

JAPS ENGAGED BY GUERRILLAS NEAR SHANGHAI

Battle One of Largest Since City Captured by Invaders

FIGHT RAGES ON WESTERN BORDER

Scores of Foreign Residents in Area Endangered; Numbers Rush to Settlement

Shanghai, Aug. 22—(AP)—Fighting came ominously close to Shanghai again today when 1,000 Japanese soldiers and bands of Chinese guerillas came to grips on the west border of the city.

The battle, which began before dawn and quickly enveloped the western edge of an area where Shanghai's big airdrome is located, was the largest in the Shanghai area since the Japanese captured the city last November.

Scores of foreign residents in that area were endangered, many rushing to the International Settlement for safety.

The guerillas, believed about 500, apparently were well armed with machine guns and rifles and were maintaining constant fire.

Dozens of Japanese trucks raced westward to the outer portion of the International Settlement to take up the battle after the regular outposts reported they were unable to cope with the attack.

Shortly after the battle started the Japanese closed that area to civilian entry or exit.

Arranges Schools For War Graders

County Agent R. R. Bennett has arranged four tobacco grading schools for farmers of Pitt County, with two set for tomorrow and two Wednesday.

Schedule for the schools is as follows: Tuesday, 9 to 12 a. m., L. E. Turnage's; Tuesday, 2 to 5 p. m., Aug. 23, J. P. Davenport's; Wednesday, August 24, 9 to 12 a. m., M. O. Speight's; and Wednesday, Aug. 24, 2 to 5 p. m., Alton Gardner's.

The school will be conducted by a marketing and grading specialist from the United States Department of Agriculture, and L. T. Weeks, assistant Tobacco Extension specialist from State College.

County Agent Bennett explained that tobacco graders should find the meetings helpful and constructive. He has urged growers to bring their tobacco graders to the schools.

Citizens Invited To Board Session

All citizens interested in the proposed bond elections to finance 55 per cent of municipal and water and light plant improvements are invited to attend tonight's meeting of the Greenville Board of Aldermen.

The PWA already has made grants for the projects and it is up to the people of the city whether grants of 45 per cent of the total cost of the projects will be taken advantage of by the city.

The Water and Light Commission bonds would be repaid from revenues of the utility. The municipal project includes a new municipal building, fire department station and a street department yard.

Tonight's meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the projects and authorizing the elections, or turning them down. Every citizen interested, either one way or the other, in the proposals is invited to attend the meeting.

To Make Adjustments In Leaf Marketing Quotas

EXPECT CARDS ON WEDNESDAY

Tobacco Marketing Cards to be Delivered in Townships

County Agent R. R. Bennett today sent letters to tobacco growers throughout the county advising them that marketing cards will be delivered at designated places in each township on Wednesday of this week.

Farmers are asked not to call by the county agent's office for the cards as they will be distributed in the respective townships. In cases where applications were late in getting in and the cards are not ready yet, producers will be able to secure temporary quota cards in order that they may go ahead and sell their tobacco.

Only one card is being issued to a farm unless additional cards are requested in writing upon agreement between tenants and landlords.

The cards will be made out in name of the person who signed the worksheet for the farm and must be delivered to such person unless he authorizes someone to sign for the card by giving the authorized person a letter for the committee to that effect.

Marketing cards will be delivered Wednesday by local committees in the respective townships at the following places:

Swift Creek—Hugh Stokes Store, Ayden—F. C. X. Store, Pactus—High School, Carolina—Junior Order Hall, Bethel—Old High School, Belvoir—High School, Falkland—J. F. Most Farm Land Included In Conservation Program

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Aug. 22—Approximately 99 per cent of North Carolina farm land is this year covered by work sheets of the Federal soil conservation program, according to E. Y. Floyd, of State College, head of the AAA setup in North Carolina.

This is a distinct gain over last year, with 256,000 farms covered this year against 143,000 last, according to Mr. Floyd. These work sheets qualified the farms for participation in the program and entitled the owners to payments under the AAA soil conservation program.

Last year farmers who co-operated earned about $9,350,000 in payments, Floyd said. Through August 13 checks for 8,893,691.05 had been distributed to beneficiaries, and checks for the remaining $456,300 are in process of being distributed, batches being sent out by mail each day.

In view of the greater number of farms covered by work sheets in 1938, Floyd estimates, North Carolina farmers should be able to earn considerably more this year than they did in 1937 if they carry out all the practices recommended.

Payments are made on a basis of compliance with soil conserving rules and regulations laid down by the AAA.

Under the program, farmers are offered payment for regulating their acreage of soil-depleting cash crops and for carrying out soil building practices like terracing, applying lime and phosphate, re-seeding pastures where needed, growing legumes, and turning under green manure crops.

