BLACK-OUT IN AREA PLANNED

Army Is Conducting Most Extensive Of Maneuvers

Fort Bragg, N. C., Oct. 3.—(AP)—The army today opened a spectacular two weeks' test of its theories, methods and means of defense against war-time raids.

Fayetteville and other towns will be "black out" into complete darkness for four hours one night, officers disclosed, in one measure to balk the aerial invaders.

A warning net manned by civilians and covering half of North Carolina has already been organized. In a preliminary trial yesterday its complex communications system, linking 300 observation stations operated with hardly a hitch.

All the modern anti-aircraft guns in the eastern United States, more than 2,500 troops and 13 war planes will participate in the air defense maneuvers described by officers as the most extensive the army has held.

College President Speaks At Vesper

Choosing as his theme the verse from Paul's letters to the Ephesians: "In whom all the building fits framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord," President Con R. Meadows gave a challenging message to the students of East Carolina Teachers College at vesper service Sunday evening.

Dr. Meadows compared the growth of the Lord's holy temple and the growth of any building today, to the growth of a person's spiritual life and the development of his character.

"It is necessary," said Dr. Meadows, "to have a plan to go by before starting a building." Likewise, it is necessary to choose the correct materials when they are chosen. It is necessary to put forth effort to see that the building is put together properly. Not all the time is spent on one part of the building, but work is distributed to make a well rounded building. Sacrifices must be made to keep this building protected, and this building must be useful once it is finished.

"The structure erected is for eternity, not for just our lives," said the speaker.

"Be careful in the growth and use of these materials and their eternity will be assured," concluded Dr. Meadows.

Meeting Called For Tarboro Tuesday, October 11th

A meeting will be held in Tarboro on Tuesday, October 11 with a view to determining if the authorized navigation on channel to Hardee creek should be extended to Tarboro.

The War Department already has authorized the digging of a channel to Hardee creek and the county of Pitt and city of Greenville have authorized $7,500 each for the construction of a dock and terminal. The channel will be 12 feet deep and 100 feet wide.

The meeting for Tuesday of next week was called by Major G. W. Gillette, district engineer, to determine the feasibility of extending the channel to Tarboro.

It has been planned originally to let the contract for dredging the channel about November 1. The old boat line was operated all the way to Tarboro. As approved by the Rivers and Harbors committee in June of this year, the project provides for a channel only to Hardee creek.

A formal notice of the hearing, issued at the War Department office in Wilmington, stated: (Continued on page six)

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 3.—(AP)—The Pennsylvania Supreme Court today authorized a grand jury investigation of campaign charges against Governor George Earle and 13 Democratic associates, but declined to interfere with a similar legislative inquiry already under way.

CUTLOOK GOOD FOR BUSINESS

Roger Babson Predicts Business Will Forge Ahead

London, Oct. 3.—Roger Babson, in Europe, to investigate business and war conditions, believes that the passing of the war crisis means that the recent barrier has been removed and that the long-awaited business boom will now start. He said the latest turn of events justified his advice of the late summer to business men to forget Europe and other sensational headlines and pay more attention to their own jobs.

Business in the United States, Babson continued, is 10 per cent above the low in June. This gain has come about in the face of the most depressive headlines. The purge, the war threat, and business men's pessimism have failed to halt the uptrend.

With the war hurdle out of the way, American business should now rise steadily, Babson predicted that business activity will top the year-ago level some time between now and Christmas. He reports that there is great joy in London and that business has already picked up over here.

Commodity prices were kept down by fear that the government would fix prices. All such fear, he says, has now been removed so that business can go on as usual. Improvement in business in England and the Continent further brightens prospects in the United States.

One egg produced during the months of October and November is worth on the market about two produced in April and May.

PARADES INTO SUDETENLAND

German Fuehrer Is Widely Acclaimed Upon Entering Newly Acquired Area; Asserts Section Will Never be Torn From the Reich

With the German Army of Occupation in Sudetenland, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler personally assumed power over this former Czechoslovak territory in a triumphant military procession today and declared that "never will this land be torn from the Reich."

Following his armies through the heart of Sudetenland, he made two steps to accept guardianship of all Sudeten Germans and invite them to join "our march into a great German future."

