orson Welles who also doubles into one of the leading roles of "Julius Caesar."

Alfred Lunt and Lyn Fontanne, Broadway's most successful husband and wife acting team, are now also producers, for the Theatre Guild. Their productions of "Amphitruon 38" and "The Sea Gull," are two of the most enthusiastic hits of this season and they act in both of them.

George S. Kaufman is not only one of Broadway's top ranking playwrights and directors of today, but he also has done his share as an actor. He played the frustrated and funny dramatist in the stage production of "One In A Lifetime."

"All The Living," a hit play about insane asylums, was dramatized by Hardie Albright, who has heretofore been known to Broadway chiefly as one of its popular juvenile actors.

Eddie Dowling, for years an outstanding song-and-dance man in Broadway's musicals, is now one of the leading producers. He it was who presented the hit "Shadow and Substance" and next season he is planning to be impresario of a one-act-play theatre.

Today, seemingly, you have to be a man of a hundred talents and able to utilize them all at once to be a success on Broadway.

The problems of a successful author aren't all confined to meeting deadlines or worrying over split-infinitives. There is Arthur Train, for instance, who writes the Tutti and Mr. Tutti stories.

Mr. Train's son is also a writer, and to make identification between his father and himself easy, he has added a Jr. to his name—Arthur Train, Jr., although he is not really junior.

Up to yesterday, however, the "Jr." had not solved the problem. Letters and telephone calls, plus wires and invitations, continue to pour in on father and son, but always to the wrong Train.

Prof. Eddie Cantor lectured to a Columbia University course in radio writing.

ANNOUNCE DEVELOPMENT OF GOODYEAR TIRES

Getting ready for a busy summer, W. G. Scott, local dealer for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, has announced that he is starting an advertising campaign that will keep residents of Greenville informed on latest developments in tires.

"Large part of Goodyear Dealers' advertising this year will be devoted to the famous LifeGuard, a remarkable safety device that takes the danger out of a tire failure at high speed," Mr. Scott explained. "The LifeGuard is a reserve tire within a conventional tube, and when a tire fails at high speed, there is sufficient air remaining in the reserve tire to allow the driver to come to a safe stop without a swerve."

"Coming in for its full share of attention during the advertising campaign will be the line of automobile tires made by Goodyear, familiar to motorists not only in this country but throughout the world for their sturdy carcasses and reliable traction. The line includes tires designed to fit the pocketbook of every motorist, whether he possesses a brand new streamlined 1938 model or a car that was new several years ago."

"Another products that is of especial interest in rural areas is the Goodyear Sure Grip tractor tire, which offers the utmost in traction in all kinds of soil, but is particularly helpful to the farmer who must operate his tractor and implements in wet clay or gumbo, where steel wheels would bog down."

The Reflector has been selected to carry the advertising of Proctor Hotel Service Station, the local Goodyear dealer.

Frosty Appetizers.
When serving fruit cocktails, dip cooked peas with a little minced the rims of the glasses into fruit browned onion.

JACKIE COOGAN SUES MOTHER

Jackie Coogan, the former child star of the movies, has filed a $4,000,000 suit against his mother, Mrs. Lillian Coogan Bernstein, (left), and his stepfather, Arthur L. Bernstein (right) in Los Angeles. Jackie claims they withheld his earnings in the movies, and now, at the age of 22, he has nothing. The Boxwood Barrier

By BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON

The Story So Far: In love with dashing Gary Brent, Judith Goodloe marries Reuben Oliver for his money, only to discover that he is bankrupt. Sticking to her bargain, she accompanies Reuben to a dismal mining town where her twins are born. Then Reuben loses his job. At their lowest moment in walks red-headed Cissy Rogers who is still after Reuben's love. Scheming to get Judith and Gary together again, Cissy finds Reuben a job in the lumber camp Gary manages.

Chapter 27

The World Stands Still

IT SURPRISED Judith that she missed Reuben so. They hadn't been very congenial. When he had no work she found him terribly in the way, crowding the already crowded rooms with his blundering masculinity, but now that he was gone she missed his strength, his unfailing good nature, his helpfulness.

"It's funny what marriage—even a loveless marriage—does to one," Judith thought, but she had not much time to philosophize over it.

A hot wave hung like a smothering pall over Reuben's Gulch. Drought seared the whole area. Bust, poverty, sickness, heat, loneliness. Taken separately each would have been bad enough. Collectively they were unbearable.

