PARTY SCORED FOR PRODDING WPA WORKERS

Phrase in Democratic Letter Called Indefensible

WORKERS TOLD TO ATTEND MEETING

Letter Said Meeting Was Being Held At Direction of Guffey and Lawrence

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The Senate Campaign Expenditures committee called "indefensible" today a phrase in a Democratic campaign letter which warned WPA workers that "no excuse will be accepted" for their failure to attend a political rally held in Norristown, Pa., October 29.

The committee said it had been unable to determine how many federal WPA workers were among the 2,500 persons who attended the meeting as a result of the letter signed by Joseph McEwene.

The letter said the meeting was being held "at the direction" of Senator Guffey (D-Pa.) and David Lawrence, state Democratic committee chairman.

McEwene is a member of the Pennsylvania State Compensation Board and a local official of the Democratic party.

McEwene later denied in an affidavit obtained by the Senate committee's investigators that Guffey or Lawrence had any knowledge of the letter.

Other developments: Secretary Ickes said that support of President Roosevelt was stronger in the west today than it was in 1936.

The Secretary, holding his first press conference since returning from a speaking tour of the west, said there were local cross currents in western politics, but that they did not effect national prospects.

Contracts for general construction work, plumbing and heating projects for the Farmville school were let by the Pitt County Board of Education yesterday afternoon.

Bids were received and opened several weeks ago, but all were higher than the amount of money available and the plans and specifications were revised and bids called for again.

The contract for construction of a gymnasium, boiler room and four classrooms was let to Herman-Siple company of Conover for $47,864. C. L. Ruse of Greenville, was awarded the contract for heating and plumbing, having submitted the low bids of $2,957 for plumbing and $14,397 for the heating.

The bids ranged up to $54,400 for the construction work, while the higher bid for plumbing was $2,428, and for heating $15,651.

The PWA is providing 45 per cent of the total cost of the project.

DEMOCRATS IN MEETING HERE

Party Members Urged to Take Interest In Election

Although Pitt county is overwhelmingly Democratic, leaders of the party and candidates, in a dinner meeting last night, discussed efforts to get out the full strength and the possibilities of over confidence.

The meeting was called by Dr. Paul E. Jones of Farmville, chairman of the Pitt County Democratic Executive committee, who was host at the dinner.

Chairman Jones called attention to the Democratic rally to be held in the court house in Greenville Friday night at 8 o'clock and urged candidates and party officials to work for a good attendance.

Several party leaders present declared that the county is in no fear of going into the Republican ranks, but added Democrats must not let up in their efforts just because the other party is not offering a full slate of candidates or a program.

Hoover Taft, district organizer for the Young Democratic club, declared that the younger members of the party must be brought to realize the importance of taking an active part in the campaigns and show more interest in the party in general.

S. O. Worthington, one of the county's nominees for the State House of Representatives, declared that 25 per cent of the voters do not realize that there is an election Tuesday. He urged that all those present exert every effort to get out a good vote in order that the party might make a good showing.

D. J. Whitchard, Jr., urged the party officials to look ahead to the 1940 Presidential election, declaring the party must continue active in view of this. He suggested a more conservative program, beginning in the precincts and extending to the national government.

Others speaking at the meeting included Arthur B. Corey, J. B. Eure of Ayden, J. Knott Proctor, L. W. Tucker, Dr. E. L. Henderson, M. K. Blount.

Chairman Jones stressed the importance of the women taking an important part in the campaign and "turn out" for the election.

Tomorrow Ends Chest Campaign

Tomorrow is the last day of the Community Chest 1938 drive.

The campaign has passed the $2,000 mark, with large sections of the business district and most of the residential section not yet reported.

Rev. W. A. Ryan, chairman of the drive, has issued instructions for all canvassers to "turn in" so that a clean-up job can be done on all they have missed.

Reports of the workers is to the effect that donations are somewhat smaller from each person this year. That means that more people will have to be solicited and more people will have to be ready to

Czech Minister Goes To Prague After a Conference

YUGOSLAVIA TO BE DIVIDED ALSO?

Observers of Mediations Express Belief That Country Next for Partition

Vienna, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Foreign Ministers von Ribbentrop of Germany and Count Ciano of Italy, it was learned on good authority today, have assured the Czechoslovak foreign minister that Germany and Italy were ready to guarantee Czechoslovak's new frontiers.

F. Chvalkevsky, the Czech Minister, left for Prague today after the one day conference in which Hungary was given an estimated 4,875 square miles of Czech territory.

Hungarians and Poles said they still hoped more Ruthenian territory would eventually fall to Hungary, thus giving Poland and Hungary the common border line they desire. Ruthenia, the eastern tip of Czechoslovakia, was forced by the Italo-German mediation award to cede its capital to Hungary and its principal railway line.

Between 102,000 and 150,000 Ruthenians again will become Hungarians under the award, leaving about 500,000 in the Czechoslovak-Ruthenian state.

The Ruthenian delegation on last night pressed the decision, asserting it did not conform to geographical principles proclaimed at the four-power Munich conference on September 29.

Five fraternal Ukraine (Ruthenian) organizations cabled United Ukrainian organizations in the United States with headquarters at New York asking for funds to assist the home land.

Yugoslavia expects to be next in the division of Eastern European boundaries under the sponsorship of Germany and Italy, Yugoslav observers of the Hungarian-Czech negotiators said.

CROP PROGRAM ILLNESS FATAL IS SUPPORTED TO AYDEN MAN

AAA Official Says Cotton and Tobacco Farmers Aided

Dawson, Ga., Nov. 3.—(AP)—I. W. Duggan, director of the AAA's Southern division, said today federal farm legislation "has resulted in a reasonable income for tobacco and peanut growers" and added "I feel the program, if continued, will do the same for cotton growers."

Duggan was the principal speaker on the farmer's day program of Dawson's week-long peanut festival.

"I think that cotton farmers, as well as tobacco and peanut farmers, should have a program which is designed to give them their fair share of the national income," Duggan asserted in a prepared address. "Any program for peanuts, cotton, tobacco and other commodities should include provisions which will enable farmers to achieve and maintain a balance between supply and demand."

Duggan said the 1939 AAA program would include a special base for peanuts. He called attention to the December 10 vote on marketing quotas for cotton and tobacco and asserted "if marketing quotas are not in effect in 1939 you know as well as anyone what will happen to both production and price."

The number of farms in the South increased more than 400 per cent from 1860 to 1938, while acres in cultivation dropped from 194,196,000 to 185,542,000.

LONG - MISSING SCION LOCATED

Son Prominent Philadelphia Man Found In Richmond

Richmond, Va., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Detective Captain A. S. Wright said today Sydney E. Martin, Jr., missing 20-year-old son of a wealthy Pennsylvania family had been found in Richmond working for an electrical contractor.

The detective said he learned only today that the boy for whom the Philadelphia family had expressed grave concern was boarding at the home of a "Mrs. Otis" in northside Richmond and was working in a mid-town shop.