At Widenau on the frontier, Sudeten Nazi Leader Konrad Henlein, symbolically handed the entire Sudeten territory to him. At Eger he was welcomed by cheering inhabitants and formally took the Sudeten capital into his expanding realm.

Through the 17-mile ride from Widenau to Eger Hitler was acclaimed as a liberator. He rode the entire distance standing in an open automobile.

The cortege moved slowly thru lines of cheering people. Soldiers were stationed at intervals along the route. Two armored cars preceded Hitler and Henlein, who rode with him.

Hitler spoke in the market place of Eger. "Over this Germany, its greater Germany, is its shield, its sword of protection," he declared.

Almost half of the six minutes of his speech was taken up by the crowds' cheering and heeling their "liberator."

"I greet not only you, but the entire Sudetenland which in a few days will belong to the Reich," he told them.

BOARD FILLED FOR DAVIDSON

Raleigh, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The State Board of Elections appointed C. L. Harris of Thomasville and M. L. Craver of Welcome, today as Democratic members of the Davidson County Election Board.

The state board voted to send written recommendations to the Davidson board concerning the returns in the contested eighth district congressional race between W. O. Burgin of Lexington and C. B. Deane of Rockingham, and ask that "final" returns be filed with it here by Friday.

It was announced that the board hoped to present "final" returns in Wake Superior court this week.

Chairman W. A. Lucas of the state board, said Harris was an "enthusiastic supporter of Burgin" and that Craver "was understood to have voted for Burgin in one primary and Deane in the other." The new members replaced David Sink and Ford Myers, ordered removed by the state board last week.

The board revealed that it had received "final" returns from Richmond county. The figures followed state board recommendations giving Burgin 1,664 and 5,358 for Deane.

Should the new Davidson board follow the recommendations, the "final" returns from that county would give Deane the nomination by 23 votes.

If the new board makes new findings Burgin may become the nominee as he had a margin of about 100 votes before the state board's inquiry voided a number of Davidson absentee ballots.

CZECHS LAYING PLANS FOR NEW ECONOMIC LIFE

Council Considers Industrial, Financial Status

SEEK TO SETTLE HUNGARY CLAIM

Exact Borders of New State Not Expected To Be Known Before End of Year

Prague, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Czechoslovakia today tried to lay the foundation for a new economic life inside the narrower borders of this once prosperous realm which has yielded to German and Polish territorial claims and agreed to negotiate the demands of Hungary.

With German and Polish military occupation of frontier areas proceeding quietly, the supreme economic council was considering the nation's new industrial and financial status.

Probably not until the end of the year will the borders of the new state be determined exactly. The precise German and Polish frontiers are to be fixed by plebiscites. Prague is ready to start negotiating with Hungary on the dispute over the 800,000 Hungarian minority.

In Budapest the Hungarian government was represented as inclining to favor peaceful negotiations of this minority dispute with Czechoslovakia, but to be intent on a quick settlement.

BOTH SPEAKERS WIDELY CHEERED

Premier Asserts Britain Must be Prepared to Fight for Its Principles

London, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told a House of Commons today "I have nothing to withdraw or regret" concerning the four-power accord of Munich for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

Chamberlain began his defense of his bargain with the German Chancellor and the Premiers of Italy and France after it had been bitterly assailed by Alfred Duff Cooper, who resigned Saturday as first lord of the Admiralty because the Munich terms "stuck in my throat."

"When the House met last Wednesday," the Prime Minister recalled, "we were under the shadow of a great and imminent menace. War, more stark and terrible than it had ever appeared before, seemed to be staring us in the face. Today, we know that the prayers of millions for peace have been answered."

Duff Cooper broke into bitter sobbing as he told the excited House that he had tried to swallow the four-power Munich accord terms "but they stuck in my throat."

Firemen Summoned By 2 Week-End Calls

At about 12:30 Sunday morning the firefighters were summoned to extinguish a truck fire. The vehicle, owned by Van Dyke furniture company, caught fire when the flooded engine backfired. No damage was caused by the blaze.

About two hours later firemen were called out by a false alarm at box 74, at the corner of Myrtle and Grande.

Roosevelt Acclaimed By British Prime Minister

Described as "The Voice of Most Powerful Nation"

London, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today acclaimed the contribution of President Roosevelt to last week's negotiations which averted a European war.

