ADVANCE PLAN TO TERMINATE SINO-JAP WAR

China, However, Not Expected to Accept Proposal

FIVE SEPARATE UNITS PROVIDED

Hong Kong Reports, Meanwhile, U. S. Sending More Ships To Join Gunboat

Peiping, July 2.—(AP)—A plan for ending the Chinese-Japanese war by carving China into at least five autonomous units was being drafted today, it was reported by Chinese members of the Peiping provisional government and their Japanese advisors.

It was admitted the plan had little chance of early acceptance by the Chinese government of General Chiang Kai-Shek, but it was believed to be an indication of a basis on which Japan would be glad to terminate the conflict, now only five days from its first anniversary.

Japanese sources indicated European powers would be offered spheres of influence as a bid for partial conquest of China, giving the whole scheme a general resemblance to the plans of imperialists of 40 years ago, when the break-up of China appeared imminent.

Hong Kong, meanwhile, said the United States destroyer Edsall and the gunboat Tulsa were reported rushing to Swatow to join the gunboat Asheville and protect American lives and property in the event the Japanese continue large scale attacks.

Chinese reported 400 civilians, including 200 school children, were killed or wounded in yesterday's Japanese raid on the South China port.

American residents of Swatow, most of whom live on a small island opposite the Chinese area, were said to be ready for immediate evacuation if necessary.

Farm Tenants Use More Electricity

Survey Shows Most Highly Electrified Counties Those Where Tenant Percentage Highest

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, July 2.—The farm tenant problem has worked itself out "somewhat or other" for the state Rural Electrification Authority, though officials of the agency confess themselves unable to assign any definite reason for it.

Looking over an electrification map of North Carolina recently, J. M. Grainger, engineer for the R. E. A., commented on the fact that many of the most highly electrified counties are those in which the percentage of farm tenants is the highest.

He pointed to Edgecombe, for example, where 84.1 per cent of the farms are operated by tenants and showed that from a meager ten miles of electric lines in 1935, the county has developed a system of electrification embracing approximately 200 miles.

And it was here that in 1926, according to Mr. Grainger, one of the leading farm experts of the county said that farmers were not in the least interested in electricity.

"All they want to do is raise cotton and tobacco, and they don't figure they need electricity to do that," he told agents making a survey of the needs and prospects for electrification. "They want to make a little money and have their good times away from home."

Other counties with high farm tenant ratios, such as Greene with 82.1, Wilson with 79.2 and Nash with 73.7, have been leaders in the electrification program, Grainger said.

One electric co-operative (Tarboro) has constructed or is planning to construct from 250 to 300 miles of line in the heart of what might well be called the "Farm Tenant" country.

Lacking any other concrete reason, Mr. Grainger ascribes the success of the electrification to a change in attitude on the part of farm landlords, who recognize that by giving their tenants better living conditions they can secure a far better class of tenants who will produce more and thereby do better for the owners as well as for themselves.

Dies In Ayden

Robert William Smith, prominent Ayden man, died at his home there this morning after having suffered with angina for several weeks and later with pneumonia. Funeral services will be conducted at the residence tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock.

DEATH CLAIMS ROBT. W. SMITH

Funeral To Be Held Sunday for Prominent Ayden Man

Ayden, July 2.—Robert William Smith, 69, one of Ayden's most prominent and useful citizens, died here this morning at 6 o'clock, at his home on Second street. He had been suffering with angina for several weeks and later developed pneumonia.

Mr. Smith was a charter member of the Ayden Christian Church, and was one of its strongest pillars from the beginning until his death. He was serving in the capacity of an elder and had been for a number of years. He had been very active in the Sunday school work of his church, and had served several times as superintendent, teacher of classes and in other capacities.

Mr. Smith was a large farmer and capitalist, was always interested in the civic and political life of his community, and had served two terms in the State Legislature, and as County Commissioner, as Mayor of the town of Ayden, Town Alderman, and for many years was associated with his brother, J. R. Smith, in business here operating under the firm name of J. R. Smith & Brother, and was widely known.

On July 8, 1896, Mr. Smith married Cora Elizabeth Hart, and to that union was born Larry W. (deceased), Kirby H., Ayden; Ralph C., Kingston; Eugene T., and Corabob Smith, both of Ayden, all of whom now survive, except Larry W. Smith. Mr. Smith is also survived by one brother, J. R. Smith of Ayden, and one sister, Mrs. W. C. Jackson, of Wake Forest, and three grandchildren.

Mr. Smith was prominent in Masonic circles, and was a member of Ayden Lodge No. 453, A. F. and A. M., and many of the higher bodies of the order over the state. He had served in most every responsible place in the local lodge, and served as master only recently.

Smallest Deficit, however in Last Eight Shortages

TREASURY GIVES OUT STATEMENT

Monopoly Investigating Committee Hastens Its Preliminary Study, Meanwhile

Washington, July 2.—(AP)—The government overspent its income by $1,459,000,000 in the fiscal year which ended Thursday night. The deficit was the smallest of eight consecutive shortages, but the new year will bring a deficit of about $3,000,000,000 because of the new spending program.

The Treasury made public today final figures on operations for the fiscal year. They showed the Treasury income was $6,241,661,225.69 and its expenditures $7,700,661,225.69. The expenditure total included $65,464,950 for debt retirement, making the gross deficit $1,524,713,050, compared with $2,811,318,310 in the previous year.

Because of the use of desterilized gold, the year's increase in the public debt was held to $740,126,583, bringing the direct obligations of the Treasury to $37,164,740,315.45. This was an average of $285.70 a person. When the public debt was at its post-war low of about $15,750,000,000 on December 31, 1930, the per capita share was $129.66.

The monopoly investigating committee divided into six sub-groups to hasten action, began preliminary study of what to include in its general inquiry into concentrations of economic power, meanwhile.

Greenville Red Men Install New Officers

R. E. Adams was installed as Sachem at the semi-annual meeting of the local Tribe of Red Men last night. Other officers installed were E. L. Briley, S. S.; Burney Moye, Jr., and Hugh Cox, Prophet. Brief talks were made by visiting brothers after which a committee from the Willing Workers class of the Free Will Baptist church presented an invitation to the special service at the church Sunday. The committee, by special request, sang no. number. Several members of the Tribe expressed intentions to attend the service, but it was not decided whether they will attend in a body or not.

After the meeting, members and guests from Winterville and Grimesland, enjoyed a banquet.

Fish Lands Fisherman

Butte, Mont.—(AP)—Relaxing after fishing the Big Hole near Butte for several minutes without a bite, Mrs. Patsy Holland was standing carelessly near the shore when a nine-pound rainbow trout suddenly grabbed the hook. She was jerked into the water before she could recover her balance. With the help of companions, she landed the rainbow in 30 minutes.

DEATH CLAIMS FIFTH VICTIM OF ROCK FALL

Last Man Brought Up Dies Upon Reaching Surface

TRIO SURVIVORS NOW IN HOSPITAL

Final Man Brought Out of Mine Had been penned by Rock for 18 Hours

Birmingham, Ala., July 2.—(AP)—Rescuers today brought out the last of nine men entombed in Praco coal mine by a rock fall, but he died as he reached the surface. Five others died in the cave-in and three were in hospitals with injuries.