Wright said he had not determined how long Martin had been in Richmond.

Martin apparently "vanished" from the Quaker City after a visit to a night club September 15. Reached by telephone at the electrical firm Martin said tersely "I have no statement to make." He declined further comment and refused a request for personal interviews.

Japanese Forces Smash First Chinese Defensive In Drive Near Hankow

Capture Strategic Point 80 Miles from Hankow

SOLDIERS MOVE DOWN RAILROAD

New Chinese Army of 300,000 Recruits Being Trained as Hope Renewed

Shanghai, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Smashing the first major Chinese defenses above newly-captured Hankow, the Japanese invaders tonight reported the seizure of a strategic point 80 miles down the Hankow-Canton railroad.

Several days of artillery bombardment, which tore a hole in the strategic points north, was followed up by bloody infantry assaults along a river flowing through the town.

Forty-five miles up the Yangtze river from Hankow the Japanese announced the Kiayu forts had fallen.

The "mopping up" operations of the Japanese, who took Hankow October 25, spread out fanwise from the former Chinese capital. To the northwest a battle was in progress at a point 55 miles from Hankow.

One Japanese column reached Hankow after a three-day drive down a highway and reported it had dispersed straggling Chinese units which were fleeing an leaving "heaps of dead along the roads."

Chengtu, China.—Nov. 3.—(AP)—A new army of 300,000 recruits is being trained in Szechwan province to fight along side 400,000 well drilled Szechwanese in renewed hope of stopping the invading Japanese.

It is estimated that rice, wheat and other crops in this western province of nearly 53,000,000 population and 166,000 square miles are big enough to support 2,700,000 fighters for a year—one of the reasons why General Chiang Kai-Shek chose it for the new military base for operations against Japan.

HOUSE ARGUES NAVAL BATTLE

British Opposition Press for Government Statement

London, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Opposition speakers in the House of Commons pressed the government today for a statement on the Spanish naval battle of the English coast.

Prime Minister Chamberlain announced he was "slightly indisposed" and would be unable to attend the debate.

The insurgent motor vessel Nodir shelled and sank the Government freighter Cantabria almost at the moment Chamberlain yesterday told the House the Spanish Civil war was "no longer a menace to the peace of Europe."

By his speech, noting that Italy had withdrawn a large number of troops from Spain and was ready to withdraw more, the Premier won House approval to put into effect the April 16 British-Italian friendship pact, probably on November 15. The vote was 345 to 138.

When news of the sea attack reached Parliament, however, one opposition party speaker snapped out "they will be up the Thames next."

To Turn McCluer Over To Sheriff

Raleigh, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Governor Hoey said today he would sign an order directing that James McCluer of Beaufort county, who was committed to the State Hospital for the Insane five months ago as insane, be turned over to the sheriff of Beaufort county for a hearing before a Superior court judge in connection with a slaying of which he was acquitted "by reason of insanity."

The governor said he decided to sign such an order due to a conflict in the statutes. One, he said, seems to make it the duty of the superintendent of the hospital to turn such cases directly over to the

OHIO TOBACCO PLANT STRIKE COMES TO END

Union Spokesmen Asserts 'We Do Not Intend Have Members Murdered' by Davey

Middletown, Ohio, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Under the protection of troops ordered here by Governor Martin Davey, the P. Lorillard Company tobacco plant resumed operations today.

One shift of about 500 workers entered the plant at 8 a. m. without interference. The plant, closed since October 3 by a CIO strike, normally employs 1,100.

Five hundred guardsmen were ordered here by Davey after city officials warned that reopening of the plant while the strike was in progress might result in rioting and bloodshed.

The Pioneer Tobacco Workers Union, which struck October 3 for a closed shop and the checkoff, agreed shortly before midnight to end the dispute and return to work. CIO Organizer Sam Sponseller said the vote was 537 to one.

While troops had been en route from Columbus, Paul Fuller and John Owens, regional CIO directors, urged the strikers to return to their jobs "in orderly fashion."

"We do not intend to have our people murdered by a lame duck governor x x x who has proved himself to be America's notorious number one strike-breaker" Fuller wired Sponseller. Fuller said he would file charges with the National Labor Relations Board.

NOVEMBER NOMENCLATURE The List Changes Every Day

Miss Helen Perkins went to the Rocky Mount Fair today.

There is enough shooting going on these nights to sound very much like Christmas times and firecrackers.

Big rally in Farmville tomorrow. Big crowd went over to Bethel today.

Rousing times expected at Parkers Cross Roads tonight.

In 1679 Charles II of England made a land grant in America to a group of loyal cavaliers in payment of a debt of gratitude for loyal services to both Charles I and Charles II.

Charleston was fortunate in the class of colonists who built her foundation. They were mostly French, English and Scotch. Her settlers were scholars, hard workers and loyal to ideals of integrity and patriotism.

Colleges founded were South Carolina Medical College, Citadel in 1842. The Charleston Library in 1748 and Museum in 1773. With these institutions one can see why it became the brilliant social and cultural center of the province.

Before the close of the 18th century 35 mansions were built on the river banks with avenues and beautiful gardens planted beside them.

These estates were given distinctive names that have clung from generation to generation. And it is because these estates have remained through the centuries in hands of men who have been faithful and have preserved them that the ancient charm has not fled. Thus it is true of the Magnolia Gardens. Ownership has been continued in the Drayton family for 250 years.

Its international fame is due to its camellias of which there are 350 varieties and to the gorgeous beauty of its azaleas.

Another place of beauty is the Middleton estate. These gardens date back two and a half centuries. Its ownership has also remained in the family. The estate is noted for its beautiful cypress gardens and the butterfly lakes, on which a landscape gardener worked 100 slaves for ten years to complete.

Visitors to Charleston carry away memories of the high walled gardens, delicate wrought iron gateways, houses with porches and doorways opening on the sidewalks, and quaint narrow streets—and an appreciation of the men and women who molded the lives of their descendants.

After a short business meeting the hostess served delicious refreshments.—Reported.

The first 30 minutes will be devoted to prayer and meditation for the McDonnell and Virginia K. Johnston Mission Schools and China war relief. The rest of the period will be used for the study of our mission study text on "The American City and its Church."

Mrs. W. C. Vincent our efficient mission study leader, is planning an interesting study of the text with outstanding speakers and special music which she will announce in these columns from day to day.

Every woman in the church and all friends of the church are cordially invited to attend and are urged to be much in prayer for the services and to share at some time during the week a self-denial offering to these mission causes.

DON'T MARRY THE MAN

By Jeanne Bowman

Chapter 31

'They're Through'

It was impossible to be gay, or even happy in such surroundings, yet Kathleen felt a load had been lifted from her heart and that it was winging up past the singing cables, past the top-most light on the superstructure and on to the mountain stars.

"Have you talked to Donald at all?" Bridget continued.

"Yes," Kathleen answered slowly. "First he told me what he thought of me, then when I could catch my breath, I told him in equal detail what I thought of him. We didn't seem to care for each other," she concluded dryly.