Premier Daladier Averts Crisis By Filling Vacancies

Places of Two Cabinet Members Who Resigned Suddenly Over Plan to Abolish 40-Hour Week Promptly Filled by Premier

Paris, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Two of Premier Daladier's cabinet members resigned suddenly today, as a result of the Premier's plan to abolish the 40-hour week in French industry.

L. Frossard, Minister of Public Works, and Paul Ramadier, Minister of Labor, gave up their posts in a surprise move.

The Premier met the threat to his ministry's life by patching up his cabinet within two hours, naming Deputy Anatole de Monzie, his close friend, Minister of Public Works, and Deputy Charles Pomaret, Minister of Labor.

Both new ministers belong to the same party as those who resigned. The small Socialist union group, more conservative than, but closely allied with, the largest Socialist party, chiefly responsible for enactment of the 40-hour law in 1936.

Although the Premier must face a determined assault from the extreme Leftist party when Parliament reconvenes in November, his quick success in replacing the men seemed to remove any immediate danger of his fall.

Presence in the cabinet of the new men, whose names Daladier submitted to President Le Brun—a move equivalent to confirmation—assured the Premier of the same delicate balance of parties which has held his ministry firm since it was formed.

The resignations marked the first open rift in the "National Defense" cabinet since it took power April 10.

HIGHER COURT TO DECIDE ROW

Election Dispute To Be Settled in Supreme Tribunal

Raleigh, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Counsel for W. O. Burgin of Lexington charged in Wake Superior court today that "threatened action" of the State Board of Elections would make North Carolina Democratic primaries "safe for Republicans."

All doubt that the elections dispute would be settled by the Supreme court was dispelled when Judge W. C. Harris overruled a demurrer, brought by the State Board, which asks dismissal of Burgin's complaint.

The judge's decision, attorneys said, was a move to expedite appeal to the Supreme court. Attorney General Harry McMullan, representing the State Board, quickly noted an exception.

Burgin is seeking a mandamus to force the State Board to certify him as the Democratic nominee for the (Continued on Page Two)

BELK-TYLER TO OPENTHURSDAY

Departmental Heads Announced by Manager C. A. Plyler

Belk-Tyler, to be located on East Fifth street in the building formerly occupied by Quinn-Miller Company, will open Thursday, August 25.

Recent renovations make the Belk-Tyler store one of the most modern department stores to be found anywhere. The color of the woodwork in the spacious building blends harmoniously with the furniture that has been installed. Modern lighting facilities also add to the attractiveness of the store.

Belk-Tyler's three-story building contains a number of various departments, which includes ladies' ready-to-wear, millinery, baby department, hosiery, notions, piece goods, shoes, men's clothing and boys' department. The management has segregated the various departments for the benefit of its patrons in Greenville and its trading area.

The management considers itself fortunate in securing Miss Simmerston as head of the ladies' ready-to-wear department. Besides being affiliated with Strawbridge and Clothier of Philadelphia, Miss Simmerston has had a number of years of experience with large department stores in Western North Carolina.

Ray Weaver, formerly associated with the Farmville and Tarboro stores of the Belk-Tyler Company, will head the shoe department of the local establishment. Mr. Weaver has had several years' experience in fitting shoes. Mrs. C. W. Bynum of Greenville, will be in charge of the baby department, which will carry a complete line of baby furnishings.

C. A. Plyler, who comes to Greenville from Williamston, is optimistic of the outlook, and considers it a pleasure to serve the buying public in this area. E. B. Horne of Rocky Mount, is assistant manager.

Belk-Tyler's store can be identified by its modernistic front and a large neon sign bearing the name of the firm. The store will open with 125 or more Greenville and Pitt county people to take care of the crowds anticipated on the formal opening day of the store.

At Least Two Killed In New York Subway Crash

More than Two-Score Others Injured in Collision

New York, Aug. 22.—(AP)—At least two persons were reported killed and more than two score others were injured in a rear-end collision between two Lexington avenue subway trains today.

The crews of a dozen ambulances treatment to injured passengers on sent to the scene gave first aid at the station platform, at Lexington avenue and 116th street, and then took them to nearby hospitals.

An explosion which followed the crash sent great clouds of black smoke up through sidewalk air vents.

The motorman of a southbound train, S. Cota and an unidentified Negro passenger were trapped when the first car telescoped the rear of another southbound train standing at the platform.

An ambulance surgeon finally succeeded in freeing the trapped motorman, but only after he had amputated his leg, working by the light of torches and with the aid of Mayor LaGuardia, who arrived shortly after the crash.

Twelve of the injured were taken to Harlem hospital. They included six women and a child and one of them was in serious condition.

Most of the seriously injured victims were passengers of the moving train.

