for and Against Administration Aims

Washington, April 26. — (AP)—The State Department implied to the House Foreign Affairs Committee today that it believed Italy and Japan had violated international treaties in operations against Ethiopia and China.

Chairman McReynolds (D-Tenn.) read to the committee a letter from Sumner Welles, acting Secretary of State, which cited previously departmental expressions of its views on the observance of international obligations.

The letter was in response to a request for the department's opinion of a resolution by Representative Scott (D-Calif.), which asked the President to specify what nations in recent years have violated treaties to which they and the United States are signatories.

On the Senate side of the Capitol today Senator Norris (Ind-Neb.), usually an ardent administration supporter, said he would vote against President Roosevelt's naval expansion bill.

Other developments: Representative (R-N. Y.) accused Harry Hopkins of inspiring "chain letter propaganda" in favor of the President pump-priming program.

Taber's statement to newsmen came while House members had before them an anonymous letter to President Roosevelt telling of "new propaganda about to be launched against your recovery program." A petition form was attached to the letter, which the writer said originated in a large corporation in New York.

A joint conference committee completed work on a compromise draft of conflicting Senate and House tax revision bills.

With differences between the two bills composed, Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the Senate Finance Committee, said the compromise measure "is the most forward step in years toward helping employment by private initiative through a fiscal policy of the Federal government."

To Wed King Zog

Tirana, Albania April 26 (AP)—Lu Kë couples numbering 150 were united in mass weddings throughout the Kingdom today in honor of King Zog's wedding tomorrow to the Countess Geraldine Apponyi of Hungary.

Fifty were married at the Sovereign's expense and 100 at the expense of various municipalities. They were selected by local authorities.

A large crowd gathered to witness the ceremony at the Tirana city hall, where 14 couples were married.

In Berlin it was announced Chancellor Hitler sent King Zog an automobile bearing the Albanian Royal coat of arms and also a helmet of the Albanian national hero, Skanderbeg, as a wedding present.

Raleigh, April 26.—(AP)—The marriage tomorrow of Countess Geraldine Apponyi of Hungary and King Zog of Albania is entirely a love match, Raleigh relatives of the Countess said today, and the queen to be has "American Southern charm" from her North Carolina ancestors.

The Countess is the granddaughter of the former Virginia Harding, a native of Raleigh, who is the wife of Baron Strade d'Ekena, Swedish Minister to Austria.

Judge George Pail, a member of the old State Corporation Commission, had a letter from his cousin Madame d'Ekena, saying that King Zog "fell in love with pictures of the Countess and for months sent his envoys to ask her hand in marriage."

Mooresville, April 26.—(AP)—Postmaster General James Farley complimented Mooresville on the growth of its postal business today as he dedicated its handsome $60,000 new post office.

The building, of colonial design with brick exterior walls and limestone trim, was completed last year and has been in use since August.

Farley recounted that the Mooresville post office was established on August 7, 1871, and the order establishing it fixed the postmaster's salary at $12 a year. By last year receipts here had grown to nearly $19,000.

Later at Newton, Farley dedicated Newton's new $60,000 post office and asserted that Newton's growth and its postal business in recent years were ample evidence of its industry and community spirit.

In the past 11 years, about four billion pounds of industrial explosives have been transported without accident over railroads of the United States and Canada.

Farm Control Reaction
Pleasing To Federation

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, April 26.—The loud walls of complaint and anguish which have arisen since officials began to assign acreage quotas to tobacco farmers are not very disturbing to E. F. Arnold, secretary of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, organization which was probably the most active in the state in supporting control in the recent farmers' referendum.

"Most of the complaints are based on misunderstanding of the situation and most of them will blow over within a reasonable time," said Mr. Arnold. "Of course we are hearing from the ones who are not satisfied and not from those who are—they've gone ahead setting out tobacco plants and are not trying to get their names in the papers."

He estimated that the same proportion of growers are satisfied with the quotas, as voted for control—which is above 90 per cent.

Until Election in November

Raleigh, April 26.—(AP)—Governor Hoey appointed Attorney General A. A. F. Seawell to the State Supreme Court today and named Harry McMullan Attorney General to succeed Seawell.

McMullan will name a new assistant Attorney General later.

Seawell, a veteran public servant succeeds the late Associate Justice George Connor, who died suddenly Saturday.

"A large number of worthy and capable men were presented, but I could name only one man and I finally decided to select the Attorney General," Hoey commented.

The court does not sit for hearings this week, but Clerk Edward Murray said it might meet in special session for administration of the oath to Seawell.

McMullan said he was not certain just when he would take his oath.

Seawell will serve as an associate justice of the court and McMullan as Attorney General by appointment until the November election.

The executive committee of the Democratic and Republican parties must nominate candidates for the posts and the winners will assume office after election.

The elected associate justice will serve the six unexpired years of the term of Judge Connor and the Attorney General will serve the two unexpired years of Seawell's term.