The remainder of Cissy's parting gift bought ice, paid the rent, hired Jeff Snow's old Ford for an afternoon and set Judith and the children free to breathe in great draughts of damp, cool air. Paid for glasses of milk and thin, white slices of chicken breast. But even these luxuries, enjoyed for the moment, left a taste bitter as gall in Judith's mouth, as she planned ways and means of returning Cissy's money. When Reuben got his first month's salary she would start putting by $10 at a time—$20 if she could. Each night she fell asleep planning.

When he had been working almost a month, Reuben sent $50 and wrote:

"The Government has a camp at the forest's edge, adjoining Galbreath's lay-out with their people managing things. A few cabins have been built, but nearly every one lives in tents. They have raised wooden platforms and outside grills. Pack up the kids and be ready to ride back on the supply bus which leaves Pitts Junction every Saturday about daylight. I've ordered new cots. If I'm in the forest, some of the boys will put up your tent. There's a dance every Saturday and the nights are so cool you need blankets."

Blankets! After the unbearable, perspiring heat of the little house—blankets! The miracle of cool nights—

Her fingers closed over the card enclosed in Reuben's letter. "Camp Number 2, Site 16." She read it over and over. From the thrill she got it might have been the deed to a mansion on one of the world's greatest boulevards. Her camp site! And she had $50 with which to get there! If she could squeeze out some for Cissy—

Fiercely she pushed the memory of her indebtedness behind her. She'd spend it all—every cent—just to be cool once more. Just to take her children away from dust, flies, heat!

Feverishly Judith commenced to make preparations. Today was Thursday—lots to do before five o'clock Saturday morning.

Exhausting Trip

CLOTHES to be washed, house to be put in order. Dishes and pans to be packed—take a dance truck or two along—seem funny to wear an evening dress again. Take riding clothes, too—maybe some day she could hire a horse. In the end she did not go on the supply bus. Jeff Snow was going to buy a new Ford. Judith bargained for the old one. Got it for $30. The engine knocked. The tires were worn. The body sagged, but it looked like Gabriel's shining chariot to its new owner.

She didn't get any rest the night before she started. There was much to do—lunch to be packed—sandwiches, fruit, malted milk. The children were bathed, dressed. Breakfast gotten—

"I'll clean up this mess," Mrs. Kraus came over to say goodbye. "You go long an' dress, Miss Oliver. I'm going to miss you, but I'm glad you're going. You look sorta peaked."

It was not quite five o'clock when Judith kissed her next door neighbor gratefully, and with the twins tied securely to the back seat and with bundles, baskets, protruding on all sides, trundled the rattly old car down Casper street.

She wondered what Gran and Jim would say if they could see her. Hard to believe that she was blood kin to people who lived leisurely, graciously at a place called Goodloe's Choice.

Goodloe's Choice! That name, this morning, conjured up a vision of the springhouse—gray stones, under a huge chestnut tree—where great earthen crocks of thick, yellowish cream were sunk in a trough of clear, cold spring water.

Madness to think of that! But some day, somehow, her poor perspiring babies must know the peace, the comfort of her old home. They must! She wanted it for them with a passion that frightened her. Gradually the beauty of the morning exhilarated her. Soon the August sultriness would be unbearable but now dew covered the earth; mist shrouded it. A hint of the old free feeling of her riding days stole over Judith. She started to sing, very softly. About four hours easy driving, Cissy had said—All day in Judith's car with its leaking radiator and knocking engine.

The day grew hot—pitiless, cloudless heat. Judith stopped singing. A tire punctured. Having it fixed made a hole in her scanty funds. The exhausted children slept. Judith's head commenced to ache.

On the way again. Gradually the ground began to rise—up, up, up. The old car panted protestingly. Above its exhaust was a faint tantalizing odor of pine. Passing tourists waved goodnaturally as they whizzed past. "We'll tell 'em you're on the way, sister!"

"Thanks!" Judith tried not to think enviously of Cissy's high powered motor. She turned her thoughts determinedly to the cool night ahead.

Gary!

THE children awoke, hot, tired, hungry, with throbbing sore gums. Judith's courage deserted. She wanted to sit in the road and howl with them.

Coaxing the car along Father Sierra's trail between tall redwoods, straight somber pines. Topping a winding hill she came suddenly upon a great, green plateau—"Camp Site No. 2."