Investigating Committee May Probe Case In N. C.

Reflector Bureau Raleigh, Aug. 22.—One of the most interesting though unverified reports reaching this bureau recently is to the general tenor and effect that Senator Morris Sheppard's campaign investigating committee is sending an investigator into North Carolina to probe alleged "intimidation" of H. P. Brown, Winston-Salem man who filed for the Forayth seat in the State Senate and later withdrew.

Back in April your correspondent wrote Mr. Brown asking his reasons for withdrawal. The communication has never been answered and so far as has come to public attention the Winston-Salem man has made no public claim that he was intimidated by anyone or that his withdrawal was other than entirely voluntary. It was generally assumed that the Brown retirement was in order to keep his job with WPA, a job which would automatically have been lost had he become a candidate for public office.

A day or so ago there appeared a dispatch from Washington that Chairman Sheppard had said an investigator has been sent into an unnamed state to inquire into election complaints which he said "may develop into something."

On the heels of this dispatch there came to this bureau, from a source that ought to know what is being talked about, a circumstantial tale the Brown's withdrawal was charged to "intimidation from state 'higher-ups'" (unnamed and unidentified) except that they were connected with WPA. It was also asserted that the state into which the Sheppard sleuth has been sent is North Carolina and that the charge he is probing is that Brown was forced out of the race by what amounted to virtual orders from superiors.

How much truth there is in all this, your correspondent knows not. It is just one of those interesting, if true, political yarns behind which there is sometimes plenty, sometimes nothing.

WPA WORKERS FUND OPPOSED BY CHIEFTAIN

Hopkins Criticizes Drive To Oppose Rep. O'Connor

EXPRESSES VIEW IDEA IS BAD ONE

Meantime, AAA Announces Distribution of $127,000,000 In Cotton Adjustments

Hyde Park, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Harry Hopkins, the WPA administrator, expressed sharp criticism today of a reported effort by the Workers Alliance to raise campaign funds from New York relief workers.

Hopkins discussed with newsmen reports that the Alliance was seeking to raise $50,000 with which to fight Representative O'Connor, a sharp administration critic, who is seeking renomination in New York.

Hopkins spent the night with President Roosevelt at the summer White House here.

He told reporters today the Workers Alliance, an organization of WPA workers, "has a perfect legal right" to ask funds from WPA workers. But he added:

"I just don't like the idea, that's all. I think it's bad. I don't care who the money is being for or against."

O'Connor recently was criticized by Mr. Roosevelt as being one of the "most effective obstructionists in the lower House."

He is being opposed by renomination by James Fay, a staunch administration supporter.

Meantime the AAA announced at Washington distribution of $127,000,000 in price adjustment payments on 1937 cotton would go under way in September.

The subsidies will be paid on about 8,788,800 bales of cotton, or 69 per cent of an eligible base production of 14,648,000 bales, to farmers complying with this year's acreage allotment program.

Also at Washington, Dr. J. B. Matthews told a House committee that one of the aims of the American League against War and Fascism was to cripple American munitions and bring on mutiny in the army in case of war between the United States and Soviet Russia.

Matthews, a writer and lecturer, was the first president of the league.

Several Accidents are Recorded Here

An accident survey conducted here today disclosed that four traffic accidents were experienced in Greenville over the week-end, but no persons in either of the accidents required to receive medical treatment.

An automobile driven by Arnold Punch of Greenville and Arthur Evans of Ayden, Route One, were involved in a collision on Evans street Saturday night around 7 o'clock. Both motor vehicles were damaged and both drivers were charged with careless and reckless driving.

Edwin Woodard, Greenville youth, was knocked breathless Saturday night around 8:30 o'clock when the bicycle on which he was riding struck a parked automobile on East Fifth street. The youth sustained only a few bruises in the accident.

Charges of violating traffic violations confront Miss Christine Wilkerson and T. J. Forbes, Greenville Negro, as an outgrowth of an accident on Washington street yesterday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock. No occupants of either automobile were injured and only slight damage was done to the cars.

Another minor accident occurred in Chatham Circle last night. Only slight damage was done to the automobiles and no one was injured. There was no police investigation requested for the accident.

Christian Science Church

"Mind" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science Churches and Societies on Sunday, August 21.

The golden text was from Job 36:5, "Behold, God is mighty, and despiest not any; he is mighty in strength and wisdom."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "If there be therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any bowels and mercies, Fulfill ye my joy, that ye be likeminded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind." (Phil. 2:1-2).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "When the divine precepts are understood, they unfold the foundation of fellowship, in which one mind is not at war with another, but all have one Spirit, God, one intelligent source, in accordance with the Scriptural command: 'Let this Mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus.' Man and his Maker are correlated in divine Science, and real consciousness is cognizant only of the things of God."

