FDR ADVANCES ANOTHER MOVE FOR RECOVERY

Discusses Means For Private Utilities To Find Jobs

SUGGESTS AIDING INCONSTRUCTION

Meanwhile, Harry Hopkins Indicates He Is Preparing Increase Relief Load

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, expanding his recovery drive on still another front, discussed with fiscal advisors today how private utilities could be helped to finance new construction and provide jobs.

He took up the question at a White House conference. Just before he did so, Harry Hopkins, Works Progress Administrator, indicated in testimony at the capitol that he was preparing to increase the relief load in the first seven months of the next fiscal year beginning July 1.

Appearing before the House Appropriations Committee to tell how he proposed to use $1,250,000,000 of relief funds requested by the President, Hopkins said this sum would be sufficient to care for 2,800,000 persons until February 1, 1939, or 200,000 more than are now on the roll.

Giving an idea of the extent of relief expenditures the Senate Unemployment Committee reported today that from 1933 to 1937, $19,200,000,000 had been spent for this purpose.

Other developments:

Senator Nye (R-N.D.), denounced the $1,156,546,000 naval expansion program as "emphatically" not "preparation to defend ourselves," but "to carry on aggressively in warfare thousands of miles away from home."

He took the floor to oppose enactment of the expansion bill.

The Senate Unemployment Committee reported enactment of Senate approved corporation income and capital gains taxes would be "exceedingly helpful" in making jobs for the nation's 12,000,000 and more unemployed.

These taxes, imposing flat rates on corporation income and capital gains have been approved by business and condemned by the administration.

Summer Gerard of New York, exchanged fiery words with Senate lobby investigators, terming the conduct of their investigation "nothing short of disgraceful."

The treasurer of the National Committee to uphold constitutional government, leaped to his feet while testifying before the Senate committee and asserted the investigators had tried to "besmirch" his organization.

Senator Norris (Ind.-Eb.), father of the TVA, expressed approval of a joint congressional committee appointed to investigate the agency.

FOUR INJURED IN PITT WRECK

Negro Arrested in Another Wreck Yesterday Afternoon

Four persons were injured in a collision of two automobiles yesterday morning on the Greenville-New Bern highway, and a Greene county Negro was arrested by a local highway patrolman following another wreck in that county yesterday afternoon.

Automobiles operated by Mrs. Jamie M. Chapman of Ayden, and Vernon W. Harris of Vanceboro, collided at an intersection near the Pitt-Craven line, inflicting injuries to several of the occupants of the two machines.

Miss Lillie Mae Kilpatrick suffered a broken arm, and Mrs. E. W. Fleming of Grifton, sustained fractured ribs in the collision. The three women were riding with Mrs. Chapman.

North Carolina Gets Its Share Of Federal Funds

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, April 20.—Speaking of Federal spending Senator Robert R. Reynolds has just issued a press release in which he says that between March 4, 1933, and December 31, 1937, North Carolina received from the Federal agencies of various sorts at least its share of the sums being passed out by way of grant, loan or insured loan.

"Figures indicate that North Carolina has shared liberally in the Federal effort to stimulate our national economic structure," he concludes. "Nowhere does he say so, but it is a fair presumption that 'Our Bob' would like the sovereign voters of North Carolina to draw the inference that he had some thing to do with the fact that the state has feared so well."

Expenditures from New and emergency appropriations in North Carolina during the period of March 3, 1933, through December 31, 1937, totaled $261,843,179," says the Reynolds release.

REWARD

New York—April 20. (AP)—Murray Levine took formal cognizance of a possibility that his kidnapped son may be dead today by offering $5,000 for "information which will lead to the recovery of his body."

"Simultaneously he clung to a hope that the missing boy may still be alive by offering $25,000 for information which would lead to his recovery."

In a statement issued from his office, Levine said:

"Despite the co-operation of newspapers generally, radio, broadcasting stations and the news reel companies, we have received no word concerning our son, Peter Levine, since March 1."

FEWER DEATHS DURING MARCH

Total of 64 Killed On Highways of State Last Month

Raleigh, April 20. (AP)—Automobile fatalities in North Carolina during March dropped to 64, Major Arthur Fuik of the Highway Safety Division, reported today and in three months 179 deaths ran 55 under the 1937 toll.

In March 1937, there were 73 killed and 595 injured in 515 accidents while there were 64 killed and 592 injured in 592 accidents last month.

This year in three months 1,809 accidents resulted in 179 deaths and 1,747 persons injured, while last year in the period 1,551 accidents resulted in 23 deaths and 1,686 persons injured.

Nearly one-third of the March fatalities were accounted for by 20 pedestrians killed including six children playing in the streets and six persons killed while walking on highways.

Intoxicated drivers figured in five fatal and 15 non fatal accidents, speeders caused 18 fatal, 15 non fatal, reckless drivers eight fatal, 85 non fatal and persons driving on the wrong side of the road caused five fatal, 26 non fatal mishaps.

STALIN HALTS FARMER PURGE

Declares Ousting Of Peasants Means Starvation

Moscow—April 20.—(AP)—The Soviet purge of collective farmers was ordered stopped today.

An order signed by Joseph Stalin, secretary of the central committee of the Communist party, and V. Molotov, chairman of the council of People's Commissars, declared much harm had been done by mass expulsion of peasants from farms for trivial reasons on the pretext of purging the farms of hostile elements.

The Communist leaders accused provincial officials of bureaucratic high-handedness and warned they would be tried as criminals unless unwarranted expulsion stopped.

Ousting of peasants from collective farms means starvation, the order said, adding that such action only created hostility to the Soviet regime.

Two other orders, issued with the apparent intention of inspiring collective farmers to try for bumper crops, promised them better conditions.