"Tell me," demanded Bridget. Kathleen told her; told her much more than she realized.

"That explains so much," Bridget observed when she had finished. "Kathleen, have you any idea where Donald was at the time the alarm was given?"

"I overheard Kit-Smyth dictating a letter to father. He said he was at a flying field out of Carsted."

"But you don't know why he was there. Then listen and see if you can understand why Donald talked to you as he did. When you're engaged you'll understand how time flies without you being aware of it. Norman and I had a time for anything but ourselves until dinner was ready, then Donald came in and asked where you were. I felt conscience-stricken and told him you hadn't come over yet. He went after you. He found the note you had left for me. I don't know what you wrote, but there was something in it that sent him flying some place."

Kathleen smiled ruefully. "I congratulated you on your engagement to Donald and told you I was leaving. I only reached Balm's. He made me come in and we had a long talk. He told me about the feud, everything."

Bridget frowned in concentration. "I'm piecing things together," she said. "That was it then. He thought you had left for New York. He went after you. Don't you see, dear, Donald was rushing after you to bring you back because he loved you. He was giving up every MacDonald tradition and prejudice because you meant more to him than they did. And in this mood, this eagerness to offer you everything he had, Kit-Smyth found him. I don't know what Kit-Smyth said but it's safe to believe he destroyed this image Donald worshiped. And Donald, heart-broken over the disaster and breathless over you, came straight from Kit-Smyth to you."

Kathleen nodded. "Yes, I know how he felt because I felt just like that. I've laughed a lot over 'mortal wounds and stab wounds in the heart, but they're real. Bridget, I felt as though I'd been mortally wounded. I didn't care much about living for a while."

Abject Defeat

BRIDGET stood up. "Let's go over to the commissary. I'm cold and hungry and I'll bet you haven't had any dinner."

Kathleen followed her but she was not looking towards the big building, her glances were searching the few men around the mouth of the mine looking for one.

Norman found the girls in the commissary. He was taking Bridget home.

"You'd better get some rest. Cleo, they won't be through before mid-morning."

The name Cleo sounded strange to Kathleen, then she caught the import of what he had said. "Mid-morning?"

Six A. M. had been Balm's deadline: thirty-six hours.

"Where's Donald?" she asked. Norman gave her a quick searching glance. "Below. I can't pry him loose. He's wrecking himself with worry."

Kathleen made her decision as they drove away. She would go down there to him.

She couldn't. The technical experts were in charge now, the trained rescue crews from the United States Bureau of Mines. They needed the skins.

Kathleen looked at the objects they were carrying and shuddered. Canvas coats and canvas bags. The bags would be needed if they broke through too late.

The mine doctor rushing along stopped and looked at Kathleen. "Go to bed girl," he ordered. "I'm setting up an emergency hospital on the 1580 level. I'll need the girls down there. I'll need you up here, get some rest."

"But the hospital down there, what does it mean?"

"It means we're preparing for life," the man answered stouly. "And the only life there'll be left will need resuscitation in the shortest possible time. The medical men were prepared to save minutes. Time was that precious."

She knew she couldn't sleep, but she did to awaken with a start and find the sun high in the heavens. She sat up alarmed. A deathly silence hovered over the place.

No one was in the hospital, no one even in the emergency room.

She rushed out of doors. It seemed the entire place was deserted, the only sign of life the swinging cable, the throb of the motor. Ten o'clock. Mid-morning.

A man appeared from the commissary, Kathleen hurried to him. "What news?" she begged.

"Not much. They gave up trying to break through first, drilled in with an air hole; hope to shoot through medical supplies if there's anyone on the other end can use them."

"And when was that?"

"Several hours ago . . . wait, here comes a skip."

"Dog-wary muckers stumbled out. There was no sign of hope on their worn faces, nothing but abject defeat."

"Yes, the air hole went through. MacDonald called, there was no answer."

They went on their way and Kathleen and the man stood in silence.

His clumsy hand patted Kathleen's shoulder. "Don't take that as final. They may be through to another level; may be only a pocket there. Then too, the men fall in a stupor sometimes; lay there hours before it's too late."

There is life!

KATHLEEN nodded, then tensed. Another skip was up, a man in a slicker, engineer or official was running, calling as he ran. "We're through . . . get the canaries! Get MacDonald!"

"They're through!"

Where the scene had been deserted it was now thronged and mad cries of joy took up the song. "They're through! They've broken through!"

Men in grotesque costumes came running out, slipping oxygen tanks over their heads as they ran, swinging cages with tiny fluffy canaries in them; little yellow birds that peeped with dismay, unaware of their hero roles. More sensitive to poison air than any living thing, they would collapse before the insidious air crept into the lungs of unsuspecting men. Only a relay crew; the others, the picked men were already down; they'd been there waiting for hours.

Then Kathleen saw Donald MacDonald and she felt as though her heart had welled up and was pushing on out of her breast towards him. He was running. Someone was handing him an oxygen tank, shouting at him as they kept pace.

Kathleen called to him just as he slipped the mask over his face. He seemed to hesitate as though wondering if he had heard a voice, then adjusted the gear, stepped into the skip and dropped from sight.

She ran on to the mine collar. "He's going in first," someone said. "He served his time on the crew; felt he ought to take the first risk. That's Young Donald; if anyone has to die to find out what's on the other side, he's going to be that one."

Kathleen sank onto the timber pile, tears coursing down her cheeks. "And I said I never wanted to see him again."

She sat huddled in a tight, tense position. He had loved her. Bridget said he had and she, well she knew it too. Yet she had let him go down believing she hated him. She could have given him the chance to explain but she'd listened to her pride.

Moments passed. Cars came down from Neutrality, came over from the MacDonald mines. People crowded into a compact mass. Miners' wives in the foreground.

Kathleen marveled at the stoical calm of these women who waited at this, the eleventh hour, with no show of emotion. Yet, how they must feel! After their long hours of waiting, how they must wish to rush through the cord and fight their way down to that walled-off hole to learn for themselves the fate of their men.

Moments passed, melting into half hours. The spring sun beat down in a silent golden pall. Few words were spoken. The skip hadn't come up, it seemed, for eons.

And then the cable rattled, the roar of the approaching cage was heard. Every breath in the crowd was held, then expelled in a long sigh as Morgan stepped out, his face white.

"MacDonald is through. The men are all there. He says there is life. That's all for now."

Later, a second report. "Jock Arthur, unconscious but breathing, first man carried out."

Kathleen knew the next hour was the longest in her life. The skin was coming up slowly now. And each trip brought with it a stretcher and on the stretcher a silent figure, but with life.

Kathleen was called into action. There weren't enough nurses. Oxygen had been fed slowly, now there must be nourishment induced with equal slowness. These lives which had been so close to death must be brought back slowly, lest the feeble connecting line break.

She scanned each face. They were mostly strangers to her. And they were all younger men than Balm's. Why couldn't they waken and tell her of him?

Tomorrow: Danger for Donald.