U. S. House of Representatives in the eighth congressional district. The board has maintained, however, that C. B. Deane of Rockingham, led Burgin by 23 votes in the July 2 primary.

Burgin's attorneys stated their client won the nomination on the basis of returns originally certified by county board of elections and that the state board exceeded its right in "demanding and coercing" county boards to change their original returns.

The demurrer had asked dismissal of Burgin's suit on grounds that the state board had the power to order county boards to "correct" returns.

The hearing was adjourned shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

At the request of Solicitor Claude Canaday of Benson, a hearing in a suit brought against the state board by J. R. Young of Dunn, was deferred until August 31. Young, who trailed Canaday in the fourth district solicitorial race, has sought a mandamus to force the board to certify him as the Democratic party's nominee.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coogan
Hollywood—The life of a portrait painter in Startown must be tough. Azadia Newman wouldn't say so. Azadia would—and did—say quite the opposite. And I doubt if any portrait painter in Startown would come out and say it loudly.

Unless it might be Willy Pogany, who took his tinted tiff with Connie Bennett to court and got the worst of it. But I haven't seen Willy Pogany lately, and I've just seen Azadia Newman, who is a lovely creature to see.

Azadia lives on a hillside and you park below and hike up unpeppered steps. I reckon if you're the athletic type—like Scott Colton, Azadia's handsome new husband—those steps are no trick. But if you're your violent exercise then you're in no mood for Art after the climb. Still, between gasps and pants, I made some notes on the informal exhibit in Azadia's studio.

So when Azadia came in—slender, fine-featured, titian-haired—I was already impressed. Her fine and beautiful portrait of the blind Senator Gore is something to see and see again. I like her John Nance Garner and her Walter Huston and her Norman Windor and many others. And I decided (just as if I knew about capital-A Art) that here was a girl who knew character and could paint it.

I even liked her Gladys Swarthout. And I could see that her Joan Crawford had its points. But the Carole Lombard—it's very pretty. I said so "Pretty" I said "You mean you don't like it as much Azadia."

I mean I don't think it's Lombard, said the Expert-for-a-day, who thinks Lombard is tops as is and doesn't need prettifying.

So we two went round and round from there. Friendly, understanding, and right merrily. Azadia has a sense of humor. She appreciates Expert Criticism from one who can't paint even with a spray gun.

"On movie queens generally—leaving out Lombard, Crawford Swarthout—don't you think the artist tends to paint them as they'd like to be painted? As their studios would like them to be painted. This was the Expert painting the theme, duggedly."

"Azadia wouldn't budge an inch. 'I love doing movie stars,' she said. 'They're grand subjects. Besides, I'm a movie fan so I've loved getting to know them as I do when they sit for me. And I paint them as I see them.'"

"Well, we didn't get anywhere but it was fun. I still think the life of a portrait painter in Startown must be tough. I'll have to ask Willy Pogany about it."

Then Azadia brought in her Arleen Wrelian. Azadia discovered Arleen before the movies did. Arleen was a hairdresser then, and Azadia painted her because she wanted to paint that piquant face, that rich auburn hair. Azadia picked out Arleen for movie starring long ago, just as a lot of us have been thinging Azadia ought to be in pictures herself.

Arleen may be, too, before long. She's going to take a test.

"But I'd do pictures only if they wouldn't interfere with my painting," she said. "It must come first."

And she means that. She couldn't have done that Gore, that Garner, that Huston and those others if she didn't.

Changes Are Made In Bus Operation

For the benefit of school patrons in the County, the Pitt County Board of Education today announced that revisions have been made by the State School Commission relative to the operation of school buses.

It was explained that routes of all buses, this year, as in former years, have been made by a representative of the State School Commission. Formerly, a few changes of routing have been made by the local school principal and members of the board of trustees subject to the approval of the Pitt County Board of Education.

This year, however, all bus routes for each school are marked on a map, a copy of which is sent to each principal. All bus drivers will be notified as to what route each bus should travel. According to rules and regulations established by the School Commission, any bus driver leaving the route to which he is assigned will be penalized.

Any patron who wants a bus route changed will have to file a w...

request in writing to the Pitt County Board of Education. The request will then be forwarded to the State School Commission. According to the present law, school buses are required to travel within a mile of all children who live more than 1 1/2 miles from the school.

GLAND STUDY BRINGS BOOM TO MONEY-CATCHERS

Singapore. —(AP)—Hundreds of itinerant monkey catchers in British Malaya are getting employment through the rapid increase in gland research activities in the United States.

These catchers receive nearly 7 dollars for a good "Rhesus," the most salable type of animal.

Every steamer leaving Singapore for eastern ports in the United States is carrying several crates of fat, healthy monkeys.