COLLECTION OF DUES CHECKED

Violence Flares At Detroit As Flint Dispute Halted

Detroit, April 20.—(AP)—A labor dispute over the United Automobile Workers dues-collecting drive at Flint seems settled, at least temporarily, today by the decision of UAW international officers to discontinue morning picket lines, but there was a flurry of violence in Detroit, where UAWA strikes kept five factories closed.

The Detroit skirmish was at the Michigan Steel's castings company, where 16 policemen with flying night sticks broke up a 25-man picket line led by an unidentified man in football headgear. Twenty-five workers entered the plant and the management announced operations were resumed on a curtailed schedule after two days of idleness caused by a strike against a 10 per cent pay cut.

In the Flint dispute, which has kept 5,250 Fisher and Buick Motor company employees idle for three days, Homer Martin, international president of the UAW, yielded to an ultimatum of William Knudsen, General Motors president. Knudsen said Fisher body plant number one would remain closed until the union desisted from its attempt to collect dues by picket lines. He described the picketing as an attempt to force a closed shop in violation of the UAW-GM agreement.

Martin said the picketing would be discontinued in order to give General Motors no excuse to close plants and throw thousands out of work. In Flint, however, Henry Wilson, president of the UAW, said Fisher local said that "membership checks" would be made as employees leave the plant and indicated an effort might be made to keep non-union workers in the plant.

FRENCH PLANS PRESENTED AT CABINET MEET

Foreign Minister Outlines New International Position

MEETING IS HELD WITH PRESIDENT Plan Believed To Include Effort For Closer Collaboration with U. S., Britain

Paris, April 20.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Bonnet today presented to the cabinet an outline of his plans for strengthening France's international position, which authoritative quarters believed include an effort for closer collaboration between Paris, Washington and London.

The cabinet, meeting with President Albert LeBrun, devoted most of its session to the Deladier government revitalized Foreign policy, chiefly to the negotiations for a Franco-Italian friendship accord.

Informed persons expressed belief the cabinet gave Bonnet at least preliminary approval of the co-operations started by Jules Blondel, charge d'Affaires in Rome and Italy's foreign minister, Count Ciano.

Bonnet's policies were understood to include plans to seek united States economic aid for France.

Officials were discreetly silent about their plans to draw Washington into the expanding circle of International co-operation talks—on the theory that the best way to succeed was was not to talk about it.

But the recent appointment of Jules Henry as chief of the foreign office staff was considered an indication of French hopes.

Henry is well known in Washington, where he was formerly in charge d'Affaires and counselor for the French Embassy.

PLAN NO DRASTIC STEPS TO MAKE RAILROAD PAY

Reflector Bureau

Raleigh, April 20.—No immediate or drastic steps are contemplated with a view to put the state-owned Atlantic and North Carolina railroad on a paying basis or to get rid of it, Governor Clyde R. Hoey told this bureau's representative today.

The Governor said he feels that the plight of the little line which runs from Goldsboro to Morehead City, is right in line with that of all the railroads of the country and he predicted that the A. and N. C. will show a business pickup if and when the other rails begin to do better.

Pressed for an opinion whether or not the road can ever be made to pay, in view of its almost absolute dependence on business through the port of Morehead, the Governor had little to say. He indicated that Morehead's volume of port traffic cannot be expected to gain unless and until it is made a regular "port of call" by one or more steamship lines.

Pursuing the matter further he said he did not think this can come to pass as long as the present differentials in freight rates are still working constantly against the South.

The Governor was drawn into a discussion of the Morehead City matter through questions directed to the recent action of the A. and N. C. in forcing a "week without pay" furlough plan upon its employees for the month of April. The Governor said he has not seen the March report of the railroad but added that he is adverse to the statement of Manager H. P. Crowl that the road showed a profit for that month. The furlough plan, it was announced by Mr. Crowl, was adopted in view of the precipitate drop shown by a

Two Major Victories By Japs In Central China Check Chinese Optimism

Mrs. E. L. Hillman Named President Of Methodist Missionary Conference

Sessions To Continue Tonight and Tomorrow

The North Carolina Conference of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church in session here, this morning elected Mrs. E. L. Hillman, of New Bern, president of the conference for the ensuing year, heard reports of activities of the organizations of the various districts, awarded trophies to districts for outstanding services and heard reports from two of the North Carolina Conference missionaries to Korea. With around 250 delegates and a large number of visitors present, the conference held its first session yesterday afternoon. Sessions will continue this afternoon, tonight and tomorrow morning.

This morning's session began with a musical program followed by worship services under direction of Miss Elizabeth Lamb. Following the worship service came the reports of the secretaries of the various districts revealing that during the year the conference as a whole had raised over $68,000 for mission work of which about $51,000 was spent in missionary and educational work in North Carolina and the balance in the foreign fields. The Durham district with $17,487 led all the other districts in the total amount of money raised. Of this amount approximately $8,000 was spent for work in the foreign fields. Mrs. Mrs. Gertie Matthews, of New Bern, making the report for the New Bern district of which Greenville is a part, revealed that her district led all other districts in the percentage of increase in funds over the previous year. The New Bern district raised $13,909 of which $6,873 was used for work in the foreign fields. The district's total for the year was an increase of $906 over the previous year. Mrs. Matthews urged all Methodist women to join the missionary societies and give their loyal support to the great work being carried on by the organizations. In addition to leading in the total contributions the Durham district likewise led in the largest number of auxiliaries on the honor roll and was awarded the Korean Urn. The large brass urn presented each year to the district for this outstanding service was the gift to the North Carolina Conference in 1910 of Miss Mattie Ivey, missionary to Korea. The "Study Award" a medal for the largest percentage of attendance at three study classes in the year also went to the Durham district.