J. D. Painter, the last man brought out, had been penned by a rock 18 hours. He talked with rescue crews for hours, begging them to "blast me out." Painter was still alive when pulled out and mumbled a few words as he was carried up a passageway from the chamber 3,000 feet underground. Earlier members of the rescue squad who came to the surface for rest, reported they had talked easily to him.

"I think my arm is broken," Painter was quoted as saying. "I am bleeding, but take your time and come on."

Rescue workers were in communication once with William Peffer, but believed him dead when he failed to respond to shouts late yesterday.

Business Picking Up With Police Officers

Business picked up at police headquarters yesterday and this morning after having been quiet for several days.

William House, Negro, of King Row, was arrested this morning after officers said they found five gallons of illegal whiskey on his premises.

Only one man was booked at police headquarters one June 27, one on June 28, not one on the 29th and 30th, but five names were placed on the blotter yesterday, one for investigation, one sleeper, one for drunkenness, one for disorderly conduct and one for illegal possession of whiskey.

How To Get In Jail

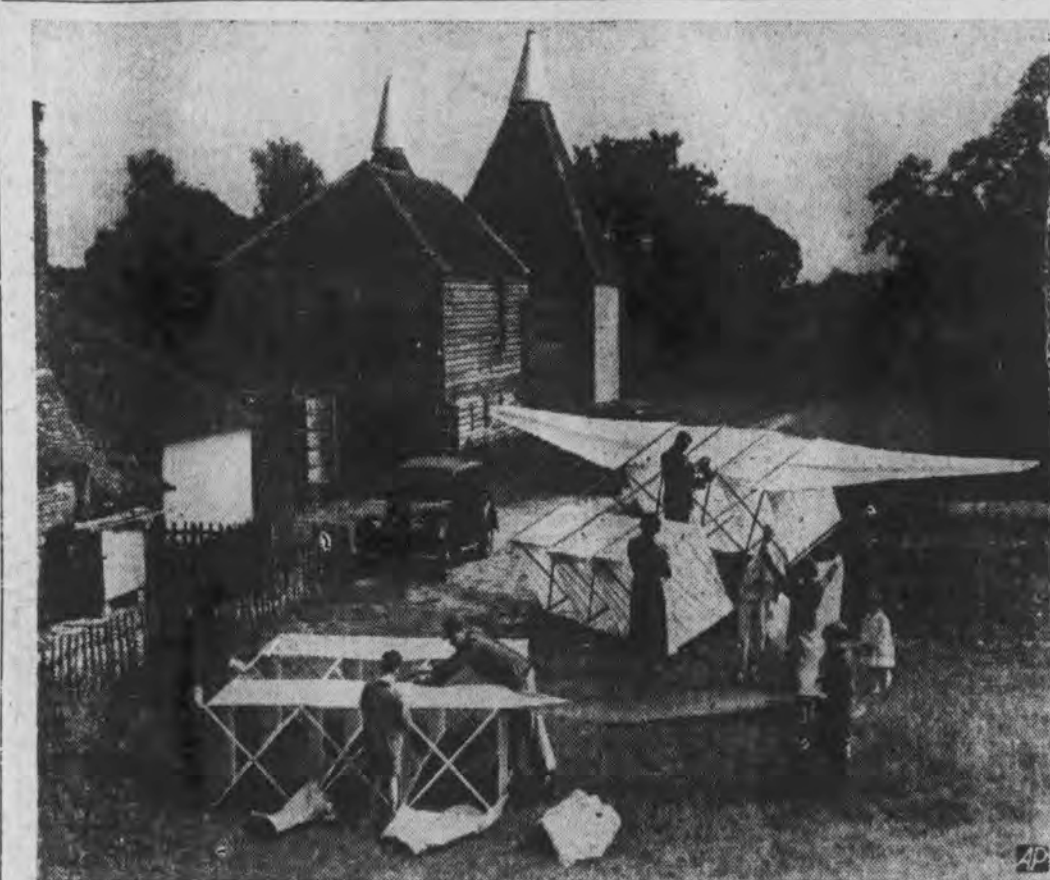

Gallup, N. M.—(AP)—An itinerant, passing through Gallup, visited the sheriff's office and asked to sleep in the jail over the week-end and "rest up a bit." The sheriff told him there were no accommodations except for prisoners. So the itinerant threw a door-stop through the glass door. He got 90 days.

He Forgot It Might Break

Tulsa, Okla.—(AP)—Paul Bales, seven, jumped on an ice wagon to get a piece of ice. As he hopped off he fell. A bottle that he was carrying in his hip pocket broke and cut him so severely he had to go to a hospital.

TO FIX QUOTAS FOR TOBACCO

Farmers To Appear Before Township Committees

Letters are being sent out from the county agent's office to all tobacco farmers advising them as to time and place they should submit information to their local committees to be used in determining marketing quotas for the current season.

R. R. Bennett, county agent, declared the information is necessary to work out a farmer's marketing quota. Farmers are to provide the committee with the number and size of tobacco curing barns in condition for use in 1938 (inside dimensions) the number of families on the farm in 1938; and the sales of tobacco from the farm for the years 1936 and 1937 (farmers are asked to bring their tobacco bills, or if they do not have the bills to bring their book records).

Farmers are to add carefully the lots of tobacco on each separate bill before going before the committee. Any records, tobacco bills, or book records that may have to show sales of tobacco should be presented to the committee for check-up. The records will be returned immediately after they are checked.

Agent Bennett declared "we will be unable to determine farmers' 1938 poundage quota without this information and their co-operation in supplying it will be appreciated." It also was pointed out that the information will have to be carried to the committee as it can not be received at the county office.

Farmers can submit information in the various townships from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. at the following places next week.

Ayden: F. C. store in Ayden, Monday, July 4; Tuesday, July 5; Thursday, July 7.

Beaver Dam: Mack Smith's store in Bell Arthur, Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday.

PITT MAN HELD INFATAL CRASH

James Harris, Greenville Route 3, Involved in Lenoir

The local office of the State Highway patrol reported this morning that a man listed as James Harris of Greenville, Route three, had been arrested in connection with a fatal accident near Grangers' station about 9:30 o'clock last night.

The Pitt county man was taken in custody three miles from Show Hill early this morning and lodged in the Kingston jail.

Ed Fisher, 40-year-old Negro, was alleged killed near his home when he was struck by an automobile identified by highway patrolmen as belonging to W. R. Harris, who when questioned by the officers, said that his son, James, drove off in the car during the afternoon.

Patrolmen quoted a witness as saying that the driver of the car remained at the scene for a few minutes, but then left without giving his name and address. The car was said to have turned over after having struck the pedestrian.

Many Cotton Blooms Now Found in Fields

R. R. Case, who farms on the R. E. Harris, Jr. land on the Falkland highway, today brought a cotton blossom to the city and said the blooms were beginning to make their appearance in large numbers.