Celestial gates would never appear any lovelier to Judith than did that roadside sign. Cars were parked about what looked like a combination gift shop and general supply store. Group of people—comfortable, careless, friendly—stood about chatting. In the distance, through trees, could be glimpsed rows of white tents. Beyond the store was the post office.

Feeling at least 100 years old and unspeakably dirty, Judith got stiffly out of the car and entered the post office. As she hoped there was a note from Reuben.

"Sorry I'm not on hand to greet you. Go to Pike's store, have him take you to your tent. I gave him $5 to have beds up, etc. All my love.

Reuben."

At Pike's store Judith found there had been a misunderstanding about her tent.

"When you didn't get in on the bus I thought you weren't coming 'til next week. Mrs. Oliver, so I didn't hurry none," Pike explained. "We've been so busy today with visitors and the dance to-night, but I'll have your place shipshape before dark—"

Before dark—before the end of time? It was all the same to Judith. She couldn't walk another step. Her knees trembled. Her head ached from lack of sleep and from driving long hours facing the sun. She asked for a glass of water. Guilted it down. Refilling it she walked slowly back to give the twins a drink just as two horsemen drew rein near her car. One was a fat heavy jowled man with little pig eyes. Judith noticed that people stopped their chatter to speak to him respectfully.

"Galbreath?" she wondered, and glanced at the second rider.

The world stopped revolving! She trembled. Cold water splashed over the edge of the glass in her hand. It steadied her a little—That man whose bright, waving hair shone like copper in the sun was—was Gary!

She watched him swing from the saddle with well remembered grace. Her heart felt as though a hand was squeezing it.

The fat man brushed close on his way to the store. In another minute now—Gary—She had never thought they would meet like this!

Vanity urged Judith to remove herself from his path. She couldn't move. The interlude that was her marriage did not exist. She was back again in a Maytime garden and Gary was going away!

His horse tethered, Gary came swinging along. He glanced carelessly at a slim, dark girl in blue linen shrunken and so faded that it was a dull, tannish hue. He noted absently that there was a sort of tense grace about her—an unconscious hauteur.

She clasped both hands tight around the glass to keep from reaching out to him. She hoped he wouldn't hear her heart—drumming loudly, uncertainly. In another second now he would be gone—

But in that second, Gary looked full into her eyes—a searching, startled look. "Judith!" His arms reached out to her. "Bless my soul I'm glad to see you!"

EDWARDS WELL JUALIFIED TO HEAR DAWSON WRANGLE

Armistice was signed.

The case he will hear has excited no end of comment from one end of the state to the other. Dawson, whose home is in Kinston, has been Speaker of the State House of Representatives and chairman of the Democratic State committee.

The controversy is somewhat technical and is of such long standing that it is quite involved. It stacks up about like this, however, when reduced to as simple terms as possible.

The LeGrange bank went broke in November, 1920, and in December, 1921, Dawson was named receiver. He took possession of the books, records and accounts of the banks and the Commissioner of Banks alleges that these records, etc., have been kept out of the clerks office for more than 15 years. Time marched on and no accounts were filed, despite numerous demands by depositors, until in 1936 the Commissioner of Banks (whose office had been created only a short time before) began to ask for an accounting.

In June, 1936, the Commissioner's petition averse, Dawson caused an order to be signed by Judge H. A. Grady, resident judge of the Sixth District, authorizing employment of an auditor to settle the accounts. In this order no time limit was set for a report, the petition recites.

When Dawson continued to fail to file any report, the petition continues, the Commissioner, through his attorney J. A. Jones, secured an order from Marshall Spears requiring Dawson to turn over all books, records, etc., of the bank to the Commissioner. This order was never obeyed by Dawson, it is contended. Judge Sinclair says he never knew of this order and charges Jones with keeping it out of the record.

In March, 1937, Dawson, without notice to the Commissioner it is contended presented an order to Judge Sinclair making certain allowances and approving certain fees. This was signed. On April 5, 1937, the complaint continues, Dawson procured a civil term (Petition says no civil business had ever been transacted at such a term in 20 years. Judge Sinclair says it was common practice to transact it and declares Jones knew it) approval of the alleged audit and is own charge as receiver.

The petitioning Commissioner of Banks avers that on April 5 the audit hadn't even been completed and that when it was finished it wasn't a true audit. He avers that a true audit will show a shortage of $45,000 in Dawson's account.