FIND SYPHILIS MOST COMMON

Social Disease Accounts for Fourth of Maladies

Reflector Bureau
Raleigh, Nov. 2.—Syphilis accounted for almost one-fourth of all communicable diseases reported in North Carolina during the calendar year 1937, according to Bulletin No. 6, North Carolina Morbidity Statistics, just issued by the State Board of Health from statistics prepared under direction of Dr. J. C. Knox collaborating epidemiologist.

In all there were 50,591 cases reported, of which no less than 12,399 were of syphilis. Thirty-four cases in all are listed, though no cases of all of eight were reported for 1937.

Ten diseases were responsible for nearly 95 per cent of all reported cases. They were syphilis, measles, whooping cough, chicken pox, German measles, gonorrhea, tuberculosis, scarlet fever diphtheria and influenza in that order.

Every county in the state reported cases, but no single disease was reported from every county—syphilis and diphtheria coming closest, with 98 counties reporting cases of each.

There are clear indications that the reports were by no means complete or inclusive of all cases of communicable diseases within the state, but in an introduction to the statistics, it is pointed out; that reporting by physicians in this state was 1.8 per cent better than in 1936.

Diseases of which no cases were reported were anthrax, cholera, dengue fever, plague, psittacosis, typhoid, European typhus fever and yellow fever.

No reports on malaria were reported before June, but thereafter a total of 876 cases were reported from 48 counties.

Cases of communicable diseases and the number of counties reporting them follow:

Chancroid 148 from 23 counties; chicken pox 5,409 from 92; diphtheria 2,056 from 98; dysentery 19 from 9; endemic typhus 68 from 22; German measles 2,853 from 94; influenza 1,979 from 46; malaria 876 from 48; measles 1,938 from 91; meningitis 169 from 54; ophthalmia 17 from 14; para-typhoid 16 from 15; pellagra 578 from 76; poliomyelitis 106 from 50; rabies 2 from 2; Rocky Mountain spotted fever 27 from 18; scarlet fever 2,073 from 91; septic sore throat 125 from 45; small pox 11 from 9; syphilis 12,399 from 98; tuberculosis 2,632 from 95; tularemia 13 from 11; typhoid 493 from 83; undulant fever 26 from 14; whooping cough 7,782 from 90.

The two counties from which no cases of syphilis were reported were Davie and Montgomery. The two which failed to report any cases of diphtheria were Currituck and Hyde.

More reports were made in December than in any other month, with 5,470. January brought up the rear with 2,323.

Cases reported in other months were February 3,574; March 5,361; April 5,239; May 4,718; June 4,339; July 3,553; August 3,379; September 3,881; October 3,818; and November 4,636.

Commenting on the number of syphilis cases reported for 1937, the introduction to the Bulletin said:

"During 1937 the venereal disease control program in North Carolina was definitely launched. The attendant publicity and aroused public interest have been reflected in a tremendous increase in the number of cases reported, particularly of syphilis. There were reported 12,399 cases of syphilis in 1937, compared with 6,086 in 1936. Rapid expansion of this control movement promises a corresponding rise in the number of cases to be reported in the future.

HERE'S ONE YOUNGSTER TOO EAGER FOR SCHOOL

Denver, (AP)—Roll call at Wyatt school on the opening day of the fall season showed one extra pupil in the room.

He was a four-year-old and he wouldn't volunteer any information other than the fact that school was starting and he was there.

An explanation from the teacher that he was too young for school brought only tears. Finally police were called to take him home.

Unable to give name or address he was taken to the matron's quarters. He stayed until a newspaper account of his plight, with his picture, brought his parents to the rescue.

Ice cream 'a la cart' is a clever dish for a youngsters party. Fasten two pairs of cookies together with toothpicks as axles, put them on serving plate and top with an oblong cookie for the bed of the wagon. Hitch animal cookies to it with colored ribbons and load the cart with ice cream or gelatin.

NO TIME TO SLEEP

All citizens of the county are invited and urged to attend the Democratic rally in the courthouse here Friday night at eight o'clock, at which time Congressman Harold D. Cooley will deliver the principal address.
Even though this is an off-year election and there are no local races between Democrats and Republicans, it is essential that the Democrats not let their enthusiasm wane.

The party should keep its ideals and principles before the people at all times, in off-years as well as in presidential years, and should not let their interest lag this year just because there are no local races. A solid front and a big vote at all times is the best way to keep the Democratic party to the front. Attend the rally Friday night and don't fail to vote in next Tuesday's election. This is no time for the party to go to sleep on the job.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—this story comes under the head of fun in the farm belt.

Farmer Joe Dakes of Iowa, an AAA cooperation, had 1,000 bushels of surplus corn in 1937 which he could not feed to his hogs nor sell for what he considered a good price. So he locked it up in storage bins on his farm.

Because he cooperated in the crop control plan, the government lent him 50 cents a bushel on the corn, which was the security. The loan was more than the corn would bring on the farm in 1937; it is more than it will bring even now.
The present price at the farm is about 40 cents a bushel.

A Happy Foreclosure

Well, Joe's loan on the 1937 crop becomes due Nov. 1 so soon after that Dakes will go to the local agency of the department and say:

"I can't pay the loan, so the corn belongs to the government."

"All right," says the agency. "Lots of farmers are doing it that way."

In turn, the agency is not surprised when Dakes says:

"By the way, I can use 1,000 bushels of corn to feed my hogs so if you want to sell that corn to me at the market price, I'll be glad to take it off your hands, right where it lies, in the bins on my place."

"Fine," says the government loan agency. So Joe Dakes has in effect sold the corn to the government for 50 cents a bushel and bought it back for 40 cents.

New Crop, New Loans

But that is not all. Joe Dakes raised another crop of corn this year and pretty soon the government will offer to lend him 50 cents or maybe 60 cents a bushel on it.
He is to store the corn on his farm as he did before.

And what then? Instead of feeding part of his corn to the hogs as he did last year he will borrow 57 or 60 cents a bushel for his whole crop. He normally uses 3,000 bushels to feed his pigs but Dakes is no fool. He isn't feeding his own corn to the hogs when he can "sell" it to the government for 57 cents, and with the money buy corn at 40 cents a bushel from a farmer who didn't cooperate in the AAA control plan.

That is what is happening in the farm belt. Those farmers who participated in the farm law crop-control act can get government loans.

SHORT SHOTS

By HENRY AVERILL

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Nov. 3—Most people who read a headline "Durham Named for Congress in Sixth," or words to that effect, thought the head writer, or the print shop man had left out
"Man" after "Durham."

Selection of the Orange county commissioner was, so far as this correspondent has been able to learn, the most complete surprise move pulled in North Carolina politics in more moons than anybody, except maybe Tom Bost, can remember.

Of course, all sorts of rumors and reports are now afloat, and it's doubtful if the whole story is ever pieced together.

Yet if Mr. Durham is, as one of his admirers put it "the best county commissioner in North Carolina," he must have the qualities which will make him a successful Congressman.