It was not the first blossom to be reported this year. Ivey Smith of Bell Arthur having brought in one on June 24.

Mr. Case said that he noticed several blooms along the road while coming to the city this morning.

Nearly Half N. C. Income Derived From Motorists

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, July 2.—Standing out in the report of North Carolina's tax collections for the fiscal year 1937-38 was the fact that nearly half of the record receipts were derived from taxes on motor vehicle owners and operators.

The exact percentage was 45.9, with motor vehicle division receipts reaching $31,948,299.04 out of a total of $69,575,389.50 collected by the state.

One single item, the state 5 cent per gallon tax on gasoline produced more revenue than the combined sales and income taxes of the state of North Carolina. The gas tax averaged nearly two million dollars a month, with a grand total of $23,317,244.23, while the combined total of sales tax ($11,143,987.21) and income taxes ($1,264,398.28) was $22,338,743.07, almost a million dollars below the gasoline tax collections.

Added to the state tax on motor vehicle operators there also was

MAYOR BLOUNT CLUB SPEAKER

Discusses Past, Contemplated Public Projects

Greenville projects, past and prospective, were discussed by Mayor M. K. Blount at the bi-weekly meeting of the local Kiwanis meeting last night.

The mayor explained that recent improvements had been financed chiefly from outside funds—the W. P. A., P. W. A., Federal Bureau of Roads and the State Highway and Public Works commission.

Difference between the P. W. A. and W. P. A. were explained by the mayor, who recalled that Greenville has benefited from both. The P. W. A. he declared, was revived by the present administration to bring the country out of the current recession "we read about and hear from statistics." The W. P. A. differs from P. W. A. in that it also works as to projects more of a private nature and employs only relief work for worthy proposals.

Mr. Blount recalled the Tar river project, for which $329,000 was appropriated with an annual maintenance fund of $49,000. This proposed waterway transportation facility will not cost Greenville a cent, he declared, with the exception of construction of a terminal and a road from the dock, to be located at Hardee's creek to the Washington highway. Word was received today, he added, from the State Highway and Public Works Commission that the road project had been approved. He explained that it was proposed that the county and city appropriate $7,500 each for the erection of the ort.

The mayor recalled that the underpass on Dickinson avenue was erected without cost to Greenville, adding that this project, the widening of Dickinson avenue and the construction of Tenth street extension, all were paid for by the Federal Bureau of Roads.

He explained that a small project was under way at the present by the State Highway Commission, this being widening of Grand and Albenmarie avenues.

He pointed out that sidewalk projects have been carried on with much W. P. A. help and added that future programs were anticipated.

The mayor told the members and guests that the Highway Commission had agreed to widen the Bethel highway from Greenville to the Stokes road intersection and the

FRENCH ORDER DRASTIC MOVE AGAINST JAPS

Importation of Japanese Merchandise Suspended

BELIEVED BREAK MAY BE WIDENED

One Apparent Reason Said To Have Been Failure of Tokyo to Keep Agreement

Paris, July 2.—(AP)—Growing coolness between France and Japan over the war in China has resulted in abrupt French orders suspending importation of Japanese merchandise on the quota list.

The drastic move, coupled with the relative small volume of foreign trade involved, caused observers to link the commercial break with diplomatic incidents growing out of the Far Eastern conflict.

Foreign traders said France never before had taken so severe commercial action against any country. Yet the quotas involve, about a fourth of Japan's exports to France, make up only about a half of one per cent of Japanese exports and slightly less than that percentage of French imports. Imports of raw silk were not affected.

One apparent reason for the break was the failure of Tokyo to keep up an agreement of February 19 to take as much or more French goods in 1938 as in 1936. Because of exchange shortage Japan has sharply restricted imports in order to turn all her resources to pursuit of the war.

Citizens Prepare To Observe Fourth

Many Greenville People To Go To Beaches; Plenty to Do Here For Those Staying at Home

A large number of Greenville citizens today planned to spend their Sunday-July Fourth holiday at the beach, many were making arrangements to visit friends or relatives while others expected to remain home and entertain company or spend the time in relaxing from their work.

The court house closed, as usual for the afternoon and employees of the county and lawyers made an early start of the holiday. Others planned to leave tonight or tomorrow.

The Board of Directors of the Merchants' association decided to observe a general holiday Monday and practically all stores will be closed for the day. City and County officials also have decreed the Fourth a holiday.

There will be no lack of something to do for those who remain here. Greenville and Tarboro were to engage in a double-header baseball game this afternoon. After attending church tomorrow they can motor to Tarboro and see the Greenies engage in the Serpents. Monday morning Ayden and Greenville will play at Third Street park and in the afternoon the teams will meet in Ayden.

The local theatres have booked special holiday attractions for Sunday and Monday. The Pitt will show Bette Davis in "Jezebel" with Henry Fonda, George Brent, Margaret Lindsay and other stars. The State will show William Boyd in "Bar 20 Justice."

Eight Marriage Licenses Granted

Only eight couples had secured marriage licenses this week, up to this morning. The couples were equally divided between white and colored couples.

White couples to whom license were issued were A. C. Tadlock of Greenville and Louise Proctor Tugwell of Farmville; C. E. Broughton of Dunn and Ella Louise Briley of Greenville; Bruce Poliard of Farmville and Margaret Barden of Greenville; William Arthur Taylor of Martin county and Maggie Pritchette of Bethel.

Colored couples Grady Williams and Rosa Young of Beaver Dam; Charles Foreman of Greenville and Irma Cannon of Ayden; Harry Mitchell and Mary Reed of Greenville; Willie Pitt and Lena Fields of Beaver Dam.

Consumers Required Pay Big Profit For Whiskey

Reflector Bureau. By HENRY AVERILL Raleigh, July 2.—State and county boards talked liquor for a couple of hours at the Carolina Hotel here yesterday and wound up by deciding that all liquor sold in the state from now on shall be "marked up" by 55 per cent from its cost price.

It was also determined that no "current," or new liquor shall be sold in stores of the 27 ABC counties—the state board decided that for all, with some of the counties entering a vigorous, but futile, dissent.

Some few of the county boards wanted cheaper liquor—to be given by a 50 per cent, rather than by a 55 per cent mark up, but those who favored this were decidedly in the minority.

When the talking ended, after adoption of motions and such, the net result was that the new price list issued by the State Liquor Board to be effective July 1 remained as issued with the exception of about half a dozen items, termed "Spe-

Farmers Hold 'Recovery' Torch

Babson Says Big Crops Mean Better Business

(By ROGER W. BABSON) Dever, July 2.—Good reports constantly reached me this week as I crossed the farm belt. This may be a bad year for the manufacturer, but the farmer is not discouraged.

Out through the great farm states of Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas, the depression is still only a "recession." Prices, of course, are below a year ago, but above recent lows. My estimate is that total farm income will not be more than 10 per cent less than 1937, while industrial income may be done 25-40 per cent.

When I first started collecting business statistics 35 years ago, the more important figures were crop forecasts. All other barometers, such as carloadings, retail trade, steel operations, and new financing, were secondary. If crops were good, business was sure to be good. In those days, if farmers had a good crop, they had money to spend. This in turn made business good. Carloadings, retail trade, and other barometers automatically went up.