Washington Daybook

Washington - Three hundred years cover almost the entire history of this country and that same span of time has seen the marshy little village of Jamestown, Va., rise, flourish, burn, decline and finally surrender to grass and shrubs, except for a few jutting piles of brick.

Recently I visited the place because the State of Virginia and the Department of the Interior are slowly digging it out again. It is a strange sight. To outward appearances it is almost as barren as when in 1607 Captain John Smith settled his little colony on the rubbish of land that sticks out into the James river a few miles from where it pours into the Chesapeake.

But painstaking archeologists are carefully sweeping off the surface to get down to the history buried under black marsh earth. Sweeping is the true word, for whiskbrooms and spoons are the tools of the modern day archeologist, instead of spades, although the latter are used to skim off the top earth.

Only a few miles away several million dollars of Rockefeller money have been spent to restore historic Williamsburg, which became the seat of government of Virginia when Jamestown burned just before the years turning 1700. Williamsburg is a going city, although it smells more of history than of commerce.

Of Jamestown there is nothing but history, buried one to five feet down.

Houses On Houses
Much of the site is marked off in 10 foot squares by a series of pegs which act as markers in plotting the location of anything found, such as a pottery fragment, a coin, or an old wine bottle.

Already the foundations of several houses have been partially uncovered. One foundation had been the basis of three successive houses, each adding a bit of rock on top of the last. When the digging began, grass and brush had grown over even the last one.

A ditch which the earliest settlers dug along one side of the village had been completely filled in by drifting earth but its location was discovered by cross-trenches which showed clearly the contrast between the black earth which filled it in, and the red soil in which it originally was dug.

A few graves survive, some marked, others not. The brick tower of the old church rears up among the brush and trees, some of which have sprouted and grown old since the site was abandoned.

Old Friends, Old Wine
Only this past week the explorers have uncovered about 75 feet of a brick pathway. From what it started and where it leads remains concealed under the mud, 10 inches deep. A hundred years of plowing over the site upended some of the bricks long after the pathway had been forgotten.

In all the digging so far, nothing has been found to compare with the novelty discovered at Williamsburg. In an old well which had been filled in with the passage of years, a bottle of wine was found where it had been hung by some Williamsburger possibly long before the Revolution. The bottle was shaped like an inverted mushroom, a type made by 17th century Colonists.

The wine, assayed by a chemist, proved drinkable. I couldn't find whether anybody had tasted it.

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Aug. 22.-A North Carolinian whose father is quite well known all over the state, has been dumped right down in the middle of the Georgia political campaign.

The Tar Heel who has been sent where the purge has made things hotter than purgatory is William J. Hobbs, one time Wilmingtonian, named successor to Edgar B. Dunning, who resigned as counsel for the RFP at the request of Washington activities because of the Dunlap activities in behalf of purgator Walter F. George.

William J. is the son of J. C. Hobbs, who is completing his second full term in the state legislature as one of New Hanover's House members. While Tom Cooper, the Hobbs colleague, got headlines and quotes much more often than his fellow man, "J. C." was regarded by those on the inside as sounder and more influential in legislative councils.

The new Georgia RFP lawyer must be presumed to be something of a New Dealer, inasmuch as he is replacing an Anti, but if he is one of the wild-eyed idealists to be found on the lunatic fringe of the Roosevelt following, he differs widely from his parent.

Incidentally, W. J. Hobbs was at one time an advertising solicitor for the Wilmington Star-News.

Down in South Carolina the twin of one Congressional candidate is acting as a "stand-in" for his brother during the campaign.

That may be all right, but in North Carolina there has been a lot of rumpus kicked up because too many "stand-ins" were used for voters qualified to participate in the primaries.

Paul Leonard, Statesville's unrepentant rebel against the sales tax, will appear before Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell on August 26 to argue that the levy is unconstitutional and that Mr. Maxwell ought to abate the taxes assessed against the Leonard Community Variety Store in Winston-Salem.

That's one hearing the result of which can be written long in advance of the appearance of the parties and the judgment of the presiding official.

Incidentally, Mr. Leonard's many-pronged pitchfork on which he hopes to impale the Sales Tax includes an assertion that it is null, void, and of no effect because it was enacted by a General Assembly itself unconstitutional by reason of its refusal to follow the organic law's mandates with regard to apportionment of representation.

My, oh, my, what confusion worse confounded would result if any court should ever concur in such an allegation. Think of it--every act since 1931 unconstitutional.

A stalk of corn, 15 feet, eight inches tall, grown in Guilford county, has been exhibited in the county agricultural office over there. The corn was grown on the Sunny Hill dairy farm by Walter Coble of Guilford College, the Greensboro press reports. Average height of corn grown on the Coble place was put at "12 to 14 feet" by Assistant Farm Agent Lewis Boswell of Guilford county.