One of the highlights of the morning session were "Messages From Korea," by two North Carolina missionaries, Miss Ida Hankins and Miss Eulene Smith. The two speakers, in addition to telling of the customs of the land to which they are devoting their lives, also reported on the wonderful progress that Christianity is making in the Far Eastern country. Miss Hankins, formerly of Wilmington, is an ordained minister and head of the Mary Helms School at Songdo, Korea. She has been in the mission fields for past 27 years. Miss Smith, formerly of Hamlet, is an evangelistic missionary serving in the Chulwun district of Korea.

Shanghai, April 20.—(AP)—A driving Japanese offensive today thrust back the Central China army in two major battles along the 50-mile front in Southern Shantung province.

The offensive checked optimism Chinese had shown with their victory at Taiherwang and it appeared they were making a last stand in the province—more than three fourths of its 56,000 square miles nominally under Japanese control.

The two battles were along the Lini front and at Hanchwang, southwest tip of the front. Japanese said they captured Lini and Chinese admitted loss of Hanchwang.

Japanese capture of Lini put them in position for a re-organized drive against the vital Luning railway, China's east-west trunk line.

The intensity of the Japanese offensive indicated Lini was subjected to two days of aerial bombing and constant artillery shelling before the final infantry assault.

The Japanese said this incessant pounding shattered one corner of the walls, enabling troops to fight their way by hand to the top and pour a heavy fire in the Chinese

Accusations Made At PTA Meeting

Winston-Salem, April 20.—(AP)—Rocked by a sharp attack on the organization's nominating committee, the North Carolina Congress of Parent-Teacher Association opened its annual convention here today.

Upwards of 500 delegates attended the business session that officially opened the three-day meeting and heard Mrs. W. J. Seeley of Durham, blast the nomination list for new officers.

Charging the committee of withholding announcement of the group's meeting until nine days before the conference, "we are now going to be democratic and voice our own opinion," Mrs. Seeley declared.

She nominated for president, Mrs. N. C. Walker of Raleigh.

The nominating committee report listed Mrs. D. L. Alley of Waynesville, for head of the organization.

Accusations of the Durham woman were denied by C. W. Phillips, recording secretary of the Congress, who said announcement of the committee's meeting was issued 19 days before the session.

Plans Seek Probe Of Cotton Imports

Raleigh, April 20.—M. G. Mann, manager of the North Carolina cotton growers co-operative association, said today he would urge a congressional investigation of cotton imports from India.

Mann said he had learned that 12,000 bales of short staple India cotton are in a Richmond Va. warehouse awaiting shipment to a North Carolina mill. The cotton, Mann said, is of the five-eighths staple variety the main type grown in North Carolina and the south, and though it was grown, shipped 18,000 miles, unpacked and fumigated was reported "as cheap as our own produce."

"Frankly I am alarmed at this report," said Mann.

For Better Living.

"The tragedy of our times," says a modern writer on economics, "is that we are citizens of the world, and do not know it."

The many exhibits in the store windows of Greenville during World Trade Week, April 18-23, are proof to the citizens of the town of the truth of that statement.

And yet with our dependence on other nations thus pointed out we can be content to feel that we need not concern ourselves with the fate of other parts of the world.

Any obstacle to a wide exchange of goods, whether it be political barriers set up by individual nations or a drying up of world trade because of wars, makes itself felt directly not only in the homes of the 10,000,000 people said by the Assistant Secretary of State in 1935 to be dependent on our exports, but also on the "more than two million families" in the United States who earn their living, according to ex-President Hoover, "in the manufacture of raw materials which we import in exchange for our exports."

And how many more does a stoppage in foreign trade influence indirectly through the loss in buying power of those directly affected?

World Peace must precede the world trade needed for the greater prosperity of all.

morning, Mrs. Hillman was escorted to the platform where Mrs. A. M. Gates, the retiring president, presented her the conference gavel.

The gavel is made from wood from the Green Hill house near Louisville, a historic shrine of Methodism in North Carolina. In accepting the gavel, Mrs. Hillman declared that she wished she could accept the office with as great confidence as the women had shown in her by electing her to the high office. She promised her faithful efforts to the work of the organization and plead for the support of all Methodist women in the cause.

Mrs. Gertrude Matthews of the New Bern district, presented the retiring president, Mrs. Gates, with a life certificate of honorary membership on behalf of the women of the New Bern district.

Among those presented to the conference this morning were Mrs. C. M. Early of Norfolk, past conference president; Mrs. S. H. Scott of New Bern, who has been an active worker in various capacities in the conference for the past 40 years; Mrs. Paul Kern, wife of the present bishop of this area; Miss Emma Graham, secretary of the Weldon district; Mrs. R. H. Willis of Hertford, former secretary of the Elizabeth City district; Miss Helen White of Oxford, former secretary of the Raleigh district; and Mrs. J. M. Dimmett, whose daughter, Mrs.

Townsend, has recently sailed for Africa, where she will do Christian educational work in the Belgian Congo.

Following the fellowship dinner at East Carolina Teachers college yesterday evening at 6 o'clock, delegates to the conference re-assembled at 8 o'clock at Jarvis Memorial Methodist church for the Aldersgate commemoration. In addition to the musical program, the evening was featured by a pageant on Methodism, followed by a sermon by Rev. R. Dwight Ware, pastor of First church of Rocky Mount.

Rev. Mr. Ware, taking as his subject "The Secret of Man's Greatness," referred to Edison's toil, Rockefeller's thrift and Franklin's research, as furnishing a foundation for their greatness. "But above all," he said, "the secret power of Jesus Christ was His mission of mercy and service to all mankind."

He pointed out that Christ's entire life was centered on this one mission and the same holds out the only hope of mankind in the present day. "The application of Christ's teachings to our daily lives is the secret of man's greatness," he declared.