Although they could hardly be held responsible for highway fatalities, patrolmen are pleased more than anyone else when they are able to make a report showing a low accident rate, and the March report made the officers situated in District 2, Troop A, feel especially good.

Troop A is divided into three districts. Last month 13 persons were killed in highway mishaps in the division. Of the 13, however, only one was in this district, which includes Edgecombe, Martin, Pitt, Tyrrell and Washington counties.

Sergeant D. G. Lewis of Rocky Mount is head of the district, which is included in the troop under the supervision of Lieut. Lester Jones, with headquarters in Greenville.

District 1 reported five fatalities in March and District 3 seven. District 2 had the least number of persons hurt in March accidents, reporting only 15 compared with 19 in District 1 and 19 in District 3.

Call Meeting On Athletic Project

A committee representing the citizens and the Board of Aldermen met at the city hall yesterday afternoon to discuss the proposed athletic field to be erected here. Property on the old fair grounds lot has been purchased for the project.

The committee will make its recommendations to the board of aldermen at a special meeting called for tonight. The board is expected to decide on the type of construction, concrete or wood, so that work may be started on the project immediately. A Mitchell Woolen of Kinston, who has been employed as architect, met with the committee yesterday afternoon and also will be present at tonight's meeting.

A miniature athletic field, with stadium and all, was displayed at the committee meeting, in order to show the members of the committee exactly what the project would look like when completed.

Japs Advance On Lunghai Railway

Shanghai, April 26.—(AP)—Japanese, driving forward savagely only 12 miles from the East-West Lunghai railway, their objective in four months of fighting, reported today the entire Suchow area was being evacuated by Chinese civilians.

A Japanese army spokesman said aerial observations showed all roads in the sector choked with Chinese farmers carting their belongings southward and westward in apparent expectation of a rapid Japanese advance on Suchow, the strategic junction of the Lunghai and North-South Tientsin-Pukow railway.

At the same time a wide shake-up in the Japanese naval command in Chinese waters was announced.

Transferred to unidentified posts were Vice Admiral Hasegawa, commander-in-chief of the third fleet in Chinese waters throughout the Shanghai operations; Rear Admiral Honda, who issued many of the navy's statements and explanations at the time of the sinking of the U. S. Pansy, and others.

Their successors were not named. With 200,000 Japanese troops pouring from Southern Shantung province into Northern Kiangsu province and a half million Chinese opposing them, General Chiang Kai-Shek's commanders ordered counter-attacks on both sides of the Yi river.

Nassau, Bahamas, April 26.—(AP)—Forrester Scott, Philadelphia lawyer, and Stanley Boynton, an aviator, were acquitted by a directed verdict today of charges of attempted kidnapping.

The two were accused of attempting March 18 to seize Scott's daughters, Eve and Zoe, and fly with them back to the United States. The children had been brought here by Scott's former wife, now Mrs. Harry Clerk Boden.

Sir Richard Tute, scarlet-robed presiding justice, directed the acquittal on the grounds that Mrs. Boden's testimony for the prosecution was inadmissible because British law does not recognize Reno divorces. Also that a wife may not testify against her husband.

Scott and Boynton in jail in default of bail, were discharged from custody and received congratulations from many in the crowd outside the courthouse. Boynton and his wife wept in relief.

Scott said he planned to return immediately to Philadelphia, while Boynton said he would go to Rockland, Maine.

Little Conway Girl
Suffers Broken Nose

Martha Conway, eight-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Conway, is in Pitt General hospital suffering with a broken nose as a result of a collision yesterday afternoon between her bicycle and an automobile driven by a Negro.

Mr. Conway said this afternoon his daughter was not seriously injured and he hoped she would be out of the hospital in a few days. Mrs. Conway was in Kentucky visiting relatives when the accident occurred.

The name of the Negro driving the automobile is not known to Mr. Conway, but he is understood to have gone to the hospital after the accident. Mr. Conway, however, remained with his daughter and did not talk to the Negro.

Illiteracy Rate High In County Home Population

Raleigh, April 26.—Illiteracy will be one of the principal reasons for the establishment and maintenance of county homes in North Carolina, according to a survey recently completed by Dr. J. Wallace Nygard, director of the Division of Institutions and Corrections, State Board of Charities and Public Welfare.

Dr. Nygard's report on the survey shows that of the 2,911 inmates of 85 county homes in the state during February, 1938, there were 1,367, or 47 per cent who have had no schooling whatever.

"The county home residents," he said, "are decidedly low in educational training, as 47 per cent are illiterates, completing no grade in school; 21.4 per cent stopped school while in the elementary grades, 19.2 per cent had had training in the grammar grades; 5.2 per cent were in high school when their education ceased, and 27, or 9 per cent, were in college or were college graduates."