Above The Clouds-Reflections on spasm bands, voodoo drug stores, wrought lace iron work balconies and a thousand other facets peculiar to fabulous New Orleans.

Chicago and Southern's racy Lockheed is 7,000 feet above the delta ... We're clipping along at 181 miles per hour. ... But I can't hear the motors. ... The only thing I hear is the throbbing jangle of a New Orleans spasm band. ... Ever hear one? A spasm band is a miscellaneous collection of Negroes playing on pan tops, soap boxes, broomsticks, tin cans and gongs. ... They play in jitter-bug fashion, wandering the streets like strolling minstrels and serenading anybody for a dime.

Ever hear of anger powder? ... That's one of the gaudy little items obtainable in voodoo drug stores. ... You have to be known to get in one of them. ... Then you are treated to this weird assortment of conjure stuff: dragon's blood, mad luck water, delight powder, black cat oil, hell's devil powder, and snake-root. There are scores of other items I could name but they're unprintable in a family newspaper. Cost you from two bits to a dollar forbits each.

As we sprallled above Shushan airport and lit out across Lake Pontchartrain our position was 29:36 North Latitude; 90:34 West Longitude. ... That's where New Orleans is. ... But from where we are there home stocked full of vegetables will make up for the lost ones.

Quite a number of pure bred baby chicks are being placed for the fall. The 4-H club members of the county are expecting to hold three achievements days in September. The farmers will hold two community fairs in early fall.

The Characters
Hugo Stern, handsome author, living on the French Riviera.
Archie Lumsden, myself, Hugo's friend.
Otilie Wills, a beautiful American heiress.

Yesterday, Hugo finds the name "Melanie Wills" engraved on Eve's lucky penny. She was Otilie's sister. At the Carlton Bar I receive a mysterious note Eve wrote me the day of her death.

Chapter 13 A Bluff Called

THE little doctor had taken his leave and Hugo was alone, and as I approached he glanced up at me and whistled softly. "Great Scott, man!" said he. "You're green about the gills."

I hailed a waiter and ordered a double Scotch. "And what local gossip have you been listening to?" I asked, anxious only that he should go on talking and give me time to collect my thoughts.

"Ah!" said he. "Now you're asking something I have acquired various spicily morsels which may be useful. Ricketts is a good little soul. He hastened to pass on to me all the information he thought might be of service to you."

"Well," I retorted, "so what?" "So this," said he. "First and foremost there is a strong desire on the part of the police to side-track O'Donnell's death. The deliberate murder of an American citizen would have too many international repercussions to be pleasant--especially if they can't find the murderer. They propose, therefore, to work on the theory that poor Pat, having witnessed the murder, saw a man whom he believed to be the assassin making his escape, pursued him, and was shot down in cold blood."

"If that's the view the police take," I said, "it lets me out as the possible assassin."

"Not a bit of it," said he dryly. "You forget the different calibers of the bullets. To enlarge on their theory the man who fled happened to you did the dreadful deed. He was a crook of sorts who saw his chance to make a haul in the general confusion after the shooting. That version, you see, neatly eliminates the only two men who left the casino after the killing, and it therefore follows that the murderer remained inside. From there on, everything is beautifully simple. A girl has several wealthy admirers. A young man shoots her. The motive? Jealousy!"

"Have they tumbled to O'Donnell's real job?" I asked Hugo.

He shook his head. "No a whisper of it, but they've checked up on his movements since he arrived in France. It seems he crossed in the American Freighter six weeks ago and, since he landed, has spent most of his time in Paris, with the exception of flying trips to Desauville and Le Touquet and his last excursion down here." He paused. "Does that say anything to you?"

I whistled softly. "It certainly does. It looks as if he'd been following the girl around. But there again, Hugo--supposing that the girl was Melanie Wills, adopted daughter of a famous banker--wouldn't it be the natural thing, if she disappeared, for her uncle to send a private detective to look for her?"

"It would, and I shouldn't wonder if we're nearer the truth these than in all the rest of our guessing. Why," he demanded, suddenly and violently, "in the name of all that's holy, did that girl leave her family, come over here, take a name that wasn't her own, and associate with men like our friend the Baron?"

"If there's any answer in the world to that," I told him, "you'll find it here," and I tossed the letter into his lap.

"August 30th"
HE UNFOLDED it and read it through, his face as expressionless as a bronze image. Then he looked up. "And where did you happen on this?" he demanded.

"Just now," I said. "In the hotel office."