"The voice of the most powerful nation in the world," spoke across the sea to sway Europe's statesmen to ways of peace, declared Chamberlain in his defense in a tense House of Commons of the Munich four-power accord for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

The minister angrily tossed back cries of "shame" at his critics and announced an immediate $50,000,000 loan for dismembered Czechoslovakia.

Chamberlain paid tribute to President Roosevelt and to his fellow signatories of the Munich agreement, Hitler, Mussolini and Dalsland. (Continued on page six)

Anderson finds North More Interested In This State

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Oct. 3.—Northern industrialists are more than ever interested in North Carolina as a site for locating their plants, J. T. Anderson, industrial engineers of the Department of Conservation and Development, said today.

Mr. Anderson had just returned to his office in Raleigh after a trip which took him to New York and the principal industrial centers of the New England states.

The chief factors have worked very recently in making Northern industrialists consider locating elsewhere, he said.

The hurricane which recently swept New England destroyed many industrial plants and made rebuilding or re-location elsewhere imperative. Many of the industrialists had already begun to think of the advantages of moving South, out the emergency created by the hurricane hurried them into immediate action.

The second factor is the apparent settlement of the European crisis which, Mr. Anderson said, has increased optimism over business prospects everywhere. New business possibilities are seen by the industrialists, Mr. Anderson said, and they

Under these circumstances, the prospective industries have turned their eyes to the South and are naturally centering on North Carolina, because of the many advantages which the state has to offer, Mr. Anderson said.

He predicted an early increase in the flow of industries into North Carolina, a flow which has already brought 92 new plants into the

DON'T MARRY THE MAN

By Jeanne Bowman

The Characters

Kathleen Gregory; beautiful, red-haired daughter of Angus Gregory who owns The Golden Girl mine.

Bridget Riley; Gregory's ex-secretary.

Yesterday, Kathleen decides Bridget is necessary to her plans.

Chapter Four

Outline Of A Campaign

THE foyer of the apartment housing Miss Riley was not impressive, but Kathleen exclaimed with pleasure when she stood on the threshold of Bridget's suite.

"Like it?" Bridget, an exotic figure in scarlet lounging pajamas, had opened the door.

"It's like you," Kathleen answered. "Those cloudy blue walls give an illusion of space; that white furniture is so smartly simple; and the touches of gay color are like your humor."

Bridget laughed. "Then I'm simple and give an illusion of space. Come in."

Kathleen glanced in to where a table, for two, was spread before a wide window. "You're expecting someone," she demurred.

"Expecting you," Bridget told her. "I know the Gregorys."

"Then you will listen to my plans?"

can do it if necessary. If it is necessary I'll scrub floors; I'll do anything to make that damned MacDonald eat dirt."

Bridget studied her few moments and her eyes were a little pitying, warmed with tenderness.

"I'll go," she decided. "It will be an interesting experiment in human behavior. Perhaps I'm wondering if your gold is real; wondering if you'll still be The Golden Girl when you've passed through a real world."

"Haven't I been living in a real world?" inquired Kathleen indignantly.

"I'll ask you to answer that yourself later. It's going to be amusing to watch a feminine Mounty after her man. Now come, we've work to do. First on the list of musts is obtaining power of attorney, from your father. This is imperative if you have to force the right-of-way under fire. Next your name and background. My family lives in Chicago; we're legion. They'll adopt you as one of them and we can use their address as a medium of correspondence exchange with your father."

"Then let me take the name of Riley," suggested Kathleen, "and for a first name... Cleopatra. Cleo Riley."

Bridget laughingly agreed. "I'll drop the Riley and be myself. Bridget Donahue."

At three o'clock the next morning, Dan drove Cleo Riley, nee

Kathleen went to a mirror. This was the face that "smirked" at MacDonald.

"Curiosity has overcome discretion," admitted the young woman.

During dinner Kathleen outlined her campaign.

"From what Dad said, I understand both mines center around the town of Neutrality on the southern Colorado-Utah line. I want to go into that town as just another girl. I don't want to be associated with the Gregorys; in any way I want a reason for staying there for some time and I want a companion. I thought we might pose as artists."

"Do you paint?" inquired Bridget.

Kathleen laughed. "I've never worked on anything but my own skin. Aunt Beatrice says a futuristic sunset would look modest by comparison."