Old Signposts Ignored However, many people believe that all that has changed now. Since the depression, there has been a new method of figuring the effect of crops. Many are pessimistic when prospects favor a bumper harvest, while a crop failure is regarded as an optimistic sign. The New Deal "scarcity theory" has unconsciously gone over with some of the younger generation. They recall 1931 and SUMMER STANDBY—One of summer's standbys—a simple all-around frock—is designed of sheer cross-striped navy blue rayon crepe. Because of its color and weave it can be worn comfortably in both warm and cool weather. Pleating appears both in the cape sleeves and in the skirt, while the vee neckline is piped in white pique.

Flower Shows

Thirteen home demonstration clubs held flower shows in May and June. The arrangements were better than last year, and the shows handled in a more orderly manner. Last year in our first shows there were 699 exhibits. This year there were 76. Arrangements were shown consisting of wild flowers, vegetables, vines, arrangements for church auditorium, club room, invalid's tray, kitchen window, front hall, cool arrangements for hot days, and cheerful arrangements for dull rooms.

Specimens of Biblical plants were collected and Bible references attached. Forty-nine plants were found in the county and 123 references listed. Miss Ella May of Red Oak found 90 plants. Mrs. W. R. Hinson of Farmville No. 2, and Mrs. E. H. Boyd and Mrs. S. B. Tucker of Red Banks, were close competitors.

The following is the complete list of plants found with the references: GENESIS—35-8, Oak; 25-34, Lentil; 30-37, Chestnut; 3-26, Thorn; 30-37, Poplar; 35-4, Oak; 1-11, Grass; 30-14-16, Rhubarb; 43-11, Walnut and Hickory; 42-2, Corn; 3-7, Corn; 3-7, Figs; 42-1, Corn; 4-5, Corn.

Farm and Home Tour

Next Friday, July 8, a Farm and Home tour will be conducted in the county. Letters giving details of the program will be mailed in a few days. We hope you will plan to make this tour with us. The group will stop in Greenville for a barbecue lunch.

Farm and Home Convention

The early tobacco season may help us when it comes time for the Farm and Home convention the first week of August. Let's have every club in the county represented with at least one carload of women for the entire program. Rooms may be reserved this year if you will send your registration fee and that of the roommate who will be with you. This will prevent the necessity of waiting in line and wondering whether you will be able to get a room. Make your plans early and get your reservation.

4-H Short Course

Several 4-H members who have done good work during the year are planning to attend the 4-H Short Course the last week of July. We are glad that 4-H leaders will find programs for them this year. If you haven't done so, get in touch with this office for details concerning uniforms and the program.

Schedule for Next Week

Red Oak H. D. Club—Wednesday, 8 p. m., at the club house. Subject, "Perennials."

Farmville No. 2 H. D. Club—Thursday, 3 p. m. Place to be announced.

Farm and Home Tour—Friday.

CURIOSITY KILLED A CAT, in the words of an old wheeze, and see what curiosity did for Hungarian beauty (data supplied by someone in front of her). She wanted a look at a newsreel camera while at Hamburg, Germany, festival.

NO ORDINARY BAIT WAS USED FOR CATCH LIKE THIS off Weymouth, England, where a robot plane controlled by wireless was shot down by British naval gunners during King George's inspection of the home fleet. Seamen are fishing out the plane. The air craft was brought down by a new type aerial gun which fires 500 shots a minute into skies.

SPINSTERS' HOPE is pinned on Miss Florence White (above), who told London committee about hope of 4 1/2 million English women past 55 for payment of spinsters' pension.

MAIDEN'S PRAYER finds answer in "beautiful" Bob Taylor of the films, seen in New York's Versailles restaurant exchanging pointers on the manly art of fisticuffs with young Jimmy Borgiano. Taylor's dinner companion at the club was Jimmy Broderick, New York detective, who's reported to have been showing movie idol tricks about self-defense.

POLITICAL PATH of Sen. Frederick Van Nuys (above), Indiana Democrat, is apt to be thorny in campaign for re-election because of his opposition to federal court reform bill and his break with Indiana state Democratic organization.

BATTLE CRY trumpets from Greyhound, world champion trotter who did a mile in 1:56, as trotting season opens.

NAZIS and foreign oil interests are blamed by Vicente Toledano (above), officer of federation of Mexican workers, for what he calls "slanders" about Mexico.

WANTING TO GO into their dance, little English youngsters pranced nervously in London where they did a lamb's dance at a benefit for a hospital for children.

FROM KWANGSI PROVINCE in south came Gen. Li Tsung-jen (above), who chose to cast his lot with China's commander, Chiang Kai-shek, after bitterly opposing him in 1936 revolt. General Li is important strategist in China defense.

FOOD FOR THE HARVEST ARMY in the Texas wheat country is rationed out at the chuck wagons, and the lunch table may be most anything: the ground and even the broad back of a fellow worker (left of the forks). In harvesting the wheat, binders tie the stalks into bundles, and separators winnow out the grain and blow the straw into great piles.

AMERICAN RICE FOR U. S. TABLES is goal of rice farmers in Arkansas and other Southern states where new fields have been opened. This irrigated field of rice is near Goodwin, Ark., where farmers say 2,500 gallons of water per minute will flow across this land for 90 days. Workers keep the fields clear of foreign matter, prepare for the fall rice harvest.

IT'S A MAN'S WORK — and woman's, too — during wheat-harvesting time near Dallas, Tex. These wheat-shockers know the knack of arranging bundled grain. Speed and skill count in the race to harvest nation's great "breadbasket."

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—In spite of all these spy stories, the War and Navy buildings in Washington, most guarded is the Federal Reserve building.

One afternoon, just to be hectic, we walked through the Navy building, down one corridor and into another, and then toured the Army's addition.

Nothing gruff about the guards. They are pleasant enough young fellows, dressed in dark blue uniforms with a neck or two of braid.

"Can I help you?" said Guard Number One.

"I have an appointment." "With whom, please?"

So we told him. He passed us through and we went up to the second floor, heading for an office we had visited repeatedly before.

Guard Number Two. We were winging confidently along when another guard hailed us.

"Are you looking for someone?" Guard Number Two asked us.

He was taking no chances but plunked himself smack in front of us. We named our name as well as the name of the man we came to see.

That side room, for casual guests, is a President's suite all by itself. You sink to your armpits (well, almost) in the rug and look through a tall window into a garden.

There are several red leather chairs and a long couch and a fireplace with three logs in it that never are lighted so far as we could tell.

Why, Mr. Grover! There are polished ash trays here and there and new pads of matches by each one.

Presently the guard came for us with a "this way, please." We thought we would be allowed to take the next 10 steps to our goal without company, but that was a mistake.

Flora in China Is Richest. Scientists report that the flora of the mountains west of the Han river in Hupoh province, China, is the richest and most remarkable in the world.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, July 2—If announcement had been made long before the Guilford county grand jury did any recommending or requesting, there would be a widespread and definite impression that Governor Clyde R. Hoey's absence from Raleigh all the first part of this week was with "malice aforethought" to use a legal term.