Following the sermon, communion was conducted by Rev. E. L. Hillman of New Bern, presiding elder of this district, assisted by Rev. T. McM. Grant, Rev. W. L. Clegg, Rev. E. R. Clegg, Rev. M. O. Stevenson and Rev. H. L. Harris.

University of North Carolina and graduated with a B. S. degree in commerce in 1924.

He was appointed to the office of treasurer in December, 1934, and in 1936 defeated Charles Laughinghouse for the office, this being the first time he ever has sought reelection to the office.

Mrs. Perkins is vice-chairman of the Pitt County Democratic Executive Committee.

Mr. Underwood came to Greenville in 1914 with his parents. His father, who came to assume the duties as superintendent of Pitt county schools, died some years later.

After graduating from Greenville high school he entered Duke university and graduated with an A. B. degree in 1931. He returned to the county and taught school at Farmville for two years, resigning to accept a position with the Pitt Welfare office. Later he resigned from that position to study law, graduating with an LL. B. degree from Cumberland University in 1937, and was admitted to the North Carolina bar in August of last year.

Mr. Underwood's entry into the race makes five candidates for the two seats from Pitt. The other four are William S. Tyson, John S. Moore, H. H. Duncan and S. O. Worthington.

Free Will Baptists Conducting Revival

The revival meeting at the Free Will Baptist Church started with good attendance. Mr. Pittman and Mrs. Moye sang "Did You Think to Pray?" as a special number.

Mr. Moye used as a subject "The Four Man Job," from a Scripture lesson in the second chapter of Mark, and said in part:

"Jesus is in Galilee selecting men to assist him in establishing his gospel. People had heard about Jesus and in Capernaum there was a sick man who had spent perhaps all his money without obtaining a cure, who heard of Jesus, and that he was coming to Capernaum. The sick man had four friends who heard of Jesus and that he was able to give sight to the blind and they said to the sick man, if he was willing, they would take him to Jesus. They told of all the wonderful work of Jesus and they took the sick man and carried him to Jesus perhaps on a hot summer day. People perhaps scoffed at them as they walked the streets but they were determined to get him to the Christ. When they arrived at the church the people crowded the entrance but their determination knew no defeat so they ascended to the roof and removed a section and let him down.

"When Jesus saw their faith he stopped in the midst of his discourse long enough to heal the sick man and forgive his sins. And at once he was healed. In this case, faith was manifest by the sick man and his four friends. Sometimes it takes cooperative faith and effort

For Better Living: World Peace, World Trade

Mrs. Hillman Speaks.

Mrs. E. L. Hillman, general chairman of World Trade Week, now being observed in Greenville, spoke yesterday to an attentive audience at the college assembly on the attitude imperative for the person who wishes to be a positive force for peace.

Beginning with an explanation of the World Trade exhibit, Mrs. Hillman went on to show its relation to peace and to speak of the work of the lover of peace.

She suggested that a person who wishes to help bring world peace must, first of all, be a student.

As a student he must read history with his eyes open and observe, for example, that no question of right and wrong was ever settled by war, that in the wars of history the council table afterwards has made the settlement.

As a student he must distinguish between patriotism, which the speaker defined as correct evaluation by a nation of its good and bad points, or national self-respect; and nationalism, or self-love, which feeds on fear, hatred, and prejudice in relation to other nations.

And as a student he must realize that war is possible only because of the use of a double standard—one for the individual, who is taught not to rob and kill, and one for the nation which sets its armed forces to rob, torture and kill, in order to win.

Nations, it must be realized, are not above the moral law any more than individuals are.

However, it is not enough to study the question and be informed, said Mrs. Hillman. To be creative in peace, one must share his facts and opinions with others, and must let the people who represent him in his government know where he stands. "The vote is still the most powerful weapon we have for the control of the politician."

World Trade Week is making itself felt in other ways also on the college campus.

At the main entrance to the auditorium in which Mrs. Hillman was speaking, was a display of mounted groups of pictures suggesting the unity of mankind in various ways, giving the ideas of artists and sculptors in peace and war, and showing great men and women who have "helped to make all men neighbors."

On another bulletin board in a side hall was a large poster worked out by the Peace Group of the Y. W. C. A., to show the many countries from which we draw even such things as cosmetics.

Other posters of similar nature will be displayed in the library all week.

There, too, is found an exhibit of books and periodicals bearing on relations between nations from the economic point of view.

Attention of the assembly audience was called to the window exhibits in down-town stores. That audience may see, also, a free moving picture showing the world-wide movements of trade in an interesting travelogue which will be shown at the Pitt Theatre Saturday morning from 11 to 12 o'clock through the cooperation of the local theatre.

Then on Thursday evening, the college students will have the opportunity, along with town people, to hear Harold Fey, noted speaker and writer on peace. He will speak in the Austin auditorium.

International Trade Exhibit Week.

In his introduction of the motion picture "The March of Trade," Mr. Perkins, the commentator, says: "Until the great war disrupted the then established channels of trade, American exports had been largely confined to raw materials—principally products of the farm."

"With the war, however, American manufacturers were called upon to take the place of the Europeans in supplying the wants for manufactured products to large sections of the world."

"They found that one of the greatest obstacles they had to overcome was the absence of an American bank in the countries with which they were opening relations."

"The banking law was changed to permit national banks to have foreign branches."

"And at the earnest solicitation of many of its friends, the National City Bank of New York in 1914 began the development of its world-wide branch banking system. It represents today the result of testing and training for over twenty years."

"The service rendered by this organization is of great value to the labor and industry of our country, and contributes to international friendship and understanding."

"In order that our organization might get a clear picture of these foreign operations we have asked our managers to take pictures of their quarters, the staff, and the city in which they are located."