"Small towns are curious," warned Bridget. "To pose as painters we'd have to splash color on canvas with some suggestion of motif. Personally, I couldn't paint the broad side of a barn."

Kathleen sat a few moments in deep study. "I know an author. He does queer things and does queer places."

"It wouldn't be logical for two authors to be working on the same story at the same time," objected Bridget. "Of course it would give us the right to track the man to his lair, and the right to actually live in Neutrality for any length of time."

"Then we'll be one author," decided Kathleen. "You can handle a typewriter and I can't, so you're elected. I'll be a friend or cousin or companion."

Bridget nodded. "That might work."

"Then you will go with me?"

"A Real World"

BRIDGET didn't answer at once. She sat looking out through the cross-hatched pane to white walls studded with warm yellow oblongs.

"Do you realize what this would mean?" she asked. "Could you cook and clean, wear bargain rack frocks do without not only luxuries, but comforts? You know a mountain mining town is not a winter resort."

Kathleen stood up, walked to the window and stood, heels squarely planted, hands clasped tightly behind her.

"I don't know," she told Bridget when she turned. "I've never tried. But I can do anything anyone else

Kathleen Gregory, to her home. In her bedroom Kathleen disrobed.

Breaking The Shell

THE walls were murals of pale gold, russet and green, against a dull white background. The bed was fit for a princess of childhood fairy tales, ruffled canopy, ruffled flounce, and myriads of ruffled pillows. She slipped under the golden out of eiderdown.

"I feel like a chicken in a golden egg," thought Kathleen.

For a moment she forgot Donald MacDonald. She was about to break through her shell. For the first time in her life she was shedding the Gregory insulation.

"Every time I pick up a magazine I see her smirking at me—"

Kathleen slid out of bed and went to a mirror. She touched a switch and white lights blazed down on her, blazed out on her.

The red-gold hair swung just above her shoulders in a curling roll. Its color was repeated in the braided belt about the ivory satin gown, and in the square neck.

Brown eyes were shaded by lashes of deep brown with copper tints and arched by brows so strongly marked that they set the character of the whole face. This then was the face that "smirked" at MacDonald.

Back she went to her bed to sit "suddled" in lax pillows and to plan her wardrobe. Bridget said she would have to "dress down."

But color was the all-important principle—and that could be purchased from a bargain basement as easily as from a salon.

There, in the heart of her golden shell, she dreamed of her conquest, visualized herself meeting and conquering this Donald MacDonald. The man was a hazy figure, unimportant except as an audience. He stood at attention as she saw herself meeting him under various circumstances, all romantic.

While Kathleen dreamed, Bridget sat before her desk working out the practical side of their adventure, long pages filled with notes and figures. And when these were completed she went to the window and watched the dawn appear behind tall buildings and offered a small, incoherent prayer.

She had everything from tags in the events of men handed her on a golden platter. Let her fight for this—

Meeting with Donald MacDonald.

NEST BECOMES TOMB FOR STUBBORN BEES

Livermore, Ia. (AP)—The building which a swarm of bees liked so well as a home has become their tomb.

It all happened because the bees just wouldn't move, despite repeated efforts of workmen to dislodge them.

Four other swarms of bees in the same building heeded the workmen's demands that they take up another abode when wrecking crews started razing part of an old hotel structure.

The fifth swarm insisted on remaining in a section of the building that was to remain standing, and the contractor ordered the bees cemented in between layers of a concrete wall.

Unemployment Service Report Shows Encouragement

Raleigh, Oct. 3.—Last week's North Carolina State Employment Service News, publication of that state agency, indicated by reports from widely scattered sections that business is definitely on the up-grade in North Carolina.

Included in the reports were: Hendersonville reported renewed activity in the textile industry in that section, with mills in Bevard resuming full time operations.

Concord reported that textile placements have improved. Gastonia placed 79 during the week, with 42 of them in private dustry, a considerable increase over preceding periods. Edenton stated that for the next 30 days, at least, surplus unskilled labor will be at work digging peanuts and picking cotton.

Williamston also reported cotton picking, peanut harvesting and general seasonal employment as having absorbed appreciable numbers of laborers in the section. Hickory reported that 22 different occupations were represented in the 33 private placements made during the week.