Almost 33 per cent of the institution inmates had defective vision, the report discloses, adding: "In any county home survey it is necessary to know the number of inmates with defective vision who are eligible to receive Aid to the Blind assistance. Since the survey was made by social workers, rather than by experts on vision, for the purpose of this study the instructions defined an individual having defective vision as one who cannot read ordinary newspaper with the aid of glasses, or, if illiterate, cannot count fingers at 20 feet; with the aid of glasses. With this description, 957, or 33.8 per cent, of the total number of inmates are listed as having defective vision. The Blind Commission has been supplied with the names and data on all individuals so listed. Arrangements are being made for ophthalmological examinations, and following this fitting for glasses, Aid to the Blind or rehabilitation will be provided as the examinations indicate."

Tomorrow at Wilmington a committee of growers will meet with the county agent and a representative of the Surplus Commodity Corporation to establish a price for the cabbages.

London, April 26.—(AP)—The British government jolted the nation today by boosting the income tax from 25 per cent to 27 and one-half per cent to help pay the costs of the staggering rearmament program.

Britain's rearmament program confronted the British tax payer with the largest peace time budget bill in the nation's history, totaling $44,398,000 pounds ($47,190,000).

Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, making his budget speech in the House of Commons, announced that the government's need, for the 1938-39 fiscal year, were $1,500,000 pounds ($1,500,000) more than for the previous year.

To an intent house he disclosed the government already had bought "sufficient supplies of wheat, whale oil and sugar" to maintain civilian needs for the first few months if war broke out.

Makes Report On
Grading Of Milk

J. T. Welch, Greenville City Sanitary Inspector, has just released through the Pitt County Health Department the grades made by all dairies holding permits from the local health department, and the grade made by the pasteurization plant. This report covers the first quarter of the year and is as follows:

Harvey's Dairy, Greenville, Grade A; Blount's Dairy, Bethel, Grade A; Harvey Williams Dairy, Washington, Grade A; Pecan Grove Dairy, Farmville, Grade A; Steadman's Dairy, Pinetops, Grade A; Andrews' Dairy, Pantego, Grade A; T. S. Little Dairy, Farmville, Grade A; Little Creek Dairy, Farmville, Grade B; Carolina Dairy Pasteurizing Plant, Greenville, Grade A.

Mr. Welch stated that it was gratifying that the dairy managers had shown great interest in improving their dairy products. He called attention to the fact that it appeared that some citizens were under the impression that the milk ordinance did not permit the sale of raw milk in Greenville. He explained that there was nothing in the ordinance prohibiting the sale of raw milk if the milk came up to the Grade A standard. In other words, insofar as the ordinance is concerned, raw milk, if Grade A, has all the privileges accorded pasteurized milk even though it is generally conceded that by pasteurizing raw milk an added element of safety is secured.

In commenting on this milk grade report, Dr. Ennett, Pitt County Health Officer, stated:

"There is no substitute for milk as a food for the young and the old. The one requirement which every citizen should insist upon is that the milk come from cows known to be tested for tuberculosis and for Bangs' disease, and that the milk be handled in a sanitary manner. The great reduction in the number of cases of tuberculosis in infancy and the great reduction in the number of infant deaths from diarrhea and enteritis has been largely due to the enforcement of milk regulations."

RED OAK NEWS

The Rev. Gilbert Davis, pastor of the Red Oak Christian Church, will conduct a baptismal service in the Farmville Christian Church Thursday afternoon at four o'clock.

Y. W. C. A. Service.

The beautiful and impressive service conducted by the Young Woman's Christian Association at East Carolina Teachers College on Sunday evening, April 24, at which the members of the new Cabinet were installed, was the last candle light service of the Y. W. year.

The program opened with a violin solo by Miss Lois Gorrell, a member of the music department of the college. Immediately following the professional, Elizabeth Copeland the out-going president, made a short address, in which she gave the purpose of the organization and challenged the new officers to carry on the work of the Association in united desire to realize a full and creative life made possible by a growing knowledge of God.

Then she called the names of members of retiring Cabinet, each member crossed the stage, lighted the candle of her successor from her own burning taper and surrendered her place to the new member. After all the members had been installed, Miss Copeland lighted the taper of Marie Dawson, the new president of the Association and turned over to the duties and responsibilities of the office as president. The service was closed by both Cabinets marching off the stage, singing the Association song.

The new members are: Marie Dawson of Alliance, who succeeds Elizabeth Copeland, from Ahoskie, as president; Prue Newby from Hertford, the new vice president, who takes the place of Marie Dawson; Doris Blalock of Lucama, who succeeds Prue Newby as secretary; Lucy Anne Barrow of La Grange who takes the duties of Georgia Suggs from Hookton as treasurer; Lillian Parrish of Rocky Mount, who, as Student Government Representative, follows Rebecca Watson from Jonesboro; Annie Allen Wilkerson of Roxboro, who succeeds Mary Parker Johnson of Goldsboro as chairman of Social Service; Genevieve Eakes of Clinton, who takes the office of Kathleen Strickland from Nashville as chairman of the Social Committee; Irene Mitcham of Goldsboro, who follows Louise Britt from Colerain as chairman of Publicity committee; Susan Evans of St. Pauls, who, as chairman of Religious Education, keeps her of-

Shuts Out Louisburg College After the First Inning

Louisburg, April 26.—Bill Holland, star lefthander of East Carolina Teachers College baseball team, struck out 18 batters in a game with Louisburg College yesterday.