Certainly the fact that he was out of town enabled him to steer clear of any suspicion that he is involving himself in the election fraud row kicked up by the June 4 voting in High Point; at least before the second voting, which is in progress today.

As it works out, the Guilford grand jury requested that an attorney from the state's legal staff be assigned to help prosecute the matter to the bottom; but Governor Hoey has been able, with perfect logic and reason, to keep himself completely dis-embroiled (if there is such a word) from the mud-puddle of political charges and counter-charges.

Suavely the governor says, with evident truth, that he hasn't had a chance to confer with solicitor, H. L. Koonz, and will do nothing until he has had an opportunity to do so.

And so the state administration will not even get the hem of its garments near the mud until after the second primary, when it's a fairly safe bet that there'll be no overwhelming demand for Guilford for any action at all.

Appropos of election fraud investigations, Governor Hoey thinks this year's complaints were the result of repeated appeals for clean primary voting. He feels that these appeals brought much closer supervision of the polls.

While deploring the fact that there were any irregularities at all, he points out that only a few hundred out of 500,000 votes cast are involved in the sum total of all instances of alleged fraud.

The number of last minute requests for clemency for Bill Payne and Wash Turner, desperadoes who died in the gas chamber yesterday, was surprising, Governor Hoey said.

Fact that both Payne and Turner as well as the Negro, Wiley Brice who died in the electric chair as a sort of overture to the double execution, were "converted" and expressed belief they were "saved" was considered not in the least unusual by those familiar with death row and executions.

One newspaper man who has been in the capital for more than ten years said only two doomed men, in all that time, refused religious consolation near the end.

A lady employed by the state, who shall be nameless for very obvious reasons, vows and declares she is going to answer two of the questions on the now notorious questionnaire being filled in by all state officials and employes like this:

Age? It's none of your damned business, Bud Deyton.

Salary Desired? A damned sight more than I'll get.

The questionnaire—It's officially Form BB 100—calls for very full and complete information about the employe, his race, color and previous condition of employment; and is something rather unprecedented.

It has created some consternation among those who work for the state, with some fearing that it means a shakeup of some sort or other.

There has been a deal of speculation whether it is survey preliminary to putting some sort of merit system into effect, whether it is designed to check up on nepotism, etc. and ad infinitum.

FLORIDA GHOST CITY BEING RECONDITIONED FOR RELIGIOUS GROUP

Intercession City, Fla. —(AP)—The Household of Faith, a non-denominational Christian sect, has taken over Intercession City, once a ghost town, and is converting it into a vocational training center for young men and women.

Promoters spent nearly a million dollars during the boom days of 1925 in developing the new city, by building a hotel, an apartment house, stores, a factory and residences.

The boom collapsed and only 12 persons were living here three years ago when J. W. Wile, Indianapolis philanthropist, gave the town and 5,000 acres of land to the Household of Faith.

Miss Osie English, leader of the movement, said persons from 19 states are now living and studying in the community. Old buildings have been renovated and new ones erected.

THOSE OLD OX CARTS WERE BUILT TO TAKE IT New York. (AP)—An ancient Egyptian ox cart, used for transporting sacred animals to the sacrifice, some 200 years before Christ, is on view at the New York Museum of Science and Industry in Rockefeller Center.

The cart was found in a vault of an old temple on the banks of the Nile, which was undergoing excavation some years ago. So securely had the walls of the vault been sealed when the cart was placed there that, although well below high water mark, no water had penetrated during any of the river's many inundations.

LOVE ON THE RANGE

BY NELSON C. NYE

The Story So Far

"Blar" Ankrum, trying to escape the trouble that dogs his footsteps, rides into Pecos Pinto. Immediately he finds himself embroiled in gun-play, rescuing a girl from a band of thugs.

Chapter Two

Loyalty Comes High ANKRUM swiftly went to her, took the gag from her mouth, her lips moved but no words came, only vague croaking sounds. Deep anger stirred within him for the renegades who had tied that filthy rag so tightly, and a wave of darkness crossed his cheeks.

He passed behind the girl—she could not have been more than nineteen, he thought—and inspected the knots that held her fettered. He snuffed the match, let it fall from his fingers. Then he hunched down, working swiftly in the dark. Short seconds later the ropes fell away and she was free. Her voice came then huskily: "That branding iron! Don't save it—"

"I'll get it, ma'am," he said, and crossed to where a glow marked its site. He came back to her with it. "You been hurt?"

"I'm all right. Those... those men on the floor?"

"They won't bother you any more. Be a good idea if we got out of this. Two of them polecats got away. I reckon there's more where they came from. Can you walk, na'am?"

"I think so. Will you strike another match, please?" She aroused his admiration by her poise and serenity. He found himself wondering why she had screamed. That branding iron—

With a rasp a third match in his hand burned blue and yellow against the gloom. Framed in instant curls her oval face was before him, leaping from the shadows. Strength lay in her features and a latent storminess. She was standing now and her tailored suit could not conceal the lovely lines of her slender figure.

Her eyes lifted to his own, returned his scrutiny directly. "I'm glad you came. My name is Lee-Lee Trone."

"I was wonderin' I'm Abe Streeter." He lied evenly. "You're a range man, stranger?" "Just driftin' through."

"Would you take a job?" "Ranch work?" "On a ranch."

"There's a difference?" He asked softly. "There may be—it depends."

"What on?" She shrugged. Her eyes were on his. In them he read something that stirred his blood, that hastened the beat of his pulses against his will.

A Bargain SHE said, "This business here... there's a connection somewhere. My father runs the Rafter T Cattle. High-grade beef. It's sprouting wings."

Ankrum started her toward the doorway. Here it was, he was thinking; circumstance, and a streak of impulsiveness in his nature were once again shoving him toward a quarrel of which he knew nothing. He sighed and yet his breathing quickened.

He should ride away before the web of this new trouble enmeshed him. He stopped by the doorway and silently handed Lee Trone the branding iron she had told him not to leave behind. Unconsciously, he noted its brand.

"We had better be clearin' out," he said. "Those shots must have been heard."

Keeping to the shadows they moved toward the street, reached it. "This place has a reputation. Unsavory. Shots are common—dead men, too. I don't think you could drag the neighbors near here till the authorities have come and gone. They may be watching, though," Lee said.

"How did you get here?" "I have a car. Have you decided to take that job I offered you? The pay will be $150, payable regularly once a month."

Ankrum's lips pursed in a sound-whistle. "You tryin' to buy a man's soul?" "It's coming to buy loyalty."

"Does it come that high?" "I haven't found any, yet."

There was no irony in her answer, only wistfulness. Against his will her words had moved him. "You don't know a thing about me, Miss Trone—"

"A-e, will you take this job?" Her voice touched him. It brought a strong appeal to that streak of impulsiveness that had ever been his undoing. "Yes," he said. "I'll take it."

touring car. He heard the doo slam. Then he turned to the buck skin, his mind a maze of speculation, his vigilance temporarily relaxed. "Just a moment, friend," a voice beside him said. "I'd like a word with you."