Lots of people kept wondering why Sandy Graham didn't run for the Sixth District seat last summer, and now these same people are wondering why he wasn't chosen as an acceptable "Dark Horse" after the Teague demise.

It's simple. Sandy hasn't even a mild hankering for Congressional honors.

Asked about it last spring he told your correspondent: "Not me. Those Washington people aren't my kind of folks at all. I'm going to stay right here in North Carolina, where I'm at home."

And here's something Sandy did not say, but which he feels. He wouldn't go to Congress knowing he'd serve no more than two terms —and that's all he'd serve, because if he doesn't run for Governor in 1944 there isn't a cow in Texas.

In a story this week your correspondent reported that only five probationers have had their probation sentences revoked. This was an error, caused by rim copy on a carbon which meant to read 75, but looked like 5.

And so, according to Director J.
Harry Sample, 75, not 5, of the 1,140 put on probation during the first 11 months of the system in North Carolina, failed to live up to the required standard.

At that, 75 is only about six and a half per cent of 1,140, which indicates that the probation system is working well. Then, too, the larger figure proves that the probationers are really being supervised after being turned loose—and in supervision (rigid, yet fair) lies the hope of a successful system of probation.

State Senator W. I. Halstead, of Camden county, says he will be "constitutionally barred" from introducing a $25,000,000 secondary road bond issue bill in 1939, as he did in 1937.

Which meant that the FWA bond issue authorized by the extra session has brought the state too close to its debt limitation for any such sum to be authorized.

Work of tearing down all the buildings on the north end of Fayetteville street, over to Wilmington, in order to make room for the new Department of Justice building, has begun.

Getting back to that Sixth District thing. It is reported that there wasn't even in existence a picture of Carl Durham, the nominee. The Durham paper had to send a staff man over to get his photo.

Potato Growers Can Get Canadian Seeds

Raleigh, Nov. 3—Potato growers of North Carolina are vitally concerned over the prospects of obtaining virus-free seed this year, says L. P. Watson, extension horticulturist at State College. To meet the growing demand for information on the source of good seed potatoes, Watson ascertained that two boat loads of Canadian seed from Prince Edward Island are being assembled for shipment to Norfolk, Va.

If local dealers are unable to supply Canadian seed potatoes, persons interested in obtaining them may get information from their county farm agents who have been supplied with the names of distributors, the horticulturist said.

of the game. It serves the purpose of the farm act, which is to keep part of the crop in storage so it won't depress the market.

More Than Half Signed.
Altogether about 50 percent of the corn belt farmers signed up to cooperate with the crop control plan.
They will be able to "sell" their corn to the government for 57 cents a bushel while the 40 per cent of non-cooperators, who refused to reduce acreage, can get only about 40 cents a bushel.

Moreover, Joe Doakes and the other cooperators will get 10 cents a bushel extra on part of their crop this year as a special premium for cooperating.

The whole thing doesn't make much of a price for corn but the department believes it will persuade more farmers to cooperate in the crop plan next year—if Congress doesn't sack it.

Of course, if the price this year were $1 a bushel, Joe Doakes would be the sick farmer. The non-cooperators, who planted unlimited acreage, would have huge crops to sell and Doakes, with his smaller acreage, wouldn't have much.

Many non-cooperators, it is reported here, now are bitter for two reasons. They are envious of Joe Doakes, and angry at the farmers organizations which persuaded them not to comply with AAA.

HERE are the new 1939 Ford V-8 cars. Above, the deluxe Ford V-8 sedan, below the Ford V-8 Tudor sedan. The two cars are individually styled. The deluxe car has wholly new streamlines, a deep hood unbroken by louvers, a low radiator grille in bright metal and wide spaced headlamps. The Ford V-8 has a full grille and unobtrusive louvers at the rear of the hood. The deluxe cars are powered with the 85 horsepower engine, the Ford V-8 with the 55 or 60 horsepower engine.

Both cars have hydraulic brakes.
Bodies are all-steel. The deluxe cars are available in five body types, the Ford V-8 in three, with color option.

ECTC Starts Basketball Practice For New Season

First Game Scheduled To Be Played December 3

With the first scheduled game for the boys' basketball team set for December 3, Coach Gordon Gilbert at East Carolina Teachers College is putting certain hopefuls through preliminary paces two nights of each week. The practices started this week.

Although only a few candidates are reporting for the early practices, the number will show a decided increase, especially as the game season nears an end. The case season will open at the local college one week after Christmas are drawn on the 33 and 34.

Two transfers of last year's team are to be with the Pirates this season are Jimmie Johnson and Eric Ceot. Johnson is lost through graduation and Ceot through quarantine. Both were valuable men.

Practically all of the boys who will compose the first and second strings on this year's team are now engaged in football. In fact, only one regular from last year is reporting for practice. This fellow is Earl Smith. Earl played on the Pirate grid team this year until a severe knee injury forced him from the game. He can practice basketball, but has to refrain from the rough procedure realized in football.

Bill Shelton and Lester Ridenhour, both top-performers on the football team, will be alternate forwards on the basketball squad. Earl Smith will garner a guard berth. Each of these predictions will likely hold true unless some of the newcomers make a better showing.

Coach Gilbert said he is confining his drilling to fundamentals. These drills include ball handling, pivoting, goal shooting, and other necessary elements for the purpose of providing the candidates a well-rounded basketball background.

Colored News

LOCAL NEGRO HIGH WILL PLAY SPRING HOPE

Tomorrow afternoon at 3:30, in the fair grounds on Fifth street, the local Negro team will play their second home game of football.

The team has been showing plenty of fight thus far in the season. They defeated Wilson 20-0 in the opening game in Wilson. They held the strongest team in the east, Dilward High, 18-0, and came from behind in the third and fourth quarters at Kinston to knot the score 12-12. From the first half of the Kinston game it looked as if Kinston had won, but the Blue Devils came back in the last half with their aerial attack and completed nine passes.

Probable lineup—Sam Peyton, LE; P. Atkinson, LT; Win. Jones, LG; Chas. Eaton, C; J. Winston, RG; B. Gibbs, RT; T. Foreman, RE; George Lave, QB; P. Daniels, FB; A. Hill, HB; J. Godette, LHB.

PIRATES MEET QUAKER SQUAD

To Leave Tomorrow Noon for Contest Saturday

Leaving Friday at noon, Coach J. D. Alexander's E. C. T. C. Pirates will motor 270 miles, where they will encounter the Guilford College football squad on the Guilford field Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

One of the main hopes possessed by the Pirate mentors rests in the fact that their proteges stand a good chance of recording a victory if they can overpower Guilford. Guilford lacks a reserve corps—this being their major weakness. However, the picture still isn't too bright. Guilford has a fair backfield and a tepoch passer and punter, who is a member of the Lentz family. He's the best passer the Pirates will face this season. His booting tactics seem to be superior to his aerial attack. In a game against Milligan last Saturday, Lentz's punting averaged 53 yards.