Holland, who hails from Fuquay Springs, yielded only six hits. He pitched shut-out ball after the first inning.

Dixon, Trojans' pitcher, fanned five. He was reached for 11 safeties.

Just a week ago Holland struck out 21 while turning in a three-hit job against the team from the Norfolk Division of William & Mary College.

Kinston Eagles Lick House of David Boys

Kinston, April 26.—Tommy West's Eagles defeated a House of David nine, 2-1, in a 12-inning pitchers' battle here Monday.

Hits were scarce in the pitchers' duel between Kinston's Johnny Walsh, righthander and the Bearded Boys' Lefty Ciccone. Kinston led in hits, 7 to 5.

A pair of errors and a walk gave the visitors a run in the first inning. In the home half, a walk, a passed ball and Henning's double tied it.

There was no more scoring until the Kinston 12th when, Patton singled, advanced on a passed ball and scored when Ciccone made a wild throw in trying to pick him off third.

Batting leaders were Patton, Kinston, and Baker, House of David, each with two for five.

LARGE CROWDS ATTEND GAMES

Local Stores Close Up at 3:30 Today For Opening Tilt

The 1938 season of the Coastal Plain league got underway this afternoon with games in three towns—Ayden at Greenville; Kinston at New Bern; Williamston at Tarboro; Goldsboro at Snow Hill.

Manager Monk Joyner expressed optimism over the outlook for the Greensies as the opening game was called. "Our boys look mighty good to me and I am expecting big things of them," declared the manager, who piloted the Ayden Aces last year.

The batting power of the local team is believed to be much stronger than last year. Manager Joyner himself, is a great asset in this division since he led the league last season in hitting and came through with safeties when its meant runs.

With five of last year's hurriers on the 1938 roster and the addition of Wade Harrison, who is counted on for several tallies in the win column, the Greensies can claim a hurling staff which is believed to be second to none in the league.

Greenville has played two exhibition games, against the Durham Lucky Strike team and the Norfolk Tars of the Piedmont cluo. The locals won both games and looked good in both contests.

But the Greensies is not the only team which has made improvements over last year. The league as a whole, is believed much stronger this year than last and a fun laser game is expected to be witnessed by the fans.

The tentative line-up for the Greenville-Ayden game, as announced last night by the two managers follows:

Ayden—Schuerholz 2b; Bullock 1b; Tasaway cf; Mathis rf; Coyie lf; Jarvis ss; Jirak 3b; Purcell c; Aernathy, Harward Gurn p.

Greenville—Rudisill, lf; Hoskins 2b; Thompson ss; Miller 2b; Norwood cf; Stowe lf; Jowner or Link rf; Smith c; Delaney p.

Why didn't somebody TELL me?

WITHIN the next twelve months, some 300,000 motorists are going to buy cars at or about the price of a LaSalle—and still not get a LaSalle.

Many of these, we are convinced, will do this because they do not appreciate how little a LaSalle costs. They assume that LaSalle's price is high—because its quality and reputation are so high.

But this isn't true! As a matter of fact, you can pay more for certain models of eleven other cars than it costs to get a new LaSalle V-8.

If you expect to pay more than $1,000 for your next motor car—go on up and get a LaSalle. You ought to do this because there is really no substitute for Cadillac quality, Cadillac safety and Cadillac prestige.

Why not come in today for a demonstration?

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, April 26.—Given just one more vacancy between now and the general election, Governor Clyde R.
Hoey would have a majority of his own appointees sitting on the Supreme Court bench.

Justices M. V. Barnhill and Wallace Winborne were put on the bench by a Hoey commission and by the time this appears in print
someone may be qualified to succeed Justice George W. Connor. Which will make three out of seven for the Governor.

And all this without getting all heated up about "court reform" like President Roosevelt did—and a better percentage, too, as F.D.R. only aimed at having six out of fifteen.
Sven so, Governor Hoey falls short of the mark of tobacco-chewing Cam Morrison who named three members of a five-judge Supreme Court bench during his term as governor. Morrison put Justices Adams, Clarkson and Connor on the court.

Incidentally the high mortality among Supreme Court judges is making a confirmed hypochondriac out of Chief Justice W. P. Stacy, his friends say. Up to a few years ago the Chief Justice, who isn't an old man by any stretch of the imagination, was as sprightly as you please, but now he walks around with a cane, stoops over like a barrel hoop and is always worrying about his health.