Difference Of Opinion A ROUGH-LOOKING man with a star on his vest stood a Ankrum's stirrup. There was a cruel twist to this man's mouth and harsh purpose in his glance.

"You better come along with me." "Yeah? Who are you? An' where do you think we're goin'?" Ankrum drawled. The man with the star grinned meaningly. "I'm marshal of this town, buddy. We're goin' to take a look inside that house," he added, pointing toward the house Ankrum had just left.

"Supposin' I don't want to?" "I ain't supposin'. You'll go, buddy, whether you want to or not. An' don't get tough—I've handled hard guys before. D'you hear them shots?"

Ankrum nodded. "See who fired 'em?" "I saw a fellow go dashin' out of there."

"Who was he?" "If I could tell you that I'd make my livin' tellin' fortunes," Ankrum grinned.

"Yeah? Well, you may be makin' your livin' bustin' little ones from big ones, before I get done with you! You packin' a gun?"

"You don't see any, do you?" "Listen, you—I've had enough of your gab. The marshal flared cheeks darkening. "You got a gun or ain't you? Talk straight."

There was open mockery in Ankrum's glance. The marshal's left hand brushed aside his flowery vest, his right went beneath it. Blue wind-swept ice glided in his eyes.

Ankrum said, "Yeah—I got a gun, and saw the marshal's reaching hand grow still. There was the cool malice in Ankrum's voice, white teeth gleamed behind his parted lips: "You want to see it?"

"Huh?" The marshal started. "No, I don't want to see it—not yet. Come along. We're goin' to look inside that house an' see what all that shootin' was for."

"No, we're not. You may be, but I got different notions. I'll be sayin' 'Adios.'"

MT. LECONTE, ELEVATION 6593 FEET, IS THE TALLEST MOUNTAIN ABOVE ITS IMMEDIATE BASE EAST OF THE ROCKIES.

In the heart of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, America's highly picturesque and charming playground, is to be found Mt. Le Conte, which rises a mile and 21 feet higher than the Tennessee village of Gatlinburg at its base!

Light, moving at the rate of 192,000 miles per second, enables us to follow the flight of most animals with the naked eye. There is one insect, however, found right here in the Southern States, that can fly so swiftly that the eye cannot follow it!

It is known as psephenus lecontei and belongs to the family, parnidae. Most of the species are slow moving and live in the water, but this beetle is an exception as it lives in the air and moves with the speed of a bullet.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robin Cogan

Hollywood—Maude Adams, in life as legendary a figure of the theatre as Barnhardt and Duse in death, will be making her first screen appearance this year, but behind it will lie years of interest in films as a dramatic medium.

The film girl who is still "Peter Pan" in the eyes of the other generation is now a matronly woman of 68. She is alert and interested in the "new" and ready to undertake a personal role in the art that was yet unknown when she was born.

For years Hollywood has offered her screen opportunities, but Producer David O. Selznick was the first to get her signature on a contract. Considering that Miss Adams was the elusive Carbo of her era—a brilliant star before the footlights but a shadowy figure off stage—all Hollywood looks upon her captivation to films as a triumph.

Not Shy Whether her status in Hollywood will affect her status as the theater's No. 1 recluse was not determined by her recent screening visit. Workers reported her not the least shy, either before screen or still cameras, and said she was enthusiastic over her "new adventure." But of the many requested interviews, none materialized. The actress, of course, was very busy with her tests, and left shortly for the east.

It was as a technician, a side of her activities little known to the thousands who acclaimed her as the heroine of Barrie's best known plays, that she first became interested in films. Retiring completely from the stage in 1917, two years after her producer Charles Frohman died in the sinking of the Lusitania, Miss Adams was out of the public eye until 1931, when she appeared briefly in Cleveland in "The Merchant of Venice."

However, early in her retirement, at the suggestion of a friend she had asked the manager of a theater to show her film projector and explain its workings. Her interest turned to the possibilities of color films. When she learned that there was an artificial light of sufficient power to take colored pictures at the speed necessary for movies, she took up the study of lighting.

At the time she was convalescing from the illness that had led to retirement, and was desperately in need of some new interest not too distant from her own dramatic field. The next two years she spent in Schenectady's electrical laboratories, where facilities for experiment were arranged for her. With Dr. Perley Gordon Nutting, she worked on problems of incandescent lighting, and Dr. Willis Rodney Whitney, of the Research Laboratory, gave aid. Finally a new and powerful lamp, forerunner of the "inkies" used in sound stages today, was developed.

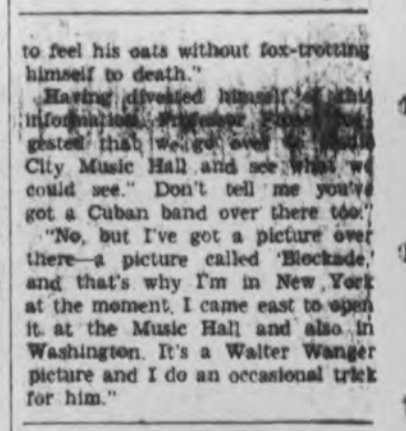

Miss Adams' next film task was in collaboration with Robert J. Flaherty, the director who made "Nanook of the North." They made a short film, dealing with pottery, that is now in the Metropolitan Museum as an example of perfect film lighting.

The actress, whose home is on Long Island, gradually has lessened her retirement although she never returned to Broadway. Work in little theaters, on the air and in Missouri brought her occasional director of drama at Stephens occasionally into the headlines.

to feel his oats without fox-trotting himself to death.

Having divided himself into information, progress, and guests that we get over to the City Music Hall, and see what we could see. Don't tell me you've got a Cuban band over there too.

"No, but I've got a picture over there—a picture called 'Blockade,' and that's why I'm in New York at the moment. I came east to open it at the Music Hall and also in Washington. It's a Walter Wanger picture and I do an occasional trek for him."

TARBORO HERE FOR TWIN BILL

Locals Go to "Snakeville Sunday, Return Here for A. M. Tilt Monday With Aces; Thence to Ayden in P. M. of 4th.

The Greenies scored six runs in the seventh inning at Goldsboro yesterday afternoon, but they were not enough, as the Bugs had previously sent 11 men across the plate. The Wayne team won the game 11 to 7 to even the series, Greenville having won here Thursday.

Relief Pitcher Delaney and Catcher Smith were the only Greenies to garner more than one safe hit, each of the battermen getting two. Each other local player, with the exception of Spence, starting hurler who was relieved in the fifth inning, got one safe hit.

Sunday — Greenville at Tarboro.
Monday A. M. — Ayden at Greenville.
Monday P. M. — Greenville at Ayden.
Tuesday — Williamston at Greenville.

The Greenies led Goldsboro at bat, securing 11 bingles to the Bugs' seven, but both Greenville hurlers were wild at times. Spence walking six and Delaney five. Each struck out two men.

Eagles Drop Snakes Again to Hold Top

Tarboro, July 2—Kinston whipped the Serpents in their own back yard Friday and thus improved its position as the pacemaker in the Coastal Plain League.