"It's beyond me," said Hugo. "The Grand Grimoire I know of course--it's the would-be magician's text-book of black magic, but the Grimoire astrologique is a new one on me, and I'm blest if I know what 'l'Amourie means. It sounds like old French. By the Chateau la Vague I presume she's referring to that respectable family hotel, but I never heard of it. Caves des Muettes, and the only Club des Sans Clubs I know of is an association of the innkeepers of France."

He examined the letter again, wrinkling his brows. "August 30th is the date," he read slowly. "That's a week from today. Warn him if you can. Who the devil is he, and what are you to warn him of? Archie, my young friend, there's only one possible explanation, as I see it. The young woman was suffering from an overdose of blood--and--thunder reading. And that's that," he concluded, getting to his feet heavily. "If we don't get a move on, we'll be late for dinner."

On our return to the chalet, a very pretty tableau met our eyes.

isn't any New Orleans now. ... She's just a bend in the river. ... Marguerite Clark's lovely home on St. Charles avenue has been sold to Robert Eddy, the furniture man, and she's in New York. ... And not far above her home lies Loyola University. It's so close to Tulane that you can sit in a Loyola classroom and wink at a Tulane codger. ... # Greenies Divide Week-End Series with New Bern Bears

LOCALS AWAKE THEN ASLEEP

Tame Bruins, 6-1; Then Bruins Tame Them, 5-1

The best the Greenies did do with New Bern in the week-end series was a split, and their chances at being in the playoff series next month got a severe setback as the Snow Hill Billies, fourth place holders, topped Sunday's game with Tarboro after dropping Saturday's game to the Serps. At this writing five full games separate the Billies and the Greenies. There are but ten regularly scheduled games to go—but there are two rained-out games and one tie—with Kinston. The Greenies are playing off one of their rained-out games with Ayden there this afternoon.

The Greenies had no trouble in winning Saturday's game here with the Bears. Lefty Spence allowed the visitors but three safe hits and they would have scored save for an error of a ball hit through to center via the pitcher's box.

Lowery's double and Allen's single brought a run for the Greenies in the second. Doubles by Spence and Jenkins added one in the fourth. Heavener's triple and Lowery's single were the only hits in the locals' three run eighth, but they took advantage of a base on balls and outfield flies to do the work.

Jenkins featured afield for the locals. The youngster handled six chances, some of them difficult ones—in nice fashion. Burge got two of his team's three hits.

Sunday's Game
New Bern, Aug. 22—Doc Smith's New Bern Bruins yesterday handed Rube Wilson, Greenville's manager, his first loss as a Coastal Plain pitcher. The Bears won, 5-1.

Wilson had won five games. Doug Hautz, former Tarboro pitcher, was the Greenville manager's foe in a battle of southpaws. The New Bern lefty pitched a shutout ball after the first inning, in which the visitors scored on a walk to Douglass and a double by Simpson.

Norwood's double sent in the tying run in the home half of the opening inning. Beaman singled in the second, went to third on Doug Hautz's double and scored on Anderson's infield hit. That proved to be the winning run.

Burge's 17th homer of the season scored Roth, who had walked, in the fifth.

Fine fielding was the order of the day. The top boys in the defensive fireworks were Anderson, Burge and Lowery. The visitors made three snappy double-plays.

Goldbugs and Martins Split Week-end Series

Williamston, Aug. 22—Frankie Dirmann's ninth inning homer gave Goldsboro a 5-4 win over Williamston Sunday.

Bill Averette, called in as relief hurler in the third, engaged in a slab duel with Pete Kunis of the Bugs. Averette fanned seven. Kunis yielded 13 hits, but he scattered them well.

Wilcox's double, Swain's single and Earp's triple brought two runs in the seventh and put the Martins in a 4-4 tie.

Harry Swain, pitcher playing in the outfield, his four singles for a perfect day at bat.

Saturday's Game
Goldsboro, Aug. 21—A couple of two-run homers—hit by Bowen and Villepique—gave the Williamston Martins a 4-3 victory over Goldsboro Saturday.

The Goldbugs rallied for a couple of markers in the eighth. Watson hit a homer for one score. Hahn's double and Mullinax's single brought in the other tally. Steve Lakotas, Williamston second sacker, was put out of the game in the fourth inning when he protested a third strike called by Umpire Tom Hannah.

Goldsboro To Meet Greenies In Night Game Wednesday

GAME TO START AT 8:00 SHARP

First Nocturnal Tilt In Third St. Park Wednesday

D. C. Moore, secretary of the Greenville baseball club, said today that on Wednesday night of this week, August 24, local fans would definitely witness the first night baseball game ever to be played here.

Participating in the after-dark contest will be the Greenville and Goldsboro clubs. Starting time is 8 o'clock.

Tomorrow night, August 23, at 8 o'clock, the Greenies will engage the Goldbugs in a night contest in Goldsboro.