Members of the Pirate aggregation are showing marked improvement. One of the best showings has been made by Charles Futrell, Greenville youth, who was a mainstay with the high school graders last year. Ralph Elliot of Shelby is improving, but has refrained from putting forth all of his potential energy. That's more than some of the fellows are doing, so Elliot isn't making such a bad showing after all. Floyd Hinton of Rocky Mount, playing at end, displayed a certain amount of weakness in this year's career in the season. He's improving, however, and the end berms on the Pirate squad really needed some improvement.

Rick Venters, Ayden youngster, is still the steam roller of the Pirate squad. Rick plays tackle. He's a tough-tackler, but this isn't handicapping his playing efforts by any means. In fact, the coaches are rather favorable toward his showing.

Getting back to Saturday's game the Guilford squad is composed of a group of scrappers. The Pirates bowed to the strong High Point aggregation. The Guilford team played them to a 6-6 dead-end.

Probable lineups for Saturday's game, as far as the Pirate team is concerned, is as follows:

Ends, Milton Glass and Floyd Hinton; tackles, Ralph Elliot, Eugene Carson; guards, Jack Meye, Jr., and Adrian Brown; William Dudash, quarterback; William Shelton, full-back and Bill Merner, center.

Cooking cereals in milk or equal parts of water and milk increases the milk consumption. This is especially advised for those underweight people or for children who balk at drinking milk.

Efficient cooking equipment is as essential to meal success as good ingredients. When buying spoons see that they are large, light and easy to hold. Too often spoons are so heavy that they tire your wrists or the handles are so sharp they cut into the palms.

'I'LL DO DUTY,' pledges Rep. Martin Dies (above), chairman of the House un-American activities committee which was bitterly attacked by F.D.R. because testimony about Michigan labor trouble was unfavorable to Gov. Frank Murphy, friend of the President.

DEACONS WORK FOR VMI GAME

No Rest in Wake Forest Camp as Walker Drills Gridders

Wake Forest, N. C.—There isn't any rest in the Demon Deacon football camp this week. Coach P. H. Walker and his assistants, Murray Greason and Tom Rogers, are driving their boys through strenuous workouts each afternoon, preparing for the Virginia Military Institute contest in Lexington, Va., Saturday afternoon.

Coaches Greason and Rogers both scouted V. M. I. last Saturday against Maryland and they came back with many reports that aren't so encouraging to Wake Forest followers. They had plenty to say about Cadet Captain, Andy Trzeclak, half-back Paul Shu, scoring ace, and other worthy cohorts.

Here is what Backfield Coach Greason had to say about the squad's ball carriers:

"V. M. I.'s offense is probably more versatile than any we've played against this year. Coach Hubert does not depend on any one attack—he has several fine runners, an excellent passer, his kicker is better than the average, and the blockers are very effective. Shu is a great runner. Shelby is unexcelled at passing. There are plenty others too."

Line Coach Rogers who scouted the V. M. I. forward wall picked out Center Dick Irby, End Ray Billingham and Tackles Rippe, Walker and Dick Strickler as outstanding. He said these boys were all fine performers and that even though Guards Gray and Echols weren't mentioned, they are very consistent and impossible to move out.

Coach Walker of Wake Forest is hoping for a dry field for Saturday's encounter. Last week's Clemson game was played in a sea of mud and it was almost impossible for his rabbit backfield men to get up full speed. Too, the Hugo Tiger line was considerably larger than the Deacons' and it was doubly hard for the Baptist forwards to dig in and hold their own.

The fighting squad's line will greatly outweigh that of Wake Forest's and the Deacon mentor is hoping for a dry field, for he believes his boys will have greater chances of winning. The contest is homecoming for the Virginians and Wake Forest will need more than an even break to come out on top.

Announcing the NEW FORD V-8 CARS for 1939

GREATER VALUE for every motorist has been built into the two new Ford V-8 cars for 1939. They further express the forward-looking policy of the Ford Motor Company—traditional Ford dependability and economy plus progressive engineering.

Each car is distinctive in design, yet each has something of the fine streamlining of the Lincoln-Zephyr—recognized style leader for the industry. Interior appointments are in keeping with outward beauty. Every detail is styled for good taste and good service.

Both are big, roomy cars, equipped with hydraulic brakes and powered with the V-8 engine that gives you so much extra smoothness and efficiency. This year, the quiet performance of the V-8 engine has been matched by the new quiet built into every part of the car.

The 1939 Fords bring you greater riding ease on every road. New seat construction, flexible transverse springs, and big, hydraulic shock absorbers provide triple-cushioned comfort.

Both 1939 Ford cars are Ford-priced for greater dollar value. Both bring new meaning to the Ford phrase, "The Quality Car in the Low-price Field."

BAD DISEASES HANDED DOWN

Health Statistics Prove Truth of Biblical Saying

Reflector Bureau.
By HENRY AVERILL.
Raleigh, Nov. 3.—Uncontrovertible proof of the Biblical commandment that the "sins of the fathers" are visited upon the children is abundantly found in the Sixth Annual Morbidity Statistics of the Board of Health's Division of Epidemiology.

A table giving the ages of all patients suffering from communicable diseases shows that in the calendar year of 1937 there were reported no less than 199 cases of gonorrhea and 703 case of syphilis in children under 15 years old.

These youngsters, medical authorities agree, could not under any circumstances have been responsible for their infection with these two dread social diseases, usually the result of moral misconduct coupled with gross neglect of scientific prophylactic measures.

In all there were reported 2,877 cases of gonorrhea, with 199 cases mentioned distributed according to age as follows: Under 1 year, 5; 1 year, 1; 2 years, 2; 3 years, 15; 4 years, 15; 5 years, 14; 6 years, 22; 7 years, 23; 8 years, 15; 9 years, 11; 10 to 14 years, 65.

The 703 cases of syphilis among the children (there were altogether 12,299 for all ages) were distributed as follows: Under 1 year, 65; 1 year, 14; 2 years, 26; 3 years, 25; 4 years, 38; 5 years, 32; 6 years, 49; 7 years, 45; 8 years, 47; 9 years, 54; 10 to 14 years, 315.

The only other venereal diseases of which cases were reported (chancroid), showed only 1 case out of 148 in the age brackets below 15—this one in the 10 to 14 year group.

ETIQUETTE

By JOAN DURHAM
(AP Feature Service Writer)

Favorite dishes, unlike favorite frocks, should be seen again and again.

The hostess whose dinner parties are known far and wide is often the one who makes a specialty of one or two dishes.

There are a number of pointers that help to make a dinner party a success. Check up on them now and you won't have to worry at the last minute.

First, last and all the time—invite guests who will be congenial. And don't invite more than you can take care of comfortably. Give two small dinners in preference to one large one.

See that certain details have been taken care of before the guests sit down to the table: That the water glasses are filled, the butter is on the butter plates and that the necessary serving pieces are in place.

Remember that the hostess is served last, the guest of honor, if there is one, is served first.

At dinners for eight or less it is not necessary for the guests to be taken in. Their seats may be indicated on place cards or the hostess can tell them where to sit as they enter the dining room.