No such effect is noticeable in the case of Justice Heriot Clarkson, who carries his 75 years as-chipper as a chipmunk on a log in spring sunshine. The oldest man on the court, Clarkson's ways, and manners are the youngest. He has no delusions of grandeur or sense of over-pen-dular dignity. A regular fellow,
if there ever was one.

So Mrs. Mary Colvin Murphy of Snow Hill didn't file for the State Senate after all, despite the fact that she had been an announced candidate for a couple of months.

Reports from the sheriff's office
at now Hill confirmed rumors heard by your correspondent Monday afternoon, after efforts to get in touch with P. A. Mosely, election board chairman, failed.

All of which means that Mrs.
Murphy, in all probability can change herself up with the fact that Greene county will not have a State
Senator in this legislature.

So far, no reason for her not filing has been learned, but it is a natural assumption that she lost confidence that she could be elected.
It is reliably reported that political leaders over the district early this year reached an agreement to let Greene have a Senator—but when the Greene county aspirant turned

SIGNS OF SINUSITIS

By C. W. BYNUM

Bissett's Drug Store

The eight sinus cavities in the head are as much a part of the healthy human system as the nose, eyes or teeth.

Modern living conditions, particularly late hours, dust, cold infections, lack of sunshine and fresh air often result in sinusitis, an infection of the sinus cavities.

Sinusitis is manifested by inflammation of the eight sinus cavities, by congestion, by pus discharges, and by excruciating pain.

Sometimes surgery is indicated for permanent relief. More often a change of diet, plenty of rest, a toning up of the system and proper medication will relieve the sufferer.

Consult your doctor for competent advice. Have his prescription ably filled by a reliable drug

out to be a woman; all agreements were called off.

Reports are that at one stage of the proceedings Mrs. Murphy had gone so far as to pick out her seat
in the Senate chamber.

Here's an indication of how important the wet-dry issue is regarded in all quarters of the state. Your correspondent asked the Pender county election board chairman for a list of legislative candidates from that bailiwick—also their political affiliations.

Back came this reply: "Candidates for the House: A. H. Davis, Burgaw, Dry; T. J. Betts, Burgaw,
Dry; Ashley M. Murphy, Atkinson,
On the Fence; R. L. Batts, Jr., Rocky
Point, On the Fence; W. J. Pierce, Rocky Point, Very Wet."

Labby Ward will be unopposed in Craven for the legislature. It will be the first time in the county's history it has ever honored a House
member by giving him three terms
in a row.

Charles Stores Start Drive for Prosperity

The Charles Stores Company, a Southern institution born in the South and serving the South exclusively, has inaugurated a campaign that should send thousands of Southern men and women back to their jobs. This in turn will start factories going and give farmers an opportunity to move their crops at profitable prices.

The Charles Stores Company employs thousands of Southerners and pays taxes to four Southern states and thirty-five individual communities. It believes in putting its money back into the South.

The movement to create more jobs, started some months ago, the Buyers and Executive of the Company traveled thousands of miles, by bus, train and automobile. They interviewed thousands of mill-men and factory owners. This was done in an effort to help these factories dispose of whatever stocks they happened to have on hand. They also placed orders that would start these manufacturing centers putting people back to work.

The merchandise that was bought is now being placed on sale in each of the stores. This enables the people of the South to benefit in many ways, by buying merchandise at substantial savings, by putting manufacturers and workers back on their jobs, which in turn gives these workers families an assured, regular income with which they can buy the necessities and luxuries of life.

The Charles Store in Greenville is located at 406 Evans Street under the management of H. E. Nickens.
It is ready to do its share in the sensational movement.

The store is filled to over-flowing with new, seasonal merchandise and everything is priced so attractively, that it will be an easy matter for shoppers to help join in this movement.

Properly depends upon jobs. The more people that go back to work earning regular incomes, the greater the prosperity of the nation.

Southern manufacturers move their stocks, have forced these same manufacturers to start working again. Charles is interested in the South because it does its business in the South. Hundreds of Southern manufacturers have contributed to make this movement a success. Their contribution consists of standard quality merchandise at lower prices.

These savings are passed on to the buyers in the shape of lower prices and greater savings. The United States is the world's most prosperous nation, but it's up to each individual to do his or her share to keep it so.

Charles Stores is bound to spread the greater it becomes, the greater will be the benefits our people will enjoy.

F. W. HANCOCK NOT IN LEGION (Continued from page one)

the ruling of October 29, although North Carolina Department headquarters on that date wrote the Adjutant of Ernest F. Hart Post of the Legion, at Oxford, that the record of service submitted by Hancock did not entitle him to member ship in the Legion.

Department Commander Hector Blackwell, at Fayetteville, told this correspondent that the Hancock membership card, issued by the Oxford post, was received at headquarters on October 27 and that, without challenge on the part of anyone, the Department Adjutant notified the Oxford adjutant under date of October 29, that Hancock was not eligible on the face of the record showing that the Oxford man served briefly in the first Officers Training Camp at Fort Ogle-
thorpe.