"These have been put together and have proved so interesting to me that I am showing them to my associates and friends in the hope that they will share my interest and feel that I am justified in my pride—in what our men in the foreign fields have accomplished."

"Because the picture 'The March of Trade' is a free public of 'Trade' so vividly depicts the economic Saturday morning, April 23, at the Pitt Theatre, at 11 o'clock, to bring to a fitting close Greenville's first International Trade Exhibit Week. Miss Mamie E. Jenkins serves as chairman of the committee which made this selection."

The Boxwood Barrier

By BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON

The Story So Far: In love with dashing Gary Brent, Judith Goodloe marries Reuben Oliver for his money—only to discover he is bankrupt. Twins are born and Reuben loses a mental nursing job. Through red-headed Cleo Rogers, who loves him, Reuben gets work in Gary's lumber camp and joyfully sends for Judith. Through an accident Judith's tent is not put up, and when she arrives Gary provides a cabin for her. Returning from the woods, Reuben finds that Judith has gone to a dance with Gary. Jealousy and black rage take possession of him.

Chapter 31

"Cruel To Do That!"

BACK at Plot 16 Reuben ripped off his necktie, rolled up his sleeves and fell to work as though pursued by a million demons. If he had labored all day he worked with frenzy now. He drove staples, put up the ridge pole. Unaided, spread the canvas. Tied it down. Have to take out that stake—

The tent solid at last, Reuben set up the cots. Screwed electric bulbs into sockets. Arranged the outside grill, then, still in the throes of senseless anger, went to Winding Hill cabin and over the protests of Alf took blankets, bundles, his sleeping babies to his own roof-tree and put them to bed.

He was driven by rage, pursued by a million demons.

Then he sat outside the tent and stared unseeing into the darkness. Every blast of the saxophones, every throb of the drums added to his rage. Judith was down there dancing—dancing with Gary. His mind went back to the day in Maryland he had asked her to marry him. She loved Gary—she had told him so that day. She still loved Gary—once he had been sure he was the better man!

The dance at the pavilion differed from any dance Judith had ever attended. It was as cosmopolitan as though it were on the edge of the Suez instead of the edge of an American forest. There were the usual number of men in white flannel trousers and dark coats. The usual number of women in new or not too new gowns. There were girls carefully waved, powdered, rouged, with vivid lips and finger nails. Girls whose slinky frocks clung like skin to their figures. There were demure little school ma'ams in comfortable cottons or prim, serviceable silks. There were cow girls and boys from neighboring dude ranches. There were stars and extras from Hollywood. There were Swedes, Germans and French. There was a young Jap connected with the Embassy bent on enjoying America while seeing it.

The orchestra played a tango. Judith moved gracefully through it. She felt herself coming alive, as a wilted flower freshens after a brief summer shower. Just to dance again! It mattered not with whom. To feel young, free, untroubled. Yesterday, the day before, all the days—with their dull cold and searing heat, were forgotten. It was a fragrant September night. The music was good. She was not quite 23. She wanted this hour—just this hour to go on forever—

Arm In Arm

NOT until the last note of the last dance had been played did Judith think of going home. "I actually forgot my children," Judith sighed repentantly. "I needed this night, Gary. I feel reborn—as though I'm about to start life all over and make a better job of it." She felt courageous, ready to meet and conquer anything. Was it only this morning she had been discouraged, defeated?

"We'll ride tomorrow, Judy. Today really."

"Today?" aghast, "What time is it?"

"About twenty of two."

"Mercy! I haven't been out after nine-thirty for years."

"Careful!"

"It's true—don't give me any credit for it though. There isn't any place to go in Fordney's Gulch except to movies so old the films are torn. They start at seven, so unless one stopped at Lacy's for ginger pop, one was home and in bed by nine-thirty. I don't like ginger pop."

They were walking arm in arm, sometimes losing the path in the darkness. Slipping and tripping over loosened stones and tangled undergrowth. Finding the path again. Laughing at their blundering—laughing at nothing.

Pine drenched with dew made the night spicy. Above their heads a star shot. An adventurous cottontail crossed the road ahead of them in panicky haste. The woods whispered.

"Judy," Gary said struck by a sudden thought, "Remember the night we rode to Reisterstown hunting watermelons?"

"And got caught in a terrible storm and you lost your pocket-book!"

"With $2 in it, tragedy!"

"Good old days, Gary!"

They did not speak again until

$ In this space then you would mark down just about the same!... which is all you will pay for making the whole great 1938 Springtime TRIPLE-CHANGE...

- the change to an OIL-PLATED engine for you

Only the patented Germ Process creates an inlay of lubricant all over the inner engine surfaces—a PLATING of oil that holds as close as any other plating on your car.

Not a chance then, for cylinder walls and other delicate surfaces to drain dry every time you park. Hence not a chance of "dry starts," that can cause more wear than all your jaunts this Summer. Washington - Merrily we roll along!

Something over a year ago President Roosevelt sent to Congress the famous bill for reorganization of the Supreme Court and other federal courts. Among its provisions was one for increasing by 50 the number of judges, including district, circuit and Supreme Court members. But the State snatched it down.

Lately the Senate, moving under its own power, has passed a bill authorizing appointment of 21 new judges, including 14 for the district courts and seven for the circuit courts. The House Judiciary committee in turn has reported out a similar bill but calling for 25 new judges, 18 for the district courts and seven for the circuits.

The difference between the President's bill and the current bills is largely a matter of purpose. Spiking for individual here:
"One for policy, and the other patronage."

That isn't necessarily so. Many of the appointments proposed in the two current bills were recommended by a conference on the Judiciary. It was headed by Chief Justice Hughes.