Charlotte made 172 private placements in the period. Greensboro recorded 157 private placements.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Oct. 3.—Coming back to Raleigh after a trip which took him to the talc mines at Hemp, Dudley Bagley, state REA head, remarked that his visit there recalled an apt remark he once heard made by a speaker pointing out North Carolina's need for developing its industries so as to process its own raw materials.

To which J. M. Grainger, the REA engineer, added the observation that North Carolina's kolin is of such fine quality and purity that it is actually necessary to import material from Florida to adulterate the N. C. product.

The usual preview of the State Fair will be held for newspaper men on Monday night, October 10, preceding Tuesday's formal opening.

Ronald Hocutt, new director of the Highway Safety Division, has left for Detroit where he will attend the annual convention of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

The convention's program this year lays great stress on safety problems, Mr. Hocutt said. He hopes to be able to attend at least one day's session of the National Safety Council in Chicago, which opens October 10, before returning to Raleigh.

Total of driver's license revocations in North Carolina climbed to 16,700 as the result of 42 such revocations last week. As usual drunken driving was the principal cause for getting into trouble, but last week five drivers lost their licenses for "hit and run"—an unusually high percentage.

One out of every 14 persons gainfully employed in the United States belongs to the "Knights of the Road"—those hardy drivers of commercial motor vehicles and buses who day and night transport thousands of passengers and the nation's foodstuffs and commercial products.

Recent government statistics, the release cites, show that more than 3,200,000 persons are employed in driving capacities.

In 1787, the year the Constitution was framed, it took 19 persons living on farms to produce enough for themselves and for one person living in town. Today 19 persons on farms can produce enough for themselves and 66 people in town.

There's no unemployment problem for North Carolina's mules, according to the North Carolina State Employment Service News, which says: "The Rockingham office has an order for mules. McDonald B. Fortune, manager of the office, says that although he has 1,561 men on active file, he is still hunting for a score or more of good, strong, unemployed mules, equipped with grading pans, furnishing good references and accompanied by honest, sober and deserving drivers."

"Ladies and gentlemen—! Its circus day in Greenville. The greatly enlarged Barnett Brothers three-ring circus and trained animal show invaded Greenville yesterday morning and converted the old fair grounds into a place of glamorous excitement. With the frenzied activity for which circuses are noted the work of 'setting up' was immediately begun, and soon everything was in readiness for the two programs which will be presented here today. The afternoon performance starts at 3:00 o'clock and the evening and final program will begin promptly at 8:00 o'clock. It has been a busy day thus far for Dal Dever. The famous R-deo champion has been the center of interested admiring groups of young sters and oldsters alike since early morning. Dever in an interview with a reporter today said: "Since touring with the circus I have taught more boys how to tie the western lariat knot than I ever believed the whole world contained. That is the kind of man this Dal Dever is, and even though his hands and fingers become blistered he just can't say no to a boy's plea. Dal Dever and his congress of cowboys and cowgirls recruited from his Texas Ranch will be seen in action at both performances; but they form only one of the stellar attractions with which Col George

From the grand opening in which Barnett invaded Greenville today, more than 400 men and women, elephants, horses and camels take part the program contains one of the greatest array of acrobatic stunts ever gathered together under one circus banner. Hosts of funny clowns under the leadership of Ed Raymond, famous Continental pantomime artist, cavort in the three-rings and on the hippodrome track in a series of funny antics and capers. Herds of performing acrobatic elephants, trained by Capt. Thomas Burns will be seen in a big three-ring display. Barnett Brothers have the only acrobatic elephant herds on tour. Other stars of the thrill packed two-hour-long program include the Hal-Creck-Eho troupe Chinese acrobats; the Rogers sisters, known as the girls who dance upon the tight-wire; the Zoegies troupe of European bare-back riders; Col. Lewis' dancing Arabian horses; The Aerial Knights, Nelson Thomasson who does a thumb-stand on two pedestals; the DeRitzake family who perform on the swinging trapeze high up near the top of the circus tent; O'Connor and Hammond, famous tumblers and gymnasts; and a host of others.

Pirates Looking Toward Campbell College Game After Losing Saturday

E. C. T. C. Defeated 19-0 by Belmont Abbey First Game

Campbell College will collide with the ECTC Pirates here next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the second contest of the season. With one game already recorded in their 38 book of experience, the Pirates are expected to make a good showing. Practices to be conducted by the ECTC grid mites this week will likely iron out many of the weaknesses displayed Saturday when they lost to Belmont Abbey to the tune of 19-0.