Commander Blackwell expressed the opinion that not only is Hancock ineligible under the Legion's Constitution and By-Laws, but under the Federal charter granted the Legion by the U. S. Congress. He said no statement had been made by the Department because he felt that Hancock had acted in full good faith and had not been informed of his ineligibility.

He said he could not understand why the Oxford post officials had not notified Hancock and taken up the membership card issued him in October.

In response to a request from this bureau for a statement regarding the matter Representative Hancock wrote, under date of April 23:

"In May 1917, shortly after the United States declared war, I volunteered for service in the Officers Training Camp at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia. Because of circumstances of a delicate and sacred nature in my family, I could not complete my training and I was honorably discharged after a short service."

"In October of last year, I was invited and urged, as I had been many times before, by officers of the Ernest F. Hart Post of the American Legion to become one of its members. I turned over to the Adjutant of the Post my honorable discharge certificate with the card discharge, and in my absence from Oxford, he returned to my office the membership card, issued by the Oxford post, was received at headquarters on October 27 and that, without challenge on the part of anyone, the Department Adjutant notified the Oxford adjutant under date of October 29, that Hancock was not eligible on the face of the record showing that the Oxford man served briefly in the first Officers Training Camp at Fort Ogle-

thorpe.

tion as to my eligibility and that I would return to Oxford Friday.
"This morning I conferred with officers and members of the local post. I learned that during my absence and without my knowledge,
three of the officers had conferred with Department officials at Fayetteville Wednesday night of this week and had been advised that the Judge Advocate had ruled that enlistment and service in the ROTC is not such military service
as constitutes eligibility for membership in the American Legion.

"The officers and members of the Post indicated a purpose and desire to further present the matter—which, if done will be done without solicitation or assistance from me—I told them that if I am eligible for membership in the American Legion,

I considered it an honor to be a member, but if I am ineligible, I have no right to enjoy the privilege and distinction and that I would immediately return my membership card to the Adjutant of the local Post."

"I Am Debtor." In a masterful way he told why Paul had written this letter to the Romans and for what reason he recognized his debt to the Barbarians and Greeks to the wise and the unwise. God in a most wonderful way had saved Paul from the error of his way which was leading to his eternal destruction. He then placed upon Paul the responsibility of declaring His word and preaching His salvation to the gentiles as well as to the Jews.

In this connection Mr. Moye declared that we are indebted first to our fathers and mothers and friends. He said that many of us fail to recognize our obligations to them until it is too late. Even though they demand our best and are entitled to our best, in most cases they will forgive us when we

By BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON

The Story So Far: Judith Goodloe marries self-made Reuben Oliver for his money, only to discover he is bankrupt. After their twins are born, red-headed Cissy Rogers, who loves Reuben, gets him a job in a lumber camp managed by Gary Brent—the man Judith loves. Always a fighter, living by Judith's codes and wakened Reuben. Now, after a violent quarrel with Judith over Gary, he decides to make his own laws. Cissy, on a visit, shocks Judith with the news that Gary may lose his job to Reuben. Also, she bluntly says she loves Reuben and is out to get him.

Chapter 37

"Something To Tell You"

THE music suddenly took up a swifter measure. Gary and Judith moved through space with beautiful, free strides. His eyes approved her vivid colored gown. "You're magnificent, Judy!" "It's this dress," happily. "It's you," holding her closer. "It was madness to wear it tonight. The dress I mean."

"We're swamped in madness," gloomily, "but thank heaven everything ends sooner or later."

Tenseness under his usual carelessness. A shadow in his blue eyes. She wondered if Cissy's

The ridge—a climbing path, rimmed with semi-circular valley. Towering pines bordered its inner side. Their needles made a soft, spicy carpet. The night was brightened by a million stars. Soon an almost exhausted last quarter moon would stagger up.

Judith walked lightly on orange sahn heels—on little wings of uncertainty—in hushed breathlessness—her arm slipped through Gary's. He held her hand in a warm clasp, content to be silent until they were half-way home. Then: "Let's rest on Gambler's Ledge, Judy. I've something to say to you."

"Must you say it—now—to-night?"

"Tonight," doggedly. At the byways Judith's feet faltered. If she stopped at Gambler's Ledge now the old order of things would be gone forever—no more careless, happy drifting—she would be swept into the whirlwind.

"Judith," Gary began when they were seated on the rock that jutted over the valley, "remember the moths we watched doing their dance of death, the night you came here?"

"I remember—silly things."

"It was their fate. I've been doing just such a dance." Gary could not miss a chance to dramatize himself—"trying to leave the prophecy had already come to pass? She wanted to shout out what Cissy had told her. Wanted Gary to know he was in danger of losing his position. Wanted to urge him to discharge Reuben quickly before he harmed Gary, shamed himself and her.

He drew her closer. "We're swamped in madness."