Of Course Not
One of the things Chas. C. Claunch had to learn after he was assigned from the Navy to the White House as assistant usher was to walk straight.
"I always walked on a bias," said Claunch. "If I walked along the sidewalk with anybody I either crowded him off the curb or into the store windows." Now he has learned to walk a chalk line. He said he couldn't be crowding the Ambassador's wife into the potted palms.

You can't beat the Pennsylvania
Central airlines for low coast air-mail transportation. The line hauls the mail daily for right one-hundredths of a cent a mile. The company bid fantastically low for the job in order to get the contract.
At the end of three years the Interstate Commerce Commission has authority to bring the pay up to something near the average of 20 cents a mile. At present the line pays 16 cents a year for its work.
Similarly T.W.A. is hauling the mail from Winslow, Ariz., to San Francisco for a tenth of a cent a mile, or $496 a year, and from Dayton, Ohio, to Chicago for the same rate, bringing the magnificent income of $176 a year.

No contract is let for less than one cent a month for airmail haulage. The treasury can't make out checks for less than a penny, and banks can't cash them.

Successor to 'River' Para Lorentz, burly-bodied young director who produced "The Plow That Broke the Plains" for the Resettlement administration and "The River" for the Farm Security administration, successor to the RA is negotiating now for the job of the job of doing a third film in the trilogy. It is to be about the one-third of us who are underfed, underhoused and underfed. "The River," which traces the growth of a drop of water from an icicle in the Minnesota woods to a surging flood at Cairo and New Orleans, still is circulating on major chains.

Big Exterminating Bill
Americans pay more than $6-$80,000 annually for disinfecting and exterminating service, the Census Bureau reports. About 2,300 persons are employed in this business.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, April 20.—With only three days left in which to file, candidates for the General Assembly are popping up all over the state.
Some of the recent announcements were: L. W. Ferguson, Forsyth, House; D. W. Arnold, a Disciple minister, Beaufort, House; Ellis P. Lupton, Ed Parker, Leslie Crawford, W. Frank Taylor, A. B.
Culbertson, all of Wayne and all for that county's two seats. Neither Representative W. W. Anderson nor his 1937 colleague, W. H. Best, Jr., will run this time. Daniel V. Carter has filed for the Republican Senatorial nomination in Forsyth.
Which reminds that Gordon Gray, Winston-Salem publisher, was still without opposition when these lines were written. Robert Lee Smith, long very active in D. A. V. circles, is out for the Buncombe State Senate seat. Will Graham, one-time and longtime Commissioner of Agriculture, wants the Lincoln Senate post. His only opponent up to Tuesday was Judge Lawrence E.
Rudasill. Will S. Long, Alamance House candidate, says it isn't so that he wants to ban all big trucks and buses from North Carolina highways. Rowan drays have said they will put a complete and solid ticket (including two candidates for House seats) in the field. George Uzzell, incumbent and wet, is already in the field, and Walter (Pete) Murphy, veteran and also wet, was expected to announce at any minute (may have done so ere you read these lines). This column's map of North Carolina shows a minimum of 200 candidates for House seats, and there will certainly be nearly twice that number when all the filing has been done.

All political news sinks into comparative insignificance these days, however, what with the baseball season opening in the big leagues.
Joe DiMaggio is a far more important Italian at this moment than is Benito Mussolini, and Dizzy

A recent story about Dr. Charles B. Dearing, director of the Willard test farm, refers to him as the world's greatest expert on strawberries. Which is no doubt in strict accord with the facts, but this column also nominates him as the world's champion baseball fan.

A conservative estimate is that the Willard boss traveled no less than 14,400 miles at night in an automobile to see Wilmington's Pirates play second division baseball during the Port City's three years in the Piedmont League.

The Pirates played 70 home games each season, which, allowing for doubleheaders, gave them no less than 60 home dates each season or 180 for three years. Dr. Dearing did not miss a single game, driving 40 miles into Wilmington and 40 back home every night the team played.
Multiplying out gives the 14,400 miles total.

And bear in mind that Wilmington was playing Class "B" baseball and was hardly out of the second division during the entire three years.

Your correspondent is told that in 1928-29 when Wilmington had Class "D" ball in the old East Carolina League, Dr. Dearing was just as faithful an attendant.

Announcement that Roy Lawrence has been appointed Southern boss for the CIO, proves that the Winston-Salem labor leader used his head for something other than a hat rack when he decided to throw in his lot with the John L. Lewis crowd. Also it removes all chance that he will oppose Gordon Gray

Don't Trifle With Arthritis

By C. W. BYNUM
Bissette's Drug Store

The most dreaded form of rheumatism is arthritis, consuming the tissues until the victim is a hopeless cripple and ending ultimately in death.
Like all forms of rheumatism this disease derives from a "focus of infection," perhaps from the tonsils, or at the roots of the teeth, it may be from the intestines. It scores in all walks of life and is as deadly as cancer, tuberculosis, or heart disease.
A skilled physician can detect the point of infection before it has had time to spread through the system. For this reason annual health examinations by a competent doctor are important.
Follow his orders and have his prescriptions filled by a capable druggist.

been rumored.
An old law of physics—"For every action there is an equal and contrary reaction"—is true, in part, at least, of politics. For example, Oscar Barker's announcement that such Anti-New Dealers as Ben Cone, Kuliford textile tycoon, will work for him as a Sixth District Congressional candidate, will lose the Durham man plenty of labor votes.
Major Edney Ridge, New Deal candidate, scrawled this pencilled comment on the Barker announcement of a Guilford "Advisory Committee":
"No friends of labor or the farmer in this crowd."

PLAN NO DRASTIC STEPS TO MAKE RAILROAD PAY

that there would be a change for the better, but such predictions have not been met.
As a matter of fact the business handled through the port of Morehead, figures show, has been confined almost exclusively to a brisk but brief, spurt in the export of scrap iron, an item which has fallen off in recent months almost to the vanishing point.
Imports through the port have been virtually nil, two small cargoes of salt (one of which lay in Morehead for about a year and was then shipped elsewhere by water) and one of beer representing practically the gross total.