Married couples should not be seated together; engaged couples should. A man ordinarily sits to the right of his dinner partner.

At all but the most formal dinners the napkin is placed to the left. Butter plates, which are not used at formal dinner parties, are put above the forks at the left of each place.

The silver, of course, is arranged so you can use the pieces at the outside first, those nearest the plate last. Forks go to the left, knives and spoons to the right. Exception: An oyster fork goes to the right of all the knives and spoons. The butter knife is placed on the right of the butter plate tray.

Robbed Of Her Bill.
Denver—(AP)—Peg Luck, Mrs. Elizabeth Custerberry, saves $2 bills, few of which are in circulation. She had 14 of them hidden in her room and then a burglar entered, bound her to a chair and took the $28 along with $58 in other currency.

Supreme Court Will Get Several Novel Questions

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Nov. 3.—North Carolina's Supreme Court will get an unusually large number of cases "of first impression" and without previous precedent in the state's jurisdiction when it convenes to hear oral arguments in appeals from the Fourteenth Judicial District.

There are 21 cases on the calendar—five criminal, sixteen civil—and almost half of them differ vastly in pattern from the usual quota of cases coming up from the lower courts.

Establishing a North Carolina Real Estate Commission from which all real estate dealers must obtain licenses before doing business in the 36 counties covered by the act.

In both cases the superior court judge held the act null and void as unconstitutional after hearing undisputed testimony. The State appealed in each case.

Defendants contend that the statute is violative of constitutional guarantees against penalties and monopolies, taxation which is not uniform and as being discriminatory and setting up a set of men with exclusive and separate emoluments.

The state contends the 1937 act is in strict accord with legitimate use of the police power and is not a "local" act, despite the fact that 64 counties are exempted from its provisions.

Another of the criminal cases is the appeal of Chirmer Dee and James Sturgis sentenced to die for killing Hoke Davis. Dee's landlord when he came to collect rent.

Other novel questions the court will be called on to decide are:

1. Must the driver of an automobile, on the right hand side of the road, take reasonable precautions to avoid collision with a vehicle approaching on the wrong side of the road when it is obvious that the driver of the approaching vehicle does not intend to turn and is unconscious of danger? (N. C. Currie vs. A. J. Gocking Company and J. E. Thompson, a Mecklenburg case in which plaintiff complaint was tossed out on demurrer.)

2. Is an employee of a municipal corporation, who is engaged in the repair of a traffic signal or "silent policeman," performing a governmental function or is he engaged in performing electrical work as a business? (Mrs. W. M. Hodge vs. City of Charlotte and Herman Black, in which plaintiff was non-suited on the grounds the employment was a "governmental" function.)

3. Does a Municipal Corporation having less than five employees come within the North Carolina Workmen's Compensation Act? (Arising from the Mecklenburg case of Mrs. Addie Rape vs. Town of Huntersville, in which compensation was refused the widow of the town's only policeman and only employee who was killed in the performance of his duty.)

4. Is it necessary to have an eye witness to prove that death of an employee was caused by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment, or may this be shown by circumstantial evidence? (Mecklenburg case of W. M. Plyler, and others vs. Charlotte Country Club in which plaintiffs were refused compensation for the death of a son, Marcus R. Plyler, a caddy at the County Club who died as the result of an infected toe, thought to have been injured while caddy-ing, though there was no direct evidence to that effect.)

5. Did the City of Charlotte have authority to enter into a ten year contract with the Plant Food Company for removal of all the sludge from the Sugar Creek disposal plant of the city? (The lower court said it didn't.)

ANTI-CONTROL MEET PLANNED

Georgia's Talmadge To Present Case on Saturday

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Nov. 3.—Proving that they are not going to allow the crop control referenda to go "New Deal" by default, opponents of the control plan have arranged to bring former Governor Eugene Talmadge of Georgia, here for an address in opposition at the Memorial Auditorium Saturday morning at eleven o'clock.

The red-gallused Huey Long-styled buzz saw from the Cracker State has been delivering blistering attacks on the Roosevelt administration and all its works for several years now, and his temper and tongue has sharpened rather than dulled as time marches on.

All of which indicates that verbal sparks will fly when Gene cuts loose.

The Talmadge speech is but one of the many indications that crop control opposition is going to be remarkable vocal, if not effective; and it reports from practically every section of the east are correct, there is undeniably a strong undercurrent of dislike for the control plan, which was so overwhelmingly endorsed last spring when a vote of the farmers was taken.

Best informed sources seem to forecast victory for control in polling of the tobacco farmers who are getting reasonably good prices for their product and who, quite naturally, credit control with having much to do with this satisfying condition of things.

On the other hand there seems more than ordinary doubt about success of control when it is voted on by cotton farmers, who are not getting prices for their labor.

But whatever the final outcome, Governor Talmadge can be counted on to add spice and variety to any campaign, and it is likely that he will draw a big audience here Saturday.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

Hollywood—Isa Miranda is an Italian—and blonde—but her handshake is thoroughly American; the strong, firm, I-mean-it type. She looks somewhat like Dietrich, somewhat like Garbo, more alive than either.

Since her arrival some ten months ago, she has been studying English. Now she can sling a sentence with fair assurance and little groping for words. That means—or Paramount thinks it means—she is ready. They're putting her into "Hotel Imperial" to atone for an earlier false start in "Zaza", where her linguistic deficiencies tripped her.

All this time, of course, she's been drawing salary—some reports say $2,500 a week—and there will be the usual fuss about studio wastefulness in hiring foreign talent. The same sort of furore prevailed all those months while Danielle Darrieux to France was idling on salary while Universal tried to whip up a script for her.

And the end, probably, will be the same. Since the fans saw Darrieux, nobody has mentioned those expensive pre-production weeks. When they see Miranda—if Miranda is as good as her test and her foreign word indicate—nobody will care how much it costs to keep her here.

Many an actor has begun a picture without knowing the story it would tell. Few actors finish a movie without some vague idea of what it was about. That puts Jascha Heifetz in class by himself.

Heifetz began—and finished—the starring role in his first movie without benefit of script. Even today, if you met him somewhere on his current tour and questioned him—he could truthfully say he hadn't the slightest idea what kind of story he finished.

For that matter, neither has Sam Goldwyn, the movie impresario. Goldwyn would like to know, even more keenly than Heifetz, Heifetz, after all, has collected his $75,000. Goldwyn has to make a picture from Heifetz's film work or count the $75,000 wasted. Sam doesn't like to count that way.