Something tied her tongue. She was like a soldier trying to be loyal to the flag he marches under while his heart is on the enemy's side. By all the bitter days she had shared with Reuben, by all the anxious nights, she owed him a surface loyalty at least until he stooped to betray.

Dishonor would free her as nothing else would, but maybe Cissy had been talking to gain her own ends; to find out what Judith would do. Cissy admitted she was out for a new deal.

Judith—of all uncertainties, Gary's arms were around her. Gary's voice was saying the things she wanted to hear. Gary's eyes were adoring. Why spoil a perfect moment bothering about a future that would probably take care of itself?

It was a typical Goodloe philosophy. So far it had always worked out well for them. No reason to believe it wouldn't continue to work out well.

Flame Growing Warmer

ON THE way home Gary managed to detach Judith from Cissy and Reuben. "Let's walk home by the Ridge. There's a late moon."

Her high beating heart warned her: "Don't. Unless you want to precipitate things, don't—Gary will kiss you tonight—if he does."

Sensibly she reminded herself that Gary had been kissing her, on occasions, all her life. Why the sudden coyness?

But she did not deceive herself. She could feel the smothered flame growing warmer—

"It will be absolutely ruinous to my dress," she protested weakly. "I'll help you fix it under your coat."

He commenced to wrap swirls of chiffon carefully about her.

"How do you girls get away with it? The most agile male swathed in one quarter of this would trip and break his neck."

He talked lightly to disguise his real feelings. "How's that?" "Fine—if it stays," skeptically. "Maybe I can tie it with my scarf. There—that's better."

One Little Moment

HE BROUGHT his bright head closer to her dark one. His voice—Gary's deep, pleasant voice—muted with a strange tenderness: "Judith!" His lips against hers, "Judith!"

She felt a little frightened. She reminded herself that this was Gary. This was the moment that had been snatched from her that May afternoon at Goodloe's Choice. Now it was hers—years deferred—too late—

No, no, no! She wouldn't let it be too late. She wouldn't let anything cheat her of her perfect moment. One little moment out of a lifetime! Every woman was entitled to that. She wouldn't think of her tangled life or the problems that lay ahead. The long closed gates of her paradise were swinging wide. Was the glimpse beyond the perfection of which she had dreamed?

Of course it was. She relaxed in the circle of Gary's arm. She breathed in great breaths of lush, sweet air. Behind them a broken fragment of moon peeped shyly over the ridge. Threw a dull glimmer of silver over the valley below them; over winding streams—

"You love me, Judy?"

"I love you, Gary!" She wanted to hear herself say it.

"And I love you. Nothing else matters!" His words beat against the exquisite stillness of the night. Beat against the earth. Against the stars. Against her heart—her perfect moment—

Judith asked nothing else from life. Expected nothing else. All the longing, the uncertainty of the years was cleared away. Her faith in Gary justified—it was enough—"Perfection never lingers." Aristotle found that out centuries ago. Judith was to learn it now. Gary himself shattered her perfect moment. Gary who wanted everything from life. He said: "Things can't go on as they are any longer."

Her heart lunged: "What things?"

"Oliver, mainly."

"Gary—"

"Perhaps you don't know how I feel toward him, Judy. I hate him! But for you I wouldn't have tolerated him on the work for one hour."

The last program for the seventh grade students of the smaller schools of Pitt county was held in York Memorial Church, Albemarle avenue, last night. Two hundred and forty-two graduates from the one to seven teacher schools received their certificates from W. H. Woodard, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Education. Mr. Woodard was introduced by Supt. D. H. Conley. Both gave to parents and students words of encouragement and commendation for their efforts to improve their schools.

The address was delivered by Prof. W. A. Patillo, principal of the Tarboro high school. He chose as his subject "Future Possibilities," using as examples Booker T. Washington, Mary Bethune, Roland Hayes and other eminent Negroes. He encouraged parents, teachers, and students to lose no opportunity to develop the best in every child.

There will be 93 more seventh grade students to graduate from the four high schools.

Special Guests at The Weekly Meeting of Rotary Club

Members of the staff of "Green Lights," the Greenville High School newspaper, presented an informative and enjoyable program at the regular weekly meeting of the Greenville Rotary Club last night.

The program, introduced by Principal Vester Mulholland, included talks by Mary Horne, Marjorie Sugg and Thornton Ryan, who give interesting accounts of the activities in connection with the publication of the student newspaper. A number of sample copies of the paper were shown to the club to demonstrate the changes and improvements made in typography and make-up, and the editors traced all of the steps in the growth of the publication from its start to the present. The talks also stressed the value of the training given to the students in practical journalism and in providing a medium for linking the school more closely with the community.

Last night's program was sponsored by the Public Information Committee, headed by Wyatt Brown. New officers for the club for the ensuing year were announced as follows: John Winstead, president; Rufus Keel, vice-president; and Wesley Harvey, secretary-treasurer.

This week's attendance prize, given by Jasper Winslow, was won by Lawrence S.roud.