According to figures from the United States District Engineer's office, the port of Morehead City showed no imports whatever for the year 1937.
Exports amounted to 61,956 tons valued at $1,036,203, all in scrap iron.

For 1937, the volume of coastwise commerce amounted to 845 tons with a valuation of $73,260.
In discussion of the entire port and rail question, Governor Hoey said that there is apparently nothing that can be done until North Carolina shippers begin to ship their goods out of the state through Carolina ports.
Unofficial estimates are that if one plant such as the Chatham Blanket company, or the Champion Fibre company, both of which use either Charleston or Norfolk or both as shipping ports, would switch its water transportation business to Morehead City, the resulting revenue would be more than sufficient for the A. and N. C. to show a profit.

MARTIN HURLS ECTC TO WIN

College Makes it Two in Row Over William and Mary

East Carolina Teachers College made it two in a row over William & Mary Braves behind three - hit pitching of big Kelly Martin, right hander of the college pitching staff. Martin showed mid-season form in allowing only three hits, striking out six and walking only three.

The Teachers jumped on Cooper and Harris, William & Mary hurlers, for 10 hits and nine runs, while one run was all the visitors could get off Martin, and that was of the unearned type.

Joe Hatem and Earl Smith were the best hitters for the Teachers with two hits apiece.

Legum, Donovan and Oden were the only William and Mary players to get safe hits.

Flock of State Players Now in Big League Line-ups

Raleigh, April 20—Never one to urge his boys to play baseball for a living unless they really have the goods, Coach Doak nevertheless has turned out a flock of baseball players who are now in the big leagues.

Up there under the Big Top Mister Charlie's grades are making history. Kemp Wicker of the Yankees and Jackie Wade of the Tigers will hook up in many a mound duel before the curtain is drawn on the current American League season. John Lanning of the Bees will try to throw 'em by Jimmie Brown, the Cardinal shortstop in the National.

Dutch Holland and Croaker Wade, both major league outfielders of other day, are among those watching that excitement with unusually keen interest. Both have retired, Dutch to the life of a gentleman farmer in native Maxton after having played with Cleveland, Detroit and the old Braves, and Croaker to easier life than hitting homers for the Tigers and several Pacific coast league teams.

Chick Outen, chief of the other former N. C. State players who made good under the big top (as a catcher for the Brooklyn Daffiness Boys) continues his baseball exploits as a member of the Missions team of the Pacific coast league.

Many other Doak students made

SEASON'S FIRST HOMER AS RED SOX LICK YANKEES 8 TO 4

Ben Chapman, Red Sox outfielder, crosses home plate after smacking the first circuit clout of the season against the New York Yankees in an opening encounter in Boston. That's the bat-boy giving him the glad-hand, while Bobby Doerr, Boston second baseman, looks on. The home run tied the score at 2-2 in the second inning and possibly inspired the Red Sox to their six-run rally in the sixth which whipped the boys from the Bronx, 8 to 4.

good in the minors, including First baseman Red Lassiter, Shortstop Johnny Gilbert, Catcher Rochelle Johnson, Catcher Charley Ealmon, Pitcher Larry Allgood and Pitcher Johnny Hill, all of whom are retired after serving in the Piedmont league; Pitcher Bill Averett, former Piedmont now teaching and coaching in Dunn and hurling semipro ball; Outfielders Charley Shuford and Bob Correll, who retired after playing in the old Sally.

Active are Water Rabb, shortstop with Snow Hill; Charley Gadd outfielder with Goldsboro; Stuart Flythe, once up with an ethical; now pitching for New Bern; Sandfoss, second baseman with the same team; and Uriah Norwood, outfielder with Greenville, all of the Coastal Plains league.

Willie Duke, Chuckie little hard hitting outfielder who would have been to be major league material is holding out on the Nashville Vols of the Southern association and insists that he will continue giving the Raleigh High the benefit of his baseball learning until the Vols meet his salary demands.

Coach Doak believes that in Catcher Larry Smith, son of the former Pirate catcher, Doc Smith; and Pitcher Vic Holshouser, brother of Herman Holshouser, formerly of the St. Louis Browns, he has two boys who are headed for the majors upon their graduation three years from now.

Thanks Extended For Oxford Class

Appreciation of the manner in which the Oxford Orphanage singing class was received here recently was expressed in a letter to T. T. Etheridge, of Greenville Lodge Number 284, from the office manager of the class.

The letter received here follows:

"We are pleased to acknowledge receipt of your kind letter of the 13th enclosing check for $184.27 which represents the proceeds from the concert given by the children of the Oxford Orphanage Singing Class when on their annual visit to Greenville on the 7th. This is a splendid amount and we want to assure you that it is genuinely appreciated. We will thank you to speak a word of gratitude on our behalf to those who helped you to make this amount possible.

By this method we wish to express to you and the members of your Lodge our genuine thanks for the splendid manner in which you received the members of this Class when on this recent visit. They reported a most delightful visit and are looking forward to the time when they can come again. We wish we could thank personally each one who contributed in any way to make this visit of the Class so enjoyable.

Again we thank you and our large family here at the Orphanage sends greetings and best wishes to you and your fellow members."

HIGHS TO PLAY FRIDAY AT 3:30

Meet Rocky Mount in First Home Game In Two Weeks

Greenville's high school baseball nine will play their first home game in two weeks Friday when they engage the Rocky Mount Diamonds at the Third street park. The game will be called at 3:30.