The Eagles won, 8-3, behind very good pitching of Cliff Wenz, Hamlet youngster. The result increased to a game and a half the Eagles' lead over Tarboro, which Thursday was crowded out of first place when the Eagles won at home.

Big Ben Mooney was Tarboro's starter. His mates did him wrong—and Kinston made seven runs, all unearned, before Mooney retired. He was replaced by Wally Sieminski at the start of the sixth, and Sieminski yielded three hits and one run the rest of the way.

Two hits and two errors spotted Kinston to a three-run start. The Serpents caught up by scoring two in the second—on a walk, Henry's double and Mooney's fence-banging double—and one in the third. The third-inning run resulted from a walk, a sacrifice, and Campbell's single.

Kinston won in the fourth—four hits and an error pushed over four runs. The last Kinston tally, off Sieminski in the eighth, came on the combination of a walk, an error and a double.

Tarboro tallied a singleton in the ninth—Pinchy-bitter Jack Downey singled, moved to second on an error, and went the rest of the way on a couple of outfield flies.

Kratzer made the best fielding play of the day—he turned in a spectacular catch of a hard smash by Myers in the third inning.

Billies Get Revenge On Aces: Score 8-1

Ayden, July 2—Snow Hill turned the tables on Ayden Friday and avenged the previous day's 15 to 0 defeat by beating the Aces, 8-1.

Just as Bill Herrine Thursday spiked the Billies' offense, Cecil Longest today handcuffed the Aces. He struck out seven, passed but one and yielded seven hits.

The Billies won in the first inning—Taylor singled and Maisano doubled. Joyner's double scored both runners. Snow Hill bunched hits to score two more runs in each of the fourth, sixth and ninth innings.

Milton Jirak, Ayden third-baseman, hit a homer in the seventh inning—his first circuit clout in two seasons of professional ball. Ayden offered no other scoring threats.

Johnny Taylor, with four singles in five tries, set the pace for the Billies. Carnahan and Tatum, each with two for four, led the losers.

Martins Beat Hamons 1st Time in 2 Seasons

New Bern, July 2—Red Swain held New Bern's Bruins to three scattered hits today, and the Williamston Martins surmounted their "Bull Hamons jinx" to get 3 to 1 decision. It was Williamston's first win against Hamons' pitching in two seasons.

An error helped keep Doc Smith's Bruins from encountering their first shutout of the season. Harper hit a 60-footer to Bowen in the fifth, and reached second when Bowen threw wild to first. Thornton's single a long drive to right-center, scored Harper.

Only other New Bern hits were doubles—by Norwood in the second, by Thornton in the sixth.

A couple of errors, one of them by Hamons, helped the Martins to a pair of tallies. However, they very definitely earned one run—Pitcher Swain doubled to left in the fifth, advanced on a sacrifice, and scored on Vilepique's infield out.

The other Williamston runs came in the second and ninth. Ignasiak, first up in the second, drew a walk. Lakotas' grounder was errored by Mack. Wilcox's double scored Ignasiak. Lakotas opened the ninth with a single, went to second on Hamons' wild throw to first, to third on a sacrifice, and came home when Swain hit a long fly.

Fielding nifties were plentiful but Norwood and Burge offered the best of the day. Norwood went to centerfield fence in the fifth and performed a one-handed robbery act at Dutch Stanley's expense; Burge went deep into left in the sixth, and the resulting catch made Steve Lakotas very unhappy.

Could Louis Beat Dempsey, Corbett, Fitz? Those Champs Might Have Troubled Him

Baer, Farr, Galento, Barlund Chief Rivals; Mix Likely Be Next Foe

By DILLON GRAHAM (AP Feature Service Writer) New York — We were sitting around Mike Jacobs' stuffy little smoke-filled press room at the Hippodrome the other day figuring out Joe Louis' future for him and comparing the tan-skinned heavyweight king with the champions of other years.

"There's only four guys you could match him with now—Max Baer, Gunnar Barlund, Tommy Farr and Tony Galento," some one said.

"And he'd lick em all, easy," another replied.

"The Guy that'll beat Joe is still playing marbles somewhere and doesn't know a left hook from a three-base hit."

"Baer might have an outside chance if the big bum would only fight him," ventured one of the experts.

"Well, to hear him talk, you'd think he meant to murder Louis.

For Son, Buddy and Dad He says he's got plenty of incentive this time. First, he popped off he was going to whip Louis so that new baby of his would be proud of him. Then after Buddy Baer got beaten, Max huffed and puffed around that he'd win to restore the good Baer name.

"Now he's got a new one, too. Says he gave his father a death-bed promise that he'd whip the Negro."

"That's just Baer talking to keep himself from running away, fast. He'll be scared stiff, once he sees that Louis stalking him, just like he was before. Only Louis won't need four heats this time" someone answered.

"Yeah, and if Louis works on him like he did Schmeling they'll take no chances on throwing in a little towel, they'll toss in a sheet to stop it."

"Max was the ferocious slugger in there against Farr, but remember that Baer knew Tommy couldn't punch hard enough to hurt him. He could afford to be brave. He knows that Louis kicks like a mule with both hands and I'd almost be willing to bet that Baer never steps into the same ring with Joe."

One bright-faced little chap walked in and immediately started belting.

Farr's The Guy "The guy that ought to fight Louis is Tommy Farr. Isn't he the only big-time fighter who went the distance with Joe? And didn't he get in there and mix it with him? Yeah, forget this talk about Baer. Tommy Farr is the guy, and I've told Jacobs so," said fast-talking Joe Gould, Tommy's manager. It was Gould who managed Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock.

Could's outburst only served to set off another pilot. Gunnar Barlund's manager.

"The match they should make now is Barlund-Baer. He'd whip Baer."

"I'm not saying Barlund would beat Louis. But Barlund won't run and he won't turn his back. He'll fight him. He's got his heart."

"Louis is the first champion we've had who carried a knockout punch in both hands. He's got the greatest left jab in history. He can almost knock you out with that jab," someone said.

"Louis and Jim Jeffries are the only champions who've beaten those who held the titles before them. Jeffries whipped Fitzsimmons and then beat Corbett. But Louis, he's beaten each of the five preceding titleholders. Knocked 'em kicking, Sharkey, Baer, Carnera, Braddock, and Schmeling."

"Yeah, and if he had them around now, he could have whipped all the rest of them."

"The Dempsey of Toledo might have beaten him," someone offered.

"Gosh, that would have been a fight!"

"I think the fellow who landed first would have won that one. And Louis is a straight puncher. Dempsey's best was a left hook."

Greatest Finisher "Tunney was a master boxer, but he didn't have the knockout punch to beat Louis. Dempsey was past his peak, sent Tunney to the floor. Louis would have beaten him."

"That Louis is the greatest finisher we've ever had. He really goes to town when he's got you in trouble."