Corn Production In Cotton South Off From Average

Yield for Three of Past Five Years in Southern States Below 1928-1932 Production

Raleigh, April 26.—Corn production in the cotton South has dipped under the average for the 5-year period of 1928-32 in three out of the immediate past five years, according to Dr. G. K. Middleton, agronomist of the State College Experiment Station.

Although the number of bushels of corn produced in these states during 1933-37 has been smaller, there has been a small increase over the previous five years in corn acreage.

The 1928-32 average of corn acreage in these states was 28,807,000 acres. The 1933-37 average was 30,247,000 acres. However, the acreage in 1937 was 28,730,000 or slightly less than the 1928-32 average.

The average yield of corn in these states is 15.3 bushels per acre, although the North Carolina figure is a few bushels higher. This compares with an average yield of 25.4 bushels per acre for all farms in the United States, and an average yield of 38.3 bushels in Iowa.

The Southern states have about 2-1-2 times as much corn acreage as Iowa, yet that Mid-Western state produces as many bushels as all the twelve states.

STATE UNABLE HOUSE INSANE

Points Out Need Of Hospitals In N. C.

Raleigh, April 25.—Four per cent, or 116 of the 2,911 inmates of 83 county homes in North Carolina during February of this year were actually insane, and 910, or 31 per cent were feeble-minded, according to a survey of those institutions recently completed by the Division of Institutions and Corrections of the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare of which Dr. J. Wallace Nygard is director.

The results of the survey, Dr. Nygard said, showed that 1,272 inmates were normal, 580 were "harmlessly deteriorated," and 33 were not placed in a definite category as to mental status.

The division director defined the feeble-minded as "those individuals incapable of managing their affairs with ordinary prudence because of lack of mental development from birth or early infancy." The definition for the actually insane was "those who are disturbed, hallucinated, or have delusions, extreme depressions, maniacal symptoms or suicidal tendencies," while the "harmlessly deteriorated" are described as "those whose minds are falling from old age."

Dr. Nygard said that the number of actually insane persons who are inmates of county homes "indicates the need to increase state hospital facilities to meet this situation."

"North Carolina's state institutions for mental patients are like those in other states—limited as to capacity," he asserted. "Caswell Training School, an institution for the mentally deficient, and the unit for Negro feeble-minded at the Goldsboro State Hospital, are especially crowded. County homes will necessarily have to continue caring for many elderly individuals whose minds are failing from old age, and for many of the feeble-minded who cannot be cared for in any other way."

The report recommended that the "actually insane (sufficient to endanger themselves or others) should be transferred to state hospitals as soon as possible."

The one fatality in this section was that of Walter Harris, killed in an auto-truck collision about a mile north of the Tar river bridge here.

TO BEGIN WORK ON N. C. ROADS

Wheels of Idle Machinery to Turn Again Shortly

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, April 23.—Now that the $2,000,000 allocation for secondary road improvement has been divided up among the road districts of the state, some of the $1,000,000 worth of idle road machinery in North Carolina has begun to hum.

The wheels will continue to turn for much of this equipment only for a comparatively brief period, because the State Highway and Public Works Commission is compelled to keep nearly $4,000,000 idle in its coffers because of the ever-present threat of diversion. If this constant threat could be removed, anti-diversionists point out, this state's secondary roads could be put in much better condition and hundreds, even thousands of men now idle could be put to work.

Publicly, State Highway Chairman Frank Dunlap couldn't be pried loose from a statement that there has been $1,000,000 worth of machinery idle because of lack of funds to put it to work, but privately high officials of the department make no bones about the fact.

These "off the record" spokesmen aver that the situation is made the more galling by the fact that there is WPA money available for labor to go along with the operation of the road machinery, but the labor is useless without funds for materials and other construction and maintenance expenses.

The $2,000,000 allocation will undoubtedly be swallowed up by the secondary roads in double time order and few are hardy enough to predict that the filling of a few mud puddles will be any great advance in the condition of the road system.

Opponents of diversion declare that if the idle $4,000,000 could be added to the $2,000,000, the Highway Commission would really have something and that motorists would get something real in return for the tremendous load of taxation they bear.

"TOBACCO GROWERS FAVOR CAMELS FOR THEIR SMOKING!"

—is the majority opinion in a survey of well-known tobacco planters

"When Camel says 'costlier tobaccos' I know it's right," says Mr. Edward Estes, capable young planter, who knows tobacco from the ground up because he grows it. "Take my last crop, for instance. Camel bought all the best parts—paid me the most I've ever gotten. The men who grow tobacco know what to smoke—Camels!"

"Last year I had the dandiest crop ever," says Mr. Roy Jones, another experienced planter who prefers Camels. "I smoke Camels because I know they bid higher and pay more at the auctions for the choice lots of leaf tobacco. They paid the highest price I ever got from anybody. Considering that Camel uses finer, costlier tobaccos, it's not surprising that Camel is the leading cigarette with us planters."