In a previous contest between the two teams, the Blackbirds triumphed over the locals by a score of 6-0. The Phantoms' hitting power has not succeeded in producing many scores so far, but are expected to do better Friday due to several changes made in the lineup.

Howard Hodges, victim of the Blackbird's win over the local nine, 8-1-2.

IN FEATURE BOUT FRIDAY NIGHT

Jimmy Johnson (above) former a matuer heavyweight champion of the South, now a student at East Carolina Teachers College here, will meet Jo-Jo Lewis of Fort Bragg, heavyweight champion of the United States army, in the finals of a six-match fight program at the College gymnasium Friday night. The event is being sponsored by the American Legion, and promoted by the College Varsity club. The main event will go to 10 rounds (or less), while the semi-finals (8 rounds) will see Suley Lacy of Fayetteville matched against Bob Helms of Charleston, S. C. Three-round preliminaries will see Clifton Wright of Raleigh matched against Luther Moras, Joe Williams, Greenville, vs. Ken Qurnell of Massena, N. Y.; Evert Perkins of ECTC vs. Marion Summerell of Ayden; and Norman Fleming of Greenville vs. Sammy Pierce of Ayden.

FIRST GAME AT ROCKY MOUNT

Red Sox Open Piedmont at Home Sunday Afternoon

Rocky Mount, April 20 — With prospects bright for a successful season and an interesting team the Rocky Mount Red Sox will open their home schedule of the Piedmont League Sunday afternoon at Briles Park by meeting General Alvin Crowder's Winston-Salem twins. The game will begin at 3 o'clock.

Rocky Mount will be entering its third season of Piedmont League play and holds the distinction of operating the only Class B league team in the North Carolina area east of Durham.

Baseball fans here are anticipating a good year because of the showing made by the Red Sox in their only two exhibition games of the spring training period in which they scored onesided victories over Binghamton of the Eastern league which is a class A circuit.

Herb Brett, who was voted the best manager in the Bi-State league for the last four seasons, is pilot of the Red Sox succeeding Nemo Leibold who was here last year.

The Rocky Mount team responded to the spring training work and will be at top strength against the greatly improved Winston-Salem club Sunday.

Williamsport Grays Trim Tarboro, 3-2

Tarboro, April 20—Williamsport Grays defeated Tarboro, 3-2, here Tuesday. Hits were scarce, but both teams made the blows count.

Bartling hit a homer for the visitors in the first inning. However, Peahead Lehman clouted for the circuit with one on in the first to give Tarboro the lead.

The Grays combined a walk, doubles by McHenry and Morris to score two runs in the seventh stanza to take the lead for keeps.

Three Tarboro pitchers—McAdam, Malone and York—walked nine.

EVANSTON'S COLORFUL ON TRAFFIC TICKETS

Evanson, Ill. (AP)—Evanson police have adopted green, blue and red traffic tickets and compulsory schooling for motor vehicle law violators.

Green tickets are used for violations where the owners are not present, such as parking overtime, in restricted areas or without lights. Blue tickets are given to motorists as warnings of minor violations. Records are kept. When a motorist has accumulated three blue ones he is summoned for consultation.

If a motorist was at fault on each of three "blue" violations he is recommended to attend a traffic school. Refusal brings prosecution on the last charge made against him.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, April 20.—(AP)—The April recovery gains in the stock market were whittled down further today by a slow, but steady, run of offerings. Losses ranged to more than three points near the fourth hour.

"Inflation" sentiment, pushed up by the recent disclosure of President Roosevelt's spending-lending plans seemed to have subsided for the moment, anyway.

Bonds retreated with stocks.

EVANSTON'S COLORFUL ON TRAFFIC TICKETS

Evanson, Ill. (AP)—Evanson police have adopted green, blue and red traffic tickets and compulsory schooling for motor vehicle law violators.

Green tickets are used for violations where the owners are not present, such as parking overtime, in restricted areas or without lights. Blue tickets are given to motorists as warnings of minor violations. Records are kept. When a motorist has accumulated three blue ones he is summoned for consultation.

If a motorist was at fault on each of three "blue" violations he is recommended to attend a traffic school. Refusal brings prosecution on the last charge made against him.

Arthur School News

The last meeting of the Arthur P. T. A. was held on Tuesday evening. After the devotional a report of the year's work was given.

Just before school opened in September, the P. T. A. gave a reception at the school building, to which all the patrons, friends and faculty were invited. This was given so the teachers and patrons of the school could meet each other before school began. It has been voted to make this an annual affair.

The P. T. A. sponsored a play, baby show, and tobacco shower, from which a nice sum of money was raised. The association presented the school with one hundred books for the lower grades, helped pay for a mimeograph, presented the school with a U. S. flag, is helping to put on a building program which if carried out, will add some much needed room for the school.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of nearly one hundred dollars in the treasury now.

After a report of the nominating committee Mrs. G. T. Tyson was unanimously elected president for another year. We had three guest speakers on our program for this meeting, Miss Nice, Mr. Griggs and Dr. Emmett. Each one made a short and helpful talk on the phase of work they are doing in the county. After listening to these interesting talks we adjourned to meet again September, 1938.

Friday, April 15th, was visitation day at the school and all the patrons and friends of the school were invited to come out and see what the children have accomplished this year.

In the afternoon a U. S. flag was raised on the grounds. The following program was given:

Devotion—Rev. Gilbert Davis. "Holy, Holy, Holy"—Audience. Welcome—Mr. J. W. Webster. Music—Farmville Band. Introduction of Speaker—Mr. D. H. Conley.

Address—Hon. Dink James. Origin of Our Flag—Frances Allen. Our Flag—Marjorie Carroway. Proper Flag Salutes—Greenview Scout Troop. Star Spangled Banner—Audience. March to Flag Pole. Music—Farmville Band. Raising of Flag—Boy corps.