After all this legal shouting and shooting, Judge Sinclair set aside his own order discharging the receiver and approving the audit, making a statement with which no disagreement has been heard.

"The interests of everyone concerned requires a full and impartial examination of the contentions."

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, April 14.—(AP)—Stock market leaders enjoyed a mild and short-lived rally today after the President's message to Congress recommending a recovery program, involving some seven billion dollars.

While the administration's anti-recession plans were interpreted as inflationary in the financial sector, brokers thought immediate light response of stocks was due mainly to the inclination of many traders to wait the chief executive's fireside chat to the nation tonight.

HANCOCK BIDS FOR DRY VOTE

Elsewhere in the radio talk which opened the Hancock campaign there wasn't a thing he hadn't been expected to say. His whole campaign strategy, obviously, is to picture Reynolds to the voters as a dilettant at government, a chap who hasn't a serious thought in the world, a fellow who spends his time gadding about the world as carefree as a butterfly and just as unconcerned with the duties of his office.

For his own part, Hancock made no pledge about what he will or will not do if elected to the Senate, beyond repeatedly boasting that he will be "serious" about the business of representing the state.

BOOST SOUGHT IN PASSENGER RATES RENIED

The passenger fare application originally was a part of a request by the carriers for a 15 per cent freight rate increase to bolster dwindling rail revenues and relieve financial distress. Last month the ICC granted freight rate boosts which it is estimated will return $175,000,000 additional annually.

INSTITUTE SET FOR APR. 23D

The program, which will be held from 9:30 until 12:30, will include a talk by Dr. Roy Norton of the State Board of Health.

Included on the program will be a course of study in health: objectives and results to be expected; beginners' day program, pre-school clinics.

Some health problems and their solutions will be discussed, including contagious diseases, physical defects and how to remedy them.

Preventing undue emotional strains will be the topic of Dr. Norton. The service of the health nurse in promoting the health of school children will be outlined by Mrs. H. P. Guffey, State Board of Health nurse.

A discussion of the proper feeding of school children by Miss Mary E. Thomas, nutritionist of the N. C. State college extension service, will complete the program.

Teachers of both the city and county schools are supposed to attend the institute.

"The living wall of the defense has been destroyed," insurgent reports said, "our troops on a 13-mile front from Capli to Chert to Rosell are moving slowly ahead."

At the southern end of the 160-mile battlefront insurgent claimed the capture of the Key city of San Mateo.

Although they were 12 miles from the sea, an advance of seven or eight more miles would attain their practical objective, as their guns then would sweep the coastal highway, last line between Barcelona and Valencia.

RECOVERY PROGRAM URGED BY ROOSEVELT CALLS FOR SEVEN BILLION DOLLARS

$1,250,000,000 for the WPA; $175,000,000 for the Farm Security Administration; $75,000,000 for the NYA; $50,000,000 for the CCC; and the $1,500,000,000 made available to the RFC for lending to business enterprises.

In the second group of measures, Mr. Roosevelt asked: $300,000,000 for immediate expansion of the house and slum clearance work of the U. S. Housing Authority; $1,450,000,000 for public works, loans and grants; an additional $100,000,000 for public roads; an additional $37,000,000 for flood control and reclamation projects already authorized; an additional $25,000,000 for Federal buildings.

A third group listed by Mr. Roosevelt referred to private credit. It involved de-stabilization of $1,400,000,000 of gold and a reduction by the Federal Reserve Board of member bank reserve requirements which would add another $750,000,000 to the credit resources of the nation's banks.

PAYNE-TURNER APPEAL HEARD

J. W. Haynes of Asheville argued for Payne and Turner that the trial court admitted "incompetent evidence" which served to "prejudice" the jury. He contended a verdict of second degree murder would otherwise have been returned.

The defense listed 668 exceptions in its appeal.

Attorney-General A. A. F. Seawell argued for the State that the alleged "incompetent" evidence was necessary in tracing minutely the movements of Payne and Turner to show they were "desperate men" who were "prepared to commit murder" to save themselves from capture.

Wayne Negro Held On Charge of Murder

Goldsboro, April 14.—(AP)—Theodore Roosevelt Ford, 27-year-old Negro, was bound over to Wayne Superior court without privilege of bail on a charge of shooting a 23-year-old Negro, Joe Atkinson in a "flim-flam" game last night following an argument over 10 cents.