The contest scheduled for Greenville Wednesday night, and the Goldsboro game of Tuesday night, are regular scheduled contests in the Coastal Plain League, but are being shifted from afternoon until night.

Lighting facilities will be furnished by a concern of Woodside, New York, which uses portable equipment for night athletic events. Third Street stadium, where the game is to be played, is expected to be suitably lighted for the contest, in that the same equipment has been used successfully in other parks.

Due to the fact that Wednesday night is the eve of the opening of the 1938 tobacco marketing season in Greenville, a much larger crowd is anticipated than was expected for the "unplayed" Greenville-Snow Hill game, cancelled when the Billies refused to play.

To date, Greenville has thirteen contests on tap. Ten of the games are on the regular league schedule. Games at home include two with Kinston and one each with Goldsboro, Tarboro and Ayden. The five out-of-town games embody two with Kinston, and one each with Tarboro, Goldsboro and Ayden.

There are two rained-out games on the locals' playing roster—one at Ayden and the other at Williamston. The Greenies and Eagles also have a deadlocked contest to play off in Kinston. Thus, the 13 games have a combined total of 13 games yet to be played, and are five games behind Snow Hill, which is holding fast to a fourth-place berth in league standings.

British Golf Dates
London.—(AP)—The 1939 British amateur golf championship will be held on the Royal Liverpool course at Hoylake the week of May 22. The British open championship will be at St. Andrews, the week of July 3.

Serps Get One, Billies Other Over Week-end

Snow Hill, Aug. 22—Al Gettel, apparently recovered from a spell of sickness, pitched in the old Gettel style as Snow Hill defeated Tarboro, 3-1, Sunday.

Al held the Serpents to three hits and had a shutout until Maynard, first up in the ninth, banged a cut-curt smash. The largest 1938 turnout here saw the game.

Lefty Robinson offered Gettel real opposition except in the fourth inning. Taylor singled to open that verse, and Mainsano doubled. Monk Joyner cracked one which looked good for a homer, but Centerfielder Soup Campbell leaped high and caught the ball just as it was headed over the fence. Taylor scored on the play. A walk to Soufas and Bistoff's Texas leaguer filled the bases, and one run came in when Walter Rabb slashed a hit by Robinson. Shortstop Briscese flagged the ball over second base, thus keeping another run from tallying.

Gettel hit a triple in the sixth to provide scoring transportation for Bistoff, who had walked. Frankie Ware and Walter Robb were the top defensive players.

Rube Wilson Leads Locals In Hitting And Pitching

Tom Dennis, official scorer of the Greenville baseball club, today released statistics pertaining to individual members of the Greenville aggregation through a seasonal period ending August 16.

Manager Rube Wilson with a percentage of .337 and White Heavener with a record of .312 were highest in general compilations. Ten other members of the locals had a percentage of over 200.

Brech Donelass, with four homers credited with the most round-trippers. Next highest in this division is Ralph Simpson with three.

Heavener, "Junior" Daniels, Gracie Allen and Goldie Lowery have two homers apiece. Vincent Smith, Jenkins and Wilson were credited with one homer each during this period.

During the period covered in Scorer Dennis' compilations, Manager Rube Wilson had hurled five wins in as many starts, which automatically gave him a percentage of 1000. Due his loss yesterday, however, he takes a light drop from the coveted berth. Fred Callhuri has won six games through August 16 and has been charged with 7 losses.

Test In Maryland For FDR's Power

Personal Prestige of Chief Executive Thrust on Line in Democratic Senatorial Primary

Baltimore, Aug. 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's personal prestige and power were thrust directly on the line today as stakes in the Democratic senatorial primary in Maryland. This was made clear in addresses broadcast by Senator Tydings, whose neck the New Deal has marked for the political noose, and Republican Lewis, whose pate the President verbally patted with a gesture of approval. The addresses were made last night. These two men, Tydings seeking re-election on a "vote-by-conscience" record repudiated by the President, and Lewis, down the line New Dealer, will fight it out at the polls September 12, with a third candidate Arthur Hubberford administration advocate.

Farmers Repaying Government Loans

Raleigh, Aug. 22.—More than $5,929,000 of the $17,294,000 loaned to farmers in five southern states under the rural rehabilitation program of the Farm Security Administration have been repaid, officials of Region IV announced here today. Some borrowers have over-paid amounts due to date, their total prepayments amounting to $320,910 at the close of the fiscal year. Farmers have up to five years to repay these loans which are made to disadvantaged farmers unable to secure credit elsewhere for the financing of farming operations and to buy needed stock and equipment. Region IV includes, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina. The figures are cumulative to July 1, 1938 and were taken from Treasury receipts, according to officials.