Violinist Heifetz, long contracted for the movie, had to make his scenes now in order to meet other engagements. On the Goldwyn lot, neatly cut and assembled, with

New Mercury 8 Announced by Ford

THIS Mercury 8 town-sedan is one of the four body types of the newest car in motordom. The Mercury 8 fills a place in the Ford-Lincoln line between the deluxe Ford V-8 and the Lincoln-Zephyr. It is a big car, with 116-inch wheelbase and measuring more than 35 feet from bumper to bumper. Its V-8 engine develops 95 horsepower. Hydraulic brakes enable the driver to slow down or stop quickly and smoothly with light pedal pressure. In its distinctive streamlined styling the Mercury 8 bears a family resemblance to the Lincoln-Zephyr. The other body types are a sedan with two doors, a sedan-coupe and a sport convertible. Bodies are exceptionally wide, allowing three to ride comfortably in both front and rear seats. Belt and door lines are low giving wide visibility. Interior styling is distinctive. Typical of the originality of design are a tiled instrument panel, a two-spoke steering wheel and a steering column support. Appointments are luxurious. There is an unusually large baggage compartment. Inset shows the Mercury 8 front end, with its low radiator grille and graceful hood design.

sound track to match, the Heifetz performance is stored away in the usual tin cans.

There are seven numbers in all—three show him in usual formal concert attire, the rest reveal the great fiddler dressed in white jacket and blue trousers as for an open air performance.

Goldwyn's scripters have that much at least, to go on. They know that Heifetz will play the role of a concert violinist.

Leo Carrillo, himself a comedian of sorts, is with Joe E. Brown in the comic's new picture. Since Brown must star, and since Carrillo—nominally at least—is "in support", there is fair conjecture that our "bes' dam' cabalero in all Mexico" has not been too amused.

At any rate, when a still man approached Leo for publicity pictures, Carrillo quickly suggested: "Yes. Take a picture of me and my horse—n Joe E Brown's mouth!"

They take their movies seriously here.

In a maternity hospital, over the plate glass partition behind which proud papas first see their new offspring, there appeared this sign:

"Motion pictures are your best entertainment."

New York—Neil MacMillan, who became lost in the British Guiana jungles and nearly starved after a six months' diet of cassava root, has returned to New York with some highly enlightening opinions of the natives down there.

"Those Indians among whom we lived," recalled the still somewhat wan but now well-fed member of the Holden expedition, "were a fascinating lot. Most of them look old, due to the privations and that poisonous cassava root. They can't count above three. With them 'four' is a word compounded of 'two'."

I asked one old man how old he was and his reply was: "I am two men and four on the other hand."

"This meant nothing until I learned their way of reckoning. They use their digits, beginning with one hand. One hand means 5. One hand and one on the other means 10. Both hands equals 10. One on one foot means 11. One foot means 15. One on the other foot means 16. One man, that is to say, two hands and two feet, means 20. With this as a table I was able to figure out the old man's age as 49, which wasn't old at all. That was the total of the 'two men and four on the other hand.' Am I clear?"

We mumbled politely that it was all very clear, but it wasn't, and so we reached for our bonnet and ducked out. We were afraid he would really get tough and take up long division.

One night I was strolling along a boulevard in Paris and ran into Bob Christenberry. You must not think I have been abroad when I mention Paris, for on Broadway there is now a vast enclosure that is known as the sidewalks of Paris.

This is an adjunct of those two Parisian revues fashioned so expertly by Clifford C. Fischer at the International Casino, and it affords the clientele an opportunity to sip their aperitifs in an authentic atmosphere of the French capital.

But I was talking about Bob Christenberry. He recently won a golf tournament—although he has only one hand. When you talk with him you come away with the impression of having been with a man thoroughly versed in anything you choose to talk about.

This is true, and a peek into his personal records reveals why. He was in the war and a U. S. marine. He was vice consul in Vladivostok and also in Santo Domingo. He has been a newspaperman and a deep water fisherman. He is the manager of the Astor hotel at Broadway and 45th street.

He is also the managing director of the International Casino, which explains, perhaps, how I happened to bump into him across from a very intriguing postcard stand on the Rue de la Paix. As for those postcards—well, I wouldn't know. I was afraid they wouldn't muster up to snuff and so I passed them by. After all, we gadabouts must preserve some illusions.

I have a new black cat and his name is Friday. He's the fifth black tom I've had. One was named Rasputin and he died. Another was Toby and he died under the wheels of a truck. A third we called Black Mike and he died. The fourth was Cujo. And now Friday, aged three months. On my way home tonight I'm going to buy him a mouse. . . . all stuffed with catnip.

By virtue of power vested in me by that Deed of Trust which was executed to me by Willoughby F. Young and wife, Anne R. Young, on the second day of April, 1931, and which is recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Pitt County, in Book L-18 at page 317, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness thereon secured, I shall offer for sale to the highest bidder, for cash, at public auction at the court house in the Town of Greenville, on TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1938, AT TWELVE O'CLOCK, NOON, the following described parcel of real estate, lying, being and situate in the Town of Greenville, County of Pitt and State of North Carolina, to-wit:

Lying and being in the Town of Greenville, and beginning at a point on the western side of Eastern street, fifty three feet from the northwest corner of the intersection of Johnson and Eastern streets; thence in a westerly direction along the northern boundary of Lot No. 8, one hundred and one and five-tenths (101.5 ft.) feet to the Eastern boundary of Lot No. 1; thence in a northerly direction along the eastern boundary of Lots No. 1 and 2, forty-five (45 ft.) feet; thence in an easterly direction along the southern boundary of Lot No. 7; ninety-five and five-tenths (95.5 ft.) feet to the western side of Eastern Street; thence a southerly direction along the westerly line of Eastern Street fifty-three (53 ft.) feet to the beginning point, and being Lot No. 6 in Block D of the Chatham Circle subdivision, according to map made by H. L. Rivers, C. E., of record in Map Book 2, at page 201, of the Pitt County Registry, and being the identical lot conveyed to W. F. Young by F. C. Harding, Commissioner, by that deed bearing date March 7th, 1931, and duly recorded in the Register's office for Pitt County.

This October 21, 1938. ALBION DUNK, Trustee 10-22—11wk 4wks.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 3—(AP)—New York stock moved irregularly higher today under leadership of the rails. The list got off to a fairly good start on the upside, but advances soon to a point or so were eventually chipped down by profit-taking. Sensitive buying came in around noon and activity was a bit more pronounced than yesterday. Near the fourth hour however, many leaders were only fractionally improved. Bonds displayed strength in spots.

It is up to the public to carry part of the relief role this winter since the government is spending less for this purpose. Greenville is going to have to carry its share of the load. It can give now or later just as it prefers but this relief money has got to come from somewhere. Those who can give twenty-five cents, a dime, or a dollar should come forward and let it be known, for much can be got from such source or sources; Solicitors have not any preconceived notion as to what you can give; they will accept small gifts as readily as large ones.

Imagine our Community without the Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, or the Thrift Shop this winter. What is going to become of the boy who is going to bring the Word of God and a word of hope to the neglected part of our community, and who is going to help with the building up of the old spirit of independence among those who have been on relief—if the Thrift Shop does not start them paying for what they get once more? Those being approached are co-operating in an encouraging fashion but there is a larger budget this year and that means more people will have to participate.

Last year the Agricultural Experiment Station at North Carolina College examined 4,500 samples of soil submitted from 1,100 North Carolina farms.