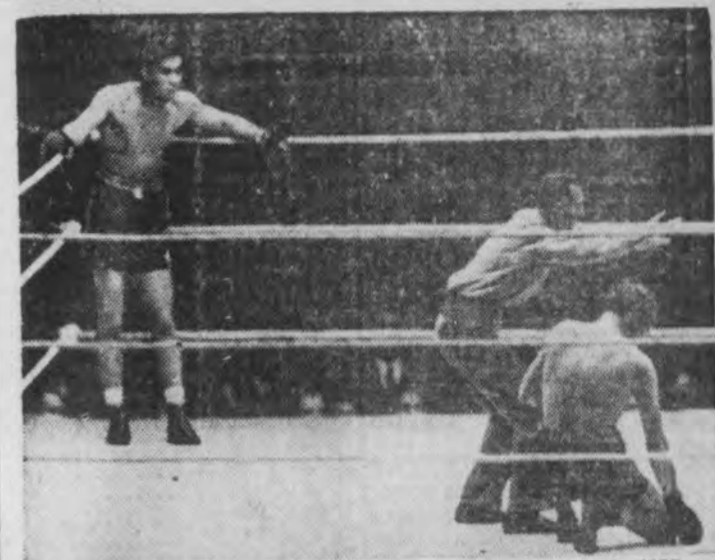

"Louis would have whipped Willard or Johnson. It took Johnson 15 rounds to beat Jeffries, after Jeff had been out of the ring five years."

"Jeffries was a big, strong fellow with a punch but Joe hits faster than Jeff did. He'd have beaten Sullivan, too."

"Fitzsimmons and Corbett would have had the best chances. Fitz probably would have come closer to beating Louis than Corbett. He had a better punch. But that clever-boxing Corbett would have been hard to catch in 15 rounds."

And so the bag-punching continued, round after round.

TO FIX QUOTAS FOR TOBACCO

tore. They mean more freight cars to haul grain and livestock to market. They mean more commissions for grain merchants. They mean more activity in farm marketing centers. In short, they mean better business to all the by-product and service businesses.

Lower prices this year may bring smaller total income for farmers in spite of the bigger harvests. But there will still be a lot of money crossing rural retail counters. Furthermore, lower farm prices mean lower food bills for hard-pressed city families. This releases more of the urban dwellers' income for other purchases. On the other hand, if we were faced with a crop failure, the entire picture would be changed. Fewer farmers would be spending money, more people would be on farm relief, more elevator companies and granger railroads would go into bankruptcy, food prices would be higher for poor city people. A crop failure in 1938 would be disastrous. It would knock all chances for a business pick-up this Fall galley-west.

All Sections Have A Crop

Farm income should be evenly spread throughout the country this year. During each of the last seven years some part of North America has been suffering from drought. The Prairie Provinces of Canada, for instance, will have their first good crop this season since 1931. My observation is that every section should share in the good 1938 growing conditions. The previous stricken Dakotas, Eastern Montana, Western Iowa, Nebraska, and the Oklahoma-Texas-Colorado Dust Bowl are all in good shape. So, while total farm buying power will be somewhat less than last year, its even distribution will be a stimulus to better business everywhere this Fall.

The only fly in the ointment is the decline in the buying power of the farmer's products as compared with the things he must buy. Industrial wage scales, freight rates, taxes, and overhead prevent the price of manufactured articles following the law of Supply and Demand as sensitively as do raw farm products. For instance, farm prices are off 28 per cent from a year ago, but products the farmer must buy are down only 7 per cent.

Farmers Best Customers

This, however, is a long-term problem. For the months right ahead, good farm conditions will help business. The "old-fashioned" theory that good crops and low money rates mean better business still holds. Investors take note that mail-order companies, farm-tool makers, and granger railroads will be the biggest commercial beneficiaries. Sales managers must not be fooled by the present decline in rural business from a year ago. Later this Summer and early this Fall, farm areas will be the best markets for manufactured goods. My forecast is that the farmer will lead the nation out of the recession of 1938!

CONSUMERS REQUIRED PAY BIG PROFIT FOR WHISKEY

there are almost as many opinions of the correct method of pricing and classing liquors as there are county and state board members.

Mr. Harris favored very cheap whiskey and a 50 per cent mark up. He said lowest estimates are that bootleggers are selling 1,000 gallons of whiskey a week in Durham. He also favored "current" or unaged liquor.

A Nash county representative said the state board should not prescribe either the quality or age of liquor to be sold. He favored a straight 55 per cent mark up.

I. L. Corbett of Edgecombe, who later made the motion which prevailed, called for a straight 55 per cent mark up, without specials of any kind. He spoke for a lower proof liquor.

A Carteret board member said there are no bootleggers left in his county; but suggested lowering the permitted proof in order to give cheaper whiskeys a chance.

Mr. Gray, of Wilson, advocated the sale of half-pints of the cheaper brands in order to get the trade of the very poor people who now buy drinks or other small quantities from the bootleggers. Commenting on this, Cutlar Moore, state chairman, said that this size is "too convenient" and pointed out that one state which adopted the idea had found that most half-pints were sold to high school students.

George A. Ross of Vance, favored the 55 per cent mark up, on the grounds that "We can't compete with the bootlegger of white whiskey, anyhow."

And so it went; but in the final showdown there was practically no dissent to the proposal to make the state's liquor prices a straight 55 per cent mark up, which Moore said will probably permit a 55 cent corn whiskey pint and a 60 cent bourbon pint.

The state chairman also predicted there will be a price reduction by the wholesalers in August, and pointed out that even with the 55 per cent mark up liquor prices will still be cheaper than they were a year ago.

DEATH CLAIMS ROBT. W. SMITH

Funeral services will be conducted at the late home on Second street, tomorrow at 3 p. m., and will be conducted by Rev. W. H. Brunson of the Ayden Christian Church, assisted by Rev. R. F. Pittman of the Ayden Free Will Baptist Church, and the Ayden Masonic Lodge.

The Ayden Masonic Lodge will meet tomorrow at 2 o'clock in the lodge room, and will proceed from there in a body to the home of the deceased. Many out-of-town Masons are expected to take part in the exercises.

MAYOR BLOUNT CLUB SPEAKER

work would begin after the tobacco marketing season.

Mr. Blount explained that the reason the citizenry was called on often to vote in bond elections was because of a recently adopted constitutional amendment which prohibited any government subdivision in the state from issuing bonds in excess of two-thirds of the amount retired the previous year without an election. He said the city did not want to go ahead on projects unless the people wanted them, but declared he was personally in favor of getting as much Federal funds as practical.

In this connection the mayor stated that the tax rate would not be raised this year despite the large number of projects undertaken and contemplated.

Recalling that Greenville had recently organized a Chamber of Commerce, the speaker declared the city stands to get more projects by its establishment. Also along this line he mentioned the possibility being considered by the Board of Aldermen of employing a finance officer and purchasing agent for the city and declared he believed such an official would prove of much value to the city.

The speaker was presented by Claude D. Ward, chairman of the committee in charge of the program. Preceding the address, Berry Bostic a member of the committee, introduced Mrs. J. Knott Prector, who rendered two vocal solo numbers, with Mrs. R. A. Tyson, c'ub pianist, as accompanist. Guests included Dr. J. L. Winstead, E. B. Dees, A. S. Cresson and G. J. Coleman.