It took Belmont Abbey, outweighing the Pirates, only 15 minutes to score their first touchdown Saturday. Walter Powloski advanced the pigskin from the eight to the one-yard line. Frank Modra crossed for a touchdown. Tony Sikish made the extra point on a placement.

Powloski gave the Abbeymen another touchdown in the third period of the contest on a right-end run from the 40-yard strip. Later, Allen Matthews advanced the ball from the 50 to the 5-yard line on a run around right end. He was downed on a tackle by Joe Hatem. Matthews, on another play, pushed the ball to within one foot of the goal line. Bob Kupsky made the touchdown through the line.

Lester Ridenhour and Bill Dudash regulars on last year's ECTC aggregation, turned in the best performance for the locals. Hubert Roberts and Jack Moyer, who were graduated from Greenville high last year, also played a good game. Other ECTC players, who aided tremendously in keeping the progress of the Abbeymen from advancing too far were Chick Hatem, Joe Williams, Earl Smith, Bill Shelton, and Rock Venters.

Setting the pace for the Abbeymen were Viscic and Moore on defense and Powloski and Cuffaro on offense. Frank Modra, playing his first game against the Pirates, exhibited his playing skill.

Besides outweighing the Pirates, the Abbeymen had one more week of practice than the locals. Belmont Abbey was strengthened by the return of ten lettermen. ECTC a weak line and lacked an adequate supply of reserves. These elements featured in the Pirates' defeat.

The lineup:
Belmont Abbey, Bradley le; Viscic lt; Martin lg; Marshall c; Roan rg; Birkner rt; Moore re; Sikish qb; Powloski lb; Cuffaro, rh; Modra fb.

ECTC: Glass le; Wagner lt; Williams lg; Moyer c; Rogers lg; Demond rt; Hatem re; Dudash qb; Smith lb; Shelton rh; Ridenhour fb.

WORLD SERIES ON WEDNESDAY

First Two Games Of Annual Classic Be At Chicago

Chicago, Oct. 3.—World series interest flamed to fever pitch today with the return of Chicago's conquering Cubs with the National League championship.

Because of the late arrival of the deluxe streamliner bringing the Cubs from St. Louis last night, Chicago's public welcome for Manager Gabby Hartnett and his players was deferred until this morning. The reception committee was headed by Mayor Edward J. Kelly.

Members of an aldermanic committee picked up the players at Wrigley Field and accompanied by a police escort, they were driven to the City Hall where, from a specially constructed grandstand, Mayor Kelly introduced each player and presented him with a parchment scroll, an appointment as ambassador of good will. Preceding the reception, the players were paraded through downtown streets.

Philip K. Wrigley, Jr., youthful owner of the Cubs, remained at the baseball offices all day, personally directing a force of 70 in mailing out the last batches of world series tickets. The mailman's final trip indicated the supply of 19,000 reserved grandstand seats and 17,000 box seats would be quickly exhausted.

Fixing Park
Because the Cubs didn't clinch the championship until Saturday, a force of workers was busy all day yesterday and today converting the magnificent ball park into two games with the Yankees on Wednesday and Thursday.

A portion of the upper deck of the grandstand, just above the press box, is being converted into a press box accommodating out-of-town baseball writers. There will be 375 of them, in addition to 125 telegraph operators and also radio technicians and announcers.

Betting Odds
The betting gentry has made the Yankees a 2-to-5 favorite over the Cubs. According to quotations from Broadway's Jack Doyle, the odds are 2 to 1 against the Cubs' winning the series. The betting in the first game is 1-to-2 against the Yankees, and 3-to-2 against the Cubs. Against the Yankees winning the first two, the odds are 6-to-5. Against the Cubs' winning the first two, the odds are 3-to-1.

Against the Yankees' winning four straight, the odds are 5-to-1. Against the Cubs' winning four straight, they are 15 to 1.

Hartnett probably will announce that Big Bill Lee, winner of 22 and loser of 9 games this season, will be his starting pitcher against the Yankees, although there is some indication that Dizzy Dean may be named for strategic reasons. The selection will depend upon the start named by Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees.

Gets His Wish
St. Louis, Oct. 3.—The Chicago Cubs aren't at all jittery about their forthcoming World Series with the Yankees. All the Cubs except Carl Reynolds, veteran outfielder, have played in a World Series.

Reynolds is mighty happy over the opportunity to get in the big series. "Honest," he said yesterday, "I didn't want to win this pennant so much because of the money, but I wanted to play in one World Series before I died."

Incidentally, it might be recalled that Catcher Bill Dickey of the Yankees swung a right one day back in 1932 and broke Reynolds' jaw. The blow cost Dickey a $1,000 fine. Reynolds, who was with Washington at the time of the run-in, hasn't forgotten it.

Exports of American farm products for the year ending June 30, 1938, increased 20 per cent over the previous year.

N. C. REVENUES HOLD UP GOOD

Decrease Accounted For by Drop in Inheritance Tax

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Oct. 1.—A casual glance at North Carolina's revenue collection report to September 30 might lead to more than a little pessimism when it is noted that for the month Revenue Division collections were 29.25 per cent less than in the corresponding month last year, while for the fiscal year to date (three months) the revenue collections are off 13.69 per cent.

But inspection of the very first item on the list—inheritance tax month of 1937 for three months would dispel the pessimism, as this gas tax yield was $6,328,222.82 accounts for all but $678.09 of the against $6,043,531.27 last year.

apparent $1,221,394.17 decrease in Revenue Division collections.

From all other Revenue Division sources this year's receipts have been almost identical with those of 1937, the less than $700 deficit being negligible.

The shrinkage in inheritance tax collections is no part of a business slump indicator, this decrease merely showing that North Carolina has not had any rich citizen to die lately.

On the Motor Vehicle Bureau side of the tax collection report the picture was even brighter. Receipts for this September were more than $100,000 greater than in the same month of 1937, while the first quarter of this year brought an increase of more than $250,000 over the first three months of the 1937-38 fiscal year.

Gasoline tax receipts, a real indicator of business activity, went up to $2,190,896.72 in September $2,068,240.25 for the corresponding month of 1937. For three months the would dispel the pessimism, as this gas tax yield was $6,328,222.82 accounts for all but $678.09 of the against $6,043,531.27 last year.

FEARS EIGHTH LOST BY PARTY

Republicans May Win in District by Democratic Default

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, N. C.—The last Republicans who went to Congress from North Carolina attained their seats in the House after bitter and desperate political warfare in their home districts; but this year, there is more than a remote possibility that one of the G. O. P.'s nominees will get to Washington practically by default.

Reference is had, of course, to John R. Jones in the Eighth against whom nobody knows who will be the Democratic opponent, if any.

The last sentence is somewhat mixed up, you may think, but if it is still isn't half as mixed, and muddled as the Eighth Congressional campaign.

Your correspondent has tramped from one office to another in Raleigh. He has hailed on the street any personage who looked important enough to know what it's all about. He has interviewed Superior court judges, the Governor, the Attorney General, every member of the State Board of Elections, lawyers by the score, innumerable powerful politicians, every other newspaper man who could be induced to stop and talk about it, five south-sayers and three crystal gazers.

The net result, as far as finding anyone who knows what's going to happen, has been exactly zero, minus seven.

The stock-in-trade sentiment is: "Don't quote me about it, but 'off the record' I don't know what's going to happen or how there is ever going to be any end to the wrangling."

Efforts of the Davidson county board to submit "final" returns from their county and the subsequent attempted ouster of the Democratic members, hasn't cleared up the situation—not even a little bit. It has simply made confusion worse confounded. The theme song is "Where Do We Go From Here."

This story doesn't make sense. Well, neither does the Dane-Burgin row—now practically a riot.

SEEK ORGANIZE COOPERATIVES

Association of Rural Electric Co-ops Is Considered

Raleigh, Oct. 3.—Dudley Bagley, director of the State Rural Electrification Authority, plans to get the rural electric co-operatives of the state together to form a statewide association of co-ops.

Efforts are already under way to hold a meeting in Raleigh at which representatives of the system co-operatives now operating, or about ready to operate, rural systems will form such an organization.

Primary purpose of the proposed statewide association of co-operatives would be the exchange of information and full discussion of the various problems which have confronted the various groups.

Mr. Bagley is also planning get-together meetings of private utility companies and of municipalities which are interested in rural electrification.

Plans are not yet definite enough to fix any precise dates for these meetings, but the REA head is hopeful they can be held in some way in the next month or two.

DIXIE HIGHLIGHTS

WON ELECTIONS BY WIT!
DAVID CROCKETT, UNLETTERED TENNESSEE FRONTIERSMAN, ROSE FROM OBSCURITY TO NATIONAL PROMINENCE BY EMPLOYING THE USE OF HOMELY HUMOR.

DAVID CROCKETT was the "Will Rogers" of his day, although he went a step further with his humor by using it as a stepping stone to political achievement. The amazing career of this irrepressible Tennessee backwoodsman, who told witty stories to win elections, is worthy of the study of every American. Although unlettered and uneducated, he succeeded in overcoming all handicaps by perseverance, shrewd common sense, homely wit and actually became a national figure! He served in the Tennessee legislature in 1821-23 and in 1826, 1828 and 1832 was elected to the National Congress, winning his elections chiefly by repeating witty stories of amazing personal experiences and hunting exploits. His name is also prominently connected with the history of Texas, as he perished gloriously at the fall of the Alamo. The picturesque tall CACTUS of the Southwest has the amazing facility of providing food as well as water. From the fruits of this plant, India's prepare an excellent preserve, and the ripe fruits too are very good eating. Though generally a native of hot arid regions, this unique plant has the unbelievable capacity to retain a store of water within its fleshy stems and branches.

N. Y. Stock Market—New York, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The stock market encountered profit-taking today and leading issues found considerable difficulty in continuing the climb which began last week.

Losses of fractions to around a point were posted at the start, but they were reduced or cancelled later and near the fourth hour the list was moderately higher.

Dealings were rather slow throughout. Bonds inclined to edge higher, especially foreign dollar loans. Commodities were quiet and a shade uneven.

The London securities market tilted downward as Chamberlain began his defense in parliament of the four-power Munich pact which permitted Germany to occupy the Sudetenland of Czechoslovakia.

NEW YORK COTTON—New York, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened eight to nine up on higher Liverpool cables, for-ign buying and a reduced Egyptian crop estimate.

The advance attracted a little more Southern hedge selling and scattered realizing, but declines were small and late in the first hour the market was still at net advances of four to six points.

December rallied to 8.18 and at midday sold at 8.17 when the list was eight to 13 points net higher.

All interested parties are invited to be present or represented, particularly navigation interests, and the officials of any county, city, town, or local association whose interests may be affected. They will be given an opportunity to express their views, especially upon the exact improvement desired, its advisability, the interests that will be benefited thereby, the savings

In transportation costs that would result, and the commerce affected; also, as to what terminal facilities exist or will be constructed, and to what extent local interests will cooperate in bearing the expenses of the desired improvement. In addition, information is desired as to difficulties in navigating the present waterways and channels and whether or not there are any questions involved as to flood prevention or power development.

"Oral statements will be heard, but for accuracy of record, all important facts and arguments should be submitted in writing, in quadruplicate, as the record of the hearing will be forwarded for consideration by the War Department."

dier.

The 10,000,000 pounds ($50,000,000) loan for Czechoslovakia is a third of the amount asked by Prague, Chamberlain disclosed. The granting of an additional 20,000,000 pounds ($100,000,000) in credit will be considered later, he said.

The finance minister went at length in an effort to show that Hitler had made concessions at Munich from his previous demand. He gave Mussolini credit for getting the mobilization of the German army postponed pending the Munich negotiations.

He revealed it was Mussolini and his son-in-law and foreign minister, Count Ciano, who first evolved a basis for discussions at Munich.

But, Chamberlain said, the strongest force of all was that sense of the unmistakable unanimity among the peoples of the world that war somehow must be averted.

Chamberlain promised to build on the foundations he had already held toward a towering structure of peace for Europe and the world. He declared he could see chances for disarmament for Europe "opening up before us."

WHILE COUNCIL FIDDLER WIND DID THE JOB—Superior, Wis.—(AP)—A high wind did in one minute what the city council had argued about for several months. The council wanted to raze an old 180-foot brick chimney, proclaimed to be unsafe. Finally the council awarded a Chicago firm a contract to tear it down. After everything was signed a high wind came along and blew down the chimney. No damage was done.
